Southern California First National Bank has developed from a one-branch operation with six customers when it opened its doors for the first time on October 1, 1883 to a 44-office system located throughout three counties and serving more than a quarter of a million customers.

IN 1883 RANCHO SANTA FE WAS a mere speck on the map, yet to be discovered as one of the world's most idyllic living communities.

And in 1883, the first nationally chartered bank in San Diego was founded — the First National Bank of San Diego — that today has grown into one of the country's foremost financial institutions.

That bank celebrated its 85th birthday in 1968 and now, as then, reviews its history with a proud sense of accomplishment.

Both Rancho Santa Fe and the bank, now known as Southern California First National Bank, have changed extensively in the past 85 years.

Rancho Santa Fe has grown to become a paragon for well-planned bucolic living; a neat, friendly, inviting community that is the pride of residents and the envy of non-residents.

The bank presently stands 119th in total deposits among the nation's 14,000-plus commercial banks. As of November 1, 1968, Southern California First National had total deposits in excess of $466 million, from the $40,577 originally deposited in 1883 in the San Diego-based financial institution.

Deposit growth has been steady and formidable. Deposits quickly rose to $290,776 in 1893 and to $883,339 ten years later. In 1913 deposits were $2,753,567, shot to $17,578,245 in 1923, went to $64,564,950 in 1943 and were $258,265,500 in 1961.

As of November 1, 1968, total resources of the bank, California's ninth largest, were in excess of $600 million.

The bank is particularly proud of its nationally recognized trust department that ranked 62nd among all the banks in the United States in trust income generated for 1967. And recently, the bank relocated its North San Diego County regional trust offices, establishing these offices in the Rancho Santa Fe office.

Throughout its history, Southern California First National Bank has had only six presidents.

The first was Jacob Gruendike, a genial proprietor of a San Diego general store who was able to direct both the business of his store and that of the bank.

He was followed as president by D. F. Garrettson, who originally was a Kansas cattleman and who became both a founder of the bank and a respected San Diego merchant.

The bank's third president was Frank J. Belcher, Jr., the son of a Methodist minister who came to San Diego to seek Garrettson's daughter as his bride, did so and remained to become one of the city's most influential and respected leaders.

Belcher first served as president from 1920 to 1945, during which time, specifically in 1927, the First National Bank merged with the First Trust and Savings Bank to form the First National Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego. Belcher was re-elected president in 1947, serving until 1950.

Elected president in 1945 was G. H. Schmidt, who had joined the bank in 1926 from the Federal Reserve Bank in Los Angeles.

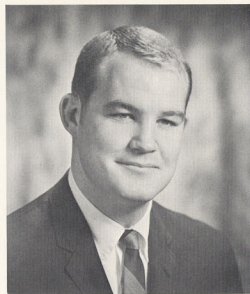

In 1950 Anderson Borthwick, who had worked for the bank since 1915, was elected president and served in that capacity until 1964. Borthwick propelled both the bank and the city of San Diego forward on the unshaken belief that what was good for the city was good for the First National Bank.

C. C. Blakemore was elected the bank's sixth president in 1964. Blakemore had joined the bank as an assistant trust officer in 1945. Prior to that time he was a bank examiner for the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and had been assistant National Bank examiner in the San Francisco office of the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency.

He had been a vice president of the bank, a senior trust officer and senior vice president before advancing to president. On July 1, 1966, Blakemore also was named the bank's Chief Executive Officer.

Under his leadership, the bank has accelerated its growth and most notably has entered Los Angeles and Orange Counties. A modest, gentle man, Blakemore nevertheless is a paragon of the modern executive. His pace is hectic yet deceptively efficient and he has inculcated the bank with a competitive drive that has produced smashing gains.

The first home of the oldest bank in town; 1883, at Fifth and E Streets.

THE MANAGER OF THE Rancho Santa Fe office of Southern California First National Bank is Thomas D. Bergkamp, who along with his staff promises to continue the bank's significant contribution to the Rancho Santa Fe community.

Like the progressive institution he serves, Bergkamp has risen rapidly in the banking world.

He formerly was the assistant manager of the bank's Cbula Vista office where he had served as loan officer. Bergkamp joined Southern California First National in September, 1964.

While in Cbula Vista, Bergkamp participated extensively in civic activities. He was a member of the Southwest Lions Club and served as chairman of the Cbula Vista March of Dimes drive during the 1967-68 campaign.

He was born in Garden City, Kansas, and was graduated from Kansas State University with a B.A. degree. After working for a hometown bank, he came to San Diego County and to Southern California First National.

And now he heads the Rancho Santa Fe office, which joined the family of Southern California First National Bank when it merged with the Bank of La Jolla on November 15.

The Rancho Santa Fe office was opened in September, 1965. It was the first operation center outside La Jolla for the former Bank of La Jolla.

Working with Bergkamp to assist customers with any financial matters are assistant manager Charles Cook and note teller Lucille Scott.

WILLIAM G. MAAS, Southern California First National Bank senior vice president, has been named to develop new business and trust services for the bank in the North San Diego County.

He will work out of the bank's Rancho Santa Fe office.

Maas, a resident of Rancho Santa Fe for the past seven years, had been manager of the bank's Investment Department.

A native of Negaunee, Michigan, Maas received his elementary and secondary education in his hometown before earning a B.A. degree at the University of Wisconsin and an M.B.A. degree at Northwestern University.

He joined the San Diego-based bank in 1960 as vice president in charge of investment research. He was named manager of the Investment Department in 1961 and in January, 1967 was promoted to senior vice president.

Prior to joining SCFNB, Maas was manager of investment research for Glore, Forgan and Co. in Chicago. He also held several positions as a security analyst with Midwest firms.

Maas is a member and past president of the Financial Analysts Society of San Diego, past chairman, Committee on Trust Investments, California Bankers Association; past vice president, Financial Analysts Federation; and past president, Investment Analysts Society of Chicago.

Last year, Governor Reagan named Maas to the Public Employees' Retirement System Board of Administration for the State of California.

Maas and his wife, Charlotte, reside on La Valle Plateau.

In 1966, the bank — already the first financial institution in San Diego (in 1956) to have installed automatic data processing equipment — began using third generation computers. And the following year, the bank effected three mergers and changed its name from First National Bank of San Diego to Southern California First National Bank.

This pace under Blakemore did not slacken in 1968. Another merger in Los Angeles County was consummated, boosting to five the number of offices in Los Angeles County, and the merger with the Bank of La Jolla was effected, on November 15. Plans to form a one-bank holding company have been formulated and have received board sanction.

During the 85 years the bank has operated, it has become known for many "firsts" in the banking world.

Even in 1883, the bank became the first bank to finance a fishing fleet in Southern California. Two years later the bank helped finance the first railroad into San Diego.

In 1902, SCFNB was the first bank on the Pacific Coast to finance "horseless carriages."

Financing private airplane ownership was another "first" for the bank in 1936. Six years later, the bank established the first common trust fund west of the Mississippi as a means of extending trust services to modest-sized estates.

In 1956 the bank took the lead in a progressive field when it was the first bank in San Diego to install automatic data processing equipment. And last year Southern California First National was the first bank in the nation to integrate a management information system with the complete general ledger into third generation computers.

Along with these many achievements, the bank has been successful in maintaining its personal approach to banking by offering its customers personalized service in every area of bank operations. And although the bank is old in tradition, it constantly is creating new services.

The bank has a no-service charge checking account plan — "The Unchargeables" — for customers who maintain a minimum balance of $100 in their regular personal checking account. SCFNB was the first major commercial bank on the west coast to establish this type of service charge schedule.

The bank's auto loan rate on new cars, $4.50 per $100, is "Unbeatable." And the recently introduced "Money Minder" service, a computerized money management record available at extremely low cost, is still another of the bank's always growing number of customer-oriented services.

NET OPERATING EARNINGS REPORTED BY

Southern California First National Bank recently reported record net operating earnings of $3,995,912.00 or $3.03 a share, for 1968.

C. C. Blakemore, president and chief executive officer, said that this was the highest level in the bank's 85-year history and represents a 28 per cent increase over 1967 earnings of $3,115,068.

Based on the weighted average of 1,317,430 shares, 1968's per share net is 9 per cent greater than the bank's former high of $2.79 reported for 1967 on 1,116,753 shares outstanding.

Two mergers consummated in 1968 accounted for the increase in outstanding shares.

(On June 6, SCFNB merged the Bellflower National Bank of Bellflower and completed a merger with the Bank of La Jolla on November 15.

(SCFNB had merged three banks in 1967. They were: The Saddleback National Bank of Tustin on August 17, the Huntington-Valley Bank of Huntington Beach on September 14, and the Heritage-Wilshire National Bank of Westwood on October 5.)

Blakemore said that the bank also showed substantial gains in assets, loans and deposits. He credited the bank's earnings increase to significant gains in demand deposits coupled with a more favorable spread between yields on investments and loans and the cost of deposits.

In the 12 months ended December 31, 1968, the bank's assets increased 29 per cent to $669,056,750 from $519,585,244. Total deposits swelled to $501,896,079 from $425,944,226, an 18 per cent gain and loans were $357,288,992, a 25 per cent increase over 1967's $286,196,958.

Banking offices were increased to 46 from 40 in 1967. De novo offices were established in 1968 in Castle Park (San Diego County) and in Norwalk (Orange County). New offices acquired through merger were located in La Jolla and in Rancho Santa Fe (San Diego County) and in Bellflower and in Lakewood (Orange County).

Blakemore said that the bank's announced expansion program is to open 30 de novo offices throughout San Diego, Orange and Los Angeles counties during the next five years.

In Memoriam

LOUISE BEMIS KENT

The Ranch lost one of its most dearly loved women when Mrs. Hardy H. Kent passed away December 30th.

Louise Kent was the height of refinement, endowed with great charm and an innate love of beauty in any form.

The Kents came to the Ranch twelve years ago and the beauty minded people here soon elected her as President of the Garden Club, also she was an officer of Quail Park and tremendously interested in all of the activities of the Red Cross. She was a member of the Women's Council of the Village Church.

Louise Kent was born and reared in St. Louis, Mo. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Bemis. Her father was president of The Bemis Bag Co.

She attended Mary's Institute there and later attended and graduated from Miss Porter's School at Farmington, Connecticut.

She will long be remembered because of her love for a beautiful garden and her artistry with a needle. Whenever she entered any contest in needlepoint or crewel she was certain to win first prize.

As we go through life, we discover that the number of those who really appreciate and in a sense, live by beauty is small. Among these few persons, the number who possess the ability to radiate that beauty for the benefit of all with whom they come in contact is infinitely smaller.

Louise Kent was one of these.

This heartfelt memorial was written by Ranchoite Jack Wilson, a long-time family friend.

INES LAING WELLES

Mrs. Ines Laing Welles was born June 19, 1889 in Kingston, Michigan. She was graduated from Ypsilanti Teachers' College and taught school for 2 years. On March 18, 1911 at Warren, Michigan she married Claude A. Welles, and, since he was an official of Marshall Field and Co., they made their home in the Chicago area. On retirement, in 1953, the Welles moved to Rancho Santa Fe where they lived up to the present time.

Mrs. Welles was a devoted wife and mother and a most dedicated member of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Rancho Santa Fe. She had transferred her membership from First Church of Christ Scientist, Evanston, Illinois where she was a member for over 35 years. She also started a Society in Palisades Park, Michigan, their summer home, and was its first reader. She also taught in the Sunday School of the Christian Science Church for over 50 years.

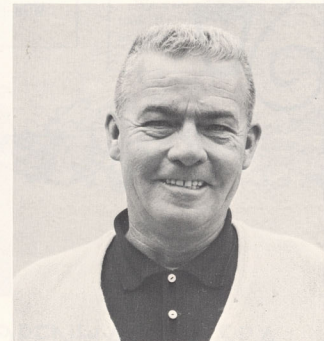

She was a member of De Anza Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Women's Republican Club. Mrs. Welles' heritage was largely Scotch-Quaker, counted Abner Doubleday, the accredited founder of American baseball, as one of her near ancestors.

Mrs. Welles passed away November 21, 1968. Besides her husband, her survivors include five children: Emerson A. Welles, Burlington, Ontario; Leonard G. Welles, Lubbock, Texas; Mrs. Jeanne Sturgeon, Mt. Prospect, Ill.; Claude A. Welles, Jr., Richmond, Ind.; and Mrs. Kathryn Goff, Plainfield, Ind.

Bill Walker's friends are legion in Rancho Santa Fe. He was a Cub Scout Leader and a good one. He never missed a Little League game, and would cheer home the victors even in the rain. He enjoyed his affiliation with the Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club, and he was one of the founding members of the Village Community Presbyterian Church. He was a fine husband, loving father, and good friend. He was a man who put his roots down deep in this community, and his memory will linger for many a long year.

Bill was born in Grosse Pointe, Michigan and attended Fessenden and Cranbrook schools; and Detroit University. During World War II he served with distinction in the South Pacific for four years as a Master Sgt. in the Air Force. He married the former Margaret Millar of Rancho Santa Fe in 1949, and the family includes a son William Russell, 19; a daughter, Elizabeth Howland, 18; and a son, Hiram Scott, 13. Bill was associated with General Dynamics for many years as a project analyst, and during the past year was with Ryan in the same capacity. He is the great-grandson of Hiram Walker, founder of the Hiram Walker distillery and a Detroit Philanthropist.

Bill Walker was a fine, wonderful man and we are sorry that he no longer walks among us.

RANCHO SANTA FE'S BEAUTIFUL "COPENHAGEN SPA" IS OPEN!

You are cordially invited to stop in and see the exciting new Copenhagen Spa which is located on Via de Santa Fe in Rancho Santa Fe, and which has been under construction for many, many months. When you step inside the door you will see why! The decor is a combination of the sumptuous spas of Europe, and Mr. H. Henning, owner and director of Copenhagen Spa, is well known for his chains of beauty and health spas from Copenhagen to Rome. No expense has been spared to create an oasis of beauty—from the sauna bath to the jakuzzi pool sunk in a deep circle in one particularly beautiful room. Mirrors on the ceiling reflect your image as your hair is shampooed, styled, set and combed. The massage rooms are especially designed for relaxation and comfort. In brief, the Copenhagen Spa is a place of great beauty, dedicated to creating beauty and keeping you healthy. There is a section for men and there is a section for women. Mr. Henning has had twenty-six years of experience in beauty and health, and awards and citations have been given to him by Scandinavia, Germany, Paris, Madrid, Basilea, and Palma de Mallorca. He has been equally honored in Beverly Hills and Hollywood. The Grand Opening of the Copenhagen Spa will be announced in next month's magazine . . . but, in the meantime, please drop in and get acquainted. Rancho Santa Fe is indeed fortunate in having such a beautiful Spa within its Village. It is breathtaking—and quite unlike anything we have ever seen before!

"Your Host, Tom Ham" 222-1181

by Paul Palmer

A lady in Santee recently wrote to The Daily Californian to express her disapproval of this quotation from Politics, Book I by Aristotle, a Great Books publication.

"The art of war is a natural art of acquisition, an art which we ought to practice against wild beasts and against men, though intended by nature to be governed will not submit; for war if such a kind is naturally just."

"Does this mean," asks the letter writer, "that if men do not submit to government it is proper to hunt them down like wild beasts? Would not a just war be fought to make men free rather than to enslave them? Why is Aristotle thought to be a great philosopher? Can his harsh pronouncement be justified?"

The Rancho Great Books group meets bi-weekly to discuss just such questions as these and many others. Fortunately we never completely agree on anything thus we get a lot of fun and mental exercise out of defending our own opinions of the issues and theories that are presented in our required reading. To illustrate this, if we were considering the above questions some one might quote further from Aristotle on this subject, "Men really listen when evils are denounced and we are easily induced to believe that in some wonderful manner everybody will become everybody's friend. But the evils in the world arise from the wickedness of human nature. Political science does not make men but must take them as they come from nature. When men have not virtue they are the most unholly and savage of animals, full of gluttony and lust. From the hour of their birth some men are marked for subjection and others for command. It is better for all inferiors that they should be under the rule of a master."

If the critic of Aristotle were sitting in with us she might now take refuge in that well known line from our Declaration of Independence which says, "that all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." This leads quite naturally to the authority of scripture. Genesis 1-27 for example which says, "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created He him" and Psalm 8-5 asserts, "Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels and crowned him with honor and glory." Poetry also speaks with authority as Hamlet declaims, "What a piece of work is man! How noble in reason! How infinite in faculty! In form and moving how express and admirable! In action how like an angel! In apprehension how like a god!

This hyperbole is likely to be challenged by a quotation from Harvard anthropologist E. A. Hooton, who asks, "when will we realize that under a conventional exterior a great part of the human race continues to be as savage and as stupid as Neanderthal Man?" Since history affords a great deal of evidence to support this thesis a reader of Robert Ardrey's book, African Genesis has opportunity to claim that the ancestors of man came down out of the trees a million years ago and as ground dwelling, carnivorous, killer apes developed the reasoning power that transformed them into the "Naked Ape" of today who is described in Desmond Morris' recent book of that name. In short they turned into us.

This idea is not well received and the discussion moves into a new area, that of the relative importance of nature and nurture. On this subject the realists and the romantics can find points of agreement if they can avoid debate on the possibility or necessity for changing human nature. Every intelligent parent, every enlightened educator, every wise religious leader and every psychologist knows that there are some fairly reliable and effective ways to change behavior for the better and that each child that comes into the world must be regarded as a potential delinquent who may be developed into a good citizen by example, training and education.

Thus we are back to Aristotle who held that, "Citizens are made virtuous by a course of habituation and the citizen should be molded to the form of government under which he lives." Perhaps the lady from Santee will agree with us that if Aristotle is still considered a great man it is not because he had all the right answers, he was wrong often enough, but rather because he thought about many of the right questions as we in our discussion group endeavor to do.

"While we are men, we cannot help to a great extent being Aristotelians, for the great master does but analyze the thoughts, feelings and opinions of human kind. He has told us the meanings of our own words and ideas and we are his disciples whether we will or no." So said Cardinal John Henry Newman.

YOUR DIVIDEND-PRODUCING PORTFOLIO

SAVINGS KEPT HERE WILL DO IT

An account at Newport Balboa Savings is an addition to your investment portfolio — and a very attractive addition. Consider what $1,000 kept at Newport Balboa Savings would earn in dividends. A regular passbook account, maintained one year, would return to you $51.30 at our current annual rate. A Bonus Account of the same amount, maintained three years, would return $58.95 a year or $176.85 for the three year period.

In contrast, a like amount of savings would return only $40.60 a year if kept in a bank. A "good" stock would return even less. A stock selling at $50 a share and paying a dividend of $2.40 is considered an attractive buy. Yet in dividends $1,000 invested in that stock would pay you only $48 annually.

Investment counselors know the wisdom of maintaining a broad portfolio. For there's truth in the homely warning that it isn't always wise to put "all your eggs in one basket." Or even a relatively few baskets.

Resources in Excess of One Hundred Million Dollars
P. A. PALMER, Chairman of the Board
AGNES BLOWQUIST, President

PACIFIC TELEPHONE TO SPEND $693,000 IN NORTH COAST AREA IN 1969!

Pacific Telephone today announced plans to spend $693,000 for new construction in the North Coast area in 1969.

The amount budgeted for improvements in this area is part of an overall $39.5 million construction program for San Diego and Imperial Counties.

A lion's share of construction monies allocated for this area will be devoted to outside plant (telephone lines). A total of $563,000 will be spent on outside plant in the Encinitas-Del Mar area, while another $59,900 will be spent for the same thing in Rancho Santa Fe.

The company has budgeted $71,000 for the purchase of switching equipment for a Del Mar facility.

The projection for Pacific Telephone's overall construction expenditures in San Diego and Imperial Counties for the new year represents an increase of $8.5 million over the 1968 figure of $31 million.

W. E. Quirk, vice president and general manager for the Southern Counties area of the company, described the construction program as "moderate." He said that it will just enable the company to keep abreast of San Diego County's population explosion.

The telephone executive pointed out that nearly 30 percent of the construction dollar is being allocated to providing telephone lines to San Diego County homes and businesses.

"We will spend $10.9 million on outside plant construction, and $6.9 million within that category for underground cable projects.

"Since underground cables generally are placed only in those areas in which there is new growth, this statistic alone reflects the marked boom in our county," he added.

Other features of the 1969 planned construction program include $1,855 million for land and buildings; $9,767 million for dial switching equipment; $1,531 million for toll switchboards and related facilities; $1.2 million for general equipment and $14.3 million for telephone apparatus (switchboards, telephones, etc.).

Quirk said that $83.9 million will be spent by Pacific Telephone in improving facilities in the six counties included in the Southern Counties area that he administers. These counties, for which San Diego is headquarters, are Inyo, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Imperial and San Diego.

Two major construction projects are planned for the metropolitan San Diego area.

The first involves a $2,566 million addition to the company's office at 9th and C Streets. The 12,400 square foot, one-story structure, with basement, will house electronic switching equipment.

The second major project calls for a 5,800 foot addition to the company facility at 4042

37th St. Total cost of land, structure and switching equipment has been placed at $1,085,000.

Quirk said that the company plans to add additional switching equipment to each of its offices in metropolitan San Diego to "keep up with the burgeoning demands."

He added that nearly $800,000 worth of equipment will be installed at the company facility at 3848 7th Ave., and "that is just typical of the type of thing we will be doing during 1969."

Expenditures will not be confined to the metropolitan area alone, Quirk explained.

Nearly $700,000 will be spent on land, building and equipment for an addition to the La Mesa central office at 4711 Spring St.

Additional switching equipment, valued at $363,000 will be installed at the Garnet Test Center in Pacific Beach, while a similar amount will be spent on equipment for the central office in Chula Vista.

Major expenditures also are planned for Northern San Diego County, Quirk said.

A half-million dollar plant service center will be constructed on Mission Ave. in Oceanside. Approximately $250,000 has been allocated for additional switching equipment for a facility at 111 No. Freeman St.

In Escondido, $462,000 will be spent on switching equipment for the company's facility at 146 So. Broadway.

Quirk also pointed to the fact that mid-way 1969, some 1270 Pacific Telephone employees, currently housed at various locations in San Diego, will move into new area headquarters in the Union Bank Building at Sixth and "B" Streets in San Diego.

Telephone employees will occupy from the seventh through the 19th floors of the ultra-modern building that lends grace and beauty to San Diego's skyline.

While a large program has been planned for 1969, Quirk explained that much also has been accomplished during 1968.

"We filled a critical need during the past year with the completion of a new three-story building at 3848 Seventh Ave. The new facility, which houses a switching center and additional long distance facilities, has eased the burden on other outlets," Quirk said.

Cost of the project, he added, came to $3,891,000.

Quirk cited the completion of a Rancho Bernardo central office as another major accomplishment.

"The new Bernardo central office, which went into use in December, not only improves the service for residents of that community but also removes some of the pressure on the Midland Avenue office in Poway, an area that also is growing swiftly."

In reviewing the past year, Quirk noted that $1.3 million had been spent for land and buildings; $5.6 million went for cables and lines ($4.1 million in underground cable facilities); $6 million was spent on central office switching equipment and a whopping $18.2 million was funneled into the purchase of switchboards, telephones and other equipment.

The telephone executive also stopped to reflect on the economic impact made upon San Diego by Pacific Telephone.

"In 1968, we provided employment for 5,580 persons in San Diego County and the company payroll in the San Diego Division approximated $44 million, an increase of more than 8 per cent."

Quirk also took note of the fact that as a company, Pacific Telephone's fiscal year 1968-69 tax payment to San Diego County amounted to $7,982,458.60.

Other statistical figures that Quirk deemed "pertinent to the growth of both the company and the area it serves" includes a sharp increase in the number of telephones in San Diego and Imperial Counties.

"A year ago this date, there were 744,000 telephones in service, but today that figure has climbed to 803,000," Quirk said.

The increase in the number of phones has been accompanied by a greater number of calls.

There were 46,595,000 long distance calls placed in 1968, an increase of 15.2 per cent, while local calls numbered 1,164,374,000, an increase of 5.9 per cent.

"It is evident that 1968 was a year of growth for both San Diego and Imperial Counties. And from every indication, 1969 promises to offer even greater growth challenges for our company. We will make every effort to meet and exceed those challenges," Quirk concluded.

THE BEAT GOES ON AT LOMAS SANTA FE

... with the accent on family participation

Anyone driving regularly along Lomas Santa Fe Drive (formerly Skyline Drive) between Rancho Santa Fe and Interstate 5 or Solana Beach, is impressed with the steady progress of the physical plant at Lomas Santa Fe.

The tennis courts are about ready for play, the Olympic-size swimming pool is on schedule for its February completion date, the clubhouse between the tennis and swimming facilities will be in use and a taken-for-granted facility before long.

As for the par-72, 18-hole golf course, it is so definitely of championship caliber and even now in such mature condition that it will be used for qualifying rounds for the Andy Williams San Diego Open; the date is January 27, preceding the Open tournament at Torrey Pines on January 28 through February 2. Moreover, the San Diego area USGA Junior Golf qualifying rounds will be played at Lomas Santa Fe in July.

Basic, of course, is the purchase of lots and building of fine homes at Lomas Santa Fe. Here again, progress is notable, with several fine home builders associated in a "participating builder program" for homeowners in Lomas Santa Fe's Isla Verde subdivision; of the first 61 lots graded in the first Isla Verde section to be opened for sale, 50 lots have already been sold. Each of the builders will soon be under way with the construction of one or more owner-commissioned estate homes on lots already purchased by individual owners from Lomas Santa Fe Development Co.

And of course, the Plaza of the Four Flags—a shopping center just south of Lomas Santa Fe Drive and just east of Interstate 5, planned with consummate care to reflect the "heritage of beauty" which is a sincere keynote of the whole Lomas Santa Fe development—a complex for which several major stores, shops, financial and service facilities are even now under contract and others, all carefully selected to reflect the integrity and good taste of Lomas Santa Fe management and of area residents, are pending.

This is a physical progress at Lomas Santa Fe, and it is impressive for at least two things: steady movement ahead, and sound progress without the fanfare and ballyhoo frequently associated with today's parade of "community development."

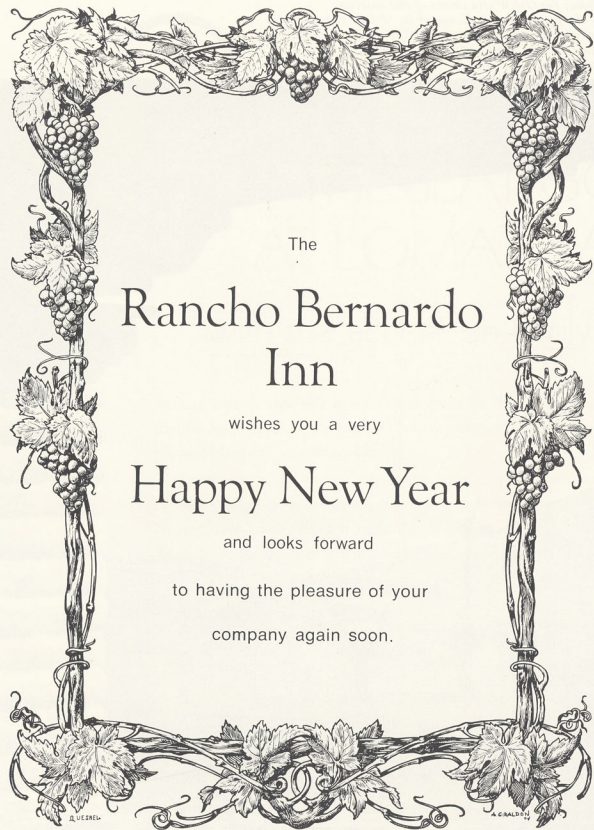

And that doesn't just happen. Talk to young Lomas Santa Fe president Ted Gildred or to any of his executive associates, and you will discover an earnestness, an engrossed attention to meticulous details, a determination to enhance the beauty of the hills that roll down toward the Pacific from Rancho Santa Fe's western boundary, rather than to mar it with heavy-handed subdivision, and you'll sense the awareness of a public trust to make Lomas Santa Fe as fine, as beautiful, as authentic as it can possibly be.

For example: at Lomas Santa Fe Country Club, the accent will be on family participation, family use, family fun. From the very outset, programs and schedules of use as well as the facilities themselves are honestly family-oriented.

"We don't particularly want to ride the truism that families that play together stay together," explained Kent Staab, general manager of Lomas Santa Fe Country Club. "But we believe the greater the extent to which every member of the families of our members and residents can use the club fully for fun, recreation, and the development of proficiency in participating sports, the more vital and successful the club can be. We're going to plan it and execute it that way—and if in the process we accomplish something in the direction of better communications and more understanding between parents and children in our membership, we will be very proud."

Lomas Santa Fe Country Club combines the Old World charm of this authentic Spanish Colonial architecture with the present day challenge of its 18-hole championship golf course (where qualifying rounds for the 2nd Annual Andy Williams San Diego Open are being played), its four championship tennis courts and 25-meter AAU-approved competition swimming pool.

AMERICAN FREEWAY PATROL (AFP) Executive Secretary, Jan Magot, demonstrates one of the new yellow-and-black "HELP" signs designed to signal American Freeway Patrol trucks which are cruising San Diego area freeways to render free assistance to stranded motorists. The device fits into a car's glove compartment and is displayed on the rear or side window when a motorist needs assistance. Meanwhile, AFP radio reporter Scott Gregory, is flying over the city in the patrol's Americopter, issuing regular simultaneous traffic reports on stations KOGO, KCBQ, KSDO and KITT. The American Freeway Patrol is sponsored by the American Oil Company.

American Freeway Patrol Offers Unique Emergency Service

Five radio-equipped trucks began patrolling last month to render free assistance to motorists in trouble as the first phase of a new public service gets underway.

The service, known as the American Freeway Patrol (AFP), is sponsored by the American Oil Company and will be a comprehensive air-ground system of emergency road service and traffic reporting.

Trained mechanics will man the five service vehicles, which will patrol freeways in and around San Diego 17 hours a day to handle common road problems, said Jack Beshear, American Oil reseller advertising manager.

He said the AFP also will assist the detained motorist by relaying messages to family, friends or business associates who may be concerned over the delay.

The trucks will carry water, gasoline and miscellaneous parts but will not be equipped for towing. The AFP will work closely with police and tow operators to assist seriously disabled vehicles, Beshear said.

A motorist can receive AFP assistance by displaying a special black-and-yellow sign in the car's rear window. The signs, which read "Help—American Freeway Patrol," will be available at American Oil service stations, in San Diego newspapers and at AFP headquarters, 419 Mission Valley Center-West.

Freeways which will be covered initially by the AFP include:

—Interstate 5 north to Del Mar Heights Road and south to Palm Avenue near Imperial Beach.

—Interstate 8 between Taylor Street in Old Town and Main Street in El Cajon.

—U.S. 395 between downtown San Diego and Carmel Mountain Road.

—State Highway 94 east from Interstate 5 to the intersection of Interstate 8.

—Wabash Boulevard between Interstate 5 and State Highway 94.

The air operation of the AFP will go into effect in two weeks when a helicopter begins issuing regular simultaneous traffic reports on five San Diego area radio stations—KOGO, KSDO, KCBQ, KSON and KITT-FM.

Both the air and ground units, which will be coordinated through the Mission Valley headquarters, will work closely with law enforcement and fire authorities.

George Walseth, the son of Col. and Mrs. Harvey S. Walseth, Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., recently began his freshman year at the School of Dentistry, University of the Pacific, in San Francisco. Upon successful completion of the four-year program, he will receive the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

Before coming to San Francisco for his dental education, Walseth received the Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from San Diego State College. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

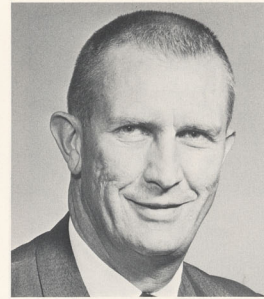

The School of Dentistry, formerly known as the College of Physicians & Surgeons, was established in San Francisco in 1896. It granted degrees in medicine, pharmacy and dentistry until 1918, when it became exclusively a dental school.

In 1962 the school was amalgamated with the University of the Pacific, and last year it moved into a new $8.9 million building at Sacramento & Webster in San Francisco.

Walseth's class, with 97 members, is the largest in the history of the school. Total enrollment for the 1968-69 term is 297.

Pictured above, after their Sunday afternoon Jan. 4th wedding in the Catamaran Chapel in San Diego, are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Clifton. The beautiful Mrs. Clifton is the former Evelyn Grimm Carson of Rancho Santa Fe. Mr. Clifton is associated with the Arrowhead-Puritas water company, and is well known in the Ranch. CHARLES AYARS TO CHAIR FAMILY Y.M.C.A. BOARD

Chuck Ayars, of Solana Beach has been elected Chairman of the local North Coast Family Y.M.C.A. Board of Managers which covers the San Dieguito and Tri-City communities.

Bill Whitteker of Oceanside and Dr. Jennings Newman of Cardiff headed up the Board Nominating Committee which proposed Ayars who has a long history of involvement in Y.M.C.A. work as a layman.

Ayars and his wife Janet reside at 223 Ocean in Solana Beach with their three children. He has 17 years of national banking experience and has served as President for the Rotary Club of Del Mar and the Del Mar Chamber of Commerce.

He is presently Vice President and a Director of the National Energy Corporation.

He is also a Commander in the United States Naval Reserve and the Commanding Officer of a Maintenance Unit at Los Alamitos.

"I consider this position a real honor and a difficult challenge to follow such past Y.M.C.A. Board Chairmen as Ed Harloff, Earl Schweikert, A. H. Oberg and Paul Ecke, Jr. who have brought our local Family Y a long way since 1963."

Ayars went on to state that "our big challenge for 1969 is to build our first Family Program Center complete with a swimming pool, add a third full time professional staff man, and open a program office in the Tri-City area."

Whitteker and Newman pointed out that their committee will soon be nominating key business and professional men in the area to serve on the Board of Managers in the 1971 Class and to fill a couple of vacancies in the 1969 and 1970 Class.

Costa's news from LA COSTA
Costa Del Mar Road
Rancho La Costa, California 92008

January 1, 1969. Happy New Year from La Costa! The excitement of '68 rose to its full height during the month of December. Parties and more parties, people and more people.

The WAYNE GOSSETT's kicked off the Christmas merriment by tossing the first cocktail soiree of the holiday season. This was followed by a party hosted by the BILL GARGAN'S and BILL WORTHING, in honor of La Costa Executives for the outstanding contribution over the past three years in sponsoring the successful annual William Gargan Golf Tournament for the American Cancer Society. Formal appreciation was expressed in a plaque and presented to MERV ADELSON, President of La Costa. The Gargan's then surprised JEANNIE SUSALLA with a birthday cake and a large crowd of well-wishers joined in with a "happy birthday" song. The only unhappy note during the warm and meaningful celebration was that the popular hostess, MARY GARGAN, was too ill to attend.

DAN BERHEIM, president of Reach-Mc-Clinton, and his attractive family arrived from New York to spend the holidays in their La Costa home. Their dinner party for Frances Bernheim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Reinfeld, was a very sentimental occasion. It was the Reinfeld's 40th anniversary and our honorary Mayor of La Costa, BILL GARGAN toasted the couple with words that brought tears to everyone's eyes. And again, it was an occasion to celebrate another birthday for a December child. The honoree was ROBERT SOMMERS, an associate of Dan Berheim's.

Adding glamour to the scene: A delightful couple STEPHANIE POWERS and her equally talented husband GARY LOCKWOOD, were at La Costa during the holidays and posed for a HARPERS BAZAAR layout . . . Photographing the Lockwoods was GUY WEBSTER who is making a name for himself in the photography field that will soon be comparable to the composing fame of his father PAUL FRANCIS WEBSTER noted for many great hits, including, "The Shadow of Your Smile."

RUTH ROMAN approached the advent of the Holiday Season in a very smart manner: She checked into our Spa for two weeks of conditioning prior to an avalanche of holiday parties.

Mr. Leo Gubman joined Miss Carmen Figueroa of Mexico City and Los Angeles at the La Costa New Year's Eve party.

One of the brightest stars in the galaxy of the entertainment world is due to arrive at La Costa for three or four days of unwinding in our fabulous Spa. JOANNE WOODWARD who has just been awarded the New York Critics Award for her outstanding performance in "Rachel, Rachel" will be beautifying our scene.

Mr. and Mrs. JACK GLEASON have become the proud parents of a baby girl which is one of the reasons why one sees the proud grandfather ROBERT YOUNG almost daily at La Costa.

After all the glitter of the holiday season it was really like taking 'a breath of Spring' to view the magnificent Spring Collection of HELGA at La Costa during the holidays. Many of the ladies were writing down numbers to order for the start of a New Year and a new season.

Mrs. Arnold Koblantz, Mrs. Billie Bollman, and Mrs. Allard Roen are shown at the William Gargan party honoring the La Costa executives.

Among those who attended the gala New Year's Eve party at La Costa Country Club were: (Back Row) Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bernheim, Mr. Saul Reinfeld, Mrs. Phyllis Levin. (Front Row) Mr. Dan Bernheim, Sr. and Mrs. Saul Reinfeld.

A pat on the back for Rancho Santa Fe kids came our way when Ranchoite Robert Oliver walked over to tell us about an incident which happened in front of the Village Library.

A gardener had parked his truck on Avenida de Acacias in front of the library, and the emergency brake failed. School had just let out for the day and a group of boys on their way home kept the truck from rolling down the hill into La Granada through sheer muscle power. One of the boys ran for reinforcements and Mr. Oliver hurried out to help, putting the truck into gear.

The quick action of these boys prevented what might have been a nasty accident. Thanks kids!

My Horse

My horse's name is Geisha Girl. She is a Quarter horse Arabian mare. She is a dark bay. She is about fourteen hands and three inches tall. She is almost a pony.

I feed her twice a day. I feed her a flake of alfalfa hay in the morning along with a half of a bucket of alfalfa molasses. In the evening I feed her the same thing, plus half of a can of barley corn. On special occasions I always give her a carrot or two.

I clean her corral every day in the evening. On the weekends I clean it once in the morning and once in the evening because I have more time.

I groom her every day. She is shod every two months. I use a rubber curry comb, a body brush, a soft brush, a hoof pick, a mane and tail comb, fly spray, and hoof oil. When I bathe her, I only bathe her when the weather is rather warm. She always likes a bath on a rather warm day. She likes to eat brush bristles, but of course I don't let her. She also likes to knock them off the fence. There is one thing that she really likes to chew on and that is the fence! She has already eaten through a few boards. So we had to put up electric wire to stop her.

Sometimes it's hard to bridle her, because she throws her head a little bit so we have to coat the bit with molasses, then sprinkle it with alfalfa molasses. But once you get the alfalfa molasses on the bit, you will have no problem in getting the bit in her mouth, (it will be in before you know it).

If you like horses, it's a lot of fun to have one and to take care of one. I take care of Geisha Girl all by myself and I love her very much.

WEDDING DATE TOLD WITH GOLD NUMBERS

The engagement of Miss Jamie Lynn Clinton and Richard Wayne Detweiler was announced at a family party which was also the bride-elect's birthday.

Miss Clinton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clinton of Rancho Santa Fe. Her fiancé, a resident of Del Mar, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Detweiler of Peoria, Ill.

As guests entered the front door of the Clinton home they stepped through two huge gold rings. A large mobile in gold numbers announced the date of the wedding, April 12. The gold ring theme was carried throughout the home. St. Mary's Chapel at Bishop School is where the wedding will take place.

Miss Clinton was graduated from Bishop School in 1961 and from the University of Vermont in 1965. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She was a Las Damas Pan Americanas debutante.

Her fiancé was graduated from Woodruff High School in Peoria in 1959 and from Bradley University in 1963.

The future bridegroom's parents live from Peoria for the holidays and the combination engagement-birthday party.

INTERNATIONAL TAPESTRY COLLECTION ATTRACTS WIDE ATTENTION

Historic Techniques Shown In Contemporary Tapestries

Selected pieces from the Hurschler collection of contemporary European tapestries, currently offered at the Gift Galerie of Country Squire Interiors, comprise a fascinating visual adventure in color, texture, design and varied techniques.

For centuries, according to Dale and Fred Gardner, owners of the Galerie, tapestries adorned only castles, palaces and churches. Over the years the art of tapestry weaving declined, until, early in this century, it was well-nigh extinct. In the 1930's and 1940's a revival started in France, the traditional tapestry center, when the first modern designs were woven in Aubusson. This revival has since spread over most of the countries of Europe. While today many a home, office or public building in Europe enjoys the beauty and warmth of these exciting modern tapestries, relatively few people in this country have seen such works. The works of the French and Portuguese artists in the exhibit are the results of the traditional collaboration between the artists designing them and the weaving atelier executing them, and were woven in Portalegre, Portugal and Aubusson. The Polish and Austrian works were designed and woven by the artists themselves. The tapestries resulting from both methods, while maintaining the historic integrity of the medium, are rich in texture and color and captivating in their expression of contemporary design.

In addition to the tapestries made available from Mr. Paul Hurschler's current collection, interior designers Fred and Dale (Mrs.) Gardner are able to have special designs and colors woven to suit individual requirements.

Fred Gardner, NSID, of Country Squire Interiors, helps Earl Schweikert, Manager of RSF's Security Pacific Bank, select tapestries from the Hurschler International Collection to hang in Security Bank's Rancho Santa Fe Office.

SACRAMENTO REPORT

FROM THE OFFICE OF
ASSEMBLYMAN JOHN STULL

Just before Christmas, the mailman brought me a brightly-colored Tam o'Shanter to wear as a symbol of resistance to campus disturbances. It was from a non-partisan group, newly organized for the purpose of supporting S. I. Hayakawa and others who wish to restore sanity and dignity to California Higher Education. All over the state, similar organizations are being formed.

The idea that tax-supported institutions should NOT be used as revolutionary launching pads has reached its time. The people of California are thoroughly aroused, and this year, I am certain the legislature will take action reflecting the indignation of the people. An ironic but gratifying note is that just two short years ago, one of my colleagues in the legislature called me "anti education" for demanding campus reform — and now, he is literally shouting for it himself.

There are many ironies, but I think we now have a climate where legislative action will be taken to preserve the right of non-revolutionary young Californians to get their education in peace. When "academic freedom" has been so perverted that students can no longer attend class in safety, "political control" from the legislature must enforce certain minimal standards.

And, obviously, he supports California Higher Education most strongly who seeks to snatch it from control of administrative, faculty, and student demagogues who prefer the campus as an ideological battleground to an institution of learning.

DE ANZA CHAPTER DAR NEWS

The members of the De Anza Chapter DAR will meet on January 7, 1969 to dedicate a group of three Torrey Pine Trees in the 170 Acre Tract east of Del Mar, to be added to the Torrey Pine Reserve of the rare trees.

The Torrey Pines are rare and wonderful trees, believed to be relics of the Ice Age. Those trees in the Del Mar area are remnants of an ancient dune forest which once covered the coast of Southern California. The only other known group is on the Santa Rosa Island off the coast at Santa Barbara.

The Torrey Pines State Reserve protects some 3,000 trees. There are about 1500 Torrey Pines in the rugged canyon area in the 170 acres that the Association is trying to raise the necessary funds to purchase in order to add to the protected Torrey Pines State Reserve. This area is a living museum of natural history, to be cherished and protected in its native state. Other native shrubs and wild flowers include the Toyon (the native Holly), Manzanita, Ceanothus, Monkey Flower, Sage, Buckwheat and many others that make suitable protection for the small animals and birds living there.

Mrs. Charles A. Chervenka, a member of De Anza Chapter, has purchased two of the trees, one to be dedicated to her late husband and one to herself. The third tree has been purchased by the Chapter members and will be dedicated to the Chapter. The three trees stand in a group on one of the ridges near the center of the acreage overlooking much of the park and the Pacific Ocean to the Southwest as a background.

Mrs. F. J. Ford of Cardiff and Chapter Conservation Chairman has planned the program with Mrs. Ralph T. Shaw of Del Mar, Campaign Coordinator. Participation on behalf of the Torrey Pines Association will be Mrs. Guy Flemming, whose late husband was first Custodian of the trees and founder of the Torrey Pines Association.

Members and guests of De Anza Chapter will meet at the end of Nogales Road, south of Del Mar Heights Road. Starting at 10:30 a.m. The Torrey Pines Association Guides will lead groups into the group of trees for the Dedication Ceremonies, which will be conducted by the Regent, Mrs. Robert L. Sperry of Rancho Santa Fe.

After the ceremonies there will be a picnic lunch, each bringing their own. Coffee will be furnished. Following the picnic, Mrs. Shaw will give a talk on the Flora and the Fauna in the Reserve. Any one interested in the preservation of these rare trees and the birds and animals living in the area will be welcome.

Dr. Elmer Morton (shown above) is pleased as punch at the latest performance of his beautiful Model A Ford.

In 1965, when Dr. Morton discovered this beauty, she was lying dismantled in an Escondido garage. He bought her and turned the pieces over to Jim Mason of Paocima, Calif., who restored the care to the better-than-new shape she's in today.

Since the restoration the car has been winning prizes in California and Arizona. Among winnings are a 1st at Pomona in 1968, a 2nd at the 1968 Yuma competition and other prizes from Knotts Berry Farm and Model A contest held in Pomona and Pasadena.

Not just for "show," the car has proven its mettle, driving to the Yuma conventions under its own power twice. No wonder Dr. Morton is pleased!

200th ANNIVERSARY

by PAUL LIBERATORE
Feature Writer

Don't worry about the gift you're giving San Diego for its 200th birthday. During "the biggest birthday party in the world" all the presents are given to the guests. Cities are comprised of people and, because this is so, each of us will be the guest of honor during the Bicentennial Celebration of San Diego. For those in North County, events have been scheduled all year to appeal to the many interests and talents of our residents.

The big year begins with Midnight Services and opening ceremonies at Mission San Diego de Alcalá on New Year's eve that continue all week highlighted by a 200 gun salute on Jan. 1 and the 200th Anniversary Parade on Jan. 2.

Sports enthusiasts will enjoy the $165,000 Andy Williams PGA Open Golf Tournament that runs from Jan. 28 to Feb. 2 at Torrey Pines Course as well as the Astrojet Golf Classic from Feb. 14-16. San Diego's first season in the National League begins April 18 when the Padres kick-off their first major league season. Forty two days of thoroughbred racing will comprise the Del Mar Turf Club racing season from July 21 to Sept. 11. On Sept. 21 San Diego will host the Unlimited Hydroplane Races' Gold Cup on Mission Bay. Also in September the second annual Western Days and Rodeo will be held in National City. The La Jolla Tennis Championships run from June 25-July 6. For the younger sportsmen and women the World Series of Surfing will take place in October featuring famous surfers and teams. Let's not forget our own Gulls, Rockets, Chargers and Aztecs in 1969.

Children will howl at the contestants in the 16th Annual Frog Jumping Contest at the Del Mar Fairgrounds April 26-27. No child can resist the lure of the circus when the Ringling Bros. "Greatest Show on Earth" comes to town July 15-20. As if the circus weren't enough, a San Diego Kid's Day will be declared on Sept. 27 with visits to submarine bases, zoo, and a band concert. For adults as well as children, the world's largest national horse show the Southern California Exposition and National Horse Show will thrill visitors from June 25-July 6 with horses, flowers and exhibits.

Birthdays and music go together and, during the entire birthday year, there will be music in the air. Sammy Davis Jr. has accepted an invitation to appear at the San Diego Jazz Festival held from June 14-22. A few invited artists for the week are Cannonball Adderly, Sergio Mendez, Jose Feliciano, Aretha Franklin and many more. In mid July through August the Summer Symphony will perform at San Diego State's open air theatre and the La Jolla Concert Series presented by the La Jolla Civic Orchestra Association is slated for Nov. 10 through June 1. There will be music in the night when San Diego's celebrated Starlight Opera begins its new season.

The stars of Old Globe theatre will celebrate the 200th with another cycle of Shakespearean plays and the La Jolla Ballet presents a newly-choreographed work to supplement six other productions planned for 1969.

For those with green thumbs or those who simply like pretty things a number of spectacular floral shows are being staged this year. Our own Rancho Santa Fe Garden Club Flower Show runs April 19-20. Again in Rancho Santa Fe, the Fall Flower Show Oct. 17-18. The Bernardo Days Flower Show in Rancho Bernardo is slated for June 7-8.

These are only a few of hundreds of exciting events planned for the 200th year. So give yourself a present and have a happy (don't finch ladies) 200th birthday.

ALL ARE WELCOME

Jan. 19 "How Can You Say Life Is Wonderful?"

How many can really say that life is wonderful? Wouldn't many poor people, many black people in the ghettos disagree? But are race, environment, and possessions really the only determining factors in life? Must they limit us? The Bible encourages us to prove man's God-given rights. It teaches that man always has at hand such qualities of God as dignity and intelligence. And as we accept and live this view of ourselves in daily life, we'll know an improved and happier life.

Jan. 26 "A Key Factor In Spiritual Healing."

A key factor in spiritual healing is that sickness isn't God's will for man. If it were otherwise, praying to God for health would be going against God's will. And God isn't capricious. He doesn't make one sick and another healthy. Instead we have to believe that God is giving only good to man. But it's not easy to see this. Often the turning point in spiritual healing comes when we relinquish our own view of ourselves as sickly, fearful, or sinful. When we start with God's will for man, then healing follows.

Feb. 2 "Overcoming Fear of Accidents."

Obedience to safety rules is certainly an important step in avoiding accidents. But this alone doesn't rid us of the fear of accidents. And latent fear itself can prevent the decisive and intelligent action necessary to insure safety. Jesus was dealing with this kind of fear when he commanded his disciples to "Fear not." Jesus proved that God's love is always sufficient to hold us in harmony and safety.

Feb. 7 "Meeting the Challenge of Office Politics."

Feb. 14 "Communicating with the Younger Generation."

Feb. 21 "Overcoming Fear of Emergencies."

Feb. 28 "Why Take Prayer Seriously?"
