May 23d, aged about 74 years. He was well known in this community and was respected by the white people, as well as those of his own race; among the latter he was a leader, filling the pulpit of their church in years gone by and always assisting in the work of the church. He was a good man among his people, and they respected him and were helped greatly by him, for he sought always to exercise his influence on the side of right. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.
