SIXTH QUOTA STARTS TRIP TO ARMY CAMP

Crowd Out in Haverstraw to Give Boys Sendoff; 40 From County in Current Call

3-4-41

Forty men left Rockland County today in quotas of 17 and 23 for the induction center in New York City, where they will be taken into the Army for a year's military training. Local Board No. 76, Orangeburg, sent 15 men; Local Board No. 762, Ramapo, ten; and Local Board No. 763, Clarkstown, Haverstraw, and Stony Point, five.

A crowd of more than 500 persons assembled at the West Shore Railroad station in Haverstraw this morning to bid farewell to a contingent of 15 men who left for the induction center in New York City as the sixth quota of Local Selective Service Board No. 763, comprising the towns of Clarkstown, Haverstraw and Stony Point.

Credit for 2 Others

The quota actually consisted of 17 men, for two of whom the local board will receive credit at a later date. The two men, however, have already moved from Rockland County and will be inducted by local boards at the places where they now reside. Kurt Blau, formerly of Central Nyack, is now at Marinette, Wis., and Clark Alvin Krick, formerly of Convent Road, Nanuet, is now at McClure, Pa.

The men assembled at the board's offices in Broadway, where they were addressed briefly by distinguished businessmen by Charles Adler. They were taken to the railroad station in cars furnished by Cody's Taxi.

At the station, James J. Freeman, a member of the local board, gave the men their orders and presented the induction papers to those who were called. Each man in the group, Frank George Springsteed of Garnerville was made assistant leader.

The Haverstraw High School Band played several selections while the men were waiting for the train.

Frank Springsteed, now at Camp Jackson, S. C., spent a few days at the family home in Garnerville. He has recently been transferred to the Intelligence Division of the Headquarters Company of the 34th Infantry.

Springsteed, who is an accountant, was in Singapore, Persia, and Australia when employed by the Standard Oil Company. Tuesday night he was given a dinner party by his former office associates in New York City.

Harriet Springsteed must be really proud these days; her brother has joined "the call to the colors" and if he's as good a soldier as he was business man, we are sure it will be no time before his stripes are increased.

Frank Springstead, Jr. Receives Appointment To Special Army Duty

To Attend The Officers' Training School At Fort Benning, Georgia—His Parents Are Well Known Garnerville People

During the past week Frank Springstead, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Springstead of Garnerville, was officially notified of his appointment as a student at The Officers' Training School, Fort Benning, Georgia.

This appointment was made as the result of a competitive examination of eligible soldiers from the 30th Division, also Camp Jackson, where Private (First Class) Springstead has been stationed since his entry into the service last March. His duties have consisted of Unit Personnel Work at 34th Infantry Regimental Headquarters.

The good news was received on Thanksgiving Day, simultaneously upon the return of the 34th Infantry to Fort Jackson, after two months of extensive maneuvers in the Carolina Maneuver area.

Private Springstead spent a few hours at the family home on Saturday and left immediately for Fort Benning, Georgia, for a course of intensive training on Monday.

Before entering the army, Mr. Springstead traveled around the world for one of the leading oil companies. He was in Teheran, Persia, in India, Australia, the Dutch East Indies, and many another far-away points. He is a graduate of Haverstraw High School and St. John's College, Brooklyn.

Frank G. Springstead Gets Army Commission

Garnerville Man Is Now a Second Lieutenant — Completes Course At Fort Benning, Ga.

Private Frank G. Springstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Springstead of Garnerville, became a second lieutenant of infantry in the Army of the United States recently, after successfully completing an intense three month Officer Candidate course at the great Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Men of all grades from private to master sergeant were represented in the graduating class. With their new commission they also received orders for immediate active duty.

The Officer Candidate School is rigorous, running from actual firing of all infantry weapons and leadership of battle units in field maneuvers to plenty of heavy studying over books.

The students are taught every phase of infantry battle, organization, and leadership. Ability to lead is considered one of the most important qualifications of an officer.

The men are constantly being subjected to stiff written tests and have to prove themselves during the three months. They are up early and start the day's work by double timing to the scene of their first lesson. And they move at the same pace all day. As a result they not only get a thorough knowledge of their future jobs, but also conclude the course in fine physical condition.

Lieutenant Frank G. Springstead Married to Peggie Marie Moore

Impressive Military Wedding Held In Chapel at Fort Benning

7-15-43

Peggie Marie Moore, at a wedding trip to Warm Springs, Ga. and Durham, N. C., became the bride of Lieut. Frank G. Springstead, Jr., of Garnerville. The marriage was solemnized with a high nuptial mass in the Catholic Chapel at Fort Benning, Ga., on the morning of Saturday, July 10th.

The chapel was decorated with palms, white gladioli and carnations and burning white tapers.

As the traditional bridal theme was played, the bride entered with Brigadier General Walter S. Fulton, Commanding General at Fort Benning, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Captain James F. Dowling, also aide-de-camp to Lieutenant General Jacob L. Devers, and Lieutenant James H. Critchlow.

The bride was lovely in a white satin gown of ivory satin, fashioned princess lines with tooth train. Her veil of bridal satin was fingertip length and was held in position by orange blossoms. She carried white orchids and stephanotis.

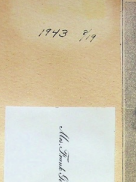

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Joan Moore of Durham, N. C., who was maid of honor, and Miss Louise Wood of Greenville, S. C., sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid. Miss Moore wore a floor length model of white satin and carried a bouquet of white gladioli.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Officers' Club at Fort Benning.
