Seattle Urban League Housing Com.

Our Housing Committee has long concerned itself with realistic programs designed to help eliminate the prevalent and un-Democratic practices of discrimination in housing in our City. We call your attention to some recent developments on the part of our Mayor and City Council which appear to establish particular concern and intent by this Municipal Body to eliminate discrimination in housing.

On January 9, 1962, the Mayor and City Council, by resolution approved, the 1962 "Program For Community Improvement" for urban renewal, which included the statement that "... to eliminate discrimination in housing should be encouraged and this is a specific objective for 1962 for the City"....

On June 18, 1962, the Mayor delivered his Annual Message to the City Council. His recommendation for an advisory committee on minority housing, subsequently approved by resolution, stated in part, "I believe that this is the appropriate time for the City of Seattle to commission a representative group of citizens as an advisory committee on minority housing to study the entire local situation and to determine whether there is a need for governmental action. This committee should be instructed further that if it finds action is necessary, it recommend programs, adequate financing and necessary legislation."

It is now in order to make such recommendations to the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Minority Housing as may assist them and our Mayor and City Council in taking proper and positive steps to eliminate discrimination in housing. We, therefore, recommend the following:

1. Enactment of an ordinance prohibiting discrimination in the sale, rental or leasing, of all housing, because of race, color, religion or national origin; and to include provisions for the cancellation of the City business license of any firm, or its employees and agents, who are found to have so discriminated.

(a) Create a Commission on Human Relations with suitable staff and facilities to administer and enforce this ordinance, whose powers and duties shall include, but not be limited to:

1) Investigations and study.
2) Holding of public hearings and issuance of orders.

3) Cooperation with interested citizens and with public and private agencies.

4) Power to obtain attendance of witnesses and production of documents.

5) Authorization to act as "relocation agent" for persons displaced by public projects.

6) To cooperate with all concerned City Departments in eliminating sub-standard housing on a city-wide basis.

7) Cooperate with the City Council and Planning Commission in equal enforcement of zoning requirements and the granting of variances.

8) Power to impose penalties for violations of this ordinance. (Similar to Housing Code.)

9) And to establish such rules and regulations and procedures as will make this Act meaningful and effective.

Committee For Redistricting

Members of the League of Women Voters have started a door-to-door campaign to distribute literature for Initiative 211 - the redistricting measure.

The three-week campaign will be conducted throughout Seattle and suburban districts.

Mrs. John Harding, redistricting chairman for the Seattle League said that a lack of funds makes it necessary to rely on "woman power" to help get the facts regarding 211 before the public.

She said women throughout the metropolitan area who are not League members have offered to help in the door-to-door campaign - as have many men.

Initiative 211 was drafted to obtain fair and equal representation in the State Legislature.

SJR-1 Draws New Backers

News of endorsements of SJR-1 and HJR-1 by state and local leaders and groups continue to come in. Mrs. Janice Rochester, area chairman for the Citizen's Committee for SJR-1 and HJR-1 said today.

Both Democratic and Republican parties have just announced that their advisory ballots to party members will bear the reminder, "Vote 'Yes' for SJR-1 and HJR-1."

"Many questions are being asked about SJR-1 and HJR-1," Mrs. Rochester said. The committee feels that many erroneous and misleading statements are circulating. It should be emphasized that SJR-1 in no way effects the amount of money to be spent on schools annually. The VOTER will still have to approve the levy. But it will be possible to present school expenditures to the public for approval once every four years instead of every year. HJR-1 extends the levy period for cities for capital outlay only. THESE MEASURES DO NOT RAISE TAXES.

SJR-1 and HJR-1 will save tax dollars by eliminating the costs of annual campaigns and elections, by saving bond interest, and by permitting schools and cities to engage in more business-like, long-range planning.

Men of great genius and large heart sow the seeds of a new degree of progress in the world, but they bear fruit only after many years.

- Giuseppe Mazzini

The Four Preps

The Four Preps, vocal recording group, will perform Oct. 26 in the West High Gym at Olympia College in Bremerton.

The Associated Student Body of Olympic College is sponsoring the concert with tickets being placed on sale at the OC Student Center, the YMCA, at several of the local merchants, and at the area high schools.

Admission will be $1.25 per person.

Ashwood School Boys Build Radio

The 5th grade boys at Ashwood took in an activity, the building of a portable FM Radio. Most of the boys who participated in the building of the radio worked before and after school.

These boys were; Lancing Cowles, Curt Taylor and Bean Christie. All the other boys in the room helped at one time or another. The radio was used to listen to the last two "series" games. This radio is a Heathkit F.M. Portable (10 transistors).

At Ashwood, there are two 5th grades and two 6th grades. They are studying Social Studies, United States History, Arithmetic, and various other subjects. They have class room officers and regular elections are held.

The 5th grade boys are to play Mr. Roehl's 6th grade in a game of football.

We can see from their report, these 5th grade Ashwood boys are an active and very ambitious young group.

At their request, K-ZAM dedicated a special salute to them at 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 23rd.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

The management of the A & C New Arcade Furniture Company resolves to give their friends of the past and customers of the future the best possible furniture for the best price. We will better any prices in town due to our low overhead. No promotions, no gimmicks, the only thing we have to sell is ourselves, and satisfaction to our customers. If we don't have what you want, we will get it for you at a saving, if possible. All we ask is, try us out - we have a saying and a resolution that if we sell you furniture one time and if you need furniture again, and if you don't buy from us again, it will be your fault, not ours.

Thank you,
Al Cordova and Steve Allen

Rummage Sale

The American Civil Liberties Union Rummage Sale is being held this Friday, Oct. 26 from 9:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.; and also on Saturday Oct. 27 from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The sale is being held at 2206 North 45th, just one block north of the Guild Theater in the Wallingford District.

Items offered for sale include clothing, furniture, household appliances, books, records, jewelry, children's toys, and many other items.

Mrs Smith Begins Second Year As President

The president, Mrs. E. N. Smith, Jr., (Ella), stated that she is very pleased with the way the members of the Society have responded to the call of this project - "Holiday Fashion Preview" - it has taken a great deal of work, but never once did the members say that it could not be done.

Mrs. E. N. Smith, Jr., President

Mrs. Smith is beginning her second year as president of the Clara H. Bell Missionary Society. She is presently employed as sales production person on the fourth floor of the Bon Marche. This program is right in line with her profession as she has worked many years as fashion consultant and coordinator, and until this year worked in her own business and was quite well-known in the area.

This summer she worked as an assistant to the models at the Vogue Fashion Show. She was chief consultant and wardrobe mistress and alterationist for the show until she began as fulltime worker at the Bon Marche. She now spends much of her time there now as a bridal consultant in the yardage department. She is more than happy to start another conference year's work with such a well-planned program.

The "Holiday Fashion Preview" show is open to the public and tickets may be purchased at the door, or from members of the Society, or if you so desire at the Bon Marche Ticket Office.

For further information you may call EA 4-4485 or EA 2-2006.

Holiday Fashion Preview Planned For Sunday

The accompanying pictures are members of the Clara H. Bell Missionary Society of Primm Tabernacle A.M.E. Church.

These ladies are very busy finishing up the last minute details for the "Holiday Fashion Preview" which will be held on Sunday, Oct. 28, at the Norselander.

Featured in the Show will be the Vogue Fashion Models of the Seattle's World Fair, and also Miss Merle Ann Burton, former Mardi Gras Queen.

These models have graciously consented to perform a special benefit show for the Primm Tabernacle A.M.E. Church.

Another attraction will be the appearance of the present Mardi Gras Queen and her Court. The Queen, Miss Virgle Green, will lead the procession of dignitaries from various parts of the city.

Tea will be served following the Show. Wives of the ministers of the area as well as special guests will pour including Mrs. J. L. N. Bell, Mrs. J. H. Adams, Mrs. T. J. Baker, Mrs. M. C. Jackson, Mrs. C. H. Stokes, Mrs. C. V. Johnson, Mrs. R. W. Daubney, and many others.

Serving as hostesses will be representatives of the various churches and youth groups.

Featured as guest soloist will be the Rev. Ellis H. Casson, who is quite well-known in the community both as an A.M.E. minister and as a worker for the NAACP.

What's With the G.O.P.

By Henry E. Perry, Chairman
 37th District

A surprising number of people honestly believe that the Democratic Party in this State has a better record than the Republican Party in the field of civil rights and yet the facts are that the Republican Party has furnished superior leadership in this field since the first legislation was introduced and has played a major part in the passage of all important bills.

How many persons know that the "father" of civil rights legislation in this state was attorney Alfred J. Westberg. He, as a Republican State Senator from the 37th District, drafted and sponsored in 1949 the first state law against discrimination in employment? Senator Westberg was later appointed as the first Chairman of the Board Against Discrimination and served with distinction until incoming Governor Rosellini replaced him with an appointee from the Democratic Party.

Mr. Westberg is continuing to serve the public as Chairman of Mayor Clinton's Advisory Commission on Minority Housing.

Another giant step forward was taken in the field of civil rights in 1953 when the legislature passed the Public Accommodation Act assuring to every person the full enjoyment of "any place of public resort, accommodation, assemblage or amusement." One of the principal sponsors of this law was attorney Charles M. Stokes, a Republican Representative from the 37th District.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Stokes, that same year, tacked an amendment on the Cemetery Law prohibiting discrimination in cemeteries which amendment for technical reasons was later declared unconstitutional.

Limits for Sportsmen

How many fish or wild geese can you legally keep in your freezer? Can you clean and store a season's take of pheasants? And how long can you keep them?

The answers depend on the possession limits set forth in the fish and game regulations adopted by the Washington State Game Commission. Regardless of whether the fish or game were legally taken under a daily bag limit, no person may legally store or have under his control more than the possession limit prescribed for that species. In some instances the daily bag limit and possession limit are the same.

Possession limits have the valid public purpose of preventing the undue taking and hoarding of scarce fish and wildlife. They seek to preserve hunting and fishing for the sportsman and not for the "meat hunter."

"Possession" means to own, have or control property. It makes no difference if the fish or game have been cleaned or frozen. Until they are cooked and consumed, they are still in possession. Thus having the possession limit of wild geese - which for geese is the same as the daily bag limit - in the car trunk, hung on the porch or cleaned and in the freezer is all the same; you are entitled to have in total only one possession limit.

Time erases possession limits. It is illegal to possess fish or game after August 1st of the year after the year in which you took them, unless you have notified the game department and have obtained special permission to keep such fish or game.

You should check the fish and game regulations carefully so that you understand the daily bag limits and possession limits for whatever you catch or kill.

The conditions facing the Negro population in Cincinnati at the opening of the Twentieth Century have been described by Frank W. Quillan in an article in the Independent Weekly Magazine.

Mr. Quillan stated that Negroes were not admitted to the Medical College, the Hospitals (except two small charity ones), the Fire Department, the hotels, restaurants, theatres and the popular parks. Trains had "Jim Crow" coaches. Even the YMCA refused to give them either active or associate membership until the Walnut Street Branch was established.

Quillan wrote, "The Colored Man, in earning his living is hampered on every side by race justice. The Labor Unions as a whole do not want him and will not have him, and their members will not work by the side of him. The result of this is that he is practically debarred from all mechanical pursuits requiring skill."

Many other activities were denied the Negroes during this period. It was not at all strange to learn that a Negro who came to the city said, "I thought upon coming to a free state like Ohio, that I would find every door thrown open to me, but from the treatment I received by the people generally, I found it little better than in Virginia."

This was the background for the organization of a Lodge of Elks in Cincinnati. It was a city in which Negroes had a tough struggle for freedom and opportunity. For these were the characteristic aspects of segregation and exclusion on one hand and the beliefs and sentiments of democracy on the other. They were given the right to work at certain types of jobs, but the privilege of acceptance in the organizational life even of the churches and religious organizations were denied them, unless they were developed on the segregated basis.

At the same time there was a trend toward the decline of the many many local Negro Secret Societies which had developed in the latter part of the nineteenth century as defense dissolution of the number throughout this period.

As the new century dawned, there was the larger development of a few organizations of major strength in membership and strong leadership.

Among these organizations were the Masons, the Odd Fellows, the Pythians, and the Elks.

There will be more historical data following this column.

Cascade Lodge No. 1416 will hold regular meeting next Sunday, Oct. 28 at 3 p.m. All Brothers are requested to be present and on time.

I Believe

By Isaiah Edwards

I believe the greatest issue facing the world today is, the issue of Human Justice.

Human Rights are inherent, they are God given and in order that they be maintained, Governments are instituted among men. "Deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." When any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it.

Segregation, based upon race hatred, is destroying the very thing that made American possible (Liberty and Freedom).

This is what is bringing about the great "bust" - not only in America but throughout the world.

It had to come - there is a limit to what men of dignity can endure. When that limit is reached, something somewhere must give beneath the strain.

The New Negro, in America, stands ready to cry aloud, as did the famous man of history, "Give me Liberty or give me death!"

The American Negro has helped America to carve a noble destiny for all its people, and he wants to share in enjoying its nobility.

On this issue there must not be any deviation. The American Negro must be accorded his just and full right without any further delay.

Helpful Hints To Hygiene by Gladys Woods

This week we have a continuation of importance of a proper balanced diet. As mentioned before proteins, carbohydrates, and fats are the important elements which makeup this balanced diet. Many of you, therefore, may not know what foods are characterized under these groups, so today we shall try to give a definition of these food groups and the foods grouped under each.

Protein for Body Building. There are many kinds of protein. Some of them are able by themselves to build the protein of the human body. Others are not complete in this sense, but need to be mixed with proteins of different kinds if the protein part of the diet is to be satisfactory. Abundant amounts of complete proteins can be obtained from any of the following foodstuffs: milk, eggs, and flesh foods. It is impossible to obtain complete proteins from potatoes, green vegetables, and certain other sources, but hardly in sufficient quantities unless one overeats of such foods. Legumes of all kinds are rich in proteins, but their proteins are generally not complete. Among them, soybeans come the nearest to providing a complete protein. One who obtains part of his dietary protein from legumes and supplements this with protein from moderate amounts of milk or eggs, or both can be sure of satisfactory protein nutritional balance.

The quantity of protein is also of importance. Not much protein is required to repair broken-down tissues, and in an adult this is the chief purpose it should serve in the body. If an excess is eaten, what is not needed for repair is used as a part of the body fuel; but when protein food is oxidized in the body the wastes produced are acid in nature and tend to be burdensome to the kidneys.

Dietary Fats. Most food fats do not differ much in digestibility and in usefulness as sources of body energy. Many medical scientists, however, are coming to be more and more of the opinion that too high a fat intake -- especially of animal rather than of vegetable fats -- may be harmful, predisposing to apoplexy and coronary heart disease. On the other hand, few people in the United States eat too little fat for health. Such foods as butter, margarine, salad oils, and green vegetables contain fats.

Dietary Carbohydrates. Nearly all carbohydrates in the diet are changed during digestion into the simple sugar glucose, also called dextrose. From this point of view, it matters little what form of carbohydrate one eats. Highly refined cane or beet sugar, however, is somewhat irritating to the stomach and seems to promote decay of teeth. For this reason it should not be taken in excess. All the other sugars occurring naturally in most fruits and some vegetables, as well as starch from any ordinary food source, may be considered suitable carbohydrates for an ideal diet. Cellulose, which is a form of carbohydrate, is more or less abundant in all unrefined vegetable foods. It is almost completely indigestible, but it furnishes bulk to the diet and helps to prevent constipation.

Nest week still another approach to the balanced diet shall be discussed. We do hope these informal and suggestive discussions are of some help and interest to you the public.

FAMILY COUNSELING SERV.

Family Counseling Service is governed by a Board of Directors of 21 members selected from the community at large. They are volunteers, and have the interest of the agency and good service to the community in mind in assuming this responsibility. On the Board there are doctors, lawyers, school teachers, housewives, businessmen, bankers, insurance men, laborers, and so on. They are elected for a term of three years and may succeed themselves.

Family Counseling Service has 24 professional and 8 clerical positions. All of the professional staff members are trained social workers who have had a minimum of six years of college education, the last two of which must have been in a graduate school of social work. For employment as counselors in this agency, two years of social work training is a prerequisite. All of our counselors have also had years of experience in working with people. The counselors are fortified not only with the educational background, but they must have a sincere interest in people and dedication to the welfare of individuals and the community. Their warm thoughtful, curative relationship with people with problems enables persons seeking help to benefit from the help they are given.

In 1961, 2100 families sought help at Family Counseling Service. This represents over 9,000 individuals. Sixty-one per cent of these families lived in Seattle, the remaining lived outside of Seattle and within King County.

Problems for which these families sought help were: 39 per cent - marriage difficulties, 25 per cent - in relation to the problems of children, 20 per cent - dissatisfaction with one's self and a feeling of unhappiness; the remaining problem areas were financial mismanagement, vocational adjustment, concern about health, and so on.

Some of the marriage difficulties were just in the beginning states and others in crisis and of long standing. These are some of the examples:

A man came in because he and his wife were in the process of divorce; yet they were not sure that the divorce was the answer -- they were fond of each other and would like to find reconciliation. They were depressed by the prospect of breaking up their home through divorce.

A woman called because her husband, earning over $10,000 a year, was unable to stay on the job and was not giving sufficient attention to the family.

Another woman contacted the agency because of a marriage situation. She seemed to be very neat in appearance and self-contained, but she was very much concerned about her marriage -- that things in her home were going from bad to worse. The husband did not come home on time. She thought a good deal of the difficulty at home was her own fault. She and her husband did not socialize together very much. She was a high school graduate and had had successful work experience. She found it difficult to talk about her feelings. She preferred to be alone.

She felt that she had a tendency to run away from things, rather than to face reality, and therefore she and her husband had been unable to communicate with each other satisfactorily. Her own personal feelings, she thought, had been causing these difficulties.

A woman telephoned because her husband had deserted her. She had two children, 4 1/2 and 2 1/2. She lived alone, was unable to control her 4 1/2 year old child, who was defiant, had temper tantrums and was extremely active.

Here is a typical example of parental concern over the behavior of children: A mother called because she and her husband were unable to control their 17-year old child, who was rebellious and refused to attend school. The income in this family was about $12,000 a year.

A divorced mother of two teenage children was quite concerned about her 15 year old daughter who had been suspended from school. The girl was argumentative with teachers, displayed violent temper. She seemed to have good intelligence, but her school performance was gravely uneven.

Examples of other kinds of problems: A professional man called about his wife's drinking. A doctor referred a patient because he had not been able to find any physical cause for the complaints that the patient had, and feared that the patient's complaints arose from psychological difficulties. The family had four children and the mother's attitude was influencing adversely the health of the children.

These are only a few samples of the types of situations that come to our attention daily. The families that come to us represent a cross section of the American community. They are laborers, housewives, skilled and unskilled workers, professional people, businessmen, salesmen, and so on. Most of them are high school graduates, and a good many of them are college graduates.

Family Counseling Service is mainly supported by UGN; however, families pay for part of the service if they can afford it. The fee scale is based on ability to pay.

It should be noted that the proportion of non-white clients of Family Counseling Service is considerably lower than the national average. We do know that the Negroes in general have many more social problems than the average white family; yet they have not been able to take advantage of our counseling service.

Families learn about Family Counseling Service through their friends, mainly. However, some of them are referred to us by their youngsters' school teachers, lawyers, doctors, employers, and by other social agencies. All contacts at Family Counseling Service are confidential. It is our hope that people can feel free to talk with our counselors about problems that disturb them. We, of course, cannot be of help to individuals if they do not wish to invest their time and thought in finding out what their problems are and doing something about them. This is a service that can be very

Disadvantaged Student BELLEVUE HOUSING

By Sidney Gerber, President
Harmony Homes.

The success of a school's educational program is inescapably interlocked with the economic and cultural background of the pupils. To a significant degree the success of a school program is determined by the status and ambitions of the families being served.

In some areas of Seattle -- notably the central district -- the population is quite transient, has a high proportion of minority groups, has a generally low socio-economic level and a high degree of unemployment, has a considerable amount of sub-standard housing, and a large number of broken homes.

There follows at the nearby schools a low level of achievement by these pupils who are not motivated at home with the importance of going to school and trying as hard as they can to make good. These are the children who easily get into trouble and who tend to be drop-outs.

The Seattle schools have been alert to these problems and are carrying on an energetic plan of attack. Some of the corrective measures under way include smaller classes in these schools, more counseling for students, more assistance in the office so that the principal and teachers can spend more time with individual students, more experienced teachers assigned to these schools, better physical fitness programs and closer cooperation with the community, involving bringing the community and schools together in the working out of these problems.

The School Board will soon announce the name of a person to coordinate the work of improving the educational opportunities for students in those schools which have concentrations of students who have been categorized for lack of better descriptive words as "disadvantaged" and "culturally deprived."

This week I toured a few homes in Bellevue, picked from the Unitarians list of owners who have advised their volunteer group that their homes are for sale to any qualified buyer. These eight homes listed averaged about a 25 minute drive from downtown Seattle, and some were especially desirable.

The smallest, three bedrooms on one floor, was ten years old, neat and a bargain at $14,500 with only $700 down FHA. The owners have strong convictions that Negroes should have an equal opportunity to purchase their home. The second house was in Eastgate, towards Lake Samamish, and had three bedrooms, two baths, and a family room, also all on one floor. It was a good buy at $16,500 but requires a purchaser who would do some painting and get the yard in condition.

The third house in Eastgate was a dandy at $22,800, 10% down FHA. It was 3 years old with three bedrooms, two baths, a large secluded yard, plus a separate apartment in the daylight basement for the mother-in-law. And if you really want to go overboard, there is one in Bellevue at $40,000 with a swimming pool bigger than Bill Henry's.

Primm Tabernacle African Methodist Church Off To Big Start

The ladies of Primm Tabernacle African Methodist Episcopal Church, are not wasting any time getting this year's program off to a big start. Uppermost on the agenda is the "Holiday Fashion Preview", featuring the models of the Seattle's World Fair, and Miss Merle Ann Burton, former Mardi Gras Queen of 1961. This command performance will take place on October 28, 2 p.m. at the Norselander, 300 3rd Avenue West, here in Seattle.

Rev. Edw. N. Smith, Jr.

Not only is this program outlined to bring the latest in fashion and beauty care, but it is designed to acquaint the public with Seattle's newest, and most progressive A.M.E. Church. Under the leadership of the newly ordaigned Rev. Edward N. Smith, Jr. the church is preparing to celebrate its first birthday. For it was on November 5, 1961, that this organization had its first worship service. During the past year its membership has experienced significant growth, and many outstanding programs have been presented. One of the outstanding characteristics that pastor Smith hopes to maintain, is the integrated membership. The church serves an area of undetermined square blocks, and the population within these boundaries encompasses large and small businesses, industrial properties, and a large residential section. In this section are many cultural groups, speaking many languages, with customs, just as diverse. It is the one job of the church to fuse these diverse groups into one great co-operative effort of neighborliness and of working together for the betterment of the community, and the spiritual enlightenment of one's soul. The Official Board is composed of individuals from many ethnic groups, and persons of varied backgrounds, both men and women, but with one common interest - "SPIRITUAL GROWTH, INSPIRATION, CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP, one with the OTHER.

The public is invited to worship with the members of Primm Tabernacle at any time.

Tickets are available from any member of the congregation or the Bon Marche. Or you may call EA 2-2006, and EA 4-4485, after 5 p.m.

Your Sunday School Lesson -
Subject: 'The Counselor Within'

Scripture, John 14, 16-17, 25-26
John 16, 4b-15.

4b And these things I said unto you at the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I go my way to him that sent me; and none of you ask me, whither goest thou?

6 But because I have said these things unto you, sorrow hath filled your heart.

7 Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the comforter will not come unto you.

8 And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgement;

9 Of sin because they believe not in me;

10 Of righteousness, because I go to my father, and ye see me no more;

11 Of judgement because the prince of this world is judged.

12 I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot hear them now.

13 How be it when he, the spirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth; for he shall speak not of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak; and he shall show you things to come.

14 He shall glorify me; for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you.

Pentecost

Pentecost was a wonderful new experience in which the disciples found that they had not lost their Lord. In the completeness with which He had filled their lives, it seemed impossible to even think that there could be any substitute or equal joy of his abiding presence.

The disciples were sorry that their master was leaving them, and it drew tears from their hearts as well as their eyes; yet Jesus comforts them with this new promise, a dynamic promise, which they could not understand, and did not understand until they had this new experience. When the Holy Ghost had come upon them they became new people, with new power, power they had not possessed before. For into each life had come a new personality, a dynamic and unquenchable force, never before heard of really in such a meaningful way. This person Jesus said, I WILL SEND YOU. And, I SHALL BE WITH YOU ALWAYS, and HE WILL CONVINCE THE WORLD OF SIN - - - What a power - - - to convince the world of sin - sin because 'they do not believe in me.' The disciples' new experiences made new persons out of them. Look at the results, these people had a counselor within their breast, the one and only counselor that could possibly reveal the goodness and power of an Eternal God, without error. One that disciplined their minds, and shaped their lives. This person, was the voice of their Lord speaking to their lives, to their hearts, the beloved departed doeth now speak, not from a tomb, with its seal of Roman authority nor from a grave with its dusty ashes, but speaks from a throne at the right hand of the Father in Heaven and this dynamic spirit which should be with them, and within them, could convince the world of this indisputable truth, "because I go to My Father"

Those who have not seen this force at work nor experienced it for themselves can never understand it. But we have only to look at Peter, who denied the Lord at his most pressing hour, a man who not only forsook his friend and master; but stood around the enemies fire and said, "I do not even know the Man". After all Jesus had done for him, and with him, after all he had witnessed Jesus doing for the people, yet he said, "I do not know the man" - - - but the Glory of God when the Day of Pentecost came - - - this weak and flighty, uncertain ambitious Peter stood up as a tall pine in a great forest, and witnessed in such a mighty way that thousands were converted, and from then on Peter was a new person. He made his mistakes, but grew wiser and stronger - - - In the light of this very dynamic invasion of the lines and personalities of the disciples . . . and others who have had experience with the Holy Spirit, I have failed to understand how it is some people can claim to have experience with him and then refer to the Holy Spirit as an "it".

The Holy Ghost or Holy Spirit is a personality, and represents the Power of God, and He is God to us, guiding and directing our lives. There are those who deny this, and say that there is no such thing as God, Son, Holy Ghost that these Christians are somewhat cracked.

There is a story of a man who was put in jail for a crime he denied. To the policeman he said, when the locks on the jail house door were secured, "You can't put me in jail." Well to those who have been filled with the Holy Spirit, the statement that denies the presence of such a person is equally as outrageous.

The Holy Spirit is a true Counselor within. Let him guide you.

The claim of being spirit lead, when it does not glorify God is false. The Spirit exercises discipline in our lives.

It teaches, it guides, it warms, and encourages, it strengthens, and makes us strong, gives direction to every life wherever its presence is felt.

James Farmer Speaks At New Hope Church

By Joe Jones

In a recent speaking engagement at New Hope Baptist Church, James Farmer, National Director of C.O.R.E. (Congress of Racial Equality) spoke informatively of the "Civil Rights Revolution".

Farmer pointed out that over 7,000 people have been jailed since Feb. 1, 1960 when the sit-ins began, struggling for equality and civil rights. Farmer organized C.O.R.E. in 1941, and also organized the non-violence sit-ins of the South.

Mr. Farmer's initial remarks were directed critically to the Mississippi situation involving the enrollment of James Meredith, a Negro, at 'Ole Miss'. "Barnett claims to be a proponent of democracy and freedom, but his definition of freedom and democracy is confusing and contradictory. Terminology is generally confusing in language," said Farmer.

The Mississippi incident and other acts of discrimination and prejudice have cast an ugly shadow of doubt over this land of the "free." Farmer pointed out that Africa and all nations of the world are highly cognizant and interested in what is happening in the South.

"The question asked most frequently by Africans in tours of the Continent, is if the battle is being won or lost," added Farmer.

"Non-English speaking people of Africa generally know two English words - - 'Little Rock' - - they react to the word by uttering, freedom, freedom, freedom in their native tongues."

Farmer moving back to the national scene from the international scene spoke of the "new Negro." There are certain changes in the mood, educational level, and attitude of Negroes since the Second World War," said Farmer.

THE NEW NEGRO

"Negroes have put up with discrimination and segregation in the past because they didn't know what to do about it. To conform is to support segregation," said Farmer. Thus, the changing mood where Negro soldiers began to ask questions about what they were fighting for; provocative questions arising as a result of the higher level of education; and general discontent with segregation even though the outward impression often indicated contentment, have been the foundation elements of non-violence sit-ins, boycotts, and freedom rides.

Farmer, jovially spoke of the new Negro in Mississippi, telling of a discontented Negro who said, "Mr. Charlie, I'm one of those new Negroes - - now there's going to be no more Mr. Charlie, Miss Ann, further more, no more Mississippi - - just 'SSIPPI' "

WINNING FIGHT

"The trend will be a firm stand, it is necessary to sacrifice and have a willingness to go to jail, 'the Spirit in the South' will continue to combat and defeat physical violence in the South. Physical violence doesn't shake a strong foundation," declared Farmer. The eloquent spokesman agreed wholeheartedly with the decisive action taken by President Kennedy adding, "It should have been done sooner in Mississippi."

CHALLENGE TO CONTINUE IN MISSISSIPPI

The I.C.C. recently called for posting of non-segregation posters in bus terminals, restrooms, and restaurants. Farmer expressed discontent with Southern Negroes for not taking advantage of this progress.

DISCRIMINATION IN NORTHWEST

Farmer, when asked about segregation and discrimination in the Northwest, replied, "There is more housing segregation in northern cities than in the South. We must be equally concerned about New York, California, Seattle and other cities. We have a long way to go, especially in school de-facto segregation."

Farmer outlined the basic steps in non-violence resistance to discrimination.

- 1) Get the facts.
- 2) Negotiation
- 3) Demonstration, if negotiators do not produce results.
- 4) Direct action.

FREEDOM HIGHWAYS

The freedom highways have been just as significant as the freedom rides. The objective of freedom highways movements are to do on highways what sit-in and boycotts did in restaurants and on buses. As a result of freedom highways action, 97 motels and restaurants in the Southeast have been desegregated.

In closing Farmer said, "time is of the essence, we don't have too much time left. Home of the brave and land of the FREE, who said FREE, not me, but I swear there will be."

The "Stinson Navy," one of the most novel political campaign inspirations in recent years, has been causing a considerable stir around Seattle during the past weeks. The 32-foot whaleboat, equipped with 7-foot-high letters spelling out "S-T-I-N-S-O-N", floodlights powered by a portable generator and an enthusiastic crew of University of Washington student volunteers, maintains a busy schedule of appearances - running from Lake Washington to West Seattle. The Admiral of the Fleet, none other than Bill Stinson, Republican nominee for Congress in the 7th District, says; "We're Republicans, but we're campaigning like Democrats."

The "Navy" has not missed a single University of Washington football home game, standing just off shore in full view of the huge audiences. "I hope the voters at the polls receive me with the same enthusiasm with which they have cheered-on our Navy," Stinson said.

Co-Chairman Appointed

Pat R. Welch (Mrs. Clyde Welch), veteran Boeing employee, has been appointed co-chairman of the Stinson for Congress Non-Partisan Labor Committee. It was announced today by Bill Stinson, Republican nominee for Congress in the 7th District.

Mrs. Welch, who identifies herself as a "Lifelong Democrat," has been a member of the Aero-mechanics Union for the past twenty years.

"A good many of us in the Union are wondering what's going on," she said. "My decision to go to work for Bill Stinson resulted from an article that appeared in a Seattle daily newspaper a few days ago. The article announced Don Magnuson's appointment of Leonard Saari as his campaign manger. That's a big job, especially in light of the fact that Mr. Saari already has a full-time job as editor of the supposedly-non-partisan Aeromechanics Newspaper - and we, the members of the Union, are paying his salary. This dual role is not going to be easy to explain to most members of the Union regardless of their personal sympathies-in the coming election," she added.

BAR NONE!

It's time to ring out the old and vote in the NEW ...FRESH...SOBER approach to the solution of the problems of the 7th District. Send vigorous, clear-thinking BILL STINSON to Congress to do the job. Your vote for BILL STINSON will be appreciated!

Entertainers And Friends Pay Tributes To Tequilla

A crowd of over two hundred turned out Sunday night to pay their honors to the lovely Tequilla on her birthday.

The party was given at the Blue Room, with all the plans being made by her cousin George Bernie.

A host of entertainers made the part probably the largest group of talent ever to appear in the same show.

Tequilla's husband was the M.C. for the entire show and did a wonderful job.

Starting off the entertainment for the night was the Dave Holden Trio, Dave had his whole group here from Tacoma for this party.

Starting off the spotlight portion was Lady Dee, doing, Don't Go To Strangers. The entertainment followed in order. Carl Thomas, Tenor Sax man did, There Will Never Be Another You. Bill Washington chose, Stella By Starlight for his number.

Velda Wright, who came out of retirement, showed that she was still in condition to dance.

Clark Williams, the well-known blues singer, was next with his song, Every Day I have the Blues.

Maurice followed next with, That Old Black Magic. Then came another Maurice, Maurice Winham, who is known by many but not for his singing - he did, Never Walk Alone.

Teddy Ross who had just finished work downtown offered, How To Please A Man.

Sir Pineapple performed the best I have ever seen him.

The Colony Club, where Tequilla is in her 40th week, had their whole show present. John Lewis, who is the group leader started by singing, Summer Time. George Griffin, the drummer, sang, Sweet Georgia Brown. Calypso Don followed with, The Big Bamboo. The closing portion of the night featured a group of All Stars, Billy Tolles and Carl Thomas on sax, Dave Holden, organ, J. Frank and another drummer whose name is unknown to me joined together on the drums. All together, the group did a medley of Around The World In 80 Days.

There many entertainers still to be heard, but time had run out. This is one Birthday Party that was everything a person like Tequilla should have and deserves.

Just Four Day's Away
From "Showcase Of Stars"

This Sunday night, October 28, the Entertainers Association will be presenting on stage at the Moore Theater "Showcase of Stars." This show will consist of the leading entertainers in the Pacific Northwest. It is one that shouldn't be missed by anyone.

Don Lewis and Bill Draper have worked to great extent to bring the show of the year to stage here in Seattle.

Many of the performers in this show appeared at the Party given for Tequilla. Their talent is of the best in the Nation.

Some of the entertainers who will be there are: Bea Smith, Gil Conte Trio, Teddy Ross, Laura Darden, George Griffin, Joseph Powe's Songcrafters and many others.

The ticket sale has been so successful, that an additional show is being given.

The first show starts at 2:30 p.m. and the second show will be staged at 8:30 p.m.

And don't forget S.J. The D.J. will be your Master of Ceremonies for this show of the year, "Showcase Of Stars."

JAZZ ALA K-ZAM

By Sonny Buxton

MILT JACKSON

A few years ago (six to be exact) while I was in Japan I had an occasion to be returning to heart of Tokyo after a particularly hard night. The taxi was taking me to an early morning type of cafe where I might eat and find some relaxation.

Speaking of relaxation, this is something that one definitely needs after the hair-raising trip that most cab drivers give you over there.

Arriving at the destination, I encountered one of the most invigorating experiences that I've ever known. For emanating from one of the Japanese bistros was the sound of Milt Jackson.

The sound of Milt Jackson has come a long way since the days of Lionel Hampton. The name of the instrument has had many variations. From the Vibraharp to Vibes and from the Vibes to the Vibraphones and finally to the steamtable.

"Bags" as he is affectionately called is a part of the old 52nd Street bunch who are generally conceded to be the innovators of the Modern Jazz sound that is becoming so popular today.

Throughout the 40's such great musicians as Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker, Thelonius Monk, Bud Powell, Max Roach, Kenny Clarke, Roy Haynes, Charlie Mingus, Charlie Christian, and Milt Jackson just to name a few, could be heard nightly experimenting in New York's Minton's Playhouse. These were the innovators and Bags was an integral part.

Yes, the sound has come a long way.

Milt is a purveyor of a beauty that is rare to the sound of Jazz. Once he has chosen his theme, he respects its contours which facilitates a generally happy choice of melodies by him.

Knowing the quality, he loves to let the long notes reverberate, reverberate purely, and even to elongate them. It seems to give them an increase in placidity as Milt does with obviously different means.

There is the impression that Milt is listening to himself with an ear that is not all complacent but that is in a certain sense charmed and that he leaves certain sound only with regret and only under the imperative necessity of the melodic chain.

This is the sound of Milt Jackson. This is how he can affect you in New York City, San Francisco, or become a most stimulating experience in the Far Eastern corner of the World.

Hear the sound of Milt Jackson and the best sounds in Jazz on "Mood for the Modern," Tuesday thru Saturday from 1:00 a.m. til 6:00 a.m.

The Honeydripper

Congratulations to Mrs. Delphia Phillips for winning the portable FM-AM Westinghouse Radio at Weisfield's, and thanks again to all of you for coming to see us.

Music business, going great. The "other" stations finally playing "Stubborn Kind of Fellow." And it well deserves it.

Our "Nifty 150" loaded with great sounds. "Losing Battle," "My Man," "Don't Every Leave Me," "Mo Taters," "Elizabeth," "Release Me," and "Untie Me" to mention a few. I could go on, but Mr. Jones (the editor) limits my space.

Things starting to stabilize after the storm. We're still operating about half power, but you'd never know it. We just turn it up a little bit louder and blast.

We're prospering. We now have an Executive Suite, Production Studio, and the soon to be dedicated "K-ZAM Peppermint Lounge."

The better to serve you, my dears. To the inquiries as to my forthcoming marriage, forget it. I am strongly against matrimony for myself. For others - it's great.

Now take Tee for instance, he'd make a fine husband for some young lady. So would Joe, Marty, Mr. Wonderful and Jivin Gene. So go get 'em ladies.

In follow up of last week's article on "Student's European Safari", I would like to pass on some important information.

Special student sailings are being offered through the Netherlands Office for Foreign Student Relations on the Holland-American Lines. They will give special booking preference to applicants who include a visit to Holland in their European itinerary and also attend a summer session at a Netherlands University.

To qualify for membership on these special sailings, applicants between 18 and 30 years of age. Matriculation at a recognized college or university must be certified by the registrar or dean on stationery bearing the college or university seal. Foreign Students must complete a special application for the Netherlands Office. A deposit of $60.00 is required upon completion of the application. For more information write to K-ZAM office.

TRIP OF THE WEEK

Dream vacations to Mexico do come true on Cartar's 7-day Conchita, 7-day Pepito, and 10-day Fiesta tours. Where else but Mexico can you find the atmosphere for a memorable honeymoon, a place to spend a limited time away from the demands of business, or just an annual vacation in a colorful foreign country.

Moreover, you can leave any day year 'round from your home town, within hours via comfort of a sleek plane, you are in Mexico, a timeless land mellowed by centuries of compelling history... a land of little Spanish towns, carved like baroque jewels, colorful markets, and big cities, where ultra-modern concrete and mosaic rub shoulders with ancient cathedrals and Aztec relics.

Naturally, when you arrive in Mexico City you are a welcomed expected guest with assured accommodations at two of its famous hotels, the CONTINENTAL - HILTON or REFORMA (choose either one). A representative will meet you at the airport and take you to the hotel . . . then you will visit the highlights of Mexico - leisurely!

GARFIELD FINESSES SEALTH 20 - 7

By Tex McClenon

In Garfield's dressing room a very conspicuous poster hangs. It states: 'Victory is to be desired.' A winner never quits and a quitter never wins. This was proven in the Garfield/Sealth High School Football Game.

The Sealth Seahawks drove 33 yards to a TD the first time they received the football. Then Sealth ran straight thru Garfield's strong line for the PAT. The score was Sealth, 7 - Garfield, 0.

Garfield returned Sealth's punt to its own 41 yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Garfield's Mike Cadigan fired a long glider to Ernie Holmes on Sealth's 20. The Conservative Merchant eluded two Sealth defenders and scampered into the end zone. The play was good for 59 yards and a Bulldog TD. Fred Eastland's kick was good. The score Garfield, 7 and Sealth, 7.

Sealth's ensuing series of downs proved to be futile and Garfield took over on its own 31. Garfield drove 69 yards to pay dirt. The 'Conservative Merchant' scored again from 9 yards out. Garfield was penalized 5 yards for illegal procedure on the PAT try making the second kick no good. The score Garfield, 13 - Sealth 7.

There was a brief half-time talk about Ernie Holmes, the stalwart Four, and Tony Lister. Lister is one of the finest passers in our Metro League. He also has to beat the player without the most varsity experience - - Mike Cadigan - very hard to do! Coach John Boitano sets rigid standards for his ball players; evidently Coach Boitano is using experience as his criterion. The third quarter started.

Early in the third quarter, Bulldog center Tom Skoog intercepted a Sealth pass on its own 45 and returned the football to the 30. Three plays later, Robert (the Boilermaker) Isabel ran 14 yards to pay dirt. The 'Boilermaker' ran over two and ran past two more would-be-tacklers. Fred Eastland's kick was good. The score Garfield 20 - Sealth 7.

The Bulldogs decided to throw a little friendly garbage at Sealth. This is to keep everyone happy. So around right end goes left tackle Don Fleeks for 13 yards. Well, Sealth scored one again in the third quarter to end all scoring.

Final score - - Garfield, 20 - Sealth, 14.

SAFE BET!

FROM THE TWO YARDLINE

ARE ATHLETICS OVEREMPHASIZED?

The aspect of college life which makes the deepest impression on the public is athletics. Of all its forms, football, of course, is king, though basketball is now also forging to the front. In some institutions crew is even more highly regarded. Track and field sports command much attention. Next probably comes baseball, followed by tennis. Swimming and boxing are less in the public eye. No one need be told of the way these sports are esteemed. Football draws crowds of 80,000, 100,000 or even more at the games climaxing the season. Betting is rife. On such occasions, and such alone, can great groups of alumni be assembled. As a result, class reunions are most often held on the night before the Big Game.

A winning team is lionized. Service clubs give them dinners, celebrating their achievements, and prizes if they become "champions". But woe betide them if the team has losing streak. Past victories will be forgotten, and only their failures remembered. The worst fate of all will face the coach. His previous successes, even for a series of years, will not avail him. The alumni wolves will descend upon the athletic board and demand his blood. "The coach must go," will be the cry. Even where a contract with him has still several years to run, and it will cost the college or its student body thousands of dollars to purchase a release, there is no diminution in the demand for his removal.

The boys who play on the teams are confronted by many difficulties. First of all, they are college students, are presumably - though not always - they are seeking an education. They, therefore, have their classes to attend, their laboratory work to perform, their papers to write, their reading to complete. Football practice, during the season, calls on a boy's time from 3:30 to 6:00 p.m. Then comes the training table followed by "chalk talks" by the coaches. By the time ten o'clock arrives he is dog-tired in many instances, fit only to roll into bed. If to this is added the necessity of earning funds to pay his fees and his board and room and to other expenses, it is difficult to see how many save an exceptional individual, can bear all these burdens.

But, remember this: whether it be athletics or history or trigonometry or Latin, intrinsic values are to be sought and found. You cannot passively gain spirit of fair play, or capture a feeling of good sportsmanship, or discover the lore of the past or learn how to conjugate a verb. To reach these or any other worthy goal, you must be an active participant, using your mind to gain the most from your education, whether in the classroom or in extra-curricular activities.

The fellow who has never kicked, slammed, and clawed his way through a hard knock'em down and drag'em out game of sandlot football has missed one of the biggest thrills any young man can have.

WASHINGTON 14 . . . STANFORD 0

The giant Indians of Stanford, averaging 234 pounds in the line, were able to cross the Husky 10 yard line on three different occasions - only to be stopped short of paydirt each time. Resounding defensive stands on key plays, sharp running and passing in the first half enabled Washington to emerge 14 - 0 winners over Stanford Saturday. Look out, dogs, the Ducks will be after you this coming Saturday. Oregon should prove to be the toughest opposition for the Huskies to date. Washington by three points that it.

"Be sure to watch the U. of Oregon game re-telecast on KOMO-TV, Channel 4, next Monday night 6:30 to 7:30 . . . and have a 7-Up while you're at it!"
