Small Pox.

Monday morning a son of Rev. Walker, the colored Methodist preacher at Platte City, returned to his father's home on Atchison Hill near Platte City, from Denver. Tuesday a physician was called and it was found that young Walker was sick with the smallpox. Dr. Grundy Coffey was called in and pronounced it a regular case. The city authorities immediately quarentined the house and if the negroes can be kept away there will be little danger of the disease spreading.
