

From a Foxhole in Louisiana . . .

Sgt. Donald Delfosse, Green Bay, Wis., takes advantage of a lull in activity during a Cactus division problem in the field near Camp Claiborne to write a letter home, while S-Sgt. Orville Helm of Memphis, Texas, keeps on the alert. The men are in a two-man fox hole on the division's main defense line. Both are from Company A, 411th Infantry regiment. (Photo by 165th Signal Photographic Company.)