

This is the earliest known RR&G standard switch (or type 3) lock. It was made by the Handlan-Buck Co. of St. Louis, MO about 1906, when products from the company were being stamped Handlan-St. Louis.

The design of the lock represents 19th century design like types 1 and 2 above.

This lock is in the collection of John Stuart Hale.