EDITOR'S FOREWORD

IN PLACING this book before the Faculty and students of The East Stroudsburg State Normal School, we, the Editorial Staff, have only one object in view, that of binding the ties of friendship and remembrance more strongly and of presenting something to The Class which will become more valuable and significant as the years pass by.

We realize that it may not be a masterpiece of thought or expression, but we hope that it will be an interesting and representative review of our life here and, if it answers that purpose, we will be more than justified in the trouble and time which we have expended in its publication.

If this little book becomes the medium by which we may recall those things in the life of Normal which we desire to remember, the pleasures and the trials, our successes and failures, and all which helped to make up our life here, we will be satisfied with our achievement.

If this book will in the future bring back to our hearts the deep love which we have felt for our School—the institution which has launched us on the Stormy Sea of Life—We, the Editors of this Annual will consider it something worth while done in our lives at Normal.

VALE

WE ABOUT to part from thee, salute thee kindly,
While sorrow weaves its mystic spell.
Tho the life before us we see but blindly,
We, the passers by, hail thee, to bid farewell,

But our soaring hearts expand in pleasure,
As we see thy spirit kindle bright;
And again we view thy bounteous treasures,
The old, dim joys, the ghosts of gone delight.

We revive again the chances splendid,
All the struggles and all the gains;
With the sense of time and work unended,
'Mid all our hopes and toils and pains.

We have striven with joy and the taste of rapture
For the prize we have lost or the palm we have won?
We've taken defeat with smile and laughter,
Nor boastful in triumph or work well done.

We have lived and worked, not ever rueing,
That the road was rugged in our toiling race;
Now we see thy true self—our work, thy doing,
Thy high stakes, our glory or disgrace.

Hail; Farewell; Nor blame us if a sadness
O'ercomes us the while we gaze,
Longingly through tears, upon that gladness
That was ours in the dim, byegone days.

Not one blessing nor glad hope would we dispute thee,
Friend of days when joy and life went hand-in-hand.
We about to part with thee, again salute thee,
We, the apostles, bowed, before our Mother stand,
Farewell.

ELEANOR C. ANZMAN—"A'noxie".

Shakespearean Literary Society, Glee Club, President Girls' Athletic Association

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

Here is a toast to the memorable day when Eleanor C. wended her way up the Normal campus, for she has recorded many a laugh and joke, but never a sigh, on the annals of the school.

Too much praise cannot be given this noted brown-eyed damsel who possesses the rarest aesthetic and comedian talent that we have ever witnessed.

And as regards her being a general favorite just review her school career. Eleanor has served as President of the Shakespearean Literary Society, President of Athletic Association, member of Birch Bark and also "Mountaineer" staff and displayed her athletic skill as side center on Varsity Basketball Team.

Eleanor's ambition is to go on the stage, but we predict a brilliant future perhaps in Stroudsburg.

Her qualities like the joy that she affords life are unbounded.

In short we hail Eleanor as being "First in class roll, first in gaiety and first in the hearts of her classmates."

MARJORIE BAGLEY—"Marge."

Vice-President and Secretary of Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, "Pandora."

"Wake me for Breakfast".

In the fall of the year of 1919 there came to us from Carbondale, a bashful little miss. But as time passed she soon forgot her bashful ways. Although never in time for classes she was very studious and showed her results in all her work.

She had a wonderful disposition and her voice was charming for one to hear. It was never heard only in defense of Carl.

Her favorite pastime was walking, but not alone. She was also an accomplished dancer but nothing held her attention like a good game of basketball or baseball. Reasons for everything but we will not delve too much into her private affairs.

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania says: "Teach two years," and we have not heard Marge planning any additions. Whatever she attempts will undoubtedly be a success because she is naturally gifted.

Camilla C. Barrett—"Millie".

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Class Basketball Team, Blue Pencil Club, Glee Club.

"Well God save Ireland."

Despite Millie's meek and gentle appearance, she has a great force. This was often displayed by her position as forward on the Senior basketball team.

She is a very studious girl with a sunny disposition, who always has her lessons prepared. We are sure that no one could forget Millie as she was connected with almost everything in dear old E. S. N. S., and always answered "here" when eats were being served.

She has now captivated a young student and we predict few single years for her.

A splice of Irish wit has this Plymouth lassie and we know she will be a very successful teacher. Her one ambition is to have a string of degrees annexed to her name.

C stands for Camilla
And also for candy,
At studies and athletics
She sure is a dandy.

Margaret Barteau—"Peggy".

"Quit your kiddin'."

All good things come in small packages; if sometimes we have doubted this statement, we are sure of it now. For Peggy is very small, one of the smallest among us, but all that smallness is good. Therefore, she is of course a Day Student.

She comes from Portland, traveling back and forth daily on the D., L. & W. R. R. She has been with us the last two years, before which she graduated from the Portland High School.

Peggy's great ambition is to become an efficient school teacher, and as Peggy is a very industrious girl, we know that she will become one in the near future.

Peggy is a very jolly girl and she is some tease, she has never believed in the proverb, "Silence is golden." She talks and talks, but always with a sweet, innocent chattiness which never leaves an unsatisfactory impression.

There are but two times when she stops talking and that is when she sleeps. Her motto is:

"Early to bed and late to rise,
Makes a girl healthy, wealthy and wise."

After all it isn't size, however, that counts with Peg in her ability to make friends, but her good natured smiles and her delight in making everybody happy.

LEILA BARTHOLOMEW—"Plaza."

"Who's gonna go to Knapps."

Lelia is the day student movie girl, who is ever ready to skip class and attend the movies. She is the anchor on the daily journey from Portland to East Stroudsburg, and never fails to hold all troubles under cover when the milk is late. She joined us in the Junior year after leaving Portland High School with honors.

When the bobbed hair craze struck Normal, it struck Lelia very strong, but for some unknown reason she recovered from it suddenly. We wonder why?

She is the first one to come out with the cry, "Who's gonna go to Knapp's?" and then her heart is filled with joy when she sees chocolate pie and ice cream.

Lelia is kind, earnest and true, but the love of fun and reading movie magazines, to keep posted on what is the latest in movies, overpowers all school work.

We don't predict a lengthy teaching career for Lelia, for who can imagine her long content with charming her pupils when handsome men inhabit the world.

RALPH E. BARTHOLOMEW—"Asher."

Varsity Baseball '20, Varsity Basketball '21, Orchestra, Cast of "Captain of Plymouth," "Suppressed Desires" and "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments," Faculty Commencement Speaker, President of the Clio Society.

In the versatile personage of Ralph Bartholomew one finds much that is original, distinctive and commendable. From his infant inception in the lowest grade of the old Model School to the present time, we have seen him making his way indefatigably and steadily upward, animating all with an infectious spirit, and at last standing at a new threshold robed in the dignity of realized aspirations.

If one versed in the interplay of those forces and traits which constitute personality were to attempt a diagnosis of Ralph's planetary make-up, he would undoubtedly shake his intellectual head dubiously and admit that while everything was present, their arrangement was so unfathomable and cabalistic as to confound even the profundity of his own professional erudition. Yet we can say that in him is strength of character, sound intelligence, logical practicality, subtle humor and undeviating loyalty has made the school his debtor; on the field and the stage, in the gymnasium and orchestra, in the class room or lonely lucubration Ralph has contributed his unostentatious share.

Died December 10, 1923
(21 years)

GERTRUDE R. BEAM—"Gertie."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Mountaineer Staff, Girl's Athletic Association.

"To live with them is far less sweet, than to remember thee

Gertie came to the Normal School from the domain of Old Forge two years ago and according to her narratives Old Forge must be the place next to Paradise.

She possesses a pleasing disposition and her smiling countenance has won not only the love and respect of her own classmates, but also that of many of her underclassmates. She is a person of a very jolly nature and is always on the job when there is a good time in store.

As a Training School teacher, she has shown marked ability.

Gertie's one object is to arise early in the morning and awaken her neighbors. As a result she is always bright and cheerful and performs her duties without grumbling. But she is careful in all her studying not to mar the books or crack them by asidious use.

We are sorry to say that we cannot prognosticate a long teaching career for Gertie, judging from her numerous admirers and the amount of billet doux received.

KATHRYN S. BEATTY—"Kitty."

Athletic Association, Glee Club, Shakespearean Society.

"That's my own lookout."

Now Kitty is what we call an all round good sport. She likes a good time in a right good way, for example just think over the fun she has had in the library and going out with Joe.

We never hear "Kitty" complaining when some one accidentally on purpose puts out the lights and we can't study because she studies by the light of her pretty eyes.

Let me explain that "Kitty" is one of our many beauties in the Senior Class and is envied by a good many girls because she knows how to slick down stray locks of hair, but for all of that as a teacher in the training school she has shown marked ability.

She has a fine sense of humor and a wonderful disposition which together will make her path in life somewhat smoother.

BLANCHE E. BECK—"Trixie."

Glee Club, Orchestra, Y. W. C. A., Athletic Association.

"Oh you."

Two years ago who entered our midst from the town of Mt. Bethel, as a Jolly Junior, but Blanche. Her kind disposition and good will soon won the friendship of many throughout the school.

Blanche surely believes in that old saying, "There is no place like home," for she never misses her week end trips to her beloved town. Every Saturday morning you can see her packing her suitcase and making one "grand rush" for the station. Never again do we see her until Monday morning when it's time for work.

One of her favorite studies is Algebra. We often wonder what the class would be if it weren't for Blanche, for every night during study hour, all you can hear is, "Blanche, can you do the Algebra problems?"

She is a great lover of music and has shown her ability as accompanist to our school orchestra. A brilliant career is promised her, not only as a school teacher but as a pianist of renown.

MARY BARBARA BOYLE—"Boots."

"Don't cha care."

"Boots" come from the famous town of Ashley and as soon as she stepped into the town of East Stroudsburg she made many acquaintances, which later developed into firm friendship. Mary's specialties are dancing and athletics. This can be readily proven by the fact that she was a star player in the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team. It was through her efforts that the girls were victorious in mot games. As for dancing she has the reputation of being one of the best dancers in the school. "Boots" specialized in Group I and has been a very successful teacher in the Training School. All the children love her and never seem to forget her this is noticed by most people for little voices pipe up "Hello, Miss Boyle" from all parts of the town when Miss Boyle goes walking.

Mary has a predeliction to writing long and no doubt interesting letters to Paul at Lehigh, but this is a common failing and there is no need for criticisms from us because of it. In all of her undertakings she has been ever successful and we, her classmates, sincerely hope that her success will continue in after life.

RUTH MAE BURG—"Ruth."

Secretary of Minisink Society, Girls' Cheer-leader, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Asociation, Dramatic Club.

"Holy Jamoca."

Although Ruth arrived a semester later than her classmates, she lost no time in finding her place among us. Since then she has been active in every phase of Normal life.

As a cheer-leader, well, we all liked her green and white costume. That, plus her personality, which the State Board commented upon, aroused even the slowest of us to do our bit in supporting our athletes.

Ruth is an ardent admirer of Kipling. Her favorite poem is "The Thousandth Man." We have almost decided that she has found him, but whether among past or present students is the question.

Ruth has one fault, which is lack of appreciation of her blessings. This was shown when she ruthlessly bobbed her hair. She sometimes felt regretful, but since a fortune teller advised her to follow her impulses, she feels justified.

As a public speaker, Ruth won her fame by persuading the High School students of the Lehigh Valley that East Stroudsburg is the only Normal school.

Ruth's most prominent characteristic is determination, for,

"If she will, she will; and you may depend on't;
If she won't, she won't, and that's the end of it."

MARGUERITE MARY BURKE—"Rita."

Shakespearean Literary Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Let's go down town, Heg."

"Rita," a charming little lass from Mayfield, has won the hearts of all of her fellow students and class mates by her sunny disposition.

"Rita" is especially fond of gymnastics and one need never be surprised to see her in a gym suit, either jumping over hurdles or throwing javelins. She is also very fond of sports and never misses a game whether it is baseball, basketball or football.

Wherever you find amusement of any sort you are sure to see Rita enjoying it with the rest of her gang.

"Rita's" favorite saying will lead you to think that there is some attraction down town. Well, indeed there is for if you have ever walked up Ridgeway street betwen the hour of 4 and 6 you would be certain to see Rita accompanied by Chauncey slowly sauntering up the hill.

Although Chauncey and Rita are good pals, we sometimes fear there is someone back home, for does she not receive two and three letters a week from "Red."

However, Rita's intentions are good for she expects to teach at least two years before setting out on the sea of matrimony.

MARY B. CALLAHAN—"Mollie."

Shakspearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Cast of "Conflict of Pandora."

"Are we going down town?"

"Stop! Look! Listen! Here comes Mollie as merry as the day is long." In the fall of '19 this little damsel entered Normal after graduating from Dickson City High School.

She is one of the chief assets of Normal's social circles and is well known as a shining star at all the social functions. She is always on hand for "feasts" and ready to have a good time.

Her chief interests while in our midst were teaching in the Training School where she was loved by all the children because of her lovable disposition.

"Mollie" has made numberless good friends while here and has endeared herself in all our hearts by her friendliness, and interest in all our school activities.

CATHERINE C. CASEY—"Kitty."

Financial Secretary Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Association, Mountaineer Staff.

"Holy doughnut."

This maiden is not so quiet as she appears for after you have been in her presence for a time you will learn the capacity of mischief that lies back of her placid countenance.

She takes a great delight in all kinds of sports, especially in baseball. When she stands at the base to bat the echo resounds from hill to hill, "Casey's at the bat."

Catherine entered our midst as a Junior from the town of Olyphant and during her two years at Normal has done all in her power to uphold the honor and dignity of her home town. Through our intimacy with Catherine we found that Normal without "Kitty" would lose some of its charm. Catherine is a model student and has proved herself quite a star in Sociology.

While a student here she has formed many staunch friendships that we can hardly think of as ever being broken.

Catherine often entertained her classmates by her sweet voice especially in Society on Saturday evenings.

Beatrice R. Clarke—"Bea."

Shakespearean Society, Recording Secretary, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Did I get a letter from home."

Beatrice, better known to her many friends at Normal as "Bea" came to us from the little town of Duryea in the fall of 1919, a sweet innocent miss who never had much to say, but her one quality for which everyone loved her was her frank and open attitude toward all. Her winning ways won for her many friends, not only in her class but in other walks of life. Beatrice like all true Normalites has always shown her interest at all it's social and athletic functions, particularly the monthly dances and she was rarely unaccompanied as everyone knows. Beatrice has always been a good pal and a true friend to all of her school mates.

It is perhaps a little premature to talk about the future of this dignified miss but we feel confident that whatever Bea undertakes in the future, she will be successful at. From our point of view and knowledge we think that she will live up to the letter of the law and teach the required period of time according to the Pennsylvania Laws and then —who knows—but we can surmise, and we unanimously join in wishing her a happy, and successful career in her chosen life work, whatever it may be.

Athol W. Cliff—"Athol."

President, Minisink Society, Vice-President "Blue Pencil;" in cast of "Captain of Plymouth" and "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments;" Dramatic Club 1921.

Everyone is acquainted with Athol. While he is not the Postmaster General of the United States, he is the faithful letter carrier of our love letters, and the letters which occasionally contain money and more often don't.

Athol is an accomplished student, and has always held his own in the various contentions of the class room. He is interested in psychoolgy, and intends to specialize in education. We predict that Athol will be heard from shortly, in connection with a Ph. D.

AGNES COBB—"Cobbie."

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Cast of "Conflict of Pandora."

"Is she not more than painting can express,
Or youthful poets fancy when they love?"

Agnes entered our midst from the town of Mayfield and during her two years at Normal has done all in her power to uphold the dignity of her home town. "Cobbie," as she is called, has been one of our wittiest and happiest classmates. During her Junior year she was often complimented on her low and sweet voice. Her motto being "A lady never raises her voice." Every Friday evening "Cobbie" can be seen making her way to the station to buy a ticket for Mayfield to spend the week end with her one devoted friend. Her chief delight was displaying her talent in dancing in the social room.

This little maid has but one worry and that is "When will Bill send me a letter." The number of her friends may be shown by the amount of mail she receives every day, especially from Archbald. Morning, noon and night she can be heard warbling on the hall. She has a melodious voice and she can be distinctly heard above all others. Her chief aim in life is to teach school in Mayfield for several years then to extend her education by going to a notable college and then who knows what?

ANNA G. CONWAY—"Tony."

Shakspearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Draamtic Club.

"Has any one seen my sweetheart."

Anna came to the castle on the hill two years ago and since that time has endeared herself to all her friends who number all at Normal, for Anna could never make an enemy. One's first impression of "Tony" is that of a bashful little girl, but appearances are often deceiving and this applies to Anna. Tony's fortune lies in her good nature and smile which captivates every one. Her favorite pastimes are dancing and acquiring pedagogical wisdom and "Tony" does either with equal facility.

We hope Tony will always spread cheer and pleasure as she has certainly done during her stay at Normal.

HELEN COSGROVE—"Helen."

Shakespearean Society, Vice President of Shakespearean Society, Financial Secretary of Shakespearean Society, Treasurer of Athletic Association, Glee Club, Cast of Characters in "Captain of Plymouth."

"Well believe me."

Helen came to this institution of learning from the kingdom of Old Forge, and according to Helen's description of Old Forge, it must be a little town situated on this side of heaven. Helen came to us a little girl with her hair down and remained so during her Junior year. She was very studious and always willing to lend an assisting hand to any one in need. She was rather reserved and sedate in her demeanor, and was of a more serious turn of mind than is usual among girls. During her brief period at the Normal she won the friendship of all. Helen was always interested in athletics, and she was chosen treasurer of the Athletic Association, which office she held honorably.

Helen seems to be much interested in primary teaching and we expect to hear of her specializing a little further along these lines. Success in the world Helen, is the valedictory word of your schoolmates.

CARL CUNNINGHAM—"Carl."

President Shakespearean Society, Executive Committee Normal Club, Varsity Football and Baseball '20 and '21, Assistant Manager Baseball '20, Captain Baseball '21, Assistant Manager Football '20, Manager Football '21, Mantle Orator '20 and '21, Business Manager "Mountaineer."

This sturdy and ambitious young man hails from the pretty little city of Mayfield, but Carl is not to blame for that. We are lucky to have him Carl is one of those rare persons whom it is a great privilege to meet. He is a mighty good athlete and also a fine scholar, coupled with these traits is a strong personality and a character of the best. That is J. C. C. and a finer pal or better gentleman never came to Normal. He has proven his reliability not only on the athletic field but in class and society.

His aim in life is to become a lawyer and the world will be improved by his advent into the realms of Blackstone. May his ideals help to temper Justice. During the recent war Carl served in the Army at Camp Headquarters, Camp Greene, N. C., as a Sergeant Major. Carl has always been particularly interested in the life of Normal and there is perhaps a very good reason for this interest in the fact that a certain blue-eyed lassie named Marjorie has participated in all our social activities.

LOUISE M. CUNNINGHAM—"Dolly."

Recording Secretary of the Shakespearean Society, Member of the Mountaineer Staff, Glee Club, Athletic Association, Cast of "Conflict of Pandora."

"Nan and I aren't very good looking, but we have wonderful dispositions

Fortune smiled on the class of '21 when Dolly was enrolled as a member. Dolly has a loveable disposition which resulted in the making of a great many friends.

Her smiling countenance displaying one dimple trying to outdo the other, is indeed an inspiration to the many artists of the Normal. Dolly's features are built along the Grecian outline, and her sparkling blue eyes are always filled with mischief and mirth.

As a dancer and entertainer, Dolly cannot be surpassed and has driven the blues away from many a homesick girl with her funny jokes and caprices.

As a student Dolly ranks as one of the highest and does her work in such a very conscientious manner that she is highly praised by all her teachers. It is to be expected that she will produce many geniuses very early in her teaching career.

Dolly is an ardent student in Geography but takes most interest in "Cliffs" and intends to take up her life work studying a certain "Cliff" if everything goes well.

LUCY P. CURRAN—

Financial Secretary Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Mountaineer Staff.

"Well—you know."

In the fall of the school term 1919 a tall, slim girl came strolling up the campus and upon inquiry we learned that it was none other than Lucy P. Curran, a beautiful unobtrusive, black haired and brown-eyed maiden from the little city of Olyphant of whom we are very proud today.

Her kindness and sincerity has won for her the love and respect of all in the institution.

Lucy is a girl who associates not only with a select few, but regards all with the same esteem.

Lucy can be consulted at any time for advice and is always willing to do so most eagerly.

Although Lucy is intensely interested in teaching we cannot predict a long teaching career for her as we think fate has decreed something more interesting.

CLAUDE CYPHERS—"Cyphers."

Sturdy son of Monroe county. Born near Shawnee-on-Delaware. Claude attended the Mt. Nebo school until the seventh grade. He completed his grammar school at the Custard Church school near Bartonsville. He graduated from Hamilton Township High School in 1919 and entered E. S. N. S. that fall.

During his two years at Normal he has exhibited a greater variety of gasoline conveyances than any other student attending Normal. Bartonsville is five miles west of Stroudsburg, and located in a farming region. Claude conceived the idea of making his daily trips to Stroudsburg pay, so he brings along all the milk the neighboring farmers can spare and delivers it to the Stroudsburg creamery.

Claude is not what you may call a ladies man. Oh, no! He is not a woman hater either. He is willing to go as far as they do but prefers to admire them at a distance.

His favorite study at Normal has been psychology and it was after an inspection of Starches text on Educational Psychology that he was heard to make the above expression.

DAVID DAVIDSON, JR.,—"David."

"He knew what's what, and that's as high
As metaphysic wit can fly."

David's favorite work is writing. His favorite pastime, philosophy. He is especially interested in literature, and hopes to accomplish something in the fields of poetry, short story, novel, drama, essay and literary criticism. His aim is to become a successful author.

DOROTHY M. DAVIS—"Dot."

Minisink Society, Athletic Association.

"I don't know."

From the town of Nanticoke comes this demure little miss. Since Dot. becomes acquainted very easily it was not long before she had made a host of friends and had settled down to enjoy the charms of Normal life.

Daily, after classes are over, you could see Dot journeying to town. Of the many stores which she might visit there is always one that she does, namely the ice cream store. Even on Sunday afternoon she manages somehow to get her favorite delicacy. About four or seven o'clock one could see her making hr way to the kitchen by way of the back stairs.

During her sojourn at Normal, Dot's pleasing disposition and charming personality has won for her many friends. Our wish for her future is that she will make as great a success in the school of life as she has made while here.

MARTHA C. DOMZALSKI—"Marth."

Shakepearean Society, Athletic Association.

"Oh, you don't mean it!"

Unless one has known Martha personally, it is impossible to judge her true merit. She has a sunny and cheerful disposition and is well liked by all her classmates. The fact that she comes from Nanticoke is sufficient evidence.

Martha is somewhat shy and thus, after coming to Normal, it took some time before she became acquainted with all.

Judging by her actions since she has been with us we would say her chief pastime consists in attending the movies. However, her work is not neglected through this, because it is not until classes are over that Martha goes in search of amusement.

We have never heard her say very definitely what her plans for the future are, but since she takes such a great interest in arithmetic and literature we would not be surprised if she pursued either of these subjects until she receives a degree.

Whatever her work after school days are over proves to be, we hope that she will be able to cope with very obstacle and come out victorious in the end.

Margaret E. Dowling—Day Student.

President of Blue Pencil Society.

"Isn't he marvelous?"

Margaret is one of those fortunate girls who lives in the home town of our Alma Mater. She is however, not the only one who appreciates her good home, for she is always willing to share it with her Normal friends, and friend—

Margaret is the worthy president of the Blue Pencil Society, which proves her fondness for good literature and famous men. She is a star in mathematics.

Peggy has many other good qualities. A cheerful disposition and just full of fun. Her initials you know may be translated, "Merry Every Day."

Music and good music at that holds her close attention.

Someone whispered that Margaret was going to College to take a teachers' course. Good luck to her.

Kathleen F. Elward.

Shakespearean Literary Society, Glee Club, Editorial Staff Birch Bark, Mountaineer Staff, Senior Class Team, Secretary Girls' A. A.

Kathleen comes from the famous town of Plains, ably represented in this year's graduating class.

She assists in the management of the Girls' Athletic Association whose secretary she is; and, as usual in all her undertakings, it is done well.

Her merry voice is often heard on the hall and she sings mostly classical verses, thinking it beneath her dignity to sing the popular "jazz." She is a girl upon whom one may rely in need and it would be quite impossible to enumerate all of her good qualities.

She helped quite a bit in winning the trophy cup from the Juniors, having won the numerals in our class basketball team.

She entered E. S. N. S. in '19 after graduating from St. Mary's High School, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and has won many friends in her two years at Normal, not the least of whom is—well, our Vice President.

We all wish her the best of success in her college life at Trinity, which she expects to enter in September, and of course she will continue her good scholastic record of E. S. N. Here's to the future Kathleen F. Elward, A. B., Ph. D., etc.

GEORGE F. ENGLEHARDT.

"What did you do in French Class?"

Our day student friend George hails from the city of East Stroudsburg. He is one of the little band that have spent their whole school life within our Normal walls. After graduating from the Model School he entered Normal school proper and is now one of our illustrious seniors.

George was a star (?) in French last year. Ask any of the Day Students who took it with him. George and his car, the Flivver, are inseparable. It is against Englehardt's code of morals to walk when he can ride. It is George's aim to become water boy to the teams, so that he may call himself an athlete.

But seriously speaking, George's big aim is to become an electrical engineer. So in days to come we hope to see George's name become famous in his chosen line.

REBECCA EVANS—"Beck."

Minisink Society, Athletic Association, Class Book Staff, Girls' Glee Club.

"The heroines are not all six feet tall,
Large souls may dwell in bodies small."

"Oh dear; so many lesson plans!"

Having completed the course offered by the Nanticoke High School, "Beck" entered our midst as a jolly Junior that she might in the year 1921 graduate as one of our class. While at Normal she has been very studious and industrious, believing, however, "Arrange your work so that it will never interfere with any of your pleasures."

At class meetings her influence has been felt and she always has exhibited the right kind of spirit in all school matters. Rebecca is also very much interested in politics and at almost any time can be seen standing midst a crowd of students discussing "Women's Rights." It is the most earnest desire of the class of '21 that "Beck" be successful in her efforts to help women maintain their "Rights."

To this same spirit we attribute her enthusiasm in her History of Education, recitations, and appreciate her consideration of the rest of the class. She is one of Dr. Lorne's stand-bys.

We know that the extent of her circle of friends is unlimited by the many epistles she receives daily and we are firm in the belief that she will eventually become poor if she continues her correspondence as has been her custom heretofore. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania says "teach two years." We suspect that after that she is planning to decrease the number of her pupils.

As she leaves E. S. N. the wishes of her host of friends is that she may be as successful as she has been here.

LAURA FEHNEL—"Puss."

Girls' Athletic Association, Y. W. C. A., Minisink Society, Glee Club, Class Basketball Team.

"Ach!"

Laura entered our midst as a jolly Junior from the town of East Bangor. She is always jolly and every one on first hall can recognize her laugh at once. If laughing is the sign of good health, Laura's must be perfect for when she feels like laughing she does so regardless of time or place.

Laura is fond of athletics and showed her skill in basketball by helping to win the championship of E. S. N. for the Seniors.

Laura will certainly be a successful teacher, for she likes children and always has her teaching material well in hand. She also gained the distinction of being an Honor Student in teaching.

At night when it is time for lights to be out you are sure to see Laura strolling down the hall to say good night to her pal Agnes.

For some time Laura has been informing us that she will be an old maid school marm, but we know better on this subject and are thoroughly convinced she will have other plans in the future.

She laughs when she comes,
She laughs when she goes,
But what she is laughing about,
Nobody knows.

ELSIE L. FOX—"Els."

Athletic Association, Glee Club, Secretary Minisink Society.

"Can you imagine that."

When "Els." came to us in the fall of 1919 we were very much surprised to think she was to be one of our classmates. She is so tiny, we thought she was merely a visitor.

However we are very glad that we have her acquaintance, for she has proven herself worthy of everybody's friendship.

Els. also proved to us her exceptional ability in entertaining. She entertained us on several occasions with vocal selections; she also played her part in "Suppressed Desires" remarkably well. We are all happy when we hear that Els. is to take part in the evening's performance.

Els.' favorite pastime is Art and we expect some day to hear of our little Elsie as one of the world's greatest artists. We all wish her success.

RUTH FRABLE—"Frable."

Minisink Society, Clio Society.

Ruth comes from Bethlehem. She is one of those quiet, studious girls, who is always at work. Whenever you wonder where Ruth is, just go to her room and you'll find her reading her school books.

The favorite saying of this studious girl is: "How do you get that way?" That's what we want to know. How does she manage to study so much?

Why do the girls call Ruth by her last name? Possibly Frable and "fair-belle" has some connection. In this case at least, it has.

HELEN M. GARVEY—"Garvey."

Shakespearean Literary Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"And didn't I get any mail again?"

Helen entered our midst as a jolly Junior from the town of Wanamie. She is active and well liked and has often told us of her lofty ambitions.

Helen does not believe in grumbling and does everything with a right good will.

When off duty, Helen spends a great deal of her time in going down town, as her favorite pastime is walking, but she does not like to walk alone.

This little maid delights in visiting Miss Jacobson's class whom she is aiding in building a bungalow.

She always tells us that she will only teach for a few years and then—what? But we can all guess the answer.

LEONA L. GENETTI—"Lee."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association, Captain of Senior Basketball, Girls' Varsity, Mountaineer Staff, Cast of "Captain of Plymouth."

"A sound mind in a sound body."

Leona has proved this to be her motto by her interest in athletics. As a great representative in all athletics she falls in line from Second Hall North. Observing her at a distance one would say that she finds pleasure in study and nothing else but looking back through the record of basketball games you will find her name standing out prominently. In this sport she has not only been a zealous worker in aiding to win the silver cup for the Senior class but also was of assistance on the Varsity.

Baseball is another favorite hobby with her and as pitcher and umpire she cannot very well be surpassed.

You can hear Leona's melodious voice on the hall at any time participating in duets and quartettes. She is a noted musician, her latest instrument being a ukelele.

Her ambition is to get a Ford coupe, to teach two years and then—??? Well, we hope she succeeds in her choice after leaving her Alma Mater.

MARION I. GEUTHER—"Guether."

Y. W. C. A., Minisink Society, Athletic Association.

"Oh no! I never have anything to do."

From the hills and vales of Northern Wayne came this jolly country lass. She readily took her place among us and was an active member of the crew of second hall. She has often broken up the monotony of Normal life and without her Normal would lose some of its charm.

If you should enter her room some evening you would be highly entertained by a comedy being enacted over the cocoa cups by our Marion and her near pal.

But fun-making is only one phase of her character. She is an industrious student and has high ambitions. In Virgil class she stars and in Arithmetic she cannot be beaten. She proved herself a most efficient teacher in her training school work and we have high hopes for her in her journey along life's trail.

CECELIA C. GILLESPIE—"Celia."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association, Birch Bark Staff.

"Positively, absolutely, distinctly."

This dark-haired little miss enlisted as a member of our class of intellectuals in the fall of '19. "Celia" at first impressed us as being a rather haughty and proud miss but we soon found out differently. Celia has an ambition which predominates over all else. Her aim in life is a "career" and perhaps in time to come Alma Gluck and Tetrazinni will gracefully give place to our "Celia" from Normal.

DORA GOLDBERG.

Member of Minisink, Girls' Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Our knocking has awakened her; here she comes."

—And Dora wouldn't "came" in the morning unless our knocking came first!

The first impression she gave us in September, 1919, was one of a quiet, reserved little girl who had little to say but was a good listener.

Two years of Normal life has had but comparatively little effect upon her. In her quiet way she has made friends of all of us. She is always around when needed and willing to be of assistance at all times.

She has won the admiration of the girls with her neatness as to appearance.

At studies too, Dora has proven herself able to "concentrate" and for this reason was able to show her teaching ability in the training school.

Never loud, always kind and sweet, she has made a lasting impression on some of us who are more inclined to break "Dorm. Rules."

Rose Golden—"Goldie."

Glee Club, Shakespearean Society, Editorial Staff, Girls' Athletic Association.

In September, 1919, there came into our midst this dark-eyed, dark-haired miss from Wilkes-Barre whom we later called "Goldie."

In the two years that she has been with us she has taken an active part in all social and educational functions. We admire her for her strength of character. She has never been known to start anything unless she could finish it.

Although she appears to be a quiet little miss nevertheless she is an active participator in all fun, both on the corridors and campus. Dancing appears to be her favorite social activity and she certainly can do that to perfection.

She is greatly admired by all in the school but this has never affected "Goldie." She has always remained "true blue.' She has a motto which she usually follows: "Whatever you do, do it well."

Francis O. Gibbons—"Fog."

President Senior Class, President Shakespearean Society, Cast, "Captain of Plymouth," Dramatic Club, Cast "A Pair of Lunatics," Normal Club.

F. O. Gibbons hails from Edwardsville. Having come from a small, but famous town, Francis has climbed the heights, and was elected the president of our class, which honor alone, shows him as a distinct personage in the institution.

Francis, or "Fog" as he is called (not because his brain is foggy by any means) is a good sport. He is a steady student. His popularity has increased since he first came here, until now he is one of the headers on the list.

Besides being interested in teaching, Francis also hopes to help his old school in days to come, ever mindful of his presidency. He is a plain, frank fellow, with a cheerful smile, and a liking for people whose first name sounds something like Kathleen.

RUTH A. HANAHAN.

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Senior Basketball Team, Glee Club.

"I don't care."

The class of 1919 was blessed by the coming of this witty and cheerful girl. She is well loved by all who know her and no one is ever blue or lonesome when she is around as her smile itself is a comfort. She is very active in creating good times but always knows when to stop. Her great desire is reading Romances but her ambition is to have a good time and let the rest of the world go by. Ruth has always had many admirers, but one is sufficient so Ruth says, and has ever lived up to this motto.

In social affairs she was always ready to aid.

By her many acts of kindness to all her many friends, both Senior and Junior, Ruth has endeared herself to all and when she leaves a host of good friends will miss her although they can never forget her.

VERONICA R. HEGARTY—"Heg."

Shakespearean Society, Girls' Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Rita, do you have the key?"

"Heg." is the only representative of Tamaqua that the school has ever known and she certainly is a lively representative. We are positive that Tamaqua will welcome her when she returns as a dignified school teacher.

Her two years at Normal has been very successful and we hope that she will meet with the same success during her teaching career.

Design and Industrial Art are her specialty and she is also fond of mathematics and languages. Heg's chief sports are skating, rowing and particularly dancing. She generally dances until the orchestra finishes playing, "Good Night, Ladies."

Never did a day pass without "Heg." taking her daily walk down town between the hours of 4 and 6. However there is a method in her madness.

Heg. is always on the job where "eats and a good time" are concerned and she is always at the head of the "kitchen" parade which takes place about 10 p. m. every night.

"Heg." has made many friends by her loving disposition and we hope that in the future she will have as many as she has had.

Ada R. Hess—"Adda."

Glee Club, Athletic Association, Minisink Society, Secretary of Y. W. C. A., Senior Basketball Team.

"Didn't I get any mail."

When Ada first entered Normal she was only a little girl wearing bright colored hair ribbons. But she soon became a thoroughbred Normalite and has adapted herself to the style of Normal.

Ada has a bright and cheery disposition. Quite often when everyone else is hard at work, her merry laugh rings out and we all seek to find the cause of the disturbance.

During her Senior year she showed her skill in playing basketball. Although she is short, still it is not a handicap, but on the other hand an advantage because while others were reaching for the ball Ada was able to dodge under them and get it. If at any time we are in need of someone to cheer us up Ada is always on hand to do so.

Ada delights in writing letters, arranging parties, making scrapbooks, looking for Marion and going to church. However, all these things she does in her best manner possible.

Having enjoyed her companionship here at school we feel justified in saying that those who meet her in future years will be glad, as we were, to know someone like her.

Margaret Honor.

Shakespearean Society, Girls' Athletic Association

"Her voice was ever soft."

Surely the author had Margaret in mind when he wrote those words. She is ever quiet except in the defense of honor and right. By her character and ideals she justifies her name.

Margaret has ended successfully her Student Teaching in the Training School. Her favorite pastime is extolling the virtues of sixth grade of that place. We hope that her future pupils will excite the same love and appreciation as these have.

As a student, she is able to hold her own in any class. She "astounds the natives" in the teaching of arithmetic class by her long disertations on common fractions.

The teaching profession may regard her as an asset in every sense of the word.

Dorothy Hoffman—"Dot."

Minisink Society, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Association, Dramatic Club.

"And then she died."

Dot has sort of grown up with the institution, having been here since her Freshman year. In all this time she has never missed a thing except a class occasionally.

Though Dot says "Horseback riding is my religion," and she does ride, she seems to be more than interested in the movements of one of Uncle Sam's destroyers. We might fear that this interest would prove serious were it not for the strong attraction which New York has for her.

Dot. is addicted to reading Kipling, but she always drifts to the same selection "If." She seems to use this poem as her motto and we must say that she lives up to its requirements in every detail with the possible exception of

"If all men count with you,
But none too much."

Through burning the midnight oil Dot's mind became so overburdened that she decided to relieve the pressure by severing relations with her hair.

If Wordsworth were living today we are sure he would admit that Dot. was his inspiration when he wrote:

"A creature not too bright or good
For human nature's daily food;
For transient sorrows, simple wiles,
Praise, blame, love, kisses, tears and smiles."

Florence E. Horn—"Flo."

Secretary of Minisink Society, Athletic Association, Y. W. C. A., Glee Club, Birch Bark Staff, Mountaineer Staff, Cast of "Suppressed Desires."

"You're out-a-luck."

We are all very fond of Flo and surely do enjoy hearing her cheerful voice as returning from class she sings "I'd go a million miles for one of your smiles."

When it comes to good times, Flo's always on hand, but she is a firm advocate of the maxim, "Work while you work and play while you play."

This young lady is also very good at alarming people. As a matter of fact she has frightened the whole school more than once, but that is only natural after all, for you see she's fire captain and whenever she wishes to call a fire drill, she must ring the alarm.

We feel sure that Flo's pleasant disposition as well as her natural ability will win for her her way in the world of work and we wish her every success therein.

Hasting H. Jones—"Hasty."

Letterman Varsity Football '16, '20, '21, Letterman Varsity Basketball, '16, '17, '19, '20, '21, Letterman Varsity Baseball '20, '21, Captain of Football '20, President of Minisink Society '20, Vice-President of the former Normal Club.

"Now listen to me."

Hasty is one of the greatest athletes that our school ever had. Besides being a wonderful athlete, Hasty has a remarkable record, serving in the United States Army during the last war. He was a sergeant in the 28th division and received a special citation directly from General Pershing for bravery. Now he is commissioned in Company G of this town.

We shall always remember Hasty for his ability on the athletic field, and also the fine acting that he and his friend Hutchins used to do for us. Hasty will some day be a teacher of athletics and gymnastic trainer.

Hasty is a football and basketball player that any university would be proud to number among its ranks.

Louise Jones—"Weezie."

Member of Y. W. C. A., Blue Pencil Club, Clio Club, Minisink Society, Girls' Athletic Association.

"How I dread to see June come; it's a fact."

This pleasing countenance is none other than Louise, who started to tread the "flowery path of knowledge" here two years ago, and as a reward for her studious and industrious efforts she is now honorably discharged.

She came here a quiet and dignified Junior and took no active part in the heart affairs of the day. But as a Senior she is not so quiet as she appears. Her merry bursts of laughter may usually be heard regardless of the time or place.

As a Training School teacher her ability was evident and she enjoyed no other part of school life more than her teaching, and her daily walks to and from the E. S. N. S. with her friend and co-worker, our "philosopher."

Louise is a girl who has a thorough dislike of pretension and artifice and she herself is frank and sincere in word and deed. With her ever-ready smile and her heart overflowing with kindness and generosity, she has won a host of friends who wish her well as she leaves E. S. N. Her motto always is:

"May our injuries be written in sand
And our friendships in marble."

MARY KANE—"Kaney."

Shakespearean Literary Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Birch Bark Staff.

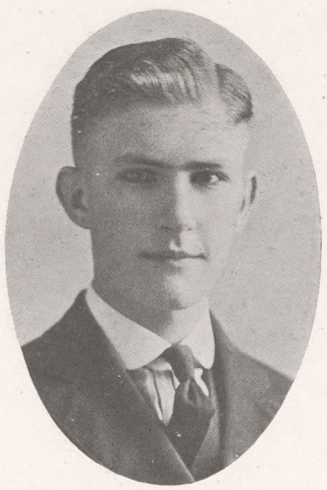

"Where's my man?"

Mary came to us in the fall of '19, a demure and shy little lass, unused to the ways of the world and East Stroudsburg, but she quickly demonstrated her ability to acclimate herself to the situation and entered the spirit of things with a vim which surprised all. Mary has such a winning smile and sunny disposition that she has made a host of friends and some very good ones as a certain Junior boy can vouch. This little miss has taken life as she found it and while not taking honors has endeared herself to all the pupils in the Training School by her wonderful personality and her lovable attitude toward them. She took a keen interest in the Social and Athletic life of Normal and always presented herself at all the school activities. Mary has climbed the educational ladder and now as she stands at the threshold of Pedagogy or perhaps something else, we wish her all the success and happiness which true friends and school mates can wish anyone.

EDWARD L. KEMP—"Lightheiser."

President of Senate, Honor Student.

Compatible with this embryonic prodigy's initials, E. L. K., the words "Erudition, Logic, Knowledge" might be stated as his paramount characteristics.

He entered the Model School in the year 1908, and his educational evolution has been one of successive accomplishments. Perhaps the cardinal virtue of Edward is: he did not survive on his worthy father's reputation, or as "Dr. Kemp's son," but instead he has made for himself individually, a record irreproachable.

His "hobbie" consists of Napoleon's Campaigns" and "Etymology" and he is regarded as a criterion or Aristotle in agricultural pursuits. He possesses a vocabulary of an enormous range, but regardless of this, he is never subject to sophistry or hypothetical reasoning.

When Alma Mater reluctantly dismisses him from her protracted jurisdiction, she loses a student worthy of the name, and gains an alumnus who will "keep her honor safe in his hands."

FLORENCE KRESGE—"Flo."

Glee Club, Athletic Association, Y. W. C. A., Minisink Society.

"Oh, Gee."

From the little village of Gilbert hails this quiet demure young lady, who is known as Flo. Flo always becomes excited when the mail is distributed. We must not say any more for Flo wishes us to keep her affairs a secret.

Her own aim in life is to eat, drink and be merry. This she has already proven by the many "feeds" held in her room. She made many visits home during the first part of her Junior year, but later this habit wore away.

Flo believes that rising too suddenly in the morning disturbs her nerves and she has taken great precaution against such rashness. However she was greatly disturbed when she awoke early and found that she had the measles. She was immdiately missed by her chums who, on searching for her, found her in the dispensary, where she remained for some time. After awhile she again joined us on first hall, when she was welcomed by all.

Oh, Florence is the dearest girl,
With great big, brown eyes,
And when it comes to eating,
She surely takes a prize.

CHRISTIE KOEGEL—"Koegel."

Secretary of Minisink Society, Blue Pencil Club, Glee Club, Senior Basketball Team.

"Don't you know."

Christie, one of the pillars of our famous class, came from the town of Lehighton, bringing with her a wealth of red hair, with which she has lately parted.

As a basketball player, Christie deserves much credit. She won her numerals playing with the Senior Class team. It is quite evident that she is not an idle girl like some of the rest of us, because during the summer she took a course at West Chester State Normal School. Studies? She likes them all, especially Modern Novel, for we know that Christie's library has increased considerably this year.

Owing to the fact that Christie is non-committable on personal affairs, we are unable to say which of her friends is most esteemed. However, we have our suspicions that it is a certain lad from her own home town who is at present completing a course at Penn State.

Christie's favorite pastime is reading Dryden or Chesterton; this, however, seems to have no immediate bearing on her great ambition to become a doctor, in which profession we are sure she will be a success.

THERESA I. KOFF—"Tess."

Commencement Speaker, Minisink Society, Cast of "Sabotage," Blue Pencil Literary Society, Birch Bark Staff, Mountaineer Staff, Pin and Ring Committee, Girls' Athletic Association.

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined!"

Behold! One of our honor students, a prepossessing and modest young lady who sedately tripped around this institution as a Junior. However we know her better as a Senior. She is a quiet reserved girl but nevertheless it does not inhibit her brilliancy in the least as some of her ideas invariably astonish her classmates by their depth and originality.

Tess is an industrious student ever busy for herself and others. She has served as a tutor during part of her Senior year. As a student teacher she won the love and respect of the children by her kind ways and charming smile.

She was one of our models chosen to be sent on an expedition, "Awakening the minds of young people to the wonderful opportunities for service in the teaching profession."

Tess displays her talent in aesthetic dancing and has often entertained her classmates in the gymnasium on different occasions and as usual was always appreciated.

Her one ambition so far is to own a "Stutz" and then we all can guess what she will aim for next.

GRACE H. LAMB—"Buddy."

Shakespearean Literary Society, Glee Club, Girl's Athletic Association.

Grace is a lively representative of the city of Wilkes-Barre, Penna., and made her first appearance at Normal in the fall of 1919. She is a loveable girl and with her winning smile and pleasant disposition has gained a host of friends.

"Buddy" is singularly excellent in her school work and expects to study along professional lines. Besides being a capable student she is a good sport and usually interests herself in all that goes on and takes great interest in Kindergarten and second grade work. From all reports and appearances even the children seem to know her as their "Buddy."

Her quiet manner and her independent aloofness have been her aids in her successful educational career and we feel confident that she will exert her influence upon all those (whose pleasure it will be) who come in contact with her in "Life's School."

LAURA LARSON.

Shakespearean Literary Society, Blue Pencil, Girls' Athletic Association.

"To persevere in one's duty and to be silent is a good trait."

Laura, to whom the above selection so truly applies, migrated from fair Luzerne county to the city of East Stroudsburg and chose for her residence our dear E. S. N. S. She has been an earnest supporter of all school activities, particularly the girls' baseball nine. When volunteers are asked for she, our subject, having faithfully devoured her books at an early period, can always come to the rescue of distressed classmates and perplexed teachers. What more could the witches prophesy for Laura than a glorious rise in her profession. Truly she is fit to mold the future citizens of America.

EDWARD J. LAVIN—"Ed."

President, Shakespearean Society, Cast of "Captain of Plymouth," Normal Club, Cast of "Double Cross."

Carbondale is the city which has the honor to claim Edward as a child. However, he is by no means made his native city an unpopular place, but the very fact that he comes from it, gives a boost to Carbondale.

Edward is a good student, and a pleasant fellow. He is always seen with the president of the class, Gibbons, and you would think that he was guarding "Fog."

A popular member of "fourth hall," Ed. is a good sport, and does his share in everything. The city in New Jersey that he likes best is "Elizabeth." We wonder why!

Ethel L. Lewis—"Lou."

Minisink Society, Athletic Association.

"Well, didn't I get a letter again?"

Ethel is what one can call a friend indeed for whenever any one is in need, Ethel is the sole hope. Ethel believes in fun and knows how to have it without hurting anyone's feelings. Ethel is a devoted friend of the Goddess Terpischore and is ever demonstrating her ability. She has a wonderful disposition and having once made a friend never forgets her—or him. The mail carrier is her best friend and the days when she receives her letters from home (?) are her "Sunshine Days" in more respects than one.

Ethel has been a student of the best type during her sojourn at Normal and on several occasions has proven her mental maturity in History of Education Class. In her Training School work she has made a multitude of friends among the children. May her career after leaving us be as fruitful and bright as has been her Normal life.

Anna M. Loftus—"Nan."

Vice President of the Shakespearean Society, Mountaineer Staff, Glee Club, Athletic Association, Senior Basketball Team

"You'll never see what I'll give you for Xmas."

Two years ago the East Stroudsburg State Normal School witnessed a great change when Nan matriculated as a student of the college.

Nan readily made friends which was due to her smiling countenance and magnetic personality.

She is a girl who can be relied upon and never acquired the habit of deviating from the truth. One of Nan's favorite pastimes is singing in which she is better "still."

We shall not mention her dancing for it is known throughout the vicinity that she is the second Marimba. She has also starred in athletics. We all remember the day of the Junior and Senior tournament when she showed the Juniors that they never would be capable of playing basketball.

In conclusion we might say that Nan intends to teach until she receives her pension from the State. She will not have very long to wait, however, as it will come in about forty short years. We feel certain that Dick will advance some new ideas for her consideration before then—but whatever Nan undertakes she will certainly accomplish.

Kenneth H. Long.

President Minisink Literary Society.

Keennth was born in the town of Stone Church. Here he graduated from the grammar schools. He then attended the Portland High School, whence he came to this institution as a freshman in 1917.

Besides having served a successful term as President of the Minisink Literary Society he has been elected to the Senate by the senior class.

Kenneth, commonly known as "Lightnin'"—is quiet and sedate, but "still water runs deep." Even co-education has no attraction for him. Although having nothing in particular against the fair sex, he believes they are less dangerous and safer at a distance.

In athletics he is always on the job backing his team, no matter what the odds. Perhaps we may call him a speculator. His favorite saying is, "Take a chance," and we all know he has taken many, being successful in a majority.

Next year he expects to enter Ursinus college, take an A. B. course and then enter the school of dentistry at the University of Pennsylvania.

Well, Kenneth, we all wish you a successful career in grinding and drilling on the nerves of your patrons.

Anna E. Manko—"Ann."

Athletic Association, Shakespearean Society.

"Well, I must leave to study my Latin."

"Genius is a capacity for avoiding hard study" therefore behold this genius. This tall and graceful young lady entered our Normal as a Junior two years ago.

Then she was quiet and demure, but time has brought many changes in her. She delights in creating a sensation after 9.45 bell rings, by her merry laughter, her good-natured fun and harmless mischief, which on many occasions has broken the monotony of Normal life.

We notice that she receives many letters. She says "They come from over the hills and far away."

Results have proved that she is a very studious and ambitious pupil. In Virgil she is a star.

Anna is frank and sincere in her words and deeds. She is always ready to lend a willing hand to help a friend in need. If you hear Anna give an opinion, accept it as an unconditional truth.

She voices a desire to teach for several years, and then extend her education to college work.

JOHN T. MCANDREW—"Stretch."

Shakespearean Society, 1920-21, Vice President Senior Class 19920-21, Varsity Basketball 19920-21, Member Birch Bark Staff '20-'21, Dramatic Club 1921, Cast of "Beau of Bath," Normal Club 1921.

Stretch was born some few years ago in the city of Dunmore where he became famous for the smiling countenance he always "wears" — in trouble or happiness.

John wanted to get into a nice warm place and rolled into our college one morning about the third of February, 1920, and enrolled in the Junior class. He was actively engaged in the promotion and establishment of the Boys' Den.

Not being satisfied with playing football alone, Stretch went out for basketball this year and made good at center, where he played a number of games. He certainly has the goods when it comes to nerve and pluck as any of his teammates will uphold. It would not be at all surprising to see Stretch holding down a position on one of the professional teams within a few years.

Stretch can always be found true blue and is always ready and willing to help a friend in need. His name, like himself will be "long" remembered by his classmates of E. S. N.

HELEN C. MCANDREW—"Mac."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Holy Knight."

On September 2, 1919, Helen arrived at E. S. N. S. as a representative of Vandling. She was rather quiet, but still water always runs deep and so it was in Helen's case. She was always a participator in mischief. But when Helen returned as a senior, she became very dignified and moved to Third Hall where all the rest of the dignified people live. Her final word upon retiring at night was "Good Knight." Maybe he is a good knight.

Mac always took a prominent part in all social events at E. S. N. She has made a host of friends during her sojourn with us and we feel certain that on Graduation Day we will all feel sad to think that Mac will be with us no longer.

Elizabeth McCann—"Bibs."

Vice-President of Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Cast of "Pandora."

"What will I wear tomorrow?"

Normal has always been noted for its sweet girl graduates and among the sweetest of this year's graduating class is "Bibs." It is just two years since she was sent to us from Carbondale and has proven a worthy representative of that city many times over.

"Bibbs" is gifted in many lines. She has a sweet clear voice and as a dancer ranks as one of the highest.

Wherever there is dancing there also is "Bibs" floating over the floor as if she were an angel with wings. "Bibs" has a very sweet personality which has resulted in the forming of many life-long friendships. In her class work "Bibs" stands at the top and the ability she displays in mathematics is very praise-worthy.

Her inseparable companion is "Ed." They quarrel once in a while just for the pleasure of making up again.

Although "Bibs" is fond of teaching we think fate has woven brighter threads in her web of life and cannot predict a long teaching career for her.

Ella McCusker—"Kurley."

Shakespearean Society, Girls' Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Now; never miss it!"

Ella is a bright, merry-hearted girl, the center of a group of kindred spirits, girls who loved fun and frolic as a means of brightening up the somewhat monotonous side of school life. There is nothing dull or commonplace about Ella. On the contrary there was always the quary what harmless mischief her fertile mind would next devise. The more serious side of her nature led her to attend faithfully to the tasks assigned her, so that she has maintained a high standard of scholarship throughout her course.

Owing to her marked individuality no one who came in contact with her, can ever forget the laughter loving girl who brightened up with her droll wit and fun, the lives of all with whom she has associated during her life here.

Her hobby is Latin as all know who have ever had the pleasure of taking that language under Prof. Wannemaker.

We do not know Ella's plans for the future, but we do know that the results of her labors swell the postal receipts. She goes out into life with our best wishes for her success.

Mary McGinnis—"Mac."

Shakespearean Society, Vice President of Society, Glee Club, Dramatic Club, Athletic Association, Editorial Staff, Cast in Pandora, Birch Bark.

"Clarkie, don't go without me."

This lighthaired little miss hails from the pretty little town of Duryea and upon first beholding her one is immediately interested in the location of the town.

Upon first beholding this typical little colleen, we involuntarily said, "Kilarney has come to Stroudsburg," and so little Mary appears to the uninitiated and "more power to her" for it. When talking to her one feels the vivacity and originality of the Celt and instinctively likes her the more for it. Mary is always happy and full of harmless jokes, which are a source of real humor to all. She has a host of true friends and will always have them because she is a friend worth having as she has always demonstrated.

Mary has attained an enviable reputation in her school work despite her diverse social activities at Normal. In French or Latin she is without peer and Mr. Maronpot's favorite ejaculation when the grammar is unusually difficult is "Miss McGinnis suppose you tell us" and Miss McGinnis invariably does.

Winifred McNelis—"Fred."

Shakespearean Society, Rec. Sec., Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Will you have courage?"

Whenever there was mischief afoot you were always sure to find Winifred in the lead. She is full of tricks, her favorite being the stacking of rooms. One look into her eyes tells you whether she is guilty or not and usually guilty.

As soon as you have been with Winifred a few times, you immediately have your doubts about your first impressions she is sober-sided. We learned that with the exception of study hours Winifred can always be heard on the hall. Her laughter is heard from morn till night provided she is in good spirits. She takes a prominent part in all social events at Normal and is often seen leading the grand march in the Normal gym. Much of her spare time is spent in reading books about woman's suffrage, in which subject she intends to devote part of her time after graduation. She hopes to improve the country by having women show their executive ability. Her convincing manner ought cetrainly to win many votes for this cause. No matter how many pages we might fill, they would not help you to understand and appreciate Winifred as her classmates do.

ELIZABETH MELVIN—"Betty."

Vice President of Shakespearean Society, Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"For the good of the groupe."

Since the entrance of Betty into E. S. N. S., she has made many friends and her wit and merry laughter have gained for her wide popularity. She has a sweet disposition and is always ready to lend a willing hand to help a friend in need. Betty is a very industrious girl and always endeavors to master anything she undertakes. For some reason not known to all of us Betty spends much time in the pursuit of fiction. She is bright and cheerful, performs her duties whole-heartedly and is a conscientious student. As a training school teacher she is one of the best and is well loved by her pupils. Can you blame them? Betty has high aims and aspirations and we hope that she may sometime have them all gratified for she certainly deserves everythting that she desires.

EDNA M. MILLER—"Ed."

"O Dear."

Edna is one of the fortunate individuals known as Day Students. She joined us in the Junior year, after graduating from Portland High School, and for two years has traveled faithfully to Normal on the milk train. "Ed." is a very ambitious girl. She is much interested in teaching and if the milk train is late, worries because she can not enter upon her duties as teacher at eight o'clock. "Ed." is also very honest and studious, her favorite study being History of Ed. Edna has on diverse occasions entertained the day students on their journeys to and from E. S. N. She is a firm believer in efficiency and shows it in everything she undertakes, never allowing trivial affairs to distract her from her main purpose. We predict a long teaching career for Edna and we hope that she will be as successful in all her undertakings as she has been as a student and classmate.

GEORGENE MILLER—"Gene."

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Minisink Society, Clio Club, Pandora, Class Book Staff, Girls' Athletic Association.

"Oh, I don't know."

Our friend Gene comes from Durham. She is one of the sedate members of the class of '21 and we all appreciate her serious way and winning smile. Gene also comes from Bloomsburg Normal and ever since her arrival she has worked with us side by side, thus we have been nabled to find her many splendid traits. She is one of the girls in our class who deserves much praise for the way in which she prepares her work.

Gene has specialized in the intermediate group and we all wish her success on her journey through teaching. Of course, we all know that she will make good because all honest, studious and ambitious students can not do otherwise. Though she seems to like teaching we think Fate has woven brighter threads into her web of life and we fear Gene will not have a very long teaching career.

HENRY A. MITCHELL—"Ham."

Minisink Society 1920-21, Treasurer Junior Class 1919-20, Treasurer Senior Class 1920-21, Member of Athletic Council 1919-20, Normal Glee Club, 1919-20, Normal Club 1920-21, Varsity Football, 1920, Dramatic Club 1921, Cast of "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments."

Henry was born in Stroudsburg and attended the Stroudsburg public schools until the Mexicans gave us a little trouble, and then enlisted in our Company G of the 13th regiment N. G. P. While at the border Henry became infected from inoculation which resulted in the loss of his right arm. He was then honorably discharged from active service and joined us as a Freshman in 1917.

Henry is not a man to let obstacles interfere with him. He looks upon them only as something to be conquered. He became increasingly popular and was elected the treaurer of the Junior Class and again holds the office in the present Senior Class.

"Ham," this year earned the coveted gold football of varsity players. His "beef" together with his grit and determination made him one of the best defensive players on our squad.

Henry has made an enviable record in our college as a student and has devoted all his time, not occupied in study, to the promotion of athletics. Although we part this year, the memory of "Ham" will linger always for he calls and is called by everyone, Friend.

HELEN MOORHEAD.

Y. W. C. A.

"Oh Jolly."

During our Senior year, Helen Moorhead entered our midst. Being very studious and somewhat shy, it took a little time before she became acquainted with all. But the old saying, "To appreciate a person, we must first learn to know her," holds true in this case. She is always found willing and ready to help wherever she is able to do so.

This young lady was given charge of the library when it was first kept open during the evening. Her idea of a library is a place to work, therefore, if one does not apply himself while there, he is politely asked to leave. However, we feel that it is for the benefit of the majority that this thing occurs.

Occasionally she spends a week end at home and after her return a party is always held in her room to which a privileged few are invited. They enjoy and appreciate some real home-made layer cakes. We have learned that if one is in need of something to appease a sweet tooth, her room is the place to find it, for she is always well supplied with candy and passes it around unsparingly.

Miss Moorhead applies herself diligently to the tasks in hand but is never too busy to aid a fellow classmate or to do whatever she can to help us over a troublesome place.

ANNA R. MULHERIN—"Nan."

Vice President Shakespearean Society, Girls' Athletic Association, Secretary of Junior Class, Glee Club.

"I wish I were home tonight."

The pleasant face that greets you here is our esteemed and much loved classmate and Junior class secretary, Anna R. Mulherin, who by her unwavering devotions to the interests of our class helped make it possible for us to be so successful in all our undertakings.

Anna came to us from the city (?) of Glen Lyon, a quiet and timid little sophomore but by her winning smile and pleasing disposition, she soon became an especial favorite among all.

When we entered the Junior class last year, she was already here to greet us with outstretched arms and was always ready to lend a willing hand to a friend in need, especially where home-sickness prevailed because she knew from experience just how people felt who were afflicted with that ailment.

She sings in a sweet tone not unlike a canary, while her nature is as aloof as that of a lark.

In her Training School work she has displayed marked ability and is loved by all her pupils.

We can always look back with real pleasure to our acquaintance with her and we join in a hearty wish that her future has many bright and happy things in store for her.

MARGARET R. MULLEN—"Marg."

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Do you think so? So do I."

"Marg." entered our midst as a jolly Junior, and during her two years here has done all in her power to make our stay at Normal a jolly one. She is one of our happiest and wittiest classmates. At all times and on all occasions Marg. has a suitable remark on hand.

Her principal pastime is visiting her numerous friends. "Do you think so? So do I," will explain why "Marg." has gained numerous friends and keeps them. Certainly hers is not a combatative nature.

"Marg." intends to teach school for a period of five years and then—what?

IRENE MULLANEY.

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"I'm not having any of it."

No, Renie, you may not be having any of it, but, Oh, the fun you have made for us since you hailed from Jessup, Pa., in the fall of 1919. The pages of the history of this school would never have been complete without this charming and popular young miss. Jessup may be small but its people are great, and we have a glorious example of it here. It is "Renie." Nay, her qualities are too numerous for the greatest linquist to enumerate, because his talent would fail him in this instance. Play a piano? Well I guess she can, from "Chopin's" masterpiece down to any jazz or musical ditty.

To you, Irene, we are indebted for many things and here's that you may never be forgotten. Though Normal slowly winds its way down the annals of time, grinding out your future ambition which is to be a "musical director," we wish you success. I think Leo will be willing to wait for a period of ten years, at least. We sincerely hope that you will come back to Normal to visit real often as "we," the Juniors of this year, will think it a pleasure to have you with us at any time.

MARGARET A. MURPHY.

Glee Club, Senate, Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Mountaineer Staff.

"And the nights shall be filled with music?"

The above quotation is fittingly suited to Margaret because of her great musical ability and talent with which she has entertained us many times. One being slightly acquainted with her has the impression of her being very quiet and attribute this to her thoughts of music, but knowing her intimately proves her to be otherwise.

Her election as a representative of the Senior Class in the Senate shows her popularity and esteem among her classmates. During her two years at Normal Margaret has won many friends and is always ready to comfort and console those in trouble.

Although Margaret has been very successful in teaching in the Training School, her one great ambition is to pursue her study of music at Cornell University and some day become an artist in this work. We wish her the greatest success in her chosen career.

MARY R. NARCOONIS—"Narcy."

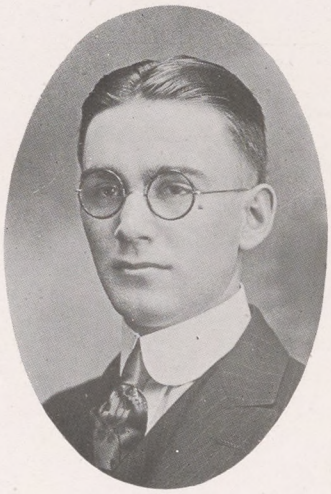

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association

"Can you imagine!"

When little Mary was ushered into our presence two years ago we were all smitten at first sight for Mary is a girl not easily forgotten. She is pretty and perhaps what is more interesting to most of us is a good pal and always willing to join in the fun. Mary with her devoted friend Ethel enjoys walking and whenever the weather is permissible they are out on a hike. Mary is one of Dickson City's fairest daughters and the East Stroudsburg Normal School owes an undying debt to the little town. Mary has earned for herself an enviable reputation at Normal not only in her school work but in the thousand and one ways by which she has endeared herself in the hearts of the students and faculty of Normal.

In classes she has worked hard, at social events she has always aided and when June comes with the roses, we will all sorrowfully witness the departure of Mary for the wider realms of Service of humanity and say "May the sunshine ever light Mary on her way."

HAROLD OSWALD—"Pat."

Baseball Varsity, '20, '21, President of Minisink Society, Orchestra, Violin and Clarinet.

Pat is a fine baseball player, an unusually gifted violin and clarinet player, and a good mathematician. He hopes some day to be a professor of chemistry in a big university, and next year is entering Lehigh College to study chemical engineering.

Pat hails from Lehighton. He plays in the best bands throughout the Lehigh Valley, and is talented with musical abilities. Betwen his mathematics and his music, he has his hands full.

Pat's favorite work is doing experiments in the chemical Lab., and also analyzing the sentiments of his friend from. Enough said. Pat is all there, and has an interesting future before him.

MARJORIE L. NILES—"Marj."

Vice President Y. W. C. A., Athletic Association, Minisink Society.

"Oh, I have so much work to do."

A quiet, demure maiden of Puritan-like virtures who hails from the rocks and hills of dear old Wayne took up her abode with us in our Junior year.

She has proven herself to be a conscientious, industrious student. Her favorite subject being History, we expect to see her name among the historians of the future.

She has shown her perseverance by walking daily down town through sunshine or rain to unravel the mysteries of Hygiene and Grammar to Eighth Grade as a teacher she is one of the best and is well liked by all her pupils.

To those of us who know her best she has also shown the fun-loving side of her nature. Mary is a great lover of outdoor sports and takes an active part in all outdoor games. She has high aspirations and our best wishes go with her for her future success.

Josephine G. Padden—"Charlie."

Shakespearean Society, Senate, Editorial Staff, Athletic Asociation, Glee Club, Dormitory Committee.

In September 2, 1919 there came from the city of Plains this black haired, dark eyed beauty known as Charlie, of whom we are very proud of today. When she first came here we all can remember her by the way she would walk up the hall with her head high in the air and get her letters. But we soon became acquainted with Charlie, and we were not sorry we formed an acquaintance with her as she always proved to be a true friend.

We were all surprised at Charlie's attitude toward making noise when we returned in 1920 as Seniors. Since she was a goody, goody girl now we decided she would be a good representative of the Senior class on the Senate, so we put our dear friend Charlie on the Senate. When the Senate conducted its first exercises at chapel on Washington's Birthday, Charlie proved to us her ability as speaker so we then decided we would like to have her for a commencement speaker. She was a very good teacher, conscientious student and loved by all. She was always interested in mathematics and some day intends to be a mathematician. Here's luck to your undertaking, Charlie.

Bertha Pospiesinski—"Bert."

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Every success in life comes from sympathy and cooperation and love."

To look at Bert. one would think that she was a demure, modest and bashful little girl. You must not be misled by the quiet girl you see, for among her friends Bert shows the fun loving side of her nature.

All who really know her realize that she is one of the few of whom can be said, "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

She is extremely fond of outdoor sports, especially rowing and hiking.

Her pupils love her. Look on the campus and you will always see some of Bert's pupils with her. For one so good-natured, so honest, so truthful and so cheerful we can predict only great things. Her greatest ambition is to tour Europe.

BEATRICE PRICE—"Bee."

Athletic Association

"Hello Kiddo."

Of course you all know the above, Miss Beatrice, of Cresco. She is another of our gay bunch of Day Students. However, "Bea" is one of the quiet ones, but then we need her to offset the noisy ones, and again Sister Mary makes up for Bea's lack of noise. But Bea is right on the spot when it comes to study and work. A conscientious student and teacher is our Bea. "If I could only make second grade stand around, I would be perfectly happy" says Bea, when that grade has been more tormenting than usual. Cheer up, Bea, the grades are all alike and we all wish that.

Naturally Bea's aim now is to be a good teacher in every sense of the word. If second grade discourages her at times, the "dear kindergarteners always make up for it. So I guess Bea will "stick out" her two years of teaching and after that, well time will tell.

HARRIET G. PRICE—"Pricey."

Athletic Association, Senior Basketball Team.

"I can't be socially annoyed."

The above is Harriett G. Price, of Moscow, Russia—Oh, no, I mean Pennsylvania. (You must always spell her name with two t's or she will never forgive you). To continue: Harriett has never been known to refuse an apple or water. Her most striking characteristic is this: She can tell an automobile a mile off, especially if it is a Packard, or, ahem, a Ford. "Holy sailor," but Day Student realms are noiseless and also lifeless when Harriett goes down to "public" to teach. Well, now, "couldn't you die," as Harriett would say. I almost forgot her big aim. Above all else our heroine wishes to become a physical training teacher. We may yet hear her order her class about and say, "Eyes forward, kick," or some other impossible thing. But if she goes into it with the same determined spirit as she does into a basketball game, not minding dislocated fingers or bit tongues, she certainly will make good.

JOHN E. RATAJSKI—"Count."

President Minisink Society, The Cast of "Sabotage," Varsity Baseball '20 and '21, Normal Club.

"Out in Society tonight Boys."

John, besides playing short stop, is accomplished in many other things. He plays the violin and has been heard to play the piano.

John hopes some day to become a professor of mathematics. He is especially fond of arithmetic and can work anything from a simple problem in addition, to one of the unknown quantities in algebra, that would make a stiff collar feel like a horse's harness.

The "Count," as he is called, is a general favorite with many other students besides the boys. Nothing daunts him.

His favorite saying is: "Nudis verbis, otium cumdinitate." What more can a man want?

During the war he served in the United States Army, being stationed at Camp Merritt.

KATHLEEN L. REAP—"Reapie."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Editorial Staff.

"Oh! Am I late?

Fortune smiled on the class of '21, when Kathleen was enrolled as a member of it. She is witty and a sunnier dispoition could scarcely be found.

During her two years at E. S. N. S. Kathleen has made many friends and is one of our most popular girls. Wherever a group is seen her merry laughter will usually be heard.

We don't predict a lengthy teaching career for Kathleen, for who can imagine her long content with charming her pupils, when handsome men inhabit the world.

"Early to bed, early to rise" was a proverb which Reapie did not approve of. She believed that rising early in the morning disturbed her nerves. So she took great precautions against such rashness.

During Reapie's residence here at Normal, she met someone worth while, we sincerely hope, and are certain their friendship will not be severed but prolonged.

Marjorie M. Reedy—"Marge."

Minisink Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association, Y. W. C. A.

"Laugh, and the world laughs with you,
Weep, and you weep alone."

When Marjorie came to us, we all thought her a quiet little girl, but when we knew her, we saw that she was as fond of fun as the next, always being among the merry makers and enjoying the pleasures of Normal.

She made many visits home the early part of her Junior year, but later this habit wore away. Marjorie makes friends wherever she goes, and these are the kind usually labeled "lasting."

In the training school the children are fascinated by her kind ways, and charming smiles, she demands respect by all.

Letter writing is one of her chief pleasures, as those who have associated with her have noticed.

At night when the lights are out, you are sure to see Marge strolling down the hall to say goodnight to her friend Reapie.

She selected Latin as her favorite study, the results of her efforts have been shone in her Junior year.

Marge has high aims and aspirations, and we hope that she may sometime have them all gratified, for she much deserves everything she wants.

Helen C. Roche—"Senator."

Secretary-Treasurer Senate, Member of Dormitory Committee, Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Association, Member of Mountaineer Staff, Pin and Ring Committee.

"Accidents will happen and are generally quite endurable when viewed philosophically"

The above saying is Helen's advice to her classmates. When first she arrived at our Alma Mater she distinguished herself as a quiet, timid, reserved girl, but that lasted only for such time as was required to make her acquaintance. Since then we've come to know Helen as a good sport, game for most everything and always willing to enter into an escapade.

Her roguishness cannot be concealed, however, if you watch her eyes and her smile.

Lately she has inculcated some bad habits, one of which is rising early.

As secretary-treasurer of the Senate Helen has made a good one. In fact her position has kept even her from doing things which are not exactly coincident with dormitory rules! During the year, too, her responsible position has made her face the chapel assembly and make the necessary announcements issued by the Senate.

Tillie Rushin—"Til."

Senior Basketball Team, Athletic Association, Y. W. C. A., Glee Club, Shakespearean Society.

"Happy am I, from care I'm free,
Why aren't they all contented like me."

Tillie, known as "Til," has entered our midst as a jolly Junior, from the city of "Nantique," and during her two years here has done much to help uphold the honor of her home town.

She is an enthusiastic athlete and as a member of the Senior basketball team, she has always worked hard in order that her team might win the silver cup. As a member of the class of 1921 she has shown a great deal of class spirit.

Whenever there is any mischief on third hall, "Tillie" is usually blamed for it, but we can all vouch her innocence. She is a girl who studies and never goes to class with her lessons unprepared. Her marks show that she is always willing to help others and she has made many staunch friendships while at Normal.

She can always be seen smiling. The only time "Til" ever frowned was when she did not receive any mail from "Nantique."

If laughing is a sign of good health, "Til's" is perfect, for hers is the jolliest laugh heard on third hall.

Edward H. Saile—"Ed."

Editor-in-chief of Birch Bark Magazine, Editor-in-chief of Senior Class Book, Vice-President Minisink Society, President of Shakespearean Society, Blue Pencil Club, Clio Society, Normal Club, Executive Committee Chairman, Junior Class Historian, Chairman Pin and Ring Committee.

Ed. entered the school in '20, and quickly jumped into the midst of school activities. He has a personality which is interesting though difficult to understand and his strong will impresses one as the salient side of his character.

In April of 1917, he enlisted in the Regular Army, went to Texas, and then was sent overseas in July of 1917. He remained overseas till March, 1919. He was with the Seventh Field Artillery, First Division, as private, corporal and sergeant. He was in the heart of the hottest fighting, seeing action in the notable battles of: Toul Sector, Cantigny, Soissons, Somme, Champagne, Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and the "Hike to Coblenz." He was wounded and gassed on Nov. 9 and is under the Federal Board at the School. His friends are legion and he has ever proven himself ready to work for the benefit of Normal.

The favorite poem in English, which appeals to Ed, is the one of Poe's which begins: "Oh, Helen, thy beauty . . . ."

Judging from Ed's ambition and ability we feel safe in saying that the "Atlantic Monthly" will some day have an Editor whose's name will be E. H. S.

Benjamin X. Schwartz—"Lippencott."

Manager Varsity Baseball Team '20, Varsity Football '21, Manager Varsity Baseball '21, Normal Club, Athletic Council, '20, Member Shakespearean Society, Editorial Staff of Birch Bark.

Benny came here from Mansfield State Normal, and has proven himself both an excellent scholar and a veteran in athletics. He plays first base, and never misses the ball. As a right end in football, he was one of the hardest fighting men ever on our field, and always "got his man."

Among his studies, Benny shines forth especially in Latin. He was a wizard in Virgil. He is interested in teaching, and will some day probably be the head of education in his home, Throop.

Who sends Benny the pink envelopes? Why is his secret password "Zoppy?" Who first called him Lippencott? These are mysteries which we cannot solve. Benny is a good sport in every way.

Margaret B. Shively—"Peg."

"Well, listen—."

Margaret came here as a Junior after graduating from the East Stroudsburg High School. She brought with her a fund of unselfish interest in everyone. Her pleasant smile and kind words have been like rays of sunshine in the Day Students room.

Her studies have been to her the most important thing in Normal and she has given them much earnest effort. She is very studious and around the Day Students room is frequently heard asking about the French lesson. This seems to be her favorite subject although those taught by Dr. LaRue are a close second.

Peg's secret wish is to be a missionary. We know that Peg will be a success for her pleasant ways will surely endear her to her pupils.

EVALINE A. SIMOSON—"Evvie."

Secretary of the Senior Class, Secretary of the Minisink Society, Birch Bark Staff, Varsity Basketball '20 and '21, Glee Club and Girls' Athletic Association.

"Holy Jimocan."

A glance at the lines above show what Evaline has contributed to her class and the various activities of the school. When she first appeared among us, we thought her a quiet little girl but when we knew her we changed our mind.

We foresee a brilliant future for her since she possesses much musical ability and has the reputation of being a star in basketball. She is what one would call an all around good sport.

Though Evaline seems to like teaching we think that Fate has woven brighter threads into her web of life and we cannot predict a long teaching career for her.

CATHERINE SNYDER—"Snyder."

Shakespearean Society, Recording Secretary, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Wait until I master that."

On September 2, 1919 we were glad to receive into our midst this bright and cheerful miss. On the hall Catherine is always heard singing her favorite song being "Sweetie."

In Model the children are facinated by her kind ways and charming smile, and she demands respect and attention as well.

Catherine tells us that two years seems an awful long time to teach, of course we all know that she spends her vacant periods writing letters to one over the hills and far away.

We hope that in the future Catherine will be one of our noted musicians, if not by voice by instrument. "Snyder" was the famous factotum of third hall.

She is deeply interested in poetry and other things.

CATHERINE STOROSKO—"Kate."

Shakespearean Literary Society, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Association.

"Believe me."

Kate is one of our many representatives from Nanticoke. Since she has arrived, she has worked with us side by side and we have been enabled to discover her many splendid traits. She is always willing to aid others, especially the Juniors in basket-making, as it is one of her specialties. If Kate isn't engaged in basket-making after school hours, we can find her greatly contented reading psychology books.

Often as strollers would walk down the lower end of Second Hall they would be attracted by melodious strains issuing from the music room. Upon investigation it always proved to be Kate.

Kate is a fond lover of nature and sees it with a poetical eye. On any pleasant spring day she would be seen strolling through the woody hills of East Stroudsburg, with her collar buttoned up high about her neck and a wide brimmed hat to protect her from sunburn.

We all wish her the greatest of success in her chosen profession and expect to see her one of Nanticoke's prominent teachers.

MYRTLE V. STOUT—"Bud."

Glee Club, Athletic Association, Varsity Basketball Team, Y. W. C. A., Minisink Society, Birch Bark Staff, Mountaineer Staff.

"Oh, Gosh."

Although Myrtle entered late in the Junior year it was not long until she fell into the daily routine of Normal work. She is very fond of sports, especially basketball, in which she stars as forward. The ball being placed in her hands the spectators feel confident that the score will increase two points by a field goal which she is sure to make. Another favorite sport in which she indulges a great deal is tennis.

Few girls possess the talent in art which Myrtle has shown in many instances. She has often told us of her lofty ambitions in the profession of a Primary Teacher, but we can easily imagine her as a mistress of a cottage for two.

Bud, as she is familiarly known by her pals, is very jolly, and her laugh can be heard when she and her pals assemble in her room. But like all other girls she has chosen one as best pal and Olive and Myrtle can always be found together. Olive says if only next year were over because she will miss Bud.

Myrtle is jolly, also wise,
She has far-seeing dark brown eyes;
Her smile is merry and always there,
And in sports she always does her share.

Mary E. Stoyak—"Mae."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Who brings sunshine into the life of another has sunshine in her own."

When you first look at Mary she gives you the impression that she is serious and sober, but first impressions are not always lasting. Amidst the studious and silent hours of the evening, her laugh may be heard suddenly breaking the stillness of the hall. She is always ready to dawn upon you with a new joke which usually "takes." She is also a wonder at doing favors.

Mary is very studious when she wants to be. She never leaves a task, when begun, until it is finished and well done. Her duty, first and last, as she sees it is to be fully and adequately prepared to teach her class in the Training School. Her efforts show that she will be very successful when leaving her Alma Mater.

Mary's chief hobby is baseball when she is not occupied by her studies. Up to date she has not missed a practice.

As one of the timekeepers on the hall, Mary cannot easily be surpassed. From early morning till late in the evening there is always someone asking for correct time and Mary gives it with a smile.

Mary's ambition is to teach two years and then go to Chicago to teach, perhaps—? At any rate we wish her the best of success in all undertakings.

Helen E. Sweeney—"Sweeney."

Shakespearean Society, Glee Club, Athletic Association.

"Well you have courage."

When Dame Fortune was in her most benign mood she ushered into our class this demure and truly jolly little lassie from Olyphant. Helen has made a host of friends in her sojourn among us at Normal. She has always endeavored to be a true friend and classmate, ever helping in our diverse social affairs. Her winning ways and wonderful personality have captivated all and particularly a certain young man, the name sake of the famous Jack Dempsey. Helen has but one aim in life which is namely to obey the mandate of the State Education Dept. "To teach two years"—and then—

Bertha A. TeWinkle—"Bert."

Minisink Society, Glee Club, Girls' Athletic Association, Editorial Staff, Varsity Basketball, Dramatic Club.

"Oh Heavens!"

We have only been favored with Bert's company during our Senior year as she spent her Junior year at the Edinboro State Normal School.

When Bert first arrived we thought that she was very quiet and reserved, but as we came to know her better we felt our first impression was all wrong. When occasion demands she can be the jolliest member of a party, but she always retains that quiet and reserved manner which we all envy. She is one of the few girls of our class of whom it can be said—

"She that was ever fair and never proud
Had tongue at will, and yet was never loud."

When it comes to athletics Bert is right there. She was a star on our Varsity basketball team, but we fear that the influence was not for the best, as she returned from one of the trips minus the greater part of her hair.

Bert's great ambition is to win a Ph. D. We know that she will accomplish this, but what the fates have decreed for her afterwards is hard to say.

Florence Turner—"Turner."

Athletic Association

"It made me so mad."

Allow me to introduce Miss Florence Turner of the enormous city of East Stroudsburg. She is one of our illustrious day students, residing on the well known Minisink Farm. Oh, yes, Florence firmly believes that the Minisink Society was named after her farm. At any rate we could not get along without Florence, for where would the Normal students get all their apples and peaches if the Turner girls did not supply them?

At any time of the day Florence greets us with "Got your French done?" or "Alfred was so bad." She would be perfectly happy if third grade should disappear in space. If she survives that grade she will be able to teach anywhere.

Seriously, our Florence is working hard to become an efficient teacher and she certainly will become a fine one if she keeps up her good work. At any rate, her day student friends are in back of her wishing her the best of luck in the world.

RUTH L. UNDERWOOD.

President of Y. W. C. A., Minisink Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club, Birch Bark Staff, Mountaineer Staff.

"My Goodness."

To be seen and not heard seems to be Ruth's maxim. But do not think that she does not indulge in any of the fun that goes on. At certain times she feels especially jocular and then like everyone else, enjoys a frolic with her chums on First Hall South.

During her Junior year, this demure little miss was chosen as a delegate of the Y. W. C. A. to attend a convention at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. From tales brought back, some exciting things must have happened. To this day many of the incidents are repeated and listened to with great interest.

Ruth is especially gifted since she possesses a very charming voice. Many the time we have enjoyed listening to one of the beautiful selections, which she favors us with, but only after a great deal of persuasion.

As a student, Ruth scores high. She has learned the rule, "Work first, play after." We feel sure that she is on the highway to success.

IVA V. VAN VLEIT—"Bobbie."

"It's a physical impossibility."

Look people, at our Bobbie, who hails from the city of Stroudsburg. She is the originator of the "Normal Bobbed Hair." You could see her coming to school at any time of the day with her brown bag, which always contained an ample supply of salted peanuts for the History of Ed. class.

Along with her electives she has taken philosophy under the tutorship of Prof. Davidson. As "turn about" is fair play she taught him dancing. Many new steps have originated from this source.

Although a privileged character in the day students room she is, nevertheless, a most diligent and enthusiastic student. She has never been known to fail in anything she has attempted, not even in the discipline of third grade.

If the senior class would allow me to voice their sentiments, I would say, "She is loved by each and everyone of its members."

PAULINE U. VOSHESKI—"Paul."

Athletic Association, Glee Club, Y. W. C. A.

"Ye Gods!"

Pauline joined our happy throng in 1919. She has become one of the most popular second hall girls.

She delights in athletics and on the baseball diamond she promises to out-rival even "Babe" Ruth.

This lass joined the French class in her Junior year, and if she continues to study it throughout the year with her usual vim, we fear Paul may be sent to France as an interpreter.

Upon first glance one would think her a very quiet miss, but we, her classmates, know the capacity for mischief that lies back of her placid countenance. She takes a delight in all kinds of sports, especially baseball.

Paul will certainly be a wonderful teacher, for she likes children, and always has her teaching material well in hand. She has taught very successfully as a teacher during the past few months, and we know she will do it in the future.

IRENE R. VLOSSAK—"Billie."

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Irene is quite sedate and dignified but Oh! my dear, when "Billie" gets started you might as well let loose—the sooner the better.

Even with her capacity for a comedienne, if you turn her around in your mind's eye, and look at the other side of her nature, you'll find a tender, motherly girl.

Irene is never too busy to listen to other's troubles nor is she ever too stupid or tired to give them advice or aid. She seldom leaves her room during study hours and has profited by it. But during her leisure hours her melodious voice may be heard participating in duets and has a soothing effect on fatigued minds.

We never need a "riser" on Second Hall North as we have Irene to act in that capacity. Only for her gentle but firm knock many of the girls would miss their breakfasts.

Irene has won fame by her fine teaching and happy the children who find themselves in her care. Her chief hobby, when not occupied by her work, is crocheting and I do wish you could see her hope-chest!

Irene's ambition is to teach for two years, and then become a pharmacist. That we'll miss Irene is obvious and we wish her the best of success after leaving Alma Mater.

DOROTHY WANNAMAKER—"Dot."

Athletic Association

"Now wouldn't that jar you!"

During "Dot's" four years at Normal she was always a faithful day student.

The saying is that professor's daughters are mostly goody-goodies, but Dot. is an exception—if you ever heard of a day student trick without Dot in it you may be sure it was not a real one. She is undoubtedly a good sport. If on a bright spring day we don't feel like studying Dot is always one of the first to propose a diversion, but if necessary she is sure to forge ahead and keep up the spirit of a musty class room.

Her ability as a teacher is shown by the profound attachment the pupils of the Training School have for her.

PAULINE WANNEMAKER—"Polly."

Minisink Society, Y. W. C. A., Athletic Association.

"Oh Gee Whizz."

A timid, modest girl who left Polk Township High School, and sedately tripped through the Recitation Hall first as a Junior, then as a member of the lordly Senior Class. However, we know her as a Senior. She is a distinguished member of the Day Student Bunch, and although a quiet, reserved girl, she is right there with the fun when it comes to having a social event of any sort in the cloak room of the Recitation building. Very often there are peals of laughter heard coming out from the cloak room door, and you might be assured that one of them is "Polly's." If you have wondered about her Blue Mondays, remember there is a good road from—over which an Overland may easily travel on Saturday and Sunday evenings.

In the Training School the children are fascinated by her kind ways and charming manner, and she draws attention and respect from all. She believes in beginning things right and she was never known to attempt anything she could not finish.

RELLA WEIDMAN—"Ted."

"Well, I'll be kicked."

Rella joined us in her junior year, and has traveled faithfully from Portland to Stroudsburg every day. Rella is a very industrious girl and her pastime has been spent in preparation for teaching. We predict that she will make a dignified and efficient school teacher. Rella enjoys taking health education, and her aim in the future is to be a trained nurse, in which we have no doubt but what she will make a good one, especially with her sunny disposition.

The Day Students room would be dull without Rella's melodious laughter floating through the air. Whenever any one is blue they can find much sympathy by consulting Rella.

We do not predict a long teaching career for Rella for she is already building other air castles.

TABITHA P. WILLIS—"Tab."

Minisink Society, Treasurer Y. W. C. A., Glee Club, Athletic Association, Cast of "Sabotage," Senior Basketball Team, Birch Bark Staff, Mountaineer Staff. Dramatic Club.

"Ah, get out."

Fortune smiled on the class of '21 when Tab. enrolled as a member of it. She is witty and wise and a sweeter disposition could never be found. During her two years at E. S. N. S. Tab has won many friends and has become very popular among them. She took a prominent part in all the social affairs, especially in athletics. Here she showed her skill in handling the basketball.

Tab. frequently remarked that she would like to be a nurse and we feel sure that she would make a success of it. We have drawn our conclusions from the manner in which she so deftly cares for the ill.

Tab. liked all her subjects but her favorite one was School Efficiency, because she is a firm believer in efficiency and shows it in everything she undertakes.

As she goes into the world of work we wish her every success that comes through earnest effort.

Kathryn C. Weiss—"Suds."

Shakespearean Society, Athletic Association, Glee Club.

"Well, Gee Whiz!"

We often wonder what Normal life would have been if Wanamie had not sent to us as its representative Kathryn C. Weiss. From the moment she entered our midst she has held audiences spellbound with her charming voice.

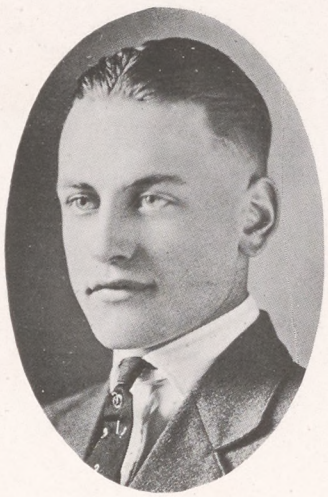

Kathryn has a sweet disposition and is always ready to lend a willing hand to a friend in need, especially in a case of homesickness because she knows just how it feels.

In her career as a student teacher she has shown her ability to succeed.

With her charming ways she has captivated the hearts of the children.

We need never worry concerning her success as a school "marm".

However, the profession will lose an excellent advocate when Kathryn embarks upon the seas of matrimony.

Wilbur Wilson—"Jack."

Vice President Freshman Class 1917-18, Sophomore Class 1918-19, Junior Class 1919-20, President Normal Club 1921, Shakespearean Society 1918-20, Minisink Society 1920-21, Varsity Basketball 1919-20, Captain Varsity Basketball 1920-21, Varsity Football 1919-20, "Married 1920," Normal Male Quartet 1918-19, Casts of Captain of Plymouth and Sabotage 1920, Dramatic Club, 1921, Cast of Miss Civilization.

Jack has grown up with the school and is indeed a good advertisement for Normal culture. He was born in Flemington, N. J., and attended the Phillipsburg public schools two years.

As an athlete he is in a class "sui geneus." No follower of athletics at Normal will ever forget his records. In basketball 1919-20 he showed his versatility by playing every position on the team. As captain of team 1920-21 he proved to be the tower of strength in the team. He was the highest individual scorer in basketball 1920-21. He was the only man to score on Penn State Freshmen in the 1920 season and fully deserved the commendation of Coach Maguire, as "Best center in scholastic ranks, season 1920." As a student Wilbur has a very creditable reputation.

When Jack passes beneath the arch of his Alma Mater the school will lose a genuine student and the Alumni Association will receive a valued member.

MOLLIE K. ZALNERAITIS—"Jerrie."

Shakespearean Society, Orchestra, Glee Club.

"I think what you think. What do you think?"

Mollie's merry laugh can be heard at all times and a girl with a sunnier disposition is hard to discover. She is what you would call an all around good sport.

Every morning Mollie can be seen wending her way to chapel with the "fiddle" under her arm.

She is a member of the "Scrub Faculty," and is loved by all the children in the Training School.

She is an accomplished violinist as well as a dancer and is always ready to partake in all of the social functions held at the Normal gymnasium. Her one ambition is to become a noted "singer", and we believe she will some time, as she is improving day by day.

The State of Pennsylvania says "teach three years," and we have not heard Mollie make any additions to the requirements of the law.

Class Will

"Our greatest glory consists not in never falling,
But in rising every time we fall."

To the submissive, obliging and humble class of Twenty-two:

WE, THE administrators of the will of Twenty-one about to die, wish to bring before you the legal declaration of her mind as to the disposition of her property after her death.

The Will

We the class of Twenty-one being about to leave this sphere and continue on our journey upward, being in full possession and of a sound mind, memory, and understanding, do make and publish this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills by us at any time heretofore made.

First: We do direct and command that our funeral services shall be conducted by our friends and well wishers, the faculty only entreating that said funeral shall be carried on with all the dignity and pomp our social and intellectual scale has merited.

We hereby dispose of our earnings and gifts of the fates as follows, viz:

Item: We give and bequeath to the Senate restful nights and peaceful dreams. We promise them a rest from drafting special rules and regulations. No more shall we be compelled to bend our haughty knee to its commands.

Item: We give and bequeath to our adorable sister, twenty-two the blessings and favors of the fates with which we have been showered. We leave in its charge the silver cup we so triumphantly won from them in basketball.

Item: We give and bequeath to the meek and lovable Preparatory Class the following advice, which, accepted, will lead them to glory; copy Twenty-one; learn to work if not to win; development comes sooner through bearing failures than successes.

Item: The subjoined list will be recognized as entailed estates, to which we do declare the class of Twenty-two the real and rightful successors:

First: The Senior seats in chapel to which as Juniors, Twenty-Two has been unknown. Let every member show his gratitude for the gift by being promptly in his seat each morning.

Second: Student Teaching. This is perhaps the most valuable, the most exciting of our list of estates. We cheerfully permit Twenty-two to treat it as its dignity demands. May they inculcate judicious habits in preparing for State Board.

Now come the few things hardest for us to part with. To our successors we reluctantly must leave our courses in History of Education, Economics, and Citizenship, and let us say that they will be the wiser for entering into and becoming acquainted with Cubberly's secret haunts.

Besides these enforced gifts we leave not of necessity but of our own free will the heavenly disposition whch has so distinguished Twenty-one, our blessing and a pledge of Friendship from henceforth.

All the rest and residue of our property whatsoever, and wheresoever, of what nature, kind and quality soever it may be, and not herein before disposed of (after paying our debts and funeral expenses,) we give and bequeath to the Deans for their use and benefit absolutely and we do hereby constitute and appoint the said Deans sole executors of this, our last will and testament.

In Witness Whereof, We the Class of Twenty-one, the testators have to this our will, set our hand and seal, this fourteenth day of June, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred twenty-one.

Leona L. Genetti,
Tessie Koff,
Catherine Casey.

Class Roll

A is for Anzman, the bright eyed Miss;
Eleanor is always first on the list,
And all the funny things she says
Will make you laugh for many days.

B is for Bagley usually bright and gay,
Why should Marg. be another way,
Life holds for her many good things
In hopes and joys old friendships bring.

B is for Barrett who plays basketball,
And in the game can outstrip them all,
She studies her lessons night and day
And with a smile drives trouble away.

Barteau Margaret who is very quiet,
She is also very still.
I do not think she'd even shriek
If she fell down Portland Hill.

Bartholomew, Liela has the giggles,
And laughs from morn till night,
But we're all glad there's some one
Who puts her gloom to flight.

Bartholomew Ralph a Senior true,
So dignified and prim.
What I can't see is how you made
An accent strong in Gym.

Beam is tall, tis true,
But graciously she bends,
To greet her classmates old and new
And make them all her friends.

B is for Beatty, a bonnie sweet lassie,
Who comes from Olyphant town,
She brought her pink cheeks with her
Which are of great renown.

Beck, Blanche the light haired miss
With music in her heart.
Blanche, we must remember you,
When from us you're apart.

B is for Boyle, Mary by name
In playing basketball has won great fame.
She's learned to be some dancer, too
And rarely ever is she blue.

B is for Burg, a prim little lass
Ruth is always sure she will pass.
Even tho she is so small
On calling night she receives a call.

Burke, Rita, you've a pleasant way about you,
The kind that wins a friend.
May you ever be so lucky
This wish for you we send.

Callahan, a dear little girl with loving heart
From whom we all do hate to part
Eyes that are twinkly, blue and kind
Smiles that leave sorrow far behind.

C is for Casey who is a singer
A melodious voice has she,
And some day I'm a thinking
A nightingale she'll be.

C is for Clarke, better known as Bea
Her favorite saying "Was he asking for me,"
Her greatest joy was walking down town
Was it to see the boys or walk around.

C is for Cliff, tall and slim
When with Veronica, looked very prim,
He was a student fair and fine
And always reported to classes on time.

Cobb, if its good goods that comes
In bundles neat and small,
Then Agnes you must be,
The best one of us all.

C is for Conway, who comes from Plains,
Always joking seldom complains
She always said an old maid she'd remain,
But recently became interested in Romaine.

C is for Cosgrove, a dear sweet girl,
She's tall and rather slim,
She said she'd never stop trying
Until a Squire's son she'd win.

C is for Cunningham, who isn't very tall,
Yet Bert thinks she's all right,
For her calling nights are best of all,
And in them she delights.

C is for Cunningham, our Captain bold
To him success we owe.
Whose athletic ability nothing could mar
Carl surely was a star.

C is for Curran, Lucy by name,
Whose bashful ways have won her fame.
She came to us from far away
And won many friends from day to day.

C is for Cyphers who seldom speaks
May not be heard for many weeks.
But then still water e'er runs deep
They must be wise who silence keep.

D is for Davidson who finds books in running brooks.
That neath cool shadows glide,
We surely in our David find,
A wealth of knowledge wide.

D is for Dorothy Davis,
Fair of face and mind,
With a gentle disposition
And a smile that's very kind.

Domzalski liked to be dignified,
And tried to act her part,
But always smiles belied her ways,
And showed her jolly heart.

D is for Dowling who is so neat,
Margaret is so very sweet,
His name, oh, please disclose,
And now your rhymes complete.

A nice girl too is she,
And if you get acquaintd
A good friend she will be.

E is for Englehardt, not too serious,
George is not too gay,
George knows how to study
And also how to play.

Evans, when the teacher wants opinions
Up goes Becky's hand,
We'll wager that some future day
T'will be in great demand.

Fehnel is always happy,
Free from care seems she,
She wears a smile you can see a mile
What can her prescription be?

Fox is an artist,
And that you all can see,
For every day her hair is fixed
In styles so prettily.

F is for Frable faithful to her lessons,
And as faithful to her friends.
This a virtue much to envy,
Strength to character it lends.

G is for Garvey like a ray of sunshine,
And happy all the while,
She makes friends of all who meet her,
With her jolly smile.

G is for Genetti always very neat,
She likes to keep her classroom seat.
In one of the studies we have here

G is for Genther a model,
That we all admit,
She always knows her lessons
And gladly does her bit.

G is for Gibbons, who is always so keen,
And always thinking of Kathleen,
He is also President of our class
And very fond of Reap, the lass.

Gillespie's voice is melody,
Clear and soft to hear,
Every word she utters loud
Is music to the ear.

G is for Goldberg, called Dora,
Quiet and unassuming is she,
Yet a worker as good as a worker be,
Taking to life quite seriously.

G is for Golden, who has quite a name,
In dancing she has won great fame
Vivacious, clever, always a smile
Generally able to set a new style.

Hegarty is the kind of a girl to know,
One who always looks "just so"
She always kids us all along
But many hearts to her belong.

Hanahan is an artist clever
Sure to grace the Hall of Fame,
All her classmates wonder whether
She will ever change her name.

Hess is always happy
Bubbling o'er with glee
Quiet the happiest mortal
One could wish to see.

Honor with studies is severe,
Knows her lessons very day,
Such a girl may never fear
Wending thro lifes rocky way.

H is for Horn better known as Flo
Tall and slender are you,
And in your school work Florence
You have proven true.

H is for Huffman, who is quite tall
But she doesn't care,
When she rides on horseback
Way up in the air.

Jerry's smile is like the sunshine
A twinkling star, each eye,
A shining light, our Mollie,
And this we can't deny

Jones lovs to argue,
Can talk you up and down
Until I'm really thinking
He's the talker of the town.

J is for Jones, Louise is her name
Who surely will earn fame,
For when it comes to gymnasium
She always wins the game.

K is for Kane with dates galore
One never see's her o'er books pore
But my, how she does blush so red
When something about Don is said.

Kemp is quiet and subdued in his nature,
A brilliant boy is he,
It's easy to imagine
His success that is to be.

Koegel can make a gloomy face
Turn as joyous as can be,
For she is always joking
A fun maker is she

Koff is calm and gentle
Thus she wends her way.
May her life be always
One long happy day.

K is for Kresge better known as Floss.
You can bet she'd make some boss,
Always ready for some fun
No matter how the school is run.

L stands for Larson,
Laura is all there,
This is the type of girl
That really is rare.

L is for Lavin, a handsome young lad,
When among the girls, he was always glad.
He was witty, wise and keen,
In the lounging room was always seen.

Lewis is a lovely girl,
A good sport too is she,
In dancing she likes to whirl,
A model she would like to be.

L stands for Long
Kenneth wins fame
By showing his spirit
In each Normal game.

L is for Loftus better known as Nan,
When is comes to Holleran she'll get a man,
We can't censure Nan for her dancing fine
Her musical feet are to blame.

M is for Manko who in all classes did shine
O'er passing never did she pine,
Until her friends to the farm returned
Oh how she waited and for letters yearned.

Melvin, a sweet girl called Liz,
The name isn't nice, but she is.
Uncommonly sweet from her head to her feet,
Is that pretty young Scotch lassie, Liz.

M stands for Miller(Edna)
She never gets mad
While in Virgil class
Even tho we're all sad.

M is for Miller, a preacher's child you see,
And that explains why she should be
Always ready for some fun
But always caught in the long run.

M is for Mimnaugh, who is not too serious,
In thinking of Pittston sometimes gets delirious,
George, we know your wit will win fame,
Unless you change Celelia's name.

M stands for Mitchell,
We like Henry like Honey,
For on behalf of the Seniors,
He protests our money.

M stands for Moorehead,
A dignified Senior,
A pleasant disposition,
And a sweet demeanor.

M is for Mulherin, happy and gay
Smiles and studies the livelong day,
She comes from Glen Lyon a town she holds dear,
We will miss you Anna, when you leave here.

M is for Mullaney, better known as Spick—
Merril's and Lewis are first on her list.
Irene was never still
She always talked and she always will.

M is for Mullen who loves a good time,
When at Normal she never did pine,
Margaret comes from Dickson City,
That's the reason she's so witty.

M is for Murphy, Margaret by name,
Who as a pianist will win great fame,
She was a member of the Senate
And did her part while she was in it.

McAndrew, Mac she is called by some
She keeps things round her on the hum.
Helen learned to be some dancer, too,
And rarely ever is she blue.

M is for McAndrew, Stretch for short,
Very fond of outdoor sports,
Very fond of people from Plains,
And about them never complains.

M is for McCann who is slim and neat,
When it comes to casing she can't be beat,
We must admit she's just the kind
A nice young man would like to find.

M stands fo McCusker
Ella strives in the race
With marks of one hundred
To gain a first place.

M is for McGinnis, also for Mary,
Sings in the morning, like a canary.
Receives daily letters from Gill,
Always did and always will.

M is for McNelis who comes from Freeland
On the hall, she's always squealing,
Winifred made her share of noise,
With the girls and with the boys.

N is for Narconis, who is very slim,
You ought to see her taking gym.
She likes to receive letters daily,
From a friend whom they call Bailey.

O is for Oswald, well known as Pat
He plays the clarinet and more than that,
He's always ready to make some fun,
Whenever he thinks it can be done.

P is for Paddon a very quiet lass,
Perhaps the most modest in the class.
Charlie, we hope in years to come,
Success in the world you will have won.

P stands for Pospiesinki
Of Bertha we tell,
Her Training School students
Liked her very well.

P stands for Price
Beatrice likes to walk,
But above verything else
She does like to talk.

P stands for Price,
Oh! Who would deprive her,
Of Harriet's friend
The girl she calls Ida?

R stands for Ratajski
John do not grieve,
But tell us the story of Adam and Eve.

R stands for Rushin,
Quite, quiet is Tillie,
We do not know whether
His name is Jack or Billie.

R is for Reap, who is very prim,
She comes from Jessup, where the boats come in,
She cased with Gibbons till the last
And in this art was unsurpassed.

R is for Reedy, who is full of fun,
In writing to Marty, she's kept on the run,
Mary is a sweet charming girl,
Faithful and true to all in her class.

R is for Roche, a very sweet lass,
Always smiling in French class,
Helen, one day why did you look so sad
Was it French or did the teacher that made you mad.

S is for Saile, the Editor—man,
He always is busy, but helps where he can,
Societies, classes, orations, or balls,
Our Ed has ever stood first in them all.

S is for Schwartz, Ben is his name,
His athletic ability won him fame,
His pleasing manner won him friends
He cased with the girls till the end.

S stands for Shively,
And Margaret fair,
Though she's always silent,
Sweet Margaret is there.

S stands for Simoson,
Good looks, Eve don't like,
The poem she likes best is
"The house built by Jack."

S is for Snyder, Catherine by name,
Always interested in raising cain,
Her greatest joys: were mastering songs,
And keeping people from doing wrong.

S stands tor Storosko
It clearly is seen,
That a very nice girl
Is sweet Catherine.

S is for Stout,
In the basketball game,
Myrtle has won
The greatest of fame.

S is for Stoyak
It is understood
That Mary is studios
Quiet and good.

S is for Sweeney, who laid away toys
And suddenly became a very sweet girl
Helen you certainly can vamp the boys
And play with them all as if they were toys.

T is for TeWinkle who drives away our sorrow
By promising us a letter tomorrow.
In languages she is always right,
We hope this star will be ever bright.

T stands for Turner,
Florence won't shirk
Doing her duty
Though the hardest of work.

U stands for Underwood
Wiser every day
As an honest student
And head of the Y. W. C. A.

V stands for Van Vliet
Though you try with your might
To diminish her joy
Iva shines with delight.

V stands for Vosheski
Of Pauline we say
She is steady and sure
From day unto day.

V stands for Vlossak
Full joy and not wrath
Lights Irene's face
When she studies her math.

W stands for Wannemaker
Dorothy would rather Teach some other subject
Not Latin, like father.

W stands for Wannemaker
It never has been
That one single person
Don't like Pauline.

W stands for Weidman
Rella never tails
To reach school at noon
When her Portland train hails.

W is for Weiss with large brown eyes,
Kathryn is also very wise,
More over she's a sweet charming lass
Faithful and true to all in her class.

W stands for Willis
Tabitha prays
For one of the honors,
She got it, with A's.

W stands for Wilson
Of Wilbur girls rave,
Blue eyes and brown hair
So gallant and grave.

The Junior Class

Junior Class History

THE illustrious class of nineteen twenty-one was organized in the fall of nineteen eighteen. They immediately began to distinguish themselves both in class room and on the field of sports. Eighty-five new members were admitted to the class in the fall of nineteen twenty, and with this addition the class immediately became a factor in the life of the school, Our class is the first one to come under the regime of State instruction and direct administration which has been inaugurated here this year. Under the efficient and sympathetic help of our Faculty we have endeavored to assimilate these new subjects and have for the most part been highly successful. Our one aim in our entire Normal career is to emerge from these halls of learning with sufficient preparation and ability to be capable additions to the greatest of all professions, that of the Teacher. What more noble aim could anyone desire?

We tell with exceptional pride of the doings of our athletes who so valiantly upheld the name of the Junior Class. Among these were Kirkwood, Cohen, Cliff, Dempsey, Kennedy, Sadowski, and Conway. Agnes Cusma also gained her letter on the Girls Varsity.

In the social life of Normal we have ever displayed an active interest, our class is talented in many ways. On the platform of debate, oration, and dramatics we have proven ourselves. Our Shakespearean and Minisink members have ever been faithful to their respective societies. In the Dramatic Club under the efficient leadership of Miss Sullivan we have developed our future Booths, Trees, and Mansfields of immortal fame.

Our class officers selected with extreme sagacity and forethought have demonstrated their fitness for their positions. They are Mr. Edward Boyle, President; Miss Helen Langan, Vice President; Miss Mary Larkin, Secretary, and John McGowan, Treasurer. On the Senatorial Staff which guides the destinies and the social life of East Stroudsburg State Normal's student body we are represented with due consideration by Mr. Harold Kennedy, Mr. Harold Dempsey, Mr. Herbert Cliff and Miss Anna Gillespie.

In our few years sojourn amidst the beautiful surroundings and good friends whom we have met at Normal we have acquired a knowledge which is perhaps not all from the Class room and the pedagogue, we have met friends whom we can never forget. To our very good friends, the Seniors who have successfully traversed the shadowy and rough roads of Knowledge we, the Juniors, from the depths of our Hearts, say: Farewell and Godspeed you on your road which has so self-sacrificingly been trodden by your glorious predecessors of the past centuries. May the beacon lights of Service to Humanity light you safely to your goal.

The Preparatory Class

Preparatory Class

AMONG those who arrived at the Alma Mater at the beginning of the academic year were those so eminently known as "Preps." For some of them it was the first year of boarding school life and Normal held for them many novelties. But, however, in a few days the program which they were instructed to follow became a routine and they soon felt themselves "old students."

The year has been a very successful one for the preparatory students. Intellectually they have achieved much. Answering to their gregarious instincts they have mingled with their fellow students and upper classmen, thus enriching the social life of the student body. They have also made successful efforts to entertain their fellow students. In the literary society, the dramatic club, the orchestra, and on the athletic field and in the gymnasium they have responded with remarkable alacrity. Immediately before the Christmas Recess they favored the faculty, students, and friends of the school by giving an entertainment consisting of plays, speeches, recitations, and solos exhibiting the various talents of the class.

The fine social spirit with which they were inbred has been a vital factor in the prograss of the school and has earned for them a welcome return to the school next year for they are sure to exert a wholesome influence upon the life of the school.

The lofty ideals which constitute the incentives and excite the determination of the preparatory students make it natural to predict great futures for them. As individuals they have chosen various occupations thru which to serve their fellow beings. There are those who, by practicing law, will seek justice for their fellowmen; those who, after having been trained in the use of medicine, will administer aid to men's physical bodies; those who, by their Divine inspiration and by their control of the English language, will enrich the world's literature; those who will serve thru mercantile pursuits; those who, as teachers, will mold the minds of the rising generations and shape the nation's citizens of tomorrow; and, last but not least, those who, after having received theological training will labor for men's eternal welfare and engrave upon the tablets of immortal minds "something that will brighten to all eternity." Yes there is no doubt that, in these days when there are so many opportunities to do something really worth while, the lives of the members of this class will exert such a wholesome and powerful influence that it shall be as a stone thrown upon the lake of time, making ripples and which shall broaden into waves and go dancing against the shores of eternity.

THE CLIO CLUB

The Clio Society

THIS organization is composed of the students of this institution who have shown themselves to be particularly interested in the study of history, who believe in the significance of human endeavor, past and present, and who desire to make the future better by keen insight into the development of the life and institutions of man. Under the kindly guidance of Clio the Grecian Muse of History we have banded ourselves together with these aims in view and have already proven our worth by our initial efforts.

The officers are:

President ..... RALPH BARTHOLOMEW
Vice President ..... WILLIAM BURKE
Secretary-Treasurer ..... HELEN ECKHART
Faculty Advisor ..... DR. HELEN B. TRIMBLE

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club

THIS association was organized at the beginning of the present semester and has already proven it's worth to the school. Under the capable direction of Miss Eleene Sullivan head of the Department of Elocution and Dramatics the members of this club have presented several plays of true literary worth and the club is preparing for a performance of Shakespeare's comedy "The Midsummer Night's Dream."

THE BLUE PENCIL CLUB

The Blue Pencil Club

MISS Rosenkrans suggested the idea of a club for those persons interested in literary work. A number of the students who were enthusiastic literary followers, immediately got together. They formed the "Blue Pencil Club."

At a later date, officers were elected. They were: President, Margaret Dowling; Vice President, Athol Cliff; Secretary, Jane Delaney; Treasurer, Ralph Bartholomew.

The club was formed, with the aid of Miss Rosencrans, who became a member, not only with the idea of interesting itself in literary work, but finally to grow into an organization of writers. Thus far, the club has given pleasure to its members, and also much valuable literary knowledge and it appears as tho it shall rise to greater glory in the coming years.

THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club

THIS organization is composed of the young women of the Normal School who are particularly interested in music and who are gifted with talent as musicians. The Club is under the able direction of Miss Ona May Warner, a musician of ability and the Club in itself is an organization which promises to become one of the foremost in the School as it becomes older. The membership is about seventy-five and the students always look forward with pleasure to the concerts and musicales which are rendered so ably by the Girls Glee Club.

The Club has always played an important part in the Graduation festivities of the school and will no doubt delight our guests as usual in June.

The officers are as follows:

Secretary ..... HELEN M. CURRAN
Director ..... ONA MAY WARNER

THE NORMAL CLUB

The Normal Club

THE NORMAL CLUB was organized in the Fall of 1916 and had for its chief purpose the raising of funds for the purchasing of sweaters, miniature gold foot balls, basketballs and base balls, which were awarded to the "letter men" on the different athletic teams as a mark of distinction of athletic ability and appreciation for services rendered.

The purpose for whch the Club was originally organized no longer exists but the Club has continued to grow and its membership now totals thirty four (34). Its chief purpose now is "Service to Normal." Membership in the Club carries with it the added responsibility of upholding the honor and dignity of the school, of being a true gentleman, of being especially interested in the welfare of the school and its activities, of cherishing the traditions of Normal and in short of working towards that laudable goal of making our school one of the foremost of its kind in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Y. W. C. A.

Y. W. C. A.

THE YEAR 1920-21 has proved to be one of the most successful in the history of the Y. W. C. A.

Early in the year four of our members were chosen as delegates to represent this organization at the annual conference of Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. members, at Juniata College, Huntington, Pennsylvania. These delegates brought back a message which gave the members higher ideals and inspired them to greater service.

Two weeks after the opening of school we had the first of many pleasant social gatherings—the annual Bloomer Party. The event of the evening proved to be the pantomime "Deaf and Dumb Church." This affair introduced the Y. W. C. A. to the new students and gave them some idea of the good times which were to follow.

Soon after this, in order to increase the membership of our Association, a Membership Contest was held with Marjorie Niles and Georgene Miller as leaders. At the close of the contest a banquet was given to welcome the new members of the Association.

The Candlelight Service, by which the new members were received into the Association this year, was novel to this institution.

The cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. is composed of:

President.....RUTH L. UNDERWOOD
Vice President.....MARJORIE NILES
Secretary.....ADA R. HESS
Treasurer.....TABITHA WILLIS
Pianist.....GEORGENE MILLER
Faculty Advisor.....CARRIE E. BAKER
Ex-Officio Member of all Committees.....MRS. E. W. BROWN

THE BIRCH-BARK STAFF

The Birch-Bark Staff

THE Birch Bark Magazine is the flourishing and representative organ of the students and has always been a vital factor in the life of the school. It was first published in 1918 and has had a very successful career. Under the able leadership of Mr. Edward H. Saile it has proven itself a periodical of worth and necessity to the school and will no doubt continue to grow as the school developes.

Girls' Athletic Association

THIS is the first year in the history of our school that a Girls' Athletic Association has been organized. Under the guidance of Miss Herzog and with the undying spirit and cooperation of officers and members our association has been very successful.

The tournament between the Senior and Junior Girls' Basket ball teams, and the Health Pageant, the May Fete and the Field Day Exercises are wonderful exhibitions of the ability, skill and usefulness of the Association. It is needless to say that the Girls' Athletic Association will develop further and attain greater heights as the future looks more promising than words can express.

The Team

The Girls' Varsity closed the season of 1921 very successfully, having won nine games out of twelve. We are proud to say that five of the players were members of the Senior Class. Although we were successful this year we hope that in succeeding years the teams will be far superior and bring great victories to E. S. N. S.

The following are members of the Varsity:

Evaline Simoson ..... Forward and Center
Myrtle V. Stout ..... Forward
Agnes Cusma ..... Center and Manager
Eleanor Anzman ..... Side-center
Mary Boyle ..... Guard
Bertha TeWinkle ..... Guard
Miss G. Herzog ..... Coach

ATHLETICS

Football Season, 1921

THE season of nineteen twenty on the gridiron was a success from every point of view considering the schedule which was the hardest ever played by Normal. When the season opened the squad consisted of but a few experienced men from last year's squad but under the efficient supervision of Coach Maguire it was rapidly moulded into a team which showed ability, courage and hard fighting spirit for which Normal has always been noted.

Monroe County's Historic Banking Landmark

(Established 1857)

The other day a man expressed surprise at finding in Stroudsburg, Penna., a bank with resources of nearly three million dollars. But that man did not realize the growth of Monroe County, so did not realize that it required a big institution to care for the banking needs of Monroe County's growing business. No matter what is the size of your business and what may be your banking needs, come in and talk them over with us.

Good Will

Good-Will is an asset which cannot be bought—the foundation of good business. Like confidence it is the growth of years—the child of fair dealing and the father of success.

It is because we realize so well these facts that we have through out the years so jealously guarded the good-will which this bank enjoys. We consider it essential to every transaction here.
