

In 1960's, an unknown person cast up reproductions of keys for a number of small or relatively unknown railroads, including the RR&G. Slightly smaller and thicker than an original key, these used to show up commonly in flea markets all over Texas and Louisiana but have become quite uncommon in recent years.