Dear Mr. Harris,

I do thank you for your prompt response to our request. Mr. Abrams had been away for the holidays and has just had a chance to go over your letter.

I wish to emphasize that only this one piece, Woman in a Green Gown is in such a sorry state. The piece, Seated Pink Figure, located at Nina Abrams' is in good condition and Woman in Blue Slacks is not in such a state of disrepair.

Mr. Abrams does not feel that he wants to spend such a large sum for the restoration of this piece at this particular time. He does agree, however, that both pieces should be placed in our fine arts storage for safekeeping until some future date when he will again think about the restoration you suggest.

In the meantime, thank you again for responding to us and we will be in touch at some future date.

Warm regards.

Sincerely yours,

Dorothy Guttermann
