Monday the Landmark man received a visit that was as fully appreciated as any we have had. It was a visit from Aunt Martha Lewis of Kansas City. When you know that "Aunt Martha" is the editors old Black Mammy, you can fully understand the situation. There is a love and respect between those whose parents had slaves during the ante-bellum days, for their old servants that some people cannot understand, and later generations of white and black people cannot appreciate. There never was a better and truer person, in our estimation, than "Aunt Martha" and this editor was glad to have her come to see us.—Platte County Landmark.
