The world's water sources are rapidly becoming an endangered resource. Contamination of surface and groundwater by natural and man-made pollutants has made water unsafe to drink in virtually every country of the world.

The worldwide concern for pure drinking water has grown to such an extent that bottled water sales have skyrocketed. Although bottled water can be an improvement, it is not the answer. Much of it comes from the same groundwater sources that supply municipal systems.

Regal Purewater System produces water that tastes better and is better for you than systems costing nearly three times as much. This system purifies a gallon of water for under a dime—more economical and convenient than bottled water, too.

Full-color packaging helps build impressive, high-impact displays that make a dramatic difference at the checkout.
