Past Year's Activities Told At Annual Meeting

"Grown from Sixty to Six Hundred" with the subtitle, "In Thirty Years — From 1929 to 1959," was the subject of the president's report given by Mrs. Arthur G. Thorne, at the annual luncheon meeting of the Garden club May 12.

Mrs. Thorne, who was re-elected president of the club at the meeting, spoke of the gift of the clubhouse by Mrs. C. F. Meyer, when the club was age nine and that as the club's activities grew the original purpose had almost been lost in the activities of the community. This year, however, said Mrs. Thorne, the board directed its efforts to the integration of the new needs with the old purposes and ideals.

She spoke of the past year's program and of the expenses, taxes, insurance, utilities, salaries, replacements and maintenance, which come to over $6000 a year.

"Since the nominal dues cover less than half of these expenses," said Mrs. Thorne, "the annual rummage sale is needed to provide sufficient funds. This year the sale cleared over $6000 and because of the success of this project, it has been possible to add a new room to this home of our Garden club family, which we are opening today for your use and enjoyment."

Mrs. Thorne went on to tell the clubhouse has been used by the Village church and the Red Cross and that recently the club contributed $300 to sponsor a Pony League team — the teenage team of the Little League. She spoke of the $2200 raised by the House and Garden Tour, the monies to be used by the Beautification Committee.

As president, Mrs. Thorne represents the club on the re-activated Parks and Recreation Board, of the Association.

Mrs. William Weddell, who heads the beautification committee, presented a report on what the committee had accomplished during the past year and what its plans for the future are.

"The invaluable achievement of beautification," said Mrs. Weddell, "will be the development of a long range integrated landscape plan for the Ranch. This summer, Mrs. Gifford C. Ewing, the club's consultant on horticulture and landscape design, will devote time to developing this master plan."

The plan as outlined by Mrs. Weddell, will embrace the planting of our roadsides, with first attention to our main thorough fares. There are plans for refurbishing the center island of the Village center; planter (continued on page 13)

TREACLE and INK

By THOR SVENSON

Once in a great while a book comes along which, when read, refuses to be forgotten. There are many reasons for this: sometimes it is the subject matter, the plot, the characters or the factual content. Other times it is because of an unusual style, an artistry or technique which commands attention. Sometimes it is the author himself, a man of age and letters whose greatness remains with the reader.

Less frequent is the novice, without training, without age, without academic wisdom, who writing for the first time, is able to return as a recurring echo. Such is my experience with "Child of Our Time" by Michel del Castillo (translated from the French by Peter Green), Alfred A. Knopf, Publishers.

It's not a lengthy book; you can read it in one sitting. It is no expose, nothing weighty, no delightfully tricky style; it is uniquely simple and comes straight from the author's heart.

Grim Experience

Michel, the author, calling himself Tanguy, records his first 25 years. Born on the eve of the Spanish Civil War, Tanguy knows war (as many European children must have) from the first. When the Republicans lose, he flees to France with his mother. But this is Vichy France, and after a short while of "normal living," he and his mother are betrayed by his father and interned.

His mother, a political reformist, escapes without him to continue her work elsewhere. Tanguy, barely nine years old, is loaded with Jewish children into a box car, shipped across France and Germany sans any care, and placed in the worst of Nazi concentration camps, where 11 hour slave labor, corpses, incinerators for extermination, and despair is the daily program.

After three and one-half years he is "liberated" to a Spanish institution run by lay brothers for orphans and delinquents. Here he meets regular floggings, sadism, perversity, hypocrisy and sweat labor. Here too, he learns hatred for the first time.

Faith Regained

With a young parricide, he eventually escapes, and spends two years with a Jesuit College and its director, where he slowly regains his faith in his fellow man. His eventual return to France brings him face to face with his indifferent parents. The obsession to meet them leaves him and he takes his last step to manhood.

The reiteration of his terrible ordeals is written without vindictiveness; all is told simply in a style reminiscent of Camus. We know the facts of the concentration camps; he does not need to make elaboration, yet seen through the eyes of a nine-year-old child, they take on a new terror. The institution for orphans makes Dickens seem pale. But this is not the book's (continued on page 13)

Reading Clinic Set

Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, specialist in reading techniques, will conduct an intensive six-weeks clinic in La Jolla and Rancho Santa Fe this summer.

A graduate of the Education Clinic (Durrell) at Boston university, Mrs. Wood has also received special training at Barnard and Columbia. She has been a school administrator and a clinician in psychological testing and guidance.

Locally, Mrs. Wood has worked briefly with Dr. Richmond Barbour for the San Diego city schools in remedial reading and guidance, the Country Day school and Evans school in La Jolla.

In discussion, Mrs. Wood brought out the surprising fact that children with severe reading problems often have high IQs.

GOURMET

Wild Rice Exotic Dish

The Bulletin is going to let its readers in on what's cooking — and we mean just that. Some of the prize cooks on the Ranch have agreed to part with recipes that have helped earn them a name in the culinary art.

Opening our gourmet column is Johanne Wenz, engaging wife of Harry E. Wenz, who count themselves old-timers on the Ranch, having come here from Indianapolis 10 years ago. They have four sons, Gerald, Harry Jr., and David who are residing in Indianapolis, and Nicholas, who is still at home.

Johanne, as we shall call her since we are so informally going into her kitchen, has her hand in many of the community's activities. She has served as president of the Country Friends and now is one of the three capable managers of the Traders Shop, from which the Friends derive revenue for their philanthropic projects.

Johanne takes an interest in the Village Church activities, the fall Gift Mart claiming her attention at present, and she is handling publicity for the Country Friends annual fashion show scheduled in September.

Two forms of entertaining are preferred by this pretty hostess, whose gracious, easy manner is the first key to the charm of her hospitality. She prefers the seated dinner for eight and secondly the cocktail buffet, for which their hilltop home with its Wedgewood blue decor, is so admirably suited.

Her recipe for wild rice, which she likes for the latter type of party or for a luncheon, she serves from a copper chafing dish. She does all of her own cooking, having help for the serving.

This recipe is for 16 and with it she serves a molded fresh fruit salad, and she means fresh since, as she says, California offers so many varieties from which to choose. With this she offers two kinds of dressing, which we will tell you about later, hot rolls or bran muffins and raspberry or strawberry jam.

WILD RICE

Brown together slowly: Two large onions, chopped, 1 green pepper, 1 clove of garlic and 2

COOKERY — Pretty Mrs. Harry Wenz is pictured on the patio of her hilltop home preparing to serve a succulent wild rice dish, (the recipe is given in this issue of the Bulletin) from her handsome copper chafing dish. She recommends it for a cocktail buffet or luncheon party.

Into 6 cups of boiling water put 3 packages of Lipton's chicken noodle soup, 2 cups of wild rice and 1 small bunch of celery, chopped, including the leaves.

Boil for 5 minutes, then remove from fire and add first mixture and 1½ cups of blanched, slivered almonds.

Put all into a buttered casserole and bake 1 hour in a 370 degree oven, covered, removing the lid for the last 20 minutes.

Johannes' celery seed dressing, which she serves with the molded fruit salad along with mayonnaise combined with sour cream and fresh, seedless grapes, is not only the gourmet's delight but the cook's friend, since it can be stored in the refrigerator and the flavor improves with time. We neglected to mention that the wild rice casserole also makes no complaints if its serving time is somewhat delayed.

CELERY SEED DRESSING

Combine: ½ cup honey, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup vinegar, 1 cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon celery seed and 1 teaspoon grated onion.

Store in refrigerator until needed.

The Young People

WEATHER

Station Built By Students

Students of the sixth grade of the Rancho Santa Fe elementary school have just completed a project of which they are justly proud.

It is a weather station. Not just the little building to house the instruments, but the instruments themselves were made by these enterprising students — and, we hasten to add, with the help of their teacher, Mrs. Ellen Ross and Howard Knopp, mobile shop consultant.

The small white, box-like building stands about four feet high, with an opening on one side. The legs of the station are to be cemented to the ground on the hill next to the playground fence.

Girls, as well as boys, have helped with the building and the instruments, and we hear that many schools have weather stations but that the Ranch kiddies are the only ones who have undertaken to construct the instruments.

As one young boy related, there is a rain gauge, which records the amount of rainfall during a year; an anemometer to show the speed of wind and a wind vane to show the direction.

Also, there is a pycrometer to record the amount of moisture in the air and a maximum and minimum thermometer, and a thermometer that just records the present temperature.

According to Lambert Baker, principal of the school, the station will not only be used as part of the science program from now on, but it also is an official weather station for the Ranch area.

Mr. Baker stated that during the construction of the project, many facets of the curriculum came into play; reading, speech, a considerable amount of mathematics, research, art and geography, and that learning acquired in this way is likely to be more permanent in nature, than if just learned by rote.

'VIC MATURE' TEAM - Coached by John Goodrich and managed by Vince Meyer, members of the team are, not in order, Steve Tolson, George Ravenscroft, Pete Dutton, Ricky Randol, Billy Dewey, Mark Goodrich, John Brooke, Ken Burland, Greg Graff, Gregg Meyer, Ralph Griffin, Tony Meyer, Richard Herbert.

SPECIAL MEETING

Harmonious Development Of Property Advocated

Development of property immediately to the west of Rancho Santa Fe in harmony with that community's "almost unique" character was advocated by spokesmen for the Rancho Santa Fe association at a special meeting of the Santa Fe Irrigation district board, called for the specific purpose of determining area sentiment as to the deed restrictions to be imposed in connection with the sale of some 700 acres between Rancho and Solana Beach.

"We would like to see no lowering of standards near Rancho Santa Fe," said David B. Dewey, one of the association delegates, and similar sentiments were expressed by the other, Capt. B. F. Jenkins.

Appraisers who had set tentative prices on the land to be offered at auction this summer had also suggested types of land use and gradation in sizes of tracts; in general, large building sites near Rancho Santa Fe, smaller ones farther west.

Mr. Dewey, interviewed later, said the general intent of the appraisers' recommendations was acceptable, but he objected to the fact that no consideration had been given to the natural divisions between such zones based upon terrain and existing roads.

President Ray Badger of the appraisers' proposals as to homesite area and pointed out that the board had called this meeting in the hope that its action on deed restrictions might be responsive to prevailing sentiment in various parts of the district that would be affected.

It was pointed out that in some of the territory proposed for half-acre homesites, present zoning would permit sites no smaller than two acres — but that zoning could be changed, whereas deed restrictions would be more binding.

The SFID board took note of several individual letters and a considerable sheaf of identical letters advocating maintenance of high standards throughout the area soon to be up for sale.

Frank J. Gilloon, speaking in support of a similar policy, informally renewed his earlier offer to purchase the entire tract under a non-profit arrangement. The offer, involving creation of a trust fund to provide scholarships out of a portion of the profits, was presented more specifically at the board's regular meeting Monday.

Spokesmen for various viewpoints, which all were aimed at harmonious development of the entire area included David Morris of Montecillo, E. O. Rinehart of Solana Beach, Don Royer whose particular interest was the area around the Solana Beach Community church, Carl Tascher of the Solana Beach Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. H. L. Henrie of the Solana Beach Women's Civic club.

Village Church Announces Date For Gift Mart

The new Village Church will be the setting for the holiday Gift Mart planned Nov. 12 by the Women's Council of the church.

Mrs. Van A. Goodrich, chairman for the mart, assisted by Mrs. Alex De Bakcsy, announces that among the gift items for sale there will be hand-decorated cashmere sweaters, holiday decor and arrangements, paintings, both water colors and oils, and aprons. There will be a food bar and tea will be served.

The two chairmen recently entertained members of their committee at a luncheon in the De Bakcsy home.

Committee members include Mmes. C. K. Whittaker, R. J. Hughes, Francis J. Hoyne, Alfred Gregory, H. W. Cook, A. W. Buck, John Goodwin, R. H. Gordon, Chester L. Tolson, La Motte T. Cohu, Elliott C. McIntire and Harry E. Wenz.

President Badger said the board had in mind most of the policies suggested in the identical letters. There was special mention and commendation of a letter from Dr. Albert E. J. (continued on page 15)

Many Traders Shop Bargains Have Interesting Histories

By Betsy Bargain

Did you ever wander into the Traders Shop and just browse among the many treasures to be found there? Well, I did the other day and I just can't resist telling you about not only the bargains I found but interesting bits of history that go with some of the items.

In the window was a carved oak dining room table, its matching chairs upholstered in blue needle-point, embroidered by the former owner. On the table was a handsome blue and white English turkey platter with a large soup tureen. Dessert and bread and butter plates in very old Meissen also are there for the blue and white collectors.

The beautiful old melodian in the other window is said to be about 140 years old and when I picked out a few stumbling notes I found the tone lovely and bell-like. A pair of pink lusters adorned the melodian, placed on either side of an unusual gold French clock.

Enough to make a confirmed modern fan toss all one's slick appurtenances aside is the old French cabinet containing five shelves of age-lovely Dresden, Wedgwood and Meissen; the collection of old pewter, pitchers, bowls and plates, many dating back to the 1700's; an oriental rug in rich blues and reds (and reasonably priced too).

One of the trays in the jewelry case contained a silver cross from 18th century Italy, which originally belonged to the late Lady Louise Ashbureton, who lived in Malchet County, Surrey, England. It is a beautiful relief ornamentation in beaten gold and is priced for one-third of its original cost.

The jewelry case kept me entranced some minutes while I admired the mixture of antique and modern.

Do you like copper and brass? I drooled over the shop's display of tea kettles, pitchers, platters and bowls, some battered attractively, some not. A very valuable dry sink did not go unnoticed by me, very old

New Market Features Local Fruit, Produce

Escondidans are welcoming a new market in the area, the Farmhouse Market, located at 1027 Valley Blvd.

The specialty of this market, which is owned and operated by Miss Pauline M. Rooke, is that it will specialize in foods grown on local farms, free from chemical preservatives and acids that often are sprayed on fruits and vegetables.

Miss Rooke, who is aided in running the store by her sister, Alfreda Rooke, had a similar store in San Diego, established because of requests from physicians and dentists for nutritional and pure food, according to the proprietress.

Merchandise includes raw grain, wheat, barley, nuts, vegetables, dairy products, home made bakery products and other produce.

Ranch Property Sold at Auction For High Sums

There was a "bull market" for Rancho Santa Fe property at the auction conducted by directors of the Santa Fe Irrigation district and one tract of 59 acres, overlooking the golf course, sold for $132,000, almost twice the minimum of $74,000 set by the board.

Four parcels amounting to 112 acres sold for $258,925 in comparison to the $196,900 appraisal.

Purchaser of the 59 acres was Eugene Fletcher of Del Mar. The high sealed bid, prior to oral bidding, was $100,480.

Alfred Gregory bought 11 acres for $25,759, Walter Wencke bought 24 acres for $54,011 and Richard Blackledge bought 18 acres for $47,155.

Frank Gilloon a property owner in the district, protested the sale on the grounds that the board did not advertise the property widely enough and in its advertising, did not inform real estate brokers of the commission arrangements. He charged there had been "an effort to hide the sale except from local agents."

'Fashion Safari' Planned At San Diego Zoo

The designer who has created award-winning costumes for the Broadway stage, Hollywood films and the circus will turn his talents June 8 to the San Diego Zoo.

Marston's department store has commissioned Miles White to create 25 original costumes for the "world's most fashionable zoo."

His creations were inspired by the Zoo's spectacular array of plants and animals. The public is invited to this "fashion safari." Visitors will ride zoo tour buses between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. June 8 to 11. Proceeds will go to the Children's Hospital Expansion fund.

Tickets are on advance sale at Marston's where a special display with live, wild animals on each floor is being held to promote the zoo fashion show.

Garden Hints

1. Keep a sharp eye to watering hanging baskets. With nothing between the roots and the drying effect of air and sun but the container, these can take water every day.

2. Stake and tie delphinium plants. Nothing detracts from these beauties faster than broken stalks and drooping flower spikes.

3. Thin seedling vegetables. Check the recommendations on the seed packets and follow them.

4. Potted herbs, already started, are available in nurseries. They should be shifted to larger pots as they increase in size.

5. Keep planting dahlias for succession of bloom. The same goes for gladioli which can be set out now for bloom in late summer.

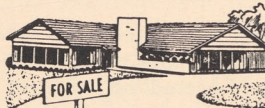

Do You Know

That the golf course clubhouse is open until 7 p.m., daily, except Monday and Thursday and that hot food is served until that time? This policy is in keeping with daylight saving time and will continue in effect until Oct. 1.

The regular menu includes items suitable for light suppers and, if the volume warrants, additional items will be added.

Groups of 6, 8 or 10 people may call for special dinners, such as steaks, chops, fried chicken, et cetera. It is advisable to make reservations as far in advance as possible.

Difficult Maxim
 Gunther, Tanguy's German pianist friend who is eventually taken to the incinerator, gives him a maxim: "Leave the hate to those who are too weak to love." This the boy remembers.

He is indeed a "child of our time." For this reason adolescents should read him; adults too. As all children of Europe will do, the real or potential victims of adult-declared war, at the conclusion he turns and asks us: "What is to become of Tanguy now?"

Garden Club Activities For Past Year Reported

boxes, containing Bougainvillea Afterglow, are planned against the wall opposite the grocery; the park area or turnaround opposite the new church is to have a planting strip of about 15 or 20 feet in depth; and only the county's consent is awaited to proceed with grading and planting of the raw, hazardous Escondido cut.

Mrs. Weddell spoke of the change in the fire station appearance from a strictly utilitarian structure to what is now a most attractive credit to Rancho Santa Fe.

Other beautification projects included a Podocarpus tree planted at the fire station by the Boy Scouts in recognition of Arbor day; the cleanup campaign, the weekend of April 18, greatly aided by the sixth graders, the Explorer Scouts, school principal Lambert Baker, and fire chief, Peter Fox; planting around power poles, and re-planting of trees where needed.

Mrs. Thorne also announced that she had sent a night letter to Senator Hugo Fisher, at the State Capitol building, urging him to support Senate Bill No. 75, for the prevention and regulation of the erection of signs along California's scenic roads.

The letter was sent in the name of the Garden Club, which represents 600 people, said Mrs. Thorne, and asked others interested in this to do likewise.

An interesting revelation concerning the appraisers' recommendations involved designation of the area adjacent to the Sky-line drive separation from the future freeway, as the best site for an extensive shopping center.

and beautiful with shelves above and below. I hate to tell you, but these sinks are so difficult to find now.

Mrs. Jack E. Lee, the volunteer worker tending the shop, (it is entirely managed and staffed by volunteers) told me of some things I did not see (they are stored in a garage), like a small four-burner Westinghouse stove, that would be so right for an apartment or guest house, and only $40.00; two early American beds from the famous Osuna ranch of polished Dutch maple, 150 years old and in very good condition.

I could have stayed hours longer, but — I'm going again soon and probably I'll be just as enthusiastic so that you will have to listen to my raves again.

As I was leaving, I glanced at the wall and there, like meeting a friend (since he is one), were two stunning circus water colors by Millard Sheets, the Claremont artist of international fame. See what I mean?
