

This is an RR&G type 2 lock. Its maker is unknown, but its use is not. The enlargement of the rear of the shackle clearly shows the letter C and the number 1. This is a car lock. The number 1 may indicate that its key matches the keys for the type 1 lock, which they do. This suggests that the type 1 lock is a car lock as well. It is also, along with its keys, stamped RR&G, like the type 1 lock, not RR&G RR.
