Democratic Meeting.

A MASS MEETING of the Democracy of Kansas City will be held at the Court House, on THIS (TUESDAY) EVENING, MARCH 29th, at 7½ o'clock, to take such action in regard to the approaching City Election, as the meeting, when assembled, shall determine. It is expected there will be a full attendance. Let every Democrat turn out, that a full, unequivocal and satisfactory expression of the wishes of the party may be had.

MANY DEMOCRATS.

Marriage—Startling Statistics.

We have before us a copy of the Cincinnati Gazette, of March 5th, 1859, which contains a list of parties to whom marriage licenses were granted in Hamilton county, Ohio, for the week ending above date. The list embraces 73 couples, fifty-five of whom are of foreign birth. What makes this wonderful discrepancy. It is a showing, that American mothers and American daughters ought to study. The fact is, without mincing words, that such has become the extravagant habits of American domestic life, that young men cannot afford to marry. The statistics of Massachusetts for the last year show that three fifths of the marriages of that State were of foreigners, and Massachusetts has as small a per cent of that population as any state in the Union. The results are seen in the public press, in the "seductions," "adulteries," etc., of the Eastern States, totally unknown in the primitive and economical days of the past generations. If the present state of facts last another generation, the result must be frightful, and will require more than one Know Nothing party to save the country from "foreign influence." The habits of economy and domestic industry, of the German and Irish populations, peculiarly fit young people for "a commencement in the world," while the extravagance and fashion of American domectic life are appalling to a young man of limited means.

Trial of Doy and Son.

Most of our space is taken up this morning with the trial of Doy and Son, now progressing in St. Joseph, and will no doubt continue several days. As it is a case exciting much interest, we have concluded to give it in full.

THE DOY TRIAL.

BEFORE THE BUCHANAN CIRCUIT COURT.

From the St. Joseph Gazette.

FIRST DAY.

State vs. JOHN and CHARLES DOY, in the Circuit Court of Buchanan county, March term.

This case was called at 11 o'clock of yesterday, when Sheriff MORGAN and jailor BROWN conducted the prisoners to a seat within the bar of the Court room. Dr. Doy is aparently about forty-five years of age; 5 feet 8½ inches high, of a compact, athletic figure, without a pound of surplus flesh, slightly sallow complexion, full suit of curly black hair worn rather long, heavy black beard and whiskers, keen black eyes, nose long and pointed down, and tout ensemble not unpleasing. Chas. Doy, the son, is decidedly striking in personal appearance, and by a large majority of the ladies would be called remarkably handsome. He is an inch or more taller than his father, with a slight and well proportioned form, long wavy black hair; black moustache and beard, bright black eyes, and looks very much like his father, only fresher, franker, fairer, and infinitely handsomer.

They were perfectly self-possessed and took their seat quietly, and not ungracefully, beside their counsel. The Doctor cast his bright eyes around upon the bar and crowd with a keen scrutiny, while the son looked about with something of a pleasing smile upon his prepossessing face. He appeared about 22 years of age, intelligent and dignified, and evidently won the sympathies of the assemblage.

There appeared for the State, Gen. J. M. BASSETT, COL. SILAS WOODSON, WM. H. MILLER, Esq., of Platte, and J. R. BOYD, Esq., of this city; and for the defence, Ex-Governor SHANNON and Attorney General DAVIS, of Kansas. Gov. SHANNON asked that the case might lie over until this morning in consequence of the non-arrival of Dr. WOOD, a material witness, who was certainly expected during the day. Judge NORTON remarked that as Dr. WOOD might arrive within an hour or two, the case could lie over until 3 p. m. The prisoners were then conducted back to jail. We called to see them, and to ascertain their actual condition, when they both expressed themselves as being very comfortable in the large, airy and well lighted upper room of our jail, and much pleased with the kind treatment of Jailor BROWN.

At 3 P. M. the case was again called, when Gen. BASSETT filed a motion to suppress depositions, and a motion to strike out parts of depositions, which will be argued by appointment of the Court at 8 o'clock this morning. The Court then dismissed jurors and witnesses until 9 o'clock this morning, when it is expected the trial wil proceed.

SECOND DAY.

At 8 o'clock this morning, Gen'l BASSETT made his argument in support of motion to suppress depositions, maintaining that the certificate of the Justice who took the depositions was not in accordance with the 24th section of the statute, which requires that he shall state that he was a duly commissioned and qualified officer at the time of taking the depositions.

Judge SPRATT, who appeared for the defence, contended that the variance was not in substance, but simply in phraseology, and that the substitution of the word "authorised" for "commissioned" should not be fatal.

Judge Norton—"I think this certificate technically deficient, but substantially sufficient; and I therfore over-rule the motion."

Judge SPRATT here made a motion for a severance of the cases, which the Court ordered.

(Dr. Doy and son were here conducted into the court room and took their seats near their counsel. Dr. Doy looked better and much more composed than he did yesterday, while CHARLES DOY had the same expession of calmness, or rather of cheerfulness, and looked about him pleasantly while sheriff Morgan was calling the witnesses.)

Judge—"Gentlemen, are you ready to paoceed?"

Gen'l BASSETT—"I find, sir, that several of our witnesses are absent—some of them very material—and we are consulting to see if we can go to trial without them.

Gen'l BASSETT—"If the Court please, Mr. MARTIN WELLER, a material witness, of Platte City, is not here, though duly recognized; but if the opposite party will consent to have his testimony read as given before the justice on the examination, we will go to taial.

(The large court room was here crowded to such density that many of the audience pressed inside the bar, and Sheriff MORGAN had frequently to cry "silenee," and the Judge ordered the bar to be cleared of all save lawyers and the parties and reporters.)

Col. WOODSON—"In regard to the statement of Mr. RANEY, to some of which objections have been made, I am willing to submit it to the Court."

Judge SPRATT—"We will not admit it in regard to JOHN DOY, but will do so in regard to CHAS. DOY, subject to exceptions."

Col. WOODSON—"The case of JOHN DOY is now up.

Judge SPRATT—"We then ask that the case of JOHN DOY be put at the foot of the docket."

Judge NORTON—"The case of JOHN DOY goes to the foot of the docket. The case of CHAS. DOY will now be proceeded with."

Gen'l BASSETT—"I ask thot the case of CHAS. DOY be placed at the foot of the docket."

Court—"The case of CHAS. DOY will go to the foot of the docket."

Judge SPRATT—"If the Court please, MAYOR WOOD, a material witness in the case of JOHN DOY, has not yet arrived, and we would like the case to lie until he can get here.

Col. Woodson—"We have the statement of Mayor Wood here as to what he will swear to, and we will admit it as true if you are ready to go to trial upon it."

Attorney General Davis—"If your Honor please we have the statement of Mayor Wood with the proposition that if we admit it we will go to trial. We have a good many witnesses here and are anxious to go to trial, but we cannot admit such statements as would not be evidence if Mayor Wood were here. Those facts are evidently hearsay, and could not be introduced if Mayor Wood were on the stand. Our witnesses are all beyond the jurisdiction of this Court, and we should think that with all the surroundings in this case, we should have all the liberality extended to us that is ever extended in any case, and we should like to take up the case of Chas. Doy, believing that by the time we get through with his case, Mayor Wood will be here, and we can then go on with the case of John Doy."

Col. Woodson—"We do not desire to be eaptious or technical in this trial, but while we are willing to show the gentlemen all courtesy, we would be unwilling to go into the trial without the reading of the whole of Mayor Wood's statement."

Here a little altercation took place between Col. Woodson and Judge Spratt as to a matter of courtesy, when the Court interposed and said, that the rule of the Court was, to allow a case, on its first calling, to be placed at the foot of the docket; but when called again it had to be disposed of either by continuance or trial; that the Court had nothing to do with the agreement of the parties as to what statements should be read; that the Counsel must determine that matter between themselves, and he would give them a reasonable time to do so.

After allowing a long time for consultation among the Counsel the Court again called up the case, when

General Bassett said: "If the Court please, the State is ready to go into trial."

Attorney General Davis—"We are ready your Honor, with the understanding that the statement of Riley before the Justice shall go into the case as a deposition."

Mr. John Doniphan—(Who appeared for the State.) "Not a deposition, if the Court please, but for what it is worth."—This was agreed to.

(Here the Rev. Mr. Nute came into the Court room accompained by Mrs. Doy, Miss Doy and Miss Lindsey, and a young Doy about 15 years of age, who were shown to seats within the bar, by Sheriff Morgan.)

Sheriff Morgan then called the panel of Jurors summoned for the case of John Doy.

General Bassett proceeded to examine the Jurors as to their qualifications, when, after four peremptory challenges on the part of the State and four on the part of defense, and five set aside for cause by the Court, the following Jurors were sworn to try the case, viz: S. S. Allen, E. H. Pace, Sinclair Miller, Thos. Booth, Thos. W. Keyes, Jas. Highley, Israel Landis, A. Copeland, Caswell Goodman, Samuel Lockwood, Wm. Bagby and L. F. Weimer.

Gen. Bassett then read the indictment to the Jury, and stated that they were only now to try John Doy, and that the case of Chas. Doy was not before them.

The Court then asked if the parties were willing for the Jury to disperse for an hour for dinner.

The Counsel for the State assented.

Gov. Shannon—"If the court please, we consent to the dispersion for the hour but I would simply say now to the Jury that John Doy pleads "not guilty" to the indictment."

The Judge then charged the Jury to have no conversation with any one touching the case, and reassemble promptly in one hour.

The court then adjourned.

At the termination of one hour from adjournment, the Court re-assembled and all the Jurors answered to their names.

Col. WOODSON here stated to the Court that the family of Mr. BAGBY were so sick as to require his attendance, and the Counsel on the other side were willing to excuse him. So Mr. BAGBY was excused and other Jurors were called. The first was objected to by Defendants, the second ruled out by the Court, for cause; the third for cause; the fourth objected to by the Defendants; the fifth by Court for cause; the sixth objected to by the Defendants; the seventh, Mr. LAWSON RODGERS, was accepted and sworn. Gen. BASSETT then read the indictment.

Gov. SHANNON said that the affidavit of MARTIN RILEY was to be read, by consent, exactly as if it were a deposition, and that he objected to that portion which read; "Dr. DOY told me that he had been engaged in that business and that he would be again," until he knew the construction that would be put upon it; for unless the admission related to the case at bar, it was not legitimate. This he enforced by many illustrations. He read from 1 Chitty's Criminal Law, page 564; 1 Greenlief, sections 50 and 51.

Another objection was the inference that the witness drew from the statement, that he understood Dr. DOY to mean stealing negroes as he understood it.

Gen. BASSETT thought it proper to read the whole deposition to show the connection and force of passages which were objected to, and showed that the remark was made in connection with the charge of stealing negroes when he was found in possession of the stolen negroes, and that the whole deposition should be construed and interpreted by the jury.

Col. Woodson gave additional reasons why the deposition should be read entire, as the question raised was as to the criminal knowledge of Dr. Doy when he was transporting negroes—or engaged in that business.

Gov. Shannon contended that it made no difference whether Dr. Doy knew the negroes to be slaves, for such knowledge would not make it an offence against the State of Missouri, but that he objected to reading the inference of the witness because it was calculated to prejudice the minds of the jury.

The Court sustained the motion of Gov. Shannon, and struck out those parts of the deposition which gave the interence of the witness.

Gen. Bassett then read the deposition of Wm. Riley, which stated that he had known negro Dick; that on the 28th of January, 1859, he found said negro in the possession of John Doy assisted by Chas. Doy and a Mr. Clough; that John Doy said he had been engaged in that business before, and he would be again.

Fielding H. Lewis was called to the stand, and sworn as a witness.

On examination by Mr. Doinphan he stated that when Dick was missed he went in pursuit of him, and found him in Dr. Doy's wagon ten or twelve miles from Lawrence; tha the saw it some hours before he caught up with it. "When we rode up and surrounded it, Dr. Doy and son were in the wagon with Dick. We ordered them out. There was two wagons; one of which was driven by Charles Doy and the other by a Mr. Clough.

"Dr. Doy told us we could take the negroes, but that he did not want to go with us himself. When asked where he was going, he said that was his business and not ours. He afterwards told us that he was going to Holton. There were several guns in the wagon. Charles Doy brought out a gun and fired it off. Dr. Doy had command of the party. Dick had a black carpet sack containing a black coat, partly worn, and his wife's miniature and some other little things. He had aso a fiddle and bowie knife."

Mr. Lewis stated that he took from one of the wagons a paper purporting to be a deed of emancipation, (here exhibited in Court) which read: "Know all men by these presents, thal I. B. F. Riley, of the town of Fulton, county Hemstead and State of Missouri, for divers good causes and considerations me thereunto moving, do hereby emancipate and set free my slave William, aged 30 years &c." Witness by James Campbell and Levi Gorman, and certified by Lewis N. Tappan, clerk, and sealed with a red pointed seal and a blue ribbon.

Cross examined by Mr. Davis:

"In my company were Ben Wood, Mr. Raley, Dr. Garvin, of Lawrence, Jacob Hurd, Jacob McGhee, George Robbins, Tom McGhee, I think Wm. Whitley, and two others.

When we arrested Doy and son they did not want to go. We tied Doy and son, but released them immediately. When Charles took his gun and cocked it, I told him if he fired I would shoot him with my revolver. He said he had been ordered to fire, and he intended to do so. He then shot in the air. We took Dr. Doy and son and Clough with us. Dr. Doy rode his horse. When near Leavenworth our wagon broke down. I went on into Leavenworth and got a wagon, and we went down to the Ferry. Dr. Doy said if we had any negroes there we might take them. Doy, objected to going over the river with us, but they were compelled to do so. We did not bring them tied more than a hundred yards. We got to Lawrence Friday evening, 14th or 15th of the mouth, and learned that Dick was there that morning, but had left town before we came. I was in Lawrence some days, and heard that Dick was there, but I never saw him in the Territory until I saw him in Doy's wagon.

Re-examined by Mr. Doniphan—"Who did the negroes say they had got passes from in Lowrence?"

Objected to by Mr. Davis and objection sustained.

Edward Washburn; sworn and examined for the State. "I was acting as clerk of the ferry boat at Rialto on the 5th January. Dick crossed there that day and had a fiddle. I noticed him. It was about 11 or 12 o'clock. I am positive that he had nothing but a fiddle when he came on the boat. It was in a sack with the end sticking out. He did not come back that day, and did not again until brought back."

Cross Examined—No one was with Dick. Dick had a pass for three days from his master, Benj. Wood. Once before Christmas he crossed there with his wife, and had a similar pass for himself and wife. He was gone about four days, and come back with his wife. The first pass allowed him four or five days. The last pass allowed him three days.

Hugh Meridick—"I guarded Doy in Weston, and went with him to Platte City. I asked him how he could run away and steal negroes. He said he did it in accordance with the laws of his country and the laws of God. He said he would like for his son to get clear, because he was a young man, but if the law liberated him he would have revenge, and be severer than he ever was. He said he had been engaged in the business for a long time but this was the first time he had been caught.

Cross-examined—"I was with prisoner two days and nights. When he made these statements we were alone and talking politics. When I asked him how he could liberate negroes in that way, he said he was doing service to the laws of his country and the laws of God. He was not handcuffed at that time. When he was taken out to be carried over to Platte City I heard no remarks made to him by any person. I never heard any insulting remarks made to him."

Re-examined—"While the prisoners were under my charge they were treated like gentlemen. I did not abuse them myself nor allow them to be abused. I received the prisoners from Mr. Lewis in the hotel. When I first saw them there was something of a crowd about, but I did not see them maltreated. They asked for water and I went and got them a pitcher myself."

James N. Burnes—"I saw Dr. Doy sign his name to this paper"—(here a paper purporting to be a protest written and signed by Dr. Doy was shown.) Counsel for defence objected to the testimony, and a discussion arose between Gen'l Bassett and Col. Woodson on the one side, and Mr. Davis and Gov. Shannon on the other, as to the question of familiarity with handwriting, &c., when Mr. Burnes stated that from having seen Doy write, he believed that another instrument here offered by the State, was in his hand-writing. This instrument is a sort of journal of a trip, showing where emigrants were to be taken; what was to be done with them; the different relays and conductors, expresses, &c.

Judge SPATT objected to the paper being given to the Jury because of its irrelevancy and, because sufficient ground had not been laid for it in Mr. BURNES examination, and requested the Court to examine the paper. After an examination the Court said the paper might go to the Jury for what it was worth. The paper was here read by Gen. BASSETT.

John S. Woods was then called to the stand and said: "I do not recollect exactly when Dick left but I think it was about a week when I went over to look for him I

Emigrant's to Pike's Peak!
Should not forget that in consequence of the exposure incident to a journey across the plains, and the want on their arrival of proper shelter and other comforts, to which they must submit in their search for Gold, they will almost inevitably suffer from Fever and Ague, or some other malady caused by Malaria, or Marsh Miasm—that subtle poison which is generated by the heat of summer in all new countries, and so especially dreaded by settlers or strangers.
To those familiar with the almost miraculous properties of DR. SHALLENBERGER'S FEVER AND AGUE ANTIDOTE, it will only be necessary to remind them before leaving the settlements, that it cannot be had where they are going. To others we would say, secure a few bottles at once; the medicine is in the form of pills; will keep any length of time, and can be carried about the person without inconvenience. It contains nothing injurious to the system under any circumstances, and no amount of wet or exposure will make it unsafe to take it. The first dose will stop the chills in a majority of cases, and one bottle always cure, if properly taken, and without loss of time to the person. A dose once a week during the months of July and August, will effectually prevent an attack. If you are still in doubt, call on the Agent and get a pamphlet which will tell you all about it, and in which you will find testimony more than sustaining us in all we say.
For sale by the dozen or single bottle, at Proprietor's prices, by J. C. ADKINS, Kansas City, And by Druggists generally. Sole Proprietors, A. T. SHALLENBERGER & Co., Rochester, Penn.

The Democratic Meeting.

The meeting at the Court House on Tuesday evening was one of the largest ever held in the city, and although there was much difference of opinion in regard to the propriety of making a party nomination, yet the discussion was in good temper, and in the true Democratic spirit.

It was finally resolved that a ticket should be nominated, and Ward meetings appointed for last night, to select delegates to a nominating Convention to be held at the Court House to-night. We must enjoin upon the Democracy to stand by their party. A deep laid scheme has been in progress for some time to concentrate the entire opposition force upon a single ticket, and by secret organization accomplish the overthrow of the Democratic party. This object was disclosed early on Monday evening, and no doubt a call will be seen to-day for that purpose. It may come under the disguise of a "peoples" ticket, or a "citizens" Convention: but the managers are avowed Know Nothings and Republicans, and no device will be left untried to accomplish the defeat of the Democracy. It is idle to listen to these syren songs of "peoples" and "citizens" candidates. Old Democrats know what it means. We are still further gratified to know that a large proportion of the Democratic candidates now in the field, are willing to abide the action of their party according to the time honored customs of the Democracy, and we feel confident that when the ticket is presented it will receive the united vote of the Democracy of Kansas City.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Pursuant to notice, a mass meeting of the Democracy of Kansas City was held at the Court House, on Tuesday evening, March 29th, to take some action in regard to the approaching City election. Captain J. K. Starr was called to the Chair, and Jacob S. Boreman appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting having been explained by the Chair, on motion of R. T. Van Horn, it was, after discussion by Messrs. Van Horn, Hodgson, Northrup, Groom and others.

Resolved, That it is expedient for the Democratic party to nominate candidates for the city offices, to be voted for at the approaching election.

On motion, Resolved, That this meeting recommend that meetings of the Democrats in every ward be held Wednesday evening, whereat ten delegates from each ward be appointed to meet in Convention to nominate candidates for the City offices.

On motion, Resolved, That this meeting recommend that said general nominating Convention be held at the Court House on Thursday evening, the 31st inst.

It was further recommended that the primary meetings for Wednesday evening be held as follows:

1st Ward—At the Metropolitan Hall.
2d Ward—At the Court House.
3d Ward—At the Baptist Church.

On motion adjourned.

J. K. STARR, Chairman.
JACOB S. BOREMAN, Sec'y.

PETER CARTWRIGHT, THE BACK WOODS PREACHER.

of feeling beyond all conception. He descanted on the horrors of hell, till every shuddering face was turned downward, as if to see the solid globe rent asunder, and the fathomless, fiery gulf yawn from beneath. Brave men moaned, and fair fashionable women, covered with silken drapery and bedight with gems, shrieked as if a knife were working among their heart-strings.

"Again he changed the theme? sketched the joys of a righteous death—its faith, its hope, its winged raptures, and angels attending the spirit to its starry home—with such force, great and evident belief, that their eyes were turned toward heaven, and the entire congregation started to their feet, as if to hail the vision of angels at which the finger of the preacher seemed to be pointed, elevated, as it was on high to the full length of his arm.

He then made a call for mourners into the altar, and five hundred, many of them till that night infidels, rushed forward and prostrated themselves on their knees. The meeting was continued for two weeks, and more than a thousand converts were added to the church. From that time his success was unparalleled, and the fact is chiefly due to his inimitable wit and masterly eloquence, that Methodism is now the prevailing religion in Illinois.

"He was distinguished by one very unclerical peculiarity—combativeness. His battles, although always apparently in the defensive, were as numerous as the celebrated Bowie. The only difference was this, that Bowie fought with deadly weapons, while the itinerant used but his enormous fist, which was as effective, however, in a speedy settlement of belligerent issues as any knife or pistol ever forged out of steel. Let the reader judge from the following anecdote:

"At the camp-meeting held at Alton, in the autumn of 1838, the worshippers were annoyed by a set of desperadoes from St. Louis, under the control of Mike Fink, a notorious bully, the triumphant hero of countless fights, in none of which he had ever met an equal, or even second. The coarse, drunken ruffians carried it with a high hand, outraged the men and insulted the women, so as to threaten the dissolution of all pious exercises; and yet such was the terror the name of the leader, Fink, inspired, that no one could be found brave enough to face his prowess.

"At last, one day, when Cartwright ascended the pulpit to hold forth, the desperadoes, on the outskirts of the encampment, raised a yell so deafening as to drown utterly every other sound. The preacher's dark eyes shot lightning. He deposited his Bible, drew off his coat, and remarked aloud:

"Wait for a few minutes, my breathern, while I go and make the devil pray?"

"He then proceeded, with a smile on his lips, to the focus of the tumult, and addressed the chief bully—

"Mr. Fink, I have come to make you pray!"

"The desperado rubbed back the tangled festoons of his blood-red hair, arched his brows with a comical expression, and replied—

"By golly, I'd like to see you do it, old snorter."

"Very well," said Mr. Cartwright: "will these gentlemen, your courteous friends agree not to show foul play?"

"In course they will. They're rale grit, and won't do nothin' but the clar thing, so they won't," rejoined Fink indignantly.

"Are you ready?" ask the preacher.

"Ready as a race-horse with a light rider,' answerd Fink, squaring his porderous person for the combat.

"The bully spoke too soon; for scarcely had the words left his lips when Cartwright made a prodigious bound towards his antagonist, and accompanied it with a quick, shooting punch of his herculean fist, which fell, crushing the others chin, and hurled him to the earth like lead. Then, even his intoxicated comrades, filled with involuntary admiration at the feat, gave a cheer. But Fink was up in a moment, and rushed upon the enemy, exclaiming:

"That warn't done fair, so it warn't.

"He aimed a ferocious stroke, which the preacher parried with his left hand, and, grasping his throat with his right, crushing him down as if he had been an infant. Fink struggled, squirmed, and writhed in the dust; but all to no purpose; for the strong, muscular fingers held his windpipe, as in the jaws of an iron vice. When he began to turn purple in the face, and ceased to resist, Mr. Cartwright slackened his hold and inquired—

"Will you pray now?"

"I doesn't know a word how," gasped Fink.

"Repeat after me."

"Well, if I must, I must," answered Fink; "because you're the devil himself.

"The preacher then said over the Lord's prayer, line by line, and the conquered bully responded in the same way, when the victor permitted him to rise.

"At the consummation the rowdies roared three boisterous cheers, and Fink shook Cartwright by the hand, declaring—

"By golly, you're some beans in a bar-fight. I'd rather set-to with an old 'he' bar in dog days. You can pass this 'ere crowd of nose-smashers, blast your pictur'!"

"Afterward Fink's party behaved with extreme decorum, and the preacher resumed his Bible and pulpit."

An odd scene that, certainly; and "not very apostolic," say you, sober reader. We join you in the remark; but it is characteristic, as we said in another case.

We give it as a fact from our old friend Finley; a fact that illustrates not only the character of the man, but of the country and its early times. "Circumstances alter cases," is a popular proverb in the West as well as elsewhere; and even good men are heard occasionally, to affirm out there, that Lynch law is better than no law.

Mr. Bungay, in his volume of 'Off-hand Takings of Noticeable Men of our Age," says that he heard Peter at Boston, during the late General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and thus describes the occasion:

"The great western preacher has arrived, and is searching the well-thumbed Bible for his text. Quite a number of distinguished divines are present. The preacher looks like a backwoodsman, whose face has been bronzed at the plow. His black hair, straggling seven ways for Sunday, is slightly tinged with the frost of age. A strip of black silk is twisted around his neck, and a shirt collar, scrupulously clean, is turned down over it. He is of ordinary size, dresses plainly, and looks like a man perfectly free from affectation. In a faltering voice he reads a hymn. The choir wed the words to sweet and solemn music—a fervent prayer goes up on the wings of faith—another hymn is read and sung—the 12th verse of the 11th chapter of Matthew is selected for his text. Now the old pioneer preacher, who has waded swamps, forded rivers, threaded forests, travelled with Indians, fought with bears and wolves, preached in the woods, and slept in the field or on the prairie at night, is standing before us. Look at him, ye gentlemen with white neckcloths and black coats, who ride in carriages over smooth roads, to supply churches with cushioned pews and soft benches to kneel on. How would you like to labor for nothing among wild beasts and board yourselves, in a climate where the ague shakes the settlers over the grave two-thirds of the year? Would you exchange your fat livings, and fine palaces, and unread libraries, for black bread and dry venison, a log hut, and the society of bears and blue racers? God bless the brave, wise and good men to whom we are so much inbebted for the blessings we enjoy.

He says he would make an apology if he thought it would enable him to preach better, for he is afflicted with a severe cold. "Some folks," said he, "say I am fifty years behind the age. GOD knows," he continued, "I am willing to be a thousand years behind such an age. Religion is always of age, and can talk or run without stilts or silver slippers." He concluded an able and interesting discourse, which elicited undivided attention, with the following fact: During a revival of religion at the West, a young preacher, manufactured in one of your theological shops out here, came to lend a helping hand. I knew he could not handle Methodist's tools without cutting his fingers, but he was very officious. Well, we had a gale—a pentecostal gale, and sinners fell without looking for a soft place, and Christians fought the devil on their knees. Well, this little man would tell those who were groaning under conviction to be composed. I stood this as long as I could, and finally sent him to great, stout, athletic man who was bellowing like a bull in a net, while I tried to undo the mischief he had done to others. He told this powerful man to be composed, but I told him to pray like thunder—just at that instant the grace of GOD shone in upon his soul, and he was so delirious with delight, he seized the little man in his hands, and holding him up, bounded like a buck through the congregation." It is impossible for the pen to do justice to this fact. The speaker moved us all to tears and smiles at the same moment, while he said what few men would venture to say.

While he was preaching years ago, Gen. Jackson entered the church, when a pastor seated in the pulpit gave his "Brother Cartwright" a nudge, and whispered that the old hero had just come in—as much as to advise, "Now be particular in what you say." But Peter, to the astonishment of every one, louder than ever, exclaimed—"Who cares for General Jackson? He'll go to hell as soon as anybody, if he doesn't repent!"

When the sermon—a home-made one—was ended, a friend asked the general what he thought of that rough old fellow, and received for answer, "Sir, give me twenty thousand of such men, and I'll whip the world, including the devil!"

It is quite possible, brother reader, that your and our notions might not quite agree with the general's; yet neither of us can fail to see in this eccentric but veteran evangelist, the man of his times and his circumstances. And you, dear sir, starched, brushed and perfumed, who now recline in the stuffed arm chair of your garnished study, wondering why the world should take any interest in a specimen of humanity—what kind of specimen would you have been? What would you have done in the rough battles through which this weather-worn, but jolly-hearted old man has borne the standard of the cross—borne it with a brawny but ever-faithful arm? God bless the old man, with all his oddities; and may he yet fight his way in to heaven.

Peter Cartwright joined the "old Western Conference" in 1805, though he began to travel a year earlier, we believe. He was a young man—only about eighteen years old—when he entered the itinerant field, and he has been in its foremost struggles ever since. The "old Western Conference" was, in that day, the only one beyond the Alleghanies. It extended from Detroit to Natchez, and each of its districts comprise a territory about equal to two of the present conferences beyond the mountains. Those were the days of great moral battles in that vast field; and the men who fought them were made great, some of them gigantic'ly so, by their circumstances. Among them were Young, Walker, Shinn, M'Kendree, Burke, Lakin, Quinn, Blackman, and similar mighty men. Cartwright began his regular travels with Lakin on Salt River Circuit—(save the name!) Most of his fellow-heroes have gone to their rest; but they gained the field, and fortified their cause all over it. They, in fact, laid the moral foundations of our ultra montane states. The few remnants of the old corps should be cherished and honored by their Church.

From the St Joseph Gazette.

THE DOY TRIAL.

BEFORE THE BUCHANAN CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge E. H. Norton, presiding.

State of Missouri vs. John Doy, in the Circuit Court of Buchanan County, March Term.

staid four or five days. He is worth from $1500 to $2000. Dick gave me a paper like the free paper here shown, and before proved to have been taken from one of the captured negroes.

Cross-Examined—"I went direct from Leavenworth to an Indian house four or five miles this side of Lawrence, and the next morning went into Lawrence. Then went to Lecompton by a round-about way and remained there two days, and then returned to Weston.

Gen Bassett here read the testimony of Benjamin Wood, as agreed upon, which was in substance as follows: "on Wednesday 5th of January last, he was the owner of the negro above named, Dick, a copper color, about thirty years of age. That he gave said boy a pass to go to Findley's one mile north of Kickapoo, to play at a party; that Dick took only a fiddle with him; that he captured Dick afterwards in charge of Doy and son, in Kansas Territory, and that he then had a carpet sack, coat, &c., which had belonged to Dick before he left home; that Dick was worth $1,500, and that he never gave him a deed of manumission."

The State here closed.

Mr. Davis then rose and stated to the Jury that "in defence he expected to show that John Doy had never been in Missouri, nor connected with Missouri, but was employed in his legitimate business in Kansas when taken."

SATURDAY, March 26, 1859.

Jefferson B. Conway's Deposition—I am acquainted with John and Charles Doy for two years. They have lived that time two miles from Lawrence. I saw Dick with a fiddle. He had a pass. The pass expired on the day after I saw him, which would be the 7th day of January.

Geo. H. Sergeant—John Doy and son resides 2 miles from Lawrence. John Doy was in the habit of buying goods in the store where I was clerking. I bought of John Doy 7th of January, a box of garden seeds. I saw John Doy about the store every day from the 2d to the 10th of January last.

Ferdinand Fuller—Know Doys. Saw John Doy on 3d January last in Lawrence.

Chas. Stearns—Doys have resided two miles from Lawrence. John Doy was in the habit of eating at my house frequently. On 7th of January he took garden seed to deliver to some person to whom he had sold them in Lawrence. I saw Dick with a pass. John Doy had a team with which he took passengers.

He asked to stay at my house. I told him he could not do so, nor did I know where he could. He showed me a pass. I saw the time was not out, and advised him to return to Missouri.

Maria S. Lindsley—I know Dick had a fiddle—heard him play upon it frequently. On 13th January last, Mr. Lindsley employed him to cut wood, etc., to the 25th of January; when Dick left to cross the river. Dick had free papers. He remained at our house from 13th to 25th January, leaving only one Sunday to go to Lawrence.

John W. Taylor—Do not know of John Doy being out of Douglas county for seven months before the 10th of January. On Monday after New Year—3d of January—Doy called at my house. I told him to tell Charles to come up, I wanted to see him. Charles came next day.

Daniel O. Lindsay—I first saw Dick in the town of Lawrence. He went to work for me about two weeks, four miles above Lawrence. Did not see Doy there while Dick was with me.

John C. Archibald—Don't believe the Doys were further than Lecompton for 7 months the 10th of January last. I lived in full view; saw them almost every day. They called frequently at my house in going to Lawrence, and think that John Doy could not have been away from home all night from 26th December, to 10th of January.

Jacob Sinex sworn—I have resided in Lawrence for 3 years. Had charge of the ferry there 18 months. On 6th of January in the evening about 5 o'clock, a colored man crossed the ferry. He had a violin with a green cover on it. There was a stage driver and some stranger with him. They crossed together in a skiff. Neither of those persons with the black man was John or Charles Doy. I had not seen either of the Doys for two weeks, nor for two months before that. There is no other ferry at Lawrence, and that is the only ferry crossing from Lawrence to Leavenworth. The nearest ferry is at Lecompton, 12 miles above, and the next is the Tuly ferry, 18 or 20 miles below. Dr. Doy resided upon the same side of the river that Lawrence is on.

Cross-examined—I have known Dr. Doy for two years. Never was at his house, but have seen it. I knew it was on Thursday, the 6th day of January last, that the negro crossed. He came in the stage. For more than a month before that I had not seen Dr. Doy. The negro was a dark mulatto, about common size; think he had whiskers; never saw him again. Crossed about 15 minutes or half an hour before dark. I continued at the ferry a month after. I never saw John Doy or negro cross afterwards.

Otis Wilmot—I reside in Lawrence and keep store. John Doy came to my store on the 5th of January to deliver some seeds I had made the trade with him a few days before, and he delivered them on the 5th. I have the entry here in my book of the credit to him. I think it was in the afternoon. My store was in the Post Office, and I saw Dr. Doy there every day or two, and had for some time before that, and did not miss him for months before.

COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE JOURNAL OF COMMERCE, Thursday, March 31, 1859.

There has been a decided improvement in the demand for all kinds of staple goods, since yesterday's report, though no material change in prices. There is now a fine stage of water in the river, and the boats seem inclined to make the best use of it, judging from the numbers which arrive here every day. The receipts for the past few days have been very large. We quote:

FLOUR—Sales light at $3 for common, $3.25 for superfine.

SUGAR—Common grades are firm at 8½ for fair; prime 9c.

COFFEE—Rio 13@14; Java at 18@19c; Mocha 21.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CITY ORDINANCE.

Whereas, The City Engineer in the year 1857, located the corners for a building for William Gillis on the south end of lot No. Six, in Block one, at the corner of Delaware and Commercial streets, and whereas the house located on said part of said lot is found to extend at the south east corner, two and one-sixth feet in Commercial street, therefore—

Be it ordained by the City of Kansas, as follows:

SECTION 1. That for and in consideration of the sum of one dollar in hand paid to the City of Kansas, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, and of the premises set forth in the above preamble, the said William Gillis is hereby vested with the title to the space of said street occupied by his said building for the term of twenty years from the date of the passage of this ordinance, Provided, the building shall so long remain.

This ordinance to take effect from its passage.

Approved March 26, 1859.

M. J. PAYNE, Mayor.

Attest: L. B. SCOTT, Register.

Emigrant's to Pike's Peak!

Should not forget that in consequence of the exposure incident to a journey across the plains, and the want on their arrival of proper shelter and other comforts, to which they must submit in their search for Gold, they will almost inevitably suffer from Fever and Ague, or some other malady caused by Malaria, or Marsh Miasm—that so the poison which is generated by the heat of summer in all new countries, and so especially dreaded by settlers or strangers.

To those familiar with the almost miraculous properties of DR. SHALLENBERGER'S FEVER AND AGUE ANTIDOTE, it will only be necessary to remind them before leaving the settlements, that it cannot be had where they are going. To others we would say, secure a few bottles of it, since the medicine is in the form of pills; will keep any length of time, and can be carried about the person without inconvenience. It contains nothing injurious to the system under any circumstances, and no amount of wet or exposure will make it unsafe to take it. The first dose will stop the chills in a majority of cases, and one bottle always cure, if properly taken, and without loss of time to the person. A dose once a week during the months of July and August, will effectually prevent an attack. If you are still in doubt, call on the Agent and get a pamphlet which will tell you all about it, and in which you will find testimony more than sustaining us in all we say.

For sale by the dozen or single bottle, at Proprietor's prices, by J. C. ADKINS, Kansas City.

And by Druggists generally. Sole Proprietors, A. T. SHALLENBERGER & Co., Rochester, Penn.
