SICK OF A DIET OF PROMISES

If the nation is still bewildered by the President's budget statement it may not be wholly due to [illegible] to grasp the figuring of big figures. The better reason is probably to be found in the fact that it is staggering under the task of trying to understand what kind of miracle Mr. Roosevlet will work to carry out his announced intention of turning this year's $700,000,000 deficit into a 1938 balanced budget.

How does he propose to do it? Because he has definitely and publicly rejected the idea of new taxes, only two ways are left open to him. He can devise a method for increasing Federal revenues under the present tax-structure and he can force Congress to reduce appropriations. Confidence in his ability to perform the latter of these operations is somewhat dimmed by his past record of extravagance. With respect to the former course, it need only be said that there has been no word in any of his recent speeches to encourage the belief that he will help industry to forge ahead and thus put it in a position to contribute more substantially to support of the Government. On the contrary, by his nagging policy he has steadily made business more uncomfortable and reluctant to adopt a policy of expansion.

It is not unlikely, then, that one more promise has been made only to be broken. This series of empty pledges now includes the following:

> March 10, 1933—I give you assurance that if this is done there is reasonable prospect that within a year the income of the Government will be sufficient to cover the expenditures of the Government.
> Jan. 3, 1934 — We should plan to have a definitely balanced budget for the third year of recovery (1936).
>
> Jan. 7, 1935—I am submitting to the Congress a budget for the fiscal year 1936 which balances except for expenditures to give work to the unemployed.
>
> Jan. 8, 1937 — We expect, moreover, if improvement in economic conditions continues at the present rate, to be able to attain in 1939 a completely balanced budget.
>
> April 20. 1937—I regard it as extremely important that we should achieve a balance of actual income and outgo for the fiscal year 1938.
>
> Sept. 28, 1937 — A budget which, by the way, we expect to have definitely balanced by the next fiscal year.

While the American people are quick to forget and forgive, there must be a limit to their patience. For four years they have been given a diet of promises. What they want now is performance.—Boston Transcript.

CAPE COD SEAMEN

A man from Boston had to come down to Cape Cod the other night and tell us that our young men are no longer following the sea. Perhaps his word wasn't the first we have heard on this subject, but it was an emphatic reminder that the day when Cape Cod itself was a training school for seamen is no more.

The visiting speaker was telling only of one phase of sea training. He mentioned that the Massachusetts Nautical Training School has averaged only two Cape Codders among its more than 160 students in the past three years. This means that out of 80 boys from the state who choose to follow the sea— as far as this one school is concerned —only one comes from the Cape.

Even for a restricted phase of naval training in the state, that is a small showing for the Cape. No other section has more people who know and love the sea than has Cape Cod. Here youth grows up in an atmosphere that fosters an interest in ships and gathers the innate knowledge of shipping which would serve the nation well.

There are a number of Cape Cod youths, going into seagoing activities. Numbers of them constitute the complement of the fishing fleet, which means considerable in the steady income of the Cape. There are many who pilot or ship with the crew of Summer yachts. Some are employed in boatyards of the Cape and nearby. And at least one has been making preparations to enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis to study for service on Uncle Sam's war monsters.

But all of these things do not meet the challenge which the Boston speaker threw to the Cape. What he was talking about is the United States merchant fleet and the program to enlarge it.

From Cape Cod, years ago, came those earlier merchants of the sea who planned their own cargoes, who covered the seven seas bearing the flag of the United States, and whose ingenuity made this growing nation one of the greatest maritime powers of the day. If there is any of that naval enterprise left on the Cape, it could be used to good advantage in this nation's efforts to restore its mercantile prestige.

What with organized labor among the seamen, prolonged strikes and violent picketing, the modern merchant marine is no soft snap. But it offers a decisive challenge and an unlimited opportunity to Cape Cod youths who can measure up to the standards of their forefathers.—Cape Cod Colonial.

SUMMER MEMORIES

Cool autumnal days on the Cape lend a majesty to nature that is not found in the Summer months. Now is the time of year when many Cape Codders find their greatest enjoyment in the out of doors. With the opening of the hunting season sportsmen take to the bracing air for pleasure that was denied them in the warmer period.

Yet we can not escape entirely the memory of Summer's warmer days. Last Summer was a pleasant [illegible] on the Cape, blessed with sunshine and little rain. The temperature was almost always moderate. Yet one visitor in late June found the weather not to his liking.

This gentleman, John Baptist Ford, a Pullman porter, is quoted in the current issue of Collier's magazine as writting to that publication about the heat in Hyannis. Described by Collier's editor as his "favorite Pullman porter", a veteran of 35 years of service and "sometime guest lecturer in sociology at Dartmouth college", Mr. Ford's letter is reproduced in part. It reads:

"I was a little disheartened by that hot spell around the last of June. Upon my arrival at Hyannis, Mass., at the end of my day's work I took a 14-ounce glass to make myself a lemonade. In this 14-ounce glass I placed the juice of two lemons, some clean ice and club soda. I scanned the horizon and picked out a shady tree about 300 feet from my car. I started for this tree. It was so hot that while walking the 300 feet the lemonade started boiling and broke the glass. So I went fishing instead".

Mr. Ford's story deserves a place in Collier's. It ranks alongside some of the best fishing stories that have come out of the Cape this year. Even some of the Provincetown tale tellers will have a hard time meeting this kind of competition. But we have an idea Mr. Ford will like Hyannis and Cape weather enough to keep on visiting us next Summer, like so many thousands of Summer visitors do. There's always the chance that he will develop an even better story next year.—Cape Cod Standard-Times.

Public cordially invited.

Kinraide-Bassett

At Trinity church, Newton Center, on Saturday afternoon Miss Claudia Severance Bassett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Oscar Bassett of Newton Highlands became the bride of Thomas Reed Kinraide of Sandwich, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burton Kinraide, Dr. Edward T. Sullivan, the rector, officiating.

Mrs. Robert Burton Kinraide of Westwood, sister-in-law of the bridegroom was matron of honor, and the group of four bridesmaids includes Miss Leona Kinraide of Sandwich, Mrs. Charles Severance Bassett of Newton, Miss Mary Jennette Rockwood of Newton Center, and Miss Virginia Thomas of Newton Highlands.

Robert Burton Kinraide of Westwood was his brother's best man, and the corps of ushers included Charles Severance Bassett of Newton, Casper John Stacey of New York, Jackson Nicholls of Searsport, Me., and Richard King of Newtonville.

Mr. Kinraide has taken his bride on a motor trip through New Hampshire, and on their return they will live in Cambridge, where they will be at home at 1 Chauncy street after Nov. 15.

The bride attended Middlebury college, and the groom graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with the class of 1937.

Federated Church Notes

Sunday Services

10:00 A. M. Sunday school with worship and classes.

11:00 A. M. Morning worship. Young people's vested choir, Mrs. Ida Nye Lloyd, soloist. Sermon by the minister, Rev. John M. Trout on "Invisible Allies". Text: Romans 11:4. Cordial welcome.

7:00 P. M. Vestry meeting for young people. Inspirational singing and an inspirational talk. Social hour follows.

The play, "Fifteenth Candle", will be given on November 7 instead of on October 31, as originally announced.

At a business meeting of young people the following leaders were chosen for 1937-38: President, Ursula Bartley; vice president, Chester Rich; secretary, Doris Forgue; treasurer, Lorraine Rich. Sunday evening meetings will be held twice each month, usually on the second and fourth Sundays. Socials on the first and third Friday evenings. Charter membership this year is limited to 15. Additional members will be chosen from a waiting list by vote of the society.

Monday Evening Lectures

The committee of the Federated church planning for the observance of the 300th anniversary of the establishment of the First parish next Summer, announce an interesting course of Monday evening lectures and discussions in November and December to which the entire public is welcomed.

Well informed speakers will discuss present conditions in different parts of the world, including the Far East, Spain, England, Northern and Central Europe as well as the United States.

Each evening's program will begin with a musical prelude and opportunity for questions will be given at the conclusion of each address.

The first program will be given on Monday, Nov. 8, beginning at 7:30 P. M., when Thomas Johnson of Boston will sing Negro spirituals and Mrs. William Stuart Nelson, wife of President Nelson of Dillard university, New Orleans, La., is scheduled to discuss race problems in the United States.

There is a charge of one dollar for the entire series of five lectures, single admission being 25 cents. The proceeds will be used to repaint the interior entrance to the Federated church, in preparation for the coming anniversary.

Rev. Joseph B. Lyman and Mrs. John M. Trout are in charge of ticket distribution.

Henry W. Shaw

Henry Winfield Shaw, who recently purchased the house formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hall at East Sandwich, and was making his home in that village, passed away Oct. 12, at the Relief Memorial hospital in Boston.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Emma S. Shaw; a daughter, Miss Eleanor K. Shaw of Boston, and a son, Wilfred E. Shaw of New York.

The Oceanside inn, East Sandwich has been closed for the Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert LaBelle leaving last week for an extended stay in California, accompanied by Mrs. LaBelle's mother.

Sandwich Woman's Club

The club banquet held last Friday evening at the Coonamessett inn, Hatchville, was voted a huge success by the 40 members and guests who attended. Mrs. Wallace M. Freeman, president of the club, welcomed those present and then introduced the reader of the evening, Miss Caroline Smith of the Bishop-Lee Dramatic school, Boston, who gave scenes from "Peg O' My Heart" and "The Littlest Rebel" and concluded with humorous skits.

This week, October 29, the club will be entertained by the Music department, Mrs. Ralph Rich, chairman. An afternoon of real pleasure is anticipated.

On Friday of next week, following the monthly business meeting, "Hobby afternoon" is to be observed, when Prof. Stearns of the Bridgewater State Teachers' college will speak on "Hobbies". This is a subject in which Prof. Stearns is extremely interested, having many hobbies of his own, and having been the founder of several hobby clubs among Junior and Senior High school students. It is hoped that those especially interested will bring their work for display, talk it up among their friends and bring a large attendance to welcome the speaker of the afternoon.

Town Records

The inventory of the town records of Sandwich, upon which the Historical Records survey has been engaged for some weeks, is nearing completion, and will be included in the volume on Barnstable county, which will be issued shortly. The work will also contain an historical sketch of Sandwich and a list of its town officers who served at various periods. The workers on the staff of the survey express appreciation for the courteous co-operation and helpful assistance given them by town officials and custodians of archives. Without this aid, the inventory could not have been undertaken.

The work was begun at the suggestion of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who expressed concern over possible damage to or loss of this important source material. The survey has been in receipt of numerous letters from scholars, historians and archivists for the work it has done in preserving to posterity priceless records, which embody the past history of the community.

Henry T. Wing School

The various classes of the High school are uniting their efforts to make the Hallowe'en costume party the biggest Fall social event in Sandwich. The dance will be held on Thursday, October 28, from 8-12 p. m., in the school auditorium and will feature Kemp Read's orchestra. Each of the classes will have a booth and gay Fall colors will be used for decoration. The money which is made is to be used to defray graduation expenses.

The teachers of the school are to attend the Barnstable County convention on Friday.

The delegates of the Student council will attend a conference in Whitman on Thursday of this week. Those voted to represent the school are Robert Hoxie, Ada Wing, and Betty Burke.

The school wishes to thank its many friends who have enabled Sandwich to break all records in the recent magazine contest. The Seniors more than doubled their quota to win an ice cream party from the Juniors, who were second in the contest.

Cedarville

Measuring Party

The president of the Village Improvement society expressed herself as well pleased with the Swift success of the measuring party as sponsored by her. She decided at the last minute, Tuesday afternoon, too late for the notice to be sent to the Cape Cod News as usual, that it would be well to seize on the favorable moment of Columbus day, to launch the first of the Winter social activities with a measuring party, something novel and something new, a slightly different program, including some old time games, but owing to some little incidents arising, not known at time of planning the party, the measuring part and games were omitted.

The cafeteria supper, consisting of several delicious salads, plain and fancy rolls, hot coffee and teacakes also in abundance, was much enjoyed, and when asked about it afterward Miss Swift commented briefly, and simmered down who were her very loyal friends who could be depended upon to carry things through to a glorious climax.

Can you beat studying orthinology from the kitchen window of Swift's Fancy? Robins and starlings run about while the downy and hair wood-peckers travel up and down the pear-tree by the door, and song sparrows and chickadees sing their songs of joy, while just a day or two ago gold-finches swarmed about the tree and rose bush and window, collecting the eggs of parasites, even darting under the caves of the house and edges of the roof in their search for food. They have been seen many times in the past, gleaning seeds from the catnip plants, which grow so profusely. Truly, a bird sanctuary. We do give thanks to our bird neighbors.

Bare Floors Unhealthy

¶ Oilcloth and linoleum are easy to keep clean. They look nice, and they last for years, depending upon the grade you buy.

TO THE VOTERS
First Barnstable District

The Republican voters of the Town of Sandwich respectfully call to your attention the candidacy for the House of Representatives of George F. Dennis.

Mr. Dennis has been a staunch Republican all his life. He has been a member of the Sandwich Board of Selectmen for four years and has served as chairman for two years.

He has been a member and secretary of the Republican Town Committee for four years.

He has always taken an active and lively interest in the development of his town and Cape Cod generally.

There is not the slightest question of his ability to serve you and your district faithfully and honestly in the state legislature.

We respectfully and earnestly submit to you that in addition to his ability there are powerful reasons why he should be nominated and elected at this time. All of these reasons will be set forth fully during the campaign for the nomination,—a few of these reasons are given below:

It is ten years since Sandwich has been represented. Ever since 1905 the town has been contending that it was her turn to name the representative from the district. How strongly Sandwich has felt has been shown in the big votes which have been rolled up for Democratic Candidates from this town.

On more than one occasion the success of the Republican nominee in the district has been endangered because the voters of the district, recognizing Sandwich's claim, have turned in large numbers to the men of the minority party who have been named from Sandwich and have fought for the rights of the town. Today Sandwich presents a real Republican and Sandwich is back of him to a man.

It is time the rest of the district, particularly that portion of it which is interested in the Republican Party, got behind him and helped to bring the party vote back to it's normal size.

We believe that simple justice to the town of Sandwich and the best interests of the Republican Party will be served by the nomination and election of GEORGE F. DENNIS.

Sandwich asks you to vote for him.

POCASSET

NOTES BY THE REV. O. WILSON KIMBALL

The evangelistic campaign under the special auspices of Pastor Hylton and his co-operative student friend, Owen F. Day of Newton Theological seminary began on Saturday evening the 11th. The attendance good, considering the events in connection with closing of the sea shore season and the homeward-bound of vast numbers of city guests. Mr. Day is a young man whose normal religious traits are tensely evangelistic. He holds close attention while he convinces in the realm of reason, carries the conscience to conviction, all by scriptural proofs of Gospel demands. He sings in cadences of the Christian calling. The prayers of the people are anxious appeals that the word may not return void but accomplish the ends of Infinite intention. Fertile seed has fallen from the hands of the hearts of gospel sowers as the pastoral years of Pocasset have dawned and departed. The redemption realm has been cleared of mental mists that excuses might not be possible, hallowed by memories of the men who have made plain the highway aglow with soule-hope.

Shirt, succinct lectures on the lessons of the Old Testament as assigned by the International committee are deeply interesting. Everyone invited. Come, listen. No questions will be asked you.

The writer will supply the M. E. church in Bourne next Sunday morning, D. V.

The voice of Rev. Clarence S. Pond is appreciated as its soft sweet tones echo with others in worshipful service The family homestead is now occupied by its owner Mrs. Susan Barlow and the usual family membership, Miss Barlow and Rev. and Mrs. Pond, who are here for the autumn vacation, which can but be a joy.

The writer with Mrs. Howe, the care taker and homekeeper, were by the courtesy of J. S. Bliss, taken over the highways amid the delightful scenery to New Bedford and home via the Marion and Buzzards shore. The choice trip will never be forgotten. Thanks to the kindly owner and driver, his many favors are appreciated.

In reply to questions about the notes we say, subscribe for the Independent and you have them all.

Chalmers Six-40

20% More Power

The Chalmers valve-in-head motor with overhead camshaft is as far in advance of the old types of motors as the self-starter is ahead of the starting crank.

It is generally recognized in the trade and among owners as the 20% more power motor.

THE Chalmers Six-40 is the new motor car at a lower price, equipped with this wonderful new type of motor which has made it necessary for the Chalmers Company to so tremendously increase its production for 1916.

The Season's Motor Sensation

On the hills and country roads where going is hard, this $1350 car will do all for you that it did for A. E. Walden when he established a record at the recent Uniontown Hill Climb, driving a Chalmers Six-40, that was eight seconds better than the previous record for the class.

Within the limits of touring car service its wonderful valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor will give you all the efficiency and "trigger-quick" getaway that this type gave De Palma and Resta when they averaged 90, 98 and 102 miles an hour for 300 and 500 miles at Indianapolis and Chicago.

Comfortable as a Rocking Chair

The leather upholstered seats are deep and luxurious; the sides of the tonneau are built on the "armchair" principle. You ride in the car—not on it.

The leg-room is ample; the rear springs are 57 inches long—longer than any other car in this class—and the result is that the car glides over rough spots with an easy motion that makes motoring a pleasure under every condition.

Made in Chalmers Shops

Chalmers cars are made in Chalmers shops under the most exacting standards. They are quality cars throughout in style, beauty, comfort and performance.

See us to-day. We will give you a ride over the hills and country roads in this $1350 car that will prove its 20% greater power.

New Service to Owners

Every Chalmers dealer gives to every buyer of a Chalmers car a Service Coupon Book, each coupon being redeemable for a definite amount of inspection service at any Chalmers dealer's anywhere.

Chalmers Club and Clubman

Every Chalmers owner is entitled to a membership card in the Chalmers Club commending him to the courtesies of Chalmers representatives everywhere and to receive "The Chalmers Clubman" regularly without charge.

"Sandwich Winter Club.

Thursday, the 29th of April, the "Sandwich Winter club" met with Mrs. Mitchell Wing, Hunnewell avenue, Newton, with the following named ladies present, Mrs. A. B. Vorse, Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Mrs. E. S. Whittemore, Mrs. Augustus S. Nye, Mrs. R. S. Ford, Mrs Ambrose E. Pratt, Mrs. A. B. Robinson, Mrs Henry A. Belcher, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Spring, Mrs. Mitchel Wing, Mrs. Frank E. Bartley, with Mrs. Ewer and Miss Isabel Freeman as guests. The president, Mrs. Nye, called the meeting to order, and records of the last meeting were read and approved. Miss Lucinda Allyne of Framingham and Miss Mary E. Nightingale of Quincy are two new members of the club. A vote of thanks was tendered Miss Carrie Crocker of a beautiful bunch of Mayflowers she had kindly sent the club. A nominating committee was appointed to bring in a list of officers to be considered at the annual meeting, which will be held with Mrs. Frank E. Bartley in Norwod on Thursday, the 13th of May. As there was no further business the club adjourned at 4.45 to the dining room to enjoy a social hour and the dainty spread provided by the hostess.

HELEN M. BARTLEY, Sec.

Roll of Honor.

Upper grammar: Howard Pierce, Ethel Pierce, Alden Clarke, Mildred Greene, Everett Milliken.

Lower primary: May Gordon, Kenneth Hamblin, Wilmon Chipman, Bessie DeLong.

Forestdale: Charles Burke, Fred Burke, Henry Burke.

At the monthly meeting of the Village Improvement society, held Monday evening, an interesting talk on the southern part of the town was given by L. P. Crocker of Forestdale.

Supt. J. R. D. Oldham spent Sunday at Hamden, Conn., moving his family the following day to East Providence, R. I., where they will remain until a house can be secured in Sandwich.

There will be a May procession of the Sunday school children of Corpus Christi church, at the church next Sunday evening, a special feature being the crowning of the Blessed Virgin.

The members of the Friday club and invited guests were entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fletcher Clark, listening with pleasure and profit to a talk on Rembrandt by Miss Frances Emerson of Lynn, a sister of Mrs. Clark. A number of foreign photographs and Rembrandt pictures, made by herself, were exhibited by Miss Emerson.

The Boston papers of Wednesday contained news of the suicide of Mrs. Josephine Wescott at South Littleton, N. H., where she had been staying for some months. Mrs. Wescott was well known in Sandwich, having been a resident of this town for several years. She is survived by one son, Ernest W. Wescott, a sophomore at Harvard.

The building purchased sometime ago by P. H. Coffey from A. D. Parkes, has been moved to Mr. Coffey's bog, where it will be used for a cranberry house. The work was in charge of G. B. White.

Mrs. C. W. McIntosh and two sons of Boston have been the recent guests of Mrs. J. F. Cunningham.

D. N. Hall, whose advertisement appears in another column, is finding a ready sale for the celebrated Henry Bosch wall papers.

Mrs. M. M. Wheelock has returned from a visit to Boston.

Several of the young men will give a social dance at the town hall tomorrow (Saturday) evening, with music by McCann's orchestra.

Dr. and Mrs. George W. Bosworth, who have been the guests of Mrs. Bosworth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Irwin, returned Monday to their home in Plymouth.

The house occupied by Frank Lewis and family has been purchased by J. L. Wesson. Mr. Lewis has accepted a position in Falmouth for the summer, and during his absence Mrs. Lewis and children will stop with her mother, Mrs. Dennis Donovan.

John Magnusson of London, England, has been the recent guest of Mr. Axel Magnusson.

The ball game which was scheduled for last Saturday between the high school nines of Falmouth and Sandwich was postponed on account of the rain. Tomorrow (Saturday) the Sandwich boys play at Bourne.

Miss Lizzie Higgins of Springfield and Mrs. H. C. Lovell of Osterville have been called here the past week by the serious illness of their father, Andrew Higgins.

Miss Lottie Jones has returned from her winter's sojourn at Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Barbara Dow of Cambridge and Mrs. S. H. Chadwick of Brockton are at Mrs. Dow's home here for a few days.

The Epworth league has chosen the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Russell E. Tupper; vice-presidents, H. L. Chipman, Mrs. C. W. Pierce, Mrs. J. W. Dennison, Miss Mabel Tinkham; secretary, Miss Huldah Carlson; treasurer, Miss Sadie Dexter.

Mrs. F. E. Davenport and children spent Thursday at Wareham.

The monthly "gentlemen's night" of the Spring Hill Neighborhood club was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Roos.

M. J. Murphy spent Thursday in Boston and Newton.

Miss Celia Bennett, one of the oldest citizens of the town, passed away Tuesday at the home of her nephew, Calvin T. Ellis. Funeral services were held Wednesday, and were conducted by Rev. H. Felton.

EAST SANDWICH.

Grange Notes.

On Tuesday evening those present listened to an interesting discussion of postal savings banks and the parcels post, led by A. B. Chase and Mrs. John Bursley, followed by an entertaining talk given by Mrs. Axel Roos on her recent trip to Sweden. A bright chapter of the grange serial was read by T. Eldred Holway, followed by a discussion on corn for fodder.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a farce, with an all-man cast, and the serial story will be read by Herbert Holway and Miss Annie Lou Jenkins.

Obituary.

Died at East Sandwich the morning of May 4th Miss Lucy S. Hoxie, eldest daughter of the late Joseph and Mary Hoxie. She is survived by three sisters. For many years our friend had suffered from a disease which must long ago have proved fatal, but for her indomitable courage, and a calm and serene trust in that Divine hand that was leading her on. The recent death of a beloved brother weakened the frail tie that bound her to earth, and now from that earthly home, so dear to them both, she has passed on to the home land beyond.

"Through life's dark ways,
Through weary night and long and wasting days,
Christ's flock comes home.

"Now safe at last
Within the fold, they gather one by one,
Sheltered from driving shower and stormy blast,

SOUTH SANDWICH.

Work at the saw mill is quiet at present.

Mrs. Alice Ames has returned to Osterville after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Jones.

Mr. Kingman of Winchester and Postmaster C. E. Brady of Sandwich have been recent guests at Lakewood.

T. B. Kinraide of Jamaica Plain is at the Hermitage for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Stowe and servant, of Newton, are at their summer home "Wipsuppenicke," for a week's stay.

Roland Ames and Mrs. S. F. Bradley of Osterville, and D. A. Hoxie and E. L. Hoxie of Cotuit were guests at Sunnyside farm Sunday.

SAGAMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crosby and son Freeman are spending a week in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovell of Provincetown were the guests of Mrs. Elmer Gibbs last week.

Mrs. John L. Gibbs is at the Emerson hospital, Forest Hills, Mass.

Mrs. Isaac Kelley of Dennisport was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Small last week.

The Epworth league social held in Liberty hall, Saturday evening, was well attended owing to such a stormy night.

Miss Ida Nye was in town last week.

E. B. Jones & Son are building a bakery, and will soon be ready to supply the wants of the community in this line of gods.

Miss Beatrice Haskell is visiting her sister, Mrs. Shirley Small.

The old postoffice has been moved back of the Keith block and has been fitted up for a boot and shoe repair shop.

We regret to learn of the illness of Henry R. Ellis.

A report from the Sagamore schools will be found in another column.

The Epworth League will give a flag supper Thursday evening, May 13th, in Liberty hall. Supper consisting of baked beans, cold meats, pies, cake, etc., will be served from 6.30 to 8 o'clock. Tickets 20 cents. Children under twelve years 10 cents. All are cordially invited to come.

According to recent statistics the population of Russia is annually increasing at the rate of 2,500,000. It is now about 150,000,000. In 1920 it will, at this rate, reach 180,000,000, and in 195 more than 250,000,000.

COTUIT

Methodist Episcopal Church.

At a business and social meeting of the Epworth league held at the home of A. S. Childs on Monday evening of this week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Ellen M. Handy; first vice-president, Miss Lila B. Childs; second vise-president, Mrs. V. H. Nickerson; third vice president, Mrs. Arthur E. Dyer; fourth vice-president, Miss Ellen F. Baker; secretary, Freeman Nickerson; treasurer, Mrs. Viola D. Savery; organist, Miss Ellen F. Baker. The next regular meeting of the league will be held at the parsonage Monday evening, May 17.

The first quarterly conference of the church will be held at the parsonage next Monday evening, May 10.

In Memoriam.

Capt. Francis B. Coleman was born in Cotuit, Mass., March 27, 1836, and died in Cotuit April 25, 1909. During all these 73 years his home has been in Cotuit. In boyhood he attended the public schools of his native village and at odd times drove teams for his father from Cotuit to Sandwich, carrying passengers between what was then the end of the Cape branch of the railroad and the Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard steamers that made regular trips to Cotuit.

Ever since his school days Capt. Coleman's work has been on the sea. He made one trip on a whaling vessel. The voyage lasted four years. He had some exciting experiences on this voyage. Once while in the midst of a school of whales the boat was crushed and the man sitting beside Mr. Coleman went down and was lost.

In 1858 Mr. Coleman was made master of a vessel and all the rest of his seagoing life was spent as captain. The vessels he commanded were the "Convert," the "Adelaide," the "Hickman," the "E. Waterman," the "Daniel Brittain," the "Francis Goodnow," and the "Geo. D. Edmands." The last two vessels were built especially for Capt. Coleman and are fine specimens of coasting schooners.

In all his long experience as sea captain Mr. Coleman never had a serious accident. One vessel did spring a leak and had to be run ashore, but it was through no fault of the captain's. He made an enviable record on the sea and was highly respected and beloved by his employers, and by the men who worked under him. Four and a half years ago he retired from the sea with a competence to keep him comfortable for many years. But death cut short the quiet happiness of his well earned earthly rest and ushered him into eternal rest.

On March 15, 1858, Mr. Coleman was united in marriage to Miss Chloe A. Lumbert of Cotuit. Rev. J. W. Willet, then pastor of the Methodist church in Osterville, performed the ceremony in his parsonage. The witnesses were Mr. Coleman's sister Elizabeth and her husband, Mr. West, who still live at Cataumet, and were present at the golden wedding in March, 1908. For over 51 years this happy couple lived together as lovers. Not a single cross word was ever passed between them. Nine children, four boys and five girls, are left to mourn a father's love. They are Mrs. Florence Martin of Middleboro, Mrs. Carrie Robins of Mattapan, Ellery of Boston, John of Marston's Mills, Braddock, Bennett, Celia, Mrs. Jennie Hamblin and Mrs. Clara Dyer of Cotuit. These children's children rise up to call their grandfather blessed. It always stirred Capt. Coleman's heart with Christian gratitude to hear, and he often did hear, the remark from neighbors and friends: "In all the Coleman family there is not a black sheep in the entire flock."

But though marked were the business successes, and supremely happy were the domestic relations, the key to the soul of this great man was to be found in his religious life. His father and mother, Braddock and Martha Coleman, were sincerely pious people.

Capt. Coleman's grandfather and Mrs. Coleman's grandfather together held what were perhaps the first religious services in Cotuit.

With such religious parentage, Francis, then a mere boy, looked up at the stars one night from the deck of a whaling vessel in the middle of the Pacific ocean and was sure God was speaking to him, and then and there he gave his heart to the Lord. He came home and as his people were Methodists he joined the Methodist Episcopal church, and to the day of his death was a faithful, consistent and efficient member of the church he so much loved. Prayer was Capt. Coleman's vital breath. Though quiet and almost over-modest, he was a power for righteousness. Every life he touched was made better thereby. When physically able he never missed a church service. Who that ever heard them can ever forget his prayers and testimonies? He walked with God so closely that just to be in his presence was a benediction. His life was a sermon so convincing that no one could deny its power. The hour of his death was most fitting. 'Twas the hour of the Sabbath morning service, and while the people in the church worshipped, Capt. Coleman's soul got so near to heaven that the Heavenly Father invited him in—and he stayed there.

The funeral services were held in his late home, conducted by Rev. G. E. Mossman, who though now of Taunton, has had the privilege of being Capt. Coleman's pastor for the last three years. Rev. A. M. Bruce of the Cotuit Methodist church read the 90th psalm, and Miss Anita Morse sang tenderly the hymn, "No Burdens Yonder." The text used was 1 John, 5-4, "this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." Capt. Coleman's faith has swallowed up death in victory.

The body was laid to rest in the Cotuit cemetery.

HYANNIS

Normal School.

On Friday morning the people at the normal school enjoyed an address by Mrs. Ella Lyman Cabot, a member of the state board of education, who chose for her subject, "Three Things Which Make a Person Indispensable." Mrs. Cabot has lately been appointed chairman of the board of visitors for this school, succeeding Miss Caroline Hazard, president of Wellesley. Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer, who was at one time president of Wellesley, was also chairman of the board of visitors for this school, showing that this office has been filled by some very distinguished women.

Because of the rain the May-day exercises which were to have been held on Friday, April 30, were postponed until the following Friday. The rain also made it impossible to have the ball game, which was to have been played in Hyannis between the Normal school and Harwich high school.

The Normal school has a full team this year, the members of which play good games. The manager is ready to make engagements with other teams.

The school grounds are very beautiful now. The color harmony, which one may see when looking down the driveway, gives a very pleasing effect.

The plants and shrubs in the grounds are of such a variety as to afford beautiful folfage and flowers from early spring to the late fall days.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of The Hyannis Tribune:

It is only a matter of common decency to correct a statement of misrepresentation that appeared in the Sandwich Independent of last week regarding the Hyannis base ball season of last year. The local team was as a matter of fact never so strong as in 1908 and it only needs an enumeration of the various players to readily see the force of the statement. There were three Yale University college and class team players, Badger, Cushman, and Lutrell. Massachusetts Technology was represented by one of the snappiest players of first base, fascinating Larry Odell. At "second" Wadsworth was the finest inter-collegiate "second' in New England. Ely at center field, so splendid an all-round athlete that all the coleges were after him. The two Gages were both remarkably strong men. Staff, Sherman, and Doc. Chase for pitchers.

The misrepresentation extending to other matters besides this of last year's players is specially obnoxious in that such scant justice is given to our much beloved Dr. Heman B. Chase. His work, his all round and every place playing skill and his captainship and management for many years has built up the team to its present fine condition. He has had the backing of lovers of the sport as he well deserved to have, and great credit is due his manager of several years, George Hart, whose work is a direct continuation of Dr. Chase's. It remains to be said that manager Hart promises practically the same team for the season of 1909.

Yours truly,
OLD SPORT.

SCHOOL NOTES.

At a meeting of the Bridgewater Alumni Association at Boston, Saturday last, addresses were made by Mrs. Dr. Richard C. Cabot, Principal A. C. Boyden, Principal Emeritus A. G. Boyden, Dr. A. E. Winship and Secretary of the State Board Geo. H. Martin. All the speakers emphasized the fact that modern schools were called upon to do a much greater variety of work than ever before, and that modern conditions call for teachers of strong personality and high training.

From the report of Supt. Galger, recently sent to the state board, it appears that the commonwealth contributed last year $2,515.28 toward the salaries of teachers in the training school. The cost per pupil for instruction in the High school of Barnstable was $34.05. The total expense per pupil in the High school was $65.44, about double the cost per gramar school pupil.

Peanuts, or ground nuts, as they are locally called, form one of the largest crops over a large part of the northern provinces of China, and are one of the articles of native export entering heavily into both the China coast and foreign trade.

Baptist Church.

The pastor preached Sunday afternoon to a large congregation from the words, "All Things are Yours." At the Memorial services in the evening the church was packed, a large number of visitors from outside towns being present. The text of the sermon was "To what purpose is this waste?" The singing at both services was unusually fine, Mrs. Mary Cowett having prepared a musical program for both services. The children of Mr. Berry's and Miss Westgate's schools added greatly to the interest of the services by singing at the close of the sermon, "Tenting on the Old Camp Grounds."

The monthly covenant service will be held in the chapel on Saturday afternoon, June 5, at 2.30 o'clock. Preaching services at the chapel next Sunday afternoon and evening.

Social service Wednesday evening.

Prayer meeting at So. Mashpee on Thursday evening.

Mr. Charles Hammond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayman Tobias; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lewis of Pocasset, were present at both the afternoon and evening services at the chapel. The pastor acknowledges with thanks the receipt of $12 from Charles H. Hammond and family, to go towards the fund for building the tower. The Hammond family have always come to the front when money has been needed for church work.

Mr. Orin A. Peters and Mr. Ambrose Pells decorated the chapel very tastefully for Memorial Sunday.

The box party on Saturday evening, May 22, netted eight dollars and the party on Saturday evening, the 29th, nine dollars, in all. $17 go for the fund for painting the "Old church."

Memorial Day.

The annual observance of Memorial day in Sandwich began Sunday morning, when the members of Charles Chipman post, No. 132, G. A. R., the relief corps and Sons of Veterans attended service at the Methodist Episcopal church, upon invitation of the pastor, Rev. Harry Felton. The church was effectively decorated for the occasion with flowers and flags and presented an exceedingly attractive appearance. In the opening exercises the pastor was assisted by Rev. William Robertson of the Congregational church, and Rev. Harold L. Pickett of the First Parish church, and some unusually fine music was rendered by a large chorus, composed of singers from all the church choirs in town, under the leadership of Deacon H. H. Heald, with Miss Carrie V. Dennison as organist. Rev. Mr. Felton chose for his subject, "The Sword That Was Wrapped in a Cloth," and her sermon was one long to be remembered, being entirely suited to the occasion and a notable effort. A very large congregation was in attendance and the whole service was exceedingly impressive and helpful.

Monday was another beautiful day, the weather being ideal in every respect. In the morning the graves of the fallen comrades were decorated by the veterans, and later a procession was formed, marching through the principal streets of the town, headed by Drum Major W. W. Bourne, and the New Bedford military band of 20 pieces. A halt was made at Mill river, where exercises for the sailor dead were held, and at Bay View cemetery the usual service for the unknown dead took place.

At noon the members of the post became guests of the town, in accordance with the vote at the last annual town meeting, and the post, corps, Sons of Veterans, speakers of the day, and other invited guests, to the number of 180, enjoyed a fine banquet at the Central house. At 1.30 the veterans were escorted to the Casino by a procession of school children, one of the most interesting sights ever seen here. The seating capacity of the building was insufficient and many were obliged to stand through the exercises, the audience being by far the largest ever assembled in Sandwich on a similar occasion. The assembly was called to order by Chairman Eugene W. Haines of the board of selectmen, who introduced as the presiding officer of the occasion, Selectman George T. McLaughlin, to whom more than to any one else the great success of the observance was due. Mr. McLaughlin made a model presiding officer and introduced the various speakers in a happy manner. The program opened with the selection, "To Thee, O Country," by a large chorus under the direction of John G. Chipman, with Miss Theresa McLaughlin presiding at the piano. This was followed by Kellar's American hymn and "Marching Through Georgia," sung effectively by the school children, led by Supt. J. R. D. Oldham, with Miss Hope Kerr at the piano. During the exercises other numbers were rendered by both choruses, and "The Vacant Chair" was feelingly sung by Postmaster Charles E. Brady. Instrumental music was furnished by the band.

Brief addresses, appropriate to the occasion, were given by Rev. W. F. Sullivan, pastor of Corpus Christi church; Hon. Charles S. Clerke of Boston, a native of Sandwich; Senator Eben S. S. Keith of Sagamore and Representative Thomas Pattison of Osterville. The orator of the day was William A. Murphy, Esq., of Boston, who is well known in Sandwich. Mr. Murphy is a young man of marked ability, a speaker of commanding presence and eloquent expression, and his address was certainly never excelled in any Memorial day program in Sandwich. At the close three cheers were given for Mr. Murphy and the interesting program came to an end with "America." Thus ended by far the most successful Memorial day observance ever held in this section, and to the board of selectmen, the speakers, musicians and many others great credit is due.

Ordination and Installation.

An event of more than ordinary interest in church circles and to the community at large occurred Tuesday evening, when Harold Lionel Pickett was ordained to the ministry of the Unitarian church and installed as pastor of the historical First Parish society in Sandwich.

The program was a notable one, perhaps more so than on any similar occasion ever held in this section of the state, and the presence and participation of clergymen of national reputation added much to the pleasure and profit of the exercises. A large audience was in attendance, including a number from Barnstable, Randolph and other places, and the program was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated.

The order of exercises was as follows:

1. Organ Solo
Miss Frances Hope Kerr
2. Doxology—Hymn 5
3. Prayer
Rev. Henry A. Weston, of Randolph
4. Scripture Reading
Rev. Robert P. Doremus, of Barnstable
5. Hymn—264
6. Sermon
Rev. Lewis G. Wilson, Secretary of the American Unitarian Association
7. Anthem Choir
8. Prayer of Ordination
Dr. Wm. Wallace Fenn, Dean of Harvard Divinity school
9. Solo Mr. John Chipman
10. Right Hand of Fellowship
Rev. E. A. Chase, of Brewster
11. Welcome to the Parish
Mr. Wm. L. Nye, Chairman of the Parish Committee
12. Anthem Choir
13. Charge to the Minister
Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers, D. D. of Cambridge
14. Solo Mr. Augustus S. Nye
15. Charge to the People
Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, of Newton
16. Hymn—820 to the tune of Hummel Number 512
17. Benediction The Minister
18. Organ Postlude
Miss Frances Hope Kerr

The new pastor was born in Delaware, Ohio, May 20, 1883, and lived with his parents on a farm in Central Ohio, until 20 years of age. From 1899 to 1901 he attended Ohio Wesleyan University, then taught country school for a year and was on the road for a Buffalo firm two years. From 1-905 to 1908 he was a student at Meadville Theological school, Meadville, Pa., and the past year has taken special work at Harvard University and Harvard Divinity school.

Baseball.

The Sandwich high school defeated Cotuit high school, 7 to 5 in a lively game at Sandwich Monday. Gifford pitched a steady game, but lost because of errors when men were on bases.

Smith changed positions with Ellis after the sixth inning, in which Cotuit made three runs. With Ellis in the box they were unable to score again.

Mrs. Edward Tatum, a summer resident here is enjoying a trip abroad.

The summer time table of the Consolidated will go into effect next Sunday, when important changes will take place. Trains from Boston will then arrive here at 9.33 and 11.18 a. m., 3.30, 5.08, 6.24 and 7.18 p. m. Trains for Boston will leave Sandwich at 6.42, 7.20, 8.32 and 10.32 a. m., and 2.47 and 4.32 p. m. It will be noticed that the second train for Boston leaves 13 minutes earlier than last year, and the time to the city is cut down several minutes, the train being due there at 9 o'clock.

SOUTH SANDWICH.

Death of Mrs. Abigail Meigs.

Grandma Meigs, as we all called her, one of the oldest and best beloved residents of South Sandwich, passed away on Wednesday, May 26, at the home of her son, William H. Meigs. On the 9th of May she enjoyed her 92d birthday.

Mrs. Meigs was a most interesting woman, possessing a fine memory and ready wit. She could at any time up to within a few days of her death give information on the happenings in this village for the last 70 years. She was born in Plymouth, Mass., on May 9, 1817, her maiden name being Abigail P. Valler. She married George W. Meigs of Sandwich, and leaves two children, William H. Meigs of South Sandwich and Mrs. Lucy Jones of West Barnstable, also three sisters, Mrs. Juline Holmes of Chiltonville, Mass., aged 94; Mrs. Rachel Peterson of Plymouth, Mass., aged 89, and Mrs. Sarah Raymond of Buzzards bay, aged 80.

Her funeral was held Friday, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. H. Felton of the Methodist church of Sandwich. Among the relatives present from out of town were her grandson, George Meigs of Newton, Mrs. Sarah Raymond and Ezra Hobson.

The floral offerings were beautiful, being sent by Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Kinraide, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spear, Miss Annie G. Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Macalaster, Mrs. Wright and Miss McLeod of Newton, Mass.

Land Boom in South Sandwich.

H. E. Stowe of Newtonville has bought a large portion of the old Isaac Lawrence farm, bordering on Triangle and Lawrence ponds. He has also bought another portion of the Stephen Jones farm. We learn that he will have a road surveyed and laid out through the property.

J. Frank Giles of Pine Ridge farm has two fine Ruby Spaniel puppies for sale, one male and one female.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Jones of Boston are at their cottage for a few days.

T. Jenkins of West Barnstable has been here for several days surveying the property recently purchased by H. E. Stowe.

Mrs. H. E. Stowe of Newtonville has purchased of G. H. Wilbur of Wareham, through his agent, J. Frank Giles, the Abram Landers' property, located on the west shore of Lawrence pond.

Mr. Barry of Quincy and his friend have been "tenting on the cold damp ground" near Spectacle pond for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kinraide of Jamaica Plain, have arrived in town and opened their cottage, "The Hermitage" for the season.

F. A. Williams, the well known contractor and builder of Cotuit, has completed the large bungalow of F. L. Whitcomb of Chicago on the shore of Wakeby lake. Mr. Williams is also building a summer home in the same locality for J. J. E. Rothery of Boston, and has the contract for one for Mrs. W. D. Hatsell of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Chadwick of Brockton have been spending a few days with their mother, Mrs. Cyrus Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings of Brookline have been at the Lakewood for the last few days.

EAST FALMOUTH

At the M. E. church on Sunday afternoon the pastor, Rev. J. R. Magee, preached an interesting sermon, appropriate for Memorial Sunday. The church was tastefully decorated in honor of the G. A. R., who attended in a body. Miss Martha Hatch of Falmouth sang the beautiful solo, "Face to Face," and the selections by the East Falmouth quartet were highly appreciated.

Quite a large fire started at the Barnstable road near Ashumet on Sunday evening, but was under control before reaching Main street, East Falmouth. Much credit is due George N. Tobey for his prompt action in arriving on the scene, and his good management at the time.

B. C. Cahoon and Mrs. M. L. Gamans spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. T. P. S. Phinney of Waquoit on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. George N. Tobey, who has been visiting her sister at Asbury Park, N. J., has returned home.

Mrs. Wood, who has been nurse at the home of R. C. Jenkins, returned to her home on Monday.

WEST FALMOUTH

Hammett Cowell visited his grandparents at East Wareham, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins of Campello have been spending a few days at their cottage.

Miss Mary J. Hoxie is spending a few days at Woods Hole, the guest of Mrs. George Young.

Mrs. Forrest Kendrick and daughter, Miss Hannah Weeks, of Pocasset, visited Mrs. Kendrick's mother, Mrs. Hannah West, Tuesday.

Quite a number from here attended the Sunday School convention at Woods Hole Tuesday. A few were unfortunate enough to miss the last train which caused them some delay in getting home.

Arthur Morse of Marion visited friends Monday.

Mrs. Hattie Childs of Davisville is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Landers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamblin and little daughter Isabel visited Mr. Hamblin's aunt, Mrs. B. S. Crowell, at Bourne, recently.

Capt. Trewoggy has gone to Marblehead where he has found employment for the summer.

Mrs. W. G. Cowell visited her mother, Mrs. H. B. Smith at East Wareham, Wednesday.

FALMOUTH

Memorial Day.

The usual Sunday services were held at the East Falmouth Methodist Episcopal church, the members of B. F. Jones post, No. 206, G. A. R., and the Woman's relief corps attending in a body. A stirring and patriotic sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Magee, and special music was rendered.

Monday was a perfect day for weather and the exercises throughout were full of interest. The committee in charge consisted of Andrew W. Davis, John A. Tobey, George E. Teele, Edwin F. Lawrence and William B. Bosworth, and the program at Oak Grove cemetery was as follows:

Funeral march by Falmouth brass band; reading by commander; prayer by chaplain, reading by commander; dirge by band; officer of the day; address by chaplain; salute to the dead; "America" by band; benediction. At 1.30 a public service was held in the town hall with this program: Selection, Falmouth brass band; reading, "Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg;" prayer; reading, Miss Henrietta Reckham; selection, band; singing, Miss Love, F. Hewins; reading, Miss Reckham; oration, Rev. George W. Bicknell; singing, Miss Hewins; reading, Miss Reckham; selection, band; singing, "America," audience; benediction.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Next Sunday evening the pastor of the church will deliver the memorial address to the Knights of Pythias, who will attend in a body.

The subject at the morning service will be "The Recitation to the Nominal Church."

Morning devotional service at 9 o'clock, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the chapel.

Forest Fire.

Fires are entirely too frequent an occurrence lately, though whether due to carelessness or intention is not quite clear. At noon Sunday a fire was discovered near the home of Gilbert Fish in Calico town, or Smallville, so called, a part of East Falmouth. Fire Warden George N. Tobey of East Falmouth summoned aid from Wardens L. T Robbins, W. E. Lawrence and H. H. Lawrence of Teaticket, who, after securing help were quickly driven to scene of the conflagration.

The fire had gained great headway and was bearing down upon the new hall, which had recently been built and finished by the Portuguese, and which was filled with men, women and children for a celebration. The report is that the men could have put out the fire if they had tried hard, but they seemed indifferent until it came their way, and then were frightened indeed. The sight was certainly alarming, for the flames seemed bound to reach the building, there being brush and undergrowth close by to aid its progress, but the men worked and saved it.

Again the fire endangered the dwelling of William Sousa, but back firing in time saved it. Nearly 250 acres were burned over, Weston Swift and George N. Tobey losing much wood.

Crocker Wins "Marathon."

A three-mile race was run here on Memorial day resulting in a victory for Gus Crocker. The race was started at 9.30 from the Falmouth house and Sherman jumped quickly in the lead, setting a terrific pace until Dwight's Corner was reached, when he was unable to continue longer, being exhausted. He was followed quickly by Fish, who had run a pretty race up to that point, but like Sherman dropped by the wayside. Stuart, followed closely by Wood, Crocker and Rodin, started out to shake the bunch, but were unable to do so, and on the last mile the four remaining racers were running abreast until 100 yards from the tape, when Crocker, with a good sprint, passed over the tape, a winner, followed closely by Stuart, Wood and Rodin.

Medals were given to the first three men. Starter, Warren. Timers, Hall and Butler. Time, 20 m. 30 sec.

Victory for L. H. S.

The L. H. S. defeated the B. H. S. of Bourne by a score of 15—4. The game was played at Falmouth May 31. The L. H. S. boys have improved greatly and play a much better game than before this year, as their score shows, for Bourne beat them in a game this season on Bourne grounds with the same team with which they played Monday.

Warren, pitcher for Falmouth, was in good form and pitched a fine game. Avery of Bourne, who pitched for his school, also put up a good game, but was not backed well by the outfield. The game though not close enough to be so very exicting, still proved well worth seeing.

Big Fire In Hatchville Woods.

Tuesday morning a fire started in the woods in the rear of W. W. Eldredge's at Hatchville, and swept towards the East End meeting house, but the building was saved by back firing. The parsonage was the next building which was endangered, but that, too, was saved, and also the camps of George E. Dean and H. V. Lawrence, although it looked at one time as though nothing could save them. The fire burned over hundreds of acres, but was checked and burned itself out late Tuesday night.

The concert given by the Falmouth brass band, assisted by musicians from Boston, Messrs. Adams and Gaffney, was very successful. These gentlemen are artists in their line and won much favorable comment, and are sure of a hearty reception if they again come to our town.

Mrs. Annie F. Davis of New Bedford, who formerly kept the Elm Arch Inn, in this place, was in town last week on business.

Mrs. Fred Savage of Berlin, N. H., is visiting her father, Lewis F. Hodgkins, at Locust lodge.

Charles S. Baker received a shipment of frye, which has been distributed in the different ponds. The frye was obtained through the request of Congressman Lovering.

H. H. Barrett and John Head, while walking along Silver beach, picked up a life preserver marked "Dolphin" from the launch which was blown up near the bay shore last summer.

Herbert C. Childs of Boston, who has spent the winter in Pasadena, Cal., is again in town and his resumed his regular summer work at Swift's market. Mr. Childs enjoyed a very fine winter and spoke of meeting Harry S. Bourne and family, formerly of this town.

Miss Alice K. Hamlin of Boston arrived Tuesday and intends spending the summer at her home here.

Mrs. George I. Green of Dorchester spent the first of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lawrence.

Miss Marion Cobb, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Emma F. Cobb, has returned to her home in Rockland, Maine.

Arthur S. Roundy of Providence, R. I., spent the first of the week with friends in town.

Miss Edith A. Lawrence of Hyannis spent several days with her mother, Mrs. S. H. Lawrence, returning to school Monday.

Frank G. Murray, who is employed by the Southern Mass. Telephone Co. in New Bedford, was in town for Memorial day.

The Woman's Home band met with Mrs. B. G. Robbins last Thursday. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. H. Barrett, June 10.

H. L. Chipman, editor of the Falmouth Journal, was in town last Saturday on business.

Miss May Stevens and Mrs. Howard F. Patterson of Boston visited their brother, F. L. Stevens, the first of the week.

Arthur W. Swift of Brockton spent Sunday and Monday with his mother, Mr. Swift came over the road in an automobile, starting for Falmouth at 6 in the morning and reaching here at 2 in the afternoon. Frequent delays and tire troubles were the cause of this long time on the road. Automobiling is not all pleasure, it would seem.

Children's Sunday will be observed at the Congregational church with a special service, Sunday morning, June 13, when the address will be given by Mrs. H. S. Conant of Boston.

William Stevens of New York, accompanied by his two sons, was the guest of his brother, F. L. Stevens, several days this week.

Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, Mrs. W. B. Pease and Miss Mabelle L. Pease spent Wednesday with Mrs. E. L. Bemis at West Falmouth.

Lester B. Pease has again accepted a position as clerk at S. L. Hamlin's, commencing his duties Tuesday.

Everett A. Lawrence and friend, Miss Mabel Kingman of Brockton, spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lawrence at Teaticket.

Augustus Crocker, Jr., was the winner of the foot race Monday, there being eight contestants in all.

John S. Arenovski was in Boston Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

Memorial day was as perfect as one could wish, and there were many who took advantage of it. There were many automobilists from out of town besides many people who came home for the day. The principal features of the day in regard to amusement were the two ball games and the Marathan race in the afternoon.

School Notes.

At a special meeting of the school committee held recently the teachers for the next school year were elected with an increase of salary in practically all cases where teachers of experience were re-engaged. The salary of the principal of the grammar school was increased $50. Miss Gertrude May Marble of Attleboro, was elected as second assistant in the high school at a salary of $450 per year. Miss Marble is a native of Attleboro and received her early education in the schools of that town, graduating with honors from the Attleboro high school. She entered Pembroke, the women's college of Brown University in the fall of 1905 and graduated with the degree of A. B. this June.

She specialized in French, German and Latin, taking also two years of education and pedagogy under Prof. Walter Ballou Jacobs, whose courses are considered so thorough that young women are accepted in all high schools throughout the state of New York upon certificate of these courses, without examinations, (Greater New York city alone being excepted). While in college, Miss Marble was a member of Sigma Kappa fraternity, a member of the Young Women's Christian association, Cabinet, a prominent member of the Athletic association, and a member of the "Brownies," a social organization among the young women of the University. She is a young woman of pleasing personality and comes with the highest testimonials as to scholarship and ability.

High School Graduation.

An interesting public event from year to year is the High school graduation and the exercises held at the Casino Monday evening were fully up to the high standard of years gone by. The interest shown by the citizens of the town was evinced by the large audience present and the program was carried out by the pupils in a manner exceedingly creditable to all concerned. In presenting the well-earned diplomas to the graduates, Misses Wilhelmina W. Jones, Mary E. Donovan, Winifred M. Murphy and Mary Carleton, Supt. Oldham paid a high tribute to the work of the retiring principal, Miss Grace W. Irwin.

The program of the evening was as follows:

Orchestra

Meadow Song Wiegand

Girls' Chorus

Essay, "Some Ferns that Grow in Sandwich," Wilhelmina W. Jones

Swing Song Tufts

Girls' Chorus

Class History Mary E. Donovan

The Little Dustman Brahms

Lullaby Baldwin

Girls' Chorus

Recitation, "King Robert of Sicily," Longfellow, Winifred M. Murphy

Class Song Miss Winifred Murphy

Class of 1909

Essay, "The Great Marshes" Mary Carleton

Presentation of Diplomas Mr. Oldham

Good-Night Beloved Lohr

Girls' Chorus

Selection Orchestra

The exercises were followed by a reception and dance. Music for the evening was furnished by McCann's orchestra.

A Card.

I want to thank everybody who tried so faithfully to save my property from the recent fire. Especially do I note that in all the confusion, disturbance and removal of goods, very little was broken and nothing taken away. Losses are hard to bear, but the sympathy extended in act and word has certainly told of a splendid feeling and it is much appreciated.

S. I. MORSE.

FOURTH OF JULY.

The committee on 4th of July celebration submits the following program:

The Casino will be headquarters for the day and the antiques and horribles are requested to meet there for a start at 7 o'clock sharp. The line of march is as follows—Leaving Casino at 7.30 headed by Sagamore Brass Band, proceed to Main street, down School street to Jarvis, to Church, to State, to George, to Freeman, to Factory, to Liberty, to Main, to School, to Water, to Main, stopping in Square, where sports will begin.

The sports will open with a wood-sawing contest by the ladies.

A wheelbarrow race by the boys.

A potato race by the girls.

Proceed to the pond, where a tub race will be given by the boys, followed by an exciting boat race by expert rowers.

Prizes will be awarded the winners in all contests. They will consist of money in every case.

The afternoon program will consist of a ball game at 2 o'clock and boat carnival at 8 o'clock in the evening, accompanied by fireworks.

Programs later.

MRS. THOMAS KELLEHER,
MRS. GEORGE S. WING,
MRS. HARRIET A. MORSE,
Committee.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held Tuesday afternoon to perfect arrangements for the coming midsummer fair.

Unusually large congregations greeted the pastor, Sunday, both morning and evening. At the latter service an especially enjoyable feature was the trio by Supt. J. R. D. Oldham and Misses Kerr.

Five new scholars were enrolled in the Sunday school last Sunday, making 10 additions for the past month.

The pastor's subject next Sunday morning will be "The Conscientiousness of Jesus Christ." and in the evening "A Mother's Offering." Next Wednesday evening's prayer meeting topic will be "The Man Who Wanted to Shake Hands."

Spurr—Jones.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, at the family residence on Main street, when Miss Charlotte E. Jones of Sandwich, became the bride of Eliot W. Spurr of Melrose Highlands, a former resident here.

Rev. John E. Blake of Fall River, a former Sandwich pastor, was the officiating clergyman, tying the knot in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and using the ring ceremony. The bride's dress was of gray Japanese silk, and she was attended by a little niece, Miss Virginia Jones of Attleboro, as flower girl.

After the ceremony and a brief reception, lunch was served by a New Bedford caterer and later Mr. and Mrs. Spurr left for a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Melrose Highlands.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Miss Addie Weeks of New Bedford, George L. Sweet and Miss Helen Sweet of Attleboro, Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Jones of Malden, Mrs. H. A. Bourne and Miss Kathryn Bourne of Westfield, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Jones and Miss Virginia Jones of Attleboro, Frank L. Jones of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Spurr, Mr. and Mrs. William Schooff, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Spurr and family of Melrose Highlands, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spurr and son of Dorchester.

Recital.

Some 50 of the friends of Miss Josephine. Thompson were present at her pianoforte recital, given Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Chipman, and thoroughly enjoyed the music so finely rendered by Miss Thompson.

The afternoon's program was as follows:

Mozart ..... Rondo, in A Minor

Mokreis ..... Dalrik

Beethoven,

Adagio from Sonata Pathetique

Mrs. H. G. Ryder of Beverly is visiting her sisters, Mrs. J. A. Ware and Mrs. B. D. Webber.

SOUTH SANDWICH

Mr. Griffen has returned home after being called to the bedside of his little granddaughter, who is very ill, and reports that she is somewhat better.

Joseph L. Ellis and Mr. Myhre of Sandwich and Mr. Burrows and Mr. Bradley of Sagamore, were guests at the Lakewood on Sunday last.

HAS VISITED MANY STATES.

Rev. Francis E. Clark, LL. D., president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, reached Boston Friday after a convention tour of nearly ten thousand miles in the West and South, and the same evening arrived at his summer home here. Within the past few weeks Dr. Clark has attended conventions in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Idaho, British Columbia, Oregon, Washington, California, Utah, Oklahoma, Texas and Ohio, and he reports a series of Christian Endeavor gatherings which he has never seen equalled for numbers, enthusiasm and power. The audiences were usually limited only by the size of the churches or halls.

California, Texas, Oklahoma and Washington are coming to the front as leaders in the Christian Endeavor movement, while Ohio maintains its supremacy in many lines of work, 250 new societies having recently been formed in that state alone.

MONUMENT BEACH

Nearly all the cottages at the beach are now open for the season. Among the summer residents who have arrived during the past week are James Jackson of Westwood, Fred K. Seward of New York, A. A. Delano, C. B. Packard, Fred Drew and W. T. Stall of Brockton, C. H. Dean of Chicago, and R. H. Disney of Worcester.

Mrs. S. O. Phinney and Miss Geraldine Phinney, who have been visiting Mrs. George D. Donovan, have returned to Monument Beach.

President Howard Elliot of the Northern Pacific road, who has leased a house on Tobey Island for the summer, arrived Friday with his family. The private car of Mr. Elliott is sidetracked here and is being used as his office.

HYANNISPORT

Mr. Chapin and family are at the Crowell cottage.

Col. Hallett and family have gone to St. Louis.

Mr. McDougal and mother have moved to Hyannis.

School Notes.

Miss Florence E. Stevens of Meriden, Conn., has been appointed second assistant in the Bourne High school, in place of Miss Marion Cousins, who resigned to accept a very flattering offer in the High school at Wakefield, Mass.

Miss Stevens is a graduate of Meriden High school and received her degree of A. B. from Wellesley college on Tuesday of this week, being a member of the class of '09. Miss Stevens has specialized in Latin and English and comes most highly endorsed in the department of work which she will be called upon to teach.

At the June meeting of the school committee the teachers for the ensuing year were elected and increases of salary were granted to Principal Lamprey of the High school, Principal Studley of Bourne Grammar school, Principal Francis of Sagamore, and to most of the teachers of experience who had taught a year or more in Bourne.

High School—Principal David C. Lamprey, 1st assistant, Sarah J. Storms, 2nd assistant, Florence E. Stevens.

Bourne Grammar School—Principal A. Irvin Studley, 6th and 7th grades, Ruth J. Johnson; 4th and 5th grades, Edith M. Shedd.

Bourne Primary—Alice F. Sears.

Monument Beach—Lura S. Berry.

Pocasset—Alice D. Ellis.

Cataumet—Dorothy Nye.

Buzzards Bay—Flora L. Phinney.

Bournedale—Evelyn Perry.

Sagamore Grammar School—Principal George C. Francis.

Intermediate—Evelyn B. Fish.

Primary—Annette Howes.

Drawing Supervisor—Caroline E. Holway.

Music Supervisor—Love F. Hewins.

The following pupils out of a class of 15 have passed their examinations for entrance to the High school and will be admitted without condition next September: Alma Andrews, Bessie Smith, Elsie Tobey, Giles Landers, Leland Perry, Nathan Nye, Shirley Keene.

Seven others, conditioned in one or two subjects will have an opportunity to take second examinations early in September.

M. E. Church.

There will be the celebration of the holy communion and reception of members next Sunday morning.

During the remainder of the summer, while the pastor preaches at the beach, there will be no 6 o'clock service, but one at 7 in the vestry led by the league. All are cordially invited. The president, George E. S. Ellis, will lead next Sunday.

The pastor will preach at the Beach next Sunday on "Life as a Probation." The Sunday school session is held each Sabbath now at 3.30 p. m. Visitors invited to attend.

Our Sunday school at the church is keeping up very well, considering the increased attendance and interest at our schools both at Buzzards Bay and Monument Beach. There were 65 present last Sunday.

It is not probable that our league topic cards will be printed in time for distribution next Sunday. The topic will be "Godless Commercialism," (a Patriotic service). Mark 5: 1-20. On the following Sunday, "Transformed Common Things," John 2: 1-11.

The current expenses of the revival meetings were $46.50. The collections amounted to $57.25, leaving a balance of $10.78 in the treasury.

Children's Day.

Sunday was observed as Children's day at the church. Rev. E. F. Studley preached an excellent sermon appropriate for the occasion. In the evening a concert was held and was well attended. The program follows:

Organ prelude; "Hosanna to the Children's King," chorus; prayer by pastor; Our Sunshine Day, chorus; recitation, Bernice Angus; recitation, Clara Eldridge; Branches of Palms, chorus; recitation, Theodore Wing; recitation, Merle Barr; solo, John Baker; recitation, Beulah Studley; motion song, girls; recitation, Willie Crump; recitation, Dorothy Storms; duet, Sadie Raymond and Shirley Keene; recitation by Glendon Barr; recitation Doris Eldridge; singing, He Loves Me So, chorus; recitation, Elizabeth McDermott; recitation, Ursula Wing; exercise by four girls; solo, Sadie Raymond; recitation, Ruth Westgate; "Count Us In," chorus; recitation, Gertrude Wing; singing, chorus; remarks by pastor; offertory; "Sing Your Sweetest Song," chorus; benediction; organ postlude.

Reports from Miss Grace Manamon are favorable. We are glad to learn that her mother, Mrs. Frank Manamon, is more comfortable.

Mrs. P. B. Harmon has been entertaining a friend from out of town.

Mrs. J. L. Bourne has returned home from a visit with her son at Waban.

Mrs. C. Herbert Hore and three sons of Jacksonville, Fla., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Raleigh.

BOURNEDALE

A valuable black spaniel dog, belonging to Eben D. Battles, was recently run over by an automobile and killed. From the speed these machines go through Bournedale the question is often asked, "Is there a speed limit in the town of Bourne?"

Miss Ethel Walker is slowly improving from her recent illness.

There seems to be no material change in the condition of W. C. Smith. He is still a very sick man.

Miss Elizabeth Raymond has returned from a two weeks' visit in Boston and Melrose. During her absence her father, Robert H. Raymond, was cared for by his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Pierce.

A large number of Bournedale people attended the readings of Miss Tyler at Sagamore, last week. Miss Evelyn Perry of this place rendered several selections on the piano.

VOL. XXX.—No. 40 SANDWICH, MASS., THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1918. PRICE FIVE CENTS

GONE.

By Catherine Powers.

And my eyes fill with tears, and my heart's sick with fears,
But—we couldn't keep Jimmie at home.

It wasn't for honor or glory, it wasn't for love of the fray;
The war seemed a gray growing horror, coming nearer and nearer each day;
For the children of Europe were slaughtered, and Columbia, hearing their moan,
Sent a far-reaching call for Americans—ALL,
And—we couldn't keep Jimmie at home.

Who can judge of the limits of loving? Who can say of what loyalty's made?
And this feeling of man for his country, it's something the God of him gave.
It's bigger and finer than self is, upon it our ideals have grown:
It's American blend, and it's true to the end,
And—we wouldn't keep Jimmie at home.

So we're here with the ghost of his presence, and the pictures and books in his room,
And his Panama hangs on the hall rack, and we say, "He'll be coming home soon."
And we're thinking thoughts in the night watches that thousands of others have known,
But we're proving we're fit, and we're doing our bit.

SANDWICH ANNUAL TOWN MEETING.

Good weather prevailed for the town meeting on Monday and considing the absence from town of the boys who are now in service, the vote was a fairly good one. There were but two contests for town office, and the only change made was in the tree warden.

The meeting opened at 7.15 o'clock and under the first article Joseph B. McArdle was chosen moderator without opposition. The polls were then opened for balloting, and the result, announced later in the day was as follows:

At this point B. G. Bartley offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

"The Town of Sandwich in annual meeting assembled takes this opportunity to express the highest admiration and deepest personal regard for the boys in the army and navy from this town. It appreciates and glories in your noble self-sacrifice for your country and humanity. We assure you we are with you heart and soul in the winning of this war. You are doing the task which our nation has set for its glorious manhood to do for liberty, freedom and right. All honor and courage to you and an early hearty welcome home, bringing victory for our arms and safety for the world."

It was also voted that the town clerk be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to each of the boys in the army and navy.

Article 6, authorizing the treasurer to borrow money in anticipation of taxes, was carried.

Under Article 7 it was voted to pay one and one-half per cent. for the collection of taxes.

Article 8, concerning interest on taxes, was indefinitely postponed, as provision had been made by law for such.

Under Article 10 it was voted to make the yards of field drivers town pounds.

Under Article 17 it was voted to appropriate the sum of $217 to reimburse Thomas B. Kinraide for money expended by him for a town sprayer. A letter from Mr Kinraide, who was unable to attend the meeting on account of illness, was read, in which he donated to the town a watering cart, and a vote of thanks to Mr Kinraide was passed.

Article 18 was relative to the Sandwich-Pocasset road, and it was voted to appropriate the sum of $250 from the general road fund, provided Bourne made a similar appropriation.

Article 20, to make an appropriation for the permanent improvement of Tupper road, called forth a long discussion. It was finally voted to appoint a committee of five, three of whom should be the selectmen, to investigate and report any recommendation on this article, at an adjourned meeting. The sum of $150 was appropriated for the expenses of the committee, and Thomas F. Kelleher and Jerome R. Holway appointed members.

Under Article 21, $100 was added to the salary of the town clerk and under Article 22, $100 to the salary of the treasurer.

An appropriation of $100 for part time service of a garden supervisor was made under Article 23, $187 for the purchase of a small sprayer under Article 24, and under Article 25, the sum of $1000 for financing moth work on private property, and such allotment as might be made by the state.

Article 26, relative to Independence day called forth a lively discussion, and it was finally voted to appropriate the sum of $50 for a proper celebration, and leave arrangements to the selectmen and two others to be appointed by them.

After extending a vote of thanks to the moderator and the usual compensation of $10, the meeting adjourned to Saturday, March 30, at 2 o'clock.

WEST YARMOUTH.

Corporal A. B. Chase, Jr., of Camp Devens spent the week-end with his parents, Mr and Mrs A. B. Chase.

On Friday evening at Schoolhouse hall a bean supper was held for the benefit of the West Yarmouth Red Cross. The event was a success, $21 being cleared. Mrs Joshua F. Crowell has presented this auxiliary five pounds of yarn.

SANDWICH.

Navy League.

The Sandwich Navy League was organized June 29th, 1917, without evidence of funds for its support. Today its record is as follows: eighty-five members; eight entertainments given for raising funds; one hundred and forty-six knitted articles furnished our men in service; two hundred and seven sent to the Naval Auxiliary; fifty Christmas bags and as many kits made and distributed, each amply filled. This represents not alone the endeavor of the League, but the generosity and fine loyalty of an entire community, which we here acknowledge gratefully. Save the debts of gratitude, which cannot be paid, we have none.

Eliza L. Wing, Secretary.

Home Economics Club.

The Sandwich Home Economics club held its first meeting in the lower grammar room Feb. 4. The members are:

Elizabeth Beale
Dorothy Dowden
Violet Banks
Harriet Banks
Jessie Pierce
Mabel Cornell
Mary Carafoli
Mabel Gosling
Eva Denison
Viola Denison
Margaret Milligan
Sirkka Vuornos
Warren Pierce
Charles Dalton
John Carafoli
George Milligan

Officers were elected as follows:
President, Elizabeth Beale.
Secretary, Sirkka Vuornos.
Assistant secretary, Mabel Gosling.

Elizabeth Beale and Sirkka Vuornos are in both the sewing and bread-making contests.

Dorothy Dowden, Mary Carafoli and Jessie Pierce are in the sewing contest, and the other members are in the bread-making contest.

At the second meeting, held Feb. 25, the meeting was called to order by the president, Elizabeth Beale. The report of the secretary was read. At roll call each member gave a three-minute talk on their experiences in the club work. Each child had samples of their cookery or sewing or both. The boys had done remarkably well in cooking. The girls had many varieties of breads, including many war breads. Pies, cakes and light desserts were also brought to the meeting.

Most of the children have completed their hours of work in several lines. No one is having difficulty in getting the work done.

Miss Cathie Sullivan is club leader.

Sirkka Vuornos,

Rev R. R. Kendall, Mr and Mrs Fletcher Clark, Dr and Mrs E. S. Talbot, Mr and Mrs John P. Nye, Mr and Mrs B. G. Bartley, Miss Lina Chamberlain, Ezra Hamlen, J. S. Smith, Mr and Mrs H. L. HOW THE CANDIDATES STAND

In order that the readers of this paper may know the attitude of the various candidates for delegates to the Republican national convention toward the candidacy of General Wood, the editor has requested an expression from those who seek to represent the state at large, and also from those of this Congressional district. The following replies have been received:

H. L. Chipman, Esq.
Sandwich, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of April 14 has duly reached me and I am very glad to reiterate my position and thank you for giving me the opportunity.

I am running for delegate-at-large and shall vote for the nomination of Leonard Wood for president.

He is an honored citizen of Massachusetts, was a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt through whom I first knew im many years ago. He has made good in every position he has occupied from the days when he lived on Cape Cod, through his Harvard Medical School experience, his fine record in the Spanish war, his wonderful administration in Cuba and in the Philippines, to his successful dealing with the strike situation in Gary and other places where he won the respect and admiration of both employers and employees.

Very truly yours,
LOUIS A. FROTHINGHAM.

Hyannis, Mass., April 16, 1920.
Mr. Herbert L. Chipman,
Sandwich, Mass.
My dear Sir:

As one of the condidates for delegate to the Republican National convention, I am glad to comply with your request and give you the following statement.

I have already expressed through your column, my preference for General Wood, as nominee of the party for president. I have of course great respect for Governor Coolidge, but he is generally considered as having withdrawn from the contest There are other good men in the field, and others not in the field who may be available.

The first duty of the convention will be to adopt a platform of principles, which shall ring true to those sound fundamentals which guided Lincoln and the other founders of the party. We must remember with him that labor and capital are alike essential, we must see to it that the poor as well as the rich are represented in the convention. It is suggested by some that I ought not to be elected, because I have not the means to pay the expense of attending the convention. Of course it is manifest that both of the other candidates have an abundance of this world's goods, but this is not the only side to this question. The farmer and the wage worker a well as the capitalist and employer should be represented in the convention, and if I am elected I shall go to the convention and I shall pay my own way.

Some of the alternates and some of the delegates may expect that the National Republican committee will pay their expenses; if this is true it is full of danger, both to the party and to the nation, for such delegates and alternates would be under the control of those who paid their expenses. It was practice akin to this that disrupted the party and it behooves the rank in file to see to it that they choose delegates and alternates who will keep the party out of the hands of invisible government. Everything must be on the level and above the level.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN D. W. BODFISH.

H. L. Chipman, Esq.
Publisher Cape Cod Syndicate,
My dear Sir:

Your letter of April 19,1920, relative to your kind invitation to permit me to express my views on the candidacy of General Leonard Wood in your valuable papers received by me this forenoon, and I am hastening to answer it.

The Republican City committee of New Bedford has gone on record as favoring the candidacy of Governor Calvin Coolidge, and at a meeting held early this year this committee formally voted to request every candidate for delegate to the Republican National convention to express his preference for Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts as the standard bearer of the G. O. P.

At that time I, who am a member of the New Bedford Republican City committee, in a short address delivered before the committee at its meeting, committed myself as favoring the candidacy of Governor Coolidge, and pledged myself if elected as a delegate to the convention to do everything in my power to win the Massachusetts governor this great honor.

Although having the greatest respect and admiration for General Wood, and sharing with the people of Massachusetts the pride in having such a typical American as a legal resident of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I cannot see how under the present circumstance I can do else than follow the guidance of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Speaker Gillette and other Republican leaders of the Commonwealth and cast my vote for Calvin Coolidge for the Republican nomination for president.

Very respectfully,

Sagamore, Mass., April 17, 1920.
Mr. H L. Chipman, Editor,
Sandwich, Mass.
My dear Sir:.

I am glad to respond to your invitation of April 12, asking "each candidate for Delegate to the Republican National convention to state his attitude on the candidacy president of the United States.

Interest and pride in the district demand that I support my fellow townsman, who is recognized as the leading candidate, and who possesses the ability, training, character and courage to fill the great office of preident of the United States.

As an unpledged candidate for delegate to the convention, I am favorable to General Leonard Wood.

Very truly yours,
EBEN S. S. KEITH.

LEONARD WOOD CLUB

Bourne, the home town of General Wood. has organized a flourishing Leonard Wood club, 116 voters joining on the night the club was organized.

The officers are as follows:
President—Francis K. Irwin.
Vice Presidents—Reuben L. Burgess, Moses C. Waterhouse, Roland S, Phinney, Herman P. Handy, Geo. W. Starbuck, Lewis J. Whitney.
Secretary—Charles H Phinney.
Treasurer—Perez H Phinney.

LEONARD WOOD

From a Cape Cod boy of rugged New England ancestry, Leonard Wood's record from the day he was graduated from the Harvard Medical School stamps him:

AN AMERICAN—100 PER CENT

Devoted his whole life to the service of his country, and knows intimately every section of the United States and its possessions.

EQUIPPED FOR NATION'S HIGHEST OFFICE

A PROVED LEADER

Has had wider and more diverse executive and administrative experience than any other man mentioned for the Presidency.

A MAN OF DEEDS, NOT WORDS

A STATESMAN

A DIPLOMAT

In his mission of civilization, he won the cooperation of Cubans and Filipinos, strangers in race, language and religion.

A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATOR

AN AUTHORITY ON INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Foresaw and foretold the European war through his extensive knowledge of foreign relations. Predicted its menace to the United States. Launched his program of military preparedness in 1909 and continued it until victory was achieved.

A JUDGE OF MEN

Selected Reed to wipe out yellow fever; Olcott, Dodge and Van Horn to construct and develop Cuba's railways; and Hanna and Frye to create the island's modern school system.

A PEACEMAKER

Pacified the unruly Moro province in the Philippines, stamped out piracy, slave trading, and internal warfare, leaving the province law-abiding and prosperous.

AN ORGANIZER AND BUILDER

The Cuban schools, hospitals, harbors, lighthouses, railroads, highways, and telegraph system, and the Philippine fortifications are monuments to his labors.

A CHAMPION OF LAW AND ORDER

Stands for equal justice for public, employe and employer. Restored order in Omaha; prevented disorder in steel and coal strikes.

Rose Bushes and Ramblers

We have a fine stock in our nursery of the choicest sorts, now ready for shipment.

For varieties see our nursery catalogue. If you haven't a copy a post card will bring one.

Interchurch Convention

Many of the churches of the Cape were represented at the county convention of the Interchurch World Movement, held last Friday at the Federated church here. The weather was decidedly disagreeable and doubtless kept many away, but those who braved the elements felt amply repaid.

The morning session opened with a devotional service conducted by the pastor, Rev. Howard F. Legg, and prayer was offered by Rev. J. H. Newland of New Bedford, superintendent of the Methodist churches of the New Bedford district. The purposes of the convention were then stated by the presiding officer, Rev. Edward S. Ralston of Fall River, and a short address on the work of the Movement was made by Rev. Robert Pattison of Waltham. This was followed by a statement concerning the financial drive by Alfred W. LeCharity.

At noon dinner was served to the large company present by the Sandwich ladies, followed by Baptist, Congregational and Methodist denominational conferences.

The convention reassembled at 3 and was opened with prayer by Rev. James Priestnal of Yarmouth. The afternoon speakers were Rev. Mr. Patterson, Mrs. Charles Sprague of Dorchester and Rev. Luther E. Lovejoy, D. D., of the Stewardship department of the Interchurch Movement. After the formal addresses. the results of the survey of Barnstable county were given by Rev. Howard F. Legg, who has had the matter in charge, and proved most interesting. B. F. Sears, county director of the financial campaign presented the interests of the publications of the Movement, and the county convener, H. L. Chipman, spoke briefly on the matter of organization.

Many of the delegates remained to supper and through the evening session, when Mr. Ralston gave a composite survey presentation of the missionary work at home and abroad, illustrated by the stereopticon.

Rev. Charles Arbuckle, D. D., who was on the program to address the conference, was unavoidably detained.

Mrs. John T. McArdle

Brief mention was made last week of the sudden death of Mrs. Annie B. (Gardner), wife of John T. McArdle, on the evening of Tuesday April 13.

Mss. McArdle was born in Hyannis in 1871 and was married 30 years ago. For the past 21 years she has made her home in this village, and was held in high esteem by all who knew her.

Funeral services were held Friday at Corpus Christi church where Solemn High Requiem mass was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Geo. C. Maxwell. Many were present, including friends from Hyannis and other places.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McArdle is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Fred Charron of Dorchester, and Miss Julia Gardner of Pawtucket and five sons, Arthur, Gardner, Edward, John and George McArdle.

Benjamin Irwin

The town has lost another of its oldest and best known citizens in the death of Benjamin Irwin, who passed away Saturday morning, after several years of declining health. Mr. Irwin had lived far beyond the alloted age of man, lacking but a few weeks of having completed his 92d year.

He was born May 26, 1828, in Dudley, England, where he learned the trade of a glass-cutter in the shop conducted by his father. When 22 years of age he came to this country, and for nearly 70 years was a resident of Sandwich, being employed in the cutting shop of the Boston and Sandwich Glass Co. from 1859 until the closing down of the factory in 1888. For a number of years after that he conducted a store in the Drew building on Jarves street.

Some 55 years ago, during the pastorate of Rev. W. T. Worth, Mr. Irwin joined the Methodist Episcopal church and was one of its most earnest and faithful members, engaging actively in religious work and attending the various services as long as physically able, even after being deprived of his hearing. He loved his church and his loyalty and devotion will always be remembered by those who labored with him.

Mr. Irwin was married in 1854 to Miss Ann K. Eaton of Sandwich, who survives him. He also leaves a daughter, Miss Grace W. Irwin, principal of the Sandwich High school; two sons, Frederic T. Irwin of Manchester, N. H., and Postmaster Francis K. Irwin of Cataumet; four grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Howard F. Legg of the Federated church assisted by two former pastors of the Methodist church, Rev. S. M. Beale and Rev. O. L. Griswold of New Bedford. Two appropriate selections were rendered by Miss Carrie Denison. Burial was at Mt. Hope cemetery.

Among those here for the funeral were Frederic T. Irwin and Miss Edith Irwin of Manchester, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Francis K. Irwin and son, Robert, of Cataumet, William B. Irwin and Frederic Eaton of Boston, Mrs. D. D. Nye of Palmer, Mrs. R. S. Douglas of Brookline and Dr. George W. Bosworth of Plymouth.

A Card

We take this method of expressing our sincere thanks to the friends and neighbors for their sympathy and help in our recent bereavement.

WHAT IS THE TIME

The telephone rings, the door bell rings,
It's friends to know what time it brings;
If we set our clock an hour ahead
To compare with the "light saving" when we went to bed.

Loud and long the church bell rings
Not ready! So much to do, yes so many things
I hustle off with my heart quite light
I walk down the aisle in comify so bright.

I seat myself to look quite right
Then I note my apron and it looks so white,
I adjust my hat, but there instead
My boudoir cap is on my head.

At eight in the morning we open our store
Our clerk comes on the train and says "it's seven, I'm sure."
When dinner time comes, what time will we go,
We want to go and get back just so.

At six o'clock we close the store
At the station she waits for the train to arrive
And finally she goes on the five-thirty-five.

At three o'clock the train arrives
The people hustle for their lives;
The movies begin sharp at four-fifteen
And there isn't much time to loose between.

The movies are out at quarter of six,
Then they have time to socially mix,
After shopping they wait for the train to arrive
And then they go on the five thirty-five.

And sung "the train that went to-morrow,"
We know these two have now been canned
And all the rest that have followed.

We've had hard problems by the peck
But this is a hard one you can bet,
How we can go on the train to Yarmouth

WOOD LEADING

Carries Three More Important States—Stands First in Literary Digest Poll

The past two weeks have been particularly encouraging to the supporters of General Leonard Wood and although other candidates and their friends keep up their attacks forecasting the downfall of the Wood boom, it is acknowledged on every hand that the most popular candidate for the presidency today is Leonard Wood of Bourne, Massachusetts.

Two weeks ago New Jersey held primaries and the state was carried by the Wood forces by a comfortable margin. Last week Monday the General carried Maryland by a vote of almost two to one for Senator Johnson, and on the following day came off victor in Indiana by a plurality of about 6,000, the unofficial returns giving the following figures: Wood, 85,776; Johnson, 79,829; Lowden 31,118; Harding, 20,819. In Ohio, where the primaries were held several weeks ago General Wood will have nine delegates to 39 for Senator Harding, Ohio's "favorite son."

On Friday, Fred Stanley, member of the National Republican committee from Kansas, and vice-chairman of the Wood Campaign committee made the following statement:

"Counting the 30 Indiana votes and 16 from Maryland obtained this week, Wood already has 321 delegates publicly committed to him. This is more strength than all the other candidates combined can muster. It requires 493 votes to nominate and the additional 172 will be obtained during the next month. If the complimentary favorite son vote on the first ballot prevents Wood from having a clear majority there is no question that he will gather sufficient strength on the following ballot to make his nomination a certainty even before the roll call is completed."

And the Literary Digest of last Saturday, in a perfectly fair and impartial summary of the situation says:

"But while Senator Johnson has been developing unexpected strength in the primaries, the fact remains that General Wood is in the lead with more instructed delegates than any other candidate and is showing remarkable popularity in states with favorite sons of their own. For instance, General Wood is apparently the second choice of three such important states as Massachusetts Ohio and Illinois. As the New York Globe (Ind.) puts it, Wood's showing in these states "indicates that he has a widely distributed support which promises to make itself felt at Chicago. Wood and Johnson are the two figures which stand out on the basis of votes cast of national strength and Wood is today, despite the evidence of waning power, the stronger." The New York Tribune (Rep.) believes that Wood's chances for the nomination are constantly improving, and points out that in almost every state the contest is between Wood and somebody else. It argues that where there are more than two candidates the votes cast for the minor candidacies are really second-choice Wood votes. In Nebraska, the Pershing votes which enabled Johnson to win a plurality would have gone to Wood in a straight contest. In Michigan, it declares, Wood, not Johnson, would have received the votes cast for five other Republican candidates. General Wood, it declares, "is the one Republican candidate who is recognized everywhere as a national man.' As the Tribune continues:

"This distinction came to him, as the same sort of support came to Blaine and Roosevelt, because his allegiance during his long career has spontaneously ran the whole of the Republic and not to any special part of it. Popular feeling seems equipped with a sixth sense.

"General Wood is the choice of more Reublicans today than any other candidate. He may not command a majority, but it is admitted he has a large plurality. He is the only presidential aspirant with a chance of success on the first ballot at Chicago. All the others base their hopes on what may happen at the convention—on a stroke of lightning that will convert a minor fraction into a major one."

This leading Republican paper says in another editorial that the very strength of the Johnson candidacy is likely to redound in the end to General Wood's advantage, for it will call for a "counter-concentration," and "the outlook is that this concentration will be about Leonard Wood."

In the fourth instalment of results from the Literary Digest's presidential poll of 11,000,000 voters, published last week, General Wood continues to be the favorite candidate both for first and second choice. The Republican figures are as follows: Wood, 136,182; Johnson, 118,016; Hoover, 113,998; Lowden, 59,352; Hughes, 27,919; Harding, 23,753; Taft, 16,448; Coolidge, 15,247.

In this poll the votes are tabulated so far as possible, by the previous political affiliations of those participating, and this distinction make General Wood an even greater favorite among Republicans than the above figures indicate, for he has 107 Republican votes to 75,998 for Johnson and 50,996 for Hoover.

For a second choice the Bourne candidate is also in the lead, the figures showing as follows: Wood, 96,554; Johnson, 78,964; Lowden, 62,425; Hoover, 57,356; Hughes, 43,682; Taft, 30,346; Harding, 22,453.

The figures are also given by states and groups of states. In Massachusetts Wood has 5,539 to 4,949 for Hoover, 4,535 for Coolidge and 3,052 for Johnson. He also leads in every New England state, having a total of 13,033, to 10,178 for Hoover, 6,912 for Johnson and 6,444 for Coolidge. The General is also the leading candidate in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, leading Johnson and Hoover more than 50% in this group, and stands first in the east North Central group, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, which is the more remakable considering that Ohio is the home of Senator Harding and Illinois home of Governor. Lowden. In the west North Central group, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas he is also a leader, his closest rival being Governor Lowden. In the 16 Southern states Hoover stands first and Wood second, while in the Mountain states and the Pacific states the order is Hoover, Johnson and Wood.

In the face of the developments of the past few weeks and the result of the above poll is it not time for the old Bay State to get solidly back of the candidacy of Leonard Wood and thus give the nation the man the people really want, and who is eminently fitted in every way to guide our country safely through the troublous years ahead?

Former Resident Dead

The Sandwich friends of Captain Charles A. Foster were shocked to learn of his death, which occurred last Wednesday evening in Provincetown.

Captain Charles A. Foster passed away Wednesday night, May 5, suddenly, while seated in his chair, after several months of ill health, caused from heart trouble.

Captain Foster was born in Provincetown, April 18, 1865, the son of Manuel and Mary Foster. Thirty-five years ago he united in marriage with Lizzie B. Williams. His occupation was that of mariner. He commanded vessels at the age of 18 years. He was in the coasting service to South America, but was more widely known in the fresh fishing business notably when in command of schooner Frank Foster. Apparently every seafaring man knew open-hearted, generous Captain "Charlie Foster. Scarcely a captain would come into harbor but he would hunt up Captain Foster, knowing full well a cordial welcome would be given him at the Foster's hospitable home.

A few years ago he became interested in the establishment of a cold storage at Sandwich and afterwards became manager of a new cold storage at Yarmouth and remained there until his health was depleted and then returned to Provincetown about a year ago.

Captain Foster was an energetic, tireless worker, a man of vital energy, courageous and was of the sort who would sacrifice his own pleasure to do a favor for another's happiness

He was a member of Marine Lodge 96, I. O. O. F.

Federated Church

A stereopticon missionary lecture, entitled "The Ministry of Healing," was given by the pastor Sunday evening.

The children of the primary department enjoyed a social Monday afternoon and the juniors of the Sunday school the same evening.

Regular services next Sunday at the Congregational church, at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m., with Sunday school at noon. All who have no other church home are cordially invited.

Edward Pike

Edward Pike, a former resident of Sandwich, who has been employed for several years at Sharon, passed away Monday, May 3, at the City hospital, Boston. The remains were brought to Sandwich for interment at Mt. Hope cemetery.

The deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Pike and was 42 years of age. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. William McHugh of Sandwich and Mrs. Henry Levoy of Dorchester, and three brothers, Albert and John Pike of Boston, and Charles Pike of Monaca, Penn.

Hatfield—Armour

Henry S. Hatfield, local manager of the A. & P. store, and Miss Elizabeth A. Armour of Yarmouth were married at St. James Episcopal church, Somerville, Monday evening, May 3, by the rector, Rev. William H. Pettus.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield returned to Sandwich and for a few days are stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen G. Ellis. The bride leaves this week for an extended visit to her former home in Scotland, and upon her return in the fall the couple will go to house-keeping.

Ninety-sixth Birthday

Mrs. Russell Fish quietly observed her 96th birthday on Sunday, receiving a few callers. Except for her lameness, caused by a broken hip, Mrs. Fish is in excellent health and retains her mental vigor to a remarkable degree.

Among the near neighbors of Mrs. Fish are John W. Macknight, who is 91; Mrs. Abbie F. Cooke, in her 98th year; and D. F. Chessman, who will complete his 99th year, if his life is spared, in another four months. What community on Cape Cod or elsewhere has a similar record?

Town Government

A committee from the G. A. R. and American Legion met with the selectmen Saturday with regard to the exercises for Memorial day. A tentative program was arranged and all final arrangements will be submitted at a meeting of the joint committee Saturday of next week.

The selectmen have appointed Thomas F. Kelleher and Edward C Clark to act with the board with reference to the purchase of the Casino and grounds for a public playground as voted at the last annual meeting. Mr. Kelleher and William L. Nye were appointed to serve with the board in reference to remodeling the Town hall.

Michael J. Murphy was given a renewal of his license of the Casino as a place of amusement.

Village Improvement Society

There will be no meeting of the Village Improvement society this week, but a special meeting will be held at the Town hall Thursday, May 20, when there will be an instructive address, illustrated by moving pictures, on the work being done by the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission. The commission is giving these educational illustrated lectures all over the state, and the newspapers speak very highly of them. A more extended announcement will be given in these columns next week. This lecture is entirely free and will be under the auspices of the Village Improvement society.

Pleasing Entertainment

A very pleasing free entertainment was given in the Town hall Friday evening, May 7, by the representatives of the Atherton Furniture Co. of Brockton. Mr. Freeman explained to the enthusiastic audience the growth of the company and the methods of business which have caused such great success. He is one of the direct descendants of Edmund Freeman, who was one of the founders of this town, therefore he was instrumental in giving to the audience a most delightful entertainment in the demonstration of the Columbia and Edison phonograph, which the company specializes in. Many of the numbers were accompanied by Mr. Ware, tenor, which demanded much applause.

A highly entertaining program was given by Mrs. Carolyn Kahrol, educational musical expert for the Atherton Syndicate. Her stories were especially appreciated by the children. Being a former pupil of the famous Leschetisky, of Vienna and Buonamici, Italy, the audience was given a rare treat.

The Atherton Furniture Co. propose giving another entertainment at a future date. The audience wish to extend their appreciation and good will to the artists and company for their efforts in giving this novel entertainment.

Special Town Meeting

Joseph B. McArdle was chosen moderator, and under the second article an appropriation of $500 was made for the repair of "Kiah's Way," the road leading to the home of T. B. Kinraide, on Spectacle pond Under Article 3, an appropriation of $140 was made for insurance on the Town hall, and under Article 4, $800 for financing private moth work.

Article 5, relative to pensioning town laborers, was indefinitely postponed, and under the next article it was voted to pay the town official $4 per day and expenses, when out of town on municipal business. Under Article 7, an additional appropriation of $1000 was made for schools.

Article 8, to accept the provisions of the act relative to Sunday sports, caused the only real discussion of the warrant. A motion to indefinitely postpone was defeated, and the article was adopted.

F. S. Bacon, representing the Federal Fisheries Co., was introduced to the meeting and spoke at length of the plans of the concern. His talk was listened to with the deepest interest, and at the close, Postmaster George T. McLaughlin added a bit to the good cheer of the meeting by announcing that the remaining building of the Boston & Sandwich glass factory had been sold to parties who were to start business in the near future.

Mrs. James Thompson of South Sandwich was given the privilege of the floor to speak at length of the school transportation problem for the pupils in that section, and it was finally voted to appoint a committee of three, William L. Nye, Selectman A. E. Pratt, and T. B. Kinraide, to investigate.

After voting the usual compensation to the moderator, the meeting adjourned.

To Develop Sandwich

Messrs. Delehanty, Bacon and Rowe, representatives of the Federal Fisheries Company, have been in town the past week, acquainting the people of this section with the plans of their enterprise, which means so much to this town and the entire Cape.

The Federal Fisheries Company has been organized primarily to supply New York city and its vicinity with fresh fish at a reasonable price, and in this humanitarian enterprise the concern has abundant financial backing, according to the statements of these gentlemen.

It is proposed to establish a daily steamboat service for both freight and passengers, between Sandwich and New York, the trip taking some 12 hours. On this end, two slips, 125 feet wide and 300 feet deep, will be dug, one for steamers and the other for trawlers and fishing vessels. Between the two will be a large building for packing and handling fresh fish, and canning such as cannot be shipped to market. The compay will own a number of trawlers and will also buy direct from independent fishermen. By establishing their own stores throughout Greater Manhattan, as well as supplying other dealers, hotels, and restaurants with fish but a few hours out of water, the company expects to do an immense business.

On this end it is proposed to connect with various points on the Cape by a motor truck service, making a quick delivery of all kinds of freight from New York, and taking from here farm products, oysters, etc., as well as fish.

The representatives of the company do not know how soon the new enterprise will be under way, but state that a force of men will begin operations at this end within a few days.

W. H. Gosling has been confined to the house by sickness.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. A. W. Hoxie.

HARRIET A. MORSE,
Secretary.

G. Bernard Shaw, says a story teller in the Berlin Post, never goes to the theatre except to see one of his own plays. He was asked recently, why he denied himself the pleasure and answered: "You see, I snore so dreadfully that no one near me can sleep with any degree of peace. That is why I do not go to the theatre."

When a girl declines a man's third proposal it is a sign, contends the Dallas News, that she knows he's got the habit and won't quit.

SCIENCE

Tea is a germicide, according to a Boston physician, who claims it is an especially rank enemy of the typhoid bacillus.

A photographic plate, coupled with a telescope, discovers millions of stars whose light the retina of the eye could not appreciate; the microphone makes the inaudible tread of a fly sound like the tramp of cavalrymen.

The human sense cannot realize a difference of temperature beyond one-fifth of a degree; but the thermometer, an instrument 200,000 times as sensitive as the skin, notes a difference of a millionth of a degree.

Probably the oldest derricks still in use are the two built at Trier, in Germany, in the year 1413, and the one built in 1554 at Andernach, also in Germany. All these three derricks are built on the same priniciple. In the middle of a massive A-frame tower is located the swinging or main boom, 20 by 20 inches, whose iron pivot moves in a pan-shaped bearing cup On top are fastened the guy ropes and the cap, which is also movable. The derrick can be moved by cross-bars, fastened to the main boom. The load is chain-lifted by tread-wheels 16 feet in diameter.

Speaking at the Society of Arts in London on the subject of explosives, Oscar Guttman said it was still the practice in men-of-war to arrange the ammunition stores and powder magazines in close proximity to boilers and engines, frequently without any ventilation, while at times explosives of all kinds were stored together. Fourteen years ago he drew atetntion to the dangers arising therefrom, but a dozen explosions in men-of-war and a disaster like that in the Jena occurred before an alarm was raised. Now all navies were hurriedly providing refrigerating apparatus. That was all very well as far as it went if the machinery did not break down at a critical moment, says The Engineer, but why could not designers of war ships find another place for ammunition? Why go to the length of all sorts of precautions, when it should not be impossible to move the cause of deterioration altogether?

Missouri Bee Bluff.

Bee Bluff, on Sugar Creek in the Ozark Mountains, two miles from Powell, Mo., has almost as good a name as it deserves. This sheer wall of porous limestone, more than 100 feet in height, was until a few years ago the home of many swarms of wild bees.

When the country near the creek became somewhat settled up and some of the new-comers began to experiment with bee culture the wild bees from the bluff so disturbed the peace of the tame hives that they ruined the business. So the settlers revenged themselves by making a raid on the cliff dwellers' homes. With "Indian ladders"—tree trunks with cross pieces nailed on them for steps—they climbed to the rocky citadels of the wild bees and smoked the inhabitants out with sulphur fumes.—Kansas City Star.

Worked 70 Years at Anvil.

S. E. Chamberlin of Enfield has the honor of being the Bay State's oldest blacksmith. For seventy years this veteran, now white haired at the at the age of 84, has stood at the anvil, and during that time he has shod more than 12,000 pairs of oxen and 60,000 horses.

He can set a pace today that is strenuous for a man much younger.

When he was 50 years old he frequently shod seven pairs of horses, each working day, making the nails and shoes himself. He can turn a good shoe even now, and he retains the old hammer he used more than half a century ago.—Northampton Gazette.

Make a compact with your soul to take a vacation and the way is simple, proclaims Nautilus. There are portions of your time over which you have control. Probably your evenings and your Sundays are your own. Set apart a month or so. Eliminate the self-assigned tasks for those hours out of business and give yourself up to the pursuit of pleasure. Get others to join you. Call a Vacation Club. Adopt a real vacation spirit and go in for a good time. Resolve never to speak of work out of business hours, but to fill to the full that time which is your own with recreations which most appeal to you. Did you ever sing? Sing now. Did you ever paint? Paint now. Remember Nature's gifts to you, and find occasion to praise Nature within as well as without.

SOUTH SANDWICH

Williams Club Anniversary.

The Williams club, composed of members of Joseph Webb lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Boston, named in memory of the late William H. Williams of Boston, a member of that lodge, observed the anniversary of Bro. Williams' birth by an outing on invitation of Bro. Thomas Burton Kinraide, the president, at his summer place, "The Hermitage," June 12-13. Twenty-one members came from Boston in were royally entertained by their automobiles Saturday morning and host. A flag raising was held on arrival, the guests being drawn up in ranks, arrayed in fantastic uniform, under arms, with band, under the direction of Bro. A. C. J. Pope, former selectman of Winthrop as drum major; fishing, canoeing and rowing on the lake, baseball and other sports were indulged in by the members. Bro. Chas. H. Kingsbury, the official protographer of the Roycrofters at East Aurora was present and took several fine views of the buildings, grounds and the members in groups.

The party returned to Boston Sunday afternoon. There were present Brothers Thomas Burton Kinraide, Chas. H. Kingsbury, August F. Scherer, John S. Lowell, Herman L. Klein, Paul C. Klein, lionel E. O'Hara, Irving E. Williams, Geo. W. Hetherington, Antoine F. Koerner, F. H. Perry, Wm. K. Davidson, Dr. Myron E. Barlon, Dr. Arthur H. Woodcock, Robert G. Wilson, Chas. W. Taber, Lemuel H. Lane, Wm. F. Pinkham, A. C. J. Pope, Alfred A. Ashman, Eugene C. Upton.

N. S. Dowdore, A. R. Popie and S. I. Mors of Sandwich, I. H. Whitman of Barnstable, J. Frank Giles and Mr. Griffin of South Sandwich, were guests of T. B. Kinraide at the Hermitage on Sunday last, where they met the members of the Williams club of Boston and enjoyed with them the elegant banquet served by the host. It was a most enjoyable occasion and one long to be remembered by all who were present.

Mr. Bradley, Mr. Fish, Mr. Myrhie and Mr. Maley and A. E. Boyden of Sandwich, Mr. Thayer of Lancaster, Mr. Driscol of Osterville, and Mr. and Mrs. Sunplus of New York, have been recent guests at the Lakewood.

Dr. Proctor and several friends were recent visitors at Cobb's camp on Snake pond and enjoyed fine fishing and a good dinner.

Mr. Griffen is high line. He caught a large mouthed bass in Triangle pond which was the largest ever taken from that water—21 1-2 inches long and weighing six pounds.—"Honest Injun."

Mrs. Stephen Jones celebrated her birthday on June 13th, all of her children coming home for the happy event. Mrs. Jones was the recipient of many gifts, among the number being a handsome birthday cake. The day was spent in social intercourse, singing (all having good voices) and riding about the village, visiting places and old haunts of their childhood days. Among the number present were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ames, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bates and son Merton, Mrs. F. Braily and two sons, Roy and Eddie, from Osterville, E. L. Jones and Jack Brady from Sandwich, and J. H. Jones of West Barnstable.

Mrs. William H. Meggs has been a guest at Mr. Hinckley's at Cummaquid.

FORESTDALE.

Mr. Simms and daughter were at the "Farm" a few days the past week.

Mrs. F. N. Fisher and Mr. W. Fifield spent Saturday in Brockton, visiting the circus meantime.

A very pleasant day was spent at Peter's pond on Thursday, by those who could accept the invitations from Miss Dolloff and school. Each had a basket lunch. Miss Dolloff had a bounteous supply of fine ce cream and cake.

School is now closed for the long vacation, Miss Dolloff being at her home in Chatham.

Benjamin Hamlin, Minnola, Fla., has returned to his native village and expects to remain with us undefinitely.

Birds Killed by Spraying Should Be Sent to the State Ornithologist.

A large amount of circumstantial evidence seems to justify the assumption that birds are killed by spraying trees with arsenical insecticides for the purpose of killing insects. Last year many birds were found dead where trees were sprayed and the State Ornithologist began an investigation to determine whether the birds were killed by spraying. The evidence secured was not conclusive enough to clear up the matter fully. It is now time to begin spraying for the gypsy moth, brown tail moth and elm-leaf beetle. Dead birds usually may be found within two or three days after spraying has been done.

All who are interested in bird life are requested to be on the watch for dead birds under or in the vicinity of sprayed trees and to forward any found to E. H. Forbush, state ornithologist, room 136, State House, Boston, Mass. It is proposed to have the birds' bodies analyzed to learn if they have been poisoned by the spraying mixture.

SUMMER AND SAGAMORE!

Coming Events at Sagamore Beach, Mass. — New Features. — Social Themes Discussed by Great Leaders.—The Sunday School Assembly. —The Men's Church Organizations' Conference.—The Christian Endeavor Institute.

By Rev. R. P. Anderson.

Sagamore Beach makes optimists. The cool, delightful breezes from the ocean blow all pessimism out of the jaded brain and caress one with a benediction.

The reason why the company that comes to Sagamore Beach increases every year is because former visitors repeat their visit and bring their friends and acquaintances along.

Since first I was there I have dreamed of the place. That long, broad ribbon of pure white sand, bent like a human arm in an effort to embrace the ocean; the blue of that wonderful sky dusted with fluffy clouds that change and gambol like lambs in an enchanted meadow; the sea, the great, restless, mysterious sea, that surges like the hot heart of a passionate giant, lashing in fury that gentle, white arm that encircles it; and the bluffs, the wooded hills, the salt breath of Neptune mingling with the scented spirit of the green woods; these all enchant and charm and lure until I again stand on the beach and give myself up to the rapture of fn-breathing Sagamore.

Then the fellowship of the place! It is Christian in the true sense. Robert Louis Stevenson remarked: "There is an idea abroad among moral people that they should make their neighbors good. One person I have to make good; myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy, if I may."

The effort of everybody at Sagamore seems to be to make others happy. That is the text of the program for the coming season.

The Wounded World.

All over the United States has gone the fame of the Sagamore Sociological Conference, held the last two seasons through the generosity of our own George W. Coleman. This year the conference will be held from June 29 to July 1.

On previous occasions Mr. Colemah has gathered representative men from the great movements that stand for social reform. At Sagamore the red-hot socialist, full of beautiful visions, met the Christian socialist, and the anto-socialist and even the capitalist, and each one was brought closer by the meeting. Sagamore stands for social unity, mutual understanding and respect.

The speakers for this season are all men of national, some of them of international, reputation. Such names as Prof. Walter Rauschenbusch, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Mrs. Raymond Robins, Robert A. Woods, Ray Stannard Baker and William T. Ellis—and there are only a few—are a sufficient guaranty for the seriousness and the intellectual quality of the conference. The Sagamore Socioligical conference this season will eclipse even the splendid success achieved in the past.

Solutions for Sunday School Problems.

Then the Sunday school institute will hold its sessions this year, as in former years. The dates are July 6 to July 11. These meetings will be held under the auspices of the Massachusetts Sunday school association. The program which is in course of preparation will present an intellectual treat and provide for practically every phase of Sunday schol work. Sunday school teachers are supplied nowadays with magnificent helps covering Sunday school methods and the weekly lessons; but no books can ever take the place of a conference like that at Sagamore, where one gains inspiration from the living voice and the strong personality of the leaders as well as sound and helpful advice on particular problems.

A Church Feature.

A new departure, which we believe will be appreciated, is the introduction this year of the first supper conference of the American Federation of Men's Organizations, July 15 to 18.

The old joke, said to have been by Sydney Smith, "O that men would praise the Lord for His goodness," is no lohger applicable. This is the men's day. The laymen of the church are awakening, not to their rights, but to their opportunities. Everywhere men's organizations are springing up, organizations designed to meet all kinds of needs.

These Sagamore conferences, at which the problem of men's organizations will be discussed by capable speakers in all its bearings, at which methods will be described, plans outlined, and successes sketcfied, will prove an abiding inspiration to ministers and workers as well as to those directly connected with the Federation.

The Christian Endeavor Institute.

Sagamore would not be Sagamore without the Christian Endeavor institute and assembly under the auspices of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor union. It will be held July 23 to August 1. The state officers will be there, getting into touch with the members of the union. Plans will be exchanged, methods discussed publicly and privately, and everything arranged for that can make an institute a success.

The meetings—those unforgettable morning hours of prayer and devotional study of the Word under the leadership of some warm-hearted minister—and—but what is the use of trying to describe that which is beyond description?

When you go to Sagamore you will say, "The half was not told me."

Rev. Arthur H. Gordon, well known and loved from last year's services, will again delight us. Rev. James A. Francis, D. D., will daily "open unto us the scriptures" in his own charming manner. The state president, Rev. J. Spencer Voorhees, who has so successfully developed in his own church the graded Christian Endeavor society, will lead a meeting on "Christian Endeavor Methods—Christian Endeavor Extension." General Secretary Shaw will deliver an address and Dr. Clark will lead the Christian Endeavor meeting on Sunday evening.

On Monday there is a Quiet Hour service and bible study; then "Missionary Extension" will be discussed under "Christian Endeavor Methods," Rev. Herbert A. Manchester presiding. In the evening a special treat is expected when Rev. John P. Jones, D. D., president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor of India, Burma and Ceylon, will deliver an address. This alone—just to make Mr. Jones's acquaintance and to hear from his lips about our brothers in India—is worth more than all the expense of visiting Sagamore.

Professor Wills has a place on the Thursday program. Ex-President George E. Copeland, who has earned the affection of every Endeavorer in the state for his splendid leadership and genial, kindly personality, will preside over that meeting. Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., will delight and instruct by his address on "The Best Literature of All." On the previous evenings a discussion and question box will be held; but on this evening a testimony and prayer service. Those that remember the service last year will be glad that it is to be repeated.

Friday is the junior and intermediate day. Mrs. Carrie W. Kincaid leading. The subject will be "Junior and Intermediate societies." The importance of the theme is felt by all, and great help will be derived from this gathering.

State President Voorhees presides over the closing session in the evening. After that there will be "A Beach Consecration Service," when George E. Copeland will speak on "What Shall I Do?" This will be followed by testimonies, purposes, prayer and farewells!

August programs:

Tuesday, Aug. 3. Wednesday, Aug. 4. Thursday, Aug. 5. Friday, Aug. 6—Four morning lectures by Rev. James A. Francis, D. D., pastor Clarendon Street Baptist church, Boston.

Saturday, Aug. 7—Third annual outdor spectacle, amateur "Wild West Show." An all-day affair. Athletic meet. Ball game. Clam bake at noon.

Sunday, Aug. 8—3.30 p. m. Sermon in Assembly hall. 7.30 p. m., Union Young People's service. Leader, Rev. W. C. Darby, Sagamore.

Wednesday, Aug. 11—Special excursion to Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket.

Sunday, Aug. 15—3.30 p. m. Special Laymen's meeting. Leader, Mr. Geo. W. Coleman, Boston. 7.30 p. m. Christian Endeavor service, "Two Valleys." Leader, Prof. Amos R. Wells.

Wednesday, Aug. 18.—Colony excursion to Plymouth Rock.

Sunday, Aug. 22—3.30 p. m. Preaching in Assembly hall. 7.30 p. m. Special musical service.

Wednesday, Aug. 25—Excursion to Provincetown.

Sunday, Aug. 29—3.30 p. m. Preaching in Assembly hall. 7.30 p. m. Special Christian Endeavor service. Leader, Rev. Harry C. Adams.

Saturday, Sept. 4—Special entertainment at Bardford Arms.

Sunday, Sept. 5—3.30 p. m. Address in Assembly hall (speaker to be announced. 7.30 p. m. Special musical service.

Monday, Sept. 6—Labor day. Special excursion from Boston. All cottagers will keep open house. Mammoth fire in the evening.

The expense?

Amazingly small—quite within the capacity of the ordinary purse; and then, remember, you are getting things that money can't buy. Not knowledge, merely, nor ozone, nor sea breezes, nor breakfast, dinner, supper, lodging, but fellowship and friendship.

If you want exact figures as to cost—and they will astonish you with their reasonableness—the best thing you can do it to write to H. N. Lathrop, Sagamore Beach, Mass., and he will tell you just what you want to know.

Christian Endeavor Institute.

The Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union will hold its third annual institute at Sagamore Beach, July 23rd-30th inclusive. The various services will be held in Assembly hall, and the headquarters will be at "Bradford Arms."

The secretary of the State union, Miss Emma Ostrom Nichols, of East Lexington, who is receiving the registrations, reports that a large attendance is assured.

The opening session of the institute will be on Friday evening, July 23rd, and the president of the State union, Rev. J. Spencer Voorhoes of Adams, will preside. The speakers will be George E. Copeland of Worcester, and Rev. Arthur H. Gordon of Cambridge.

The program committee plan to divide the morning sessions into three periods as follows: Quiet hour, Bible study, and Christian Endeavor Methods class.

Rev. Arthur H. Gordon and Rev. James A. Francis respectively will conduct the first two periods; while the class on methods will have different topics and leaders on each day as follows: "Christian Endeavor Extension," Rev. J. S. Voorhoes; "Evangelistic Extension," Leroy F. Purrington; "Missionary Extension," George B. Huntington; "Union Extension," Dr. H. L. McClusky; Christian Literature Extension," Prof. Amos R. Wells; "Junior and Intermediate Societies," Mrs. Carrie Wentworth Kincaid.

The afternoons will be devoted to recreation, and the evening sessions will include addresses on different subjects as follows: "Christian Endeaver Extension," William Shaw, general secretary of the United Society; "Christian Endeavor as a Missionary Organization," Rev. John P. Jones, the well known missionary of the American board; "Christian Endeavor as an Evangelistic Organization," Rev. James A. Francis of Boston; "Christian Endeavor as a Temperance Organization," Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, secretary of the Scientific Federation; "The Best Literature of All," Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., of Brookline.

On Sunday, the Endeavors will worship in the morning at the Methodist Episcopal church in Sagamore village, and in the afternoon the institute sermon will be preached in Assembly hall by Rev. J. B. Jones. The evening service will be a regular Christian Endeavor prayer meeting led by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D.

The closing meeting of the institute, Friday evening, July 30th, will be a consecration and purpose service conducted by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., Rev. J. S. Voorhees and George E. Copeland.

It is likely that there will be laws in New York and other States requiring that stockyards in the future be constructed of concrete.

DEATH OF CENTENARIAN

Lacking but two weeks of having rounded out a full century, Mrs. Harriet Jones Burrill passed away Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harriet R. Hammond. Up to a short time ago, Mrs. Burrill had been in excellent health and the family were planning for a notable celebration of her 100th birthday anniversary on June 30.

Mrs. Burrill was a remarkable woman, mentally and physically, and on her 99th birthday, which was observed in Brockton, Mrs. Hammond then residing at 42 Weston street in that city, she chatted about the contest for the republican presidential nomination, the Cape Cod canal, hobble skirts and other modern fashions, reminiscences of Lincoln and other topics, showing a keen knowledge of the progress of events since her girlhood. Her memory was marvellous and her kindliness and courtesy a delight to the newspaper reporters who visited her.

Mrs. Burrill came from old Cape Cod stock. She was the daughter of Silas Jones and Love Shiverick Jones, and it was in the old homestead of her father, the old-fashioned Colonial house that stands opposite the village green in Falmouth, where she spent practically all her life, 94 years in all.

She was married when 27 years old to George Burrill of Newburyport, who, in common with so many men in those days, followed the sea. Mrs. Burrill continued to live at the home of her father even after her marriage, from the fact that the nature of her husband's occupation kept him away most of the time.

Some years after his marriage Mr. Burrill, who had worked hmself up to mate, set off on a whaling voyage in the Pacific ocean. Two years later his ship returned home with her flag at half-mast, Mr. Burrill having died and been buried at sea.

She had lived for more than sixty years since the ship that bore her husband away came home without him. Her one son, Herbert F. Burrill, died when he was thirty years old.

Some years ago Mrs. Burrill went to Brockton to live with her daughter, being taken there by her grandson, Horace B. Hammond, the truant officer, in his touring car. She thoroughly enjoyed the trip. A year later she made a 56-mile automobile journey to revisit her old home. She received

On her 99th birthday hundreds of a post card shower expressed her Brocktonians ciation. Aviator Atsincere over Brockton that day and woode regret was that she did not se the bird man in flight.

Some months ago Mrs. Hammond removed to this town and the aged woman accompanied her, making the trip by auto. She had lived here since then and had enjoyed good health up to about a fortnight ago.

On Tuesday the body was taken to Falmouth for interment, and was accompanied by Mrs. Hammond and son, Mrs. Mary Doane of Kansas City, Mo., and John. McHenry. The funeral services were held in the Congregational church, Mrs. Burrill having been a member of that church for some 84 years, and a charter member of the Sunday school. Rev. F. W. Hazen, pastor of the church, officiated, and the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee", a favorite of the deceased, was rendered by a mixed quartette. Many friends were present at the service and the unusually profuse and beautiful floral offerings were evidence of the love and esteem in which Mrs. Burrill was held. Interment was at Oak Grove cemetery, the bearers being Deacon S. A. Holton, Postmaster George W. Jones, Dr. J. M. Watson and Horace B. Hammond.

SCOUTS TO BE ORGANIZED

Reference has been made in these columns to the proposition of forming a camp of Boy Scouts for Sandwich, and we are pleased to announce definitely that a scout master has been engaged by the committee in charge, the work to be begun within a few days.

W. H. Hoover, who will organize the camp in Sandwich and remain in charge for at least two months, is a young man of pleasing personality and comes with the highest recommendations as to his fitness and efficency for this important work. A Westerner by birth, he has lived in various parts of the country and has seen much of out-of-door life. His experience in athletics and other lines of work with boys has pre-eminently fitted him for the undertaking here, and no better man could have been secured. Mr. Hoover is also a college man, and at present is a law student at Harvard. He will arrive here Monday and will at once organize the camp.

The instruction in this organization is designed for boys of every class between the ages of 12 and 18, and includes scoutcraft, camp life and resourcefulness, observation, wood craft, chivalry, saving life, endurance and patriotism.

In a letter received by a member of the committe from Principal A. J. Maryott of the Wakefield (R. I.) High school, formerly of this town, the writer says: "I wish the movement every possible success. There is a large troupe of about one hundred here in Wakefield and they are certainly an enthusiastic company. There is no reason why just as successful an organization could not be had in Sandwich."

To finance the undertaking here will require at least $200, and it is hoped that our citizens generally, with their well known generosity in public matters, will help along this movement which means so much for the future of the boys of Sandwich.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Francis J. Hastings, a member of a prominent Massachusetts family, and for a generation or more actively identified with Massachusetts interests died suddenly on Thursday night at his home in Covina, Cal. His daughter, Miss Mabel Hastings, and the only member of his family who survives him, was with him when he died. Mr. Hastings had suffered from a stomach trouble for which he underwent an operation a short while ago, and it was from the effects of this that he died.

Mr. Hastings was born in Cambridge, where he was prominent in business and civic life as a public official. He had at various times business interests in Boston, South Acton, Concord, Marlboro and elsewhere, and was in the flour and grain business. He served in the Civil war in Co. E of the 45th Massachusetts regiment and was a member of the G. A. R. Post of South Acton.

When he lived in this part of the country, Mr. Hastings was a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

In his early life he was a resident of Sandwich, his father being Joseph Warren Hastings, who is remembered by Sandwich residents. One brother survives him, Theodore K. Hastings of Sacramento. Miss Martha Newcomb and Mrs. B. G. Bartley are nieces of Mr. Hastings.

He ... ter part of 1906 and purchased an orange grove at Covina, which he afterward sold. He had since lived in retirement with his daughter.

The graduation exercises of the High school will be held at the Casino next Thursday evening. The class of 1912 consists of four members, Augusta Carleton, Mae McCarthy, Gilman Talbot and Edward Talbot.

D. F. Chessman and Miss Emma L. Fish returned this morning from Vineyard Haven, where they have been attending the annual convention to the Barnstable Baptist association.

Samuel W. Hunt of Sandwich was chosen first vice president of the 29th Massachusetts Regiment association, at the annual reunion a few days ago in East Bridgewater. Mr. Hunt is one of the twelve survivors of Company D, two members, Gustavus A. Badger of Lynn and Warren P. Dean of South Boston, having passed away within the last month.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Holway have been entertaining Mrs. Holway's niece, Miss Hamblin of Allston

Two Sandwich boys, Fletcher Clark Jr, and Alvah S. Holway, are among the graduates this year at Dartmouth. The commencement exercises will be attended by Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Clark, Mrs. J. R. Holway, Mrs. A. W. Doolittle and Miss Amy Holway.

Mrs. E. R. Pope and son of Milwaukee, Wis., are guests at the Lake house.

C. S. Lloyd sang at the Children's Day exercises in Sagamore Sunday and at the Bourne High school baccalaureate service in Bourne the same day.

Mrs. Ezra Wright attended the Freeman reunion held Monday at the Kendrick house, Wareham, and was the oldest person present, being 85 years of age. Before her marriage Mrs. Wright was Miss Eliza Ainsworth Freeman. She was accompanied on her trip by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George H. Wright, and the two enjoyed a most delightful day.

Mrs. Edward Tatum of New York has arrived here for the summer.

Mrs. Sumner Gorham of Cummaquid is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crocker.

Mrs. Mary Warren has returned to Boston, after a short visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Wing and family of Newton were in town over the holiday.

The Misses Wing of Spring Hill have been spending a part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wing.

Among those who attended the Unitarian conference at Barnstable were Rev. and Mrs. F. K. Gifford, Supt. and Mrs. H. L. Whitman, Mrs. S. I. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Bartley, Miss Newcomb, Miss Lina Chamberlain and Mrs. E. S. Clark.

SANTUIT

A baby boy came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pike of Mashpee, last Wednesday

Mrs. Susan Crocker is arranging to have the interior of her beautiful home painted.

The closing exercises in connection with the village school, under Miss Warner and Miss Lapham, were unusually interesting this year. Quite a number of visitors were present, including Rev. A. M. Bruce, pastor of the Methodist church in Cotuit.

Rev. S. H. Atkins and Charles H. Peters of Mashpee will attend the Barnstable Baptist association as delegates from the Mashpee Baptist church. Before returning to Mashpee, Mr. Atkins will visit his family at Needham. Rev. Mr. Herbert will supply the pulpit in the absence of the pastor.

Mrs. Folger left Santuit for Harwich Saturday afternoon to spend a few days.

Charles Baxter has secured a very large contract for oyster barrels from the new oyster company of Cotuit.

J. B. Williamson of Cambridge has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Perry the past week.

Children's Day will be observed in the village church next Sunday at 3.30.

Rev. Otway C. Herbert will preach at Mashpee next Sunday, June 23, at 1 and 7 p. m. The 1 o'clock service will be in the old church and the 7 o'clock service in the village.

Mrs. Herbert received word last week of the death of her niece, Miss Mamie McKiffey, in Los Angeles, Cal. The young lady had been sick for over two years. She is survived by a large circle of relatives.

S. A. Holton,
H. L. Chipman,
Special Committee.

PLAINS

Mrs. Isabelle Ellis has been spending the past week with Miss Sadie Jones of Centerville.

Miss Mary Souza is at home again.

Several young people from this neighbornood attended the F. H. S. Junior dance in Agricultural Hall, Barnstable, on last ... evening. All reported a good time and excellent music.

Mrs. J. S. Lapham has returned from a visit on the Cape.

Mrs. Marion Haskell has been a recent visitor at the Hub.

WAREHAM

Mrs. Frank C. Bolles was taken to a hospital in New Bedford on Tuesday, where an operation has been performed and she is said to be on the road to recovery.

J. Frank Kiernan has purchased a Buick runabout.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Fenstermaker are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter.

Mrs. W. E. C. Warr was operated upon Tuesday at the Charity Club hospital in Boston for appendictis. Tuesday night little hopes were entertained for her recovery, but as she lived through the night and following day hope has revived, and reports this morning indicate that she is holding her own.

Mrs. H. N. Christie and daughter, Hattie, are visiting relatives in Providence.

Mr. Whitcomb, cashier of the National bank, is to occupy the furnished house of Almer T. Jefferson for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Crocker and son were geusts of Mr. Crocker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Crocker, over Sunday and Monday.

S. F. Ryder and sons, Jetson and Weston, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Childs and daughter, Marian, were guests of Mrs. Mary W. Fish in Teaticket on Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas Coyne, Jr., and little son are visiting her father, E. C. Stetson, and family, in Mattapoisett.

The local W. C. T. U. will hold its annual reception at its rooms this (Thursday) afternoon.

F. E. Bowman, the optician, is at his office at the Courier building every Tuesday from 11.15 until 5 o'clock. At other times he is at his offices in Boston and Falmouth. Dr. Bowman has succeeded in fitting many difficult cases and his practice is growing.

The Board of Assessors have determined that the rate for the Onset Fire District will be $2.10. They will soon be able to announce the rate for the Wareham Fire District, the rate for the whole town coming considerably later.

POINT INDEPENDENCE

Mrs. William Thompson entertained the Harmony club of Brockton Wednesday at her home, Twin Tower cotage. The club left Brockton on the 7.15 a. m. car, arriving at 10 a. m., happy but hungry. After their meeting there was a short walk on the beach, then the call to dinner, a real fish dinner, was heard, and it did not have to be repeated. Oh, such a good time at that board, with its load of goodies, and everyone had their appetites with them. After dinner a few calls were made on home neighbors, the time passing all too quickly. Late in the afternoon a lobster supper was served and, like the dinner, it was just the best ever. Those present were Mrs. Etta Holmes, Mrs. Annie Torvers, Mrs. Octavia Blair, Mrs. Tama Kelley, Mrs. Ida Fuller, Mrs. Eva Perscho, Mrs. Josie Bourne, Mrs. Ella Bean and Mrs. Lydia T. Thompson. They voted to go to Nantasket July 10. At 6 o'clock they left for Brockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Hadley of Brookline spent the week end and Monday with Mrs. Hadley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gary.

Mrs. Charles Marston was at her summer home, "Rest Awhile", recently.

F. S. Murphy and family of Boston arrived Saturday for the season at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Toppan of Brockton have opened their villa on Quality Hill for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Poole came over the road Sunday in their auto and opened their home, Pinehurst, Quality Hill.

A. B. Hammond spent Thursday in Boston.

mrs. Frank Cushing and daughter, Mabel, spent Friday in New Bedford.

H. B. Holmes has a new canvas-covered power boat and Sunday had a tryout with a friend as passenger. On their return, when near the G. C. Holmes wharf, "Bert" forgot to say whoa, so the pert little craft kept right on, slam bang into the wharf, knocking the engine off its base, also the young gent, and making a good-sized hole in the stern. As Mr. Holmes was at the bow, he only felt the jar, which was some, but no one was hurt.

The Nicolas Bow house is being remodeled and will be, when finished, a great addition to Holly street.

E. E. McCarthy of Manchester came for the week end, his wife accompanying him on his return as far as their Brockton home Sunday evening. They will rent their cottage here this season and spend the summer at Manchester, N. H.

mrs. William Brady has opened her summer home for the season.

mrs. Abby Ramsdell of Nanumett ... is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Theron Kelley of Fairhaven, this week.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Ernest Perkins of Brockton have arrived for the season at their Keith residence on Buzzards Bay road.

mrs. Alice Mack of Boston is spending the week at her summer home, near Plymouth Park. She has rented it for the season to Boyle Bros., Boston.

major and Mrs. Bean are down from Brockton for the season at their cottage.

G. Sumner Smith, who has been quite ill the past few weeks, is much improved at this date.

NOTICE

Whereas I am living apart from my wife, Nellie M. Macalaster, for good and justifiable cause, this is to notify all concerned that I will not be responsible for her support or for debts of her contracting after the 5th day of June, 1912.

FRED S. MACALASTER.

WANTED

I am looking for a young man with little money and lots of push who will have no trouble in selling a pair of my patent "Pant Guards" to nine out of every ten men you meet, especially during the winter months.

These "guards" will hold the pants snugly to the ankle while walking through snow, driving, or at any kind of work. They will serve as a protection from the cold and damp, and will not pull up.

They can be rolled in shape to fit the vest pocket and can be used as a strap. Two or more may be put together and have any length desired.

I have 17,000 pair made up and stock enough for as many more.

Cost per pair 4½c, will sell quick at 20c.

I have a machine to work with.

Some fishing! A. L. Lincoln, J. W. Lincoln, and G. A. Burt, guests at the Tower house, captured six pickerel that weighed in all 20 pounds. Mr. Burt captured the largest one, that tipped the scales at four and one-half pounds. C. S. Baker was guide. Taunton is long on herrings, but short on pickerel. Mr. Burt was scheduled as no fisherman. Well, my boy, I don't want to tell all the story. Taunton papers please copy.

If the president of the Board of Trade will advocate having all the signs removed, I will favor it.

Play ball at Falmouth Heights. Too bad we all went to sleep on the Lawrence High school grounds.

Why should the people complain because the band was out of town on the 4th? This town made no appropriation for the day, and the boys needed the money.

We had a good time, boys, the night before the 4th. Nothing doing.

Hon. David G. Pratt of North Middleboro is very ill at his summer home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Atkins and Mr. and Mrs. Fox of Springfield have taken a cottage at Onset for a month.

Mr. Cooper, who has been employed here several days by the telephone company, has returned to Nantucket.

Sandwich

The Fourth

In spite of the dismal weather Sandwich celebrated the "Glorious Fourth" in a decidedly successful manner, the program of the day being enjoyed by many visitors in addition to our own citizens.

The patriotic parade of the morning, under the direction of E. C. Clark, while entirely unlike former occasions, in that no "antiques and horribles" were in line, was well worth seeing. The procession was headed by John J. Ryder as "Uncle Sam", and the band, composed of players from Sandwich, Sagamore and Onset, and was in charge of T. B. Kinraide as chief marshal. In the line were the Grand Army post, Sons of Veterans, Relief Corps, St. Agatha court, M. C. O. F., and DeWitt Clinton Masonic lodge, selectmen, pupils of the public schools and many of the citizens of Sandwich, including many ladies, as well as an Italian society from Sagamore, and President Keith and Treasurer Whitney of the Keith Car and Mfg. Co., with a large number of their office force and workmen. "Old Glory" was much in evidence.

After the parade came the field sports on the ball-grounds, the winners being as follows: Girls' potato race, Miss Ethel Casperon, first, Miss Marion Parkes, second; wood sawing, Miss Irene Buckley, first, Miss May McCarthy, second; "fat girls' " race, Miss Elizabeth McCarty, first, Miss Anastasia Murphy, second; small boys' swimming race, Joe Lutz, first, George Milligan, second; larger boys' swimming race, Willie McCarthy, first, Willie Brady, second; three-legged race, Willie and Lawrence Parker, first, Willie Brady and Jacky Bazzinotti, second; potato race, Tauno Kapainen, first, Lawrence Parker, second; climbing greased pole, Torquato Bazzinotti, first, Willie Brady, second; obstacle race, Willie McCarthy, first, Willie Brady, second. The boys' sports were in charge of George F. Dennis, and the girls' under the direction of Mrs. Thomas F. Kelleher.

Preceding the afternoon ball game, a separate account of which is given in this issue, brief patriotic addresses were made by Hon. Frank H. Pope, always a favorite with audiences in this, his native town; Hon. Thomas C. Thacher of Yarmouth, our former congressman; and Attorney Fletcher Clark, Jr., who made his first appearance as a public speaker and was received with marked attention. Postmaster George T. McLaughlin presided and happily introduced the speakers.

In the evening came the boat carnival, fire-works and a concert by the band, followed by the ball in the Casino, in charge of Thomas F. Montague, with music by Allen's orchestra. The out-door celebration was again hampered by the weather, but was enjoyed by several hundred people. In the carnival the prizes were won by Alfred E. Hoxie, Mrs. J. F. Keene and Mrs. W. R. Procter. This was in charge of James Freeman, chairman of the committee.

Considering the weather and the short time in which the celebration was arranged for, the day was a most successful one. Too much praise cannot be given the executive committee of which George F. Dennis was chairman, C. L. Buckley, secretary, and Mrs. T. F. Kelleher, treasurer.

Historical Society

The Sandwich Historical society is about completing its ninth year with a membership of nearly a hundred. During the past year the society has held nine meetings, when many instructive and interesting papers and articles have been read, and profitable discussions taken place.

On next Monday evening, July 10, will be held the annual meeting, with the election of officers for the coming year. It is desired that as many members as possible will be in attendance.

Elizabeth L. Burbank,
Secretary.

"Dope for Fans"

Sandwich was defeated at Fairhaven on Saturday last by a score of 2 to 0. Vodon pitched a remarkably good game and should have won but for a little tough luck. The game was written up for the New Bedford Sunday Standard and a picture of the team was in evidence.

Two games were scheduled for the Fourth but on account of the weather we were obliged to call off that of the morning. The afternoon game was hotly contested and proved to be one of the best seen on Casino field for a long while. Vodon pitched, and made the spectators sit up and take notice by his excellent work. He deserves a great deal of credit for defeating what is considered to be the strongest amateur team in New Bedford.

Sandwich will play Orleans at Orleans on Saturday, July 8, and will play them a return game on Casino field Saturday, July 15th.

It is hoped that the people of Sandwich interested in baseball, will show their appreciation of the team that represents the town, by their attendance at the home games. On account of the weather we did not [illegible] very successful day on the Fourth [illegible] are not in a very good position financially at the present time. We need the support of the people in order to break even this season. The management is not running baseball for a profit-sharing scheme, no one is paid for labor, the boys practise faithfully, and all this for the entertainment of our townspeople and summer visitors therefore it is up to you to attend every game and contribute to its support.

Two Dramatic Evenings

Two dramatic evenings for the benefit of the American Ambulance Field Service in France were given at the studio of Mrs. John O. Powers, on Shawme Road, on Monday, Aug. 28, and Monday, September 4. Each program consisted of two war sketches by Miss Katharine Searle, with "interludes." The sketches were acted by a little company of college men and women, assisted by Miss Ruth Bradford Delano.

The programs were as follows:

Interlude.

"Her Story" by Miss Searle, had the following cast: Betty Baxter, a debutante with a taste but not a talent for charity, Miss Constance Flood; Anna, an old Belgian woman, a refugee, Miss Ruth Bradford Delano; Miss Marston, head nurse at the Good Samaritan Convalescents Home, Miss Eunice Allen; Miss Smith, a trained nurse, Mrs. E. W. Hutchison. Scene: sun-parlor at the Convalescents Home.

On Monday, September 4, the program was as follows:

"The March of Truth," one-act drama by Miss Katharine Searle: Gertrude, a woman of the people, Miss Ruth Bradford Delano; Tony, a child of the upper classes, Mary Leonard; Julius Braun, a socialist, Tracy Putnam. Scene: a wine-cellar somewhere in the war zone.

Interlude.

"News from the Front," a conversation, by Miss Searle: Mrs. West, an American lady, a widow, living in Paris, Miss Ruth Bradford Delano; Shirley Talbot, her sister, Miss Constance Flood; General Badet, Day Manson; Francine, a maid, Mrs. E. W. Hutchison. Scene: drawing-room of Mrs. West's flat near the Place Victor Hugo, Paris.

The war sketches by Miss Searle are serious studies of the present situation in Europe. As such, they display a high degree of insight. We believe that Miss Searle as a playwright has made a distinct offering to the drama.

The realism of "Her Story," so skilfully rendered by Miss Ruth Delano and Miss Constance Flood, made a direct and powerful appeal to the audience. As the young German aviator in "Hatred," Day Manson touched the sympathies of his auditors, in portraying the feelings of the "real Germans." As the Socialist and the peasant woman in "The March of Truth," Tracy Putnam and Miss Delano successfully rendered the most difficult of the war sketches. "The March of Truth" is a tragedy. It describes the feelings of a German Socialist who has been forced into the war, after having labored against war all his life. This piece gave Mary Leonard her first opportunity for serious acting, as the boy, Tony. She displayed a talent of which her parents may well be proud. As the general in "News from the Front," Day Manson again distinguished himself. The sketch consists entirely of a conversation in which a French general reveals his private opinion on the subject of war. The part is very difficult to get "over the footlights," and this Mr. Manson successfully achieved. Mention should also be made of Mr. Putnam's sympathetic rendering of the Belgian professor in "Hatred," and Miss Constance Flood's charming acting as "Violet" in the same play. Other members of the company who deserve notice, are Mrs. Hutchison, who acted three parts, Mrs. Granville in "Hatred," Miss Smith in "Her Story," and Francine in "News from the Front"; Miss Waites, who acted Mrs. Pike in "Hatred," and Miss Eunice Allen, who as the head nurse in "Her Story," gave a brisk and vigorous performance. Mention should also be made of Fay Roope, the efficient stage manager.

The acting of Miss Delano is well-known to a wide circle. She holds professional standing in and about Boston, and has played many difficult roles with great distinction. Her versatility amounts to genius. For instance, she appeared as a fashionable English woman, and immediately after, as an old Belgian refugee, on the first evening. On the second evening, she enacted the part of a peasant girl in the "March of Truth," and again in "News from the Front," she appeared as a cultivated American lady. As it is exceedingly difficult to secure Miss Delano on account of her numerous engagements, Sandwich may well be congratulated on having seen her in so many different roles.

Friends of the cause contributed so generously that a check for $100 will be forwarded to France.

Miss Searle's war sketches have been put on sale at Miss Sw

Heald Wins in Wyoming Tennis

"Each day cuts down the number of contestants remaining in the city tennis tournament, and each day the crowds grow larger to view the play. Yesterday afternoon there was no automobile parking space about the park tennis courts unoccupied.

"When Roy Seney and George Forsythe started their contest yesterday the crowd realized at once that they were to see a fast game of tennis. Play started out hammer and tongs, both men determined and ready to fight for each point. Seney was steady and played his usual heady game. Forsyth was wild, tried backhand and net drives, but could not place. Seney was quick to realize the style of game being played against him and took the back court, where he kept Forsyth on the run. After twelve hard games, Seney took the set, 7-5.

"Seeming to realize that he could not keep his fast strokes within bounds, Forsyth changed his play. His aim became deadly and he was able to flirt with corners and side lines at will. The first set seemed to tire Seney, and the change of play of his opponent was confusing. He had lost the snap characteristic of his play and Forsyth won the second set 6-2. After a short rest both men appeared fresh for the third and deciding set. Forsyth continued his steady play, and was never in danger in the last set. Seney covered ground well in his attempt to stop the inevitable, but Forsyth took the set and contest 6-2.

"On the second court Heald and Leigh were matching their skill. Time and again Leigh brought the crowd to its feet with his fine serves.

Both men played flashy tennis and showed the crowd the best play of the meet. Heald was strong with his back hand strokes, and these saved him a number of points. The first set went to 4-4, when Heald broke through Leigh's serve, then taking his own, winning the set 6-4. In the second set Leigh came back determined. His play was hard and fast. He rushed to the net and once gaining this advantage his chops and drives were deadly. It would have taken a ranking player to have won that set from him. Leigh won the second set 7-5. In the third and last set a bitter fight was carried the entire way. The crowd was witnessing a rare treat. Heald was working all the tennis he knew, while Leigh was steady and working hard and true. Again the score ran to 4 all, here Heald proved the master and won the next two games, winning 6-4, set and meet."

Corpus Christi Church

The choir of the Corpus Christi church presented Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murphy with a beautiful mirror on Friday evening last. Miss Mary R. Dalton, in her presentation speech, brought out the beauties of the unity and the friendly feeling existing among the members of the choir.

Refreshments were served and Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were certainly surprised and made very happy by the generosity of the choir members.

S. H. S. Dance

The dance conducted by the Sandwich High school at the Town hall on the evening of Labor Day proved a great success. The attendance in particular was most gratifying. Hoey's two-piece orchestra furnished music, and refreshments, consisting of ice-cream and cake, were served at intermission. Dancing began at eight, continuing until one.

Cyrus L. Foster

The death of Cyrus L. Foster at Gardner, on Wednesday of last week, removes another of our well-known citizens.

Mr. Foster was born in Spring Hill 82 years ago, the son of David and Lydia Foster, and for the greater part of his life made his home in that village. While a young man he spent 10 years in the gold-fields of California, and for the past few years has lived in Gardner.

The body was brought to Sandwich for interment in the family lot at Spring Hill cemetery, and funeral services were held Friday at the home of his son, Rev. Robert R. Kendall of the Congregational church officiating.

The deceased is survived by two brothers, William A. Foster and John H. Foster of Spring Hill; two daughters, Mrs. Frederic S. Pope of Gardner, and Mrs. Isaiah T. Jones of Freeport, N. Y.; two sons, Chester W. Foster of Spring Hill and David S. Foster of Keokuk, Iowa; and three grandchildren.

Ernest L. Varnum

News was received last week of the death of Patrolman Ernest L. Varnum of the Lynn police force, resulting from a paralytic shock.

Mr. Varnum was the son of the late Mrs. Nathan Tobey and spent his boyhood days in Sandwich, graduating from the local High school in 1886. Soon after that time he removed from here, but occasionally has visited the town and renewed old acquaintances. He is survived by a family.

Agricultural Fair

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Sandwich Agricultural society, it was decided to postpone the annual fair this season. It is felt that considering the unfavorable conditions of the gardens, due to the prolonged wet summer, exhibitors would be shy in bringing forth the fruits of their labors. The children's department will be held as usual for those planning to exhibit. Any pupil of the Sandwich schools who has followed the premium list given out in the school's last spring, or those who have articles to exhibit of their own production, will be eligible to compete for the prizes as planned, providing such notice is given the secretary, L. B. Boston, on or before the 12th of this month.

"Dope for Fans"

Sandwich was defeated by the Plymouth All Stars Saturday, Sept. 2, at Casino Field by the score of 6-3. Vodon pitched well for the home team but received poor support.

Fairhaven defeated Sandwich Labor Day at Casino Field by a score of 6-2. "Shrimp" Sayre was the star of the home team, having a perfect day in the field and at bat. His two doubles were appreciated by the fans.

Up to date the home team has won seven and lost seven games. There will be a game at Mattapoisett Saturday and the program for the following Saturday will be announced later.

T. B. Kinraide kindly donated a set of bases to the Sandwich Athletic association, which are greatly appreciated.

St. John's Episcopal Church

Beginning next Sunday services will be held at 3.30 in the afternoon, and the Sunday school will resume its sessions at 4.30, or immediately following the regular service.

Rev. Mr. Fenderson preached a very strong Labor Day sermon Sunday last, his text being taken from the Gospel for the day: "I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted."

A very generous response attended the efforts of the young people of the parish in their sale Saturday afternoon when the sum of $53 was realized.

Those attending services last Sunday were greatly pleased with the new and attractive lighting arrangements which have just been installed. The artistic design of the fixtures, the arrangement of the lights and everything connected with the installation of the same received many words of commendation and praise. A committee from the Woman's Guild had the matter in charge. The work of installation was done by Fred A. Garland.

Miss Edna Yardwood, who has been spending a few weeks at The Hermitage, has returned to her home in Pennsylvania.

While a party of our young people were rowing on the lake Thursday evening, one young lady met with a curious and unpleasant experience. She was dragging her hand along in the water, when she felt a severe pinch on one finger. She accompanied her scream with a quick fling of the hand and an eel landed in the boat, to the extreme consternation of all on board.

Memories of the Spanish-American war were revived for Cape Cod folks when the schooner Three Friends passed through the canal the other day. The Three Friends figured prominently in the news preceding the conflict of 1898, together with her commander, Capt. Joseph O'Brien. The skipper and his vessel gained prominence in their successful filibustering activities, carrying large quantities of guns and ammunition to the Cubans, foiling all the efforts of the Spaniards to halt the pursuit. Capt. O'Brien, who won the moniker, "Dynamite Joe," is 75 years old and very much alive.

Harold P. Henderson and William F. Torrey Jr., two young men summering at Quincy, recently made a canoe trp from that city to the canal and return, a distance of 140 miles which they paddled in exactly four days, with ample resting periods. On the return trip the boys experienced some bad weather and became practically lost for a while off Quincy in a fog belt.

The many friends of Frederick S. Pope were glad to see him in town last week. Mr. Pope holds a responsible position in the Gardner National bank.

There was a grand exodus from town this week, and within another month practically all of our summer visitors will have taken their departure.

NOTES OF THE FAIR

72nd Annual Fair Compared Well With Predecessors—7000 On Grounds Wednesday.

The dog show of the opening day of the Barnstable County Agricultural society fair proved to be one of the features. It was given under the auspices of the Barnstable Kennel club, of which Charles B. Wiggins of Boston is president. Harry Lacy, an editor of the American Stock Keeper, acted as judge in an acceptable manner. About 175 dogs were entered.

Flower judges were Charles J. Wood of Stanley McCormack's gardens, "Silvershells," of Marion; and James Carthly of Fairhaven. Much interest was shown in the wild flower exhibits. Miss Eliza L. Harris exhibited a collection of 90 specimens.

Yarmouth, Yarmouthport, and Barnstable brought the largest children's exhibits to the fair. The Misses Ethel and Ella Murray of Hyannis presided over this section of the fair, which furnished especial interest for parents and children.

With palette and brush a few artists from Provincetown kept alive the art department.

That the automobiles bring a large number to the fair is manifested by the report of the number of machines parked during the day Wednesday, which was 625.

Hon. Thomas C. Thacher, president of the Agricultural society, welcomed the visitors on Wednesday afternoon with a short speech. He then introduced Governor Samuel W. McCall, who spoke briefly in a humorous and reminiscent vein. A reception followed.

For horse lovers the horse show occupied a conspicuous place, and this year, as always, it was a distinct success. The racing was in general hotly contested, with results as follows:

Addresses Skowhegan Club

"Rev. E. L. Marsh of Sandwich, Mass., gave a most interesting talk on his trip abroad at the first fall meeting of the BPW club Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Hannah R. Page. The meeting was made most enjoyable through the courtesy of Miss Dorothy M. Elliott, chairman of the program committee, who resides at the home of Miss Page. Cut flowers were in evidence throughout the house. Miss Beatrice Genthner, Miss Elliott and Miss Page received the guests. Mr. Marsh was formerly of Waterville, but is very well known in Skowhegan, his daughters, Elizabeth and Mandana, attended high school here several years since. He is paster of the Federated church of Sandwich, which is composed of the Congregational, Unitarian and Methodist churches of that city. Mr. Marsh talked principally on the places visited in France, Switzerland and Italy. He told of the return trip on the Leviathan, on which were Queen Marie of Roumania and her son and daughter. Mr. Marsh is a guest at the home of Miss Page and expects to return tomorrow."

Sandwich Woman's Club

The regular meeting of the season will be held at headquarters on Friday evening. Following the business meeting, Mrs. George L. McCann will speak upon "The Appreciation of Music". The program is under the care of the Music and Drama department, Mrs. Charlotte H. Chipman, chairman.

On Wednesday, October 19, at the Temple, Onset, occurs the fall meeting of the State Federation of Woman's clubs, when it is expected that a thousand club members from all over the tsate will be present. The gathering is under the direction of the Monday club, Wareham.

It is expected that the new year books for 1927-1928 will be ready for distribution to members on Friday evening. Price, 25c each.

Mrs. Ruth Allen and Miss Linda Allen, who have been spending the summer here, have gone to Ruxton, Maryland. Mrs. Allen will teach at the Greenwood school this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole were at the Daniel Webster inn over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson and family have closed the Lake House atfer a most successful season, and have returned to their home in West Medway.

Wilmon Chipman and Miss Catherine Blanchard of Boston were week end visitors at the home of Mr. Chipman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Chipman.

J. Frank Giles was very much surprised and pleased to receive a call on Sunday from Charlie Hollis. When Mr. Giles was the manager of the Oliver Ditson company, he appointed Mr. Hollis to a position 40 years ago. Mr. Giles enjoyed seeing his old friend again, and the two looked back to those days when they worked together in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Perry, who since their marriage have been staying at the home of Mrs. Perry's parents in Pocasset, have moved into their new home in Sagamore.

John W. Dalton of Boston was called home last week by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Adelaide Dalton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding Scholle and family have left for their home in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Ellis have closed their home on Main street and left Sunday for their home in Florida. They will make the trip by automobile, stopping en route at various places.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Dowden received a wire from St. Louis Saturday, announcing the birth of Lee Carrington McKinley to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Carrington McKinley. Mrs. Dowden left Sunday for St. Louis. It was announced that both mother and son were getting along nicely. Mrs. McKinley was formerly Miss Florence Dowden of this town.

Several from Sandwich will attend the monthly meeting of the Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce, which will be held at the Old Colony club, Bourne, this Thursday evening.

The Woman's Auxiliary will hold a rummage sale at the American Legion rooms Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Articles are earnestly solicited, and any donations will be very much appreciated. Telephone Mrs. John Collins, president, for additional information.

The Sandwich Historical society will hold its last meting of the season on Monday evening at 8 o'clock, and a large atendance is expected. Members will please bear in mind that annual dues are now payable.

Wilson C. Bartley has been spending several weeks at Hartford, Conn., in the interests of the Keith Car & Mfg. Co. He was at home for the week end, but returned on Sunday evening.

Room to let, fine for an office. Corner Main and Jarves streets, over the A. & P. Store. Apply P. O. box 294. (Advertisement).

Mrs. Emma Sprague recently enjoyed a short vacation at the home of her mother's childhood, in East Harwich, with her aunt, Mrs. Almena Robbins. Her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Quimby Lapham of Cohasset, called and took her down Sunday and she returned Friday with Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Fries, who were leaving their summer home that day for Springfield.

Secretary Hary S. Dowden of the Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Chipman attended the banquet of the Massachusetts Association of Real Estate Boards, held Friday evening at Chatham Bars inn, Chatham.

James Chipman has returned to his home in Jamaica Plain, after an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie.

Sale at Miss Nokel's. All felt hats geratly reduced. Many colors from which to choose. Tel. Sagamore 14. (Advertisement).

Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Hunt of Middleboro were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. O'Neill, Miss Lucy Donovan, and Norman Crum of Providence spent Sunday in town.

Little Elizabeth Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Clark, celebrated her third birthday by entertaining ten of her little friends at a birthday party last Friday, September 30.

Miss Nina Pease, who has been spending the summer at the Old Mill, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Horace Chase, who has spent the week with her sisters, Misses Flora and Mary Clark, returned to New York on Sunday evening, via the canal.

Mrs. Frank E. McParlin entertained her sister, Miss Nellie Murphy of Wareham, the past week.

Dr. and Mrs. John M. Edgar, who have been spending the summer here, have returned to their home in Florida.

Falmouth Historical Society

The Meeting House of 1796.

Those who have been long familiar with the Falmouth Green as it lies today, a bit of emerald green bordered by stately elms and surrounded by the homes of the villagers, will have difficulty in realizing it was not always so. Church spires rise on either side, and the old bank building still keeps its watch of a hundred years and more over the varied moods and changes which have passed over this bit of ground with the town's developing life.

Laid out as a meeting house lot in 1749 by the Proprietors of Falmouth, of which the present green represents less than one half of the original lot, this piece of ground has had a troubled and checkered history. During the period of the Revolution, portions of it were used as a training ground, and a generation ago it was still often referred to by the older inhabitants, the memory of whose boyhood days touched those who participated in those stirring scenes, as the training ground. At the upper corner of the original lot stood the whipping post, an account of which has been published recently by the writer. At one time it was chosen by the town as the site for the town house, and narrowly escaped being so used. The records give suggestions of various buildings, probably of a temporary nature, which from time to time were placed upon it for the convenience of the villagers. Through it all, the meeting houses—that of 1750, to which succeeded that of 1796, remained standing on the original site, chosen in 1750, an account of which has been given in these papers.

With these varied experiences of the green itself, the surroundings did not escape the slow and subtle changes wrought by the interplay of the communal forces—political, social, commercial, and religious—which centered in this bit of ground—as different then in appearance and use from the present as it is possible to imagine. It is a fascinating story which has yet to be written and awaits the leisure to search through volumes of musty records for bits of information, rare and precious, preserved in old documents and letters still extant.

In this paper we have reached the point in the evolution of the town life at which the religious interests relinquished their hold upon the green, in the same way as the political and commercial interests had previously relinquished theirs and moved to other localities, and by so doing made possible the evolution of the green as it exists today. To this end the change in location of the meeting house, the story of which we continue today, made the final, and in many respects the most important contribution. The year of its consummation was 1857. As that which took place at that time is frequently misunderstood, and its proper understanding so important, I give the record at somewhat greater length than I otherwise should.

For some years previous to 1857, when the change was made, the matter of the meeting house had been under discussion. In a warrant, June 18, 1853, four years before, calling a meeting of the Society for July 1, 1853, appear the following articles:

"To see if the said Society will vote to either sell or take down their meeting house, with the view of erecting a new house of worship for the use of said Society."

"To choose a Committee for carrying the aforesaid measures into effect and transact any other business relative to the sale, or building of a new house."

"To take such measures as may be thought advisable in regard to the location of a new meeting house."

At a meeting of the society (held in the vestry) July 1, 1853 to consider this Warrant, the following resolution was offered by John Jenkins, Esq.:

"Resolved as the sense of this meeting that the time has arrived when the best interests of this Society require that an effort should be made to build a new house of worship."

"This resolution was negatived—Yeas 24, Neg. 32."

Methodist Church Notes

Rev. E. J. Curry, pastor.

Sunday services:

10.45. Morning worship and sermon.

12.10. Church school.

7.00. Evening service and sermon. Life of St. Peter, III. "The Question Settled'.

There were 17 present at the "boys' get-together" on Friday evening. The general feeling was for the organization of a troop of Scouts. Games were played, and refreshments were served by the Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. R. W. Roberts, assisted by Mrs. Merton Long, one of the teachers of the boys' classes.

Rally Day Sunday opened with the Communion service at 10.45 a. m., and was followed by the Sunday school rally at 12.10. Besides the regular school, several of the parents and friends of the school were present to hear the program, "The Task Supreme', given by the school, assisted by the choir. An interesting feature was the presentation of certificates to William Stockley, Charles Milliken, Barbara Berry and Herbert Nickerson.

Mrs. Juline Williams of Marion, who has been visiting Mrs. Fred Raymond and other friends in town, returned to her home on Wednesday.

Charles Eldredge is enjoying a ten days' vacation,and with Mrs. Eldredge is touring the surrounding country, making their summer camp at Long Pond their headquarters.

The very kind invitation of Mrs. W. F. Anderson for Friday afternoon last, to the ladies of Bourne, to meet with her at her beautiful summer home, "Amblewood", for some reason was withdrawn, much to the regret of many who had been happy to accept.

The Harrington family, who have been occupying Mrs. Elsie Handy's house on the Head-of-the-Bay road, moved to Brae Burn farm, Falmouth, on Saturday, for the winter. We are sorry to lose them from our village.

Put a Minwool Overcoat on Your Furnace

An Ideal Covering for Steam, Hot Water or Warm Air Units

CONSIDER THESE FACTS

Reduces fuel consumption 20 to 30%.
Increases circulation of warm air in all rooms.
Reduces the dust nuisance.
Prolongs the life of the heating unit.

The saving in fuel will pay the cost of installation in a short time and will in a few years pay for the entire heating plant.

FAUNCE DEMONSTRATION FARM.

During the past week the first lot of trees for the peach orchard were set out. Albertas were the variety, and Belle of Georgia will later complete the season's planting of peach trees.

The poultry department continues to be the center of interest. Several visitors from out of town have come especially to see the chicks, and one purchased a number of cockerels for his pens, the birds to be delivered later.

The potato and corn contests are creating much interest. The seed potatoes have been distributed among the school children, together with printed directions for care of the crop.

The contest includes pupils in the schools at Sandwich, Sagamore, Spring Hill, and Forestdale. Sixty-two are enrolled in the corn club, and sixty-seven in the potato club. One boy from Chatham has also been enrolled.

Garden Insects.

During May and June the asparagus beetle may cause some trouble. They are red with black stripes, and can be controlled by spraying with a solution of paris green and lime, applied at the ratio of 25 lbs. of paris green to 50 gallons of water. Add four lbs. of lime to each pound of paris green. Keep asparagus cut, and spray after cutting season.

Currants and gooseberries will be subject to attack from the green currant worm and plant lice in May and June.

For the former, use Paris green when the leaves are half grown. When the fruit is half grown use insect powder at the ratio of one tablespoonful to a gallon of water. For plant lice use whale oil soap, 1-4 lb. to a gallon of water. Spray thoroughly upper and lower sides of leaves.

Orchard Notes.

Apple scab. Watch out for this, as it ruins the appearance of the fruit. Spray with Bordeaux mixture before blossoming, when the leaf buds are open, but before the flower buds expand. Spray again when the blossoms have fallen, and repeat every two or three weeks if there are any signs of scab.

Don't let the tent caterpillars ruin the looks of your trees by their unsightly nests. Spray them, or cut and burn their nests.

Black Knot. This is on plum trees a difficult disease to overcome, if the trees have been neglected, but easy to overcome if the orchard has received care.

One can keep ahead of the black knot without much trouble by careful and timely use of the pruning knife. Prune in March and in June. Remove and burn all infected limbs.

Wild cherry trees are the breeding places for the black knot, and should be kept out from around the orchard and off the farm entirely. The wild cherry is also a favorite feeding place for the tent caterpillar.

SANDWICH

The Sandwich Winter Club.

The Sandwich Winter club met with Mrs. H. H. Freeman, Marlboro street, Boston, on Thursday, the 14th of May, with 23 members and two guests present. Records of the previous meetings read and approved and the regular business over, the president, Mrs. A. S. Nye, declared a short recess. When the annual meeting of the club was called to order, the secretary in her yearly report stated that during the year the club has held seven regular and one special meeting. A backward glance shows an enlarged membership, multiplied pleasures and a higher standard for our future. This all speaks of progress in 1909 and '10. May we hope for greater things in the coming year. The club has taken for its work this year the restoration of the old town hall at Sandwich, and already more than $1000 has been subscribed toward this end, but the officers of the club are still at work and hope ere long that the desired amount will be pledged, that the old hall may be revovated, not only that the building may bs preserved from further decay, but that it may be made a source of income to the town as well.

The treasurer's report showed that the finances of the club are in good condition. The chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. A. E. Pratt, presented a list of names to be voted on for officers for the ensuing year, and the following were elected: President, Mrs. Augustus S. Nye; secretary, Mrs. Frank E. Bartley; treasurer, Mrs. Henry A. Belcher; and a commite of nine to act during the summer months on matters of finance and other matters of importance, which may arise. Mrs. Ambrose E. Pratt, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. H. H. Freeman, Miss Isabel Wesson, Mrs. Jessie Robinson, Mrs. Jonathan Leonard, Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Mrs. Henry A. Belcher, Mrs. Orrin H. Howland constitute this committee.

The January meeting was observed as "Sandwich day," when a large number contributed most interesting historical or other facts connected with Sandwich, and it was voted to again observe one day the coming club year in the same manner. The same committee as last year, including the president, were appointed to serve on entertainment each month. Mrs. Lizzie L. Chipman, Mrs. Jerome Hill, Miss Julia A. Yard and Mrs. George H. Guest are some of the newer members of the club. A committee of seven were nominated from the floor to have full power to appoint sub committees to arrange some sort of summer function to be held in Sandwich, as has been the custom the past two years. The committee consists of Mrs. Lizzie L. Chipman, Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Miss Isabel Wesson, Mrs. A. S. Brymer, Mrs. Margaret Gibbs, Miss Julia A. Yard, Mrs. Jonathan Leonard. There being no further business the club adjourned to the dining room, where refreshments were served. Mrs. H. H. Freeman, assisted by Miss Louisa D. Burbank, poured tea, and a delightful half hour was spent. The first fall meeting of the club will be held with the president, Mrs. Nye, at her home in Dorchester, the second Thursday in November. These club members with Mrs. Hannah Ryder and Miss Lora Pratt as guests, were present: Mrs. David C. Percival, Mrs. A. B. Vorse, Mrs. R. S. Ford, Mrs. B. D. Webber, Mrs. Henry A. Belcher, Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Mrs C. B. Swift, Mrs. Augustus S. Nye, Mrs. C. W. Spurr, Mrs. E. A. Spring, Mrs. Geo. H. Guest, Mrs. Margaret Gibbs, Mrs. A. E. Pratt, Mrs. Mitchell Wing, Mrs. H. H. Freeman, Mrs. I. H. Ayres, Mrs. Lizzie L. Chipman, Miss Mary E. Nightingale, Mrs. Jessie Robinson, Miss Georgina Broadway, Miss Louisa D. Burbank, Miss Isabel Wesson, Mrs. F. E. Bartley.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

A. W. Doolittle has been chosen president of the Epworth League, succeeding Mrs. S. M. Beale who was unable to accept the office to which she was elected at the annual meeting.

In the Sunday school contest the Blues made a decided gain last Sunday and are now 16 miles ahead of the Reds. The trip will be finished in a few weeks and the return journey will be made on a different basis.

The first quarterly conference was held last evening, Rev. A. J. Coultas, D. D., presiding. Reports were given by the pastor and various church officials and other important business transacted.

Through the efforts of the Epworth League the vestry has been given a thorough cleaning, the ceiling has received a coat of whitewash and other improvements are noted.

The pastor has nearly recovered from his severe attack of rheumatism and was in charge of the prayer meeting Wednesday evening. Next week's topic will be "The Discipline of the Ear."

The pastor's topic next Sunday morning will be "The Danger of Missing the Essential." In the evening there will be a service of unusual interest, with special musical features, including solos by Mrs. Eugene S. Clark and Howard E. Main of Moosup, Conn. The sermon topic will be "Is It Grandmother's Fault." All are invited.

Baseball Notes.

The first game of the Sandwich Baseball Association will be played on the home grounds with the Ostervilles, on May 30.

The lovers of the game are greatly indebted to Michael J. Murphy for the free use of the Casino field for the season, which he has given to the Sandwich Baseball association.

Principal A. J. Maryott of the Sandwich high school and James H. McCann, have been elected official umpires by the executive committee of the association.

The high school team are playing great ball, being victorious in three games out of four so far this season.

Mr. Benjamin F. Denison has been appointed gate keeper and special officer of the Casino field for the coming season.

The Canal.

Rapid progress is still being made on the new railroad bridge at Buzzards Bay, a part of the steel work now being in place. The laying of the new track will be begun soon and before long the trains of the Woods Hole branch will be runing over the new structure.

Fifty Italian laborers arrived last week to work for the Furst-Clark Construction Co. in building dykes and digging trenches. They are stopping in one of the buildings erected by the Gilbert Transportation Co.

The tug Mary Arnold and lighter Ark left here yesterday morning early to work on the breakwater of the Cape Cod canal, but the easterly wind which arose in the course of the day made the water too rough to stay there and they returned about the middle of the afternoon.

The steam lighter, William H. Moody, of Rockport, dropped in here on Friday afternoon last week for coal and water, having been to Sandwich to deliver a cargo of granite for the Cape Cod canal breakwater, the Pigeon Hill Granite Co., of Rockport, having now taken the contract to furnish the stone required.

The tug, Sarah J. Weed, of the fleet of the Gilbert Transportation Co., of Mystic, Ct., which had been lying here all winter since the affairs of the company got so tangled as to call for the offices of a receiver, was towed to Boston last Friday by the tow boat, Mary Arnold, to be disposed of there at the receiver's sale. The Mary Arnold brought back a lighter with a couple of hundred tons of soft coal for Capt. D. H. Craig.

The Ball Game.

The Sandwich high school baseball team journeyed to Falmouth last Saturday, accompanied by a small but loyal crowd of rooters whose enthusiasm fully made up for lack of numbers. The attraction was the second game of the season with the Lawrence high school team of Falmouth which Sandwich high beat handily on the Casino grounds earlier in the season. The game was interesting and exciting from start to finish, and was pulled off in the record time of 1 hour and $ minutes.

Falmouth started the scoring in the first inning with a spectacular home run by Warren. Luckily for Sandwich high there were none on bases when Warren performed this feat. In the third inning a bunching of hits with a few Falmouth errors gave Sandwich high three runs and from that point on they were never headed. Both pitchers pulled themselves out of tight places, the work of Swift in this his first game being highly creditable. Ellis had a shade the better of the argument and his suuport by his team as a whole was first class. The features of the game was the work of both pitchers, neither allowing a base on balls throughout the entire contest. Warren's home run and his good work in left and Lumbert's playing of second base were features for Falmouth, while the whole Sandwich infield played a rattling "get-together" game, Tinkham's work at first base being especially good. The Sandwich high "locomotive" yell made a hit at Falmouth as it did at Cotuit, the "Cheer with Spirit," song sounded well, and a new chorus to the tune of "Cheer for Old Amherst" was a winner. Here it is:

"Cheer for Old Sandwich,
Sandwich must win,
Fight to the finish,
Never give in.
You do your best, boys,
We'll do the rest, boys,
Fight on for victory."
Rah! Rah! Rah!"

The score in detail was as follows:

For Fourth of July.

The concert and entertainment given Friday evening for the benefit of the Fourth of July fund brought out a good sized audience to the Sandwich Casino. The chief attraction of the evening was the music of the Keith Car and Mfg. Co. band of Sagamore, and their playing, under the efficient leadership of Mace Gay, was all that could be desired, showing a degree of proficiency that would have been exceedingly creditable to a much older organization.

The cornet solo of Mr. Gay, the stump speech of Mr. Whitman, the numbers of Messrs. H. F. and A. J. Morse, and H. B. Smith, and the selections of the Sandwich male quartet were also greatly enjoyed. The latter group of singers was comprised of Messrs. James H. and Thomas F. Kelleher, James H. McCann and Robert T. Brady, and the appreciation of the audience was shown by repeated encores.

The program of the concert was the following:

March, "Dandy Fifth," overture, "The Bridal Rose;" stump speech; I. H. Whitman; selection, "Operatoc Mingle;" solo for cornet, "Honeysuckle," Mace Gay; quartet, Sandwich male quartet; overture, "Mignonette;" march, "I've Got Rings on My Fingers;" musical sketch, Messrs. Morse and Smith; medley overture, "War Songs;" selection, "Little Duchess;" march, "2d Regt. P. M."

The entertainment was followed by a social dance, music being furnished by McCann's orchestra.

A new business has been started in Sandwich by Robert Nokle, who will drive through this and adjoining villages with butter, cheese and eggs. Mr. Nokle has spent the greater part of his life here, being well and favorably known to our townspeople, and we bespeak for him a generous patronage. He is a brother of Miss Nokle, the popular milliner, who has built up a successful business here, and by carrying strictly first-class goods and selling at popular prices, expects to succeed in his new enterprise.

J. Edward Brackett, a well known Grand Army man, and brother-in-law of Levi S. Nye, passed away at his home in Everett last week. The body was brought to Sandwich for interment Friday and was accompanied by Mr. Brackett's two nieces, Mrs. H. L. Wright of Malden and Mrs. J. A. Holway of Barnstable, and their husbands. The deceased is survived by an only brother, William H. Brackett.

W. F. Denison is superintending the grading on the grounds surrounding the new Weston Memorial library.

Miss Abbie F. Nye of the Charlestown high school spent the week-end at her home on Spring Hill.

Mrs. Elizabeth Frances, wife of Edward Gibbs, passed away Tuesday at the Massachusetts General hospital, where she had been taken for treatment. Funeral services are held today (Friday) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gibbs.

Mrs. George E. Noyes of Hyde Park is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Chipman, at "Orchard Knoll."

The friends of Miss Anna McCann gave that young lady a surprise party on the evening of May 11th.

Rev. H. L. Pickett and L. P. Crocker were the speakers at the monthly meeting of the Men's club, held Tuesday evening at the Methodist vestry. Both addresses were greatly enjoyed.

ELECTRICITY THE CHEAPEST LIGHT

Electric light has always been known as the best, safest, cleanest and most convenient form of illumination; but the expense has kept many from using it.

Recent discoveries have so reduced the cost that anyone can now afford to light his home by this method.

Another Fire.

The fifth early morning fire within the past year was discovered shortly after 1 o'clock, Tuesday morning, in the grocery and provision store of Mark H. F. Ellis, on Jarves street. The alarm was immediately sounded and many of the citizens were soon on the scene. As is always the case, some efficient and heroic service was performed by the volunteer fire fighters, and although the store of Mr. Ellis was nearly consumed, the tall Keenan building, less than five feet away, was unharmed.

Both the building and stock of Mr. Ellis were practically a total loss, but were partially covered by insurance.

Mr. Ellis is one of our live and hustling business men, and much sympathy is felt for him in his misfortune.

The Canal.

Wednesday of this week marked the first anniversary of the visit of New York capitalists to Cape Cod, when August Belmont turned the first shovelful of earth on the grounds of Hon. W. A. Nye at Bournedale. The promise made at that time by Mr. Belmont that the work would be completed in less than four years now seems probable of fulfillment. At that time the only active work was being done on the breakwater, which was partially completed last fall. Barges and schooners are now constantly unloading stone, and the breakwater already extends some 1200 feet from the shore.

The land excavators have completed the work of removing the surface material as far west as the Sagamore beach road, at which point the work will be suspended until after the travel of the summer season is over These machines will be transported across the road and again put in operation on the line of the pond east of the Keith Car Works in the direction of Bournedale.

The big suction dredges are following along through the Scussett marshes at a rapid rate, leaving a real water way behind them from the northern entrance for nearly a mile. The big steel trestles of the railroad drawbridge at Buzzards Bay are now being erected and dredging of Buzzards Bay channel continues almost constantly day and night, while tugs are towing the material on scows to the dumping ground between Dry ledge and Abial's ledge.

Yesterday the highway bridge between Buzzards Bay and Monument Beach was opened for the first time to allow the passage of a dredge, which will work toward the village of Bourne.

Outing at The Hermitage.

On Saturday and Sunday, June 11th and 12th, our fellow townsman, Thos. Burton Kinraide, entertained at his country residence, The Hermitage, on the shores of Spectacle pond, the Williams club of Boston, of which he is the president. The party of thirty came from the city in the driving rain storm by automobiles by way of Plymouth, making the run in good time and with no serious mishap.

The party found good cheer, warmth and refreshment awaiting them and soon forgot the storm. The day was spent mostly in indoor sports though some of the more ardent sportsmen dressed in oilskins braved the rain and tried their luck at fishing. Landlord Cooney of the Central house, Sandwich, with a corps of attendants provided bountiful meals and lunches of seasonable and tempting eatables and provided for the inner man. In the evening an initiation ceremony was performed for the benefit of two new members and the party joined in song and story.

On Sunday, in the morning the weather was more propitious and the party spent the time in walks about the estate, in boating on the pond and in entertaining visiting friends. At three o'clock a special meeting of the club convened and a suitably framed picture of the late William H. Williams for whom the club was named was presented to Mr. Kinraide in the name of the club. It was announced in course of the presentation that at the same hour a wreath was being laid on the grave of Brother Williams at Forest Hills. It may be interesting to note that the club is a voluntary self-supporting association of members of Joseph Webb lodge, F. & A. M., Boston, who meet at stated times during the year for sociability, the purpose of the organization being primarily to exemplify certain social principles entertained by Brother Williams and to promote sociability among its members, affording an opportunity to make and perpetuate friendships.

At all meetings, which are held as nearly as practicable on the 12th of the month, Brother Williams' birthday having been on June 12th, a toast is given to the memory of Brother Williams and appropriate remarks and reminiscences given by some member of the club, which includes many of his personal friends. It may be remembered that in his will he gave the residue of his large property to the Grand lodge of Masons in Massachusetts for the establishment of a Masonic Home for needy members of the fraternity, which will no doubt later be incorporated into and be made a part of the Masonic home established by the Grand lodge at Charlton, Mass. Mr. Kinraide was one of the founders, and has been the president of the club since its formation.

After the presentation the meeting adjourned to partake of a banquet prepared by Landlord Cooney, and served in a spacious tent erected for the purpose. Suitable resolutions were offered tendering the thanks of the members and guests to Mr. Kinraide, and to the members of his household who contributed to the success of the outing. Mr. Kinraide in his response gave an entertaining description of the historic region in and about Sandwich, touching upon the King Philip war and relating anecdotes of former residents, Webster, Cleveland and Jefferson.

After dinner adjournment was made to the camp, where a social evening was passed. A few of the guests returned to Boston by the afternoon train, but a majority remained over night making a leisurely journey home by way of Plymouth and the south shore, taking leave of their host at his home in Jamaica Plain, where they personally expressed to Mr. Kinraide and his family their appreciation for the courtesies extended to them.

Rennell-Tilden.

"In St. Stephen's church last evening, Miss Marie Cecilia Tilden, daughter of Mr. Goerge Conrad Tilden of Philadelphia, was married to Mr. Henry Hurd Rennell, son of Mrs. Frank W. Rennell of Bridgeport, Conn., and a great grandson of the late Phineas T. Barnum. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Johnson of the church of the Savior of Philadelphia, in the presence of about one hundred relatives and intimate friends.

The decorations of the church were palms and daisies. The bride wore a gown of white satin and a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sisters, Misses Eleanor and Margie Tilden, and Miss Mildred Rennell, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Eleanor Tilden was in pale blue chiffon over satin of the same shade. The other attendants wore pink chiffon over satin of the same shade, and carried baskets of pink roses. Mr. Niel Benham of Bridgeport was the best man. The ushers were, Messrs. John Tilden, brother of the bride and Wilmot Wheeler of Bridgeport."

Mr. and Mrs. Rennell are well known here, the groom having been a former member of the engineering force on the Cape Cod canal, and the bride a summer resident for the last few years. Their many Sandwich friends extend congratulations.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Another cake sale will be held by the members of the Ladies' Aid society, at Miss Silsby's store on Friday afternoon, July 1.

A meeting for the probationers of the church was held Tuesday evening.

The Sunday school has purchased kindergarten chairs for the primary department, an improvement that will be appreciated by the children.

The pastor's subject next Sunday morning will be, "The Narrow Blanket," and in the evening, "The Outside of the Platter." Next Wednesday evening's prayer meeting topic will be, "The Cave in the Field."

Last Sunday was observed as children's day and the auditorium was especially decorated for the occasion, oak boughs, wild flowers and potted plants being used. At the close of the morning service, two children were baptized by the pastor, and the first part of the Sunday school hour was given up to the Cradle Roll. A few words of welcome by the superintendent were followed by an appropriate scripture reading by Doris Smith and an exercise, "That's Baby," by Beatrice Coburn, Charlie Hilliard, Decrevi Oldham and Esther Pierce. Certificates of membership in the Cradle Roll department were then presented 12 new members.

Sunday evening an unusually entertaining and enjoyable concert was held with the following program:

Death of Dr. Johnson.

A recent number of the Watertown (Wis.) Gazette contains notice of the sudden death of Dr. Edward Johnson of that place and an extended and appreciative obituary notice. Dr. Johnson will be remembered by many of our readers, having been a frequent visitor in years past at the home of Selectman George T. McLaughlin. His last visit to Sandwich was eight years ago, when he attended the first old home week celebration here.

Dr. Johnson was born in Killaloe, County Clare, Ireland, July 21, 1822, coming to American at the age of 14. He first located in New York, afterward living in several other states, before going to Wisconsin. In 1844 he located in Watertown and engaged in the drug business, retaining that business for nearly 30 years, when he retired with a well earned competency.

Dr. Johnson was a public spirited man and contributed generously of his means to charitable objects. At one time he gave the sum of $1000 to the land league fund of Ireland and in all sent thousands of dollars to his native country to aid the cause so dear to his heart. He founded a scholarship at Notre Dame, Ind., and was a liberal supporter of St. Bernard's church at Watertown donating statuary and a number of costly sacred articles used in connection with Catholic services, and also erected a fine school for St. Bernard's congregation. The amount of his benevolences was fully $40,000 for educational and charitable purposes.

Dr. Johnson was the last member of his immediate family to pass away but is survived by a number of nephews and nieces.

Congregational Church.

Martsi Pipassi and Miss Ida Makela were married at the parsonage Thursday of last week.

At the parish meeting held Monday evening, it was decided to discontinue the Sunday evening services for a few weeks on account of Rev. Mr. Robertson's eye troubles.

The pastor will preach next Sunday morning. No evening service.

Mrs. Louis B. Jones has returned to Attleboro after a brief visit here. Her daughter, Miss Virginia Jones, is spending a week with her aunts, the Misses Jones, at their home on Main street.

Rev. and Mrs. John Oldham have returned to New Bedford after a few days' stay with their son, Supt. J. R. D. Oldham.

Mrs. Robert A. Goffin of Woods Hole has been the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Murphy.

The hosts of friends of Postmaster Charles E. Brady are pleased to learn that he is recovering from an operation recently performed at a hospital in Boston.

Admiral and Mrs. L. A. Frailey, Pay Inspector and Mrs. Carpenter, Miss Clark and Miss Carpenter of Washington, D. C., arrived last week at the Freeman farm. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Clark and Miss Freeman, who have been at Miss Newcomb's for the winter months, have also returned to the farm for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Saunders, formerly of Galveston, Texas, now residents of Sandwich, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter.

W. W. Bourne has resumed work at the Keith Car plant, after an enforced absence of two weeks on account of illness.

Mrs. A. E. Boyden and Master Willard Boyden are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meigs at Lakewood.

Supt. J. R. D. Oldham and L. P. Crocker attended the Normal school commencement at Hyannis Monday. From all accounts the address of Mr. Crocker on that occasion was the most enjoyable feature of the day.

Melinda, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin T. Ellis, met with a painful accident, Tuesday falling from a wagon and breaking her collar bone and injuring one side of her face. Dr. S. M. Beale rendered surgical aid and the patient is now improving.

Mrs. Terry and the Misses Terry of Englewood, N. J., have arrived for the summer.

Mrs. Benjamin Irwin returned Sunday from Kingston, making the trip with Dr. and Mrs. George W. Bosin their touring car. All are glad to learn that Mrs. Irwin is greatly improved in health.

The engagement is announced of Frank L. Jones, formerly of this town and Miss Ida Adams of White Plains, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose E. Pratt and Miss Pratt will attend the commencement exercises at Dartmouth, one of the graduates being Everard S. Pratt.

Mrs. Mattie Elizabeth Hauser, wife of James M. Hauser, and daughter of Mrs. Rose E. Swift, passed away recently at her home in East Boston. The body was brought to Sandwich for interment.

The common schools closed last Friday and the various teachers have returned to their respective homes for the summer vacation. The High school closes this week and the graduating exercises will be held Monday evening at the Casino.

Mrs. J. W. Crocker has been the recent guest of friends in Barnstable.

The Boston Post of Monday contained a portrait and interesting sketch of S. Curtis Smith, master of the English High school, who retires this month from his life work of teaching. Mr. Smith will spend much of his time at his summer home in Spring Hill.

Preparations are being made for the most elaborate Fourth of July celebration Sandwich has ever witnessed. Watch this column next week for the full program.

NEW ENGLAND CORN EXPOSITION

The premium list giving list of regular premiums, valuable specials, and other information concerning the New England Corn Exposition to be Held at Worcester, Massachusetts, November 7th-12th, 1910, is now ready for distribution. A copy can be had by addressing the secretary, William D. Hurd, Amherst, Massachusetts.

A NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Public Court Trial In Which Prominent People Will Participate.

Among the most successful and popular entertainments of the times are the mock court trials given under the direction of an expert, Col. A. V. Newton, the well-known lawyer-lecturer of Worcester.

Many cities in various parts of the country have been greatly excited over this, as attested by the lengthy and favorable reports in the leading newspapers, and best of all by the great audiences that have packed the largest halls and opera houses to the doors; in many cases the interest being so great that every seat has been sold in advance and hundreds turned away unable even to obtain standing room.

One of these popular entertainments will be given under the auspices of Sandwich Village Improvement society, in the Casino, on Friday evening, July 8th.

It will be assumed that one of the most respected and prominent citizens of the town has been trifling with the affections of a young and beautiful widow and will have to answer to the breach of promise suit brought against him, and there will be fun without limit.

Indeed, it is safe to predict that it will be many moons before the walls of the Casino will again re-echo with so much laughter as will be heard on that occasion. Additional interest will be created i nthe trial from the fact that a large number of prominent people will be participants. All the rules of a regular court of justice will be observed.

New Church Dedicated

ST. MARGARET'S CATHOLIC CHURCH, BUZZARDS BAY

CHURCH DEDICATED

The formal dedication of St. Margaret's church, Buzzards Bay, took place on Sunday morning, July 4, in the presence of several visiting clergymen and of a congregation that completely filled the beautiful edifice that has been erected under the direction of the Rev. Joseph P. Lyons. The ceremony of dedication was performed by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Feehan of Fall River.

The litanies were chanted by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Cassidy and Rev James M. Coffey.

The solemn High mass(coram episcopo) was sung by the Rev. J. P. Lyons rector of Corpus Christi, church, Sandwich, the Rev. James M. Coffey, St. Mary's, New Bedford, deacon; the Rev. James R. Burns, subdeacon; the Rev. James Carr, Taunton, master of ceremonies.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop had as assistants, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Cassidy, V.G., and Rev. Dr. Bradley of Fall River. Minor officers were Francis Swansey, cross bearer; Leo Murphy, thurifer; Torquato Bassinotti and Alfred Govoni acolytes.

The music was rendered by the choir from Corpus Christi church Sandwich, under the direction of Theresa McLaughlin. A splendid sermon on the constitution of the church was delivered by the Rt. Rev. Bishop. The services ended by Solemn Benediction of the most Blessed Sacrament.

The new chapel at Buzzards Bay sets back about 75 feet from the main road. The property is extensive so as to permit of further building development should it become necessary in the future. The new structure is of the Spanish mission style of architecture reduced to simple terms in keeping with the character of the surroundings. The facade, of the church is distinguished by a triple entrance of arcaded character surmounted by a projecting hood of interesting design. In the shadow of this hood and embodied in the cement surfaces between the arches are decorative tiles, illustrating the symbols of the four Evangelists. In the gable of the front is a large lunette of the Madonna and Child. A simple cross surmounts the gable. Defining the facade and at intervals along the sides of the chapel are panels of lattice work of a rich brown color stain characteristic of the interior. A belfry towards the chancel end serves to give a vertical accent to the composition. The color of the cement is a rich buff which harmonizes agreeably with the dark shade of the roof. The chapel has an accommodation for 350 sittings independently of the music gallery. The chancel is unusually spacious and is distinguished by an altar of singularly interesting design. The enrichment is in low relief and is based on the beautiful Italian Byzantine ornament. A well appointed sacristy is provided in such a relation as to admit of independent communication with the chapel. Two recessed confessionals are provided for, and one is at present actually installed.

An interesting scheme of mural tinting gives a very mellow and devotional interior. The glass of the windows is of an amber tone; the walls are of a buff color, approximating Spanish leather and the chancel is of olive green, throwing the white altar into high relief. A rich dorsal with gold galloon border is placed on the wall under that back of the tabernacle, thus focusing the whole interest of the chapel.

The foundation is of concrete construction; a spacious boiler and coal room is located under the sacristy. A system of heating and ventilating satisfactory to the state authorities has been installed.

The plans are from Maginnis & Walsh, famous church architects of Boston, Mass. The church was constructed by Thomas F. Kelleher, general contractor of Sandwich, Mass.

SANDWICH

SANDWICH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

On Monday, July 12, the society holds its annual meeting with the election of officers. Following this a special paper will be read. All members are requested to make an effort to attend.

WINTER CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

The annual summer function of the Sandwich Winter club will take place at Town hall, Wednesday evening, July 14.

The entertainer will be Mrs. Frank A. Morrill, a soprano singer, who comes highly recommended, and gives folk songs of the nations, illustrated by songs sung in the various languages, French, German, Italian, Welch, Old English, Bavarian, American, Swedish, Russian, Indian.

Mrs. Morrill gives an interesting, as well as educational talk on the folk songs of the different countries previous to her songs. Mrs. Derrick, accompanist to Mrs. Morrill, gives two groups of piano solos, and is a pianist of high merit and the music lovers of Sandwich and vicinity have a rare treat in store.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Next Sunday the pastor will preach morning and evening. Morning subject, "A Prophecy of Isaiah." Evening subject, "Piety and Patriotism." all are welcome.

The sewing bee met this week with Miss Carrie Crocker.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Christian Spirit in Every Part of Life," taking for his text Roman 12-1. The evening subject will be "Two Young Men."

Next week Thursday, July 15, the Ladies' Aid will hold a sale of fancy and useful articles at the Casino, afternoon and evening. Among the attractions will be a table of Japanese goods, including kimonos, pictures and fancy articles, and there will also be well stocked cake and candy tables.

A most enjoyable and profitable patriotic service was held Sunday evening. The pastor presided and the speakers included P. T. Brown, who told of his experiences at the Gettysburg reunion two years ago, and Rev. Robert R. Kendall who gave an address upon "America as a Chistian Nation." Some very fine music was rendered by the choir, assisted by several other singers.

Rev. J. I. Bartholomew, Ph.D., District Superintendent, will take charge of the mid-week service next Wednesday evening, and later hold the quarterly conference.

A CARD

Mr. Kinraide wishes to thank all who assisted in fighting the fire near "The Hermitage" on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Wing of Newton announce the engagement of their daughter, Esther, to Donald P. Beardsley, of Ithaca, N. Y. Mr. Beardsley is a graduate of Cornell University, class of 1913. Miss Wing was recently hostess at a luncheon, at her home, 115 Hunnewell avenue, and her engagement was made known to the intimate friends who were her guests.

DOPE FOR FANS

Sandwich defeated Plymouth A. A. on Saturday last at Casino Field by the score of 10 to 4. Tinkham was in the box for the home team and pitched a mighty good game. The whole team showed lots of "pep" and barring a couple of lapses, gave a fine exhibition of baseball.

Sandwich was defeated on the holiday by the fast Tremont A. C. of New Bedford. Ellis did not appear to be in his best form but should have won his game with proper support. The errors of the home players proved very costly.

On Saturday next, July 10, there will be a game between Harwich and Sandwich on Casino Field. Game will be called at 2:30 p. m. We are looking for a win.

S. B. Corr has resigned as secretary and treasurer of the association and Charles L. Buckley was elected to the office.

Charles McCormick severed his connections with the team on July 4 and Thomas F. Montague was elected manager in his place for the remainder of the season.

OLD COLONY UNION

The attention of the members of the Sandwich branch of the Old Colony Union is called to the following schedule of classes for the summer of 1915.

Tuesday—Embroidery and needlework; Wednesday, basketry; Thursday, weaving. If you wish to join any of those classes please send in your names at once as no class will be started unless there are ten or more applicants.

BUCKLEY-BURKE

The wedding of William J. Buckley to Miss Katherine E. Burke took place at St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The bride was attired in white voile and a picture hat and her bridesmaid, Miss Elizabeth J. Burke, wore white voile over pink crepe de chine with a pink hat The best man was Frank Buckley of Sandwich, brother of the groom. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parent, Mr. and Mrs. John Burke. Relatives and friends were present from Boston, Charlestown, Sandwich, Providence, New Bedford and Southington, Conn. Many beautiful and costly presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Buckley immediately departed on their wedding trip and after their return will reside at 76 Atlantic street, New Bedford, where they will be at home to their friends after August 1.

The bride is a popular Wareham girl and for a number of years has been in the employ of E. N. Thompson & Co. Mr. Buckley is an employee at the Star Store in New Bedford. Their many friends unite in extending congratulations.

Fletcher Clark, Jr., will attend the military training camp for business and professional men at Plattsburg, N. Y., this summer. This camp is to be held under the direct supervision of officers of the United States Army, its main purpose being to offer an opportunity for business and professional men to prepare themselves for efficient service to the country in case of need, the training being especially to qualify to serve as officers should the emergency arise. This movement has the strong endorsement of Gen. Leonard Wood and very many prominent men, and will equip men for greater efficiency and usefulness in meeting the obligations already upon them as citizens of the United States. The training at Plattsburg will be held from August 10 to September 6.

Miss Ruth Talbot is visiting friends in Portland, Me., for a few weeks.

A large force of men from this and other villages were summoned to a fire at South Sandwich Tuesday afternoon. The blaze started in the Pinkham pines and at one time threatened "The Hermitage," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kinraide. Fortunately the flames were soon extinguished, and comparatively little damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Parker and family of Providence are spending two weeks at Mrs. C. H. Parker's.

Mrs. F. E. Bartley of Norwood is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Burbank.

DISTINGUISHED MUSICALE

Wednesday evening at the Swift Memorial church, a concert of unusual excellence was given with the following artists: John E. Macknight, flutist; John G. Chipman, tenor; Miss Ruth Freed, soprano; Mrs. S. J. Hurley, contralto. Miss Marie T. Garland also contributed to the evenings, pleasure, reading a thoughtful and instructive paper on "The Psychology of the Present Unrest." The concert was well worth a filled house and it is unfortunate that there should have been even one vacant seat. Evidently Sagamore people do not appreciate good music. The playing of Mr. Macknight of the Boston Symphony orchestra, from every viewpoint was of the highest order of excellence, and won him most enthusiastic applause. The flute with its tender and sympathetic tone is one of the most delightful instruments. In all his numbers Mr. Macknight displayed the skill and talent of the artist, his playing was characterized throughout by most careful considerations for nuance and delicacy of shading. His tone and style are of admirable purity, and he plays with true abandon, never forcing his tone beyond the true capacity of his instrument. With Mr. Macknight the flute is at all times in the hands of a master. His accompanist was Mrs. Tibbetts of Boston.

Mr. Chipman always delights his audience. His voice has gained in body and power of expression since last we heard him in Sandwich, and it is with sincere pleasure that we note his constant advance. Mr. Chipman's voice is of fine tenor quality and range, sonorous and pleasing, and he always displays intelligence in the use of his vocal mechanism and keen perception in the art of interpretation "For Life and Death" gave him an admirable opportunity for the display of color and intensity. Mr. Chipman possesses a delightful repose and shows the result of serious study of himself and his art.

Miss Freed, the soprano, was most warmly and enthusiastically received and gave much pleasure in her songs. It is obvious that nature has richly blessed her with a voice of great range and a pleasing personality. She has a beautiful voice, capable of great variety of color in matters of style and delivery. She has been well taught, being delightfully free from that fussy restlessness that so often possesses young singers. In the "Il Baccio" Miss Freed was at her best, showing the remarkable range of her voice taking the D above high C with most consummate ease. In all her singing Miss Freed gives augury of a very artistic and enviable career to follow.

Mrs. Hurley was the contralto soloist and sang her songs expressively and in good taste, receiving generous applause. The accompanying of Miss Swift added much to the pleasure of the evening.

Thanks are due the various artists who contributed their services, and to Mrs. H. Myhre, who had charge of the entertainment.

Arbor and Bird Day Celebrations

On Tuesday morning at nine o'clock the faculty and students of the Normal school and the teachers and children of the Training school marched to the new playgrounds on South street to comply with the proclamation of Governor McCall by the celebration of Arbor and Bird day.

It thus became possible to celebrate at the same time May day and since these were the first exercises to be held on these grounds it was decided to consider them in a way dedicatory exercises as well.

The exercises were brief and simple but the surroundings and associations helped to make them very effective. After each class had marched into the place assigned, the Normal school sang the first stanza of "America." The second and third stanzas were sung by Mr. Currier's class and all joined in singing the last.

Mrs. Eldredge's class led in repeating the 23d Psalm and all joined in the Lord's Prayer.

Principal Baldwin made brief remarks, saying to the children that men in town whom they did not know were interested in them and anxious to help them and that whenever any boy or girl in town did a good thing some of these men heard about it and were glad.

Postmaster Edward F. Maher made a few very appropriate remarks about the Playground and read the names of the fifteen contributors.

The Normal school sang their song and the bonfire was lighted.

After watching this for a few minutes all marched back to their places to continue the work of the day.

These exercises were practically impromptu, each class contributing something which it had been accustomed to give in its own room. In fact, the children did not know of the exercises until they arrived and were told that they were to march with the others. The uncertainty of the weather made it impossible to plan ahead. Prin. Baldwin expressed his regret that this uncertainty had made it seem unwise to invite the public to join with the schools in these exercises.

Board of Trade

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade was held Wednesday evening. After the regular business was transacted L. B. Boston of the Cape Cod Farm bureau and Miss Elsie Trabue, secretary of the Home Economics department of the Farm bureau, talked very interestingly and instructively on Agriculture and what can be done to help the community in the present crisis.

In response to a general invitation sent out by the Board of Trade a goodly number of citizens were present and this was considered one of the most helpful meetings of the many being held at this time.

Home Gardening

Seventy-five young people, 50 from the training school and twenty-five from the High, have signified their intention to make home gardens this season and we are glad to announce that L. K. Paine of the Port has consented to supervise their work.

Plans are being made for a local exhibition of garden products and the work of the canning clubs in addition to that at the Barnstable fair and prizes will be offered for excellence in gardening effort as well as in the actual products.

Further details will be announced later.

Auto Accident

Harry Young, our well-known street cleaner, while attending to his duties on Tuesday afternoon in front of A. C. Hallett's store, was struck by an automobile driven by Carleton Ryder and had one leg broken and was badly bruised. He is at the Hyannis hospital and Road Commissioner Taylor is having all done for him that is possible.

Wide-Awake Club Dance

The May dance given by the Wide-Awake club in Masonic hall on Friday evening was a great success.

In the receiving line were Mrs. James Otis, Miss Herselia Bassett, and Mrs. William Whitney. The hall was handsomely decorated with May baskets and roses. The dainty gowns of the young ladies added much to the beauty of the picture.

There was a very good attendance and all passed a very pleasant evening. Music was by Loring's orchestra of Plymouth.

S. N. C. Banquet

The Saturday Night club held its annual banquet at Camp Opechee inn, Centerville, on Friday evening. All enjoyed one of Landlord Starck's good dinners and a most enjoyable informal evening was passed. This marks an other pleasant milestone in the history of the club.

Miss Irma Coleman, who has been employed at the W. D. Baker department store the past year, has entered the employ of L. B. Boston of the Cape Cod Farm bureau.

Mrs. Ethel Harding of Boston is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lambert.

The Social Workers of the Congregational church met at the home of C. H. Nye on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. C. Milton Chase entertained a few friends on Saturday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. William J. MacLean of Fredericton, N. B., who was her guest. Vida's many friends are always glad to welcome her back to her girlhood's home.

Mrs. George Edwards, who is very seriously ill with peritonitis, is at the Hyannis hospital for treatment. We hope to hear of her improvement soon.

While at work at the fish wharf at the foot of Pleasant street, Charles H. Eldridge had the misfortune to fall from the wharf, striking his head on an anchor on the beach. At the present writing we do not know his condition, but understand he was quite seriously hurt.

The What-so-Ever circle of King's daughters met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Julia Baxter. The ladies are planning ways to raise funds for future calls for their good work. We hope they will meet with a generous response.

Mrs. Judah Crowell spent several days in Boston this week.

Charles A. Gibbs of West Newton spent the week-end at his home here. He has enlisted in the coast artillery and expects soon to be called into active service.

Arthur D. Murray and Chester Murray of the naval reserves spent the week-end at their homes in South Hyannis.

Miss Mary Murray, who has been spending a week with her parents, Mr and Mrs. Robert Murray, returned to her school duties in Maynard on Sunday afternoon.

William J. Hallett and sisters are vacating the present week their home, the recently acquired property of the town. This property had long been in the family. The house, built by Josiah Parker formerly occupied the north east corner of the lot, very near the street. About 30 years ago Capt. Willian Allen Hallett, Mr. Parker's son-in-law, moved it to its present location, making at that time additions and improvements, and moving from Cambridge to make this a permanent home. The [illegible] is already making some neces[illegible]hanges. Mr. Hallett and sisters [illegible]occupy later the east side of the [illegible]Juliet A. Lewis residence.

Mulford [illegible]ll has returned from Worcester, [illegible]he has spent the past few months [illegible]his daughter, and is staying with h[illegible] sister, Mrs. Edmund Robinson.

The estate of the late Frank W. Loring will be sold at public auction July 7. See advertisement in this issue.

Hyannis Woman's Club

The Art department held its last regular meeting for the year on Tuesday evening, when Mrs. William Lovell spoke upon the subject "Practical hints for our own flower gardens." Mrs. Lovell made her views espcciallly clear in using as an illustration of her subject her own garden and discussing to the enlightenment of her listeners the problems with which she has had to deal personally.

The results are evident, as Mr. and Mrs. Lovell's is one of the very attractive places on the street.

The members of the department made the program of the year in its fourteen numbers under the subject Gardens interesting and delightful, and will continue the study next year more in detail, applying it to home and village. The subject is to be "The Village Beautiful."

The Domestic Science department held its last regular meeting on Friday afternoon. Mrs. John R. Baxter was the hostess and served ice-cream and sponge and angel cakes.

The department members have some very nice articles in bags knitting and basketry, as a result of busy afternoons. They have also given some time to the subject, "Decoration of the Home," and furnishad a speaker who gave before the club an interesting and practical lecture upon "interior decoration," which was appreciated.

Miss Elsie Trabue gave an interesting talk on Kitchen Economics at the Woman's club rooms Thursday afternoon. Quite a number were in attendance and many questions were asked Miss Trabue. This is the first of a series of talks along this line which Miss Trabue will give at the club rooms, to which it is hoped all interested will come. Hyannis and this entire section is more fortunate than many places in having a helper and instructor like Miss Trabue on the spot at this important crisis, and the Cape is greatly indebted to the kind benefactor who makes this service possible.

The Literary department held its last meeting on Monday evening. This was a special meeting, called to discuss some changes in the department by-laws. The officers for the coming year are: Chairman, Mrs. Isadore Eldridge; vice-chairman, Mrs. Emma Goss; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ella L. Bond. Misses Agnes O'Neil and Madeline Hamblen had the lesson for the evening.

The General culb met on Tuesday afternoon. As this meeting practically closes the work of the club year, it was a very busy but interesting meeting. The reports of the various departments on their work for the year, the reports of all standing committees and the yearly reports of club officers were read and were extremely gratifying. It has been, in many ways, a hard year for all officers and members but the great amount of work accomplished is little short of wonderful.

Especially gratifying was the report of the treasurer, who reported such a good balance that the club was able to vote $340 toward the debt of the new building. Twenty-five dollars was voted for the Open Forum lectures for next year, besides a sum to help in the movement for the children's garden work to be done this summer, and it was voted to donate other sums later if needed.

Mrs. Lucy A. R. Baker, in memory of her daughter, Miss Mabel Baker, who was a charter member of the club, presented two pictures for the department room. One is a Medici prnit, "The Aurora," by Hoppner. This was a portrait of a very beautiful woman, Lady Hamilton of England, who represented Aurora. The other, the exact size of the Aurora, is a hand-colored photograph of Abbott Trayer's "Caritas," or Charity. The original of this is in the Art Museum of Boston, and represents a beautiful woman standing with each hand on the head of a little child. They were both framed in wide oak frames to match the finish of the club rooms. The subjects were especially appropriate as "Aurora" represents the dawn of a new day, so this year represents a new era for the Woman's club, and like Charity they aim to do good and especially to uplift and help the young people in whatever way possible.

It was voted that the club, as a club join the Red Cross society of Boston, and work for the soldiers under direction of that society during the summer, and as long as necessary. The club rooms will be open during the summer for this work.

It was also voted to give the King's Daughters the use of the club rooms June 1 for an entertainment.

President: Mrs. Satilla H. Smith.

Recording Secretary: Mrs. Martha Rich.

Corresponding Secretary: Miss Helen L. Bayley.

Treasurer: Mrs. Hattie Guyer.

Auditing Committee: Mrs. Emma Goss.

Sandwich

Adjourned Town Meeting

The business of the annual town meeting, which was adjourned until May 5, was completed Saturday afternoon. For a special meeting the attendance was unusually good.

Moderator Joseph B. McArdle was in the chair and the first business called for was Art. 17, relative to the extensive of the plank walk to the beach. The report of the committee was read by Charles E. Brady, chairman of the board of selectmen, showing that the proposed extension would cost $350. Without discussion the matter was indefinitely postponed.

Under the following article the selectmen had been appointed a committee to confer with the Waterways commission to see what action could be taken to open up the channel from the harbor to the town landing and Sandwich Freezer plant. The report was read by Selectman George F. Dennis, but no action was taken.

Article 20 was to see if the town would vote to appoint a committee, to consist of the selecmen and four others to be appointed by them to investigate the most feasible and direct way for a new road to the present canal wharf, and this report was read by Selectman Dennis, recommending as a substitute for the new road a substantial improvement on Tupper road, from Main street to the private way leading to the canal. The article called forth a lengthy discussion and a number of motions, but the whole matter was finally indefinitely postponed.

Article five, concerning appropriations, was taken from the table and the following additional amounts raised: Town hall, $144.52; moths, $18; pauper account, 1916 bills, $113.

Under Article 24, relative to the enlargement of the vault at the town office, a report was read by Selectman Dennis, and accepted, but further action was postponed until the next annual town meeting.

Article 33, relative to the town pump was next acted upon and an estimate of the cost given by Selectman Brady. It was voted to make an apropriation of $50 for the same, after which the meeting adjourned.

Unitarian Notes

The subject of next Sunday's sermon will be "Moral Preparedness." In this sermon Mr. Kukhi will discuss the home, the community, and the nation as each having the part to play in protecting its youth, who in time of war are exposed to all forms of moral dangers.

Next Sunday afternoon at 5, vespers will be held in the church. Subject, "Syria." A collection will be taken which will go to help the poor Syrians who are seeking an education.

Mr. Kukhi has been elected a member of the American Oriental society. This society is composed mostly of professors interested in Oriental history and literature. This is another upward step for Mr. Kukhi, and I think all interested persons should show by their attendance at the services their appreciation of our minister's ambition in striving to bring to the church his very best.

Mrs. Helen Holway and Mrs. Jerome Holway will entertain the Alliance in an all day session at the church parlor on Thursday, May 17.

Congregational Church

Next Sunday morning there will be preaching by the pastor. In the evening will be continued the account of the work for the soldiers in the trenches in Europe. This is a story full of interest and well worth hearing.

Sunday school at 11:45 a. m.

All are welcome to all our services.

Mrs. Fletcher Clark was delegate to the recent meeting of the Barnstable County association of Congregational churches and ministers, which was held in Wellfleet on Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Clark presided at the "Woman's Missionary Hour," on Tuesday morning.

Methodist Episcopal Church

Next Sunday, "Mothers' day," the pastor will take for his morning topic "Mother," and in the evening will speak on "The Test of Friendship."

The 28th anniversary of the Epworth League will be observed at the League devotional service at 6:30.

Randolph Morrow has been chosen as teacher in the Sunday school, to succeed Howard Pierce, who has joined the navy, and Ralph Bunker has been elected assistant secretary.

The members of the Epworth League enjoyed a social in the vestry Saturday evening.

Mrs. G. N. Barnard, for many years a member of this church, passed away Sunday at her home in West Barnstable, in the 72d year of her age.

An audience of 150 attended the patriotic entertainment in the church vestry Tuesday evening, and thoroughly enjoyed a program that was patriotic throughout. The numbers consisted of tableaux, flag salute, flag march, songs by Robert Bright and Mrs. A. E. Boyden, violin solo by Wallace Freeman, recitations by Wallace Beale, Miss Doris Smith, Harold Gremely and Chester Gremely, and various selections by an orchestra of six pieces, composed of members of the Keith Car & Mfg. Co. band of Sagamore, who kindly volunteered their services. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Standard Bearers, and was in charge of Mrs. H. L. Chipman and Miss Jennie Jones. The proceeds will be used in buying a flag for the church.

Leaves For Plattsburg

In addition to Lieut. Fletcher Clark, Jr., Sandwich will have another representative at the reserve officers' training camp at Plattsburg, in the person of Samuel B. Corr, who has been ordered to report for duty Saturday.

As former secretary of the Cape Cod Board of Trade, and as business manager of "Cape Cod," Mr. Corr is widely and favorably known throughout this section, and will be missed on every hand.

Miss Nellie May Parkes has returned to Mattapoisett after a few days' visit at her home here.

Several navy vessels, including the "Salem," passed through the canal Tuesday, attracting a number of sightseers.

T. B. Kinraide of Boston has been in town this week. We understand that Mr. Kinraide seriously contemplates leaving Sandwich on account of the poor condition of our highways. A few days ago, in travelling over the Great Hollow Hill road, Mr. Kinraide's car collided with one going in the opposite direction, for lack of room to turn out. Fortunately no one was injured, and no serious damage resulted.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Linehan are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter at their home.

Miss Ellen Magnusson of the Framingham Normal school was at her home in Spring Hill for part of last week.

Mrs. Henry T. Wing and Miss Healey of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived in town Wednesday.

H. S. Andrews has purchased the house of C. H. Mooers, on Main street, which he occupied last season.

"Her Beloved Enemy," the picture for Saturday night, was written by Philip Lonergan, and produced at the Thanhouser Studio under the direction of Ernest Wade, son of the celebrated actor, Frederick Wade. The stars are Doris Grey, one of the most charming looking little girls you ever saw, who won the beauty contest at the big Exhibitors' ball in Boston, and Wayne Arey, the handsome Broadway leading man, who has become increasngly popular since his first appearance on the Pathe program in "The Shine Girl." (adv.)

Miss Susan F. Hoxie who has been in Brookline for the winter, has arrived at her home in Spring Hill.

Dr. C. R. Currier and family, who have been living at the house of Mrs. O. H. Howland, have moved to the Faunce house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Armstrong of New York are visiting Miss Charlotte Chipman.

Mrs. H. B. L. Dimmick of Wollaston has been the recent guest of her sister, Mrs. E. W. Haines.

Mrs. Frederic N Holway, who has been kept in for several weeks by ill health, is again able to be out.

J. Edward Wing of Brooklyn, N. Y., has arrived in town for the summer.

Miss Mary E. Clark and Master Souther Beale have returned from a visit to Providence.

Gilman Talbot of the U. S. S. Texas has been at home this week for a few days' furlough.

Mrs. John T. McHenry has returned from a visit to Plymouth.

Posters are out announcing the 17th annual Foresters' ball. This event will take place at the Casino on Tuesday evening, May 29, with music by the famous Hardy's Tivoli orchestra of Worcester.

The estate of the late Frank W. Loring will be sold at public auction July 7. See advertisement in this issue.

Mrs. Hannah Boght, who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Haskins of Roxbury, has returned to her home in Spring Hill.

SANDWICH

A Communication

The following letter from Mr. Whitney of the School Committee suggests an important phase of the new building project which will be of interest:

Dear Fellow Townsmen:

We are called to a special town meeting soon to be held, ostensibly to determine the type of school building we are to choose: eight-grade with auditorium, twelve-grade without auditorium, twelve-grade with auditorium. I say "ostensibly" advisedly. The real issue is something more important than that, by far. It is a matter of method of education—a school program.

You people elected a school committee—a body of men sworn to act and advise in the best interests of the schools of Sandwich.

It is to this committee that the people of Sandwich should look to decide on educational methods and school policy. Otherwise, why were they elected?

The School board of Sandwich is unanimously in favor of what is known as the six-six system of education; that is, an educational program divided into two periods of six years each, the last six (High school) being based on the modern high school teaching system of a teacher to each subject instead of to each grade.

But the School committee did not declare itself in favor of this system on its own responsibility. It accepted the opinion of experts—men whose life-work has been school administration and educational methods. Men connected with the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

The Superintendent of Schools in Sandwich believes thoroughly in the six-six system.

Mrs. Henry Wing has declared herself in favor of this system for Sandwich.

Some of the members of the School board were educated in schools using this system, and know how it works. Schools such as Culver, St. Paul's, Groton, Roxbury Latin, Peddie, Milton Academy, use this system. Private schools, you say? Yes, and therefore dependent for their very existence on the excellence of their system.

The six-six system cannot be applied in an eight-grade schoolhouse separate from the present High school: it can be applied in two schoolhouses of six grades each, or in a twelve-grade building.

If you, people of Sandwich, vote an eight-grade building, you will destroy Sandwich's chance of adopting the best school policy.

Myron H. Whitney.

Sandwich, November 22.

The School Question Again

The principal topic of conversation about town these days seems to be regarding the new school building. Every voter is deeply interested in it, and a special town meeting has been called for Friday evening, December 3, to decide upon important matters connected with the project. Many rumors, some absurd, some seemingly reliable, have been in circulation for a long time, and in order to present the matter clearly and accurately to the citizens of the town the Sandwich Woman's club has arranged for a mass meeting to be held in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock, when dependable data will be given, and the meeting will be addressed by Prof. Jesse B. Davis, Dean of the Boston University School of Education, an educator of unquestioned merit who has had an extended experience in school planning and educational methods. At the close of the address it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to ask questions, which will be answered as fully as possible by Prof. Davis and others.

But unless the voters attend this meeting in large numbers its service as a clearing house will be greatly dwarfed, and so it is the earnest hope that every citizen will avail himself of this opportunity to receive definite and authentic information regarding the whole question.

The question is such a big one and a wrong decision would be so disastrous to the welfare of the children of the future (whom we now have to consider) and to the economical development of the town, that it behooves every voter to inform himself as fully as is humanly possible and then to vote in the largest and the wisest way. The most expensive method is not always the best in the end.

If voters who desire to attend the meeting and wish transportation will communicate with Mrs. Frank Towns, arrangements will be made for them. If voters in town who have automobiles and who are willing to transport such persons will communicate with Mrs. Towns, their service will be deeply appreciated by the members of the Sandwich Woman's club.

Sandwich Woman's Club

The last lesson in the parliamentary class was held on Monday afternoon. Mrs. William J. Rowe of Brewster, the teacher of the class, was presented with a bouquet of beautiful chrysanthemums as a token of appreciation.

The Community Service department is developing a program for the public mass meeting to be held in the Town hall next week Wednesday evening, when it is hoped that information relative to the new school building will be of value to the voters of the town. This department is also making arrangements for a course of Current Events lectures to be given during the winter.

The chairmen of all the departments have interesting matters to present to their members, and every member of the club is urged to connect herself with one or more of these departments.

The regular monthly meeting will be held at headquarters next Thursday evening, December 2. A play entitled "That Villainous Sweet Lady," written by Mrs. Jonathan Leonard, will be given by members of the club.

Appointed Assistant Engineer

By appointment of the secretary of war, Harold S. Andrew, formerly construction manager of the Cape Cod canal, has been advanced to the newly-created grade of associate engineer in the United States Army Engineer department.

Steamer Aground in Canal

Soon after passing through the Sagamore drawbridge Monday about 7 p. m., the freight steamer Gaston, in command of Capt. Rupert Wry and a crew of 19 men, ran aground. The Coast Guard station crew, with the help of the crew of the Gaston finally got the steamer off at about 10 o'clock the same evening. Investigation showed that the steering gear was out of commisison, and the Gaston was towed out into Cape Cod Bay and anchored. Just before noon a Coast Guard cutter came down from Boston and towed the crippled steamer to Boston, her destination. She carried a cargo of chemicals. The Gaston, which is 212 feet long, is owned by the Southgate Marine corporation of Norfolk, Va.

St. John's Episcopal Church

Advent is again at hand. Another year with all its holy seasons has passed over our heads. Now we stand, as it were, on the brink of judgment. It opens up the ecclesiastical year, and the key-note of the first Sunday may be summed up in these words: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light."

There will be evening prayer and sermon by the rector, Rev. A. L. Fenderson, at 3.30. The church school will meet at 2.30. After the service a meeting of the vestry is called.

Federated Church

Rev. E. L. Marsh, pastor.

Sunday, 10 a. m. Sunday school.

Sunday, 11 a. m. Morning worship.

The midweek service on Wednesday night will be omitted this week.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach to the boys and girls on "Live Wires". He will also preach to the adults on "The Blessedness of a Positive Faith".

Mr. Marsh will preach at West Barnstable next Sunday afternoon upon "A Message from Far Away Switzerland".

The ladies of the church are arranging a supper and Christmas sale for Thursday, December 9.

The members of the Sunday school brought a large number of Thanksgiving bags filled with fruit, vegetables and groceries, and had also solicited funds from the townspeople in the sum of $21.42.

A Fatal Accident

The community was shocked by the news of the fatal accident which occurred on Jarves street late yesterday afternoon, when Elizabeth Hamblin, 10 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hamblin, was struck by an automobile owned by Joseph Kenney of Onset, and operated by his daughter, Miss Julia D. Kenney, aged 16 years. Mr. Kenney was in the car with his daughter at the time of the accident. The little girl was picked up by James H. Maxwell and carried to the headquarters of the district nurse, where Miss Westover rendered first aid until Dr. Curry of Sagamore arrived. The little girl sustained a fractured skull and died a little less than two hours after the accident.

There are conflicting stories as to just how the accident occurred. She had been playing after school with the Harrison children in School street and had left for her home. When opposite Corpus Christi church, she was struck by the automobile, a Buick sedan, and when picked up was close to the sidewalk on the left of the car, which came to a stop at the entrance of S. I. Morse's driveway, some 70 feet away, on the sidewalk.

Miss Kenney stated that the little girl came out from behind a team loaded with wood, driven by Henry C. Gibbs, and ran deliberately into her car before she had time to prevent striking her. Others are of the opinion that the little girl was about to step onto the sidewalk when struck. Several people on the sidewalk at the time narrowly escaped serious injuries. As it was, Miss Gladys Chase of Sagamore received a glancing on her leg which was severely bruised, but she left soon after for her home. The State Patrol investigated the case, and an inquest will be held soon at Barnstable.

The sympathy of the entire town goes out to the parents. The little girl was very much beloved by the entire community and was very popular with everyone. She was a regular attendant at the Federated Sunday school, where she was a great favorite with all, both teachers and scholars.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 2.30 at the Federated church.

Vaudeville entertainment at East Sandwich Grange, Thursday evening, Dec. 2, at 8 o'clock, followed by dancing. (Advertisement)

T. B. Kinraide of Jamaica Plain was in town last week and visited The Hermitage.

Mr. and Mrs. John White, Misses Anna and Nellie Wynn and Patrick Corcoran recently visited Mr. White's aunt, Rev. Mother Superior Paula of St. Patrick's convent, Dorchester, and his cousin, Sister Josephine at St. Margaret's convent, Dorchester.

Miss Lucy M. Donovan of Providence spent the week end in town. Mr. and Mrs. William F. O'Neil were here Sunday.

The young ladies of the Corpus Christi church will conduct a whist party and lunch at Hunt's hall, December 6.

Misses Bertha and Blanche McLaney, who for a number of years have occupied a store in Clark's block, have moved into their new home in the William H. Russell block, only a few doors below where they were formerly located. Their new store is exceedingly attractive, is light, and everything is new and finished in a pleasing way. These popular young ladies are receiving many well-deserved commendations on the move they have made.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cavanaugh are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Buckley.

Miss Bessie Willard has arranged an inviting lunch room at the old homestead on School street, and her present plan is to keep it open on Friday nights during the basketball games. Just such a lunch room as this is needed, especially on nights when there are sporting events in the Casino. Miss Willard believes that there is a demand for a lunch at moderate prices, and this she hopes to provide. Her food is all home cooked and it is said she serves liberally for the charges she makes. Many who have visited her place speak very highly of the attractiveness of the furnishings and of the service.

J. W. K. Sprague has suffered another very critical illness the past few days, with Dr. Beale in attendance. He is still confined to his bed, although said to be out of immediate danger.

William L. Nye and Miss May Nye are spending the holiday with Mrs. Henry A. Belcher in Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Crane, who have been spending a month or so in Hingham, will leave Sunday for California, where they will spend at least three months. It is understood that Mr. Crane's health has not been of the best lately, and it is hoped that the change in climate will prove helpful. Their daughter, Mrs. Crocker and children, and Mrs. Crane were in town Friday for a few hours.

Edward F. Montague and Arthur Hamblin have entered the employ of the U. S. Insulating Company.

Miss Clara Stevens of West Barnstable has been visiting Miss Florence Brady.

Dr. Annie Lee Hamilton is spending Thanksgiving with friends in West Somerville. Dr. Hamilton is leaving shortly for Orlando, Fla., where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Joseph A. Mahoney (Bangs Burgess) was in charge of the "Jenny Lind Tea" given Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Malcolm B. French of Brookline, under the auspices of the Professional Women's club of Boston.

There seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the meetings of the Board of Health. The Board meets the second Wednesday of each month at 8 o'clock at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George E. White. The Board was represented at the County meeting of the Health Boards at Hyannis by the chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nightingale have taken rooms for light housekeeping at Mrs. Johanna Brady's. Mr. Nightingale is connected with the Coast Guard station here.

Mrs. Joseph Silva has returned to Provincetown for the winter.

Mrs. J. Lee Newton is entertaining her brother, Nathaniel Mansfield.

Mrs. Clarence J. Hall of Wareham is teaching drawing in the public schols here one day a week.

The annual Christmas sale, under the auspices of the Woman's Alliance, will be held at the First Parish church, Wednesday, December 1, at 3 o'clock, where will be found many articles suitable as Christmas gifts for both old and young.

Up to this writing the New Haven officials have not acted upon the petition of William J. Rose and others for the appointment of a crossing man at Spring Hill, on the road leading from opposite Herman Toolas' to the Quaker meeting house. The railroad people had a counter at the crossing for 24 hours Monday, and during this time he counted and tabulated all passing over this way. Whether the count was considered sufficient to have a flagman or not, no one will deny the fact that there should be a man stationed there each day during the winter months as well as the summer.

Mrs. William Swift has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Deborah Lumbert of Cotuit, for a week.

Miss Lydia Lathrop of Canterbury, Conn., and Miss Martha Houston of New Jersey were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lathrop.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swift will entertain their children and families on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Phinney spent their Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Hall and sons, and Miss Sally Waterhouse of Brookline, at Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Waterhouse's in Bourne.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lathrop and daughter spent Thanksgiving with his relatives at Norwich, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Radcliffe of New Bedford are occupying the house of Arthur T. Knowles near the Shore road.

We regret to learn that the four-masted schooner Eleanor F. Bartram, Capt. E. W. Perry, with crew of eight men, which left Norfolk August 26 for Puerto Carbello, Venezuela, has not been heard from. Fear is that they are lost. The vessel, loaded with coal, should have reached her destination before the end of September. It is believed she was caught in the September hurricane. Capt. E. W. Perry is a brother of Capt. S. H. Perry of this place.

Cards have been received from our postmaster, P. H. Phinney, and his wife, who have reached Denver, Col.

Nathan L. Bourne is having his vacation.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah West, mother of Mrs. Forrest Kendrick and Mrs. Vernon Kendrick, was held at Forrest Kendrick's home on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Tedford and Mr. Manning officiated, and Mrs. Jenkins sang an appropriate solo.

Mrs. T. B. Chisholm of Brockton came down and spent two days here at her summer home.

At the Idlehour

A fashion show with twenty of the most beautiful extra girls and models in Hollywood as the mannequins, is a spectacular feature of "Take It From Me," the University-Jewel starring Reginald Denny, which comes to the Idlehour theatre Thanksgiving Day.

The main action of the picture takes place in a metropolitan department store. Reginald Denny is supposed to have inherited the place without any idea whatsoever as to how one should operate a department store.

A fashion show is the only thing he can think of to draw customers to his store, so he stages it with the humorous results always to be found in his productions.

Johanna Mathieson, Universal's expert costume designer, was called upon to create the gowns, and George D. Hall, prominent motion picture art director and designer, provided a fantastic and beautiful setting for the unusual pageant.

"Take It From Me" was directed by William Seiter from Harvey Thew's adaptation of the musical comedy hit by Will B. Johnstone.

Local High Trounces East Bridgewater

Barnstable High came from behind in the last local football game of the season Saturday and defeated East Bridgewater High by 17 to 7. In the third period B. H. S. scored a touchdown, a field goal and a safety. In the second half Capt. Butler dropkicked from a difficult angle.

In the opening period Butler broke loose on a reverse end rush for a 40-yard dash and touchdown. The visitors pulled a pretty forward pass from a place kick formation for a touchdown.

B. H. S. carried off all the honors in the second half. Eddie Tevyaw played right tackle for B. H. S., his place at full back being taken by Ashley Crocker, who gave a good account of himself. The summary:

B. H. S.	6	0	11	0	—17
E. B. H. S.	0	7	0	0	— 7

Touchdowns by Butler, 2, by Keveney. Points by goal after touchdown, Bouldry. Goal from field, by Butler. Safeties, Bordeaux. Referee, Ray Till; umpire, Reardon. Linesman, Judge Paul M. Swift. Time, 12-minute periods.

District Nurses

The report of the supervisor for October shows that little bedside nursing was done during the month, but that most of the time was spent in school nurse work in Yarmouth and Dennis.

Practically all the school children of Dennis have been vaccinated. Two child welfare clinics were conducted. An underweight clinic was held at Hyannis junior high school, under the supervision of the State Department of Health. Nineteen children from Yarmouth and Dennis attended this clinic. Dr. Wagner of the county hospital at Pocasset examined three patients.

Good Boxing at Mill Hill

Over 1000 paid admissions at Mill Hill Pavilion Tuesday night, indicating that Dutch Ayer and his Cape Cod Athletic Association have found something that the public likes. The assemblage had a good sprinkling of women and there were some of the best known people on Cape Cod at the ringside.

Benny Eldredge of Onset won the decision over Charlie Dupre of South Yarmouth in the 126-lb. final. Bauer of Boston won from Maher of New Bedford in 135-pound class, and in the 160-pound class Bill Madden of Hyannis won over Johnnie Antone of Boston by a K. O.

In the 126-semi finals Charles Dupre won the decision over Jim Downey of Somerville. In the 112-class Tony Roy of New Bedford was too much for George Lyons of Onset. The decision went to Rudie Maher of New Bedford in the contest with Quincy Otini. Benny Eldredge took the decision over Kid Fredette of New Bedford in the 126 class. James Downey of Somerville bested Charlie Slavin of Quincy in a 126 bout.

The officials of the evening were: Ben Ostheus, Boston, referee; Terry Rogers, Hyannis, and J. Donovan, Quincy, judges; and J. Murdy, Hyannis, timer.

Funeral Services for Mr. Hinckley

Eight hundred persons crowded the Congregational church at Yarmouthport on Monday afternoon, at the funeral of Frank H. Hinckley, president of John Hinckley and Son Company, and vice president of the Hyannis Trust Company. The floral tributes were so numerous that two trucks were required for transportation.

The funeral was conducted according to the rites of Masonry, by Fraternal Lodge of Hyannis, with Walter H. Sanford as master. Rev. John J. Walker of Newton, a former pastor of the church, was the clergyman. Music was rendered by the Weber Quartet of Boston. Burial, which was private, was in the Old cemetery at East Barnstable.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Cook of 254 Hawthorn street, New Bedford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Georgia K. Cook, to Hugh Sears Ferguson of Boston. Miss Cook is a graduate of Wheaton college and of the Prince school and is educational director of a prominent business house in Providence, R. I. Mr. Ferguson is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is associated with a Boston manufacturing company.

Fame has been described as having your name spelled wrong in the newspapers. If this is correct Congressman Gifford certainly scored in the Boston Sunday Herald, where he is mentioned several times in a half column as Congressman "Clifford."

Chaplain—Lucie M. Caswell, Chatham Grange.

Treasurer—Frank E. Howes, Dennis Grange.

Secretary—Maude D. Parker, Yarmouth Grange.

Gatekeeper—Aubrey S. Handy, Hyannis Grange.

Ceres—Ella B. Freeman, East Sandwich Grange.

Pomona—Mary A. Knowles, Yarmouth Grange.

Flora — Elizabeth E. Nickerson, Nauset Grange.

Pianist—Ethel G. Mayo, Nauset Grange.

After a wonderful supper, to which we all did justice, the Grange was called to order, and a few matters of business were attended to before the Master placed the meeting in the hands of the Pomona Lecturer. Needless to say, 223 members listened to the following program, and each to ourselves congratulated Dennis Grange that our Pomona lecturer was their Grange member. She said she did not like all readings, but we didn't care, for her readers were surely ready to make us appreciate their efforts with a laugh. Lecturer's program:

Reading—Past Master Dyer of Nauset Grange.

Reading—Past Master Christopher Howes, Yarmouth Grange.

Play, "Tomorrow"—Three members of Nauset Grange.

After the lecturer's program, the Worthy Master presented the following, who spoke briefly: State Pomona, Mary A. Knowles; Pomona Deputy, Frank E. Howes; Subordinate Deputy, Winfred J. Knowles; First Pomona Master, S. Fremont Crocker; Worthy Overseer, Ralph I. Freeman.

Do you ever feel that sometimes a thing must be said and yet that words are inadequate to express your thoughts? Just now that is the feeling that possesses me. The meeting I have just tried to report was as usual a pleasant meeting of friends, and still through it all ran an undercurrent of sadness. For the first time, yes, almost since Pomona was organized, we met without one face which has been so familiar to us. It seemed hardly possible that Sister Clark would not be there to do her work, with her happy smile and kindly word. We shall miss her from her place, but we have the memory of a life whose duty was done, a shining example to us to carry on, because she would have it so.

Honesty Still Best Policy

Why are nice women nice? Because of the knowledge that being nice pays, and is easier than being tough.

The greatest sermon ever written, or ever will be written, is that honesty is the best policy. No one man wrote this sermon; all men lived, proved it. Those who violate the sermon know better; they are actuated by meanness, recklessness. Many of them are put in jail; a few hanged; all punished in one way or another.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Salt in Illinois

Saline county, Illinois, derives its name from the fact that the earliest settlers in that district made great quantities of salt by boiling down the water from the salt wells there.

SANDWICH

A Communication

The following letter from Mr. Whitney of the School Committee suggests an important phase of the new building project which will be of interest:

Dear Fellow Townsmen:

We are called to a special town meeting soon to be held, ostensibly to determine the type of school building we are to choose: eight-grade with auditorium, twelve-grade without auditorium, twelve-grade with auditorium. I say "ostensibly" advisedly. The real issue is something more important than that, by far. It is a matter of method of education—a school program.

You people elected a school committee—a body of men sworn to act and advise in the best interests of the schools of Sandwich.

It is to this committee that the people of Sandwich should look to decide on educational methods and school policy. Otherwise, why were they elected?

The School board of Sandwich is unanimously in favor of what is known as the six-six system of education; that is, an educational program divided into two periods of six years each, the last six (High school) being based on the modern high school teaching system of a teacher to each subject instead of to each grade.

But the School committee did not declare itself in favor of this system on its own responsibility. It accepted the opinion of experts—men whose life-work has been school administration and educational methods. Men connected with the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

The Superintendent of Schools in Sandwich believes thoroughly in the six-six system.

Mrs. Henry Wing has declared herself in favor of this system for Sandwich.

Some of the members of the School board were educated in schools using this system, and know how it works. Schools such as Culver, St. Paul's, Groton, Roxbury Latin, Peddie, Milton Academy, use this system. Private schools, you say? Yes, and therefore dependent for their very existence on the excellence of their system.

The six-six system cannot be applied in an eight-grade schoolhouse separate from the present High school: it can be applied in two schoolhouses of six grades each, or in a twelve-grade building.

If you, people of Sandwich, vote an eight-grade building, you will destroy Sandwich's chance of adopting the best school policy.

Myron H. Whitney.

Sandwich, November 22.

The School Question Again

The principal topic of conversation about town these days seems to be regarding the new school building. Every voter is deeply interested in it, and a special town meeting has been called for Friday evening, December 3, to decide upon important matters connected with the project. Many rumors, some absurd, some seemingly reliable, have been in circulation for a long time, and in order to present the matter clearly and accurately to the citizens of the town the Sandwich Woman's club has arranged for a mass meeting to be held in the Town hall on Wednesday evening, December 1, at 8 o'clock, when dependable data will be given, and the meeting will be addressed by Prof. Jesse B. Davis, Dean of the Boston University School of Education, an educator of unquestioned merit who has had an extended experience in school planning and educational methods. At the close of the address it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to ask questions, which will be answered as fully as possible by Prof. Davis and others.

But unless the voters attend this meeting in large numbers its service as a clearing house will be greatly dwarfed, and so it is the earnest hope that every citizen will avail himself of this opportunity to receive definite and authentic information regarding the whole question.

The question is such a big one and a wrong decision would be so disastrous to the welfare of the children of the future (whom we now have to consider) and to the economical development of the town, that it behooves every voter to inform himself as fully as is humanly possible and then to vote in the largest and the wisest way. The most expensive method is not always the best in the end.

If voters who desire to attend the meeting and wish transportation will communicate with Mrs. Frank Towns, arrangements will be made for them. If voters in town who have automobiles and who are willing to transport such persons will communicate with Mrs. Towns, their service will be deeply appreciated by the members of the Sandwich Woman's club.

Sandwich Woman's Club

The last lesson in the parliamentary class was held on Monday afternoon. Mrs. William J. Rowe of Brewster, the teacher of the class, was presented with a bouquet of beautiful chrysanthemums as a token of appreciation.

The Community Service department is developing a program for the public mass meeting to be held in the Town hall next week Wednesday evening, when it is hoped that information relative to the new school building will be of value to the voters of the town. This department is also making arrangements for a course of Current Events lectures to be given during the winter.

The chairmen of all the departments have interesting matters to present to their members, and every member of the club is urged to connect herself with one or more of these departments.

The regular monthly meeting will be held at headquarters next Thursday evening, December 2. A play entitled "That Villainous Sweet Lady," written by Mrs. Jonathan Leonard, will be given by members of the club.

Appointed Assistant Engineer

By appointment of the secretary of war, Harold S. Andrew, formerly construction manager of the Cape Cod canal, has been advanced to the newly-created grade of associate engineer in the United States Army Engineer department.

Steamer Aground in Canal

Soon after passing through the Sagamore drawbridge Monday about 7 p. m., the freight steamer Gaston, in command of Capt. Rupert Wry and a crew of 19 men, ran aground. The Coast Guard station crew, with the help of the crew of the Gaston finally got the steamer off at about 10 o'clock the same evening. Investigation showed that the steering gear was out of commisison, and the Gaston was towed out into Cape Cod Bay and anchored. Just before noon a Coast Guard cutter came down from Boston and towed the crippled steamer to Boston, her destination. She carried a cargo of chemicals. The Gaston, which is 212 feet long, is owned by the Southgate Marine corporation of Norfolk, Va.

St. John's Episcopal Church

Advent is again at hand. Another year with all its holy seasons has passed over our heads. Now we stand, as it were, on the brink of judgment. It opens up the ecclesiastical year, and the key-note of the first Sunday may be summed up in these words: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light."

There will be evening prayer and sermon by the rector, Rev. A. L. Fenderson, at 3.30. The church school will meet at 2.30. After the service a meeting of the vestry is called.

Federated Church

Rev. E. L. Marsh, pastor.

Sunday, 10 a. m. Sunday school.

Sunday, 11 a. m. Morning worship.

The midweek service on Wednesday night will be omitted this week.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach to the boys and girls on "Live Wires". He will also preach to the adults on "The Blessedness of a Positive Faith".

Mr. Marsh will preach at West Barnstable next Sunday afternoon upon "A Message from Far Away Switzerland".

The ladies of the church are arranging a supper and Christmas sale for Thursday, December 9.

The members of the Sunday school brought a large number of Thanksgiving bags filled with fruit, vegetables and groceries, and had also solicited funds from the townspeople in the sum of $21.42.

A Fatal Accident

The community was shocked by the news of the fatal accident which occurred on Jarves street late yesterday afternoon, when Elizabeth Hamblin, 10 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hamblin, was struck by an automobile owned by Joseph Kenney of Onset, and operated by his daughter, Miss Julia D. Kenney, aged 16 years. Mr. Kenney was in the car with his daughter at the time of the accident. The little girl was picked up by James H. Maxwell and carried to the headquarters of the district nurse, where Miss Westover rendered first aid until Dr. Curry of Sagamore arrived. The little girl sustained a fractured skull and died a little less than two hours after the accident.

There are conflicting stories as to just how the accident occurred. She had been playing after school with the Harrison children in School street and had left for her home. When opposite Corpus Christi church, she was struck by the automobile, a Buick sedan, and when picked up was close to the sidewalk on the left of the car, which came to a stop at the entrance of S. I. Morse's driveway, some 70 feet away, on the sidewalk.

Miss Kenney stated that the little girl came out from behind a team loaded with wood, driven by Henry C. Gibbs, and ran deliberately into her car before she had time to prevent striking her. Others are of the opinion that the little girl was about to step onto the sidewalk when struck. Several people on the sidewalk at the time narrowly escaped serious injuries. As it was, Miss Gladys Chase of Sagamore received a glancing on her leg which was severely bruised, but she left soon after for her home. The State Patrol investigated the case, and an inquest will be held soon at Barnstable.

The sympathy of the entire town goes out to the parents. The little girl was very much beloved by the entire community and was very popular with everyone. She was a regular attendant at the Federated Sunday school, where she was a great favorite with all, both teachers and scholars.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 2.30 at the Federated church.

Vaudeville entertainment at East Sandwich Grange, Thursday evening, Dec. 2, at 8 o'clock, followed by dancing. (Advertisement)

T. B. Kinraide of Jamaica Plain was in town last week and visited The Hermitage.

Mr. and Mrs. John White, Misses Anna and Nellie Wynn and Patrick Corcoran recently visited Mr. White's aunt, Rev. Mother Superior Paula of St. Patrick's convent, Dorchester, and his cousin, Sister Josephine at St. Margaret's convent, Dorchester.

Miss Lucy M. Donovan of Providence spent the week end in town. Mr. and Mrs. William F. O'Neil were here Sunday.

The young ladies of the Corpus Christi church will conduct a whist party and lunch at Hunt's hall, December 6.

Misses Bertha and Blanche McLaney, who for a number of years have occupied a store in Clark's block, have moved into their new home in the William H. Russell block, only a few doors below where they were formerly located. Their new store is exceedingly attractive, is light, and everything is new and finished in a pleasing way. These popular young ladies are receiving many well-deserved commendations on the move they have made.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cavanaugh are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Buckley.

Miss Bessie Willard has arranged an inviting lunch room at the old homestead on School street, and her present plan is to keep it open on Friday nights during the basketball games. Just such a lunch room as this is needed, especially on nights when there are sporting events in the Casino. Miss Willard believes that there is a demand for a lunch at moderate prices, and this she hopes to provide. Her food is all home cooked and it is said she serves liberally for the charges she makes. Many who have visited her place speak very highly of the attractiveness of the furnishings and of the service.

J. W. K. Sprague has suffered another very critical illness the past few days, with Dr. Beale in attendance. He is still confined to his bed, although said to be out of immediate danger.

William L. Nye and Miss May Nye are spending the holiday with Mrs. Henry A. Belcher in Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Crane, who have been spending a month or so in Hingham, will leave Sunday for California, where they will spend at least three months. It is understood that Mr. Crane's health has not been of the best lately, and it is hoped that the change in climate will prove helpful. Their daughter, Mrs. Crocker and children, and Mrs. Crane were in town Friday for a few hours.

Edward F. Montague and Arthur Hamblin have entered the employ of the U. S. Insulating Company.

Miss Clara Stevens of West Barnstable has been visiting Miss Florence Brady.

Dr. Annie Lee Hamilton is spending Thanksgiving with friends in West Somerville. Dr. Hamilton is leaving shortly for Orlando, Fla., where she will spend the winter.

Mrs. Joseph A. Mahoney (Bangs Burgess) was in charge of the "Jenny Lind Tea" given Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Malcolm B. French of Brookline, under the auspices of the Professional Women's club of Boston.

There seems to be some misunderstanding regarding the meetings of the Board of Health. The Board meets the second Wednesday of each month at 8 o'clock at the home of the chairman, Mrs. George E. White. The Board was represented at the County meeting of the Health Boards at Hyannis by the chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nightingale have taken rooms for light housekeeping at Mrs. Johanna Brady's. Mr. Nightingale is connected with the Coast Guard station here.

Mrs. Joseph Silva has returned to Provincetown for the winter.

Mrs. J. Lee Newton is entertaining her brother, Nathaniel Mansfield.

Mrs. Clarence J. Hall of Wareham is teaching drawing in the public schols here one day a week.

The annual Christmas sale, under the auspices of the Woman's Alliance, will be held at the First Parish church, Wednesday, December 1, at 3 o'clock, where will be found many articles suitable as Christmas gifts for both old and young.

Up to this writing the New Haven officials have not acted upon the petition of William J. Rose and others for the appointment of a crossing man at Spring Hill, on the road leading from opposite Herman Toolas' to the Quaker meeting house. The railroad people had a counter at the crossing for 24 hours Monday, and during this time he counted and tabulated all passing over this way. Whether the count was considered sufficient to have a flagman or not, no one will deny the fact that there should be a man stationed there each day during the winter months as well as the summer.

Mrs. Frank W. Chipman is being congratulated by her friends upon her escape from being run down by the automobile which killed Elizabeth Hamblin. There were only a few feet between Mrs. Chipman and the car.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Yvonne Gagne at the home of Mrs. Christopher Brady on Tuesday evening, and was attended by a large number of her friends.

Rev. Edward L. Marsh is spending the holiday in Providence with his daughter, Mrs. L. V. Elder, where he will be joined by his younger daughter, Miss Mandana Marsh, who is teaching in the Newcastle school at Mt. Kisko, N. Y.

Mrs. William Swift has been entertaining her mother, Mrs. Deborah Lumbert of Cotuit, for a week.

Miss Lydia Lathrop of Canterbury, Conn., and Miss Martha Houston of New Jersey were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lathrop.

Mr. and Mrs. William Swift will entertain their children and families on Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Phinney spent their Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Hall and sons, and Miss Sally Waterhouse of Brookline, at Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Waterhouse's in Bourne.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lathrop and daughter spent Thanksgiving with his relatives at Norwich, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Radcliffe of New Bedford are occupying the house of Arthur T. Knowles near the Shore road.

We regret to learn that the four-masted schooner Eleanor F. Bartram, Capt. E. W. Perry, with crew of eight men, which left Norfolk August 26 for Puerto Carbello, Venezuela, has not been heard from. Fear is that they are lost. The vessel, loaded with coal, should have reached her destination before the end of September. It is believed she was caught in the September hurricane. Capt. E. W. Perry is a brother of Capt. S. H. Perry of this place.

The main action of the picture takes place in a metropolitan department store. Reginald Denny is supposed to have inherited the place without any idea whatsoever as to how one should operate a department store.

A fashion show is the only thing he can think of to draw customers to his store, so he stages it with the humorous results always to be found in his productions.

Johanna Mathieson, Universal's expert costume designer, was called upon to create the gowns, and George D. Hall, prominent motion picture art director and designer, provided a fantastic and beautiful setting for the unusual pageant.

"Take It From Me" was directed by William Seiter from Harvey Thew's adaptation of the musical comedy hit by Will B. Johnstone.

Local High Trounces East Bridgewater

Barnstable High came from behind in the last local football game of the season Saturday and defeated East Bridgewater High by 17 to 7. In the third period B. H. S. scored a touchdown, a field goal and a safety. In the second half Capt. Butler dropkicked from a difficult angle.

In the opening period Butler broke loose on a reverse end rush for a 40-yard dash and touchdown. The visitors pulled a pretty forward pass from a place kick formation for a touchdown.

B. H. S. carried off all the honors in the second half. Eddie Tevyaw played right tackle for B. H. S., his place at full back being taken by Ashley Crocker, who gave a good account of himself. The summary:

B. H. S.	6	0	11	0	—17
E. B. H. S.	0	7	0	0	— 7

Touchdowns by Butler, 2, by Keveney. Points by goal after touchdown, Bouldry. Goal from field, by Butler. Safeties, Bordeaux. Referee, Ray Till; umpire, Reardon. Linesman, Judge Paul M. Swift. Time, 12-minute periods.

District Nurses

The report of the supervisor for October shows that little bedside nursing was done during the month, but that most of the time was spent in school nurse work in Yarmouth and Dennis.

Practically all the school children of Dennis have been vaccinated. Two child welfare clinics were conducted. An underweight clinic was held at Hyannis junior high school, under the supervision of the State Department of Health. Nineteen children from Yarmouth and Dennis attended this clinic. Dr. Wagner of the county hospital at Pocasset examined three patients.

Good Boxing at Mill Hill

Over 1000 paid admissions at Mill Hill Pavilion Tuesday night, indicating that Dutch Ayer and his Cape Cod Athletic Association have found something that the public likes. The assemblage had a good sprinkling of women and there were some of the best known people on Cape Cod at the ringside.

Benny Eldredge of Onset won the decision over Charlie Dupre of South Yarmouth in the 126-lb. final. Bauer of Boston won from Maher of New Bedford in 135-pound class, and in the 160-pound class Bill Madden of Hyannis won over Johnnie Antone of Boston by a K. O.

In the 126-semi finals Charles Dupre won the decision over Jim Downey of Somerville. In the 112-class Tony Roy of New Bedford was too much for George Lyons of Onset. The decision went to Rudie Maher of New Bedford in the contest with Quincy Otini. Benny Eldredge took the decision over Kid Fredette of New Bedford in the 126 class. James Downey of Somerville bested Charlie Slavin of Quincy in a 126 bout.

The officials of the evening were: Ben Ostheus, Boston, referee; Terry Rogers, Hyannis, and J. Donovan, Quincy, judges; and J. Murdy, Hyannis, timer.

Funeral Services for Mr. Hinckley

Eight hundred persons crowded the Congregational church at Yarmouthport on Monday afternoon, at the funeral of Frank H. Hinckley, president of John Hinckley and Son Company, and vice president of the Hyannis Trust Company. The floral tributes were so numerous that two trucks were required for transportation.

The funeral was conducted according to the rites of Masonry, by Fraternal Lodge of Hyannis, with Walter H. Sanford as master. Rev. John J. Walker of Newton, a former pastor of the church, was the clergyman. Music was rendered by the Weber Quartet of Boston. Burial, which was private, was in the Old cemetery at East Barnstable.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Cook of 254 Hawthorn street, New Bedford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Georgia K. Cook, to Hugh Sears Ferguson of Boston. Miss Cook is a graduate of Wheaton college and of the Prince school and is educational director of a prominent business house in Providence, R. I. Mr. Ferguson is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is associated with a Boston manufacturing company.

Fame has been described as having your name spelled wrong in the newspapers. If this is correct Congressman Gifford certainly scored in the Boston Sunday Herald, where he is mentioned several times in a half column as Congressman "Clifford."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hopkins, Priscilla Hopkins and Margaret Waterman motored to New Bedford Sunday

Chaplain—Lucie M. Caswell, Chatham Grange.

Secretary—Maude D. Parker, Yarmouth Grange.

Gatekeeper—Aubrey S. Handy, Hyannis Grange.

Ceres—Ella B. Freeman, East Sandwich Grange.

Pomona—Mary A. Knowles, Yarmouth Grange.

Flora — Elizabeth E. Nickerson, Nauset Grange.

Pianist—Ethel G. Mayo, Nauset Grange.

After a wonderful supper, to which we all did justice, the Grange was called to order, and a few matters of business were attended to before the Master placed the meeting in the hands of the Pomona Lecturer. Needless to say, 223 members listened to the following program, and each to ourselves congratulated Dennis Grange that our Pomona lecturer was their Grange member. She said she did not like all readings, but we didn't care, for her readers were surely ready to make us appreciate their efforts with a laugh. Lecturer's program:

Reading—Past Master Dyer of Nauset Grange.

Reading—Past Master Christopher Howes, Yarmouth Grange.

Play, "Tomorrow"—Three members of Nauset Grange.

After the lecturer's program, the Worthy Master presented the following, who spoke briefly: State Pomona, Mary A. Knowles; Pomona Deputy, Frank E. Howes; Subordinate Deputy, Winfred J. Knowles; First Pomona Master, S. Fremont Crocker; Worthy Overseer, Ralph I. Freeman.

Do you ever feel that sometimes a thing must be said and yet that words are inadequate to express your thoughts? Just now that is the feeling that possesses me. The meeting I have just tried to report was as usual a pleasant meeting of friends, and still through it all ran an undercurrent of sadness. For the first time, yes, almost since Pomona was organized, we met without one face which has been so familiar to us. It seemed hardly possible that Sister Clark would not be there to do her work, with her happy smile and kindly word. We shall miss her from her place, but we have the memory of a life whose duty was done, a shining example to us to carry on, because she would have it so.

Press Correspondent.

Honesty Still Best Policy

Why are nice women nice? Because of the knowledge that being nice pays, and is easier than being tough.

The greatest sermon ever written, or ever will be written, is that honesty is the best policy. No one man wrote this sermon; all men lived, proved it. Those who violate the sermon know better; they are actuated by meanness, recklessness. Many of them are put in jail; a few hanged; all punished in one way or another.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Salt in Illinois

Saline county, Illinois, derives its name from the fact that the earliest settlers in that district made great quantities of salt by boiling down the water from the salt wells there.

SANDWICH

Federated Church

Rev. E. L. Marsh, pastor.
Sunday, 10 a. m. Sunday school.
Sunday, 11 a. m. Morning worship.

Thursday, all-day meeting of the Federated Ladies' society. Luncheon served at 12.30.

The members of the Sunday school will be soliciting gifts of money, toys or clothing to be sent by them as a Christmas offering to the Morgan Memorial in Boston. Everybody will be glad to aid this remarkable institution in its splendid work.

The Sunday school Christmas party will be held in the vestry on Thursday, December 23, from 3 to 5 p. m. All members of the Sunday school, including the Cradle Roll, are invited. According to our annual custom, officers of the Sunday school will be stationed at the exits of the church next Sunday to receive contributions from the adults to be used to make this children's party a great success.

Our Christmas exercises will be held December 26. There will be special Christmas music in the morning, and the pastor will preach a Christmas sermon. In the evening we shall have a beautiful stereopticon service, with pictures of the Christ Child.

For years we have made our annual offering to the Near East Relief on Christmas. The pastor will send a letter to every family in which will be a collection envelope. Let us make a fine offernig to this wonderful charity.

On account of illness, the pastor, Rev. E. L. Marsh, was not able to preach last Sunday, and he will likely be housed all this week. For that reason there will be no mid-week service this week. He hopes to be in the pulpit again next Sunday.

Rev. Frederick L. Parsons was the preacher last Sunday, in the absence of the pastor. Mr. Parsons is the librarian of the Congregational library in the Congregational House at 14 Beacon street, Boston. He preached most acceptably.

At the annual meeting of the Sunday school board, held Thursday evening after the supper, the following were chosen for 1927:

Supt.—H. L. Chipman.
Assistant—Wilson C. Bartley.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie.
Attendance Secretary — Wallace Bither.
Treasurer—Henry F. Hoxie.
Pianist—Miss Claire Morse.
Teachers—Miss Lina Chamberlain, Miss Claire Morse, Miss Cora Gibbs, Miss Dorothy Freeman, Miss Mary Hoxie, Mrs. S. I. Morse, Henry F. Hoxie, W. C. Bartley, Miss Grace W. Irwin, Rev. E. L. Marsh.
Reserve Teachers—Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie, Mrs. Frank Towns, Mrs. H. L. Chipman, Mrs. Ralph I. Freeman.

The annual financial canvass of the parish will take place next Sunday afternoon, following a lunch at the church parlor.

Preparations are being made for the annual church meeting and supper, which will take place Friday, January 7. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Frank M. Holt, pastor of the Baptist church, Hyannis

Two Fawns Killed

Deer hunters who believe in clean sportmanship have been very much concerned over an incident which occurred at Forestdale last Saturday, when it is said that two fawns were killed under conditions which to most sports would be considered very heartless.

The story as being told here this week is that a gunner bagged a doe, but not until after the killing did he see anything of the two fawns. It was not long after, however, when the two youngsters came out of the brush and ran to their dead mother. The gunner again and again tried to drive them away, but they refused to move, and when it came time to remove the dead creature to a waiting automobile some distance away, the two fawns followed along. They could not be driven away.

About this time, it is said, another gunner came into view. Whether he saw the affection shown by the two young deer is not known. Anyway, two shots from his gun brought them down, and they were soon in peaceful paradise with their mother and free from the hunting multitude. So impressed was the gunner who shot the doe, with the devotion shown by the two young fawns and the subsequent action of the second gunner, that he vowed then and there never would he again shoot a deer, or even hunt one, for that matter.

There is no law against the killing of young deer, and the man who shot them may have been well within his rights. This is not the question which is interesting the sports about town. It is very likely that he did not see, or was not familiar with conditions as they existed at the time the fatal shots were fired. For if he could have seen the young deer following along after their dead mother, no one could believe that he would have killed them. If he did know the facts and then saw fit to shoot, some would call him a heartless sport.

Basket Ball

Hurwitz is one of the cleverest and best-known basket ball players in New England. He has organized his team for the season and the Orioles will be lucky to win from this quintet. Nate is the former Boston Whirlwind captain.

The Orioles won from the Boston Panthers last week 43-31. The Panthers played a fast game in the first half, but they could not stand the pace set by the Orioles in the second period.

Inquest Held

An inquest into the death of Elizabeth Hamblin, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hamblin, who was killed by an automobile three weeks ago, was held last Friday at Barnstable, Judge Paul M. Swift presiding.

Testimony was given by Miss Julia Kenney of Onset, driver of the car, State Patrolman McLaughlin, Henry C. Gibbs, Mrs. Frank W. Chipman, Miss Gladys E. Chase and Frank R. Fope of Sagamore, and James H. Maxwell, and the case was taken under advisement by Judge Swift.

Mock Trial

One of the most pleasing entertainments ever held in town was the mock trial on Monday evening at the Town hall, when Carl E. Perry of Sagamore was sued for $300,000 for breach of promise, by Mrs. Carrie M. Boyden. Judge Collen C. Campbell of Hyannis presided, Milton L. Baxter was clerk of court, William J. Rose official stenographer, and Frank C. Brown and J. Bernard McArdle were in attendance as officers.

The plaintiff's counsel was Henry A. Ellis, Esq., of Hyannis and the defendant was represented by J. Frank Kiernan, Esq., of Wareham.

The jury was composed of residents of this village, Sagamore and other villages, and the witnesses were also from these various places. Mr. Perry made a plausible defense, but the verdict of the jury was "guilty," and he was ordered to pay the defendant the sum of $2.13. It is needless to say that the audience was kept in a constant roar of laughter.

This entertainment was under the joint ausnices of the Ladies' Aid society of Sagamore and the Sandwich Agricultural association, and netted each organization an even $50.00.

Recovering from Accident

James Govone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Govone, is recovering from the effects of an automobile accident which occurred Saturday evening, December 4, when he was knocked down by a car driven by one of the Quirk boys of East Sandwich. He was badly injured and rendered unconscious for some hours.

Mrs. George W. Rogers

Mrs. Clara N. Rogers, widow of George W. Rogers, passed away Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert C. Armstrong, in Meriden, Conn., in the 82d year of her age.

Mrs. Rogers was the daughter of Charles H. and Ann (Nye) Burgess, and was born in West Sandwich, the family coming to this village to live a few years later. From that time until her removal to Meriden some five years ago, Mrs. Rogers made her home in Sandwich and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her.

Besides the one daughtr, Mrs. Rogers leaves a son, Willard Rogers of Colorado Springs, Col., one granddaughter, and two brothers, Charles S. Burgess of Melrose Highlands and Willard N. Burgess of Colorado Springs.

The body was brought to Sandwich for interment, funeral services being held at the Federated church Monday afternoon. Rev. S. M. Beale officiated and Mrs. A. E. Boyden rendered two appropriate selections.

Miss Lucinda N. Allyne

News has been received of the death of another former resident of this village, Miss Lucinda Nye Allyne who passed away Monday at her home in Framingham.

The deceased was the daughter of Samuel Hinckley and Nancy Nye Allyne, and a direct descendant of Governor Hinckley, the last governor of Plymouth colony before its union with Massachusetts Bay. For many years her home was in Sandwich, the family leaving here for Framingham some 35 years ago, and she will be remembered by the older residents of the town.

LaForest J. Carpenter

A telegram received here early this week announced the sudden death of LaForest J. Carpenter at his old home in Keene, N. H., where he had been staying for a few months. No further particulars have been received at time of going to press.

Mr. Carpenter and family had resided in South Sandwich for a number of years, at The Hermitage, the estate of Mrs. Carpenter's brother, T. B. Kinraide, moving away but recently. For several years he was a member of the boards of selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, rendering faithful and valuable service to the town. He was a great student and much interested in scientific subjects.

Mr. Carpenter is survived by a widow and two daughters, Miss Ray Carpenter, who is teaching in the High school at New Britain, Conn., and Miss Shirley Carpenter, a student at Simmons college, Boston.

Sandwich Woman's Club

The reception to Mrs. Heman A. Harding, District Director, last Thursday afternoon, was a very pleasant affair. The address by Mrs. Harding gave the members a clearer understanding of club work and methods, and was greatly enjoyed. The decorations and tea service, under the direction of Mrs. T. W. Clarke, assisted by Mrs. W. D. Macknight, Mrs. Lucy B. Lloyd, and Miss Elise Queyrel, were delightfully arranged and were enjoyed during the social hour. The club trio, Mrs. Charles S. Lloyd, Mrs. Henry Whitney and Mrs. A. E. Boyden, accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Ware, rendered two numbers beautifully.

On Wednesday evening of next week, December 22, a musical evening has been arranged at headquarters to which the townspeople are invited. Christmas carols will be sung by the chorus and audience, and trios, solos, and holiday anthems will be rendered by the chorus.

A series of four Current Events lectures are to be given by Mrs. Esther Rawson of Rockland on the second Thursday evening of January, February, March and April. Tickets for the course are $1.50, and are now on sale. These lectures are open to the public, and doubtless many will take advantage of this opportunity.

The new Co-operative bank buiding is completed, and business is now carried on there, the move from the old quarters being made last week.

Miss Elizabeth Nokel was in Boston the past week.

Miss Julia A. Yard and Mrs. Adelbert E. Boyden represented the Woman's club at the Anti-mosquito meeting held yesterday at Hyannis. Others present from Sandwich were Selectmen Eugene W. Haines and James W. Freeman, Fletcher Clark and Herbert L. Chipman.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Armstrong were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Talbot while in town Monday night.

An evening devoted to Christmas music is being arranged by the Sandwich Woman's club for Wednesday evening, December 22, at 8 o'clock at club headquarters, the Congregational church. Everybody is invited to attend to join in the Christmas carols, and enjoy the numbers by the chorus of mixed voices, and the trios and solos which are now being rehearsed. Tell your friends, and come yourself.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nightingale have moved into the Dalton house in Depot square. The Nightingales formerly lived in Bournedale.

Mrs. Harry Whitney spent a part of last week in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. George Quinn have closed their house and gone to Cambridge for the winter.

Mrs. Ira B. Austin and Mrs. William Parks were New Bedford visitors last week.

Mrs. Charles H. Gibbs visited friends in South Middleboro the past week.

George Grady of Boston was down last week for his annual deer hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole of Jamaica Plain were guests at Lakewood camps last week. Mr. Cole, who is suffering with neuritis, was unable to do his usual bit in deer hunting.

No one seems to know just how many deer have been killed within the limits of the town the past week, but 35 seems to be a conservative figure.

Daniel McCarthy, Jr., was in town over the week end.

Edson Hitchings, who has been spending some time in Maine, arrived home Monday and will stay here with his mother until after Christmas.

Eleven new members were enrolled in the Society of the Children of Mary on Sunday evening at Corpus Christi church.

The shirt factory in McCann's old store started Monday morning, and quite a number of women are employed. We wish the company every success.

Joseph Henderson has been confined to his home by illness for the past few weeks.

Miss Elizabeth Driscoll and Miss Helen Tucker drove to Dedham Sunday and visited Mrs. Tucker.

In these rapid days when accidents are occurring, how comforting it is to know that your income is insured and that the pay envelope will continue just so long as you are unable to work. And it costs so little. Let's talk it over.—Pratt Insurance Agency. (Advertisement).

The turkey supper at Grange hall last Wednesday, under the auspices of the Sandwich Rod and Gun club, was a splendid success and was well attended. William C. Adams, Fish and Game Commissioner, honored the club by his presence.

Miss Charlotte Nichols, who has been quite sick at her home on Main street, is very much improved, for which her many friends are very thankful.

Pocasset

Baptist Church

Rev. Eva M. Tedford, pastor.
Morning worship, 10.45.
Evening worship, 7.00.
Bible school, 12.15.
Friday evening, 7.30.

Preparations are being made for the Christmas entertainment and tree, for the Sunday school. Mrs. Elwood Wing, Mrs. Frank Jenkins and Mrs. Maurice Johnson have it in charge. It is sure to be the best ever. The entertainment and tree will be on th eevening of the 23rd, and the 24th the carollers will go out as usual singing the wonderful old carols to the sick and shut-ins.

This week the Friday evening meeting will be at the parsonage. Be sure to be present, for the meetings are of unusual interest and spirit. It is the Father's business.

The Junior choir rehearsal and the general rehearsal for Christmas will be on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Have every boy and girl present.

Next Sunday, both morning and evening, the service will be in harmony with Christmas Sunday. The evening service will have some unusual features. Everyone is invited to come with the Christmas spirit—of reverence, worship, and praise, to Him Who came bringing the Gospel of salvation and blessing and life to the world.

Mrs. Ethel Phinney has gone to spend the winter at New Bedford.

Mrs. Walter Tourtellot has closed her gift shop, "The Turtle-O", and has gone to Arlington for the winter.

Mrs. Zilpha Perry is confined to her home with a very bad cold.

F. B. Reynolds is entertaining friends from Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Delina Kendrick spent three days this week at Worcester, attending the sessions of the State Grange as a delegate from Pocasset Grange.

Miss Henrietta Dimmock has gone to Elmira, N. Y., for the remainder of the winter. She plans to stop over in New York City for a few days.

Miss Valeria Willcox is visiting friends in Melrose and Braintree, this week.

Mrs. Eva Tedford spent three days last week in Boston and Wellesley.

Mrs. Arthur Gibbs spent last week in West Newton.

George Hammond and Gardner Gibbs each got a deer on Tuesday of last week. They sighted them near Flax pond, but had to follow them over to the sheep ranch country. Gardner's was a two-year-old, weighing about 250 pounds, and George's was about the same size.

Mrs. William Mort is here for three weeks from Elizabeth, N. J. She is staying at Miss Landers's until she goes to Aiken, S. C.

Pocasset Grange met Thursday night to discuss the best method of heating a house, and the discussion, at least, was heated. Plans for a Christmas party were made for December 23. Mesdames Ethel Varnum, Mildred Tinkham and Bernice Wright are to trim the tree and provide for gifts, while Mrs. Edna Johnson and the Misses Elaine Gibbs and Frances Stockley will plan the games. The members are to appear dressed as children and prepared to act as such.

Mrs. Nathaniel Wing has returned from a ten-days' visit in Lynn.

See my line of towels and blankets for Christmas at F. C. Eldridge's, Bourne. (Advertisement)

Mrs. Effie Howard was operated on at the Mass. General hospital, Boston, on Tuesday, for gall-stones. She has the best wishes of a host of Pocasset friends, who hope that this operation will restore her health.

Irving and Russell Gibbs and Carl Cusick went hunting last week. Irving shot a deer, but before he could reach it to claim it, some men, strangers, claimed it as theirs.

Dr. Wagner and his family are moving into their new home this week. The house is a most attractive two-and-a-half story frame building, modified colonial style, of eight rooms, situated on the road leading from the county road to the hospital. MacEachern of Arlington was the contractor.

Capt. Irving Gibbs and Mrs. Gibbs moved into their new home, formerly Nathan Phinney's house, on Monday. They have had all modern improvements put in the house and have made a most attractive place inside and out. We are glad to welcome them.

Happy Indeed

Will be the family that finds one of the new Nash cars in the garage on Christmas morning; for not only will it have a car of superlative beauty and performance, but its engine, with a seven-bearing crankshaft—the smoothest and ultimate type—exemplifies Nash leadership.

It is not difficult to own a Nash, for they are moderately priced, although high in quality.

A Card.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael J .Murphy and family wish to express their sincerest gratitude to the many friends who extended their kindest sympathy to them in their recent bereavement.

Congregational Church.

Services conducted by the pastor every Sunday at 10.30 and 7 o'clock. Bible school meets at noon.

The pastor has invited the members of the Charles Chipman post, G. A. R., to church service on Memorial Sunday.

Last Wednesday evening a very pleasant surprise was sprung upon Mr. Robertson in honor of his birthday, when the members of his Bible class and other friends called at the parsonage and presented him with a handsome morris chair, which had been placed in his study during his absence at the weekly meeting.

Dr. Talbot in a few appropriate words, made the presentation on behalf of the class. A sum of money, the gift of other friends, was also handed to Mr. Robertson, who briefly replied. A most pleasant event closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

"The Pedlers' Parade," consisting of an entertainment and sale, will be given at the church Tuesday evening, March 28, at 7.45 o'clock. Five cents admission will be charged, and ice cream, cake, candy and other articles will be sold by the pedlers.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

The pastor's subject next Sunday morning will be "The Dying Christ." In the evening there will be a service of uuusual interest, the last one of the present pastorate. Mr. Felton will preach on "The Reward of Faithfulness," and special musical attractions are being planned. All are invited.

In the absence of the pastor, who attends conference next week, the Wednesday evening prayer meeting will be led by J. R. D. Oldham.

Arrangements are under way for an Easter concert by the Sunday school, the committee in charge being Mrs. H. L. Chipman, Mrs. A. J. Coburn, Mrs. S. M. Beale, Miss C. V. Denison and Mrs. H. H. Chase.

Men's Club.

Rev. William D. Goble of Middleboro, pastor of the Central Baptist church, in that town, was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the club on Tuesday evening, and brought greetings from the men's class of his own Sunday school. Mr. Goble's subject, "Men and the Kingdom," was admirably adapted for the time and place, and was replete with interest. Those present will not soon forget his earnest words nor the helpful inspiration of his address. At the close Mr. Goble was given a rising vote of thanks and was elected to honorary membership in the club. President Oldham was made a committee of one to convey a message to the class at Middleboro.

Believing that the citizens of the town will appreciate and patronize a high class musical entertainment, the club is planning for a concert to be given Thursday evening, April 27, by the Brown university glee club. This will be good news to all lovers of music, and the boys ought to be greeted by a full house.

Obituary.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Murphy in the loss of their little 12-year-old daughter, Agnes Regina, who died Saturday afternoon at her home on Liberty street after a lingering illness of four months. During her long tedious illness, for a child of her years, she displayed a wonderful patience and a beautiful uncomplaining Christian spirit. During her entire childhood Agnes had won many friends in the community and was beloved by her teachers and school mates as well as in the Sunday school of Corpus Christi church, of which she was an ardent, faithful member. The funeral, which was held at 10.30 o'clock on Monday morning, from Corpus Christi church, was largely attended, the auditorium being well filled by relatives and friends of the little girl. A touching spectacle which dimmed the eyes of all, was the presence of her classmates from the School street grammar school, accompanied by the principal, Mr. Tangney, and the superintendent of schools, Mr. Oldham.

A high mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. William F. Sullivan, who delivered a touching tribute to the beautiful qualities of the little parishioner. During the services a solo, "Waiting," was feelingly rendered by Mrs. P. P. Cooney, while "Passing Out of the Shadow" was finely sung by Charles E. Brady, Miss Teresa McLaughlin presided at the organ.

The floral tributes were unusually beautiful and numerous, noticeable among them being a wreath from the teachers and pupils of the School Sreet grammar school, and a cross and anchor from the teachers and members of the Corpus Christi Sunday school. After the services the funeral cortege conducted the body to the Catholic cemetery where the interment was made. The funeral arrangements were ably conducted by A. P. Wing.

Besides her parents the deceased is survived by six brothers and sisters, Miss Mary, a teacher at the School street building, Winifred, Anastasia, John, Alonzo and Joseph, all of Sandwich.

Many relatives from Boston, Newton and Dorchester attended the funeral services.

Sandwich Winter Club.

At the March meeting of this club, which was held at the home of Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Spring Park avenue, Jamaica Plain, the president, Mrs. Augustus S. Nye president. Twenty-two members were present. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Kinraide for opening her home for a whist, which was given on the evening of Feb. 14, and was a great success socially, as well as adding a goodly sum to the club treasury. A committee of three, consisting of Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Webber and Miss Burbank, were appointed to consider the matter of the club's annual summer function and to report the same at the April meeting.

Following the routine business the company adjourned to the billiard room and indulged in a game of whist for an hour or more, when all were invited to the dining room for refreshments. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ford.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Frank A. Morrill, Mrs. William Porter, Mrs. McDonald and Miss Mary E. Nye. The April meeting will be with Mrs. Margaret F. Gibbs, Tremlet street, Dorchester.

The following is a list of those who generously subscribed to the fund for the renovation of the town hall, attesting their interest in the welfare of their native township, and to whom thanks are given. Acknowledgement is also due Mr. Beal, the architect, who contributed his services in furnishing the plans for the work. The town's liberal appropriation should not be forgotten indicating its interest in the efforts of the Sandwich Winter club.

SAGAMORE

Church Dedication.

Great interest is manifested in the dedication services in connection with the new Swift Memorial church. During the past week the programs have been widely distributed and every indication points to a large attendance. The committee had arranged that Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington should be the officiating bishop but for unaccountable reason he had sent word that he will not be able to be present. Rev. Marcus D. Buell, D. D., formerly dean of the Boston University Theological school and at present Professor of New Testament Greek, and Dr. John Krantz, who is sales agent of the Methodist Book Concern of New York will be present, and speak. Dr. A. J. Coultas, our district superintendent will be present at all services The exercises begin on Saturday night with a public reception to the visiting clergymen at 8 to 10 o'clock. Every one in the village and vicinity are most cordially welcomed to attend and at the same time to inspect the new church. The Sunday service begins at 10.30, fifteen minutes earlier than usual at which service Dr. Buell will be the speaker. Mrs. Seth Swift is the soloist, and the church choir will sing.

According to the program, in the afternoon, in connection with the ritual service, short addresses will be made by Drs. Buel, Krantz and Coultas and Miss Ida Nye will be the soloist, in the evening Dr. Krantz is to be the speaker. It is expected that Mace Gay will be at each service and help very materially with the cornet.

On Monday afternoon a reception will be given to the children of Sagamore, at which time the prizes for the best attendance and recitations will be awarded. It will be a great pleasure to be able to dedicate such a beautiful church, and to realize that combined with its attractive features that it is very practically arranged and intended for progress in church work.

On Sunday noon light refreshments will be served in the dining room of the new building to out of town guests who wish to remain fo rthe afternoon service.

An exceedingly interesting farewell sermon was given by Rev. W. C. Darby at the old church last Sunday, to an attentive and appreciative congregation. The last message of love and tenderness, was uttered, the last songs of praise was sung under the old roof, the benediction was offered and a handful of the older members turned from the pews wiath their hearts filled with the memories of other days and other worshippers, who had prayed and sang in the old church and loved it, and who they felt sure were rejoicing that the good work was going on, and that the children and grandchildren still cherished the faith of their fathers, and were gladly giving of their substance, to perpetuate the good work begun, so long ago.

Miss Carrie Swift, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid gave a concert last evening for the benefit of the society. Miss Edith Swift of Boston, and excellent home talent made the affair a success. An account of the concert will be given next week.

Mr. and Mrs Eben S. S. Keith gave a dinner party to eight of their friends on St. Patrick's evening. The colors for the table were green and white. A green basket filled with white peppermint, decorated with shamrocks, and the gilded Irish harps gave the desired emblems of good St. Patrick.

Presentation of Drama.

The last of the series of entertainments given by the O. V. I. S. was held Thursday and Friday nights in Union hall, when the drama "Valley Farm" was presented by a cast of 12 characters to a crowded house. The hall was taked to its utmost capacity, standing room being eagerly sought for. So great was the insistence of the public for a repetition of it that the management decided to bill it for March 23, the proceeds to go for lighting the hall by acetylene gas from the plant of G. W. Hallett. This is a move in the right direction for a want long felt, and one which will be much enjoyed by audiences and actors of the stage

"Valley Farm" is a love drama and the many and varied situations called for a good deal of talent which was most realistically portrayed by the roles assumed by the various actors who seemed to fit into their places as if born for them. The actors were as follows: Miss Maud Baker as Hetty Holcomb, a young country girl, was leading lady of the play and acted her part with consummate grace and skill; G. W. Hallett as Silas Holcomb, father of Hetty, was great in his part, as he always is and Mrs. Georgia Bill as Alviry, his sister, could not be improved upon. She was equa to any and all situations and was a general favorite. Charles L. Gifford, as Harold Rutledge, New Yorker, son of wealthy and aristocratic parents, who married Hetty against his parents' wishes, was fine and carried out his part with natural ease. Mrs. Ralph Crosby as Mrs. Rutledge was simply stunning in her role of the haughty mother-in-law, her natural dignified and stately bearing greatly heightening th eeffect of her excellent acting. Edward S Crocker was a prime favorite as Azarinah Keeps, a clock-tinker, whose ardent wooing of the coy spinster, Miss Alyiry, never arrived at that stage where he could summon sufficient courage for an open avowal. One of his hits in the performance was a sealed proposal at the close of the last act.

Mrs .Minnie Allen, as Lizy Ann Tucker, was exceedingly good in the role of spinster, in whom you could safely confide and who immediately repeats what she had heard. Her advent on the scene was much enjoyed.

W. I. Fuller as Perry Deane, a boyhood lover an dthe long chum of Hetty, and who has the means of restoring her to her husband's arms, was excellent. Miss Olivia Phinney as Isabelle Carney, niece of Mrs. Rutledge, whose deception and intrigue separated Hetty from her husband, performed her part which is always a hard one, with much credit. Mrs. Maurice Crockeras Verbena, maid of all work, well, words fail to do her justice, for she must be seen to be appreciated. J. M. Leonard as Mr. Hildreth, the lawyer, was all right while the friends of Edward S. Daniels, who took the part of Jennings, the butler, would advise him to apply for a position in some titled family His stolid indifference and obsequiousness displayed could fill the bill.

The stage was lighted with gas which added greatly to the effect of the different scenes, and there were quite a number of handsome changes of costumes by the ladies, and all the details were carefully carried out.

G. W. Hallett was manager, and it is needless to add that it could hardly fail to be a success with him at the helm. Much credit is due each and every one, for all have worked hard for the benefit of the society and to them is due the thanks of the said society.

Who was the star actor? We would rather not express our opinion. While he felt that a certain one must be our decision, so many shining satellites revolved around that particular one, it came to be a question whether we were right or not so if you don't mind we will reserve our decision and let you judge.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winfield of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., are in town for a short time.

Individuality in Groves.

To many people a grove is a grove, and all groves are alike. There is as marked a difference between different forests as between different communities. A grove of pines without underbrush, carpeted with the fine-fingered russet leaves of the pine, and odorous of resinous gums, has scarcely a trace of likeness to a maple woods, either in the insects, the birds, the shrubs, the light and shade, or the sound of its leaves. . . . At any rate, the first pines must have grown on the sea shore, and learned their first accents from the surf and the waves; and their posterity have borne it inland to the mountains.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Regaining Self-Respect.

The respect of another is the first restoration of the self-respect a man has lost; our ideal of what he is becomes to him the hope and pattern of what he may become.

ENDORSED BY WILSON

Massachusetts to Help Starving Armenians

DRIVE STARTS FEBRUARY 9

Committees of men and women in every city and town in Massachusetts outside Boston will begin on the week of February 9 the task of raising $1,500,000, the state's quota of the fund of $30,000,000 to be spent by the American Committee for Relief in the Near East among starving Armenians, Syrians, Greeks and Persians. The drive lasts two weeks.

Armenians have suffered unspeakable atrocities at the hands of the Turks during the war. Driven from their homes into the wilderness, thousands are without food and clothing. There are more than 4,000,000 to feed, and 40,000 orphans to be cared for.

"I again call upon the people of the United States to make even more generous contributions than they have made heretofore to sustain through the winter months those, who, through no fault of their own, have been left in a starving, shelterless condition, and to help re-establish these ancient and sorely oppressed people in their former homes on a self-supporting basis."

The commissioners who have already sailed for the Near East, and who will direct the relief work are headed by Dr. James L. Barton of Boston. Dr. Barton has been designated a divisional food administrator for the Near East by Mr. Hoover. The state campaign manager is Mr. Clarke Pomeroy, who has headquarters in the Little building, Boston.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard College has been elected honorary chairman of the campaign committee in Massachusetts. Among others who have accepted appointments on the committee are ex-Governor Samuel W. McCall, Bishop William Lawrence, ex-Mayor James Logan of Worcester, ex-Senator W. Murray Crane and State Senator Augustus P. Loring.

Cablegrams are coming into the state headquarters of the American Committee for Relief in the Near East almost daily, telling of the great suffering among the Armenian, Syrian, Greek and Persian refugees. Food and medical supplies are needed immediately, the messages state.

The coming campaign is in no way connected with the appropriation asked of Congress by the President, to handle the big food problem in Europe. The following cablegram was only recently received by the American Committee for Relief in the Near East from President Wilson, explaining this point, as follows:

"The appropriation asked of Congress for handling food relief is not intended in any way to take the place of the subscription being asked for relief and rehabilitation in the Near East. I hope that this subscription will not in any way be interrupted or reduced. The need is immediate and very great."

A number of Massachusetts women are among the workers who have sailed or will sail soon to take a hand in the relief work in Asia Minor.

Three ocean steamships, the Mercurius and Western Belle, and Pensacola are already speeding across the Atlantic with cargoes of food, fuel and supplies, valued at approximately $2,500,000 for men, women and children suffering from famine, plague and destitution.

The cargoes on these relief ships include every article for relief work from spoons and needles to two-ton motor-trucs. Items which will bring comfort to the sufferers are 200 tons coal, 35 two-ton motor-trucks, 15 ambulances, a large number of tractors and thousands of coses of condensed and evaporated milk. The medical outfit includes kerosene stoves, heaters, lamps, towels and soap. On the Western Belle is 8075 tons of flour, purchased for $1,500,000, which will help save many thousands of lives.

A short time before his death, former President Theodore Roosevelt wrote a letter to the American Committee for Relief in the Near East, saying:

"With all my heart I wish you Godspeed in the work of relief you have undertaken for the Christians in western Asia. And particularly do I wish you success in your efforts to raise $30,000,000 for the maintenance of the tens of thousands of Christians and other refugees and sufferers, wherever fojund in the Caucasus, in Persia, in Palestine, or in the interior of Turkey."

The unofficial representative of the Catholic church in America on the field committee of the American Committee for Relief in the Near East is Walter George Smith, of Philadelphia, an attorney and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He will join the relief workers in Constantinople.

One of the most interesting phases of the relief expedition will be that headed by Dr. George H. Washburn, a son of the former president of Roberts College, Constantinople. He will superintend the work of no less than 15 hospitals, for the construction of which $800,000 will be needed.

The hospitals will be scattered throughout Turkey from the Black Sea to the Persian border. Existing missionary hospitals will be utilized as the basis of building, wherever possible.

SANDWICH

Winter Meeting of Sandwich Agricultural Society

Plans for a mid-winter mass meeting of the Sandwich Agricultural society have been made, and Thursday evening, Feb. 27, is the date set for one of the biggest gatherings ever held under the auspices of this society.

Supt. L. B. Boston of the Farm Bureau and members of the program committee are doing everything possible to make this meeting a success. In addition to securing an orator for the occasion, there will be a motion picture on some farm problem, and the presentation of the two cups to winners in the club work.

Sandwich has the honor of having the county prize winner for the bronze cup offered by the Farm bureau. All citizens of Sandwich and surrounding towns should keep in mind the date—February 27, at the Town hall.

Brown—Yarwood

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Miss Edna Yarwood to Lieut. Chas. S. Brown at the home of the bride's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, 38 Spring Park avenue, Jamaica Plain. The wedding was private, arranged in a few hours, the groom being stationed in Atlanta, Ga., and having only a few days' furlough. The young couple had been engaged for several months.

Miss Cecil Kinraide was her attendant and wore a pink Georgette gown, carrying pink roses. The groom was attired in the uniform of his class. The best man was Lloyd Ripley of Canada. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. L. Pickett, a former pastor of the First Parish church in Sandwich.

The bride is well known in Sandwich and South Sandwich, having been a guest at the Hermitage a number of summers. Her numerous friends extend sincere congratulations.

St. John's Episcopal Church.

Sunday will be observed in all Episcopal churches throughout the country in a drive for $250,000 to prosecute the war work of the church as long as men overseas, on this way home or being demobilized. Bishop Lawrence who is chairman of the war commission, says, "Our work cannot stop until our soldiers and sailors are safe again in their homes." A special offertory will be made Sunday, and those who have not received envelopes will be handed same at the service.

In accordance with the Bishop's 20 weeks' campaign which has become very popular in the church, next Sunday will be observed as a patriotic day, when letters will be read from those in our parish who have been in the service. If it is possible to do so, it is barely possible that two or three who have returned from abroad will speak. An invitation has been extended to them, but up to this writing, no reply has been received.

Federated Church.

Next Sunday will be observed as Health Sunday, the pastor's topic being "Religion and Health."

The attendance at the Wednesday evening fellowship service, as well as at the preaching service and Sunday School is increasing. The topic next week will be "The Old Home Church."

Rev. Howard F. Legg attended the meeting of the Methodist preachers in Fall River, Monday and Tuesday, and before returning home visited Worcester, driving down his car Wednesday.

An important meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school was held Wednesday evening, when plans for re-arranging the classes in the Sunday school were considered.

The reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. Howard F. Legg on Friday evening was a most delightful social occasion, the vestry being none too large to hold those assembled to extend a formal welcome to the new pastor and wife, who were assisted in receiving by Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie, Miss Newcomb and Mrs. Le Forest Carpenter. At the formal exercises William L. Nye presided most acceptably, and after extending a hearty welcome, called upon Rev. A. L. Fenderson, rector of St. John's church, who voiced a sincere greeting from himself and his people. Corpus Christi church, in the unavoidable absence of the pastor, Rev. George C. Maxwell was represented by Postmaster George T. McLaughlin and Selectman Charles E. Brady and other speakers were Dr. E. S. Talbot and H. L. Chipman. Interspersed with the addresses a pleasing literary and musical program was rendered, including solos by Mrs. Edson More and Miss Ida Nye, a trio by Charles S. Lloyd, Miss Nye and Mrs. M. H. Whitney, and readings by Mrs. S M. Beale. At the close of the program refreshments of cake and ice cream were served, and after an informal social hour the company departed for home.

Card Party.

The third of a series of whist parties will be given by the ladies of Corpus Christi parish on Friday evening, Feb. 14 (St. Valentine's day), at the Town hall. Admission 50 cents.

During intermission refreshments will be on sale.

Costume Ball.

Posters are out announcing the costume ball, to be given by the senior class of the Sandwich High school on the evening of Friday, Feb. 21, with music by Hoey's fourpiece orchestra.

A good time is assured to all.

Red Cross Meeting!

An all day conference of "Home Service and After Care" committees (A. R C.) was held at the Town hall on Wednesday, February 5th

A large number of delegates from the Cape towns were present. The following speakers were listened to with much interest: Miss Turner, Child Welfare Committee of the Cape, Miss Rowe, field supervisor of Home Service, N. E. division; Elmer Howes, executive secretary, Cape Cod chapter; Mr. Luce, director of Bureau of Information, N. E. division of Home Service.

A very interesting paper on "After Care of the Soldier," by Mr. Cushman, was read by Miss Rowe. A fuller report of this meeting will be given next week.

On another page will be found an account of the presentation of a gold medal to Thornton W. Burgess, a distinguished son of Sandwich, by the New York Zoological society. By a peculiar coincidence, this event occurred on the birthday of Mr. Burgess. The medal was presented by Dr. Hornaday himself in the presence of some 800 people and the whole affair was a most brilliant one. Sandwich people are justly proud of the reputation already won by Mr. Burgess and will watch his future career with increasing interest.

S. Edson Morse was a Boston visitor today.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Clark have moved from the house of Frank O. Ellis, near the Congregational church, to the house of Miss K. H. Black on Cross street. The Ellis house is now occupied by Timothy Buckley and family.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. A .E. Pratt and Mrs. A. E. Boyden.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of twin sons.

Mrs. T. Eldred Hohway and Miss Ellen Nye Holway, who arrived last week from Boston, are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Talbot for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gremley entertained friends from Middleboro over the week-end.

A. C. Banks has been attending the New York auto show the present week.

Capt. Fletcher Clark, Jr., who received his discharge from the army last week, is spending a few days at his home here. After a short vacation he will resume the practice of law at Middleboro.

Miss Mary Hoxie was at home from the Bridgewater Normal school over Sunday.

Mrs. H. B. L. Dimmick and Miss Mertie Lovell were called to the Cape this week by the death of their sister-in-law, Mrs. W. B. Lovell of Marston Mills. While here they were the guests of their sister, Mrs. Eugene W. Haines.

NO OBSTACLE DAUNTS RATS

Rodents in Norway, When Setting Out to Exile, Have Never Been Known to Turn Aside.

The rats of Norway employ a remarkable method to avoid a famine. When starvation threatens, those that are chosen for exile assemble in countless thousands in the mountain valleys leading to the plains and pour across the country in a straight line, which is often more than a mile in length. They devour every green thing in their path, and the country through which they pass looks as if it had been plowed or burned with fire.

They march principally by night and during the morning, resting in the afternoon. No matter how abundant the food may be in any particular locality they do not seek to settle in it, for their destination is the sea, and nothing animate or inanimate, if it can be surmounted, retards the advance.

Foxes, lynxes, weasels, kites and owls hover on the rodents' line of march and destroy them by the hundreds. The fish in the rivers and lakes take their toll of them, too, but the survivors press onward.

A Cost of Forgiveness

G. Campbell Morgan says that a collier came to him at the close of one of his services and said: I would give anything to believe that God would forgive my sins, but I cannot believe that he will forgive them if I just turn to him. It is too cheap." I looked at him and said: "My dear friend, have you been working today?" "Yes, I was down in the pit as usual." "How did you get out of the pit?" "The way I usually do —I got into the cage, and was pulled to the top." "How much did you pay to come out of the pit." "Pay? Of course I didn't pay anything!" "Were you not afraid to trust yourself in that cage? Was it not too cheap?" "Oh no," he said, " it was cheap for me, but it cost the company a lot of money to sink that shaft." And without another word the truth of that admission broke upon him, and he saw if he could have salvation "without money and without price", it had cost the Infinite God a great price to sink that shaft and rescue lost men.

HYANNIS

Mrs. Willis L. Case

Mary Elizabeth, widow of Captain Willis L. Case, departed this life on Tuesday morning, Aug. 9, aged 65 years and 10 months.

Mrs. Case was born in Bath, Me., and was the youngest of eight children of Benjamin E. and Mary Ede Donnell and the last of the family to pass away.

Captain and Mrs. Case were married in Bath, coming soon after to Hyannis, and for about 40 years this was Mrs. Case's home.

Two daughters were born to Captain and Mrs. Case, the elder, Miss Maud L. Case, surviving her parents; the younger, Miss Lillian P. Case, died in 1912.

Captain Case's death occurred in March, 1919.

The funeral was held at her late home on Friday afternoon. Rev. W. G. Huber of North Attleboro, a former pastor, and Rev. B. F. Lindsay o the Baptist church, officiated at the simple service. "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" was sung by Miss Julia O'Neil. A blanket of roses covered the casket and many flowers surrounded it and in the family lot at Oak Grove cemetery around which relatives and neighbors gathered, the committal service was read and the mortal remains laid away.

The bearers were Isaiah C. Sears, William E. Cushman, Winslow K. Thacher and Daniel L. Nye.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Boston, Miss Margaret Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. James N. Smith attended the pageant at Plymouth Wednesday.

MEGANSETT

Benefit Play

Friday evenin, Aug. 12, the girls of Camp Cowasset presented "The Worsted Man," a two-act musical comedy, by John Kendrick Bangs, in the Megansett Casino. The proceeds of the affair are to be given to the Cape Cod hospital at Pocasset.

The play is concerned with the adventures of a Worsted man, brought to life by the power of Highland Hill Waters, in a man-less hotel. He buys 10 hearts that careless owners have lost or left at the resort in previous seasons, and, armed with these, proposes to seven summer girls, offering each one a different heart. But his clever plan is discovered by the maidens, who, in their wrath, unravel him, leaving only an old afghan.

The play was coached by Miss Muriel Fisher, the dramatic councillor, and Miss Mildred Martin, the musical councillor of the camp.

Water Sports

The water sports off the Long wharf Saturday afternoon were witnessed by a large gathering of people. There were contests of diving and swimming for married and unmarried women, and men and boys. Rowing matches were participated in by the men.

Sagamore Beach

The first religious service of the season was held in Assembly hall on Sunday morning, the residents of the beach and the congregation of the Swift Memorial church uniting as they did last summer. In spite of unfavorable weather, there was a large attendance. The children came in numbers and were rewarded by hearing a very pretty story told by Miss Miriam Lathrop. The Misses Janet Gibb and Ruth Braman sang the duet, "Love Divine", and Miss Gibb rendered the solo, "Believe in Him". Mrs. Harold Clark presided at the piano. Rev. Oliver Bell preached a sermon appropriate to Fourth of July from the text, "They shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruninghooks, neither shall they learn war any more." He emphasized the point that the reign of peace must be brought about by the establishment of the kingdom of God in the hearts of individual men, and not by legislation or the expenditure of wealth.

Next Sunday the preacher will be Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. Dr. Root is much interested in the experiment in church union whereby Mr. Bell is now serving four preaching points. The children's story for next Sunday will be told by Mrs. Elbert Harvey. It is hoped there will be a large attendance. Come all, and bring the children.

Plans for the Get-together dinner are progressing. It will probably be held at the Bradford Arms on the evening of July 16. Mrs. Fuller, the president of the Colony club, is desirous that not only the members of the club but all the lessees of cottages should avail themselves of this opportunity for getting acquainted with one another.

Many of the old residents are returning for the season. Among them we note Mrs. Samuel Webber and her daughters. Dr. Webber, long a familiar figure at the Beach, died during the last winter. He was a distinguished physician, a graduate of Harvard college, and a veteran of the Civil War.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacey of Dubuque, Iowa, with their family, are in the Wolcott cottage. Mrs. Clive Lacey has rented the Souther cottage and Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Hammett are in the second Crockett cottage. Mrs. Lacey's aunts, Mrs. Kenney of Chicago and Miss Mooney of New York, are in Miss Wood's cottage.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bigelow, who are spending July in the A. H. Wood cottage, also Mr. and Mrs. Sidney True and DeWitt True, who are as usual in their own cottage, Truehurst. In the same neighborhood we note the arrival of Mrs. Mulford and her friend, Miss Brown, at Mrs. H. C. Fuller's. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Clark and family are at the Clark farmhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Harvey received a most cordial greeting at the service in Assembly hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden are in their cottage for two weeks, and Mrs. E. S. Barker has returned to the Phinney cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Larcom and family will be in the Amos R. Wells house. Others who have returned for another season are Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Carter of Needham Heights; the Misses Blinkhorn; Miss Lundin; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Andrews; and Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Cathcart, all of whom are cottage owners. Mr. Andrews, who is now in Europe, has bought the Marion Bates cottage and it is now occupied by Mr. Emmett.

Among the lesses, many of whom are making their first visit to Sagamore, are Mrs. Jean B. Ayers in the Brewer cottage; Mrs. F. M. Webster of Wellesley Farms in the Farnham cottage; Mr. Fay and family in the Kneeland cottage; Mr. Meyhardt in the Whiting cottage; F. E. Foster of Chicago in the second Green cottage; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hill and family in the Upham cottage, and Mr. Adams of Sagamore in the Taylor cottage.

Mrs. Anita Davis Chase, the well-known Boston concert manager, is in the Osgood cottage; the Tucker cottage is occupied by Lieut. Alden H. Waitt; the Penniman cottage is leased to Mr. Walker for July, and to Mr. Reed for August; Mrs. Wadsworth and son and Miss Wadsworth are in the Wolcott house for July; Mr. Wadsworth, well known to the older residents, and formerly trustee of the Wolcott estate, died last year. Mrs. H. B. Goodfriend of Searsdale, N. Y., is the occupant of the Whitcomb cottage. The McIntyre cottage has been occupied for two weeks by the Misses Rice.

Dr. T. Otis Loveland of Boston spent ten days with his son, Dr. Stirling N. Loveland, who, with his family, have taken a lease of the Newell cottage for the season.

Oliver A. Johnson has bought, through Mr. Twombly, seven lots adjoining his own cottage.

The first meeting of the Reading Circle was held on Tuesday and will be reported next week.

The frequent rains have kept the lawns in good condition. Dr. Hawes's corner is most attractive with its gay flower border.

WANTED: I have an upright piano that has been used so little that you can hardly tell it from new. The case is mahogany of a very pretty pattern. I will place this piano with some respectable family and pay the expenses of cartage. The children may have the free use of it while it is there. I am quite anxious to sell this instrument if I can, and to the right party will make terms easy, if necessary. It is not a cheaply-constructed piano, but one of the Ivers & Pond make. I will ask you to write at once and give full particulars, as I must make some disposition at once. Write Box 312, Sandwich. (Advertisement).

In a recent issue of this paper appeared an item to the effect that Mrs. Samuel C. Lovell of Mansfield had been at her cottage. We learn that the item should have read that Mrs. Willard C. Lovell of Boston had been here for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook are entertaining Mrs. Cook's mother from Waltham.

Nat Burgess entertained two young men friends from Boston over the Fourth.

Mrs. C. W. Clark is leaving Tuesday for St. John, N. B., where she will join Mr. Clark, and they will motor from there to Prince Edward Island for a three weeks' trip. W. C. Collet of Brookline will accompany her and motor with them to the Island.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fabian are entertaining Mrs. Fabian's stepfather.

Myles Walsh, accompanied by Miss Jean Walsh, arrived from New York on Saturday morning to spend the Fourth at Shore Boulders. Miss Lydia Walsh will be there for the month of July.

Miss Dorothy Congdon, after spending a few days with Mrs. Robert Burgess, left on Monday for a short visit with friends in New Hampshire, after which she will go to act as counsellor at a girls' camp at Denmark, Me.

Mrs. Forest Kendrick is visiting her son, during which they will take a motor trip to Maine.

Mrs. Golden and the Misses Maud and Florence Golden were week end visitors at "Restmore."

Mrs. R. H. Disney has been quite ill with a cold.

Mrs. Amelda A. Curry has sold a house lot on Shore road, adjoining Dixon's garage, to Donald Dixon. Mr. Dixon will build a nice house for his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Holbrook of Mattapoisett have leased Harold L. Crump's attractive bungalow on Lincoln avenue, and moved in last week.

Sale July 9, Saturday only, of ladies' shoes. F. C. Eldridge, Bourne. (Advertisement).

Miss Evelyn C. Perry, teacher of music in North Adams Normal school, arrived last week and opened her house on Pine avenue for the summer.

Mrs. Andrew H. Fleming and daughter Geraldine of Everett have been guests for several weeks of Mrs. Stowell, Bourne district nurse, at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gardner and son Donald have arrived and are at their summer home. Their little grand-daughter, Miss Daphne Dunbar, is their guest.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Smith of Toronto, Can., have leased Arthur T. Knowles's cottage on Wyman avenue for the season.

George P. Gardener's chauffeur was run into on Tuesday and cut so badly that 18 stitches had to be taken.

Miss Miriam A. Bond, one of the High school teachers, sailed on Tuesday at midnight on the Berengaria, and will spend the summer abroad.

Mrs. William F. Swift, her two daughters, Mrs. Harry Nightengale and Mrs. E. H. Lathrop, and Mrs. C. H. Phinney motored to New Bedford for the day on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bragg and two children of Dorchester have arrived at their new summer home on Beach street for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan L. Bourne have heard from their daughter, Miss Dorothy, who safely arrived in Europe, and had a delightful trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Perry, two sons and her mother of Hyde Park, have arrived at their cosy bungalow for the summer.

Miss Helen Bourne spent three days of last week at Amherst college.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Rowcliffe are receiving congratulations on the birth of a fine baby girl, born June 29. Mother and baby are getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan King, and son and daughter of Hyde Park spent the week end and holiday at Nathan L. Bourne's.

Miss Beth Bourne of New Hampshire spent the week end and holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Bourne.

Sunday evening was the first of the evening services at the Monument Beach chapel. Mrs. Charles S. Braley has charge of the junior choir.

Mrs. Francis Atkins and daughter Barbara spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Walter Raleigh. We regret to learn that their father, George W. Perry, is very poorly.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marston, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Arey and three children of Campello, arrived at Mr. Marston's summer cottage on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Head have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Mason and family and Mr. and Mrs. Snow and family of Providence, R. I.

The Ladies' Aid society will give the pastor, Rev. E. J. Curry, a reception on Friday evening, July 8, at 8 o'clock. Ladies please bring cake.

Sagamore Beach

The first religious service of the season was held in Assembly hall on Sunday morning, the residents of the beach and the congregation of the Swift Memorial church uniting as they did last summer. In spite of unfavorable weather, there was a large attendance. The children came in numbers and were rewarded by hearing a very pretty story told by Miss Miriam Lathrop. The Misses Janet Gibb and Ruth Braman sang the duet, "Love Divine", and Miss Gibb rendered the solo, "Believe in Him". Mrs. Harold Clark presided at the piano. Rev. Oliver Bell preached a sermon appropriate to Fourth of July from the text, "They shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruninghooks, neither shall they learn war any more." He emphasized the point that the reign of peace must be brought about by the establishment of the kingdom of God in the hearts of individual men, and not by legislation or the expenditure of wealth.

Next Sunday the preacher will be Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. Dr. Root is much interested in the experiment in church union whereby Mr. Bell is now serving four preaching points. The children's story for next Sunday will be told by Mrs. Elbert Harvey. It is hoped there will be a large attendance. Come all, and bring the children.

Plans for the Get-together dinner are progressing. It will probably be held at the Bradford Arms on the evening of July 16. Mrs. Fuller, the president of the Colony club, is desirous that not only the members of the club but all the lessees of cottages should avail themselves of this opportunity for getting acquainted with one another.

Many of the old residents are returning for the season. Among them we note Mrs. Samuel Webber and her daughters. Dr. Webber, long a familiar figure at the Beach, died during the last winter. He was a distinguished physician, a graduate of Harvard college, and a veteran of the Civil War.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacey of Dubuque, Iowa, with their family, are in the Wolcott cottage. Mrs. Clive Lacey has rented the Souther cottage and Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Hammett are in the second Crockett cottage. Mrs. Lacey's aunts, Mrs. Kenney of Chicago and Miss Mooney of New York, are in Miss Wood's cottage.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bigelow, who are spending July in the A. H. Wood cottage, also Mr. and Mrs. Sidney True and DeWitt True, who are as usual in their own cottage, Truehurst. In the same neighborhood we note the arrival of Mrs. Mulford and her friend, Miss Brown, at Mrs. H. C. Fuller's. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Clark and family are at the Clark farmhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Harvey received a most cordial greeting at the service in Assembly hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden are in their cottage for two weeks, and Mrs. E. S. Barker has returned to the Phinney cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Larcom and family will be in the Amos R. Wells house. Others who have returned for another season are Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Carter of Needham Heights; the Misses Blinkhorn; Miss Lundin; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur E. Andrews; and Rev. and Mrs. S. M. Cathcart, all of whom are cottage owners. Mr. Andrews, who is now in Europe, has bought the Marion Bates cottage and it is now occupied by Mr. Emmett.

Among the lesses, many of whom are making their first visit to Sagamore, are Mrs. Jean B. Ayers in the Brewer cottage; Mrs. F. M. Webster of Wellesley Farms in the Farnham cottage; Mr. Fay and family in the Kneeland cottage; Mr. Meyhardt in the Whiting cottage; F. E. Foster of Chicago in the second Green cottage; Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hill and family in the Upham cottage, and Mr. Adams of Sagamore in the Taylor cottage.

Mrs. Anita Davis Chase, the well-known Boston concert manager, is in the Osgood cottage; the Tucker cottage is occupied by Lieut. Alden H. Waitt; the Penniman cottage is leased to Mr. Walker for July, and to Mr. Reed for August; Mrs. Wadsworth and son and Miss Wadsworth are in the Wolcott house for July; Mr. Wadsworth, well known to the older residents, and formerly trustee of the Wolcott estate, died last year. Mrs. H. B. Goodfriend of Searsdale, N. Y., is the occupant of the Whitcomb cottage. The McIntyre cottage has been occupied for two weeks by the Misses Rice.

Dr. T. Otis Loveland of Boston spent ten days with his son, Dr. Stirling N. Loveland, who, with his family, have taken a lease of the Newell cottage for the season.

Oliver A. Johnson has bought, through Mr. Twombly, seven lots adjoining his own cottage.

The first meeting of the Reading Circle was held on Tuesday and will be reported next week.

The frequent rains have kept the lawns in good condition. Dr. Hawes's corner is most attractive with its gay flower border.

Mr. and Mrs. Nye and Mr. and Mrs. Tye of Brockton were here at their camp on Snake Pond during the holiday.

Willard F. Gleason died here last Sunday, June 26. Mr. Gleason came from Holbrook and was in partnership in business with the late James Nye in Brockton. Mr. Gleason has been coming here summers for several years and we shall miss seeing him.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and family are at their camp on Wakeby lake.

Flax Production

Under average conditions the harvesting time for flax is about eighty days after planting, though this period may vary from 70 to 100 days, according to the season. Extremely hot and dry weather will shorten the growing period, while cool, damp weather tends to lengthen it.

Methodist Church

A largely attended service for Finns was held Sunday afternoon, the speaker peing pastor of the Finnish Church at Quincy.

Rev. H. Felton was the preacher at the union Thanksgiving service, held Wednesday evening at the Congregational Church.

The semi-annual gathering of the Barnstable County Conference of Congregational churches will be held next May with the Sandwich church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Boyden and son were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meigs, South Sandwich, yesterday.

Rev. O. L. Griswold and family of Whitman arrived Tuesday for a several days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Treasurer Morse of the Sandwich Trout Co. was in town Friday, and was accompanied by a party of friends from Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. MacDonald are entertaining their son and wife from Taunton.

C. E. Pope, Sagamore's live real estate agent, has just sold and deeded to a syndicate of four, a tract of land adjoining the Keith Company's boarding-houses, for commercial purposes. Mr. Pope has also sold a building in this village, to be removed to other premises.

H. H. Rennell has returned from a short visit to his home in Bridgeport, Conn. Mr. Rennell was also present at the Harvard-Yale foot-ball game in New Haven Saturday.

Rev. Milton R. Kerr concluded his services as pastor of the First Parish Church Sunday, and the same day left for his new field of labor at Greeley, Col., where he has accepted the pastorate of a large and influential parish. Mr. Kerr has been a resident of Sandwich since the spring of 1901, and has won a warm place in the hearts of the people here. Always interested in the welfare of the whole community, he has actively participated in town affairs and has rendered efficient service on the school committee and board of trustees of the public library. He will be generally missed and the best wishes of all go with him to his new field of labor. Mr. Kerr's family will remain here for the present.

Miss Martha Newcomb leaves today for a short visit to Boston.

Mr and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie and Miss Mary Hoxie of Brockton are spending a few days at Orchard Knoll, Spring Hill.

Postmaster and Mrs. F. K. Irwin and family of Cataumet were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Irwin over Sunday.

Miss Grace Fessenden is spending a part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Bassett at Taunton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Waterman have closed their home on Main street, and have gone to Somerville for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Barrows of Mattapoisett are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Parks.

Willard Atkins of Wollaston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Atkins, was the winner of the prize recently offered for the boy who would raise the largest amount of money toward the building fund of the new Union Church in that place. The sum secured by Master Atkins was nearly $20 more than his nearest competitor, and his reward was a miniature yacht, some four feet high and complete in every detail.

Church Notes

Rev. Mr. Herbert preached to a very large congregation Sunday evening.

The subject for the sermon next Sunday afternoon will be "Two Promises of God," and in the evening, "The Leper's Cry."

At the Wednesday evening service Mr. Herbert will continue his short talks on "Come and Go."

Mr. and Mrs. Lysander B. Godfrey returned home from their wedding trip Saturday, and were present at the Sunday evening service.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Hammond of Pocasset came over to attend the preaching service Sunday evening. Quite a number from Forestdale were also present.

There will be an entertainment and a sale of fancy articles in the hall next Tuesday.

There will be a salad supper in the vestry Tuesday evening, Dec. 1, from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Nelson Simons of Onset is visiting his mother and sister here.

Miss Martha J. Peters has returned from Pocasset, where she has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Hammond.

A dance was given at the Town Hall Friday night by Henry Potter of Sagamore, music being furnished by Mr. Potter and Walter Besse.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Oakley gave a birthday party Saturday in honor of their son, Allen, who was 17 on that day. Many were present and all had a most enjoyable time, with games, graphaphone selections and music furnished by Miss Emma Oakley and Eddie Amos. One game, proposed by Oren Peters, proved great fun for the girls and a joke upon the boys. Master Allen was the recipient of several nice presents.

Chas. N. Collins, Allen T. Oakley, Oren B Peters and Ellsworth Braley returned last week from Nantucket, where they enjoyed a four days' hunting trip. While on the island they made their headquarters at the Nesbitt House and were guided by two residents of the town, who claimed to have the best hunting dogs on the island. Caesar, the dog of Mr. Oakley, proved to be the better animal, however. The experiences of these gunners have proved of interest to their many friends here.

Have One Doctor

No sense in running from one doctor to another. Select the best one, then stand by him. Do not delay, but consult him in time when you are sick. Ask his opinion of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds. Then use it or not, just as he says.

Ayer's We publish our formulas. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor

Always keep a box of Ayer's Pills in the house. Just one pill at bedtime, now and then, will ward off many an attack of biliousness, indigestion, sick headache. How many years has your doctor known these pills? Ask him all about them.

BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infantile Eczema Quickly Relieved by External Use of Oil of Wintergreen Compound.

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years at last seems to be curable—and curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, infantile eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as in D. D. D. Prescription.

The Rev. Lewis Steeley of Weatherly, Pa., writes:

"Our baby boy's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the sores nearly all the time. After using 3 1-2 bottles of the D. D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way a help to other sufferers, you may publish it."

If you have a child which is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will not neglect one hour to give your baby the right kind of relief. We have seen too often how quickly the remedy mentioned above takes the itch away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent; we have seen this too often to hesitate at all in recommending the remedy for your children.

"Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease—croup. Has been used with success in our family for eight years."—Mrs. L. Whiteacre, Buffalo, N. Y.

SAGAMORE

Church Notes

The Sunday evening service was largely attended. Rev. Arthur Wadsworth gave a very interesting stereopticon lecture entitled "The Prodigal Son," after which that well known song, "Throw Out the Life-line," was sung by Mr. Parker and illustrated by Mr. Wadsworth.

Through the medium of this paper we wish to cordially thank all those who so generously gave wearing apparel, jellies, vegetables, fruit, preserves, etc., for the Thanksgiving donation for the Deaconess' Home, Fall River. We greatly appreciate the kindness and generosity of the people of the community and we take great pleasure to inform you that there were at least forty jars of preserves and jellies, two dozen of canned goods, a huge box of fruit and vegetables and a box and barrel of clothing.

MERCY AND HELP DEPT.

At the next session of the Sagamore Whist Club at Liberty Hall, the gentlemen are to assume the alternative and provide and serve the supper at 10.30. The committee has been chosen by the ladies, and consists of B. B. Abbe, Walter E. R. Nye, C. E Pope, Parkhurst Page, Benj. Swift and S. H. Swift.

Mrs. H. G. Jenkins has returned from an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Morse of Osterville.

The new market of K. T. Brown was opened to the public Wednesday as advertised in these columns. Mr. Brown reports a gratifying trade on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. LeLacheur and family moved Tuesday to their new home on Hunter's Brook road.

B. B. Abbe captured a fine fox Saturday, being aided by his new hound.

The finishing touches are being put upon the new block, which is unquestionably the finest business structure on Cape Cod, and one of the best in the entire state. We learn that every one of the 11 stores has been leased and that they will be opened for business in the course of a few weeks. From present appearances this once quiet village is destined to become the center of commercial activity for this section of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Atherton were in Boston one day last week.

A very pleasant evening was reported at the whist party last Wednesday. Next week a committee of six men has been chosen to furnish and serve the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Hicks spent Thanksgiving with their parents in Taunton.

Mrs. Wm. E. Nye and Carleton S. Nye of Wareham spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Nathan Nye.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith recently made a short visit with relatives in Middleboro.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Wm. H. Ware of White Island is quite ill with typhoid fever.

The Misses Griffin of Wareham were the guests of Miss Nellie F. Covill, Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Nye of Mt. Holyoke College spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. R. Nye.

Mrs. Frank O. Bray is going to the hospital Saturday for an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Geo. T. Perkins was in Boston Tuesday.

Miss Dorothy Nye spent Thanksgiving with her grandmother, Mrs. Nathan Nye.

Among those who spent the holiday out of town were Fred S. Brown at East Weymouth, C. Bearse at Harwich, A. Jordan at Bridgewater, Geo. Francis at Provincetown and Dr. E. F. Curry at Melrose.

E. S. Clark has an announcement of interest to our readers, in another column of this week's paper.

Mrs. Lydia B. Perry is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Foster at their home in New Bedford.

News has been received of the death of Henry W. B. Burgess at the home of his son in Somerville. The deceased was a native of this village and was 81 years of age. He is survived by two sons, George F. Burgess of San Francisco and Wm. H. Burgess of Somerville.

Orent & Co. report an increasing and satisfactory trade at their new store. The public can always depend on getting good values in all lines of goods from this firm, and the constant growth of their business is not to be wondered at.

Mrs. E. Bourne Nye has been called to Netherby, Ontario, by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Beam.

As will be seen by our advertising columns William B. Nye is to open an office in the new block, for the sale and repair of jewelry, watches, etc.

Mrs. Laura A. Crowell and Miss Ada Crowell are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Nimmo at Fitchburg.

MONUMENT BEACH

The friends of Mrs. Mary C. Allen were saddened to learn of her death, which occurred at the home of her niece, Mrs. E. L. Nickerson, in Springfield, last Sunday. Mrs. Allen was a resident of this place for several years and had a number of friends here.

Mrs. E. H. Smith of the State Farm is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Perry.

A number from this place attended the High School fair at Bourne last week and some of the prizes were brought to the Beach. Miss Lena Perry again won the prize in the ladies' shooting contest, and her brother, William Perry, 2d, won the prize in the gentlemen's shooting contest.

Veazie L. Brackett has returned from Intervale, Me.

MRS. MARY ANN NYE

Mrs. Mary Ann Nye, wife of Steven B. Nye, died at Sandwich, Jan 11, 1913, at the age of 89.

Mrs. Nye was the daughter of Captain Freeman and Abigail Gibbs. She lived with her husband fifty-six years, and Jan. 25, 1892, they celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Nye died in 1898.

Mrs. Nye leaves two daughters, Elizabeth A., wife of William L. Nye, with whom she lived, and Hannah B., wife of Henry A. Belcher. She also leaves two grandchildren, Mary E. Nye, and Augustus S. Nye.

Mrs. Nye lived in the house where she died, seventy-two years, and is the last of a large family.

Mrs. Nye passed quietly and painlessly away on Saturday morning. She retained to the end her youthful, happy outlook on life, and her warm, affectionate interest for neighbors, friends and household. With faculties hardly dimmed by age, and a mind fresh, open and welcoming as a young girl's, she was a wonderful example of a rare womanhood persisting till the end.

With her gifts of mind and heart and her native sympathy for the joys and sorrow of all around her she was necessarily surrounded by a large and devoted circle of friends; and though many of these are long since gone, there are many who remain to "rise up and call her blessed."

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. K. Gifford, two appropriate musical selections, "Crossing the Bar", and "Sometime We'll Understand", being rendered by Miss Ida C. Nye of Sagamore. A number of out-of-town friends were in attendance and the floral offerings were unusually profuse and beautiful. Interment was in the family lot at Bay View.

"O blessed life of service and of love,
Full of such duties as God's angels know!
Thou servedst day and night, we thought, below.
O faithful heart that recked not care or pain,
When Duty called thee or when Love did lead,
Thou gavest freely, asking not again,
The word of comfort or the costly deed.

O gentle hands, so busy evermore
With healing touch or helpful tenderness!
'Twas yours to lift the burdens others bore,—
Your sole reward the joy of usefulness.
O tireless feet, still walking to the last
Your patient round, as noiseless as the sun!
Your toilsome journey now is over past,
Your years of pilgrimage at length are done.

We know not how to leave thee at the gate
That opens for thee toward that city high
Where other hands with loving welcome wait.
We long shall miss thee as we go our ways.
The home will miss thee from its broken band.
Full many a tear will tell thy sober praise,
And all good works will miss thy helping hand.

From toil and trouble thou hast earned release.
The pain of living ended in God's peace."

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

"The Peace of God" is Mr. Gifford's subject for next Sunday morning, Jan. 19.

On Monday evening, Jan. 20, at 8 o'clock, in the vestry of the church, Rev. Elmer S. Forbes, secretary of the Department of Social and Public Service of the American Unitarian Association, will speak on: "The Church and Social Service," under the auspices of the Unity club. All are welcome. Admission free.

W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 7, when the following officers were elected for 1913:

President—Mrs. T. P. Smith.
1st. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Emily F. Hoxie.
2nd. Vice Pres.—Mrs. Sarah M. Haines.
Sec.—Mrs. Elizabeth Clark.
Treas.—Mrs. Nettie E. Smith.

Superintendents of the following departments were elected: Scientific Temperance Instruction, Anti-Narcotics, Literature, Loyal Temperance Legion, Soldiers and Sailors.

For the work among sailors, the Union voted to send cakes and coffee for two socials at the Sailors' Bethel, Vineyard Haven. These socials are given when boats come in to stay a few days, the home made food being greatly appreciated by the boys. The Union also sends good reading matter to take with them on their voyages.

L. T. L.

President—Willard Boyden.
Secretary—Ethel Tinkham.
Treasurer—Seymour Clark.

A vote of thanks for their faithful service was given the retiring officers, George White, Arthur Gibbs and Elsie White.

The Legion enjoyed a social in the Congregational vestry from 4 to 6, Wednesday of this week.

The regular meetings will be every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Methodist vestry, until further notice. All young people, between the ages of 8 and 15 are cordially invited to join the Legion.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Until further notice, the official board will meet every Wednesday evening, at the close of the church prayer meetng.

The officers chosen by the Ladies' Aid society for the coming year are as follows: President, Mrs. Frank Smith; vice-president, Mrs. N. E. Tirrell; secretary, Miss Minnie C. Jones; treasurer, Miss Flora M. Clark; directors, Mrs. G. B. White, Mrs. P. T. Brown, Mrs. C. H. Chapouile, Mrs. F. N. Holway, Mrs. H. F. Hoxie, Mrs. Benjamin Irwin, Mrs. O. A. Jones, Mrs. J. S. Smith.

In recognition of the 86th birthday of their oldest member, Mrs. Ezra Wright, the Ladies' Aid society sent to her on Thursday, a beautiful bouquet of carnations. Mrs. Wright has been ill the past week, but is now recovering.

ENTERTAINMENT COURSE

The Town hall was well-filled Monday evening at the third entertainment in the series being given under the auspices of the Village Improvement society. The attraction of the occasion was Ray Newton, and the entertainment given by this wonderful magician, was decidedly novel and interesting, keeping the audience on the alert, and most of the time in a roar of laughter.

The fourth and last of the series comes on the evening of Monday, Feb. 10, when the University quartette, with reader, will be on hand. Beside furnishing the citizens of the town a delightful series of entertainments, the course has been a decided financial success.

DAVID C. PERCIVAL

David C. Percival, for nearly 50 years a leading wholesale jeweler of Boston, died Friday afternoon at his home at 60 Commonwealth avenue, from hardening of the arteries. Mr. Percival, who was in his 75th year, was president and director of the D. C. Percival company, in the Jewelers' Building. The firm also has offices in Philadelphia.

Mr. Percival was born in this town, the son of David C. and Sarah F. Percival. His father was a civil engineer, and was the town treasurer. After fitting for Harvard at Paul Wing's school, the boy showed preference for immediate entrance upon a business career, and found employment in the Boston jewelry house of Sackett, Davis & Co. Eight years later, in 1864, he embarked in business with two partners, under the name of D. C. Percival & Co. subsequently Percival & Morris, and still later, with a change in personnel, again D. C. Percival & Co. This was after being burned out in the Boston fire.

Mr. Percival was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and had been president of the Boston Jewelers' club. In addition to his Commonwealth avenue residence he had a summer estate at Marblehead Neck, and a homestead at Sandwich, where of late years, he had taken recreation annually. He was a member of the Algonquin club, Swampscott, and the Corinthian Yacht and Eastern Yacht clubs at Marblehead.

Mr. Percival married, in the early sixties, Miss Jennie P. Besse, who survives him. He also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Herman Parker, two sons, David C. Percival, Jr., and Lawrence F. Percival, both associated with him in business, also six grandchildren and a brother, Frank F. Percival. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home, Rev. Edward Cummings of the South Congregational church officiating. Representatives from most of the large jewelry firms of New England were present, as were members of the Boston Jewelers' club and all of his employees. Edward E. Hardy, F. M. Swan, H. H. Hilton and Herman Parker acted as ushers. The body was buried at Mt. Auburn.

The death of Mr. Percival brings sorrow to his native community. A few years ago he purchased the Braman place for a summer home and made extensive improvements upon the property. Here he spent as much time as possible, and was deeply interested in the town and its people, always ready and willing to help along any good cause, as evidenced by generous checks received a few days before his death for the Village Improvement society and the Volunteer Fire association.

Among those present at the funeral were C. H. Mooers and E. S. Clark.

SANDWICH WINTER CLUB

The regular meeting of the Sandwich Winter club met at the home of Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, Thursday, Jan. 9. The president, Mrs. Kinraide, presided. After the business session, it being "Sandwich day", many interesting items were read by members. The paper of the afternoon was written by Willilam L. Nye and read by Mrs. Belcher, the subject being, "Travel and Transportation." Mrs. Mary Carr sent an original poem, which was read by Mrs. Kinraide.

One item of interest was read by Mrs. Belcher, in which it was stated that in 1801, May 14, the town of Sandwich consented to a canal across the Isthmus of the Cape, for the construction of which application was being made to the legislature by sundry persons, for incorporation. More than one hundred years later, the canal is under construction.

Piano solos were given by a niece of Mrs. Kinraide, Miss Rachel Carpenter. After a cup of "good cheer" and a hand shake, the meeting adjourned.

Hannah B. Belcher, Sec., Pro Tem.

MRS. EDWARD BRADY

Brief mention was made in our last issue of the death of Mrs. Sarah Brady, widow of Edward Brady, who passed away Jan. 9, after a lingering illness, at the advanced age of 81 years. For some 60 years, Mrs. Brady had been a resident of Sandwich, and was held in the highest esteem by all.

The funeral services, held Saturday at Corpus Christi church were attended by many of the townspeople and a number of friends from away.

High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. J. F. Downey and the choir was under the direction of Miss Theresa McLaughlin, assisted by Miss Mary Rose Dalton. Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence. Interment was in the family lot at the Catholic cemetery, the pall bearers being Nicholas Black of Sandwich, John H. McNamee of New Bedford and John C. Buckley and William F. Dwyer of Brockton.

Mrs. Brady is survived by four children, Postmaster Charles E. Brady and Miss Ellen Brady of Sandwich, William J. Brady of Worcester and Robert T. Brady of Boston.

Mrs. Frank L. Howland and Miss Clara Howland have returned from a short visit to Brockton.

Eugene Perrote has sold his place at Spring Hill, formerly the Hambiln property, to Herman Toolas. Mr. Toolas will soon move his family to their new home and Mr. Perrote and family will live in their house in the village, formerly occupied by W. B. Wood and family, who have moved to the Burke house on Liberty street.

The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish church held an all-day meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. S. I. Morse.

The sad accident at Sagamore last week, an account of which is given in the Sagamore column, brought sorrow to many in this community. Mr. Dowd was boarding at the home of Thomas Craven, and although not a resident here for many months, had made many warm friends.

Mrs W.D. Macknight was in Boston today

Mrs. P. Braley, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hinds and Miss Hattie Gibbs were called from Middleboro last week by the critical illness of Mrs. Martin Gibbs. At present writing, Mrs. Gibbs is improving slowly, and her recovery is hoped for.

Mrs. George B. White and son, Austin, have been the recent guests of friends in Bridgewater and Wareham. Mr. White was also in Bridgewater over Sunday.

The residents of Spring Hill and East Sandwich are invited to attend a service at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie. Rev. S. M. Beale will be in charge.

Our readers should remember the lecture of Frank H. Pope, Esq. at the Town Hall next Fribay evening, under the auspices of the Board of Trade. The admission is free and it is hoped that the hall may be filled on this occasion.

THE BRIDGE QUESTION

Another Argument in Favor of Concrete Construction

To the Editor:

I have read with considerable interest Mr. Taylor's article, relative to the proposed Point Independence bridge, in this paper of January 10th.

I thoroughly agree with Mr. Taylor in his ideas of economy, as regards bridge construction, and feel certain that the town will be making no mistake in building the new bridge of reinforced concrete, in such a manner that there will be no part of the structure which can wear out or deterioritae, which will mean that the cost of maintenance will amount to practically nothing. In this connection, it is interesting to note the following extract from the Annual Report of the Massachusetts Highway Commission for the year ending November 30, 1908:

"In the construction of culverts and bridges, the Board has continued the use of reinforced concrete. The economic value of this material is so marked that rubble masonry for these structures has been abandoned. It is the feeling of the Board that all bridge floors, culvert tops, and guard fences should be, so far as possible, made of imperishable materials in order not only to save the cost of maintenance, but also the expense of inspection."

Point Independence bridge is located on the main thoroughfare to the Cape, and few people probably realize the volume of traffic passing over this bridge. I am informed by Mr. Besse, the highway surveyor, that on one Sunday, during the past summer, not less than 3800 vehicles passed over this bridge, within seven hours.

The present bridge, as is generally known, is in a dangerous condition, and owing to the type of construction and its condition, to repair it will mean practically to rebuild it.

Conditions, as they exist in the vicinity of the present bridge, are a constant menace to people using the bridge, as well as to pedestrians using the highway in the vicinity of either end of the bridge, owing to the combination of grades, curves, and location of car tracks. When a new bridge is built, it will be possible to remedy these conditions and practically eliminate danger from these sources.

A reinforced concrete arch bridge of suitable design and properly located will do much to improve the appearance of this section of the town, and in this connection, it is interesting to note the following extract from a recent editorial in the "Boston Herald":

"FOR BETTER BRIDGES"

"Two of the new bridges across the Cape Cod canal are now completed. By general consent, each one disfigures its district. The stilted bridge at Bourne, carrying the highway, may not have been designed piecemeal in hostile offices; but its appearance favors that hypothesis. The railroad draw bridge at Buzzards Bay neither scales with any thing in sight nor pleases by its own design. Its ugliness can not be grounded in mechanical necessities; the counter weight for the draw is so attached that when lowered, it threatens to break off by its own leverage. Had these two ungainly bridges been designed with some attention to their looks, they would have served better the permanent interests of the canal company, the railroad, the summer and winter residents from Onset to Bourne. For what the noise and the smoke of the canal dredgers have been to quiet-seeking visitors in these recent weeks, that, for many years to come, the silhouettes of these ill-considered bridges will be to the beauty-loving traveler and resident.

"These two bridges are but two of a large and growing class. All over the country, iron structures are replacing wooden bridges of earlier type or are being built for new lines of traffic. It was a great gain to the public, if they could be designed with franker regard for such beauty as truss and span and pier make possible. European designers long have looked upon a bridge as an architectural opportunity—a chance to grace a landscape with a pleasing touch of human thought and taste. And Americans, in and about the larger cities, have come to see what Paris, Florence and Venice saw long ago: The singular picturesqueness, even the severe elegance, of a good bridge. Here at Boston, the parkway culverts, great and small, the echoing arch at Newton, above all Mr. Wheelwright's bridge across the Charles, demonstrate the pictorial value of these flying stuctures, when made beautiful by refining their adaptations.

"An ugly bridge is an injury to the public; by defacing the landscape, it wrongs the people at large, to whom the landscape belongs. In many matters involving the public's rights, Massachusetts has a ready set her sister states a good example. The commonwealth could wisely take another forward step by directing that designs for important bridges, whether intended for railroad or highway, should obtain approval from the State Art Commission."

Better bridges and better facilities for accommodating the ever-increasing travel by automobile and otherwise are bound to bring business to any town or community and will leave, in the minds of these people traveling through these towns, a pleasant recollection which must be of benefit to the town.

Mr. Taylor refers to a bridge 40 feet wide and 120 feet long, and estimates the cost of a concrete arch bridge of this size at $20,000. As a matter of fact, the bridge which will be required will be of the same width and about twice as long, and the estimated cost will be in the vicinity of $40,000. This will be very close to the cost of a proper and substantial bridge, which will be a permanent structure in every sense of the word. There are, at present, various patented bridges of reinforced concrete, some of which are good and others bad. In any piece of municipal work, the best is none too good, and is always the cheapest in the long run. The experience of some towns and cities, with reinforced concrete bridges of various types, some of which have proved successes and others failures, is the best argument for a substantial bridge in this location, of proper design and artistic appearance.

Owing to the peculiar location of this bridge, which is at the terminus of the present State highway; which is paralleled by a wooden structure used by the Street Railway company, and over which the proportion of local traffic is small as compared with that from other parts of the state and country, it seems proper that a large portion of the cost of construction should be borne by others than the Town. The railway company would, undoubtedly, be glad to use the new structure, as this would do away with the cost of repairs and maintenance on the present trestle.

Mr. Taylor, in his article, distributes the cost of the proposed structure in the following way: Railway company, 10 per cent; state, 15 per cent; county, 25 per cent; town, 50 per cent.

I should be inclined to revise these figures somewhat, and would suggest the following distribution:

Railway company, 12½ per cent, $5,000.
County, 25 per cent, $10,000.
State, 25 per cent, $10,000.
Town, 37½ per cent, $15,000.
Total, $40,000.

The writer has spent considerable time in investigating this matter, and has prepared plans and a number of tentative designs and estimates for various types of structures at this point, and feels that a reinforced concrete archbridge, which will cost approximately the amount above named, is the bridge which should be built, and even if the cost is not distributed as suggested above, yet the Town would be making no mistake to build this bridge, even though the burden of cost may fall a little more heavily upon it.

The comparison of the total interest charges and sinking fund requirements necessary to provide for the construction of this type of bridge, as compared with the cost of continual repairs and the cost of new structures as the old ones of other types wear out, should convince the thinking citizen that the recommended course is the one which should be followed.

BOURNEDALE

The house owned by the Canal Co., situated near the former Bournedale cemetery, was totally destroyed by fire Friday night of last week, and so rapid was the work of the flames that scarcely any of the contents were saved. The building was being used as a boarding house kept by Mrs. A. F. Cahoon, formerly of Bourne, who lost all her clothing and personal effects. The fire broke out late in the evening, and is thought to have started from a defective chimney. Fortunately all escaped from the burning building without serious injury.

Village Improvement Society.

The Village Improvement society will meet Monday evening, Jan. 20, with Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Myhre. The last meeting was held Jan. 6, at the home of Robert H. Raymond. Although some of the members were necessarily absent, the meeting was full of interest. A report of the village Christmas tree was given, in which it was stated that about 125 people were present, each receiving a Christmas card, a bag of candy, and a little remembrance. The entertainment consisting of music by the Kazoo band, a beautiful rendering of "The Holy City" and "In Old Judea" by Mrs. Seth H. Swift of Sagamore, speaking by the children, and a short address by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Darby, was sincerely appreciated, and caused the Christmas spirit of good will to be felt by all. After the reports were given, other business was transacted, and so much time was consumed by this, that it was decided that the social hour, which usually follows the business meeting, should be omitted, and the program prepared for it be carried out at the next meeting. The business, however, was of such general interest, that it was participated in by all, and it was agreed that business and sociability had been most ideally combined in this meeting.

OSTERVILLE

VILLAGE HALL

Tuesday night the stockholders of the Union Hall association met there for the purpose of electing the annual officers. The meeting was called to order by the president. Reading of the call and records by the clerk, A. L. Robbins; report of the treasurer, J. A. Long; a summary of the expenditures by agent G. W. Hallet which were accepted. The financial condition stood as follows:

Amount on hand Jan. 1, 1912,	$105 72
Earnings for year,	256 59
Total,	362 31
Expenditures,	341 46
Bal. in Treas. Jan. 1, 1913	20.85

After the reports were read the business of electing officers took place. W. F. Fuller and Harold Crosby were appointed tellers and served very acceptably. The first ballot cast resulted in J. M. Leonard for president; the second for vice president was a tie between Mrs. Milton Crosby and Mrs. Charles Crosby. A recast and the balanbe was in favor of Mrs. Milton Crosby but contrary to the entreaties of her friends who would have enjoyed seeing her in office, she graciously declined the honor; the third ballot and our esteemed friend, Mrs. Charles Crosby, who is prominent in all public matters came in with flying colors; J. M. Lovell, treasurer; A. L. Robbins, clerk; G. W. Hallet, trustee; Charles Lewis, J. M. Lovell.

One of the pleasant features of the evening was the presentation of the very generous gift of $59 to the stockholders from our esteemed fellow townsman, G. Wnbster Hallet, it being the balance due him on the cost of installing acetylene gas in the hall. Mr. Hallet deserves much credit for the public spirit and interest he has manifested in such a generous manner. Coming at such a time when the financial condition is rather low makes it greatly appreciated. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to him.

The village hall should be of interest to all even though owned by private individuals. It is connected in many ways with many of our good times, both socially and in other manners It lends a dignity to any village to have a large hall where public meetings can be held and all should help along what contributes to the betterment of the town.

THROUGH THE CANAL

Dike Removed and Water Flowing Through. August Belmont Takes Trip in a Row-Boat

August Belmont, head of the syndicate that built the Cape Cod canal, came to Buzzards Bay July 4 from New York for the sole purpose of being the first man to go through the opening in the dike that on Friday united for the first time the waters of Buzzards bay and Cape Cod bay.

He arrived on his yacht Scout late in the afternoon, entering the canal from the Buzzards Bay end nearly to the dike, where the water was running through at the rate of 10 miles an hour.

The opening in the dike, which was about five feet wide on Friday, had been extended to a width of 100 feet Saturday by the action of the tide running through. In melting away, the dike left large bowlders, among which the water formed many whirlpools.

While waiting for tidal conditions under which he could safely go through the opening, Mr. Belmont went ashore and met the chief engineer, William Barclay Parsons, and Frank Furst of Baltimore, head of the company that did the construction work.

Soon after 6 p. m. Mr. Belmont prepared to go through in the tender of his yacht, a small rowboat. Mr. Belmont rowed, having in the bow of the boat Mrs. William Barclay Parsons, and in the stern his son, Raymond Belmont, and Mr. Parsons.

The word to start was given by C. T. Waring, one of the engineers, who watched at the opening in the dike until "slack water" prevailed. The party went through the gap in the dike several hundred feet and then back again, about 100 persons on shore cheering and applauding. Many who had come earlier to see the ceremonial had gone away before Mr. Belmont arrived.

A second boat, which went through soon after Mr. Belmont's, contained Mr. Waring, Frank A. Furst, H. A. Andrews, A. S. Ackerman and W. S. Crocker. Mr. Belmont, before departing, expressed great satisfaction with the outcome of his visit.

SAGAMORE

BEN LOMOND GOLF CLUB

The first and second rounds in the match play tournament of July 4 eliminated all but Messrs. Barrows, Dalton, Lloyd and Proctor. In the semi-finals, July 11, Mr. Barrows will ply Mr. Dalton, and Mr. Lloyd will play Dr. Proctor.

A CARD

For the flowers and other expressions of friendship shown to Mrs. Nathan Nye in her illness, and for the sympathy and kindness shown to them in their recent bereavement, the family wishes to thank most sincerely all friends and acquaintances.

Ask to see a copy of "The Gam" at Adams' pharmacy. See aduertisement in another column.

Misses Hilda Perkins and Carolyn Crosby visited Boston Monday, to meet Miss Crosby's roommate of Northfield, Miss Genevieve Goodale of Syracuse, N. Y., who arrived on the 10 a. m. train. Miss Goodale is to be Miss Crosby's guest for July.

Miss Corabelle Ellis of Boston was at home over the Fourth.

The Bosworths of Brockton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Gibbs this week.

The stockholders' meeting of Liberty hall will be held in the Kabeyan club rooms Saturday evening, July 11. A full attendance is desired.

Hazel Small is visiting relatives in Taunton.

Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst Page are entertaining Rev. W. C. Darby this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas have had as their guest, for the past week, Mrs. Thomas' father of Malden.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas of New York are the guests of Mrs. Ellen Swift.

Master Henry and Miss Helena Howes of East Dennis have been the recent guests of their sister, Mrs. B. B. Swift.

Miss Nettie Crowell and her niece, Miss Genevieve McHenry, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Baxter in Roslindale.

Frank Howes of East Dennis came up in his new touring car Sunday, calling on his sisters, Mrs. Gibbs and Mrs. Perkins, as he passed through Sagamore.

Next Sunday will be Christian Endeavor Sunday at the Swift Memorial church, when Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlain of Newton, president of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor union, will preach the sermon.

W. C. Bartley has been called to Wakefield by the death of his mother, who died of pneumonia. It was only one week after the death of Mr. Bartley's aunt, his mother's sister.

An exceedingly interesting sermon was given by the pastor of the Swift Memorial church, Rev. Mr. Bruce, last Sunday morning, from Galatians 5:13-14. A good sized audience was in attendance. Mrs. Seth Swift gave a solo. Directly after the sermon, Holy Communion was administered to a large number of communicants, many of them our neighbors from the Sagamore Beach colony. The evening service was also especially interesting. After a service of song, led by John L. Gibbs, prayer was offered and scripture read by the pastor, who cordially invited the former pastor, Rev. W. C. Darby, to address the meeting. Mr. Darby, who is spending a part of his summer vacation among his former parishioners here, have a very inspiring and uplifting talk. "Efficiency" was the keynote of his spirited and earnest remarks. Mr. Bruce followed in much the same vein, encouraging all to press onward "toward the mark of the high calling". Jared Aiken, who has long been a member of the congregation, united with the church by letter at the morning service.

There will be only one more meeting of the Ladies' Aid before the fair, which is to be held afternoon and evening of July 16. Anyone having unfinished work at home will please have the same finished before the fair and sent to Mrs. Parkhurst Page, chairman of the sewing committee. The fancy work table will be in charge of Mrs. Page, while Miss Lennie Crowell will be in charge of the apron table and will show you aprons of all sizes and styles, also take orders for aprons. Mrs. Bruce will have the handkerchief table and Mrs. Keith and Mrs. John Gibbs will demonstrate a new cleansing cloth for silver. There is to be a "mystery box" table in charge of Mrs. B. B. Abbe. All members and friends are invited to donate for the table. All articles are to be wrapped neatly and sent to Mrs. Abbe with the exact cost on box. Prices of articles to range from ten to fifty cents each. Mrs. B. F. Bray will have charge of the ice cream. The cake table will be in charge of Miss Ida Nye, and Mrs. George Bernier will have an attractive candy table. Mrs. Myhre will look after the "grabs". A most excellent supper will be served by Miss Anna Starbuck in the evening. These social occasions mean a great deal to our community, and no one can afford to pass these affairs by. Everyone welcome.

SANDWICH

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Those attending the meetings of the society pronounce them very interesting, and it is hoped all members will attend the annual meeting to be held Monday, July 13, when the election of officers will be held, and dues be payable.

SANDWICH WINTER CLUB

At a special meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. John Chipman on Friday, July 3, it was voted to hold the annual summer function Saturday, August 29, and Mrs. Chipman offered the use of her lawn for the same, which was accepted, Mrs. Chipman to be chairman.

Miss Abbie F. Nye will entertain the club at her home in Spring Hill, on the afternoon of July 16, and members will meet at Town square at 2.30 p. m., on that day. Miss Nye and Mrs. Franklin Smith were appointed a committee to prepare and present a report of the work done for the benefit of Sandwich by the club, and present at the Library conference July 9.

The club will keep "open house" at the home of Mrs. H. A. Belcher during the celebration of July 29, and Mrs. T. B. Kinraide, the president, was appointed chairman, to choose her assistants. Fifteen members were present at this meeting, and it was pleasant to welcome those who, on account of distance, are unable to attend the winter gatherings of the club.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

Children's Sunday was observed at the First Parish church. The bright, sunny day brought out all the little ones, together with their parents and friends.

At the opening of the service the members of the Sunday school marched into the church, led by 4-year-old Benjamin Cook.

An interesting part of the program was the christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kinraide.

The Boy Scouts, having made the baby an honorary member of their order, attended the service in a body.

M. R. Kerr, a former pastor, but now a professor in a Western college, was present and addressed the meeting.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Nye celebrated their golden wedding at their home on Main street last Sunday, July 5, from 3 to 9 p. m. A large company of friends were present, from Sandwich, Sagamore, Boston and elsewhere, with a generous tribute of gifts and congratulations. Among the gifts were $235 in gold, including $55 from the members of the Unitarian church, a table, clock, cut glass and silver articles, a bouquet of carnations from the Sunday school, and many other beautiful flowers from various friends. The gift of $55 from the members of the First Parish church was presented by B. G. Bartley, with a brief, felicitous speech of congratulation, to which Mr. Nye responded with deep and sincere appreciation. Then "Auld Lang Syne" was sung by all; and the company broke up at 9 p. m., after a most enjoyable social occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Nye were married in the home where they now live, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Thomas Borden. This was also the birthplace of Mrs. Nye, and in the same house, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Nye, celebrated their golden wedding.

FAIR AND ENTERTAINMENT

The annual summer sale of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church was held Wednesday afternoon and evening at the Casino. The usual attractions were in evidence, and the various tables were generously patronized.

The entertainment of the evening was the "Suffragettes' Convention", which was successfully presented, judging by the interest shown and the applause that greeted the many hits. Those participating were Mrs. J. C. C. Ellis, Mrs. S.M. Beale, Jr., Mrs. A. E. Boyden, Mrs. O. L. Griswold, Mrs. H. L. Chipman, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. A. W. Higging, Mrs. P. R. Braman, Miss Blanche McLaney, Miss Amy Holway, Miss Jennie Jones, Miss Doris Smith and H. L. Chipman.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Phoebe Swansey, who has been in falling health for some months, passed away Tuesday at the home of her grand-daughter in Wareham, where she had been staying for a few weeks. Mrs. Swansey was in the 72d year of her age, the daughter of the late Jesse Allen, and had lived in Sandwich her entire life.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at Wareham, conducted by Rev. G. G. Edwards, pastor of the Pentecostal church at East Wareham. Mrs. Mildred H. Draper of Onset and Harold Edwards sang.

Mrs Swansey is survived by four brothers, Hiram Allen of Brockton, Nathaniel Allen of Middleboro, Jesse Allen of Bournedale and Eugene F. Allen of Sandwich; four sisters, Mrs. Andrew Bumpus of Brockton, Mrs. Henry P. Hoxie of Sandwich, Mrs. Albert Phinney of South Hanover and Mrs. George Paine of Truro: seven grandchildren, Mrs. Frank Johnson of Wareham, Chester A. Rogers, Andrew L. Rogers and Irving F. Rogers, Jr., of Plymouth, Frank Elliott of Marstons Mills, Mrs. John Austin of Centerville and Mrs. Edward Rhames of North Abington. She also leaves six great-grand-children, and one great-great-grand-son.

Mrs. E. B. Freese was called to Wareham Thursday by the death of Mrs. Phoebe Swansey.

Mrs. Joseph P. Chipman of Brockton and Mrs. Thomas Hamblin of Provincetown are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic N. Holway, who have also recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Hamblin of Allston.

Henry W. Salter and Miss Elena D. Haslam were married June 25 by Rev. S. M. Beale, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Salter are making their home with Mrs. Mary Bowie.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Oberg and daughter of Hot Springs, Ark., are spending the summer with Mrs. Oberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harrison.

The Community conference is in session as this issue goes to press, with a gratifying attendance from various parts of the Cape. A full report of the proceedings will be given next week.

Mrs. W. R. Procter and Master Richard Procter have returned from a visit to Nova Scotia.

Miss Minnie M. Freeman of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Freeman of North Falmouth and Fritz E. Kuhnast of New York were week end visitors at Bay View farm.

Nathan L. Tobey of Chelsea is spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. P. T. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kelleher of New Bedford have been recent guests of his brother and sisters.

Mrs. George O. Bassett and three children of Bloomfield, N. J., arrived this morning for a stay of several weeks at Spring Hill.

Mrs. E. C. Braley and Miss Nellie Braley of Brockton were in town over the holiday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Howland.

WHAT IS A GAM?

Ask any old Whaleman.

What is THE GAM?

A Collection of Whaling Stories by Capt. Charles Henry Robbins, an old New Bedford whaleman. Leading papers from the Atlantic to the Pacific pronounce it the best book on Whaling published. Besides intensely interesting stories of Capt. Robbins' experiences, THE GAM furnishes a compact history of Whaling; a number of illustrations, some of them from photos taken by the wife of a captain who went with her husband on a Arctic Whaling voyage; and a cut of "The Whaleman", the statue presented last year to the City of New Bedford by Hon. W. W. Crapo. THE GAM is a book to read, re-read and study.

450 copies remain of the 3d edition. Of these 150 copies will be sold THIS year for one dollar per copy.

Hon W. W. Crapo, New Bedford's "Grand Old Man" writes. "More than once I have read "THE GAM". It furnishes the best portraiture of the sea life of a Whaler with its excitement and many hazardous experiences. I knew Capt. Robbins. He was a typical whaling master. He was intelligent, was throughly trained to meet the perils and emergencies of his calling. And his kindness and fair-kinded treatment of his officers and men commanded their loyalty and their respect."

Ask your bookseller for a copy. Or send one dollar to the THE GAM Pub. Co., Room 370, No. 49 Federal Street, Boston.

Might of Alexander Made World History

Alexander the Great was one of the pivotal figures about which turned the history of the world! His conquests, extending eastward to the other side of India, taking in Asia Minor, Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia, Arabia, Persia in its sweep, left Greek garrisons and Greek commanders in every city or place of importance.

Greek became a universal language, so firmly intrenched that it successfully resisted the Latin tongue of the Romans when they in turn over-ran much of the world Alexander made his own, before he sat down to weep because there were no more worlds to conquer! The Greek philosophy of Socrates, Plato and Aristotle, glorifying truth and seeking for a guide to absolute knowledge of the word that directs the universe became known everywhere. Thus was bred the formulative in words of a desire Christianity was designed to meet—the desire of all men, whether they realized it or not. Thus was spread the one common language of literature and science by which Christianity could express itself, and in which it could write its Gospels of a new Covenant or Testament.

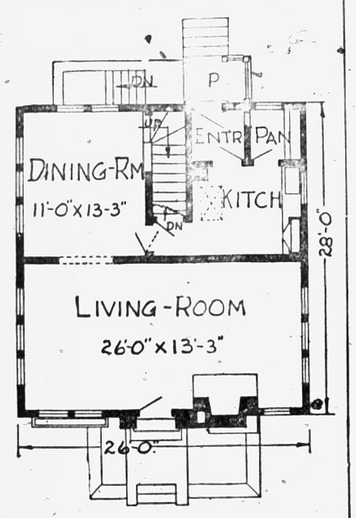

Cozy Cottage Often Pictured, but Which Seldom Develops Into Reality

By W. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Who could resist the appeal of such a cozy little cottage as this? It simply charms you right from the start and makes you feel as though you were looking into a picture book instead of at a real life-size house. And it is a real life-size house, too, for in spite of its "picture-book" appearance it contains a big living room,

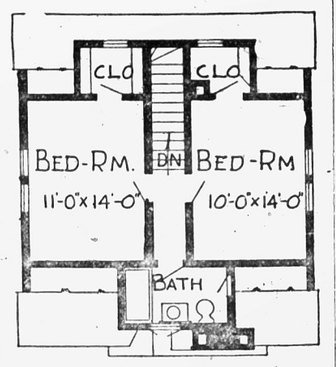

First Floor Plan.

26 feet long by 13 feet, 3 inches wide, and four other rooms of proportionate size.

Though this little house measures but 26 feet wide and 28 feet deep, its proportions are so good that it carries an air of real dignity and beauty in contrast with the box-like appearance of so many of the very small houses we see. The high, snub-nosed gables create a snug appearance without any suggestion of flatness. The walls covered with shingles laid wide to weather are most appropriate, and the chimney worked into the entrance detail gives that individuality which is the secret of charm of the place.

It is, perhaps, this entrance detail and chimney that first catches the eyes. The chimney itself has a satisfying solidity without appearing in the least too heavy for so small a house. It suggests a broad fireplace where, in winter and on chilly autumn evenings, the family will gather about a cheery, crackling fire. Within, we find this fireplace as a feature of the big living room which extends across the entire front of the house.

Second Floor Plan.

To the rear of the living room are the dining room and kitchen. The latter is provided with a rear entry and a commodious pantry. Basement stairs are placed in a passage between kitchen and dining room, while from the dining room itself, a stairway ascends to the floor above.

On this upper floor we find two large sleeping rooms, each measuring 14 by 11 feet and each provided with a large closet, lighted by an outside window. On this floor, too, is a bathroom of the most modern type, easily accessible from bedrooms.

Particular Heed Should Be Paid to Home Wiring

Electrical wiring in a new home is only a small item of the total cost, but it is one of the most important things a prospective home builder should consider when planning his new residence.

In the first place a better job of wiring can be done before the plaster is applied to the walls. Your architect will draw a wiring plan with the plans for your home. Take these plans and consult some good wiring contractor. Don't leave these details to the man from whom you buy your fixtures.

The chances are he does not want the wiring job and only sells it because he wants to help you after you have purchased the fixtures from him. He would much rather you get an accredited electrician to do the wiring and thus take the work off his hands.

Remember, many fires in small residences start from improper wiring. A well-known electrical contractor might charge a little more than some amateur for his services, but when it is completed you may depend on it you have a job which will pass underwriters' inspection.

Poor Flooring Will Show Cracks in Short Time

Flooring of imperfect manufacture is likely to warp or develop cracks; it does not give the dependable service you expect from your floor and the very best workman cannot make its appearance all that is desired by the builder.

Home builders should be sure that the lumber they buy will require a minimum of carpenter work of planing, sawing and sorting.

One of the most popular floor boards is oak, which may be laid in an irregular manner with boards of alternate widths to give an antique effect. It displays nature's beauty in grain and construction, blending over the entire lustrous floor expanse.

Oak lends dignity to any room; it harmonizes with woodwork and with furniture of whatever period. It is the proper background for rugs. It is permanent. Time only improves its mellowness. It is easily kept in perfect condition; is cleanly and saves housework. The cost is negligible compared with temporary floor coverings.

Color of Floor May Be Darker Than Wall Tone

There is as much opportunity to display decorative taste in the coloring of a floor as there is in the treatment of walls, woodwork, furniture and drapes, and these opportunities can be taken advantage of with the many colored floor finishes now available.

The theory of interior decorative treatment suggests that the floor be darker in tone than the walls, the idea being that the lower portion of the room should have an appearance of greater solidity than the upper part.

While the idea of light colors for floors is contrary to theory, probably you have been impressed pleasantly with the beauty of colorful rugs. Gradually we are getting away from the usual dark floor. Perhaps you have a room that has not pleased you. Often the floor is at fault, or, if not at fault, often a change in the color of the room will make the room more attractive. The idea is worthy of note.

In floor finishing, color is but one consideration. The surface must be properly prepared for refinishing, the proper finish must be used, and then the floor must be given intelligent care.

Mineral Lumber Should Be Used as Fire Stop

Necessity for installing fire-stopping between a brick veneer exterior and the sheathing of a wood frame house can be eliminated through the use of an incombustible mineral sheathing. Such a sheathing provides its own firestop on the inside of the structure. Nor can a blaze travel far up the air space between the brick and the sheathing because of the facing of incombustible materials on both sides.

In laying up brick veneer over mineral sheathing the brick are tied in with metal ties, which are nailed into the sheathing with no more difficulty than the same ties are nailed into wood. This is made possible by the gypsum composition of the incombustible sheathing.

Mineral sheathing comes in large panels, which are tongue-and-grooved and which, in consequence, make possible a wall that is sealed against the infiltration of wind and which cuts down the escape of furnace heat.

Food Value of Apples

Apples are rather high in mineral content and are an alkali-producing food. The winter diet tends toward acid production with such foods as meat, eggs, bread and cereals. Apples act as a balance for these: they are laxative and have considerable bulk. They supply about as much anti-scorbutic vitimine as the average winter diet really requires.

Motor Philosophy

One touch of gasoline makes the whole world spin. Give a man a chassis, four tires, a soap box and a horn, and he immediately wants to become the Vanishing American. From that time on, he believes in the survival of the fleetest. He has two mottoes: "Fright makes right," and "The other fellow is always wrong."—American Magazine.

A resolution, offered by John W. Dalton, pledging the hearty support of the town to President Wilson, was adopted by a rising vote.

Article 20, for the appointment of a committee to investigate the most feasible and direct route for a new road to the present canal wharf, to report at a special meeting held May 5, was carried, but no appropriation made for the expense of the committee. The following article, to build a new road to the canal wharf, was postponed until the next annual town meeting, after a long discussion.

Article 28 called for improvement of the road leading from Falmouth road to the residence of T. B. Kinraide and the matter was left to the Highway surveyor, with instructions to spend an adequate sum. Article 22, to change the name of Franklin street to Tupper road, was passed by a unanimous vote, and the highway surveyor was instructed to spend the amount necessary to make adequate repairs on this thoroughfare.

Under Article 29, an appropriation of $50 was made to improve the road from Chase road to Camp Cotuit, on the west side of Lawrence pond, and Article 17, to continue the plank walk on the Sandwich beach, was referred to the selectmen to investigate and report May 5.

Article 18, to appoint the selectmen a committee to confer with the Waterways commission, in regard to opening up a channel from the harbor to the town landing and Sandwich Freezer plant, was carried, while the next article considered, 19, for legislation to establish a town coal yard, was indefinitely postponed. The matter of trimming out and repairing the road known as "Gully lane," near the residence of Mrs. Abbie F. Cooke at Spring Hill, was left in the hands of the highway surveyor, under Article 23, and Article 32, to pay $2.50 per day to town laborers and $3 per day to spreaders, was adopted. Under Article 24 the selectmen were instructed to ascertain the cost of enlarging the vault in the town office, and report to the meeting on May 5.

Article 27 was to see if the town would instruct the highway surveyor to repair the road from the residence of Dr. J. M. Edgar, East Sandwich, to the Rodman Hilliard corner, and Dr Edgar, Mr. Holway and the chairman of the board of selectmen were appointed a committee to investigate and report at the adjourned meeting.

Under Article 30 it was voted that a sufficient sum be taken from the appropriation already made for the Town hall, to purchase a suitable flag and pole. Articles 25 and 26, to instruct the tax collector to have all taxes committed in 1914 collected before June 1, 1917, and those committed in 1916 by June 1, 1918, were indefinitely postponed.

Article 31, to amend the by-laws by the addition of sections concerning the licensing of junk dealers, was adopted, and under Article 33, the matter of the town dump was referred to the selectmen to investigate and bring in recommendations.

The meeting adjourned at 5:40, to the afternoon of May 5.

Agricultural Society

A largely attended meeting of the the officers of the Sandwich Agricultural society was held Monday evening at the library building and plans were made for the coming exhibition and the boys' and girls' club work, which has already been started, and is open to any child in town. A substantial sum of money has already been promised from the various organizations and individuals, and the following, representing the various organizations, were appointed a committee to have charge of the work: Lincoln Crowell of the East Sandwich grange, Francis R. Holway of the school committee, Miss Julia A. Yard of the Faunce farm, Dr. E. S. Talbot of the Village Improvement society, and Mrs. Paul Wing, secretary of the Agricultural society. The latter was also appointed local leader of the work.

All who attended the entertainment given at the last fair in 1915, will be glad to know that Edward C. Clark has again been chosen chairman of the committee on entertainment, with power to choose his own helpers.

Methodist Episcopal Church

The reception given to the new members of the church last Friday evening in the vestry, proved a very enjoyable occasion. After a devotional service conducted by the pastor, a social hour followed, and refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served. The affair closed with a short program, including recitations by Wallace Beale and Miss Doris Smith, and a formal welcome on behalf of the church, by H. L. Chipman, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Following the reception an Epworth League was organized and these officers chosen: President, Miss Doris Smith; vice presidents, Miss Mary Hoxie, Carl Sears, Winthrop Lethola, Lee Keene; secretary, Miss Annie Lethola; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Beale.

The first devotional meeting of the Epworth League was held Sunday evening and was in charge of the president, Miss Doris Smith. The hour for the meetings has been fixed at 6:30.

The pastor's topic next Sunday morning will be "The Righteous shall Live by Faith," and in the evening, "The Prize of the High Calling."

Dr. J. M. Edgar and T. B. Kinraide were down again from Boston to attend Monday's town meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. MacKnight returned last week from a visit to Shelburne, N. H.

Lyman P. Hoxie of North Raynham was the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie.

L. B. Boston was up from Hyannis Monday to attend the town meeting, and remained over for the meeting of the Sandwich Agricultural society.

Sandwich Winter Club

The March meeting of the Sandwich Winter club was held at the home of Mrs. F. K. Gifford, 43 Harvard avenue, Brookline. Those present beside the hostess were: Miss Nye, Miss Broadway, Mrs. Vorse, Miss Crafts, Mrs. Fiske, Miss Kendall, Mrs Frank Chipman, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Haines, Miss Chandler, Miss Wesson, Mrs. Carpenter Mrs. Kinraide, and one guest, Mrs. J. H. MacDonald.

The president, Miss Nye, called the meeting, but owing to the absence of both the secretary and treasurer, there were no reports from these ladies.

Miss Broadway gave an interesting report of the Red Cross work, stating that there had been 21 suits of pajamas made, three more to finish, and a piece of cotton for abdominal bands. A small collection will be taken at the next meeting to cover the cost of small-wares used in this work.

It was voted to make a contribution towards the restoration of the historic Congregational church spire.

A silver tea will be given April 9 at Mr. Chipman's studio, 509 Pierce building, with music by several well-known favorites. Mrs. J. Chipman and Miss Chandler have this affair in charge.

One new member was proposed.

The reading was by the president and was taken from "The Judgment of the Orient," by King Yuan Kei Suh, and proved most interesting.

Tea was poured by Miss Jean Kendall. The meeting was adjourned to meet in April with Mrs. Carpenter, 41 Kirkland street, Cambridge.

ETHEL S. KINRAIDE,
Secretary Pro Tem.

NOTES BY REV. O. W. KIMBALL

The fading of February, the marching in of March lion-like or lamb-like, sombre or signful, however, nothing very prophetic of developments, no evidence to convince as to the shifting states of markets, advantageous or otherwise. We study to determine economic, national and state movements, to discover and reveal that the intelligence of the reader may be informed and equipped, but the difficulties of the task becoming more intricate as we investigate and delve for the pearls of fact. We come to criticise upon crises of which we had not dreamed, the strong, mental forces rush to the contest only to fall back, for the reserve. Then on to the fight for clean-cut thought and consistent conclusion. Potatoes burn in the holocaust field of soaring prices. The fields of Eastern Maine will become more prolific from the tuber fertilization, while the diet to which so many are devoted is cut off and the hungry, craving crowd begs for a bit. Four dollars for four pecks caps the climax for cost. Wage earners, bread winners, press their pockets, but alas, the limit, neither silver nor soft currency comes in touch. We can easily conceive the justice of the judge "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries, that shall come upon you." Your riches are corrupted and your garments are moth-eaten, your gold and silver is cankered and the rust of them shall be against you and eat your flesh as it were fire Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days." Such is the Almighty's indictment, Vide St. James 5:1-3, and conscience cuts to the quick. The groan comes, but perchance too late.

The Congress of the country can scarcely confide in its President the unqualified, unquestioned right of way in the conduct of all national interests, especially in a critical crisis, when destiny seems hanging in the balance.

Exportations must cease, or we are impoverished. The immense shipment supplies carry away the children's bread. A false, feeble patriotism, the sickly semblance of charity, is easily detected. In these days of deception how hallowed is the real. Food for the far away brings its revenue of billions which collects with the hoards of cankered gold. Send fewer ships with foodstuffs and our poor will breathe easy.

We were present before the preacher of an evening Christian service when the logic of the effort was to distinguish between God's goodness and His power. In many respects the speaker was clear, educated but wanting in the knowledge of the higher branches of ethical learning, with the infinite goodness is power and vice versa. How easy to solve when we see. Cull the scripture for facts of the author.

We being home for a Sabbath cast our lot for worship with the strong Congregational society of the place. We appreciated the cordial pressure of the pastor and urgent invitation to share in the morning services. This is the common courtesy wherever we attend. Later we were with the Brotherhood for a brief time, 40 or so of the best men of the community. We greatly enjoyed the service. We wish to be brave and clear, clean reflectors of Gospel, God-like portraitures. The heaven of holiness is alone the absolute. "In my Father's house," is the holy, the life beyond death. Obedience is objective, not only but the doors of the narrow way broadened or becoming narrow as per conduct, as we cross the continent of being. The plowman must eye objects ahead, glancing backward causes crookedness. The gate to the glad glory way is widened for no one loaded with equipage scheduled for the pleasures, side shows and senselessness of the age.

At the window where we write we behold the hill range with the sunlight breaking about its brow. The dots of white tell of industry, for they are houses of husbandmen long since settled by the good representative ruralist. Governors have come out of the community.

Animals Have No Sense of Rhythm.

Animals have no sense of rhythm, though they may be taught to dance." This is the announcement of Doctor Craig of the University of Maine. "Horses driven in span," he says in the Guide to Nature, "make no attempt to step together. Two birds, however sweetly they sing solo, never sing in time with one another nor with any other music. Even the so-called dancing animals of the circus get their rhythm from the trainer, not from the tune."

STEEPLEJACK'S RISKY JOB

Taking chances with his life is an old story to Steeplejack Louis Bingham, and he made light of the job of untangling a flag on a pole jutting out from the twenty-first story of the Municipal building in New York. A fairly heavy snowstorm at the time made Bingham's job a bit uncomfortable, but he finally succeeded in untangling the torn flag.

Powers of Flying Lemur.

The flying lemur lives in the Indian archipelago. It is from two to three feet in length, and is furnished with a sort of membrane on each side of its body connecting its limbs with each other. India's Hoarded Treasure.

The "hoarded treasure" of India is estimated by the Financial Review at over £400,000,000. Most of this is believed to be hidden in comparatively small sums. It is a financial axiom in London that all the gold and silver which is sent to India annually by the British government is immediately absorbed and passes quickly out of circulation. In India, however, the existence of any really important hidden wealth is declared a myth.

Don't Neglect Kidneys

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some assistance when needed. We take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, maybe weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

Revival of Tatting.

Saves Eggs

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add ⅓ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give

and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Information as to low railway rates may be had on application to Article 22, to change the name of Franklin street to Tupper road, was passed by a unanimous vote, and the highway surveyor was instructed to spend the amount necessary to make adequate repairs on this thoroughfare.

Under Article 29, an appropriation of $50 was made to improve the road from Chase road to Camp Cotuit, on the west side of Lawrence pond, and Article 17, to continue the plank walk on the Sandwich beach, was referred to the selectmen to investigate and report May 5.

Article 18, to appoint the selectmen a committee to confer with the Waterways commission, in regard to opening up a channel from the harbor to the town landing and Sandwich Freezer plant, was carried, while the next article considered, 19, for legislation to establish a town coal yard, was indefinitely postponed. The matter of trimming out and repairing the road known as "Gully lane," near the residence of Mrs. Abbie F. Cooke at Spring Hill, was left in the hands of the highway surveyor, under Article 23, and Article 32, to pay $2.50 per day to town laborers and $3 per day to spreaders, was adopted. Under Article 24 the selectmen were instructed to ascertain the cost of enlarging the vault in the town office, and report to the meeting on May 5.

Article 27 was to see if the town would instruct the highway surveyor to repair the road from the residence of Dr. J. M. Edgar, East Sandwich, to the Rodman Hilliard corner, and Dr Edgar, Mr. Holway and the chairman of the board of selectmen were appointed a committee to investigate and report at the adjourned meeting.

Under Article 30 it was voted that a sufficient sum be taken from the appropriation already made for the Town hall, to purchase a suitable flag and pole. Articles 25 and 26, to instruct the tax collector to have all taxes committed in 1914 collected before June 1, 1917, and those committed in 1916 by June 1, 1918, were indefinitely postponed.

Article 31, to amend the by-laws by the addition of sections concerning the licensing of junk dealers, was adopted, and under Article 33, the matter of the town dump was referred to the selectmen to investigate and bring in recommendations.

The meeting adjourned at 5:40, to the afternoon of May 5.

Agricultural Society

A largely attended meeting of the the officers of the Sandwich Agricultural society was held Monday evening at the library building and plans were made for the coming exhibition and the boys' and girls' club work, which has already been started, and is open to any child in town. A substantial sum of money has already been promised from the various organizations and individuals, and the following, representing the various organizations, were appointed a committee to have charge of the work: Lincoln Crowell of the East Sandwich grange, Francis R. Holway of the school committee, Miss Julia A. Yard of the Faunce farm, Dr. E. S. Talbot of the Village Improvement society, and Mrs. Paul Wing, secretary of the Agricultural society. The latter was also appointed local leader of the work.

All who attended the entertainment given at the last fair in 1915, will be glad to know that Edward C. Clark has again been chosen chairman of the committee on entertainment, with power to choose his own helpers.

Methodist Episcopal Church

The reception given to the new members of the church last Friday evening in the vestry, proved a very enjoyable occasion. After a devotional service conducted by the pastor, a social hour followed, and refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served. The affair closed with a short program, including recitations by Wallace Beale and Miss Doris Smith, and a formal welcome on behalf of the church, by H. L. Chipman, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Following the reception an Epworth League was organized and these officers chosen: President, Miss Doris Smith; vice presidents, Miss Mary Hoxie, Carl Sears, Winthrop Lethola, Lee Keene; secretary, Miss Annie Lethola; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Beale.

The first devotional meeting of the Epworth League was held Sunday evening and was in charge of the president, Miss Doris Smith. The hour for the meetings has been fixed at 6:30.

The pastor's topic next Sunday morning will be "The Righteous shall Live by Faith," and in the evening, "The Prize of the High Calling."

Dr. J. M. Edgar and T. B. Kinraide were down again from Boston to attend Monday's town meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. MacKnight returned last week from a visit to Shelburne, N. H.

Lyman P. Hoxie of North Raynham was the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Hoxie.

L. B. Boston was up from Hyannis Monday to attend the town meeting, and remained over for the meeting of the Sandwich Agricultural society.

Sandwich Winter Club

The March meeting of the Sandwich Winter club was held at the home of Mrs. F. K. Gifford, 43 Harvard avenue, Brookline. Those present beside the hostess were: Miss Nye, Miss Broadway, Mrs. Vorse, Miss Crafts, Mrs. Fiske, Miss Kendall, Mrs Frank Chipman, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Haines, Miss Chandler, Miss Wesson, Mrs. Carpenter Mrs. Kinraide, and one guest, Mrs. J. H. MacDonald.

The president, Miss Nye, called the meeting, but owing to the absence of both the secretary and treasurer, there were no reports from these ladies.

Miss Broadway gave an interesting report of the Red Cross work, stating that there had been 21 suits of pajamas made, three more to finish, and a piece of cotton for abdominal bands. A small collection will be taken at the next meeting to cover the cost of small-wares used in this work.

It was voted to make a contribution towards the restoration of the historic Congregational church spire.

A silver tea will be given April 9 at Mr. Chipman's studio, 509 Pierce building, with music by several well-known favorites. Mrs. J. Chipman and Miss Chandler have this affair in charge.

One new member was proposed.

The reading was by the president and was taken from "The Judgment of the Orient," by King Yuan Kei Suh, and proved most interesting.

Tea was poured by Miss Jean Kendall. The meeting was adjourned to meet in April with Mrs. Carpenter, 41 Kirkland street, Cambridge.

ETHEL S. KINRAIDE,
Secretary Pro Tem.

NOTES BY REV. O. W. KIMBALL

The fading of February, the marching in of March lion-like or lamb-like, sombre or signful, however, nothing very prophetic of developments, no evidence to convince as to the shifting states of markets, advantageous or otherwise. We study to determine economic, national and state movements, to discover and reveal that the intelligence of the reader may be informed and equipped, but the difficulties of the task becoming more intricate as we investigate and delve for the pearls of fact. We come to criticise upon crises of which we had not dreamed, the strong, mental forces rush to the contest only to fall back, for the reserve. Then on to the fight for clean-cut thought and consistent conclusion. Potatoes burn in the holocaust field of soaring prices. The fields of Eastern Maine will become more prolific from the tuber fertilization, while the diet to which so many are devoted is cut off and the hungry, craving crowd begs for a bit. Four dollars for four pecks caps the climax for cost. Wage earners, bread winners, press their pockets, but alas, the limit, neither silver nor soft currency comes in touch. We can easily conceive the justice of the judge "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries, that shall come upon you." Your riches are corrupted and your garments are moth-eaten, your gold and silver is cankered and the rust of them shall be against you and eat your flesh as it were fire Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days." Such is the Almighty's indictment, Vide St. James 5:1-3, and conscience cuts to the quick. The groan comes, but perchance too late.

The Congress of the country can scarcely confide in its President the unqualified, unquestioned right of way in the conduct of all national interests, especially in a critical crisis, when destiny seems hanging in the balance.

Too much diplomacy and the diplomat becomes despotic. Congress must hold the rudder or the Ship of State breaks with the breakers.

Exportations must cease, or we are impoverished. The immense shipment supplies carry away the children's bread. A false, feeble patriotism, the sickly semblance of charity, is easily detected. In these days of deception how hallowed is the real. Food for the far away brings its revenue of billions which collects with the hoards of cankered gold. Send fewer ships with foodstuffs and our poor will breathe easy.

We were present before the preacher of an evening Christian service when the logic of the effort was to distinguish between God's goodness and His power. In many respects the speaker was clear, educated but wanting in the knowledge of the higher branches of ethical learning, with the infinite goodness is power and vice versa. How easy to solve when we see. Cull the scripture for facts of the author.

We being home for a Sabbath cast our lot for worship with the strong Congregational society of the place. We appreciated the cordial pressure of the pastor and urgent invitation to share in the morning services. This is the common courtesy wherever we attend. Later we were with the Brotherhood for a brief time, 40 or so of the best men of the community. We greatly enjoyed the service. We wish to be brave and clear, clean reflectors of Gospel, God-like portraitures. The heaven of holiness is alone the absolute. "In my Father's house," is the holy, the life beyond death. Obedience is objective, not only but the doors of the narrow way broadened or becoming narrow as per conduct, as we cross the continent of being. The plowman must eye objects ahead, glancing backward causes crookedness. The gate to the glad glory way is widened for no one loaded with equipage scheduled for the pleasures, side shows and senselessness of the age.

At the window where we write we behold the hill range with the sunlight breaking about its brow. The dots of white tell of industry, for they are houses of husbandmen long since settled by the good representative ruralist. Governors have come out of the community.

Animals Have No Sense of Rhythm.

Animals have no sense of rhythm, though they may be taught to dance." This is the announcement of Doctor Craig of the University of Maine. "Horses driven in span," he says in the Guide to Nature, "make no attempt to step together. Two birds, however sweetly they sing solo, never sing in time with one another nor with any other music. Even the so-called dancing animals of the circus get their rhythm from the trainer, not from the tune."

STEEPLEJACK'S RISKY JOB

Taking chances with his life is an old story to Steeplejack Louis Bingham, and he made light of the job of untangling a flag on a pole jutting out from the twenty-first story of the Municipal building in New York. A fairly heavy snowstorm at the time made Bingham's job a bit uncomfortable, but he finally succeeded in untangling the torn flag.

Powers of Flying Lemur.

The flying lemur lives in the Indian archipelago. It is from two to three feet in length, and is furnished with a sort of membrane on each side of its body connecting its limbs with each other. This is extended and acts as a parachute while it takes its leaps, from a higher to a lower place. Sometimes it will soar from a distance of 300 feet, or about the length of a city block.

India's Hoarded Treasure.

The "hoarded treasure" of India is estimated by the Financial Review at over £400,000,000. Most of this is believed to be hidden in comparatively small sums. It is a financial axiom in London that all the gold and silver which is sent to India annually by the British government is immediately absorbed and passes quickly out of circulation. In India, however, the existence of any really important hidden wealth is declared a myth.

Optical Illusion.

A freshman in a New York university who was asked to write a theme on his first impressions of the city began with this: "The most amazing sight I ever saw was the skyscrapers of New York crossing the Hudson river on a ferryboat." Such optical illusions of relative motion are not uncommon.—E. E. Slosson, in New York Independent.

Don't Neglect Kidneys

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some assistance when needed. We take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, maybe weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper. Adv.

Revival of Tatting.

We see that tatting has been revived in our best circles, but we don't suppose it will be any more difficult for a thoughtful man to hold his wife's undivided attention as he discusses the tariff in its various aspects and ramifications than it has been under the filet-crochet regime.—Ohio State Journal.

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by using an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. Add ⅓ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven one hour.

Canada Offers 160 Acres Free to Farm Hands

Bonus of Western Canada Land to Men Assisting in Maintaining Needed Grain Production

The demand for farm labor in Canada is great. As an inducement to secure the necessary help at once, Canada will give and allow the time of the farm laborer, who has filed on the land, to apply as residence duties, the same as if he actually had lived on it. Another special concession is the reduction of one year in the time to complete duties. Two years instead of three as heretofore, but only to men working on the farms for at least six months in 1917. This appeal for farm help is in no way connected with enlistment for military service but solely to increase agricultural output. A wonderful opportunity to secure a farm and draw good wages at the same time. Information as to low railway rates may be had on application to

BOURNE

Teachers' Conference.

A conference of the teachers of Bourne, Sandwich and Mashpee, was held in the High school building at Bourne on Friday, March 18th, at 1 p. m. Matters of routine business having first been presented by the superintendent, J. R. D. Oldham, and disposition of the same having been made, the program of the afternoon commenced with a talk by Miss Martha M. Soule of Hyannis, upon the subject, "The Co-operation of the School with the Library." Miss Soule is the official visitor for the county of Barnstable of the State Library Commission and her talk upon the subject of libraries was helpful and practical.

The general subject of the Teachers' conference was "English in All the Grades." The following program proved excellent and the teachers gained much practical information from the admirable papers and talks presented, and from a free and general discussion of the same.

Language Work in Primary Grades (1, 2, and 3).
Beginnings: What we do and how we do it.
Discussion, Miss Newcomb, Sandwich
Miss Sears, Bourne
The Language Work of Intermediate Grades (4, 5, 6).
What kind of work? How Secured? Points to be emphasized in Intermediate Work.
Discussion, Miss Fish, Sagamore
Miss Murphy, Sandwich
The Language Work of the "One-Room" School.
Its scope and limitations. Class combinations. Laying the Foundation for Good English. What things of major, what of minor importance in subject matter or method.
Discussion, Miss Mackey, Sandwich
Miss Perry, Bournedale
Language in Grammar Grades (7, 8 and 9).
Essentials and Non-essentials. What should be preparation for high school work? What do we succeed in doing? Wherein do we fail?
Discussion, Mr. Cochrane, Bourne
Mr. Berry, Mashpee
English in the High school. Freshman English.
With what preparation do pupils reach High school? In what are they deficient? In what should the work of the first year consist?
Discussion, Miss Stevens, Bourne
Miss Marble, Sandwich
High school English from the principal's standpoint.
Discussion, Mr. Maryott, Sandwich
Mr. Lamprey, Bourne
Remarks by the superintendent, summarizing the salient features of the discussion and the reading of original uncorrected compositions to show the actual results in English work secured in all grades from the 7th grade to the last year of the High school, closed the session. The conference was voted a complete success and another is planned to take place some time in May.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bennett attended the funeral of Mr. Bennett's father at New Bedford Wednesday.

Our sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wing, in the loss of their only child, who passed away Sunday morning.

Several flocks of wild geese have been over this week and frogs and peepers are heard quite plentifully.

An Easter concert will be held in the church Sunday evening.

An appreciation social and reception will be given Rev. E. F. Studley and family in the church Monday evening to which all are cordially invited. Rev. Mr. Studley will leave Tuesday for the conference at Attleboro. The good wishes of this people go with him, with the hope he may be returned to us for the coming year.

John Angus who has been employed in Norfolk, returned home Saturday and has found employment here.

We hear that Dr. Kinney has purchased a tract of woodland of R. J. Ryder, near the Flax pond, and will have it cleared up for a poultry farm.

Mrs. A. J. Vincent and Miss Bernice Angus are spending a week with friends in New Bedford.

Andrew Angus has returned from a visit with relatives in Norfolk, Melrose and Franklin.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Waring, the 15th, at the residence of F. O. Smith. Congratulations.

Mrs. Walter Raleigh has been confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. E. D. Nickerson has been renovating the books in the public library and putting it in order. Needed repairs have also been made both upon the interior and exterior of the building.

J. L. Bourne and men are very busy with the spring painting.

F. C. Eldridge observed his birthday the 17th, St. Patrick's day.

Spring began Monday, the 21st. We hope winter has taken his departure. Two inches of snow fell the 17th and the mercury registered two below zero the 18th.

Mrs. Walter Appleford went to Plymouth Saturday, and accompanied her daughter, Miss Olive, home Monday. Miss Appleford is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis.

William Brightman who has been cared for by his sister, Mrs. Herbert Eldridge, for several years, was taken to the asylum at Taunton, Friday.

COTUIT

Some of the girls of the Methodist church have formed a circle of Deaconess Helpers. It is named the Friends' circle, and is connected with the Fall River Deaconess home. The officers are as follows: President, Genevieve M. Perry; vice-president, Lila B. Childs; secretary, Nita C. Morse; treasurer, Margaret Landers; circle superintendent, Mrs. Ella M. Childs. Their aim is to help along in some small measure the work of the Deaconess home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Savery and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lacey spent a day in New Bedford last week, Mr. Lacey to get a tenement and work. Capt. I. W. Fisher and James Fish are to take Mr. Lacey's goods to New Bedford, where he expects to make his home.

E. W. Burrows is visiting in Mansfield.

Samuel Landers, who has been working for A. Nickerson, has begun work for Mrs. Parker at her summer home in Little River.

Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., rector of Trinity church, Boston, and Mrs. Mann, have been in town recently, looking for a house. Dr. Mann addressed the pupils of the high school while here.

Charles O. Harlow, W. B. Crosby, Samuel Childs and Gilbert Coleman were out of town a day last week.

We are glad to see some of those who have been on the sick list on our streets once more. Hope to see all of the sick ones out soon.

A. S. Childs and Mrs. G. W. Sisson have returned home, leaving their mother, Mrs. Thomas Childs, very much improved in health.

Miss Florence Haskins, who has been away visiting, has returned home and is substituting in the postoffice for a few weeks for Miss Isabella Crocker.

A. C. Savery, Wendal Hamlin and Nelson Fish, were in Harwich Monday evening, attending the Republican rally.

We are glad to see G. N. Jacobs at home again after his long absence.

Miss Emma Crocker has returned home again and is at her old place in B. F. Sears' store.

Howard Dottridge met with an accident Tuesday, which might have proved serious. Stepping from a window on to the staging when a large timber had just been put, it gave way and he fell about fifteen feet. We hope he escaped with nothing more than a bad shaking up.

Mr. Ladd whose arm was so badly cut some time ago is now rapidly improving. This is the reward of one who has used neither stimulants nor tobacco. Their blood being pure a wound soon heals.

We are sorry to hear that Charles Turner is very ill.

Miss L. W. Nickerson wishes to inform her patrons that she is now ready at her rooms in Cotuit, to show a large line of up-to-date millinery. The ladies of Cotuit and surrounding villages are invited to call.

MONUMENT BEACH

The two dredges, the "Kennedy" of the Maryland Dredging Co., and Dredge No. 1 of the Coastwise Dredging Co., accompanied by the tugs "Adams" and "Sarah," a fleet of scows and a spile driver, have returned to the beach and their work on the Cape Cod canal. It is rumored that they will be joined later by more dredges, for the work on the canal will be pushed as rapidly as possible during the coming summer.

John Cashman has returned from Harwich and with his workmen has resumed work on the Back River bridge.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wing, died Sunday morning after an illness of several weeks. The funeral was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Wing's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stevens. The family have the sympathy of their many friends.

Joseph M. Perry of New Bedford spent a few days at his home here last week.

Ezra G. Perry left here Monday night for New York, where he will spend the next three months touring that state in the interests of P. B. Keith Shoe Co. of Brockton, and will probably return to his home here about the first of July.

The Friday Night club met last week with Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Brackett. It took the form of a St. Patrick's party, the prizes for the evening being shamrocks.

A. T. Knowles of Somerville has bought a lot on Tobey avenue and will build a house there in the near future.

Schools close this Friday for a week's vacation. The teacher of the Monument Beach school, Miss Berry, will go to Washington during the vacation.

Rev. F. L. Brooks of Taunton has been the recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Brooks.

Mrs. Ella Myers is visiting friends in Boston.

The cabinet officers of the Epworth League met with Mrs. C. H. Phinney on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Abbie R. Phinney spent Saturday at the Beach, returning to No. Falmouth in the evening.

MASHPEE

Town Meeting.

The adjourned town meeting was called to order by the town clerk on Monday, the 14th, at one o'clock, at the close of the Parish meeting, with Darius Coombs as moderator and Ambrose A. Pells and Oren B. Peters as tellers.

Under article 8, it was voted that the herring and other fisheries regulations be the same as last year.

Under article 9 it was voted to appropriate the sum of $50 to be used for the Old Home week celebration, the same to be deposited with the treasurer of the Old Home week association.

Under article 11 it was voted to appropriate the sum of $35 for the purchase of shovels, rakes and branding iron, for the use of the forest warden.

Article 12, to see if the town will vote to move the Hearse house back of the town hall to be used for storage and other purposes, was not carried.

Under article 13, it was voted to close the town account on December 31 of each year.

Article 1, to see if the Town will vote to change the date of its annual town meeting, was laid on the table.

Under article 16, it was voted that the matter of the fishing right at Flat pond be left with the selectmen, and that they agree upon some price to lease it.

Article 17, to see if the town will vote to let the church people hold their meetings in the South Mashpee schoolhouse, was lost, the vote being not to give them this privilege.

Under article 18, it was voted to appropriate the sum of $35 to be taken from the general appropriation, for the purchase of shells for the roads at South Mashpee.

Under article 19, it was voted to charge for all unpaid taxes and outstanding bills.

It was voted, under article 20, to instruct the school committee to hire a janitor, and that no member of the school committtee shall act as janitor.

Under article 21, the sum of $160 was appropriated for the transportation of scholars.

Article 22 was laid on the table.

Under article 4, it was voted to appropriate the sum of $60 for sidewalks, $20 of this amount to be used on the north division and $40 to be used on the middle division.

It was voted to pay the town treasurer an additional $25 on his salary.

Baptist Church Notes.

The pastor preached Sunday afternoon, from the text in 1 Cor. 10-4. Subject, "The Rock That Followed them." In the evening a sermon to the young people from Eccle. 11: 9. "Rejoice, O, Young Man, in Thy youth."

Tuesday evening a business meeting of the Baptist corporation.

Wednesday evening social service in the chapel.

The pastor will preach a special sermon for Easter Sunday at the 1 o'clock service. Subject, "A Dead, and a Living Christ."

In the evening there will be a Sabbath school concert.

The Ministerial committee, A. A. Sanford, John Booker and Charles H. Peters, spent Friday evening at the parsonage, and extended a call to Rev. Mr. Herbert to continue his pastorate for the fourth year. Mr. Herbert has reserved his answer for the present.

There will be a special musical program for Easter Sunday both at the afternoon and evening services.

A new organ for the chapel has been purchased from the Cornish Or. and Co. of New Jersey and will be installed some time in April.

The schools, under Charles Y. Berry and Miss Abbie Westgate, closed Thursday p. m. to be reopened for the spring term Monday, March 28. Mr. Berry and Miss Westgate have returned to their respective homes to spend their vacation.

The work in connection with widening of the Mashpee bridge, under the supervision of John Pompey, will commence about April 1. When finished it will be a great improvement.

The parsonage is to be thoroughly renovated during the summer months. We understand that Jos. A. Peters, Esq., is chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

Darius Coombs, our very efficient mail carrier, who has been spending a month's vacation at his home, resumed his duties on Monday morning. Mr. Coombs has been mail carrier for nearly 30 years, and during that time has lost, we believe, only one or two days by illness. If any public official is entitled to a pension it is Mr. Coombs; always affable and obliging, he has won the friendship and esteem of the entire community. Mr. Coombs is one of the brighiest of Mashpee's bright men, and is in demand on every public occasion.

Mrs. William Lewis is on the sick list, but we hope to see her out again soon.

Lambert Mills has gone to Centreville, where he has secured employment.

The spring term in the schools will begin the 28th.

SOUTH SANDWICH

A large party from Sagamore and Sandwich enjoyed a fine duck dinner, which was prepared by Mrs. Meigs at the Lakewood, last Sunday.

Mrs. A. A. Griffin has returning home after spending a few days in Boston.

Raymond Jones spent Sunday last in Osterville, his sister, Mrs. Braley, returning with him for a visit.

Mrs. J. F. Giles has been in Boston for several days.

Mrs. Ruth Nye of East Sandwich has been a visitor at Pine Ridge farm.

A CARD.

I wish to thank all the neighbors who so willingly assisted my caretaker in putting out the recent fire at "The Hermitage."

EARLY PLUG HATS IN KANSAS.

Blow from Which Fashion in Junction City was Long in Recovering.

A movement is on foot in Junction City, Kan., to induce Secretary Geo. W. Martin of the Kansas Historical Society to place his old plug hat among the relics in the State House. Martin lived at Junction City a third of a century ago when the town was the outpost of Kansas civilization, and the question whether the gamblers or the better class of citizens should rule was undecided. He published a weekly newspaper and dealt hard blows against the saloonkeepers and gamblers. Backing him up was the Rev. John A. Anderson, later a member of Congress and Consul at Cairo.

In the early '70s Mr. Anderson was pastor of a church in Junction City, of which Martin was a deacon. A merchant of the town came to Anderson and Martin one day and said:

"A number of the boys in town want plug hats. I told them that I would get the hats for them if eighteen agreed to buy. I cannot get a smaller shipment from the house that puts them out. If you and Anderson will each take a hat I'll have the eighteen pledged."

Anderson and Martin didn't want the stovepipes, but the merchant kept at them and finally they agreed to take them. In due time the consignment of hats came. They arrived on Saturday and the Sunday following was a perfect day, such as only a Kansas autumn can produce. Anderson and Martin of course wore their hats to church.

"And what do you suppose we found then?" says Martin in telling this story. "Why, the other sixteen hats had been taken by gamblers, and there they were, all in church, marching down the aisles holding those tiles in the most approved fashion. That was a sad blow to the plug hat in Junction City. For years no man would dare to wear one on the streets."

RAILROAD 'PHONES A SUCCESS.

New System of Train Dispatching Extended to Main Line.

Such great success has attended the use of the telephone in lieu of the telegraph in handling trains on the Mahanoy & Hazleton division of the Lehigh Valley railroad that the system has been extended to the main line between Easton and Penn Haven Junction, Pa. The movement of trains is smoother and more rapid, it is asserted by the company's officials, than it was when the dispatching was done by telegraph. There also are fewer interruptions between the train dispatcher and the offices along the line. When it first was suggested that the telegraph be done away with and the telephone used to regulate the movements of trains there were many railroad officials who were skeptical. Official announcement was made yesterday that the new system of dispatching not only has met but actually has exceeded the hopes of the most enthusiastic friends of the telephone in that connection. As rapidly as it can be done the use of the 'phone will be extended on the system. It has cost the Lehigh Valley about $30,000 to equip the 152 miles of line already covered by the 'phone service.

One of the fine features of the service is that the dispatcher may talk directly with the engineer and the conductor of a train. Thus fewer mistakes are made. It is one of the rules that he numbers of trains and engines and the names of stations not only must be pronounced distinctly, but afterward spelled out in full. The telegraph facilities still are used for purposes not connected with train handling.—New York Press.

In The Lobby.

This was overheard in the lobby of a big hotel in Cincinnati when a busload of traveling salesmen came from the station. Every man of them, as he signed the register, paused to shake hands with the hotel clerk—fatherly old fellow, who had been there many years. "Ah," said one of them to the clerk, "it's a good thing you're still on deck, Uncle Dave; I don't think the house could run without you." "Couldn't it, though!" said Uncle Dave. "You fellows would come in here, and if there was a strange clerk you'd say, 'Where's Uncle Dave?' And the clerk would say, 'Why, didn't you hear? He died a month ago.' And then you'd say, 'Well, I'll be darned! That's too bad. Say, when'll dinner be ready?'"

Consul Felix S. S. Johnson, of Bergen, reports that on September 30, 1909, the population of Norway was 2,363,511. The number of births for the third quarter of 1909 was 10,195, against 9,660 and 8,299 for the same periods in 1908 and 1907.

WHEN TO PRUNE.

All trees that shed their leaves when winter approaches may be safely pruned at any time after the leaves fall and previous to the season when the leaves open in the spring; that is, any time during the dormant season.—Farmers' Home Journal.

GLASS WALLS FOR FRUIT.

The Cosmos states that the nursery of Croux et Fils is a glass wall which is surmounted by horizontal glass sashes and planted with the same varieties of peaches, apples and pears on each side. These espaliers also began bearing in 1907, and both sides have produced equally fine fruit. The difference in temperature between the sides of the wall is not very great, as the southern face reflects less heat and is therefore cooler than that of a masonry wall, while the northern side is warmed by the rays which pass through the glass. A masonry wall possesses theoretically one advantage over a glass wall, as it absorbs during the day a greater quantity of heat and consequently exerts a greater heating effect at night. Longer experience will be required to determine which material is better on the whole. The cost of construction is practically the same for both.

VALUE OF PEA VINES.

There are many pea canneries in Indiana and many farmers are occupied in raising peas. They haul the peas with the vines to the factory, sell the peas, but do not consider the value in the vines. During recent years, however, pea vines have become a profitable by-product. They are now utilized for silage, or fed to stock in a fresh state or cured form. Pea vine hay is considered better than clover. It sells for $3 to $5 a ton. It is easily cured, or if made into silage is superior to corn silage. If preserved in a large stack and well tramped decay will affect the surface to the depth of only a few inches. It is an excellent feed for dairy cows and is also very satisfactory for beef cattle, horses and sheep.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has recently made an extensive investigation of this subject and published the results in a circular. Those interested should send for it.

SCRAPING BARK FROM TREES.

As to the advisability of scraping rough or shaggy bark from apple trees, the State zoologist of Pennsylvania has the following to say:

"This depends upon the conditions in general. I would advise such treatment, especially for the rough, scaly bark of old trees; but if it be bark that has been roughened by the injurious action of oil sprays, or by burning with fire or some other injury, I am satisfied it would be wrong, because this is the tender bark beneath just what a scab on an animal is to a sore which it is protecting. Therefore, if the bark beneath be tender, so that it would be injured by being scraped, it is best not to do it. In the case of an ordinary healthy tree it is certainly best, but at injured places, such as above mentioned, it is advisable to scrape gently, if at all. On an old tree one can not apply enough pressure with a short handled hoe or bark scraper to do any injury, and this will remove many insect pests, such as codling moth, woolly aphis and certain hibernating creatures, and expose scale insects and other pests to the action of the weather, and of the insecticides to be applied before the leaves appear."

GARDENING WITHOUT MANURE.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker tells how he cultivates market garden crops without buying or hauling manure, with all land continuously used for hoed crops or berries, with very little opportunity for green manuring, with no stock except a horse and seventy-five to one hundred chickens and no commercial fertilizer except wood ashes. His secret of success is this:

"Nothing is burned that can be plowed under, and all hoed crops receive the best cultivation known to modern agriculture."

"Nearly all the horse manure is spread on land in fall and spring, and plowed under. For carrots or mangels some hen manure is also plowed under, but is mostly used in drills for peas and beans in hills for sweet corn, melons, etc., or spread after plowing and harrowed in for root crops. I also use litter from hen house floors in this way for all crops, and in drills for potatoes, and consider it a very valuable fertilizer. I have wood floors in my hen houses, which are covered with an inch or two of loam during the summer. In the fall dry leaves—usually maple or oak—are spread on floor a foot deep, and more added from time to time throughout the winter. All dry grain is scattered in this litter to induce scratching. In the spring the floors are covered with a brown, powderlike compost of leaves and poultry droppings, perfectly dry and very convenient to handle. These finely powdered leaves furnish organic matter in a form that is very quickly available for plant food."—Indianapolis News.

How a Town is Judged.

The time has gone by when the publishers of any newspaper, even of the humblest country weekly, goes around asking support out of personal friendship. But the public ought to realize, just the same, that the prosperity and progress of its town is judged by outsiders by the kind of newspaper product that is sent out to represent it.—Watertown Standard.

Mrs. John Connors

Mrs. Carrie, wife of John Connors, passed away Friday at her home here, after a short illness. She had been a resident of this village for many years and was an active member of Megansett grange. She was a distant relative of President Lincoln.

Besides her husband Mrs. Connors is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Searfoss of Newark, N. J., and a grandson, who made his home with his grandparents.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon.

Frazier Paige of Athol opened the Wild Harbor summer home last week and remained over Memorial day. His daughter entertained a party of school friends, and they all had a jolly time.

Mrs. Mabelle Shattuck, who has been suffering with one of the prevalent grippe colds, returned from the Pocasset hospital on Saturday, where she had been for a week, much improved in health. Her friend, Miss Abbie Dillingham, who is also in better health, is with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Cobb and friends spent the week end at their summer place at Wild Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Bray of Brookline have opened their Wild Harbor summer home for the season.

Miss Vahey arrived last week and is preparing the family summer home for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gregg spent a few days in their Megansett summer home last week, returning to Watertown on Monday.

Mrs. Charles Lewis has opened her summer home at Megansett for the season. Mr. Lewis came with her, but returned to Philadelphia on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harris and family arrived for the season last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tower and the children spent a few days last week at their Wolf River summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Blackinton came for the week end in his new Ford.

Silver Beach

E. C. Young of Randolph is to build another cottage on his land on East avenue. This will make three cottages he will have here, and five that are going up this season at the beach.

Charles F. Penney of Brockton, one of the summer colony at Silver Beach, was the speaker at the last meeting of Cotuit grange, it being a memorial service, as it was the last meeting before Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lyon and family of Norwood were down for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Moses of Providence were here on Thursday, getting their cottage ready for the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Homer of Arlington and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baird and daughter Jean of Bronxville were here for the week end and over the holiday. Mrs. Francis Chamber the holiday. Mrs. Francis Chamberlain and Mrs. Smith of Lexington were guests of the Homers.

Miss H. W. Burrell of Newtonville has opened her cottage on Silver Beach avenue and is down for the season. Miss Annie Cotter is with her.

The Davis cottage on Silver Beach avenue has been opened for the season, and Mrs. Harry W. Davis and Stewart Davis of Swampscott were there for a week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin P. Sprague of Lynn and Miss Ada Poole of Brockton were guests at the Penney cottage over the week end.

Denotes Authority

The mace was a weapon of war in Europe as late as the Sixteenth century, having been used chiefly by cavalry. It is still used in one form or another by savage tribes. In England its use is continued as an emblem of authority of certain officers of state, before whom it is carried.

OSTERVILLE

Community Church Notes

Sunday, June 3.

10.30. Morning worship and sermon. Response, anthem, by the double quartet.

8.00. Evening hymn sing. Chorus choir and congregation. Sermon, "My Master and I." The Community club will attend in a body.

11.45. Church school session. Pictures, "Children of the Balkans"—interesting for all.

The District Nursing association of the towns of Barnstable, Yarmouth and Dennis will hold a well-baby conference at the Community church recreation room on Thursday, May 31, hours 2 to 4 p. m. This conference takes in all children from babyhood to five years of age. It is hoped that the response will be such as will encourage the Association to come again. Miss Brown, supervisor, and Dr. Chute, will be in charge. All parents are cordially invited to bring their small children.

The Community club held a social evening in the recreation room on Wednesday evening, May 23.

On Sunday morning a Memorial address, paying full tribute to the real heroes of war and peace, was ably delivered by the pastor, who also pointed out the necessity and greater benefits of settling differences and disputes between nations in a Christian way. The double quartet rendered a very beautiful anthem in which Mrs. J. Mott took the solo part. Henry Fuller was organist.

The musical service of prayer and praise and responsive reading, as given in "Hymns for American Youth," was followed in the evening. Miss Elaine Tallman presided at the organ.

HYANNIS

State Normal School

As a feature of the reunion of the State Normal school alumni here over the week end, the Dramatic club of the school presented "Lend Me Five Shillings", by J. M. Morton. Margaret Bourdon, Katherine Barrett, Elsie Williams, Grace Andrews, Barbara Clapp, Catherine Murphy, Margaret Browders, Margaret Sullivan, Dorothea Bock and Mildred Cohan were in the cast. Vivian Conway directed, and assisting in the presentation were Miss Harris and Miss Arey of the faculty.

The Athletic association has elected Josephine Nickerson, president; Catherine Murphy, vice president; Dorothy Savage, treasurer; Anna Zajac, secretary; Emma Thompson, baseball head; Helen Dottridge, hiking; Helen Cataldo, point secretary; Margaret Bourdon, tennis; Florence McCarthy, track; Doris Atwood, basketball.

John D. W. Bodfish was a speaker at the memorial exercises of Cape Cod lodge, K. of P., in West Dennis Methodist church Sunday night.

Jack Webb was a Boston visitor on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Davis Bassett of New Bedford were here for the week end.

BARNSTABLE

John A. Phillips

John A. Phillips died in the Cape Cod hospital early Saturday morning May 26. A sudden illness seized him on the Thursday before and was finally pronounced influenza and double pneumonia. He was 48 years and 9 months old.

He had lived in Barnstable about 20 years, had been engaged with William A. Jones, contractor, about 15 years, and was considered an unusually dependable and skillful worker. He was engaged in the United States transport service for some time during the Spanish-American war. He is survived by his widow and five children, the oldest 12, the youngest 3 years; also by four brothers who live in Yarmouth and West Dennis.

The funeral service was held in the Barnstable Baptist church at 2 p. m. on Monday, May 28, and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. T. Ringold. The large numbers filling the church and the wealth of floral tributes attested the high esteem in which he was held. The funeral procession was said to be one of the largest seen in this village in recent years. The interment was in Cummaquid cemetery. The bereaved family has the sincere sympathy of a large number of friends.

Marstons Mills

Loring Jones and Chester Crocker were in Boston Thursday.

Miss Marjorie Higgins and friend and Rev. Mr. Barker of Boston were at Dr. J. H. Higgins's over Sunday.

The pupils of the eighth grade, Junior High, hung Miss Marjorie Weeks, who is recovering from her recent illness, a Maybasket.

Chester Crocker was called to Boston on Sunday by a change in the condition of his father, James Crocker.

Mrs. Harriet Mecarta entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cameron and daughter Ruth, Fremont, and Miss Josie Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Pattison and family of East Dedham, Mrs. Addie Crosby and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tallman of Osterville.

Rev. W. F. Geisler performed the wedding ceremony of Manuel Broda and Miss Frances Roderick of Falmouth at Charles Pina's, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce and Lorenzo Gifford were in Middleboro recently.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. M. Packard are to occupy the house now being erected by Harry C. Vose on Sawyer street.

Mrs. Pearl I. Freeman has been confined to her home with a very severe cold.

A very good attendance was present at the entertainment and card party given Tuesday evening by Agawam Chapter, O. E. S. Members of Hannah Shaw Chapter, Middleboro, gave a very amusing sketch entitled "Uncle Eben's Legacy." The legacy proved to be life-size, wax images of all his relatives, and when wound up they performed according to their characters.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parton are entertaining her son, Forrest Fay, and Miss Marvel Sayre of Scranton, Pa., this week.

The Pastor's Aid Society gave a very pleasing entertainment at Odd Fellows' hall last evening, consisting of an opening song of welcome by little Miss Christie Kyle, a one-act skit by three male members of West Wareham grange entitled "Two Jay Detectives"; music by Hill's Juvenile orchestra of Marion, with Charles West as soloist; the ever-popular pantomime, "The Bachelor's Reverie"; a song, "Two Dolls," by little Shirley and Jean Cornwell, and a "Gypsy Song," by Phyllis Cornwell, which were very charmingly sung by the three sweet voices.

An enormous Maybasket was hung last Friday evening to Rev. Isaac Fleming, pastor of the Congregational church, by members of the Pastor's Aid Society who had met at the chapel for their regular meeting. Mr. Fleming was the speaker for the evening and was later presented with the basket. Refreshments were served.

Gen. Wm. T. Sherman W. R. C. Corps No. 151 will attend the Memorial services at the Congregational church on Sunday evening at 7.30 p. m.

On Monday, May 28, members of the Wm. T. Sherman W. R. C. and the American Legion Auxiliary will meet on the third floor of the I. O. O. F. building to tie wreaths. Anyone who wishes to help is cordially invited.

Five members of Wareham Post No. 220, A. L., attended the 40 and 8 meeting at Middleboro Tuesday evening. A very entertaining program was presented to over 150 members.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Griffith of Brookline spent the week end at Indian Neck.

Miss Jennie Holmes was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when the members of the Girl Scouts hung her a very pretty Maybasket.

Mrs. Charles Perry has returned home, after spending a few days with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon in Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Fisher of Bridgewater spent Sunday with Mrs. Hazel Paine.

Mrs. Morrell, who has spent a year at Pinedale with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horne, left today for her home in Pike, N. H. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Horne and little son, and grand-daughter, Miss Ruth Nutt, for a few days' visit.

Barnstable, ss. PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of John F. Head, late of Bourne in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Mary S. Head of said Bourne, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Barnstable, in said County of Barnstable, on the 26th day of June A. D. 1928, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Bourne Independent, a newspaper published in said Bourne, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, post-paid or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, COLLEN C. CAMPBELL, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this 28th day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight.

Barnstable, ss. PROBATE COURT.

On the petition of Mabel Ethelind Brooks of Bourne in said County, the wife of Frank Oramal Brooks of Old Town in the State of Maine, representing that her said husband fails without just cause to furnish suitable support for her, and has deserted her; and that she is living apart from her said husband for justifiable cause, and praying that said Court will, by its order, prohibit her said husband from imposing any restraint on her personal liberty, and make such further order as it deems expedient concerning her support, and the care, custody and maintenance of the minor child of herself and her said husband.

It is ordered that the petitioner give notice to the said Frank Oramal Brooks to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Barnstable in said County of Barnstable on the 26th day of June A. D. 1928, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, by delivering to him a copy of this order fourteen days at least before said Court, if he may be found within this Commonwealth, that he may then and there show cause, if any he has, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted; or, if he shall not be found, by delivering to him such copy wherever found, or by leaving such copy at his usual place of abode, or by mailing the same to him at his last known post-office address fourteen days at least before said Court; and also, unless it shall be made to appear to the Court by affidavit that he has had actual notice of the proceedings, by publishing the same once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Bourne Independent, a newspaper published in Bourne, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, COLLEN C. CAMPBELL, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this 24th day of May in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight.

TOWN OF BARNSTABLE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Barnstable, ss.
To either of the Constables of the Town of Barnstable in the County of Barnstable, Greeting:

In the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you are hereby directed to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town, qualified to vote in elections and in Town affairs, to meet at the several precincts in said Barnstable on Tuesday, the fourth day of November next, at 5.45 o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to vote for the following officers:

Presidential Electors; Governor; Lieutenant Governor; Secretary; Treasurer; Auditor; Attorney-General; Senator in Congress; Congressman; Councillor; Senator; Representative in General Court (1); County Commissioners (2); Register of Probate and Insolvency; County Treasurer; Commissioners to Apportion Suffolk County into Representative Districts.

Article of Amendment

Section 1. No person shall be deemed to be ineligible to hold state, county or municipal office by reason of sex.

Section 2, Article IV of the article of amendment of the constitution of the Commonwealth, as amended by Article LVII of said amendments, is hereby further amended by striking out the words "Change of name shall render the commission void, but shall not prevent reappointment under the new name" and inserting in place thereof the following words: Upon the change of name of any woman, she shall re-register under her new name and shall pay such fee therefor as shall be established by the General Court.

Acceptance of Chap. 454, Acts of 1923, entitled "An Act to provide funds toward the cost of construction and maintenance of highways and bridges by means of an excise tax on gasoline and other fuel used for propelling motor vehicles upon or over the highways of the Commonwealth.

Acceptance of Chap. 210, Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act to ascertain the will of the people with reference to the retention of the daylight saving law, so called."

Acceptance of Chap. 509, Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act to ascertain the opinion of the people of the Commonwealth as to the ratification of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States empowering the Congress to limit, regulate and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age."

Polls will be open from 5.45 a. m. to 2.30 p. m.

And you are directed to serve this Warrant, by publishing the same in newspapers in said Town, seven days at least before the time of holding said meeting.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, at the time and place of meeting, as aforesaid.

Say, fellows, the gunning season has opened, and if you have any good RED BLOOD coursing through your veins NOW is the time to enjoy life in the open. GO HUNTING. It's HEALTH and FUN combined.

I have got the GOODS.

GUNS: Remington PUMPS and Automatic, SMITH GUNS in the double, Knox All in single or double and LEFEVER guns Say, boys, that LEFEVER gun in a 12 gauge for $29.00 is the best buy I have seen for a long time. You sure can't go wrong if you buy a LEFEVER.

If it is Gunning Coats and Vests, I have them. Also Decoys, and I want to say that I have some nice wooden Shell-drake Decoys and also Black Duck in wood and canvas. Also a few Yellow-leg and Plover Decoys, if you want any.

I have just received a stock of leather Duck Hobbles, just the thing you have been looking for. Gun Rods, and Oils, Greases and Gun Powder Solvent.

AMMUNITION: I have a good stock of Remington and Western Shells for guns, also 22, 32 and 38 Revolver and Automatic Pistol Cartridges always on sale.

If you have not tried the SUPER-X and EXPERT Shells better come in and get yours before they are all gone. Man told me the other day he killed a duck at a HUNDRED YARDS, but you don't have to believe it—Come in and get a box and try them yourself.
