FOREWORD

At the commencement of the senior year each class endeavors to chronicle the outstanding events and typical incidents of that particular year.

As the Class of 1957 is no exception to this rule, we have aspired to portray through both word and picture the experiences which have molded an unusual school year.

With change the outstanding characteristic of our campus, we, too, have felt a desire for change in The STROUD. We have initiated chronological order as the framework of the book. We have added full-page color, thus bringing about one of the most spectacular advances in the history of The STROUD.

Since all this is done by means of photography, we consider it proper at long last to bring attention to this art. Through the eye of the camera The
STROUD presents
"Focus on '57."

Autumn

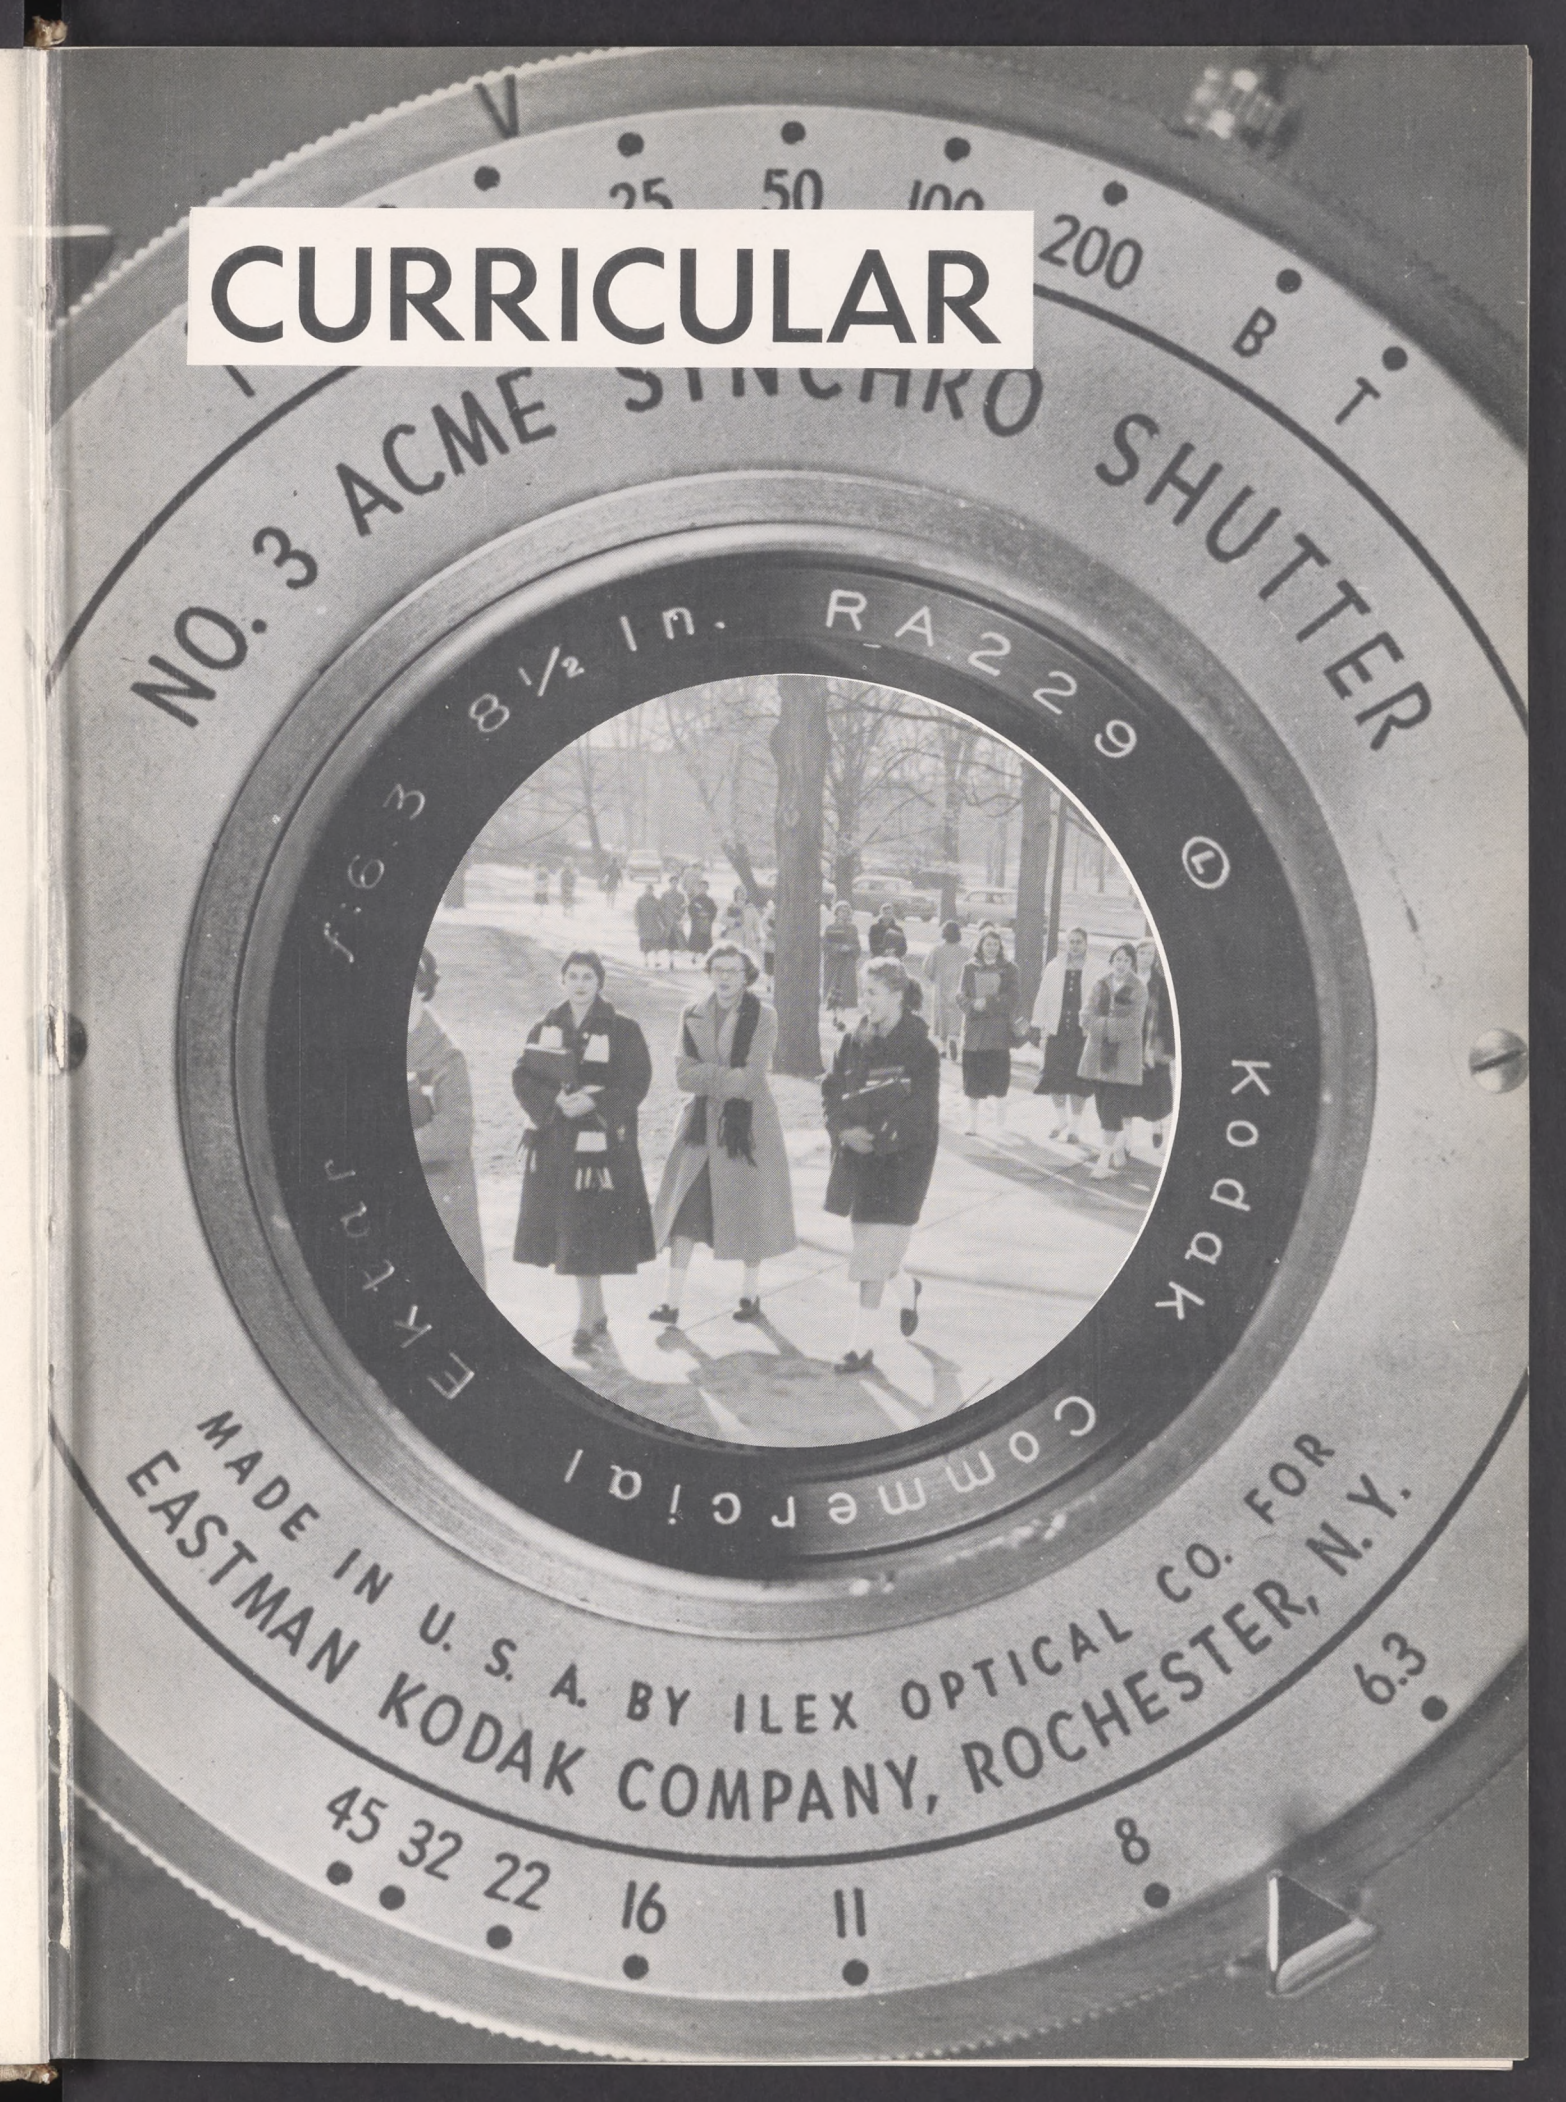

Lazily I contemplate the parting day,
Watching the golden leaves descend to where they lay;
From an autumnal diadem they fall
To lie with me and dream the time away.

And thus the hours pass me by;
It matters not — I watch the sky
Restlessly, chimerically assuming shapes,
Envying my leisure and the stillness where I lie.

Like a golden phantasm the world now seems —
An extravaganza of half-hidden sunbeams,
Whose ephemeral season is like a shooting star
In the hierarchy of fantastic dreams.

But now the night on black feet descending,
Redeeming the thought of worldly tasks impending
For one who likes to linger thus,
Too soon tells me that dusk is ending —
And I can dream no more.

A Tribute To

DR. LeROY J. KOEHLER

We, the Class of 1957, extend our congratulations to Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, our newly-appointed president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. We are proud to pay tribute to a man who has distinguished himself in the role of professor and who now continues his laudable activities as the head administrative official of our college. Dr. Koehler demonstrates a friendliness which is a valuable source of inspiration and encouragement to the students, and he serves as a fine example of his profession.

President Koehler, a native of Gilbert, Monroe County, Pennsylvania, was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1916. Following his high school graduation, he began his teaching career at Polytechnic Institute in Gilbert and in 1919 became principal of the school. After receiving his A.B. degree from Pennsylvania State College in 1921, he secured a teaching position for one year at Norristown High School. In 1922 he became a member of the faculty at East Stroudsburg State Normal School. Subsequently he obtained his M.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania and his Ph. D. degree in the field of social studies from New York University. He became head of the Department of Social Studies here in 1936 and president of the college in 1956. His career was interrupted by one year's service in World War I.

President Koehler has earned a wide reputation as a local historian. He is the author of several articles and books, including a well known textbook, THE HISTORY OF MONROE COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, DURING THE CIVIL WAR. His membership in charitable, educational, and civic organizations is extensive.

The Class of 1957, years from now, in their moments of reflection of college life will associate their pleasant memories of that period with the image of Dr. Koehler. We, the Class of 1957, take this opportunity to wish him all possible success as president of the college.

FOOTBALL

The 1956 Warrior team completed a very successful season under the coaching of Eugene Martin and George Ockershausen.

The power of a well knit unit playing together with stamina and desire produced one of the best teams seen on Normal Hill in the past decade. It gave the student body and visiting fans fine all around playing coupled with spectacular running, blocking, and tackling.

Fans at the games will always remember Dick Merring's 98 yard kick off return against Mansfield and his 98 yard punt return against West Chester in the following game.

Jim Oplinger made ESSTC's record book by returning an intercepted pass against Cheyney for 101 yards and a touchdown.

Coaches Ockershausen and Martin keep a sharp eye on co-captains Andrews and Merring.

Mr. John Eiler's debut in the coaching field at ESSTC is one that will long be remembered on campus. Having his squad chosen "Outstanding Team of the Middle Atlantic States" and being elected President of the National Soccer Association are among his achievements in his first year here.

To add even more prestige to his record, Tom D'Armi and Ernie Howe were given an honorable mention position on the All-American Soccer Team.

The most outstanding features of the past season were the defeat of Brockport, New York, last year's nation co-champions, by a score of 4-1, and the defeat of a highly rated West Chester team by a 1-0 score.

HOCKEY

The Warriorettes made the Red and Black shine this year with a sensational undefeated season. After taking a setback last year by Ursinus, East Stroudsburg dropped the highly rated Philadelphia team with a close 1-0 victory. The squad contributed their success to the fine guidance of Coach Katherine Griffith.

The season was highlighted by the Intercollegiate Hockey Tournament held in Philadelphia. Lorraine Boyd and Helen Abrams were selected for the third team, and Carolyn Emery and Carol Sue Underwood were chosen for the fourth team. Shirley Neas, Joan Chamberlain, and Willa Mae Walters served as substitutes.

The graduating seniors will leave their uniforms behind to many promising underclassmen, who are expected to carry on the tradition so well known to Coach Griffith's proteges.

Winter

And the winter, whose frozen tear-drops on the earth
Cover what once was verdurous in its birth,
Whitens the dusty corners of the streets,
Singing ambivalent songs of sadness and of mirth.

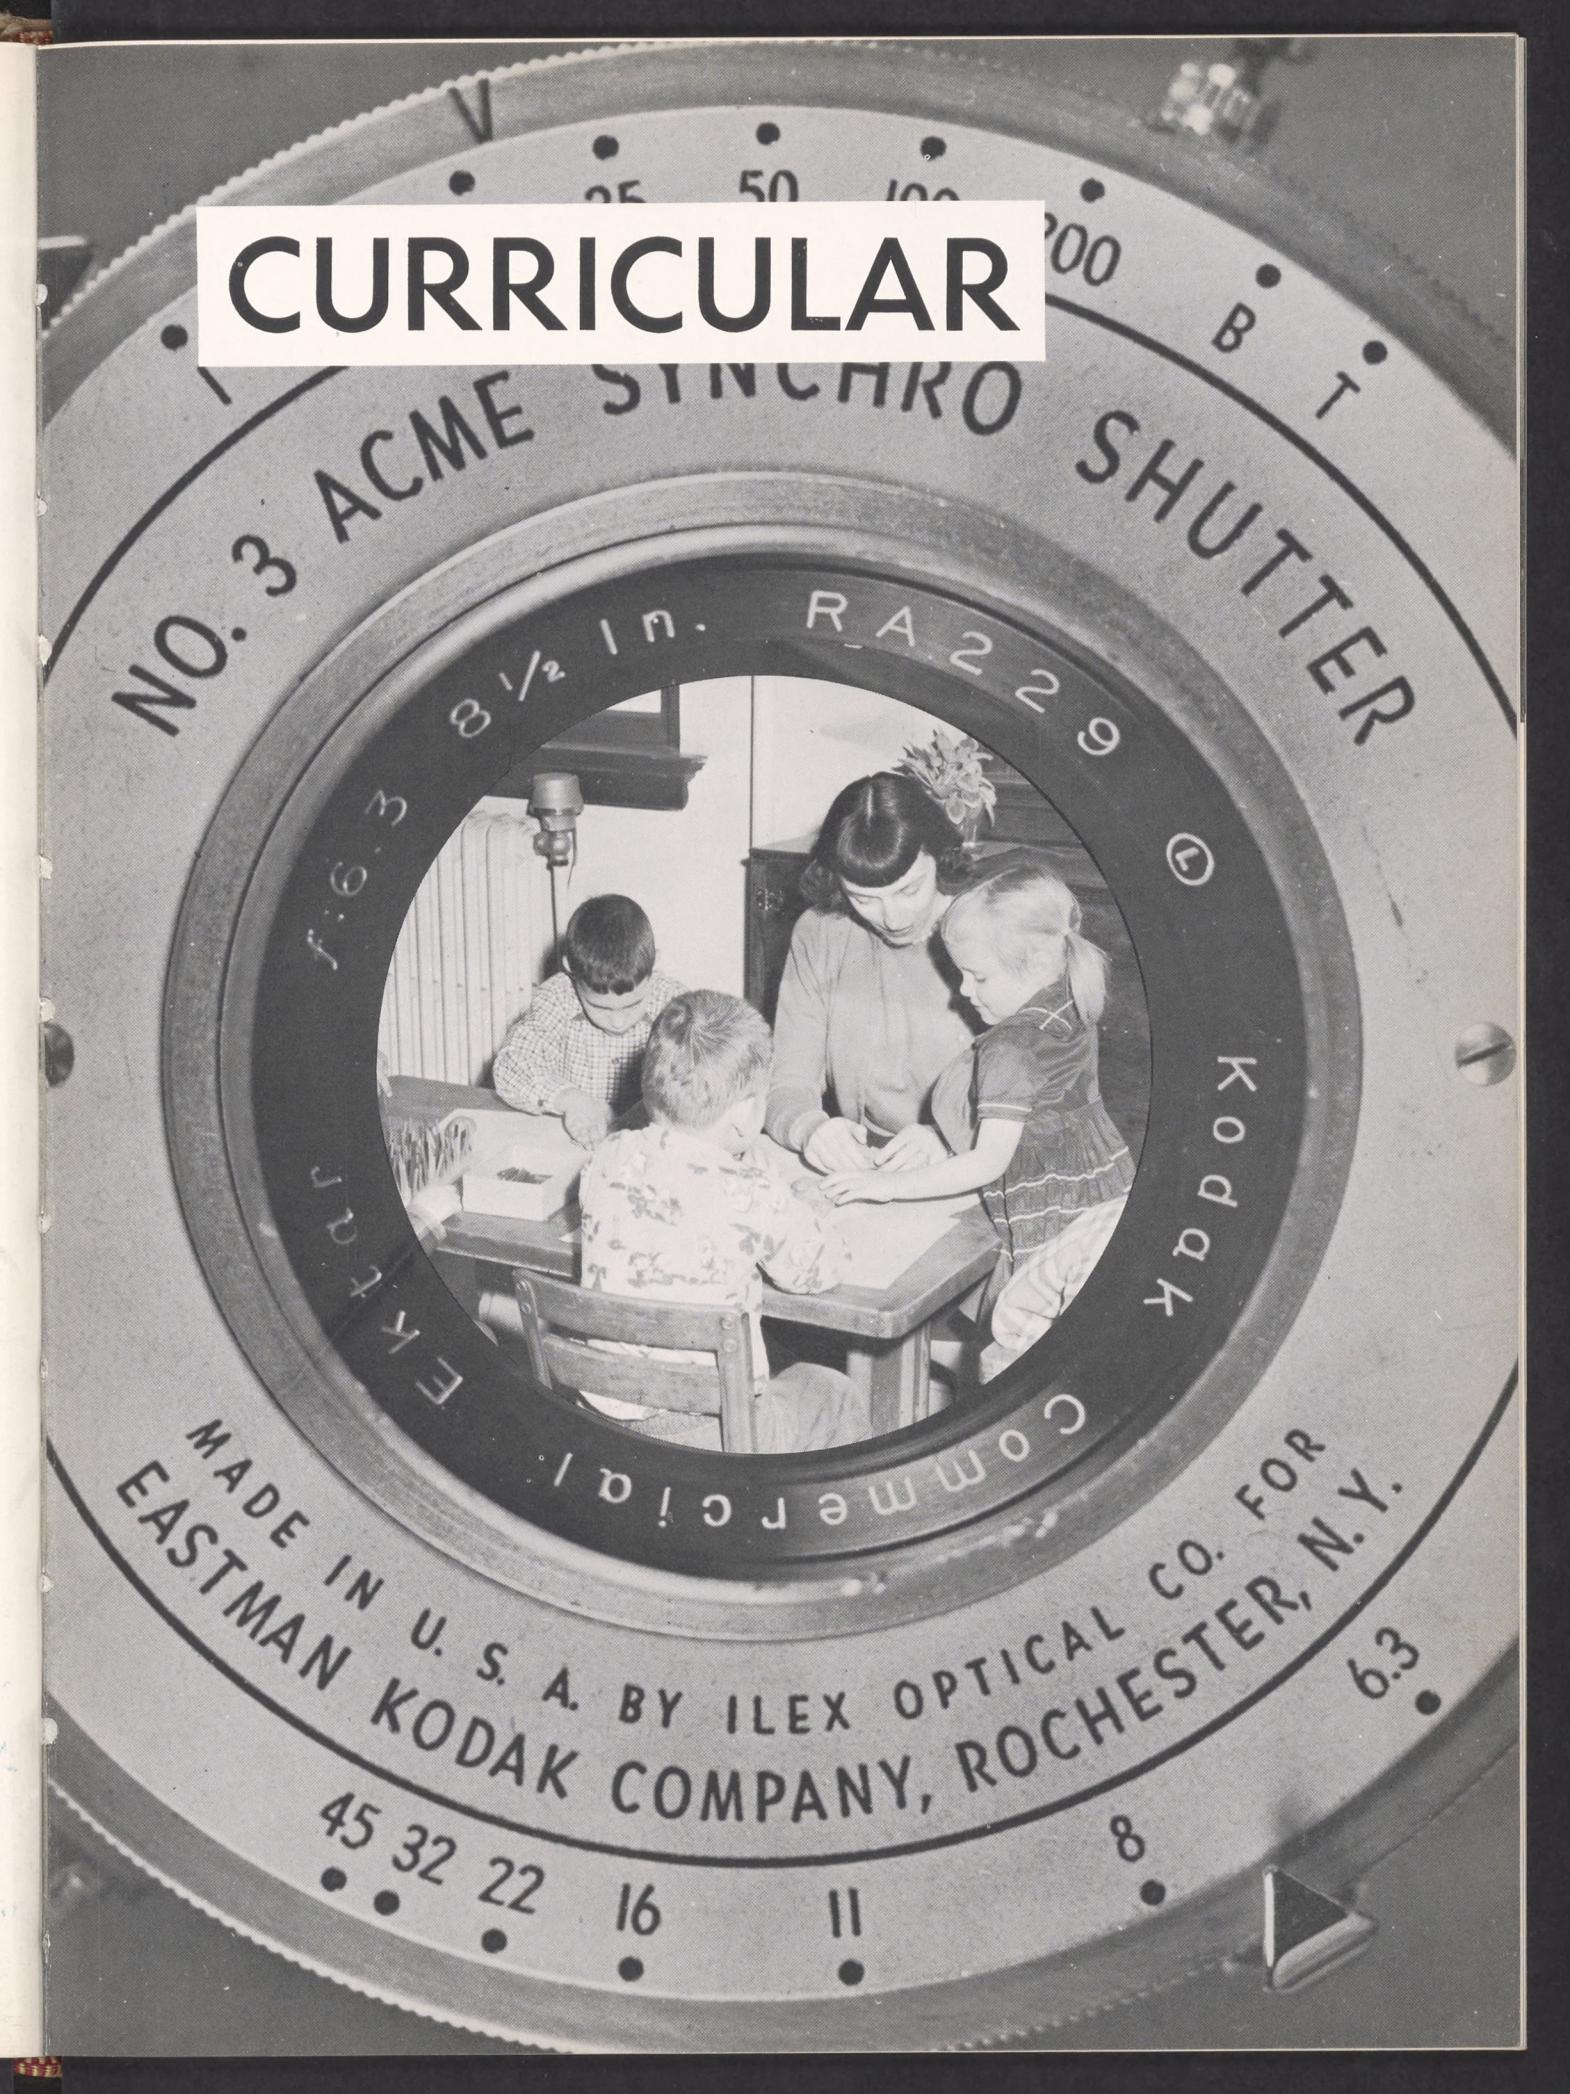

The fir tree, like a winter bride attired by the snow,
Trails diaphanous veils, casting shadows low
Upon a whitened aisle, while a star-like phantom
Steps across the heavens in attendance langourous and slow.

I know that before the night slips by,
Better to efface the ennui of my sigh,
The moon will moodily smile half-hidden in a cloud,
Weaving white patterns in the sky.

No creature here could command the will
To mar the silence of the still,
And I in turning see the scattered footprints
I have formed in life. Ascending the hill
I wander toward eternity

STUDENT TEACHING

The culminating experience in each student's college career is the semester in his senior year which he devotes to practice teaching. This practice teaching gives an opportunity to utilize the general principles and specific information which he has acquired in his previous years. By applying the various theories, principles, and teaching methods to actual classroom situations, he is able to decide which ones are best suited for his future teaching experience. He is aided in this by the criticism of his cooperating teacher and supervisor whose job it is, not to tear down, but to aid in every way in improving the teaching skills of the student teacher.

Students specializing in secondary education are assigned to a cooperating school or schools in the area, where they teach in their major and minor fields. The elementary student teacher has experience in the Laboratory School and another public school in the area, while health education students teach on both the elementary and secondary levels.

The student teacher has various duties in conjunction with the actual teaching experience. He observes and records the procedures of his critic teacher, which is a very important aspect of student teaching. Other duties include clerical planning, classroom management, subject matter selection, and establishing good public relations.

Student teaching is the most important experience in the training for a career in education as it prepares the student for the transition from theory to fact. As a beginning teacher he has already had the valuable classroom experience which no amount of educational background can equal. Through student teaching he has realized the dignity and importance of his position as a teacher of the future citizens of our country. However, he also realizes with a sense of humility that he has much to learn to attain his goal — that of becoming a capable teacher.

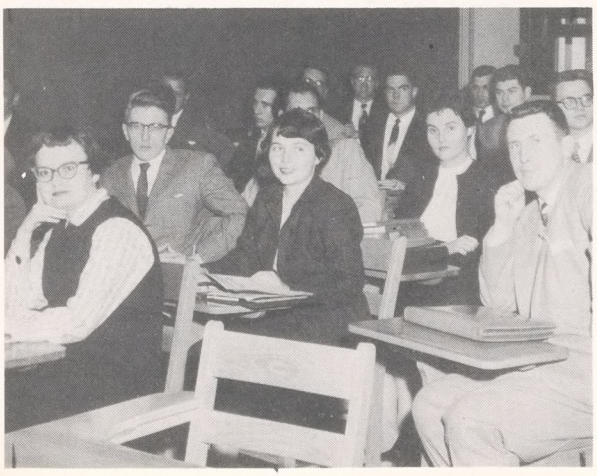

As she crosses the narrow barrier represented by the length of the teacher's desk, the college student suddenly finds herself in the role of "student-teacher". On that day the apprentice teacher realizes that her world holds new meaning. The minds entrusted to her care present a frightening challenge.

The student-teacher, however, is not alone in her new environment. There are others who are willing to understand and guide her. Her cooperative teacher helps her become accustomed to the daily routine. The heads of departments suggest new techniques and answer subject-matter problems. Her supervisor studies her lesson plans and observes their effectiveness in class. In professional practicum, she acquires the professional attitude and learns about various phases of teaching. And who will forget those numerous lesson-plans — the objectives, the outlines, the visual aids, and those little red criticisms!

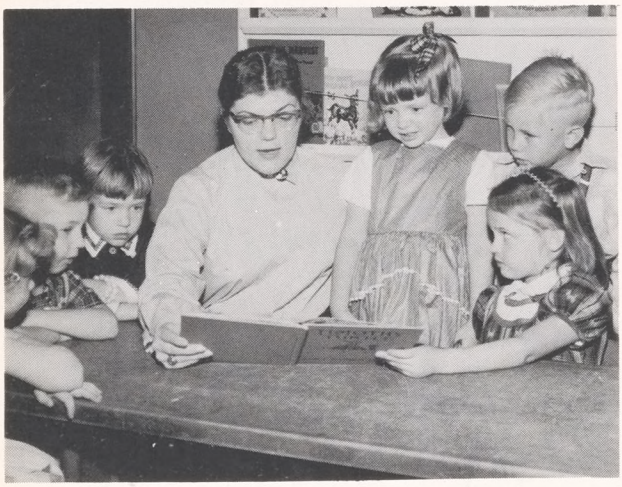

Supervised activities mold good character and sportsmanship.

Books open the door to many new worlds.

Story hour is a captivating and rewarding experience for children.

An interesting class includes active participation by the students.

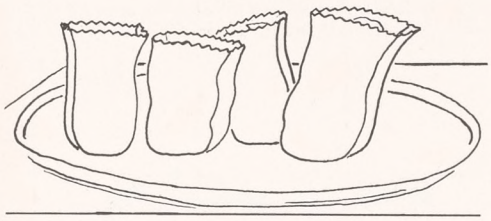

A sense of fair play is acquired through group activities.

Wholesome environment and experiences are conducive to learning.

Discussing current events produces well-informed citizens of tomorrow.

Physical exercise is essential for a healthy body and mind.

Learning about dairy products leads to a better understanding of the farm.

SENATE

During the past year the Student Senate has extended its governing influence considerably. Composed of a president elected by the entire student body, four representatives from each class, and three faculty members, this organization discusses and acts upon pertinent problems concerning campus activities.

The work of the senate is divided among three committees. The budget committee supervises the pecuniary needs of the various organizations. All campus elections are under the direction of the elections committee, and the extra-curricular committee reviews the minutes and audits the books of all student organizations.

The main objectives of the senate are to uphold and encourage those ideals and standards so vital to the welfare of any college.

Thomas Spillane, President of the Senate.

If we focused on the Women's Executive Council, we would find it in action at any hour of the day. Keeping desirable dormitory conditions, planning class teas, and placing periodicals in the Quiet Lounge are just a few examples of the work and achievements of this council. Helping each woman student to adjust to a happy campus life and to co-operate with other students is its primary purpose.

The Men's Executive Council comprises the men's student government. Membership includes representatives from each class, the president of the Men's Day Student Association, the president of the MRA, and the president of each of the two dormitory councils. The council sponsors the men's social programs throughout the year, supervises freshman regulations, and recommends dormitory policies and procedures.

The Women's Recreation Association, which includes in its membership representatives from each curriculum and class, serves to provide individual and group recreation for the women of the college. A focus on this association reveals their sponsorship of many varied activities such as a Turnabout Dance, Fashion Show, and a Pocono Manor weekend. The council also allocates money for various social functions for women students.

Every male student enrolled at the college is a member of the Men's Recreation Association. A council of twelve, one member from each curriculum of the four classes, is the governing body of MRA. The purpose of the organization is to provide individual and group activities for the men. Frequently MRA and WRA sponsor coeducational activities.

Thaddeus Stevens Chapter of Future Teachers of America is a professional organization affiliated with both the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the National Education Association. The programs, in which both students and guest speakers participate, are built around subjects of particular concern to those in the field of education. Membership in FTA is valuable in that it prepares future teachers for effective membership in their local professional organizations.

Walter Bjorn, State President of the Future Teachers of America.

Tall, blond, always smiling, Walt is a friend to all. His sincerity and determination to succeed are reflected in his many achievements at East Stroudsburg. Football has been an important interest while at college and he plans to continue this interest by teaching and coaching in the secondary schools. Besides varsity football, Walt also participated in varsity basketball, Varsity "S" Club, Health Education Club, and was selected for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

The greatest honor bestowed upon Walt during his college career was one that also brought great honor to his college. While attending the FTA Convention at Millersville State Teachers College in May 1956, he was elected President of the State Future Teachers of America. Representing Pennsylvania in this office, Walt made a trip to Washington and Oregon to attend the National Future Teachers of America and National Education Association Conventions. This opportunity could not have been offered to a more deserving person.

Athletic Council

Composed of students and faculty members, the Athletic Council plans and arranges a program to accomodate a variety of student interests. The group allocates money for all athletic teams and endeavors to fulfill the needs of the athletic department. Its activities have resulted in a smoothly working athletic program.

A focus on this group reveals a tireless, hard-working staff putting forth a boundless amount of energy to produce programs which will be both interesting and worthwhile to the students. One of its varied duties is that of planning the convocation programs. Each year it selects a number of outstanding speakers who represent diverse fields of interest. The Friday night movies are another feature of the council's work.

Who sponsors such memorable events as the Annual Fall Reception, Homecoming Day, the Christmas dance, and the Alumni dance? The Social Council has the responsibility of planning and carrying out these major all-college social functions which are not sponsored by any individual group. Composed of five members from the various classes, the Social Council furnishes not only pleasant times, but also valuable experiences to those students elected to serve on it.

Supervision of leisure-time activities is the function of the Recreation Council. Co-educational facilities include a snack bar, projection room, and a large activity lounge which can be enjoyed by both men and women. Christmas caroling, roller skating parties, and the college championship tournaments are among the various activities under the council's sponsorship.

Major duties of the Publications Council are the allocation of money to the Stroud Courier, the editing and publication of the Handbook, and the approbation of members of the Stroud Staff. Membership includes representatives from each class and the editor of the Stroud Courier. Dr. Terrill, Head of the English Department, and Mr. Crawn, adviser to the Stroud Courier, serve as advisers.

Books and supplies, a student's most important tools, are purchased from the cooperative bookstore at cost price. All profits derived from these sales are placed in a fund which the Bookstore Council, consisting of one representative from each class, controls. The Council submits suggestions as to what additional merchandise would be useful to the students. The Council also indicates for what purpose the money in the profit fund should be used.

Blue Pencil Club serves as a stimulus for students interested in the field of literature. Members of the club participate in a variety of programs and discussions, usually on some phase of contemporary writing or on some topic of literary interest. Guest speakers and the club's annual "Culture Day" trip to New York contribute to the social life of the group.

Le Cercle Francais is an organization conducted for students of French. Its aims are to give further practice in hearing and speaking the French language and to develop knowledge and appreciation of French thought and culture. The annual spring trip to New York affords members an opportunity to visit spots of French culture, to attend French plays and movies, and to dine in French restaurants.

You need not be a future Helen Hayes or John Barrymore to be a member of Mask and Zany. The only requirements are an interest in, and the desire to become better acquainted with, all the phases of dramatics. Two plays are produced each year and members broaden their experiences by taking an active part either in the cast, or in one of the important duties backstage.

The Rembrandts, Gainsboroughs, and Van Goghs of our campus have an opportunity to improve their skills in the art club. Meetings are work periods in which each member develops the media of his choice, or becomes familiar, through speakers, with the professional aspects of art. A trip to New York City to visit museums and other places of interest culminates the year's activities.

Students interested in the various phases of mathematics not readily adapted to classroom work are welcomed in this organization. The main objectives of the club are to promote a wide interest in mathematics and to create a greater appreciation for the value of mathematics in everyday life. Members obtain worthwhile experiences through field trips to banks and stock firms.

Students interested in the wonders of nature and preparing for the profession of a teacher of science are welcomed to this organization. Providing worthwhile experiences and applicable knowledge of nature are its significant purposes. Field trips, hunting and fishing expeditions, and the sponsoring of speakers who lay a sound foundation for the appreciation of nature form the year's program.

All students who enjoy singing in a group and who pass a preliminary audition may join the college choir. The year's activities include providing entertainment at FTA meetings, a Christmas program, a spring concert, and performance at the January and May graduations. Members find a close fellowship in the common bond of music and gain satisfaction in a job well done.

One of the oldest national organizations on campus, the Association for Childhood Education is composed of individuals who aspire to be elementary teachers. A major portion of their program is devoted to the investigation of research on the needs of children and teachers. One of the yearly activities of the club is collecting, repairing, and distributing toys to the children of the community.

MEN'S DAY STUDENT ASSOCIATION →

Non-resident men students are members of the Men's Day Student Association. Its officers encourage the members to join in the college activities so that ties may be established between day students and dormitory residents. Each year the association joins with its counterpart, the Women's Day Student Association, in sponsoring picnics and co-ed parties at local resorts.

CHEERLEADERS

East Stroudsburg is especially proud of this group of girls who are school spirit personified. Their buoyant enthusiasm combined with grace and charm have helped to solidify team support.

These eight vivacious lassies are an integral part of every victory, and we salute them in their co-operative effort to guide an enthusiastic student body and to bolster team morale.

What focuses attention on personalities and campus events more effectively than the Stroud Courier? A collection of editions for any two semesters will provide the recipient with a comprehensive history of that year. With a staff of talented and hard working people, this newspaper plays a dominant role in molding campus opinions. In return for their diligent work, members of the staff develop journalistic talent which may be of future use.

The Stroud Courier is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and has consistently received a first place award from that body. The Courier is honored to have on its staff Richard Weber, who is President of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The staff of the 1957 STROUD has dedicated much time to compiling a permanent record of the past year, which we sincerely hope meets with the approval of every student and faculty member. Deadlines to be met, pictures to be taken, copy to be proof read — all these have consumed the time and energy of the staff.

However, the pleasure derived from the finished product and pride in a job well done overshadow all else. We believe the 1957 STROUD will deserve a place among your most treasured college remembrances.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who is a national organization founded primarily to give recognition to the outstanding students in colleges and universities throughout the United States. The quota is proportionate to the school enrollment and is determined by the national committee. East Stroudsburg students are nominated by a special faculty committee which bases its selection on the student's scholarship, cooperation, leadership, citizenship, and service to the college.

A biographical sketch of each member is included in the annually published book, WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES. These so honored are also presented with a certificate award and are entitled to the services of the organization's placement bureau.

Belonging to this organization is a challenge as well as a responsibility. In their chosen fields these people are expected to train and mold the citizens of tomorrow.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi, a national honorary educational society, was established in order to stimulate scholarship and maintain the highest educational ideals. It offers a close fellowship for those dedicated to unselfish service to society through the teaching profession. Membership to the Gamma Xi chapter, one of the highest honors accorded to a student, is open to those juniors and seniors who have achieved a quality point average of 2.2 and who possess qualities of leadership and service in both curricular and extra-curricular activities.

Programs are of a professional nature, those of special interest being open to the entire student body. The Dean's Tea, one of the main events of the year, is sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi. All students named to the Dean's List for the previous semester are invited to attend.

A new project undertaken by the Gamma Xi chapter is the awarding of special recognition to the outstanding student on campus during the year. Judgment is based not only on scholarship but also on outstanding service to the school.

SIGMA ZETA TAU

Capturing the Founders' Cup in 1954 focused national attention on Tau Chapter of Sigma Zeta, the national honorary society in science and mathematics. Only upperclassmen who have displayed outstanding achievements in their chosen field of specialization are worthy of membership in this society.

The chapter advocates and promotes the continuing accumulation of scientific knowledge through research, guest speakers and intensive study. Conferences and industrial plants challenge members to consolidate theoretical ideas into concrete scientific principles.

As a special service to collegemates, Sigma Zetans offer assistance to students needing and seeking help with problems concerning science or mathematics. This service provides the members with valuable experience that will be needed in their future roles as teachers.

GAMMA THETA UPSILON

Gamma Theta Upsilon is a national professional geography society represented on our campus by the Omega chapter. The purpose of this organization is to advance geographic knowledge in the teaching field. Membership is open to all students who have met the necessary scholastic requirements and who are majoring or minoring in the field of geography.

The society promotes professional interest by including in its program illustrated lectures, trips to geographical conferences, and group discussions of topics geographical in nature. The organization also works in close cooperation with the college geography department, which sponsors a geography conference each spring which is attended by many in-service teachers and leaders in the geography field. All of this is an integral part of the objectives to aid future teachers to do a more thorough and comprehensive job in the teaching of geography.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

One of the newest and most rapidly advancing organizations on campus is the Delta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English honorary society, which comprises over one hundred chapters. This society has been created for the purpose of "promoting the mastery of written expression, encouraging worthwhile reading, and fostering a spirit of fellowship among men and women specializing in English." The criteria for membership are based on class status, above-average scholastic standing, and a professional interest in English, as well as creative ability in writing.

During the first two formative years, the activities engaged in by the members of Sigma Tau Delta have been many and varied. Speakers, panel discussions, illustrated lectures, and annual trips have all created interest in this new society. Plans for larger membership and for new and unusual programs should combine to make this one of the finest and most active societies on campus.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega, a scouting fraternity founded on the principles of fellowship and co-operation, is designed to be of service, not only to the members, but also to the college and to the community. One of the major services rendered to the college is the direction of traffic and parking for Homecoming Day, Alumni Day, and the various educational functions held on campus. Delta Epsilon, our local chapter, also sponsors an "Ugly Man" contest to raise money for the purpose of sending local boys to Boy Scout camps.

In serving the community, Alpha Phi Omega assists with the local scouting program and sponsors a blood drive in cooperation with the Monroe County Red Cross. The drive this year was one of the most successful of any in which APO assisted.

The fraternity encourages the fulfillment of responsibility and the development of leadership qualities in all its members.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA

Alpha Psi Omega, an international honorary dramatic society, with Iota Omicron the local chapter, was established on the campus of East Stroudsburg in 1945. To be eligible for membership one must have satisfactory scholastic standing and must meet the requirements of both the national constitution and the local chapter.

The members of the organization endeavor to develop dramatic talent and the art of acting, to cultivate an interest and appreciation for the best in the theater, and to unite the dramatic groups of all colleges and universities.

The Iota Omicron chapter sponsors and participates in various activities on the campus and in the community, including two three-act plays, the Christmas Pageant, several radio plays throughout the year, and a New York theater trip.

The society accepts new members twice a year, at which time there is a traditional initiation dinner.

Basketball

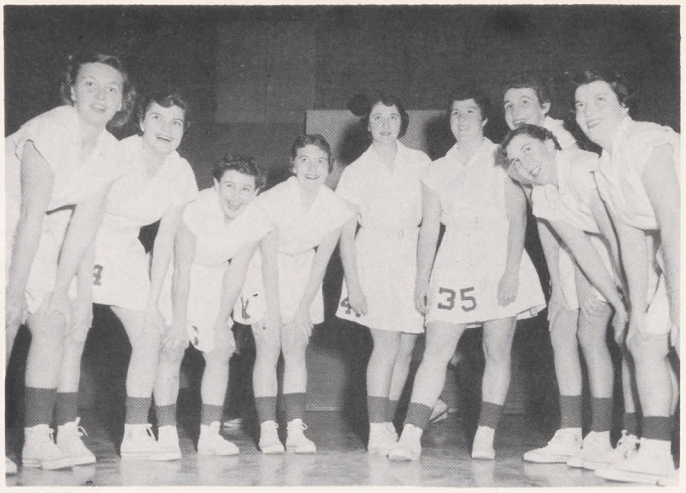

The Varsity Basketball team played hot and cold during the 1956-57 court campaign. The team seemed to labor under poor shooting while losing, yet at all times showed spark and drive which held the admiration of the close followers of the team.

The Big Red showed fine training in sportsmanship by winning and losing graciously at all times. The team is composed mainly of underclassmen, but will feel the loss of three seniors, "Kelly" MacLaughlin, high scoring transfer student, and four year veterans Wilmont Smith and Tom Spillane.

Coach Reed has a fine nucleus of underclassmen around which he can build next year's club.

"Make that lay-up, or it's to the salt mines" is the Venezian cry heard by every Warriorette on the hardwood.

The worth of this motto was effectively demonstrated in the opener against Misercordia, won by East Stroudsburg 65-45, and again in the contest with Cheyney with the Warriorettes again the victors by a score of 73-29.

Sharing the honors as co-captains of this year's team are Nancy Diviney and Doris Herrmann. In addition to these two, Miss Venezia will be losing two other senior stars, Pauline Hessler and Joyce Fuhrman, plus team manager, Diane Weaver.

Ruby Steele, Betty Snyder, and Vicki Yurhiewicz are just a few of the many E.S.S.T.C. lassies who will be called upon to fill these vacancies.

Coach Ockershausen's matmen added another laurel to an overflowing trophy case by beating West Chester for the first time in the sport's history. Along with this stimulating win, we also placed well in the state meet, and took a big toll of opponents on the schedule.

Action and finesse in all the weight classes along with intense competition within the team proved to be the formula for success.

Spring

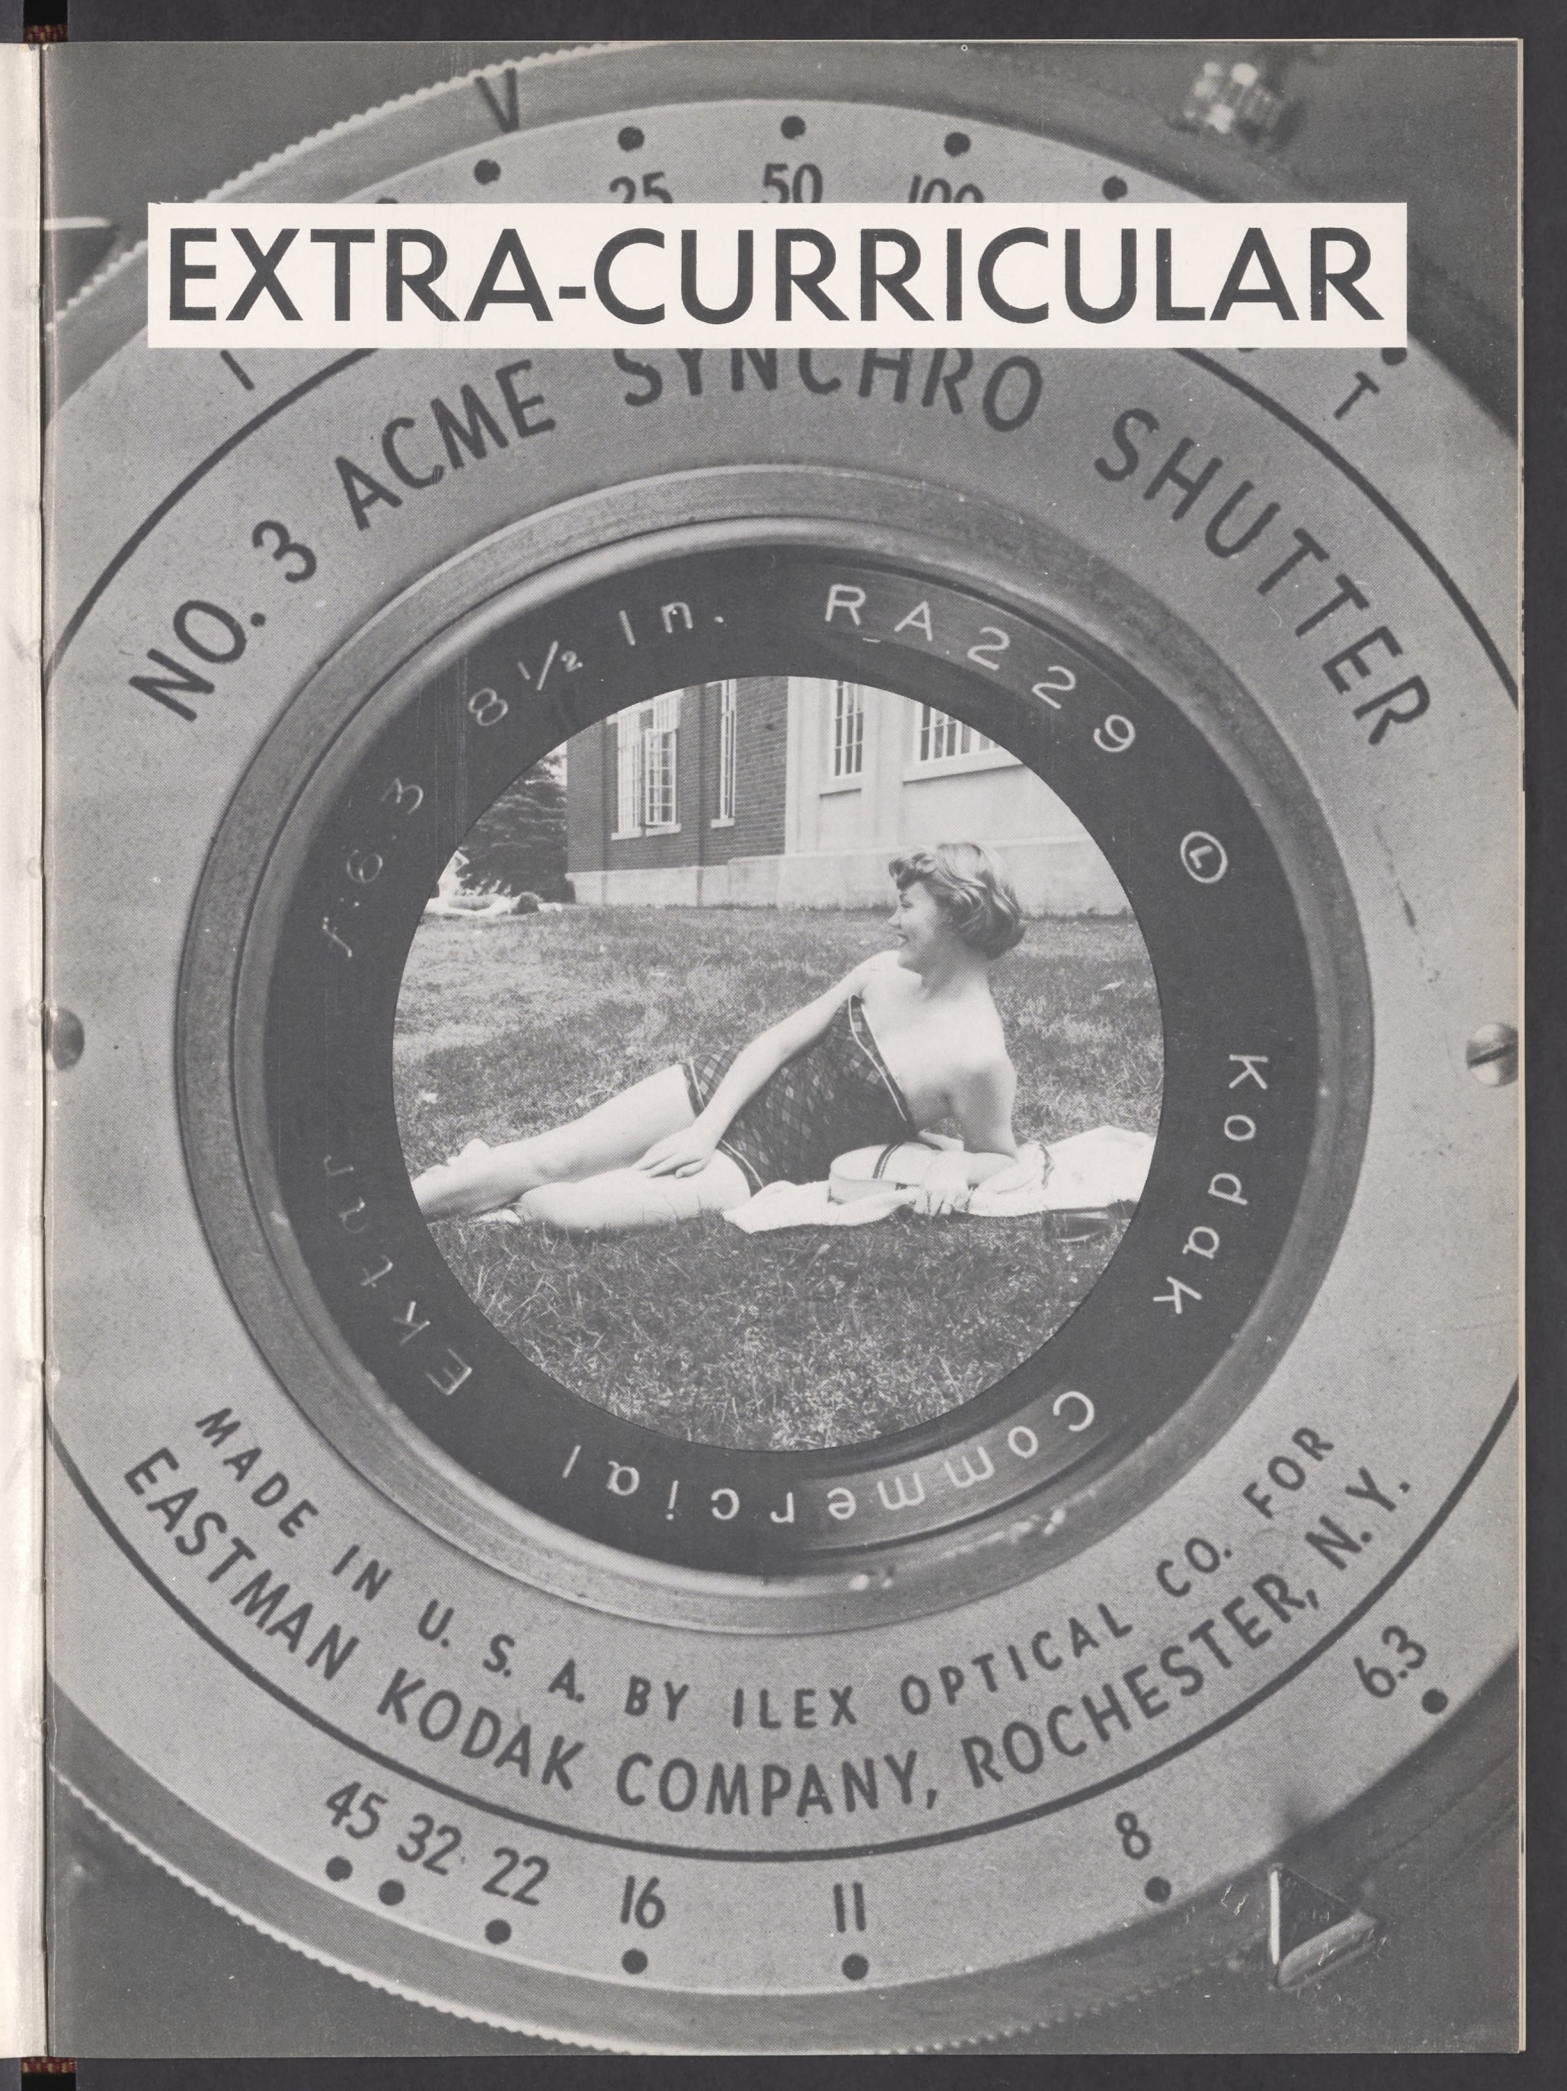

The world lies once more virescent in its dress.
Look! From my window you will see spring's soft caress
Illuminating the sedentary shadows of winter,
Waking a forgotten world from its forgetfulness.

An indolent cloud that drops a silver tear
Awakes the lilacs white in blossom here,
Unbinding the long-imprisoned fragrance
Which had waited past the winter to appear.

See April now discard the chain
Which binds her feet from walking in the rain!
And evening spread the shroud of darkening still
To hide from sight the snowdrifts that remain.

And when the seventh hour disdainfully rejects the light
And leaves to reign the intonations of the night,
Walking in nocturnal solitude the unknown streets,
I watch the winter stillness in its flight
And sing the songs of spring.

Ball four and the bases are loaded.

A young, untried nine built around grit and a desire to play ball met Coach George Ockershausen at the beginning of the 1956 season. Although "Old Man Experience" was not with the team, they managed to hit, talk, and steal their way into a 6-5 log.

Returning this year will be such stellar senior stars as Denny Roth, Geets DiTorrice, Dave Smith, and Jack Powers to aid a strong, eager underclass team to the diamond wars of 1957.

The cindermen had one of the best seasons in many years here on Normal Hill. They managed to win four and lose one in dual competition while taking a third place in the Penn Relays and a second in the Pennsylvania State Teachers Meet.

The one dual loss, coupled with the loss to West Chester in the State meet, were the only mars to a fine season by a well conditioned team.

With the lightning-like sprints of Larry Morgan and the perpetual running of Jerry Sharkey accompanied by high jumping Ed McAndrew, pole vaulting Dave Persons, and broad jumping Dick Berish, the Warriors were the team to beat.

Aided by a strong squad of returning veteran team members, the charges of Coach Frank Grimm amassed a record of five wins and two losses. Led by captain Lee Hill, Karl Mahle, Craig Leatherman, and Ted Roscher, the Warriors were able to contend with all opponents except Brooklyn Poly and Rider.

With the coming of spring this year, the courtmen will again seek that evasive undefeated slate. Coach Grimm has experience and depth to mold into a hard hitting, tough to beat squad.
