Civil Rights Bill Will Return

By Larry A. Still

The proposed new Civil Rights Bill, which was tabled by conservative Republican senators after it was overwhelmingly passed by Democratic members of Congress, will be the first new legislation introduced in the House of Representatives, a coalition of liberal Black and white congresspersons pledged last week.

"Shame on this body! Shame on this body!," shouted Sen. Edward M. Kennedy after the Senate voted to table any vote on the bill, so it could vote on spending appropriations for the government in final actions before adjourning to campaign for reelection. But Rep. John M. Conyers (D-Mich.) blamed the defeat upon Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.) and President Ronald Reagan, who refused to speak out for the bill during the filibuster by Republican Senators Orrin Hatch (Utah) and Jesse Helms (S.C.).

House Bill No. 1 in the 99th Congress will be the Civil Rights Act of 1985 introduced next January. Reps. Don Edwards (D-Minn.), Pat Shroeder (D-Colo.), Augustus Hawkins (D-Calif.) and Conyers announced following the almost victorious action in the closing weeks of the 98th Congress during the Congressional Black Caucus legislative weekend.

The 1984 proposal was passed by a 375-32 vote in the House of Representatives and it had 63 Senate co-sponsors before it was blocked by the filibuster and over 150 amendments to various spending bills to bring the government to a halt by the conservative Republicans. However, the civil rights act was supported by a growing new coalition of the CBC, the Hispanic Caucus, the Caucus of Disabled Persons and the new Women's Caucus.

The bill was designed to overturn a recent Supreme Court decision involving Grove (Calif.) College, which provided that federal funds may be used in schools, institutions and programs which discriminate on the basis of sex, race and age. The growing conservative high court ruled that government funds could be cut off for specific, individual programs on the basis of individual legal action but that entire discriminatory programs may be continued without class action in court.

Despite the defeat of the bill, several leaders said the action reunited the civil rights movement which had been splintered by the recent presidential campaign between Rev. Jesse Jackson and former vice-president Walter Mondale and recent disputes over affirmative action. "There is no question that religious leaders and Blacks and Jews came closer together in this struggle," said Ralph Ness, executive director of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, a coalition of over 100 organizations which helped lead the campaign for passage of the measure.

Labor and white women organizations also drew closer to traditional Black leadership during the debate, Ness confirmed. At one point Washington NAACP Bureau director Althea Simmons said her organization would not block a compromise vote on the 1984 measure, but influential women and educational organizations agreed to risk defeat rather than accept a "watered down" version of the bill offered by Senators Baker and Hatch.

As the debate raged in the closing minutes of the session National Urban League lobbyist Robert McAlpine told the thousands of Congressional Black Caucus supporters "while you are enjoying the festivities this weekend, I'll be trying to get cloture (end debate) so we can pass this bill".

South African Exile Backs Investment Ban

By Carlton Lockhard

The American public has the capacity to effect an end to the racist system of apartheid in South Africa "if they care sufficiently," exiled anti-apartheid activist Dennis Brutus declared last weekend in urging support of Congressional Black Caucus legislation calling for a ban on new investments in the all-white operated African government as proposed by Rep. William H. Gray III (D-Pa.).

Brutus, classified in South Africa as "colored" or of mixed parentage, said two things are necessary to "help" in the South African freedom struggle. One is "no more money, no more technology, no more funding," to the separatist regime from outside.

The other is to eliminate "band-aid solutions like the Sullivan Act," a set of guidelines which are intended to encourage United States firms based in South Africa to advance the status of Black, native South Africans, he added.

The Sullivan Prinicples, developed by Rev. Leon Sullivan of the Zion Baptist Church in Philadelphia and founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Centers self-help organization, have been criticized as part of the Reagan administration's policy of "constructive engagement" in the racist country. That policy does not call for an immediate end to apartheid, but encourages a slow process of negotiation, Brutus emphasized.

The South African was on one of the 50 panel discussions, forums and workshops sponsored by the Congressional Black Caucus Foundation and its support groups during the recent legislative weekend held in Washington, D.C.

Another panelist, Zak Yacoob, a member of the anti-apartheid United Democratic Front party in South Africa, admitted the difficulty in outlining the exact steps to freedom in his country. To maintain the system, the racist government uses an "Oppressor force (the military)," while implementing an ideology which promotes the separatist morality and keeps the majority divided, Yacoob said.

Both Brutus and Yacoob said they supported the Gray amendment which calls for immediate action on banning investments. The bill is authored by Congressman Gray, chairman of the 1984 CBCF weekend activities and panel moderator. Both Gray and Sullivan are prominent Philadelphia ministers.

Gray said the Congressional Black Caucus took legislative action on his bill "Long before" the latest rash of violence in the country following the vote to BLACKS —"colored" and Asians in the government while still barring the Black, majority residents from citizenship and holding elective office.

Brutus, a Northwestern University professor, was granted political asylum in the U.S. a year ago, when the Immigration and Naturalization Service lost in its attempt to have him deported after he failed to renew a temporary visa.

ELECTION SPECIAL

NOVEMBER 1

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Annual Used Book Sale

The annual used book sale sponsored by Friends of the Library, Washington State Historical Society in Tacoma, will be held in the museum on Nov. 3-4. History and genealogy enthusiasts will find books, maps, postcards and selected historical record materials, de-accessioned from the museum's Hewitt Library and offered to purchasers.

Sale tables will be set up in the large room off the first floor parking lot at the WSHS museum, 315 N. Stadium Way, Tacoma. Saturday hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Sunday hours are 2-4:30 p.m.

Donations of all types of hard-bound and paperback books are now being sought for the sale. The FOL accepts all gifts, from a single volume to a boxful. Donations of books will be picked up on request. However, donors are urged to come in to view the museum and meet the staff.

A Friday evening preview, Nov. 2, will be open to members only. There is still time to join the Friends or the Society, according to spokesman Dave Byars, for new memberships are always available to the public.

For information or offers of donation, call 265-6160 in Gig Harbor; or 593-2830 in Tacoma.

WHAT IS THE REMEDY FOR RISING HEALTH CARE COSTS?

"The Soaring Cost of Health Care" will be the subject of the third national Issues Forum on Thursday, November 1 from 7-9 p.m. in the Regency Room of the University Center at Pacific Lutheran University. Panelists for this community forum will include: C. Ned Anderton, C.L.U., Bratrud Middleton Insurance Brokers; Terry Palmer, Safety and Risk Manager, Tacoma School District; Dr. James Speer, Dept. of Bio-Medical History, School of Medicine, University of Washington; Laurel Nichols, Director, Health Venture, St. Joseph's Hospital; Mal Blair, Director of Program Development, Multicare Medical Center; and Linda Olson, Associate Professor of Nursing, PLU, moderator.

Come and share your views on such issues as: "Who really pays for the high cost of health care?"; "Who should be entitled to publicly subsidized health care?"; and "Should expensive measures such as by-pass surgery be limited?". Participant opinions expressed at this forum will be communicated to national policymakers next spring. Sponsored by PLU's Division of Social Sciences and the Domestic Policy Association, these forums are free and open to the public. Call Faye Anderson at 535-7196 for additional information.

COMMENTARY

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

For the past two months I have been working with the Pierce County Committee of TAXPAYERS FOR CHOICE. This committee is working for "No" on Initiative 471.

As you know I have been an advocate for poor people's equal rights since the early 1970's when we organized a local welfare rights organization. "No" on Initiative 471 is a vote for equal rights for poor women.

If passed, 471 would immediately eliminate public funding of abortions for low-income women. Even when a preganant woman's health is endangered. Even when a pregnant woman's life is threatened. Even when a pregnancy is caused by rape. Even when severe genetic defects are present. And yes, even when a young woman's pregnancy is caused by incest.

I am a strong believer that each person should have a right to decide personally whether they believe in abortion. The real point is whether we have a right to decide for another person. Why do some people feel they can dictate what services are available to poor people? Particularly when we know that when abortion was illegal, rich women could have an abortion by their doctor or leave the state or even the country to have one. It again comes down to who has the money.

I personally do not want to see 1 woman who is poor decide to kill herself or inflict a self-induced abortion which may probably lead to sterility or death because we voted to limit the civil rights of poor women.

Tony Brown is Vicious

An Open Letter to Tony Brown:

It is most interesting that while ads for your television show claim "No White Lies. No Black Lies. Only the Truth," you found it necessary to stoop to distortion, innuendo and vicious character assassination in your recent columns condemning Vanessa Williams and the support shown her by Essence editor-in-chief Susan Taylor and the staff of Essence magazine.

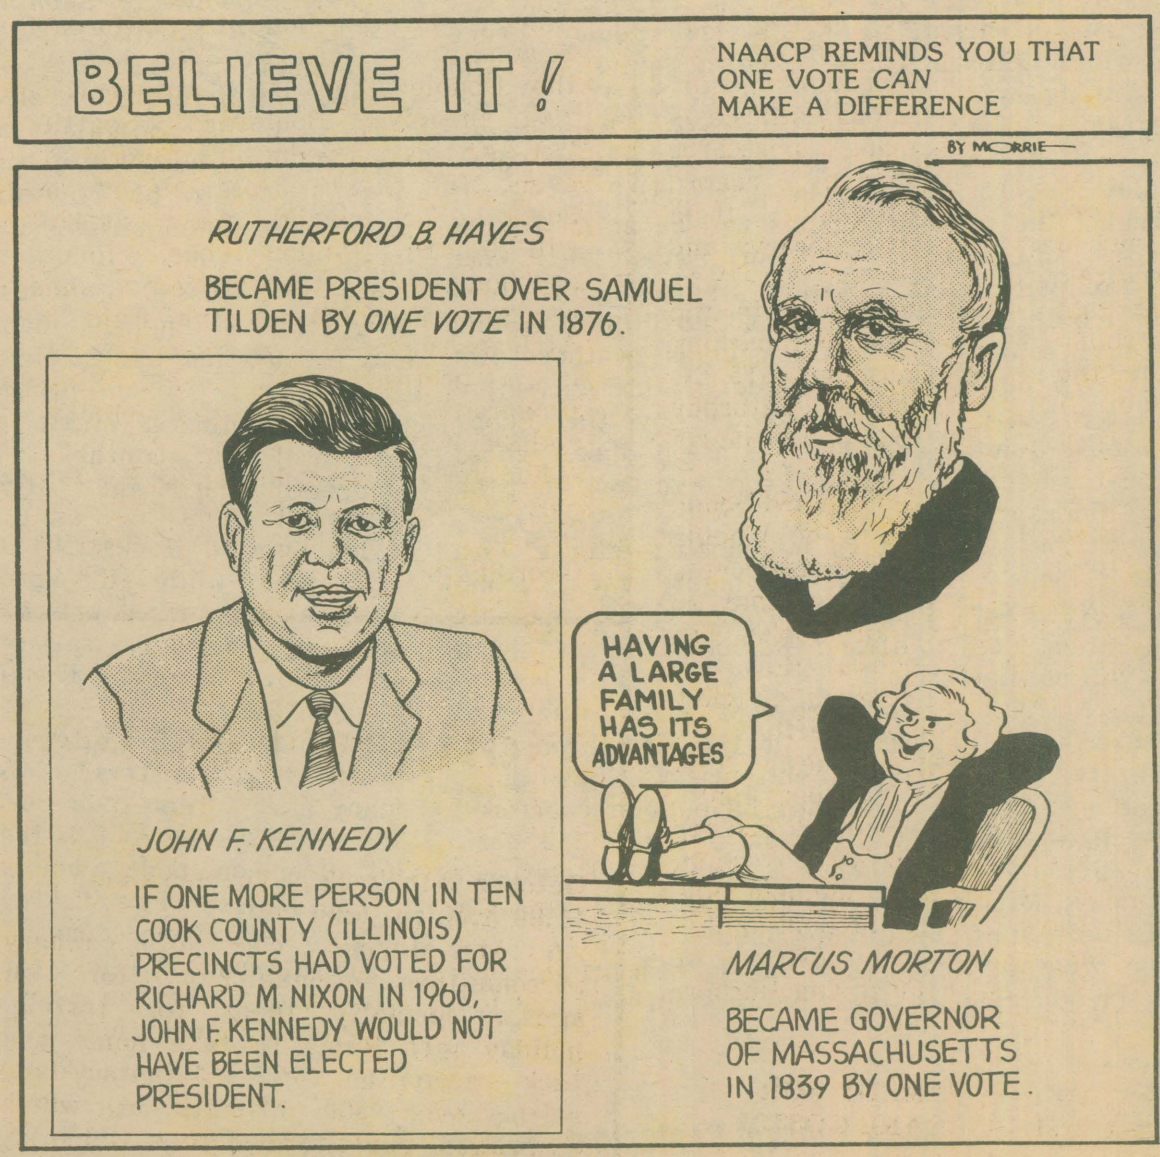

Neither Susan Taylor nor the hundreds of other Black women and men who wrote to Essence offering words of support for Vanessa Williams would dispute that she made a very serious and costly mistake. But it was a mistake, not a crime--and certainly not the kind of transgression that merits an obsessive, two-part diatribe proclaiming, "We don't owe Vanessa Williams anything, she has discraced Black people, denied us, worked with racism when it suited her ambitions and now seeks to exploit our moral high ground."

It's curious that not even Ronald Reagan came under such virulent criticism by you when you had an opportunity to interview him a few years ago, so I can't help but wonder what your real motives are in publicly maligning this young Black woman.

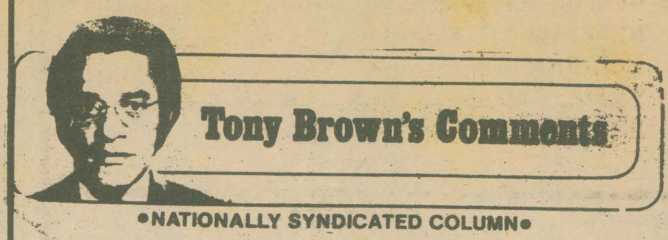

You are quite right, though: You don't owe Vanessa Wiliams anything. As a journalist, however, you do owe your readers truth and integrity and a perspective that is not clouded by personal bitterness and animosity. And we at Essence felt we owed Vanessa our compassion and our understanding, as well as our support. It is unfortunate that you find such sentiments inappropriate.

STUDY- THINK - AND VOTE

Dick Gregory: Health Prophet

Every time a new report is published on the health of Black people, I brace myself. Sure enough, the last one was no exception. A group of doctors and health experts presented a report at the recent Congressional Black Caucus Health Brain Trust.

The life expectancy for a Black person is 68. It is 78 for whites. Black women are two and a half times more likely to die from diabetes than white women. It goes on and on.

Unhealthy diets and fat in the diet, and subsequently fat on the body, are prime suspects of these horrifying statistics. One expert also singled out medical care which focuses on "CURING ILLNESS, NOT PREVENTING IT."

But thanks to the Health Prophet there is a focu that makes sense. Everyone can't understand it and everyone won't agree on it, but everyone can afford "Dick Gregory's Slim Safe Bahamian Diet."

Gregory, the author of books on health, is now Gregory the entrepreneur of health. And his best example of health is Dick Gregory who has transformed a 300 pound overweight, whiskey drinking, heavy-cigarette smoking comedian into a medically-certified phenomenon of health.

Now Gregory wants the rest of us to live as long as he will, but he has, he says, found a way for us mortals to benefit as he has from good health without his rigid fasts (the last one lasted 167 days).

"I am not telling you not to eat," Gregory explains as he rejects self-starvation. "You can lose weight without losing nutrition. On this diet you can lose evenly."

Over the last 15 years, Dick has been mixing up formulas for friends. "I've been working for 15 years on this diet. I turned down $900 million years ago because I didn't trust the company," he said.

He, however, found his mate in Cernatin, an Ohio company, from which he received a mind-boggling $100 million for just the United States marketing rights. Gregory retained the mail-order rights to the slimming diet (Dick Gregory, P.O. Box 73002, Chicago, Illinois 60678-3002 or call 1-800-543-1300) which he estimates will make another $162 million a year.

What in the world is in this good-tasting powdered diet? It contains carob, alfalfa, chia, date, rice, pumpkin, wheat and various other fibers. There are no additives or dairy products, which Gregory feels are not beneficial. "I went to the Bahamas and discovered the power of fresh fruit firsthand. The taste just explodes in your mouth."

"It's safe," he assures us as he wonders why no one ever questioned his old diet. "When I was smoking and drinking a fifth of scotch a day and weighing 300 pounds a day, nobody questioned by health. Now its cool to be healthy."

Accoding to Gregory, $12 million go to 12 organizations and 10 percent of the $100 million will go to the education of the elderly. Benefitting from the sale of Dick Gregory's diet powder will be the NAACP, PUSH, SCLC, Urban League and the Martin Luther King Center, among other civil rights groups.

Already 500 million in orders have been placed for this "7-day rapid weight loss" powder which also consists of (among other things) cucurbita pepo seed, agropyron triticeum powder and malpighia glabra, all vegetable substances.

"I use the Latin names like cucurbita pepo seed and agropyron triticeum powder just in case the big boys try to break it down," Gregory teases. "You can lose weight without fasting," he adds.

You can also help the Black civil rights movement improve the health of the Black community by listening to the Health Prophet.

CELEBRITIES SALUTE NAACP

New York - The NAACP Prison Program will host a "celebrity night" benefit on Sunday, October 28 beginning at 8 p.m., at the luxurious Red Parrot disco at 617 West 57th Street in Manhattan. The program promises to be a spectacular event featuring internationally known stars in the performing arts who will join the NAACP Prison Program in their efforts to "supplement contributions from other sources," said Leroy Mobley, director of the prison program.

Among the featured artists will be actor Tommi Johnson of Broadway's "Your Arms Too Short To Box With God," Marion Ramsey and Anita Moore both actress/singers, Chico Hamilton and Lester Sterling, two top musicians in their own areas. To add to the elegance of this enchanted evening, music will be provided by the Bobby Crenshaw Quintet and "D.J." Winston Blake, whose musical selections should keep everyone on the dance floor.

"Don't be surprised to be rubbing elbows with other famous celebrities that night," said Yvonne Jones, New York Prison Coordinator. She expects many other stars to attend the benefit, even though they will not perform.

The NAACP Prison Program was established in 1972 with the creation of the first branch at the United States Federal Penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa. Since then 30 branches have been chartered in such states as California, Georgia, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Virginia, Delaware, Kentucky, Michigan, West Virginia and Iowa with a membership of more than 4,000.

The program was created to fight discrimination and inequalities in the nation's prisons, which house a disproportionately high number of Blacks and other minorities. It seeks to facilitate communication between inmates and their families. It helps rehabilitate inmates by channeling their energies and talents into constructive programs. It assists prospective parolees in securing employment before their release.

Through the program, says Mr. Mobley, "the NAACP has been able to reduce the nation's recividism rate by returning more ex-offenders to their communities as assets rather than liabilities."

NAACP Prison branches sponsor educational instruction in English, reading and math as well as preparation for high school equivalency examinations. Many branches also sponsor job training seminars, sickle cell drives, Christmas gift projects, monthly religious concerts, sale of greeting cards and stationery and Black history classes.

Benjamin L. Hooks, NAACP Executive Director, says that while the program seeks to work cooperatively with prison administrators toward attaining mutually satisfactory goals, "it will not allow racially discriminatory practices to go unchallenged."

"We have not forgotten our isolated-from-society brothers and sisters," Miss Jones said. "When many have turned their backs and forgotten them," she said, "the NAACP is there to pick up the pieces and offer hope and guidance."

The NAACP Prison Program receives the bulk of its operating funds from foundations and corporations. Special fund raising events are also held during the year. The NAACP welcomes individual contributions to the program.

Galaxy Pageant Contestant Receives Scholarship

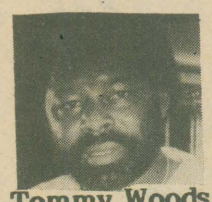

Eve Hudson, a graduate of Foothills High in Sacramento, California has received the Youth Together Inc/Miss Galaxy International Pageant four year scholarship to Prarie View College in Texas.

Miss Hudson was presented the scholarship by Mrs. Velma Stokley, National Coordinator and Board of Directors member of Youth Together Inc., the producers of the Miss and Teenage Galaxy International Pageants.

SICK AND SHUT-IN

Your reporter, Florence Motley

Dear Sisters and Brothers:

We are calling on you today and are glad to see you looking so cheerful. Hope all is better in every way with you. We bring you greetings from the Clergy and Members of the community, wishing you happiness.

As we go into the Autumn season, with all its beautiful colors and a change in the weather, let's put on some warm clothing and take a stroll into this nice wonder of beauty and breathe the fresh air. It may help to stimulate the body.

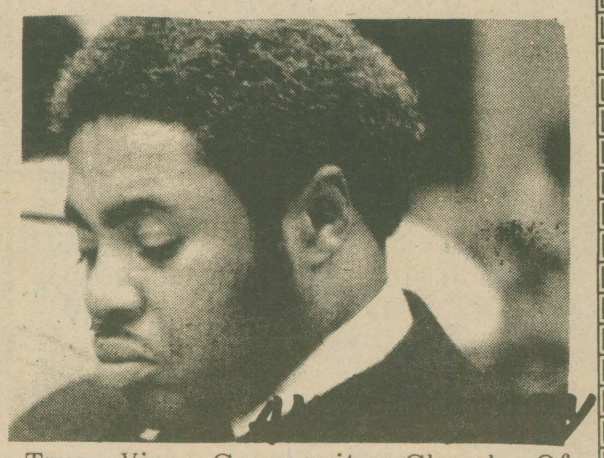

We are sad to learn of the passing of Mrs. Hattie Hardin's uncle. Our prayers and God's blessings on the Family and His tender mercies keep them.

Our sick and shut-ins are the same and we are glad to see they are holding their own quite well: Mrs. Minnie Aldrich, Mrs. Lillian Baldwin, Mrs. Irene Gray, Mrs. Cleo Moore, Mrs. Lucille Moore, Mrs. Margurite Rucker, Mr. Rubin Gillum, Mr. H. Clayton, Mr. Grady Strickland, Mr. Leon Christian.

May the Lord bless you a hundred-fold with the same joy and hope that you have brought into the lives of others. Hope to see you again real soon. We must leave for now.

Women's Day of Prayer

Baptist Women's Day of Prayer will be observed Monday, November 5, 1984. It will be at St. Paul Baptist Church. The public is invited to attend.

True Vine Community Church Of God In Christ will be celebrating their Pastor and wife's, Rev. Leo C.. and Barbara Brown's, 9th Anniversary on Thursday October 25 through Sunday, October 28, 1984. Services will be held nightly at 7:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. on Sunday.

The Theme: The Vessels Unto Honor. Come out and support True Vine Community Church during their special time. 5715 North 33rd (Pearl), Tacoma. WA.

"For we have not a high priest which can not be touched with the feelings of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." (Hebrews 4:15)

A prominent hymn writer wrote an eminent senator in behalf of a man who was the victim of great injustice. The senator wrote back, "I am so much taken up with plans for the benefit of the race, that I have no time for individuals." The hymn writer posted the statement of the senator in her album and wrote this comment below it, "When last heard from, Our Lord had not reached this altitude."

She was right. Our Lord and Saviour has not and never will reach that high altitude. When He was on earth as the Son of man and Son of God, He took time for individuals, and even now He is our intercessor in Heaven.

We live in a time of mass media, supermarkets and "bigness" in general. It is quite easy to feel as an individual that you don't count or nobody cares. It is encouraging to know that Jesus is never too busy with the crowd that He ignores the individual, i.e., the woman in the Bible that had an informity for twelve years. She had been to every available doctor to no avail. She spent all of her money on medicine which did her no good. One day when Jesus was passing through her community, she braved the huge crowd and touched the hem of the garment of Our Lord.

THE BISHOP SPEAKS

From The Desk Of Washington State Church Of God In Christ
Bishop T.L. Westbrook, Prelate
Pastor of New Jerusalem COGIC in Tacoma

Immediately, He expressed His concern by asking, "Who touched me?" Someone suggested to Him that it was nothing out of the ordinary to be touched in such a crowd. Jesus assured them that it did matter, so He addressed the need of the poor woman by completely healing her.

He does care about the individual. The Apostle Peter was a beneficiary of His tender concern, "Casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you." I Peter 5:7

ANNIVERSARY

The Greater Christ Temple Church, of the Apostolic Faith, located at 1926 South "G" Street, announces its Twenty-fifth Church and Pastoral Anniversary. Rev. C.E. Montgomery is the founder and pastor.

The church had its beginnings in the year of 1959 at 17th and Market Streets. In the fall of the same year, the small congregation moved to its present location.

In commemoration of the twenty-five years the church has been established in this community, twenty-five days have been set aside for celebration and the giving of thanks.

Services have continued nightly since October 2 and will climax on Sunday, October 28 at 4:00 p.m. with a special tribute to God. The public is cordially invited to share in this time of rejoicing.

For further information, please call 272-5679 or 564-1495.

BANQUET A SUCCESS

By Sharon Davis

Minority Contractors of Pierce County in recognition of the Washington State Department of Transportation, had their Second Annual Educational Awards Banquet at the Tacoma Dome Convention Hall on Wednesday, October 10, 1984. The Minority Contractors Association was formed through the Model Cities Grant Program. According to Virgil Matthews, Minority Contractors' Executive Director, the association "serves the needs of the clients and members in the area of minority business participation. We've expanded, working very closely with the Department of Transportation Contract awards network." Frank Russell, Master of Ceremonies, introduced past presidents of the Minority Contractors' Association, beginning with the first, Al Boddie, and the rest not necessarily in order: Ernest Grice, Tiny Chapman, Robert H. Johnson and Art Pearson, the present president.

Deputy Mayor Tim Strege, brought greetings representing Mayor Doug Sutherland and acknowledged the fine efforts Minority Contractors contributed to the economic growth of Disadvantaged Women Business Enterprises in the state of Washington. "There are strong local rules against discrimination in all areas of employment," he said. Norwood Brooks, Commissioner, Department of Employment Security, spoke on behalf of Governor John Spellman. Mr. Brooks said that the Governor regretted that he could not attend but he has consistently advocated two themes: Employment and Business Development. Mr. Brooks stated that Blacks need the financial independence to operate his or her own business and Washington is the second state to establish enforceable goals (9.1% for Minorities and 3% for Women) for the purchase of state goods and services for Women and Minority Businesses.

Remarks were given by Pierce County Executive Candidates Ned Shera and Joe Stortini. Stortini presented Minority Contractors with Proclamation 897-13 which proclaimed October 7-13 Minority Business Enterprise Week. Art Pearson also accepted an award from the Mt. Rainier Chapter of the Boy Scouts of America, who are recruiting minorities to enter the program. Also attending were Land Commissioner Candidate Gene Wiegman and Representative Bill Smitherman.

After a powerful and moving rendition of "My Eyes Have Seen the Glory" by singer Herb Jones, Guest Speaker Duane Berentson, Secretary of Transportation, stated that Minority Contractors was awarded a Supportive Service Contract, from October 1, 1984, providing concentrated assistance to Disadvantage/Women Business Enterprise in the following areas: Start-up assistance for new businesses; bidding and estimating; plan interpretation and the state certification process. Besides the plan centers in Seattle, Vancouver, Spokane and Tacoma, a new one will open in Richland. In Tacoma there will be a staff engineer available to assist with plan interpretation, bidding and estimating. Participants in the service contract area do not have to be state certified.

FUNDS AID BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

A $37,000 grant from the State of Washington Department of Community Development to the Tacoma-Pierce County Economic Development Board will actually mean that twice that amount will be available for programs to assist local businesses in Pierce County. The grant, made possible by an act of the last state legislative session, was conditional on an equal amount being raised in Pierce County. The matching $37,000 was made available to the EDB through New Beginnings funds, pledged to support Pierce County's economic development by the business community. Another condition of the grant is that funds be used to strengthen the process of economic development to insure local continuity of effort.

According to EDB director C. Mark Smith, the funds from the state and New Beginnings will be devoted to five areas to strengthen local business: 1) Follow-up actions with firms who particiapted in a 1,400-firm business survey to provide information and assistance with expansion plans, or problems which inhibit growth. 2) Expanded efforts to make it easier for major purchasers to buy goods and services from local suppliers, and for county firms of all sizes to do business with one another. 3) A study to provide substantive information on the nature and size of the market for office/industrial parks in Pierce County, and on the relative attractiveness of potential sites to park tenants. 4) A similar study to provide more information on currently available industrial sites, potential types of uses for each location, and short and long-range development strategies to take the best advantage of the county's available sites. 5) A series of seminars for small business owners to provide up-to-date information on legal requirements, available incentives, and options for raising capital among other subjects.

The EDB application was one of 22 ultimately funded. Patrick Dunn, State Director of the Department of Community Development, said there were 47 applicants for approximately $1 million in funds. The Pierce County application was the largest proposal funded under the program.

Tacoma-Pierce County EDB president Church Cereghino said the EDB was "extremely pleased that our application was selected. We are excited about what these additional funds, together with an equal amount from the New Beginnings campaign can mean to the county. The important information we'll be able to gather will enable us to do a better job of helping Pierce County businesses grow and prosper. The five areas we will be working on will give us a much broader understanding of the needs of local business, and it should position us to help those businesses identify and capture the opportunities that become available to them," he said.

BUSINESS

GOLDEN, Colorado - Adolph Coors Company has appointed Dr. Abigail Pennington its Chief Medical Officer for the brewery's medical center. Pennington joins the nation's fifth largest brewer after eight years in private practice. Born in Georgetown, British Guiana, Pennington studied in London, England, Reno, Nevada, and received her M.D. from the University of Colorado Medical School

She has been active with several organizations in Denver, including serving as director for the Park Manor Retirement Home and the Wheat Ridge Manor Nursing Home's Quality Assurance Committee. Pennington resides in Aurora.

Successful Business Starts with Planning

How often have you worked all day, only to feel that you hve accomplished nothing? Do other people always seem to get twice as much done in half the time? The problem may not be inefficiency but a lack of planning for results. Planning for results means spending your time where it will reap the most profitable rewards.

Only you as a businesswoman know where this is. By asking yourself the question"What is the best use of my time (right now, today, this week, etc.)?" and keeping an eye on your present goal list you'll make an honest evaluation.

If you are not getting as much done each day as you feel you should, the following suggestions are for you.

1. Get an early start. Try to pick up an extra 15 minutes each day by leaving earlier in the morning.
2. Don't take on marginal emergencies. Try to delegate the work to others. Remember, when you tackle a minor emergency you must put aside other activities.
3. Finish what you start. Remember, when you put work away, you need to reacuant yourself with it again when you restart. A good rule is to try to get things off your desk as quickly as possible.
4. Plan your next day. Make your "Daily goal list" the last thing at the close of the day that you do. This will save you time in the morning and avoid forgetting things.

Where's the Beef for Blacks?

People of color are not the only ones confused by the president's performances. Perhaps that is the saddest part of this current presidency. Car manufacturers overheard his oratory in Detroit about import quotas on Japanese imports and beef restraints in one paragraph, put together. First talking about beef, then cars, then beef, then cars again without punctuation! Putting both General Motors and Chrysler chairmen as confused as the general public was after a muttering presidential speech. Still speaking on the campaign trail about the accomplishments of his administration, an aging observer would have to ask, "Where's the beef?".

There is no substance to the statement that the American public is better off under this president than any other previous presidents. In spite of his heavy advertisements. There are at least three areas in which his administration must accept responsibility for failure to deliver dollars.

Free enterprises and entrepreneurship are exotic to executives for the simple reason that their salaries soar in a successful economic environment. Evidently, some missed the sound of the gun. Now that the dust is clearing it is not just the mediocre and masses left behind, but those would be yuppies on the way to the top. The want ads are in and the record is clear, there are few executive job openings every place but in the Southwest part of the U.S.

Since those who wish to be ahead of the middle-class are slipping, there should not be anything but joy in "Mudville". But the venom of the villain in the White House has wiped out the hopes of a healthy chunk of even the children of the middle-class during his first term. In a study by the Federal Reserve Board over the past five years, people's pay has just gone backwards for the average American family. When incomes are adjusted for the so-called reduction in inflation rates much heralded by the administration a shortage of beef appears in the sandwich. Since 1976 the average real income paycheck has gone down from $28,860 by about $2,000. So much for the president's second promise of being better off under his administration. Unless of course you belong to the top 2 percent of the families in the country whose increase in wealth now collects 15 percent of the nation's income, or seven and a half times their wealth, as well as, control one-half of public corporate America and one out of every five pieces of property! But there was no mention of this sour pickle in the public barrel!

But the real slinger is the security issue of the White House hype. How do you feel about a strong defense against the "Soviet/Cuban" or "Soviet-backed Marxist" in Central America as asked by the Republican National Committee official survey on the administration's defense strategy? Sent to anyone by mail personally, to persuade them to think highly of the president. An enormous war campaign chest has expenditures for accusing Mondale of making the cutbacks in defense spending authorized by President Carter. Considering the results to date of this current administration continued cutbacks would not have meant any more lack of defense in Beirut. Blood of America's able-bodied men has flowed in the streets of Beirut off and on since the current man in the White House has been in office. While a world war had not started, who can say the president's political death threats to the U.S.S.R. have not sown the seeds of nuclear disaster! The major thing wrong with advertising a "Big Mac" is that sooner or later, someone is likely to look between the buns and find there is nothing between the ears.

Black Caucus Gives Awards to Youth

The youth awards were presented by Rep. Walter E. Fauntroy (D-D.C.), NBLR chairman. Winners selected for the fourth annual NBLR awards were: Inventions-Dwain Saulsberry; Sports-Benita Fitzgerald Brown, Olympic gold medalists in the 100 meters hurdles; Beauty and Fashion-Desiree Keating, Miss District of Columbia; Entertainment-Dennis Watson, humorists and poet; Education- Gregory Moore, president of the U.S. Student Association; Communications - Derrick Gibbs Johnson, radio program producer and founder of Pyramid Communications multi-media firm; Business — Myra Evans, president of Gelato Modo Italian ice cream company; Professional Development — Michael Ross, president of the National Black Law Student Association, and Special Merit — Attallah Saban Shabazz, community activity.

Ross is a University of Virginia Law School graduate and a Congressional Black Caucus Fellow summer intern in 1982. Miss Shabazz, the daughter of martyr Malcolm X and his widow, Betty Shabazz, was cited for her work with the Ophelia DeVore School of Charm in New York City and her activity with Yolanda King, daughter of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and his widow, Corretta, in the theatrical production company, "Nucleus".

Earlier this year, the NBLR developed a targeted voter registration and get out the vote plan designed to increase voter registration and voter turn out by 25 percent in the 22 states where the membership of NBLR organizations is most highly concentrated. The plan could result in the election of several new Black members of Congress and the defeat of several conservative members of the Senate and House of representatives, Fauntroy stated.

SHAME ON THE SENATE

Americans who thought the civil rights struggle was over had better think again. As Congress raced to adjourn in October, a handful of senators led by Orrin G. Hatch, Republican of Utah, dashed all hopes for passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1984 which would have reassured Americans that Federal funds would not go to institutions or state governments that discriminate against minorities, women, the handicapped or the aged.

When the chips were down, 51 Republicans and two Democratic senators voted to kill the measure. The four Republicans voting to save it were Lowell P. Weicker, Jr., of Connecticut, Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania, Charles H. Percey of Illinois and William S. Cohen of Maine. The two Democrats who voted to kill it were J. James Exon and Edward Zorinsky, both of Nebraska. President Reagan remained silent at the crucial hour.

Playing the commendable roles of David vs. Goliath in leading the fight for passage of the measure were Senators Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Bob Packwood (R-Ore.).

The measure is needed to correct a misinterpretation of the will of earlier Congresses by the United State Supreme Court. It ruled last February in the Grove City College case that Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 barring sex discrimination applied only to programs receiving federal funding, not to the institutions running those programs.

The NAACP is proud of its leadership in the long struggle against federally-supported discrimination.

The NAACP calls upon Americans of good will to express their outrage over the fate of the Civil Rights Act of 1984 at the polls on November 6. Such crass disregard for the rights of all Americans as was displayed in the Senate on October 2, 1984, is not only anachronistic but it also destroys respect for the hallowed constitutional principles of justice and equality.

"Congratulations for your leadership and support for this historic legislation. Thousands of minority and woman-owned businesses will for the first time have the opportunity to compete for state contracts." Nat Jackson, Chairman, MBWE Legislative Task Force

THE STAPLE SINGERS — 30-year veterans of the gospel, soul and pop music scenes, have released a Talking Heads song as their first record in four years. That song, "Slippery People," quickly hit the Black singles charts and won critical acclaim, and it highlights The Turning Point, the Staples' new album for Private I/CBS Records. "It's nothing but a gospel song talking about church people," says Roebuck "Pop" Staples of the song, which is sung by Mavis Staples, with help from Pop as well as Cleo, Yvonne and Pervis Staples. "The Staple Singers are always interested in doing something constructive and affirmative, and David Byrne wrote that song about the way church people sometimes behave.

7-11-21 Entry Deadline Nears

Less than one week remains before the deadline for submitting entries for the Washington State Lottery's "7-11-21" instant game preliminary drawing. A $1,000-a-week-for-life top prize awaits the grand prize winner, who will be chosen November 15 at Bellevue Square.

All claimed $25 winning tickets are automatic entries in the preliminary drawing process if received at the Lottery's Olympia office by Thursday, November 1. Though the "7-11-21" instant ticket game officially ended October 18, ticket sales agents are authorized to sell tickets from open packs until November 1. The game's preliminary drawing will be held Wednesday, November 7, at the Lottery's regional office in Olympia. At that time, seven finalists will be selected for the November 15 grand prize drawing.

There have been more than 41,000 $25 winning tickets, out of a possible 73,000 entries (based on the potential number of $25 prizes in the game) entered in the preliminary drawing. Game sales are estimated at more than 25 million since the game began July 27.

In addition to the $1,000 a week top prize, the Lottery will award cash prizes of $100,000, $75,000, $50,000, $25,000, $15,000, and $10,000 at the grand prize drawing at Bellevue Square, the first regional shopping center built in the Pacific Northwest. The $150 million center has nearly 200 specialty shops, restaurants and department stores. The drawing is scheduled for 2 p.m. in the mall's Center Court area.

DID THE GUY BEHIND YOU BUY YOUR WINNING LOTTERY TICKET?

Could it be? When you had the chance to say, "I'd like a lottery ticket," you forgot? And the guy behind you in line didn't? So he won?

Next time, ask. It's easy. Just say, "I'd like a lottery ticket please."

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR? SOMEONE ELSE TO WIN YOUR $50,000 INSTANT CASH PRIZE?

It could be you, you know. Asking for a lottery ticket. Scratching those six little squares. Matching three. Exclaiming, "I've won $50,000!" (Or $1,000. Or $50. Or $5. Or $2. Or a free ticket.) Do you want to give up this chance to someone else?

OR YOUR CHANCE AT THE GRAND PRIZE OF $50,000 A YEAR FOR LIFE?

Think about it. $50,000. A Year. For The Rest Of Your Life. And all you have to do to take part is send in five non-winning tickets to the address below.* Do you really want to pass on this opportunity to some stranger?

OR YOUR CHANCE TO TURN FIVE NON-WINNING TICKETS INTO $1,000 INSTANT CASH?

Even if you're not chosen for the Grand Prize Drawing, you still have a chance at this. Because when you enter the Grand Prize Drawing, you're automatically entered in the "Second Chance Drawing." Here's how it works. Five preliminary drawings will be held Nov. 5, Nov. 26, Dec. 14, Dec. 28 and Jan. 21. 50 names will be drawn each time. And each time, one Grand Prize Finalist (maybe you) will be selected. The other 49 will win $1,000. All you have to do is remember to ask for a lottery ticket.

After all, who do you really think deserves this cash more? You? Or the guy behind you?

$50,000 Match 3

*Send non-winning $50,000 Match 3 tickets—5 per entry—to WASHINGTON STATE LOTTERY GRAND PRIZE DRAWING, TACOMA, WASHINGTON 98460. Include name, address, phone number on one or more tickets.

SOFT SHAPES — The soft, sleek wispiness of coif works extremely well with all face shapes. Once hair is relaxed and given a layered cut, a roller set gives full height at the crown and volume all the way around. Result? A very subtle and sweeping no-fuss daytime look in contemporary classics.

SCULPTURED HAIR — This precision sculpture in layers is roller set to hold and look good from day to evening. A fully tousled layered look, the front is pulled forward on the forehead, bringing attention to the eyes and framing the face.

Hair Trends for the Fall

The '84 fall hair trends are predicted to u Black women fashionably into fall this year, according to 'Sophisticate's Black Hair Styles and Care Guide', a new hair care and beauty magazine based in Chicago.

Since it's inception in March "The response to the magazine has been phenomenal and, as a result the magazines have literally been disappearing off the newsstands," says Angela de Joseph, editor.

"We've found that the Black woman was looking for a better, simpler, yet more sophisticated guide to help develop her image into a self-projecting package that says, 'I'm a winner' without spending years and a fortune," says de Joseph.

The November issue features an exclusive interview with LaToya Jackson (Michael Jackson's older sister).

She adds, "We want the Black woman to know that a publication finally exists to showcase the options in Black hairstyles and to provide her with objective information on the latest beauty products right at her fingertips!"

THE PEN

by Bob Maguinez

I have tried to feature some of the legends and greats that have contributed a chapter to Tacoma's history in the field of sports. There is no question of the contributions made by many persons and it is impossible to recognize each and every one. Nevertheless, we shall do the best we can to try to cover all aspects of the sports field.

There comes a time in our lives when retirement is anticipated with much anxiety; I know a person that will soon be taking that step. If you have been around the sports scene for years, you would know this individual for he is known in some quarters as "Mr. Sports"!! He has answered to many names, from Stevie, Steve, the Greek, or simply Orfanos. In order to clear the air, I speak of Steve Orfanos who has been on the sports scene for close to 45 years. He can go into depth about any topic relative to sports, be it scheduling, statistics, names, events - you name it. It would take hours to describe his expertise in sports, but I would like to mention a few things he has been involved in since I have known him (which seems like an eternity!!). There were many years when you would see him at the officials' table for high school and college basketbal since he served for many years as the "official scorer." He originally worked for the Parks Department as an athletic supervisor in the old City hall Annex. The responsibilities were many; he did the scheduling, the publicity, the assignment of officials and many other tasks. It was during this tenure that he developed, early in his career, an uncanny sense for scheduling games. Until this day, people from all over the country, both amateur and professional, constantly call for his assistance.

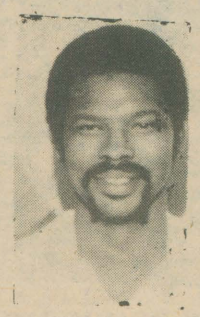

I was very fortunate to learn and pay my dues under him. I really believe that his greatest loves were two-fold. He served for roughly 27 years as the assigning secretary of the Western Washington Umpires Association and he has served as the Commissioner for the local ASA, which is the Amateur Softball Association. This is the national and worldwide body governing amateur softball programs for youth and adults. Steve still holds the latter position.

During the years he served the umpires association, he served it well; he always fought for better wages and working conditions. Ask anyone that ever belonged to the umpires association and they will tell you the same thing.

Tacoma is near the top of the states with total registration of teams and Steve has been the guiding light behind the rapid increase. There is enormous responsibility in carrying out the duties of Commissioner. There is an old saying that anyone can be replaced, which is true. But it will be very difficult to replace a person with his knowledge. I honestly know he is a very humble person. He did and still does go out of his way to help people and he is very low-key in doing these things. I have been around him for many years and I know!!!

He will be sorely missed and Tacoma is better due to his contributions. Many of us are grateful to him. We wish him well in the years to come for he richly deserves it. We will miss him, but not forget him. It has been a pleasure to have been associated with him...Thanks for the memories, Steve...A tough act to follow.....

GET FLU SHOTS EARLY

Now is the time for early flu immunization, especially for high-risk individuals, according to the American Lung Association of Washington. Those considered the highest priority group for the immunization are adults and children with chronic disease of the cardiovascular and pulmonary system. The second highest priority group for immunization are the nurses, physicians and other personnel who have extensive contact with the high risk population. The third highest priority group for immunization against the flu are otherwise healthy people who are 65 or over, adults and children with metabolic diseases sucy as diabetes, people with kidney disease, severe anemia and/or compromised immune function.

Health officials report that a highly purified vaccine is available to fight this year's flu, which is expected to be of three types: A-Chili, A-Philippines and B-USSR. Officials also warn that even though some of the flu strains are the same as last year, individuals need to get immunized again because the immunity lasts only for six months.

Persons who are interested in being immunized should contact their county health departments or their own physicians. More information on the influenza virus and its effects is available by writing the American Lung Association of Washington, 2624 So. 38th Street, Tacoma, WA 98409, or by calling 1-800-732-9339 (or 474-9547 in Tacoma).

SUCCESS

Minority Contractors Association presented posthumous awards to Mrs. J.R. Pilcher for her husband's efforts in recruiting Black General Contractors and to Phyllis and Ron Gilvens for their father, Bill Gilvens' efforts in economic development for Blacks. Others receiving awards were: Governor John Spellman for signing the Minority/Women Business Enterprise Legislation; Senator George Fleming for efforts in the passage of the law establishing the Office of Women Business Enterprise; Carolyn V. Patton, Director of Minority/Women Business Enterprise for her efforts in making the program work; (Ms. Patton stated that state certification processing is getting faster and her staff and advisory committee deserves the credit for the award); James L. Absher for his support of Equal Opportunity through his work with the committee for equal employment opportunity (CEEO) and Associated General Contractors.

The banquet was well attended by the community, state and local organizations. Russell gave credit to the National Association of Minority Contractors, Tacoma NAACP, Tacoma Urban League, Prince Hall Masons (State of Washington), CBA Enterprise (Olympia), Black Business Association, Central Contractors' Association (Seattle), K Street Boosters, Evergreen State College (Tacoma Campus) and Vancouver and Spokane Plan Centers for their help in co-sponsoring the event.

Problems of Living Together

Recently I received a letter from a reader like yourself that posed questions of increasing importance. I want to share the letter and my response with you. I would be interested to know your opinions on these issues.

Dear Dr. Faulkner:

I want very much to get married but have a terrible fear of failure because so many of my friends are either separated or divorced. Do you think it would be wise for me and my fiance to live together (shack up) first, so that we can get to know each other? What about sex? Alyce, Savannah, Ga.

Dear Alyce:

You have good reason to be fearful. Fewer than 25 out of every 100 people who marry remain together. And, only half of those profess to being happy. Marriage today is treacherous territory that should be explored carefully before you invest your future in it.

How can you find out about each other before marriage? There is no guarantee for success but there are ways to enhance the likelihood of success:

1) Premarital counseling - Some counselors are skilled in evaluating couples for compatability. A personality analysis may let you know if your personality and lifestyle can intertwine successfully with that of your mate. You will be judged in terms of type of personality, goals, age, religion, education, sexual orientation and profession. It is not necessary for you to have identical data but it is important to have characteristics that mutually fulfill each other and contribute to one another's happiness;

2) Living together before marriage - It is becoming increasingly unrealistic to oppose this lifestyle because so many people are adopting it in spite of historical moral convention to the contrary. There are clearly advantages to living for a period of time with your prospective mate. You learn the other person's habits, determine if you can adjust to sharing, find out if your personalities are conducive to teamwork, and you discover idiosyncracies about the mate which could only be discovered during a period of regular contact. The obvious major disadvantages are the possibility of having a child at a time disadvantageous to one or both of you.

The child out of wedlock may or may not conflict with your moral values, may be born before you can afford to adequately support the child financially and parentially, deprive you of the opportunity to establish your career;;and may, conceivably, impose an unanticipated burden upon you if you decide to separate before marriage. The child would be an additional factor to be considered by a future prospective mate. In other words, would a future mate marry someone who already has a child? Only the involved parties, with professional advice, can weigh the factors and make the final decision.

The wise person would be slow to engage in sexual intercourse with someone who has not decided to marry them. It is a decision that only you can make after considering the consequences. It is not realistic to expect two people to live together without engaging in intercourse. So, living together has many built-in traps that are seldom seen prior to the act.

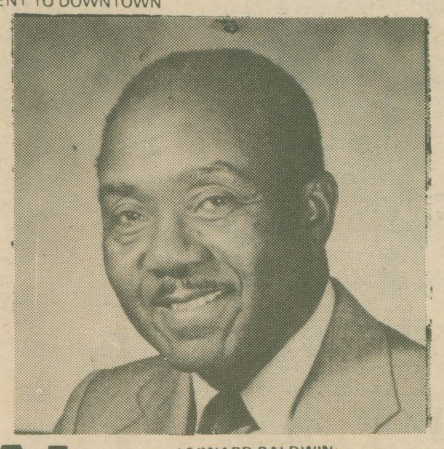

There is, however, and unfortunately, something that can be seen clearly. It is the thousands upon thousands of Black teenagers and subteenagers who are burdened with a child but no husband, no job, no education, no happiness and no prospect for future success.

50,000 DOLLAR INSTANT PRIZE

An instant prize of $50,000, and odds of better than one in nine, on the average, of winning cash are two of the features of the Washington State Lottery's "$50,000 Match 3" instant ticket game.

The new game, which goes on sale Friday, October 19, offers a grand prize of $50,000 a year for life. The remaining four prizes to be awarded at the grand prize drawing at the game's conclusion will be two $10,000 cash prizes, one $25,000 cash prize and one $50,000 cash prize.

Another special feature of the "$50,000 Match 3" game will be the five preliminary drawings which will be held about every two weeks. At each of the drawings, fifty (50) envelopes (each containing five non-winning tickets) will be drawn. One of the fifty will be selected as a grand prize drawing finalist and the other 49 persons will each receive $1,000 cash.

To play "$50,000 Match 3", players must gently scratch the six latex-covered play spots on the ticket, revealing six (6) play amounts. If three (3) similar play amounts appear, the player wins that prize.

On the average, the odds of winning a free ticket at 1:10, and the odds of winning a cash prize are better than one in nine. There will be an estimated 33 $50,000 instant prizes in the 30 million ticket game. There will be more than $11.7 million in prizes ranging from $2 to $50,000. The second chance drawings will be held November 5, November 26, December 14, December 26, and January 21. Each drawing will be at 11 a.m. at Lottery offices in Olympia. To enter, five (5) non-winning tickets must be mailed, in a single envelope, to "Washington State Lottery Grand Prize Drawing, Tacoma, WA 98460." Entries received by 9 a.m. on the day of the drawing will be eligible for that drawing. Entries not selected during each drawing will be destroyed. A list of the finalist selected and the 49 $1,000 cash winners will be provided to the media and to Lottery ticket sales agents for posting.

Holiday Stress

Getting the most out of the holidays without the stressful side effects is the topic of a special Tacoma Community College Workshop in November. "Unplug the Christmas Machine" will meet 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. November 10 in building 19, Room 13.

The Saturday workshop will concentrate on ways to overcome commercialization and reduce work and financial stress without losing the excitement of the holiday season. Topics include ideas for gift giving, entertaining and family celebrations.

Fee for the workshop is $13. Registration may be completed in the TCC Admissions Office, Building 18. Office hours are 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays, and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays. For more information call the college at 756-5000.

The Tacoma area school children are invited to a community Halloween Party the evening of Wednesday, October 31, 1984 at Altheimer Memorial Church Of God In Christ.

Activities will begin at 6 p.m., according to Laura Wright and Geraldine Merriweather, chairpersons of the planned festivities.

"We are hoping for a terrific turn-out because we've got the prizes and souvenirs to accommodate quite a crowd," Mrs. Merriweather and Mrs. Wright said.

Costume judging will encompass all ages, and games and activities will be provided for all, although the main emphasis will be on school-age children.

All youngsters planning to attend the party sign pledge cards stating, "I promise to respect the property of other people and will cooperate with leaders to make this party a success."

Donations for the party include prizes and refreshments from Safeway, Taco Bell and McDonalds.

Last year, more than 200 children participated in our Halloween Party, and I am confident that this year's party will draw an even larger crowed," Mrs. Laura Wright said.

LIMA LITURGY

Excitement is mounting about the upcoming celebration of the Lima Liturgy. This county-wide celebration of Holy Communion is a first in the history of the Christian community of Pierce County. Appropriate contacts have been made with denominational executives and an ecumenically approved liturgy is being used.

Many of the general public do not realize that this order of service was approved in 1982 in Lima, Peru by the Faith and Order Commission of the World Council of Churches. This includes 504 denominations plus the active participation of the Roman Catholic Church. These denominations together represent 800 million Christians. All of the participating churches have been reflecting on this liturgy and the extraordinary theological document, Baptism, Eucharist and Ministry, during these past two years.

Now, about our service...The concelebrants will be Bishop Robert Cochrane of the Episcopal Diocese of Olympia and Tacoma's District Superintendent of the United Methodist Church, Rev. Bruce Cornely. The homilist will be the Rev. Myrlene Hamilton of Fircrest Presbyterian Church. Serving as the two liturgists are Father Gerald Stanley of All Saints Catholic Church and Ms. Billie Johnstone of Agnus Dei Lutheran Church. Scriptures will be read by Mary Nero, President of Associated Ministries, Father Nicholas Kusevich of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church and Jennifer Straus, chapel assistant of the Rainier School. Deacons for the occasion will be Dr. William Walles of Mt. Cross Lutheran Church and Shelby Scherer of Christ Episcopal Church.

There will be 28 eucharistic ministers representing a variety of ethnic groups and denominations that make up the Christian community. Acolytes will also come from the different churches. The celebration of the Eucharist is being further enhanced by local involvement in the provision of the bread and wine. The Dominican Sisters of Marymount are providing the bread and Quail Run Vineyards of Eastern Washington is providing the wine. Special music is being provided by the choir of the Korean Baptist Church of Tacoma, The Adelphians of UPS and the Choir of the West of PLU. Among the church executives confirmed to be in attendance at this time are Bishop T.L. Westbrook, Jurisdictional Prelate of the Church of God in Christ; Dr. Robert Mills, acting executive of the Presbyterian Synod of Alaska/Northwest; Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen of the Archdiocese of Seattle; Rev. William Thorsen, assistant to the Bishop and ecumenical officer of the Pacific Northwest Synod of the Lutheran Church in America; Rev. George Larson will represent Bishop Lunde of the North Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church; Rev. William Mitchell, Presiding Elder of the Oregon/Washington District of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church; Dr. Loren Arnett, Executive Minister of the Washington Association of Churches.

These church officials will lead a processional of local ministers at the beginning of the celebration of the Lima Liturgy. All of this will take place at St. Charles Borromeo Parish, 7112 South 12th Street in Tacoma on Reformation/Reconciliation Sunday, October 28th beginning at 3 p.m.

Should you desire any further information regarding this most significant occasion, please feel free to contact Rev. David T. Alger at 383-3056.
