LOUIS M. CRAIG WISHES RETURN TO YOUTH

Recalls Happy Days With Grandmother; Thinks of Servants

A copy of The Chronicle came into the hands of Brig. Gen. Louis M. Craig recently. It contained a story about his early residence in Weston. He wrote the following gracious note, the latter part of which is no doubt echoed in the heart of many a man and woman as they grow away from school days.

"I read your story in The Chronicle with all the mingled feelings that come with memories of long ago—memories that have been dormant a long time—and among my happiest.

"My visits to Weston as a child are among my happiest because of a combination of associations that somehow made life a grand experience: an indulgent aunt (Aunt Jule); a stern but very kind grandmother (Mrs. Malin); my cousins, particularly Mayo; my many friends at school; and old Aunt Lett and Jess, colored servants of Aunt Jule and Grandmother. Then there were grand characters like Aunt Lizzie Railey, Uncle Bert, Mr. Coburn—and so on. It is like something I've read about, now, rather than experienced—but your very kind reminiscences have brought many pictures back and have made me truly wish it were possible somehow to do it all over again.

"Please accept my kindest regards and the hope that I may be able to visit Weston again before long."

Sincerely,
Louis M. Craig
