

Fragment of a stone tablet from the Assyrian palace of Sennacherib, 7th century BC.
The fragment shows a seated figure, possibly a deity or ruler, surrounded by swirling patterns and other symbols.

