Foreword

THIS Catalogue has been compiled specifically for the benefit of our Customers. It is designed to be but one element of Hoe Service to Users and is intended to provide the medium by which it is possible for you to order replacement parts for Hoe Presses with greatest speed and accuracy.

It relieves the pressman, machinist or pressroom foreman of the responsibility of supplying measurements of the parts desired to the same micrometrical accuracy employed in the manufacturing of many of them. It avoids detailed descriptions which might possibly be misunderstood by our Service Department regardless of its many years of experience in handling such requests. This Catalogue gives an identification number to parts which it may be necessary or desirable to replace because of accidental breakage or through long usage.

The task confronting the authors of this Catalogue was complicated by the knowledge that our Customers cannot be expected to know all our names for the various parts of the Hoe Arched-Type Super-Production Newspaper Printing Press. Because of this condition, we deemed it advisable, for your convenience, to make composite illustrations of various assemblies, enabling you to identify the desired part by its corresponding number. As we have the original drawing of each part in our files, the Parts Book number, ACCOMPANIED WITH THE UNIT NUMBER AND THE SERIAL NUMBER OF THE PRESS found on a brass plate fastened to the machine, is sufficient information for us to duplicate the part as originally designed for that particular press.

We have endeavored to make this Parts Catalogue simple and orderly in compilation, readily understandable, and we trust you will find it a convenience in case of necessity.
