ASSESSMENT OF SLAVES IN PLATTE.—The Platte County Sentinel of the 16th publishes the following concerning the value of slaves in that county :

"Our County Assessor has recently been engaged in making the county assessment, and perhaps is through with his work.—The highest assessment for a slave that we have heard of, is but two hundred dollars. One gentleman informed us that his slaves ten in number, were assessed at $800 for the lot. The average assessment is supposed to be about $100 per slave.

This assessment may be of some importance, if compensated emancipation is adopted, as showing the present valuation of slaves: the more so, as the assessment has been made by a 'conservative," which means Southern sympathizer.

The general opinion of slaveholders in this vicinity is, that "negro chattels" are nothing or but little worth in Platte county."
