

From the Lion House
Farm of Col. Jehn Riddle

This old hand hook was used on the Riddle Farm (The Lion House) now known as the Pillars and located on land where Glendale is found today. Its is approximately the same age as the old hand sickle used by Jehn Hall.

Hall was a son-in-law of Riddle and lived and worked on the farm at one time. The hand sickle was loaned by Laura L. Rogers; the hand heck is a gift from Bill James Cook.
