AND STILL THEY GO!—On Saturday night last, some thirty-five slaves crossed the river above Weston. On Monday night, twenty-nine crossed below Weston. Sixty-four slaves run off in three days. At this rate, Platte county will soon be depopulated of this species of property. Horses, mules, wagons, &c., were taken by the runaways, and the whites who superintended the exodus. We learn, however, thanks to the martial law instituted by Gen. Ewing, that three of the robbers have been arrested at Leavenworth, and a large amount of the stolen plunder seized.—Platte County Sentinel.
