EASTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS 61920

July 24, 1981

Dear Artist:

A unique, exciting Ceramic Invitational Exhibition is being curated for the Sargent Art Gallery, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920. As Director, I would personally like to invite you as a ceramic artist to participate in the exhibition.

Valentine Day, 1982, February 14, (Sunday) is an exciting day for an art happening. As an invited artist, will you create a unique, creative ceramic exhibition piece entitled "A Valentine in Clay." Being a known artist in the ceramic field, the gallery is expecting from you an exciting, challenging work of art.

Each artist after accepting the invitation by returning the enclosed card should deliver or ship the art exhibition piece to the gallery by January 29, 1982. Any piece broken in shipping to the gallery is the responsibility of the artist. Any pieces broken in shipping from the gallery to the artist is the responsibility of the gallery. No piece should weigh more than (40) forty pounds. The gallery will return all exhibition pieces by March 12. The exhibition will be in the gallery February 14 - March 3, 1982. An opening reception will be held on February 14, 1982 from 1-4 p.m. in the gallery.

The gallery will provide (1) one $300.00 award and (2) two $150.00 awards for selected pieces in the exhibition. A committee of (3) three will select awards. If the artist would like to sell the exhibition piece, mark the proper space on the entry tag which is enclosed. Please mark NFS if the piece is not for sale, however, place insurance value behind NFS. Please attach entry tag to exhibition piece. Insurance coverage is provided by the gallery.

Please return enclosed postcard by August 21, 1981 with your intentions to provide a piece for this unique exhibition. Looking forward to your participation.

Sincerely,

Rod Buffington
Gallery Director

CERAMICS FROM THE
PERMANENT COLLECTION

August 11 - September 17

This exhibition presents the ceramics contained in the permanent collection of the Tarble Arts Center. The source of the works is as diverse as the imagery, techniques, and materials that went into their creation. The works by Dellaport and Sollman were done as examples for workshops conducted for Eastern's Art Department, and then fired by Bill Heyduck. The Sollman piece suffered some damage while on loan to an office on campus -- the little girl astride the horse is missing her sunbonnet and her left foot, but retains her charm.

The works by Wilhemi and Coleman were purchased from the exhibition "Valentine in Clay," one of the last exhibitions held in the Paul T. Sargent Gallery prior to the opening of the Tarble Arts Center. The works by Krutza and Heyduck, of Eastern's Art faculty, were originally donated as decoration for the use of the then new president of EIU, Dr. Daniel Marvin. The Dixon sculpture was acquired after a solo exhibition at Eastern, with partial funding provided through a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

The remainder of the pieces, except for one, were acquired from EIU students upon completion of their MAs in studio art, at a time when it was required for each student to leave one work for the collection. The black and white platter with the abstract design is a mystery. There is no record of who made the piece, or where it came from. The platter is without markings, except for some calligraphic symbols on the underside. Some have suggested that the piece is Arabic, perhaps old. Or it could be a piece of folk art, or a contemporary piece by an artist interested in the use of the line as a decorative motif. Anyone who has information about this platter is invited to contact the Tarble Arts Center office.
