

Fare thee well but not forever.

Although we are sever, here
May God bring you closer to me.

When before His throne appear.

Only trust Him in your duty
Amid life's turmoils and cares

When on the sea of life your sailing

He, will bring you safe to Heaven there

We miss you very often

In our little circle here

Yet I trust that God will soften

Every parting painful tear

Now I hope you both may journey

Together in one peaceful rest

Without a tear of sorrow given

I hope your end may both be best

How my prayer is ever on you

That your Saviour's love may know

And may lead you softly to Him

By your walks His love may show

It wont be long that I shall journey

On the shores of time

But I hope that you may enter

In that fair and purer clime

And how may Heaven guide you

Both on that delightful shore

And where parting ne'r shall enter

And live together ever there

To farewell but dont forget me

Although we had to part

Thy long absence shall entwine thee

Still more closely around my heart
