age and was transferred to St. Mary's Convent. The same year she saw her mother, and for the first time knew her parentage, and later was returned to the convent until she was fifteen years old. Just at the age where love becomes a dictator, she met Captain Buck and the bud bloomed into a bright flower, but unfortunately he was ordered to another place. That was the last time she saw or heard of him until after the Spanish American war, reading of his promotion revived her hope, as she had heard he had been killed in the Geronimo campaign. But she had met and married Mr. Charles Keller, and was the mother of four children. Shortly her husband died, and she was a widow. Captain Buck again came into her life in 1908, after his retirement from the army, and they were married.

Mrs. Buck is affiliated as follows: S. M. T.'s, Grand Order of Tents, Household of Ruth, Order of St. Luke, Associate of Charity, Board of Garden, Friendless Girls' Home, Baby's Day Nursery, President of Independent Mothers' Club, the Woman's Civic League, and President of the Auxiliary of Captain Buck Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans.

When we reach the age of maturity and have faith in ourselves, hope in the future and love for one of the human family, Providence will provide the missing link called luck, to round out a perfect life. Mrs. Buck is one whom the Gods have favored, and she gives credit to the deserving, the moulding of her life was due to the interest the Catholic sisters took in her and made her a woman loved and respected by those she comes in contact with.

MISS LOTI BIGGS

Seattle, Washington

It is imperative that the name of Miss Loti Biggs be mentioned among those who have contributed towards the intellectual advancement of our group in the community.

Born in Little Rock, Arkansas, she attended the public schools in Hot Springs and finished the grammar grade in that city. Removing from there in 1909 with her parents to Seattle, Washington, she entered the Queen Anne High School and was graduated with honor. Entering the University of Washington and received her first degree in pharmacy in 1918, and the last degree in 1922. During that time she was employed at the City and State laboratories.

For eighteen months she was on the staff of the Physicians' Clinical Laboratory of which Dr. O. J. West was the head.

On graduating from the university she opened a laboratory in the Crary Building in 1925, which has recently removed to the Stimson Building located at Fourth Avenue and University Street.
