

FRED D. CRANDALL
ARCHITECTURAL DRAWINGS
COLLECTION

(1997.2.3)

1997.27.3

Original drawings, blueprints and specifications of Sturgeon Bay architect Fred D. Crandall [1859 - 1936]. These early architectural drawings were discovered in the basement of the Miller Clothing House (120 N. Third Ave., Sturgeon Bay) on Wednesday, March 14, 1984 and eventually came into the hands of the Door County Historical Society.

Due to the fact that many of the drawings lack any positive means of identification or dates, and that unrelated drawings were lumped together, further careful analysis, identification and matching of subjects should be done at some future date.

Preliminary findings indicate that about 60 different building projects are involved, including several important "key" buildings, such as the old Door County Court House (alterations), the old Door County Library, St. Joseph's Catholic Church (1908), Masonic Temple, and City Hall. County schools and a few homes, stores and factories are also represented. These building projects (or proposed building projects) are located mainly in the following areas: Casco, Ephraim, Fish Creek, Forestville, Goodman, Idlewild, Institute, Rosiere, and Sturgeon Bay, including Sawyer.

The collection consists of approx. 876 individual sheets in approx. 195 rolls in 3 boxes. Because the drawings have been stored in rolls for so many years, and because of their fragile condition, no attempt has been made to flatten them. They continue to be stored in rolls, but are now stored in smaller rolls, divided by subject with the added precaution of an acid free, (labeled) paper covering on each roll to help protect them from handling, dust, etc..

Also included in the collection, but not yet inventoried is a map case with 4 drawers filled with mounted drawings that need to be counted, indexed and cross referenced to the rolled sets of drawings.

Because of the size, age, and fragility of these drawings, it is requested that only those persons with a specific need to view these materials, request to do so. Curiosity seekers, please refrain from requesting them. Additional handling causes more damage to the materials.

Anyone using these drawings must use extreme care when handling them.
