

The Love Corner

by Minister C. Holland

Success Can Destroy— Hi there. Today I'm writing especially to those of you who are successful, and consider those around you who are less fortunate (regardless of their plights) as being lower than you. 1st, Consider this—if you came by your gift of success honestly, then you're blessed and fortunate and deserve an applause. Yet and still, without God's love and someone's assistance, you would not be where you are now! So how can you have the audacity to look down on someone else? What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world, and lose eternal life? Remember that one? I'm not saying to give your hard earned money away liberally or foolishly, or live poorly, because God desires that you enjoy his gift. Just don't forget its origin. And remember that God is a jealous all consuming God who can snatch that gift as quickly as he gave it. Money is not the root of all evil; it's the love of the money which is the root of all evil, and from that love stems pride, lust, distrust, hate, envy and multitudes of greed. Help someone less fortunate than you. Give in love and don't let your aims be known, and you know what, you'll probably become richer.

2. If you came by that success dishonestly, you've got three strikes against you from the get go. You've lied, cheated and stolen. The success isn't yours; the money is spendable, true, but dirty. And looking down on others is just like looking into your own personal mirror, the reflection is permanent.

Above all, do everything honest, remember that one too! Even cheating on your income tax will take you straight to hell, did you know that? God didn't cheat when he made you, and Jesus Christ didn't fake his death on the cross. So you, you successful person, whoever you are; don't cheat yourself or your brother out of what really isn't yours in the first place. Share your wealth, and love yourself again. Clean up your act so you can look in a mirror not only to remove that pimple or that hair. You'll discover that pretty soon even your reflection will smile back (a good feeling). So until next week—Let Love Be Your Guide.

KLEPTOMANIA

This condition is an irresistible urge to steal. It is pronounced Klep-toe-mane-ee-ah. Kleptomania is id found in certain persons who may appear to be otherwise normal. Often the objects stolen do not have any special value or usefulness to the individual, but seem to possess a symbolic meaning. Anyone who feels an uncontrollable impulse to steal should seek psychiatric help.

Very young children who steal are not kleptomaniacs. As a rule, they lack an understanding of what personal property is. With guidance, they usually outgrow the habit. In older children stealing is often a sign of neurotic maladjustment. We'll see you next week!

A Report To The People

by Isaiah Edwards

By May 1st, an important step in the Central Franchise District cable processing should have been completed. The City's Citizen Cable Advisory Board's recommendation should be in the hands of City Council. Activity within the community appears to have uncovered desperation, greed, self-serving special interest, and abuse of community confidence. The cost continues to be strained relationships within the community, split and realigned community loyalties, political undercurrents, and etc. As for me, I can, and have paid for my personal opinion, but I cannot and will not be bought. I believe my intent to alert our community has been successful. We have all been apprised. The Households of the new Franchise District, are looking forward toward those multiple Benefits for our community, from whom-so-ever, or what company is most capable of delivering them. An intelligent electorate will in no wise reject those Public officials, who recognize the difference, and who possess, the conviction to dispatch equity of justice without delay. In the matter of awarding the contract to a Minority bidder, the record of the Mayor and Council is very clear. "They went the length of their cable tow," and their record is an unblemished one. For they did award the contract to a Minority Contractor over seven years ago, and as of this moment, the homes in the Central District are without cable television. Where were our concerned Community Giants???

As a resident of the Central Franchise District the choice of action is Now yours. It's up to you. Until then—This is true!

Facking With McCrackin

by Jody McCrackin

A Time To Fight, Or A Time For Flight

Having permitted the whims and greed of mankind to render this bitter earth of ours no longer suitable for somethings, we may be spared the wrath of the Omnipotent One by refraining from teaching our children the long held belief of there being "A Time for all Things." Certain things can no longer be permitted on this earth. Nuclear War has to be considered as one of those things that will not be allowed to happen. We are therefore, calling upon all leaders of nations to begin some good ol' down-home soul searching for ways to prevent such a world Catastrophe as Nuclear War would usher in. We should give them only about six months to get back to their respective people with concrete proposals. It is noted in the Good Book that "The patient man is better than he that taketh cities." If our current leaders possess not spirit, then it is time for other good men to come to the aid of their countries and invest their leaders with the proper spirit. Should these new spirits be rejected by our leaders, then, there remains but the single alternative of replacing them. America, we will have a good enough indication of our leaders intent by November, if not already, and may begin replacing many of them at that time. To those living under Dictatorships, it would appear that your choices are pretty clear. You are damned if you and equally damned if you don't, meaning, if your leader himself does not get you, his Nuclear Weapons will. If he gets only you, your children, relatives and grandchildren may still be spared from Nuclear War. Which shall it be? Perhaps Dueling among those leaders that still find it so difficult to rule their individual spirits should be reinstituted as a way of resolving international disputes. That may permit them the satisfaction of taking each others lives without endangering the lives of all their countrymen. Like various other times, "there is a time to live, and a time to die," which all who live must eventually do. But, what gives any leader the right and power to decree, in the absence of offenses against governments, just when all people of this world shall die, as would be the case in a Nuclear War? Some of these leaders may be ever so strong and powerful, but they are not yet All-Knowing nor All-Powerful, as we perceive only the Omnipotent One to be. Therefore, "A time to Fight" may no longer be in their power to say, or the same may now be redesignated as "A time for Flight" from arguments, beliefs, spirit, vanity or whatever else might motivate a Nation towards Nuclear War. Stay with us.

Pac-Man: A Hard Habit to Break

What is the hottest item in America since strawberry ice cream? Well, it's what you would call, Pac-Man fever. This 15 month old video game took in over a billion dollars in quarters in its first year and helped gross other video games to a shocking 5.6 billion dollars. Now that's more than what the movie industry took in last year (2.8 billion) and the music industry. Video games by themselves have caused many Americans with total obsession with, Pac-Man and Defender. It is a estimation that people from ages 12 to 25 will spend at least five dollars worth of quarters on one Video game, and if they play every day, they will spend from 50 to 100 dollars a week in quarters alone. But right now the most popular video game is Pac-Man which was originally created in Japan. Pac-Man which comes from the word Paku, which is the Japanese word for It Eat.

Now this is how the game works: Pac-Man is a pie shaped, yellow figure that scores points in a Video game by eating up dots, colorful fruits and four ghost, that make up this witty game. Recently I talked to a friend of mine who lives in Brooklyn, New York and she told me that Pac-Man is hot! and is bringing the money in. And to top all the success that Pac-Man is having now, there is a song called "I got Pac-Man Fever/I Going Out of my Mind," now that song came out on the billboard charts on the No. 9 spot. Now if you're not very good playing Pac-Man, it beats you all the time, and if you can't figure out why you're so terrible, here is your answer. Go downtown to the book store and there you will find, yes you guessed it! How to win at Pac-Man and if that does not work, there is another book called "Mastering Pac-Man." For all you video craved people I have some more information for you, there is going to be a Pac-Man pinball machine, yes that's right, a pinball machine. Video madness is what you call it and its sweeping America off its feet. Comments are welcome write to George Burney c/o FACTS-2765 E. Cherry-Seattle, Wash. 98122. The World Of Investment

by Rick Toms

Investments: Questions Answered About IRA's

CONTINUED.....

DEAR RICK TOMS: Is there any way I can withdraw my IRA money before age 59½ without paying the prescribed penalty?

Only if you have become permanently disabled. Otherwise, the IRS will collect a 10% penalty on any funds you withdraw, in addition to the income tax you will owe at your regular federal tax rate.

DEAR RICK TOMS: What choices do I have about how to withdraw my IRA money?

Once you are 70½ you must begin taking money out of your IRA. You may take a lump sum distribution or begin taking distributions based on the individual's life or the lives of the individual and his or her spouse, or a period not extending beyond the individual's life expectancy or the life expectancy of the individual and his or her spouse. For instance, a man who is 70½ should, according to the IRA, live 12 years more, which means he must withdraw at least one-twelfth of his IRA each year. Taking out your money in annual installments is the best procedure. But if you are dependent principally on the IRA income, it might be safer to transfer the entire sum when you retire into an insurance company annuity that provides life-time payments for you and your spouse. You can't outlive the annuity payments, but your heirs don't get the money.

DEAR RICK TOMS: What happens to my IRA if I die?

The money goes to any beneficiary you name, who then has two choices. He can keep the money compounding in the IRA and defer income taxes until he withdraws the funds at age 59½ or later. Or he can withdraw the money from your IRA any time within five years and pay income tax on it. These rules apply whether you die before or after you begin withdrawals. If the distributions are taken over a three year period, estate taxes will be avoided.

Off The Corner

by Leon Conley

I took a seat at the corner. Over near the window three men were discussing quartet singing. "May I help you?" the waitress asked.

"Coffee."

She walked away her movements deliberate and eye catching. The three men were still talking about how good they could sing. One fellow said: "I squalled and made a move like this," he got up and demonstrated, "and turned the house out."

I laughed. Personally I knew this fellow. I had heard him sing. He couldn't turn a house out with a bull dozer.

The waitress returned with the coffee. "Anything else?" It was an invitation.

"No. This is cool."

Back when I first came to Seattle I was heavy into the singing scene. My first order of business was to find a group to hook up with. For awhile I spent some time with one of the local groups, but I had to give them up. They were out of step with the times. Their style was at least ten years behind what was happening. So I formed my own group.

After we sung a few programs the word got out how bad we were. People flocked to hear us. To be a good singer, you have to know the fundamentals of harmony, the novelty, and the gospel—or corn field. Further, you have to be able to read your audience. This will tell you when to sing what.

Let me give you an example. One night my group and another group were sharing a program. I mis-read the audience—shot at the house and missed. Now I wasn't about to come off the stage and let the rival group turn out on me. So we did a funny number. The people were laughing when we left the stage. If the rival group was going to turn out, I didn't plan to give them any help.

These are some of the techniques a successful entertainer must master. My man over by the window—his group knew one thing—corn fielding. In fact, they were so bad that people in the community called the radio station to have them taken off the air. They were disgracing the Central Area.

I was finishing my coffee when my man by the window recognized me. He looked my way and smiled.

"Didn't we have a tough group?"

"Yeh, you guys were bad!"

I paid for my coffee, and left.
