View of the Action

If you would avoid the telltale marks of work, worry and time on your face and your disposition, you will find that just a brief vacation at The Inn at Rancho Santa Fe will work wonders. This is the authentic country inn where you enjoy all the amenities of good living—gracious service, good food; golf at the Rancho Santa Fe championship course, riding, tennis, swimming, sun-tanning...and only two pleasant freeway hours from the Los Angeles area.

Village Street Scene

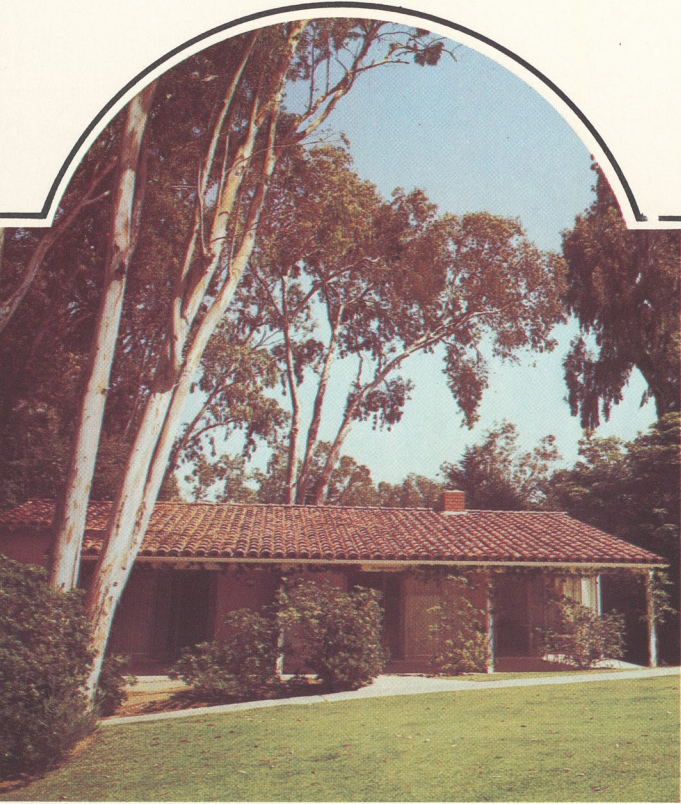

Things are so quiet around here that often all you hear is the sizzle of the steaks in our dining room. The Village is an original Spanish land grant, severely restricted to preserve the quiet charm of towering trees, brilliant flowers and gracious homes. Clear air, golden sunshine and equable temperatures make this the most kindly outdoor climate in the whole wide world. You are three miles from the freeway, four miles from Del Mar and the blue Pacific.

Fragrant Eucalyptus Cottages

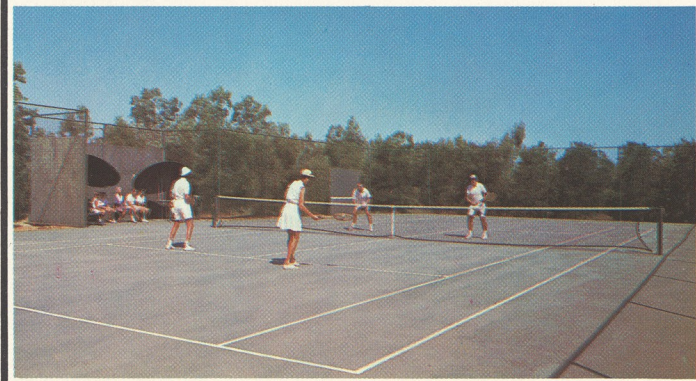

Most of the guest accommodations are pleasantly located in rambling cottages set picturesquely among flowing green lawns and flower gardens, shaded by the great lacy eucalyptus trees which were introduced here in America from faraway Tasmania. The eucalyptus fragrance is ubiquitous. The Inn is four miles from the beach where we maintain our own cottage for guests who seek diversion there. Picnic lunches and car transportation are available.

Flowers and Trees

Rancho Santa Fe is one place in Southern California where you find the flowers and trees in all their original loveliness, untouched by smog or freeway fumes. Sightseeing trips include mountains, desert, Missions, Old Mexico and the attractions of San Diego. Here, too, are golf, tennis, swimming, sun-bathing, horseback riding, badminton, lawn bowling, plus the annual races at adjoining Del Mar and enjoy fishing and swimming at the nearby ocean.

Garden Room

The Garden dining room overlooks the lawns, flowers and pool but inside nothing is overlooked to provide you extraordinarily excellent food, graciously served at breakfast, luncheon and dinner. Guests also may enjoy Room Service. The same quality food and service is available for private parties and other affairs in the Inn's Meeting House, Library and other function rooms. Many corporations use these convenient facilities for conferences and meetings.

Vintage Room

This unique social center is the replica of an Early California wine cellar—with a glass wall opening into a patio which offers music and dancing on appropriate evenings. Food service, as well as beverages, is available here.

Life at The Inn is relaxed and casual. While the days are blissfully warm and sunny, the nights are cool and sleep-inducing, so pack your wardrobe accordingly. Casual needs are available at the Village shops and San Diego.
