

Festival verdict: 'fantastic'

The arts festival at Levee Park in Red Wing Sunday worked out "fantastic," according to organizer Sandra Marshall. Ms. Marshall pointed out that the weather really cooperated for the annual arts display and sale for the first time in several years. She said that 48 artists from throughout a five-state area exhibited their work. The park was crowded all afternoon with people wandering among the art displays and touring Artrain, a travelling art gallery. More photos on page 4. — staff photo by Rojean Marshall.