

N-1486
Bx21

Some of RSF's top academic students were honored May 17 at the Celebration of Talent 2003 by the Johns Hopkins University. The event took place at the University of San Diego.

RSF School students among 'Celebration of Talent 2003' honorees

Hundreds of San Diego's top academic students were honored May 17 at the Celebration of Talent 2003 sponsored by the Johns Hopkins University. Several Rancho Santa Fe students accompanied by their families and teachers attended the annual ceremony hosted at the University of San Diego.

Johns Hopkins University through its Center for Talented Youth seeks to recognize top academic students. To qualify for participation in the program, students must score at the 97th percentile or higher on a standardized test in reading or mathematics. Those qualifying are invited to participate in CTY's talent search; 7th and 8th graders take the college SAT exam which assesses verbal and mathematical reasoning abilities while 5th and 6th graders take the PLUS Academic Abilities Assessment.

Participating students also have the opportunity to take advantage of CTY programs, ser-

Paul Grimm
Christopher Halter
Raven Kamfiroozie
Liam King
Riley McCaskill
Peter Reed
Emily Roth
Joseph Roth
Euki Sawada
Joseph Scipione
Spencer Scott
George Shafer
Thomas Wheeler

6th Grade

Ryan Anderson
Mara Berg
Geena Boyer
Meredith Brewster
Paul Brown
Parker Clark
Chris Eggemeyer
Denell Falk
Harry Foster
Haley Geier
Monica GHibson
Haley Glatthorn
Amanda Gruen
Jackson Kelly