LEST the players in our performance, "Life on Campus," leave the scene of the production like the poor player

"Who struts his hour upon the stage,
And then is heard no more,"

the Stroud Staff presents this pictorial review of the drama we have so vividly portrayed here at E.S.S.T.C. during the year 1947.

The house lights dim, the crowd is hushed, the curtain slowly parts. The animated scenes that pass in review now serve just as brief reminders of our half-forgotten yesterdays. Within these scenes, we find revealing pictures of our daily pranks; the joys and unexpected successes we shared; the heart aches and secret tragedies we endured; the vague ambitions we strived to attain. Herein we see how our college family lived and worked together in a democratic, friendly and youthful spirit.

When the play is done and the curtain is dropped, . . . slow falling to the prompters bell, it is our hope that this brief interlude of "Life on Campus" will deeply inspire within each player a greater desire for achievement in the never-ending drama of life.

THE MANAGER

DR. JOSEPH F. NOONAN
President of the College

To our Manager, Dr. Noonan, we owe much of the success of our play "Life on Campus". Every faculty member, student, and employee of the college has come to recognize in him a man characterized by sincerity and devotion to duty. We find our President to be a tireless worker—one who possesses the drive, the energy, the force, the will to do, that intangible quality which he himself would term the "success factor in life". Uppermost in his mind at all times is not the desire for personal gain, but the desire to constantly raise the standards of the school so that through the cooperation of the faculty and students alike superior men and women, as well as superior teachers, will be produced. Dr. Noonan to us is not merely an administrator, but a fellow-student, ever eager to learn.

Whether it be at college social functions, in the office, walking on the campus, or presiding in convocation, we can always be sincerely glad and justly proud to have as our Manager, Dr. Noonan.

"Of the students, by the students, for the students—" It is on this basis that the student government of ESSTC functions under the direction of the Student Senate. This executive body presides over meetings of the student congress which are held regularly during college assembly periods.

At the close of each school year, the student body elects a congressional and senatorial president, a person with excellent qualities as a leader and one who is able to shoulder the many responsibilities attached to this distinctive position.

The Student Senate constantly works in cooperation with this president and is made up of sixteen senators (two men and two women representatives elected from each class) and three faculty members, appointed by the college president, who act as advisers to the group.

This governing body of students has been ordained with the power to act as regulator over all college activities. This power of regulation includes the right to originate necessary laws, to determine problems of policy and to execute the principles of the constitution of the college.

The Senate functions, not only on this campus but extends its activities to further points, when it sends delegations of students to speak for ESSTC at various conventions and conferences. This includes conventions held to discuss types of student government and the annual Spring Conference of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers.

The main function of this group is to arrange the allocation of funds to the various councils, as well as to the Senate itself. The Senate also approves council budgets, supervises all college elections, regulates extra-curricular activities and provides each functioning council with cash and record books.

So ends but a brief summary of the mountainous amount of responsibility resting on the efficiently organized Student Senate of ESSTC—"Of the students, by the students, for the students."

Elected to this year's "biggest" student job on campus, that of presiding over the student representative Congress, is former Air Corps veteran, Paul E. Kuklentz.

Paul hails from Bethlehem, Pa., and completed his high school course at Liberty High of that city. After High School graduation, he enrolled in the freshman class of ESSTC in the fall of 1940. As was true in many cases, war interrupted intended plans, and Paul was no exception. Early 1942 found this young American college boy replacing textbook training with that of rifle training. After three years of service, most of which was spent in England, France and Belgium, "Pappy" had risen to the respected rank of Sergeant, and at the war's end, Paul made hasty tracks back to his original Alma Mater where he exemplified himself by assuming a leading role in campus life.

Once returned, this likable and capable gentleman submerged himself in activities of all varieties. Paul combines his many talents and abilities to present a picture of a real American triple-threat-as athlete, student and all-around "regular" guy. In sports, he starred on the past year's undefeated soccer team as well as distinguishing himself on the college wrestling squad. Scholastically, Paul has proven himself worthy of claiming membership in the national honor society, Kappa Delta Pi.

Attesting to this genial and coolly efficient young man's popularity is the well founded confidence which has been placed in him by his fellow students in selecting him to the highest, most responsible position on the ESSTC campus.

The Women's Executive Council, made up of representatives elected from the various halls of the women's dormitory and day-student group, is directly responsible for the satisfactory adjustment to campus life made by each woman student.

During the college year many gay diversions for college women are planned by this council. In the fall of the year there is the zestful Hallowe'en party. Costumes, games, dancing and competitive contests tend to make a gala evening of enjoyment and recreation. Ignoring the icy winds of January, as well as the semester examinations, the Women's Executive Council takes time out to sponsor the annual Chocolate Fest. Four lovely class teas are held in the newly redecorated Women's Quiet Lounge. A spring Frolic brings the informal festivities planned by the council to a "grande finis."

The Kitchenette, Smoker and Quiet Lounge are a constant responsibility to the council. Activities of the Green Band Committee, the selection of attractive dormitory rooms and the execution of the dormitory cooperative plan continue to fall upon the shoulders of this capable and well organized council.

With a full male enrollment for the first time since 1942, the Men's Executive Council, representative group of the Men Students' Governing Association, has once again become the omnipotent control in the men students' role on the college stage.

This executive group is entrusted with the responsibility of making each and every male student's campus life comfortable and worthwhile, and, also plan activities that will be beneficial to the entire male group. The men's social program includes entertainment and recreation in the form of several get-togethers, of the smoker variety.

Another important function of this council is the "framing" and enforcement of Freshman regulations. This year, owing to the increased male enrollment, "Regs" have been officially resurrected by the council and are destined to become an outstanding part of school life in years to come.

Council duties also include the discussion of all problems confronting the men students. The members of the Men's Executive Council work diligently in an effort to represent the views of the male student body and improve aggitating conditions on campus.

MEN'S EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Row II: H. Burris, A. Keller, E. Carazo, Mr. Martin, R. McCullough.

Though small in number, the Publications Council is mighty in the efficient work done for the Student Handbook, the Stroud Yearbook and the Stroud Courier. Few college students realize the many hours of work put forth in aiding all college publications to maintain high standards of quality.

The council guides and advises the policies of the Stroud Courier more than that of the Stroud Yearbook. It is the duty of the Publications Council to approve the editors of both staffs, as well as the business manager and the complete staff of the Stroud. The council also plans their own budget by which they choose publishing bids for the various publications. In adddition, the council must approve and pay all pulication bills.

In the Spring of each year, this group arranges for student representatives from the Stroud Courier and Stroud Staff to attend the annual Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference held in New York City. The purpose of this conference is to acquaint attendants with the newest ideas and methods of publication being used by leading writers of the day. In turn, ESSTC students return to the college, bringing with them these new printing concepts, and present them to their respective staffs.

The Student handbook is one of the yearly responsibilities of this active organization. Editing and publishing this valuable book for the use of all college students has become an annual "head-ache" for the group, but the diligent effort put forth on the handbook is repayed with first-rate results.

The council has greatly improved in recent years by strict publications selection and screening of staff executives and staffs.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

With normal peace-time conditions prevailing on campus once again the sports program has become the central theme, from which most of our college activities germinate. Maximum enrollment called for the almost insurmountable task of scheduling a full-time calendar for all sports. The council members rose to the challenge and turned in an outstanding job of making this past year a great year in ESSTC sports.

At the beginning of each college year the student senate provides an allocation to cover the budget formulated by the Athletic Council. In addition to scheduling athletic contests for all sports, the council purchases, by competitive bidding, all equipment necessary to the numerous college teams, arranges for transportation and lodging, provides meals and engages officials for the various contests.

The Intramural sports program is another important activity of this group, and this program has become one of the most popular phases of campus life. It is designed to include all students not engaged in varsity sports, and the majority of the students have actively participated in the program. Keen interest and real competitive spirit have grown as a result of class contests in soccer, basketball, hockey and soft ball.

As a grand finale to a successful year, each spring the Athletic Council provides for the annual athletic banquet. This affair, one of the most colorful of the school year, is attended by all college students and faculty. After the banquet, letters and awards are presented to those athletes who have reached the varsity standards set by the council.

The Athletic Council consists of two senior members and one representative from each of the Junior and Sophomore classes. The dual advisory role is capably handled by Miss Genevieve C. Zimbar and Mr. Oscar J. Liljenstein.

Seated: V. Loop, M. Barr, G. Cooper, B. Tohkanen. Standing: Mr. Martin, Miss Jones, J. Jacobs.

The Fall Reception is the spark that sets off the explosive social program arranged annually by the Social Council of ESSTC. It is the duty of this council to plan and set to work an enlightening and well-rounded program of social activities throughout the college year for all students. The council, elected by the student body of the college, strives to present each function in a new and interesting manner for the pleasure of the students.

Immediately following the first affair of the year, the Council sponsors the Homecoming Day program. At this time alumni of the college return to renew old acquaintances and to add their excess amount of joy to the athletic contest, dinner, and dance, all of which are specially arranged for this significant occasion.

The Tree-Lighting ceremony is the first function to begin the Christmas festivites on campus. Wth the spirit of the season stirring in the heart of every student, the Social Council climaxes the Yuletide program with carol singing and a decorative formal dance held immediately after the Christmas dinner in the college dining room. Due to the planning and functioning of the Social Council, students leave campus for Christmas vacation with happy memories of Christmas at ESSTC.

As the first robins of Spring appear on campus, so another important day in the life of every college student comes to view. The Social Council extends a warm invitation to all parents to be guests of the college for the annual Parents Day program. Open house, a tea for the parents and an athletic contest usually comprise the main events of this occasion.

Last, but not least, the Social Council brings the final festivity of the year to campus with the yearly Alumni Day. Once more, the college acts as host to former graduates, and a festive day, as well as the social calendar for the year, is climaxed with the alumni dinner and dance.

SOCIAL COUNCIL

To this small but capable group falls the most difficult task of all—that of pleasing all of the ESSTC students the greater part of the time. The Entertainment Council's main function is to provide the student body with the very necessary dash of entertainment and recreation needed to "round out" a perfect college year.

It is this council's duty to select and arrange for the weekly Friday evening motion picture program. In addition to this, they plan the weekly assembly programs, bring nationally famous speakers and artists to the college stage and arrange for numerous dramatic presentations throughout the college year.

In the selection of the motion pictures and various programs to be presented the council has a tri-purpose role to play. Members of the council act as direct representatives of the student body, and are duty bound to reflect the average student's likes, dislikes and desires in their choice of programs. In addition, it is very necessary that the group keep a criterion of quality entertainment uppermost in mind when arranging the recreational schedule, and finally, to conform to their budget which is planned according to the funds allocated to them by the Student Senate.

During the war years, the Entertainment Council had been handicapped by a minimum enrollment and the scarcity of available talent in the entertainment world. However, the end of the war has alleviated both of these conditions and the direct result of this has been a profoundly successful entertainment year on the ESSTC campus.

The Entertainment Council is made up of two senior class members and one member from each of the other classes. These persons act as representatives of their classes and are assisted and advised by Mr. Bernard Mandelkern and Dr. Clarence W. Dupee, able faculty members.

ENTERTAINMENT COUNCIL

REPERTOIRE

The curtain went up for our class in September, 1943. We came upon the scene as green talent—marked by green arm bands and ties. There was a marked absence of male stars in our troupe. Dave Weiler and Bob Reese were the only exceptions to an all-girl gym class. The "missing males" did not dampen our enthusiasm, however, as we plunged into college life with a vigor that soon put us in the limelight. Freshmen received roles in every organization on campus. In varsity sports our shining new stars brightened the scene, while in the intramural program the class started a record that spotlighted us as stars destined to lose only one performance in four years.

In February we made our debut as entertainers under the direction of Dean Martin. We produced a Valentine Dance that looked like a military ball with all the "imported opposites." By Spring we had worked and played together for a season. We decided we liked it and looked forward to three more successful runs.

Our second season was one of carefree days of original songs and jokes. Dr. Moore was our popular producer. We were on the other end of "regs" and practiced our superiority. You can tell a Sophomore but you can't tell her much! To Uncle Sam we lost our male Health Ed. stars and gained one.—Fischer, a worthy addition to any troupe. Again we waved our entertainers wand to bring forth a Harvest Ball against a setting of cornshocks, pumpkins and a harvest moon. Before we realized it, the half-way mark had been reached and we moved on to the Junior stage where Miss Ayres was our efficient prompter.

Once again the scene changed. We had to rewrite our script to include the many newcomers, mostly aspiring males, whose acting abroad had made a far more important play a success. News of our monthly functions was on the tongue of every player. There was a continuous showing of doggie roasts, moonlight hikes, swimming and Christmas parties. Our stars were obtaining bigger and better parts in varsity sports. We were fast developing our talents for our last and most important stage appearance. We had three successful seasons behind us and one to go.

Mr. Foltz is our director for this Senior show in which our troupe numbers 114 polished, experienced, performers. New talent has been contracted; our cast is complete; the role for each has been picked. Each is rehearsing his lines for the biggest performance of four years—Graduation. We are awaiting the cue for our final exit in a show that was so successful that it will be remembered long after the last curtain call for the class of 1947.

THE PLAYERS

"This life a theatre we well may call,
Where every actor must perform with art,
Or laugh it through, and make a farce of all,
Or learn to bear with grace his tragic part."

—PALLADAS

THE SCHOLAR . . THE ATHLETE . .

THE SOCIALITE . .

As "Life on Campus" progresses towards its climax, one fact becomes increasingly evident; the strict classification of the players into the accepted categories of Scholar, Athlete, and Socialite, is an impossibility. For, as the players assume their roles, it is noticeable that there are no "one-sided" members in the cast. A student who can be classified as "merely an athlete" or "just a scholar" is a rarity rather than a rule. It is not the student outstanding in one field whom we notice most, but it is the three-sided individual who possesses, as well as intellectual ability, athletic skill, and social poise.

As the curtain is raised on the various acts of this dramatic production, we realize that the success of "Life on Campus" is determined largely by the typical students—those who are harmonious combinations of Scholar, Athlete, and Socialite!

The Juniors

During the past season the health-edders could have been seen in the gym—dancing almost anything. The Irish Lilt, the Russian Dance and Mazurka developed several waltz kings in the troupe. This was one practice they enjoyed off stage as they polished off their steps in the dorm.

Junior stars were not absent in the sports fields. Among the "jolly" ranks the faculty directors found ample and willing talent.

In the musical world there were such performers as Dresher, Burrey, Moreken, and Strzalka at the piano; "Dottie" Dawe who proved to be a songster of great achievement; tiny "Janie" Burkert and "Emmie" Wolfe as dancers.

Economic geography seemed to be rough assignment on the script.

To vary the routine the class came forth with an all-class Christmas program in December. Good food and good fun were enjoyed by the group.

Eagerly the Juniors studied their lines and now await their cues for the greatest production of their college careers—the Senior role. To you, Juniors, we leave all our properties, scripts and programs. May good luck be yours in every line of your top performance.

Up and coming understudies are the sophomore troupes who will hold the leading roles in 1949. These starlettes got their start in Shawnee but had to leave those dressing rooms to the G.I.'s who joined their troupe last January.

These sophomores have given new zest to the campus in every production—in sports, musicals, plays, etc. One member, Danny Roskos made a showing with the pigskin that won him national fame as the third highest scorer of the season.

A highlight was the production of the Stardust Ball in November under the capable coaching of Dr. Moore. Stars were dancing that night both in the setting of blue skies and on the dance floor.

Off the set there was a continued program of gang-hikers, bowling parties and six A. M. toboggan jaunts.

True to the term "silly sophomores", they enjoyed show both on and off scenes. But, as always, there were the exceptions; namely weekly physiology tests and five o'clock literature classes. To prepare for these, the girls took over the Quiet Lounge. Yet, "quiet" was the most unusual word in their scripts.

Many new players were added this season and several old ones left our scenes to take part in other productions.

Sophomores, you have reached the halfway mark with many successful showings on your records. May you surge onward and upward to bigger roles in the future.

The Freshmen

The Freshmen came upon the scene new to troupe life marked by green bands, pigtails, umbrellas, heels with socks and an absence of make-up. After much polishing of shoes and saluting of upperclassmen, they threw off "regs" and became accepted members of our cast.

Among the newcomers were the Sharp sisters, twins and brothers. Again came a wave of inspiring young veterans eager to gain parts in campus plays. Some fifty men sent here by Penn State for preliminary coaching had their dressing rooms in the Fenner Hotel in East Stroudsburg. Others were boarding in town in private homes.

Soon Freshmen stars began to shine out on the football field, hockey field and in other forms of entertainment. The football team was dominated by Frosh G.I.'s.

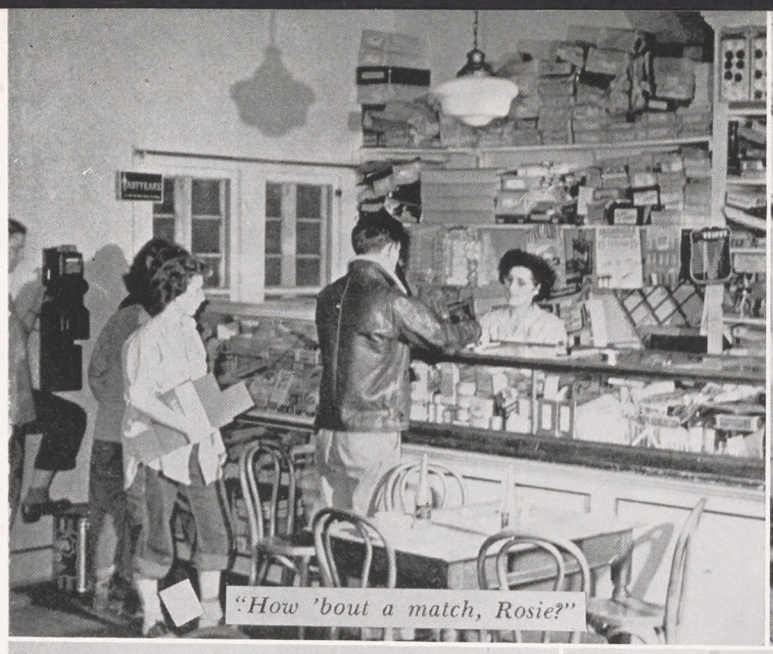

There were aches and pains to spare among the new troupes—physical aches from gym practice, mental pains from chemistry, hygiene, that first term paper and semester exams.

Each person had a goal in view—a role he was striving to gain. Many hours were spent in practice. Under the guidance of the many new directors who had come to our campus the Freshmen class got a great start in show life. The initial run was a grand success. To them we extend our wishes for three bigger and better seasons at ESSTC.

DORM DAZE . . .

A typical day in a dorm begins with the incessant ringing of a bell or the blaring of a nerve-racking horn. The weary student is jolted from his reverie and thrown into the day's activity. Then follows a hurried grooming; the selection of dress which may range from dungarees to gabardines; off to class with an avid look on his face, to pursue learning and never quite catch up with this elusive process, goes the modern Galahad. He spends his morning delving into the intricacies of numbers and exact sciences. He complies copious notes (which if lost would result in his being devoid of learning) and finally seeks a brief respite from the cloistered recitation hall. He proceeds with little delay to the dining hall for a light luncheon and a banquet on campus. Having exhausted his store of knowledge and witticisms he prepares for an afternoon with the great artists, writers and prosodists—past and present.

Now fully awake and possessing keen faculties, he is paced through a schedule which includes laboratory research, reading, speech-making, interpretation—and perusal of old manuscripts, heavy-laden with the dust of neglect.

The afternoon wanes and mental activity gives way to physical. The thud of hide against hide is heard on the green-tufted fields; the impact of body against body in vigorous field events—the spasmodic patter of padded feet on a hardwood floor.

The ever present bell warns that it is time to repair to the dining hall. Here, social engagements of great portent are made—there is perhaps no place more suitable to a social hour than the dining hall with oaken walls, fireplace and soft lounging chairs.

As the mantle of night falls on the student's weary shoulders, we find him engrossed either in writing or engaged in a bull-session with the cohorts . . . his room enveloped in a vapor of hazy blue smoke. He may be reading the Bible, Durant's philosophy or Thorne Smith! As a last resort, he may even study!

SCHOOL'S IN SESSION! To some, this statement might call to mind merely a traditional classroom . . . rows of desks into which the occupants for years past have laboriously carved their names, students of varying size and ability, and a question-asking, formidable looking school-marm . . . But to us, SCHOOL'S IN SESSION brings to mind a multitude of things—both the incidentals and the accidentals of the classroom, the sometimes hilarious, sometimes catastrophic blunders made by students, the peculiarities of the profs, the silence greeting a surprise test.

SCHOOL'S IN SESSION . . . AT ESSTC means Miss Kistler's ardent devotion to the New York Times, Dr. LeMaire's addiction to place tests, Mr. Foltz's bow-tie collection, and Prof. DeNike's familiar, "Next, like the barber." It means forward rolls and fourteen propensities, Wadsworth, epithelial tissue and motion picture projectors.

Freshmen saturated with theme writing. Sophomore queries of, "What is Beowulf about?" Juniors gracefully performing the Minuet, Seniors anxiously plunging into the novelty of student teaching . . . These things and countless others are implied in that brief, but meaningful statement, SCHOOL'S IN SESSION!

ACT I

—SHAKESPEARE

SPORTS ON STAGE

It is well as the curtain goes up for Act I, that the spotlight shines first of all upon that great bard of ESSTC stages—"Ole Man Athletics." Athletics have always held the main role of campus extra-curricular activities, so our attention is focused on what the "Ole Man" has to say.

As we watch, the house is silent and the "Ole Man" gestures as he moves to the side of the stage. The lights dim on him, then grow bright on the center of the stage where we see a football soaring between two white uprights. On the side, a crowd is madly cheering, demanding curtain calls. Now we see red jerseys with large white numbers. The faces become visible and we recognize those gridiron greats who gave us many a thrill during the fall, under the leadership of Coaches Martin, Hoffman and Grimm.

The limelight continues to shine as the goal posts, ball and players vanish as silently as they came. The "Ole Man", standing at the prompter's spot, gestures again, and suddenly we see Coach DeNike talking to a group huddled around him. We are reminded of one of the most successful seasons that any soccer team has ever had on our stage: twenty-three lettermen, an undefeated season, and a new scoring record set. As we watch, the huddle breaks up and the men, whom we now recognize, line up on the field. Then they begin to move—opponent after opponent rises in front of them only to be trampled down again as our men advance.

The "Ole Man" gestures again at this point, one finger is on his throat—we all know that this means to speed it up. Now in rapid succession in a frieze movement we see Miss Zimbar followed by her successful hockeyettes, Coach Hoffman and the hoopsters of the basketball court, that gave us great pleasure during the winter months with their sell-out performances. A cry of, "play ball" shatters the air as the baseball team trots across. On their heels comes a dashman, a miler, a jumper, a shot man and a pole vaulter leading the cinder and field men. The gym team, swimming team and tennis teams do their stuff and we hear cries of "Stupendous" and " Colossal."

The "Ole Man" has a special treat for us now—we see ourselves in the numerous intramurals. This is a fitting close to a great performance. The "Ole Man" is smiling as the curtain drops, ending Act I. He knows we are well pleased with what we saw and that we will always remember the "stars" who left this lasting impression on the Sport Stage of ESSTC.

STICKS!

Coach Genevieve Zimbar called the field hockey candidates together for a vigorous training period this fall and seventy-two enthusiastic candidates, anxious to exhibit their skill and teamwork, reported. Seven of the candidates were letter winners from the 1946 squad.

The capable manager of the squad was Margaret Zimmerman, who was assisted by Marian Moore and Helen Kaiser.

Coach Zimbar finally chose fourteen girls, who traveled to Philadelphia, to open the intercollegiate field hockey season. The local "lassies" dropped a hard fought game to Temple University's hightly rated team, 3-0.

October 12, the field hockey squad gave proof of their excellent teamwork by bouncing into the victory column with a 4-2 triumph over Drexel.

Again on home territory, the team held Beaver College to a scoreless tie. The Beaver team received a stunning surprise when the "Warriorettes" played a strictly defensive game.

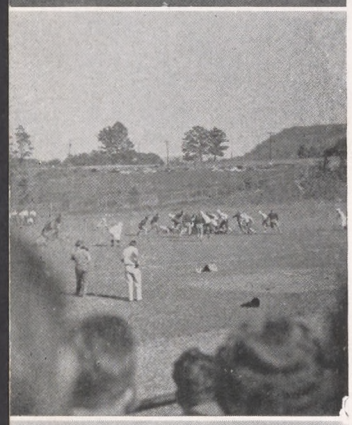

On October 30, the team was host to unbeaten and unscored upon Ursinus. The Ursinus team had their one streak broken as they pulled through with a slim 2-1 victory.

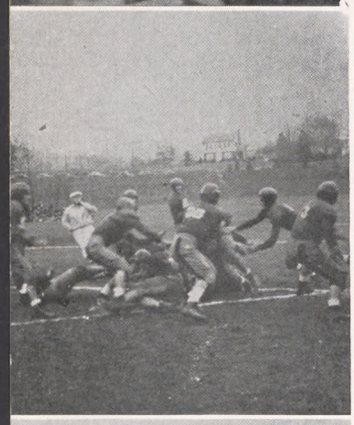

The Seventh Annual Middle Atlantic State Intercollegiate field hockey tournament was held on November 9 at Bryn Mawr. The girls lost to Temple, 2-0 and staged a comeback by defeating Immaculata, 1-0.

GRID GREATS

If bouquets were to be cast to individuals for outstandng performances on the ESSTC football team of 1946, we'd cast them to Kenny Schaeffer and Dan Drigan, co-captains; Dan Roskos for becoming a leading contender for state scoring honors; John Petercuskie and Al Ranger, both outstanding players on the line of defense; and last but not least, managers Dubbs, Payne and Marhefka for important thankless tasks: in short the entire Warrior powerhouse in lettermen Bell, Drigan, Fisher, Frassinelli, Goepfert, Hagen, Konczakowski, McCullough, Perlow, Petercuskie, Peterson, Ranger, Reese, Ritinski, Rockovch, Roskos, Schaeffer, Shumskis, Weiler, Whitehead (educated toe and all), and Zarnowski, would be on the receiving end, with, of course, special recognition to some 60 other candidates who may aspire to positions on the team in future years. Rightful honors go to Coach Eugene H. Martin, assisted by Frank Grimm and Francis Hoffman.

The Warriors humbled their adversaries with relentless onslaughts in five out of seven encounters, and bowed to West Chester and Bloomsburg. The local boys scored a total of 173 points and their opponents 33.

Panzer provided the opposition in the first game of the season for both colleges. The Jersey visitors could not penetrate the ESSTC defenses tor a single tally and the game ended in favor of Stroudsburg 26-0.

A Home Coming Day crowd saw the Warriors breeze through an easy victory over a stubborn Shippensburg defense, 32-7.

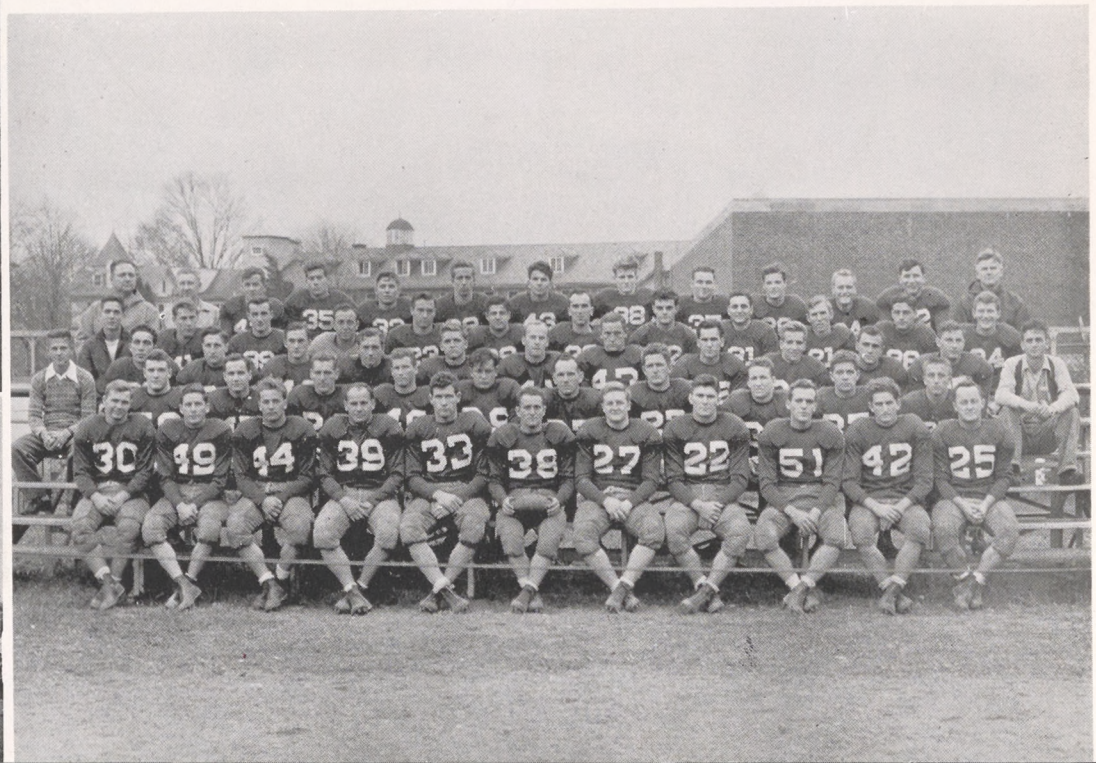

Cortland fell before the visiting Warriors, 25-6, in a game marked for its aerial attacks.

West Chester provided the first upset as the visiting Warriors succumbed 13-7 in a bitterly contested struggle.

Significant to sports fans was the 53-0 victory over a visiting Montclair Eleven.

The last home fray ended with a 7-6 loss to Bloomsburg. The curtain was drawn on the 1946 season after the Warriors climaxed a successful grid campaign by defeatng CCNY 27-0.

With a climaxing 2-1 victory over Cortland College, Coach Howard DeNike's soccermen completed their first undefeated varsity season since 1931, with the most impressive record that any team has ever built upon the ESSTC campus. A record of 7 wins, no defeats and 1 tie, a scoring total of 23 goals to the opponents 7, 23 lettermen and active membership in the Intercollegiate Soccer Football Association, were some of the accomplishments of the season.

The opener was at West Chester. Both teams were evenly matched and it was not until the second overtime period that the Warriors booted in the winning goal for a 2-1 victory. The next victim was outclassed Lafayette who fell under an 8-1 bombardment. The Red and Black avalanche rolled on over Muhlenberg 4-1, faltered momentarily against a strong Rider aggregation with a 2-2 tie, but picked up momentum and downed Lock Haven 1-0, Panzer twice 2-1 and 2-0, and finished over Cortland.

In all the games despite the close scores, there was seldom any doubt in anyone's mind as to the final outcome. The Warriors, under the leadership of Co-Captains Kuklentz and Sommers, played very aggressive ball and forced the issue, thus keeping the ball in the opponents half of the field most of the time. Credit must be given for the fine defensive work of Sommers and Massaferi and for the line play of Davies. Their brilliant performances earned them recommendations for All-American honors.

Only ten of the twenty-three lettermen will be lost by graduation so next year's team should carry on, and even better this record.

SOCCER BOOSTERS

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Over forty-five candidates reported for practice sessions. Sixteen Freshmen, fourteen Sophomores and eight from the Junior and Senior classes. Among those who reported were eight veterans of last year's team.

Coach Zimbar had two well drilled teams. She selected twelve players for the varsity and jayvee teams.

Lorraine Toews and Jane LeVan capably assisted the teams, acting as co-managers of the "46-47" squad.

Congratulations to Coach Zimbar, and her fine teams for an outstanding season.

The team that never loses a meet was back at full strength this year, giving stellar gymnastic performances. Several exhibitions were given in various schools of the state, with the crowning event being the home exhibition, which was a collossal affair that will never be forgotten.

The gym team included such standouts as:

Marl Steidle, who led on the flying rings and high bar. He was the outstanding all-round performer, and receives this year's "oscar".

Joe Wilson was the spring board and flip champ. He and Harvey Burris skillfully added the humor to the show.

Frank Mitman was the parallel bar leader along with several others.

Among the tumblers were John Demick, Virginia Burrey and Mary Gianetta.

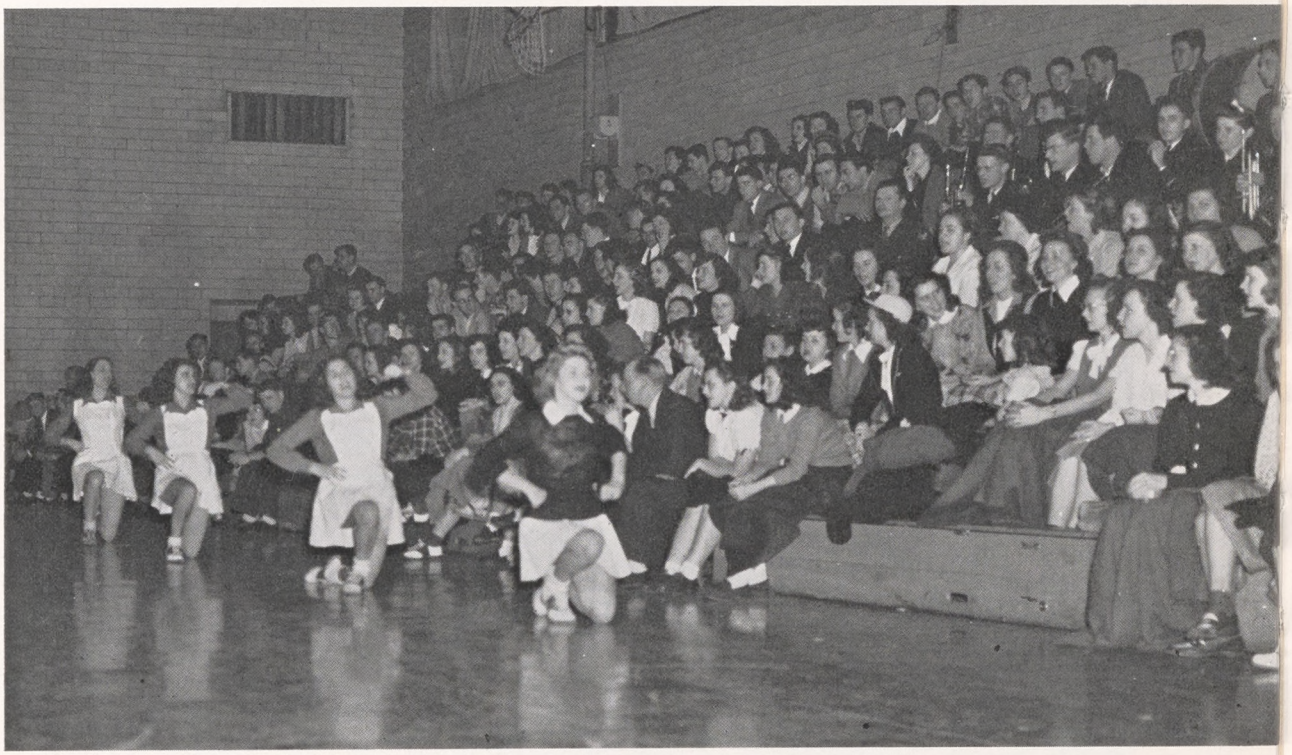

Just a few members of the team were lost by graduation, so the teams success should be even greater next season.

COURT STARS

The Warrior courtmen finished the season without a very impressive record, but this does not take any credit from them; rather, it shows the high calibre of their opponents, who for the most part just outclassed ESSTC this year or else nosed out a victory by just a few points. During the first semester, three of the losses were by three points or less.

Coach Hoffman was new at the helm this year and for the most part he had green material to work with. However, since just one player is lost by graduation, the prospects for next year look excellent.

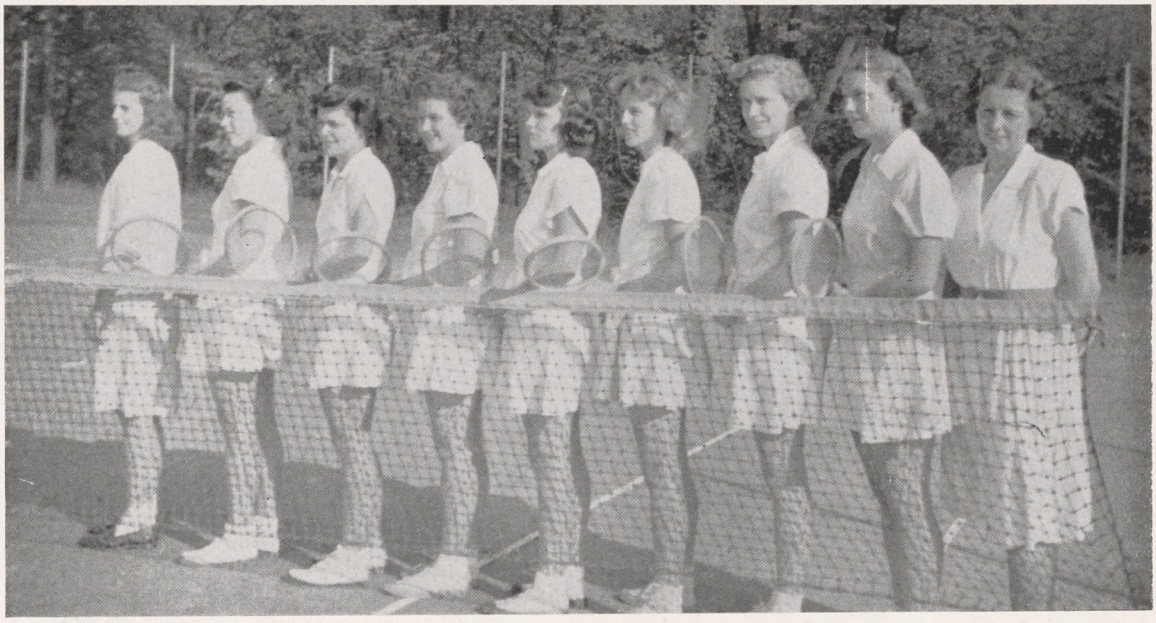

A veteran and returning member of the 1943 State Champion squad was Jack Geopfert, who was the backbone of this year's squad. Jack was exceptional on defense and caused his opponents many headaches with his long set shots.

The running mate to Manning at forward was chosen from Tony Romano, Bill Thomas or Harold Bombe. All three were fast cut-in men as well as good set shooters.

Richard Schmidt played the running guard position. His loss by graduation will be keenly felt by next year's team.

Bob Deibert was the regular center and made most of his points from follow-up shots. He was capably assisted by John Etcho, George Dries, Ray Mullin, and Ed Vogelsong.

R. Williams, J. Rodenbaugh, M. Kruckel, M. Anthony, L. Toews, R. Gingrich, H. L. Strieby, A. Houser, Miss Genevieve Zimbar.

In the spring of 1944, the first intercollegiate tennis team was organized at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Since that time, through the Athletic Council, the women's tennis teams have had outstanding schedules.

No sooner had Easter vacation ended than the first summons was issued to candidates for the 1945-46 tennis team.

The team, captained by Ruth Gingrich, had only two veterans of the previous year. With practice the girls improved their skill and were eager to meet their rivals.

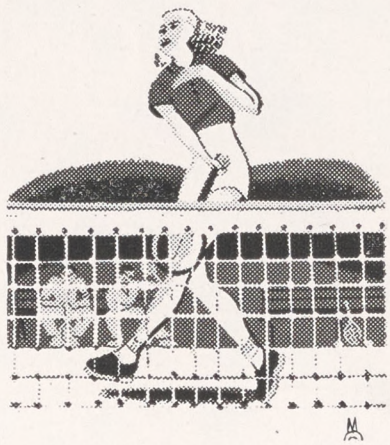

On May 4th in a drizzling rain, the "Zimbarettes" were host to the N. Y. U. tennis team for the first match of the season. Marie Kruckel, Jane Rodenbaugh and Ruth Gingrich won their singles matches for ESSTC. The "Eastburg Lassies" started the season with a bang, winning 3 out of 5 matches.

Due to the spring rains, the tennis matches with the University of Pennsylvania and Temple University had to be cancelled and later dates for the matches were not available.

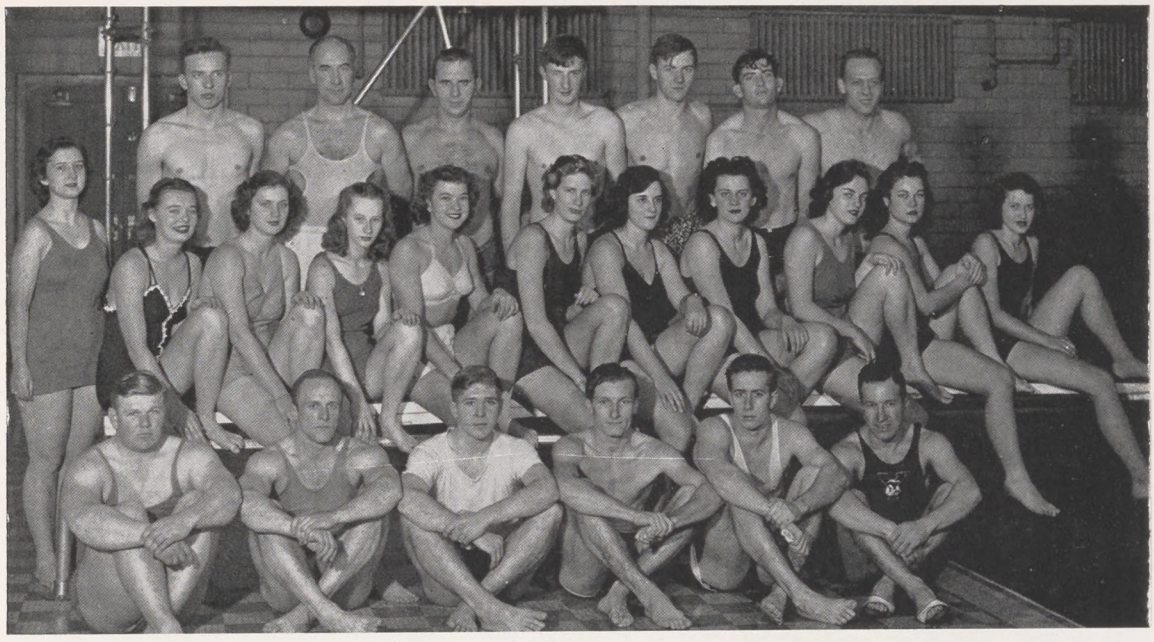

The team next traveled to Collegeville to play scheduled matches with the Ursinus team. The final score was 5-0 in favor of the Ursinus team.

On May 17th matches were scheduled with Albright College. The Albright team did not arrive, so the game was won by default.

With five games scheduled, there were two wins, one loss and two cancellations during the season.

"MERMAIDS" AND "MERMEN"

Soon after the Thanksgiving vacation, Coach DeNike made a call for all students who could swim like fish instead of rocks. The result was a "school" of fish and a few rocks; but under the coach's watchful eye, even the "rocks" defied the physical laws of water displacement.

The team had a stiff schedule all lined up and intense training started immediately. The first thing on the agenda for a typical night's practice was calisthenics (turns, twists, bends, and lots of groans). After that followed laps, laps, massaging of cramped muscles, laps, a few "corn-cob" jokes from Coach DeNike, and then . . . more laps. The night was always rounded out with starts, turns, time trials, and then for variety, . . . a few laps!

The swimming club, sponsored by the Health and Physical Education Club had home and return meets scheduled with Scranton University, Scranton Y.M.C.A., and the Allentown Y.M.C.A. The women's team had meets with New York University.

Joe Wilson and Harvey Burris took top-rate honors for the team on the diving board. Shollenberger, Kelley, Marianno, and McCarthy paced the men's club, while Kulina, Cooper, and Price took the lead for the women.

The swimming team is a new activity in the Health Education program in comparison to other athletic organizations. Formed three years ago, it has grown in size and strength, and promises in the future to be one of the outstanding campus teams.

Twenty-nine candidates vied for berths on the ESSTC baseball team of 1946, and of that number, ten Freshmen, one Sophomore, one Junior, and one Senior gained the major sports award.

The season was launched at Lafayette where the local lads were bettered by a single tally, 2 to 1. In their first encounter on home soil, the highly touted team from Seton Hall bowed to East Stroudsburg by the score of 1 to 2. Another victory was chalked up over Kutztown as the Warriors administered a decisive spanking to the tune of 10 to 5. The season began to look highly prospective when our arch rivals from Bloomsburg thwarted our efforts at three successive wins by defeating the local team 6 to 4. However, in a return engagement Coach Grimm's lads turned the tables and retaliated with a 10 to 3 win over Bloom on the local diamond. The season was terminated with a 2 to 8 loss to Panzer S.T.C.

BATTER UP

CINDER-MEN

Dash here . . . jump over there . . . take ten laps. That was the call of the wild that rang through the air on that first Spring day when Coach DeNike had the track candidates report to the field.

The squad was back in full strength after a three year lapse of track activities. Of the 49 candidates that reported for the team, Art Merryweather, manager, Joe Wilson, Cliff Morgan, and Carson Klinetob, were all returnees from the '42 squad. These men formed the nucleus for our strong, winning team of 1946.

In the three scheduled meets, the team managed to amass a total of 218½ points in comparison to 156½ won by opponents.

The first home meet with Panzer was one of the most exciting ever staged on the home track. The winner was not finally decided until the last meet when the local boys were nosed out 64-63.

At Albright a spirited drive spelled disaster for the adversaries as ESSTC romped to an 86-40 win.

A visiting Ithaca team fell far short as the DeNike men administered a 70½ to 55½ defeat.

Messinger with a total of 38 points, followed closely by Morgan, Klinetob, and Kuhn, with 26-26-24 points respectively were the high-pointers for the 46 track team. Others who figured in considerably and numbered among the track lettermen were: McCarthy, Duganis, Wilson, Carl, Adamavage and Haag.

With such returnees as Al Ranger, Sam Trapasso, Bob Hackman, Cliff Waas and John Cerra, all members of former ESSTC wrestling teams, a varsity squad was re-organized on the campus this year after a war-time lapse. The team was under the mentorship of Coach Frank Grimm and consequently became known as "Grimms' Grapplers."

Work-outs were held daily and the "Grapplers" were in top physical shape. The team could have been stronger but several experienced wrestlers on the campus were unable to participate due to injuries and other sundry reasons.

The won and lost record might have been better, but the team spirit and morale could not be surpassed. Several of the bouts featured the best wrestling thrills that could be found anywhere.

The team was composed of the following:

121 pound class—Jack Rosenberg, a scrappy newcomer who shows great promise for future years and Charles Nesbitt, another newcomer who did more than hold up his end of the load. 135 pound class—Boris Popoff, one of the teams more classy performers. 145 pound class—Charles Eccher, a lad who brought his coast guard experience into play. 155 pound class—John Cerra, the "Carbondale Flash". 165 pound class—Lloyd Richards and Sam Trapasso were giving each other a tussle all season for this position. 175 pound class—This post belonged to Bob Hackman and Cliff Waas, and both gave the opponents many an anxious moment. Unlimited class—Al Ranger was the big gun here, all 220 pounds of him.

Varsity "S"! This organization includes all those persons entitled to wear the coveted Varsity "S" letter. Its purpose is to encourage a high standard of personal conduct on the part of those on varsity teams, as well as to give recognition to athletic achievement.

To gain admittance to this group involves not only earning your Varsity "S", but also taking a rugged initiation that includes the wearing of an "S" brand on your forehead following initiation.

The main activities of the club include a minstrel show held in the Fall of the year, and a swimming meet every Spring. Proceeds from these functions are used to buy gold keys for Senior members. These keys are awarded at the Annual Athletic Banquet. At this time the Varsity "S" is officially awarded to all those who have earned their letters during the past year. Varsity "S" is one of the outstanding honorary clubs on campus.

Officers: Emil Carazo, president; Virginia Loop, vice-president; Joan Clauser, secretary; Ruth Williams, treasurer; Mr. Francis Hoffman, advisor.

These three organizations, which further the progress and make more complex the plot of "Life on Campus", are also part of greater productions—plays with a larger number of characters, great variety of settings, and more diversified plots—for these are National Organizations with branches liberally scattered throughout the country. Knowing that they are part of such large organizations inspires the members here on campus to attain the high standards set for them, and in doing this, they are making more worth while our "Life on Campus."

Although membership for all of these organizations is exclusive, membership requirements are varied. Members of Alpha Psi Omega, a dramatic fraternity, must conform to high entrance requirements determined by both national and local authorities. Kappa Delta Pi members, juniors and seniors, must possess high scholastic records and commendable personal qualities. Who's Who members are students who have been selected as outstanding in all phases of college life, and who have contributed most to ESSTC.

M. D. S. A.

Calling all town boys . . . these members of the Men's Day Student Association are the men on campus who brave the elements through sun and storm. They travel the hill and vale, regardless of weather conditions to gather together daily the bits of knowledge that in the end will warrant their B. S. Degree.

The Men's Day Student Association is a fairly new organization on campus. This group includes town residents, off-campus boarding students, and Penn State students.

STROUD STAFF

The 1947 Stroud presentation of "Life on Campus" is off the press! Comes May, comes the fruits of the playwriters labor.

Within these pages we have tried to present a true picture of the dramatic impulse that has inspired us in large and small measure in every phase of college life. In these unrehearsed scenes you will find a lasting memory of you and your friends . . . forever recorded in picture and in prose in this, the '47 Stroud Annual.

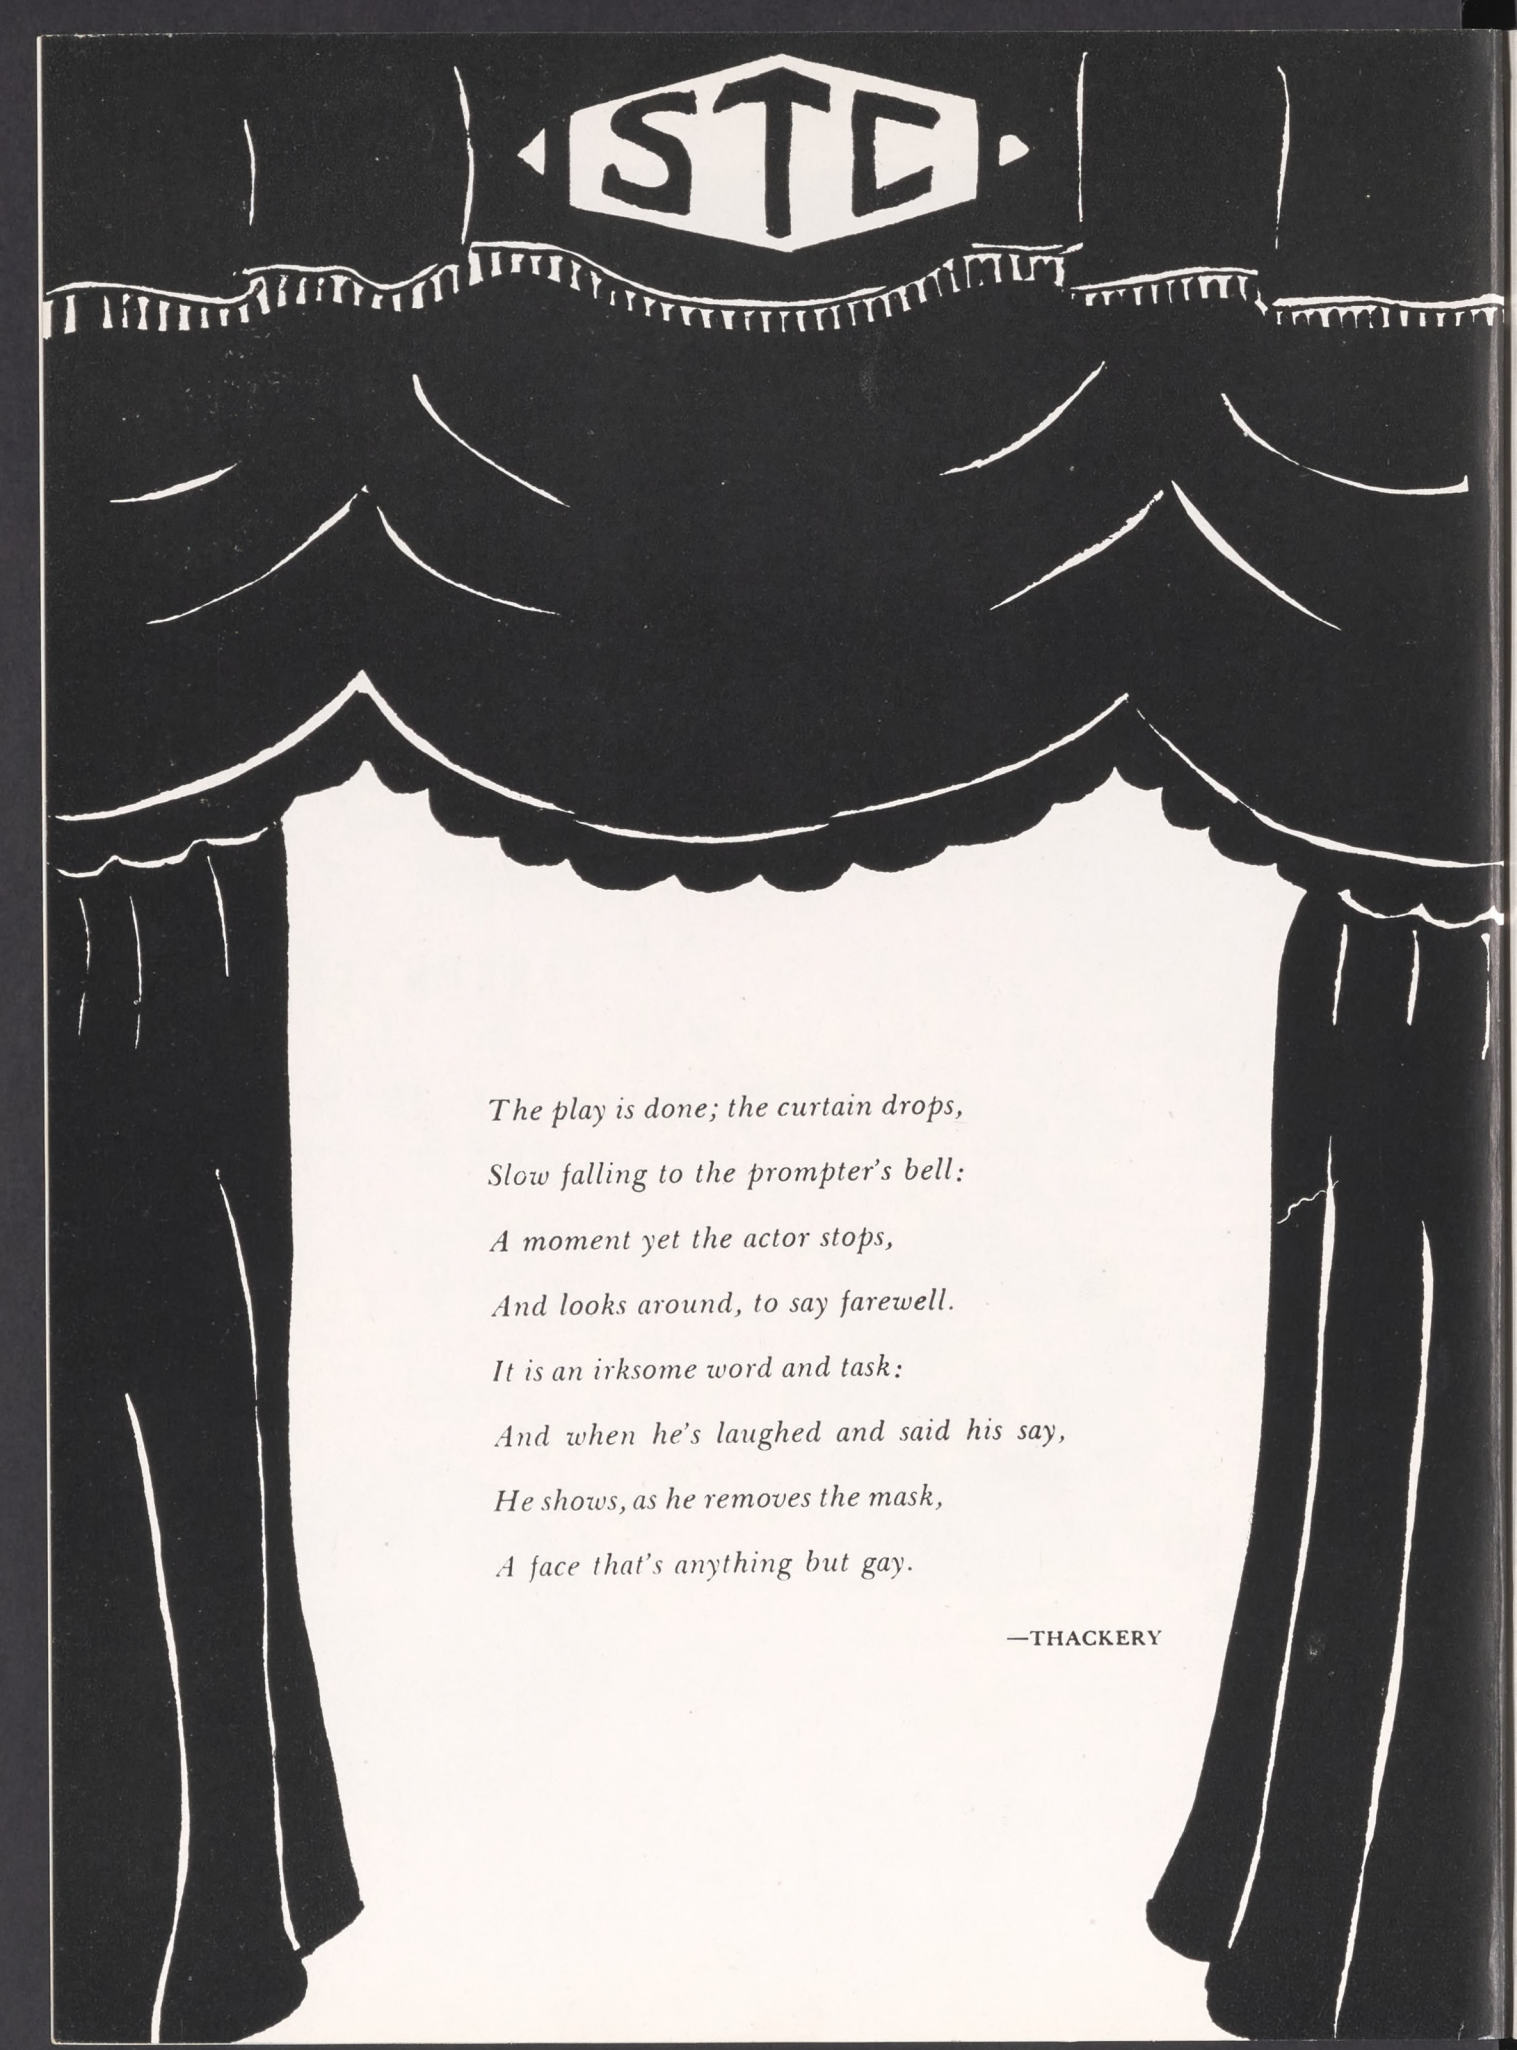

These dramatic impulses of the cast . . . both formal and informal, were not readily recorded. It took long hours of "back stage" work before the staff was finally ready to present the production for your approval. Miss Kistler was our most faithful stage hand, ever-ready to prompt us when production didn't run smoothly; Willard Fischer and staff worked hard to give our play the financial backing it needed; and the editorial staff worked diligently to give the play the verve and sparkle that the professional playwright might strive to attain.

The editor takes this opportunity to extend unlimited appreciation to a staff that was genuinely cooperative from first to last, each contributing to the limits of his skills and talents in an effort to give you this successful play production—"Life on Campus".

The play is done; the curtain drops,
Slow falling to the prompter's bell:
A moment yet the actor stops,
And looks around, to say farewell.
It is an irksome word and task:
And when he's laughed and said his say,
He shows, as he removes the mask,
A face that's anything but gay.

. . . TEAMWORK are as necessary in the building of a fine yearbook as they are in the construction of a skyscraper. Here at Campus we have gathered, over the years, an organization of skilled artists and idea men . . . experienced printing, engraving and production men . . . all welded into a team that is ready to work with you and for you, to help build your yearbook into a better and finer publication.

Campus complete service enables you to get from a single source everything needed to produce your book, all under a single budget control that insures you against unexpected "extras." This service includes every phase of the job from planning and layout to cover-making and final printing and binding.

Campus has helped hundreds of staffs build annuals that will be memorable for a lifetime. Each year several Campus-produced annuals take top honors in National competition.
