Horse Sets Record in Golden Gate Swim

TOWS MAN OVER WATERY COURSE

Wins Banquet for Owner, Bale of Hay for Self

They said it was a man's job, this swimming of the Golden Gate, but yesterday Blackie, whose mother was a mare, went out and showed 'em.

They launched Blackie into the water by a sling hitched around his belly and even as he struck out powerfully from the Marin shore, there were those who doubted his prowess.

The water churned, the spray flew, as Blackie's hoofs milled beneath him, and even with the handiwork of his owner, Ritchie Roberts, who hung onto a tow line and went along for the ride, Blackie made the doubters eat their words.

MAKES FAST TIME

Nothing without wings, wheels or fins ever made the passage so fast. Olympic Club Swimming Champion Buster Old's record went by the boards. Longstanding ferry-boat schedules were shattered. Twenty-three minutes and 18 seconds after Blackie entered the water with a wondrous splash, he had broken the imaginary tape on the other side.

To those who had said a horse of 12 summers is an old horse, Blackie also gave the lie. A few feet from land, he turned about and started back, apparently bent on breaking his own record. Only a jump of sugar, dangled coaxingly by an acquaintance on shore, deterred him.

WINS BALE OF HAY

Before the admiring eyes of several dozen spectators, Blackie romped out of the water off Quarry Field, snatched up the sugar lump, took a bite or two of oats, lapped a couple of pints of water from a bucket, and bent an indignant glance at his master, who lay puffing on the ground, well-nigh exhausted.

Purpose of the horse-athon was to settle a bet between Roberts and William Kryn, Bay Meadows race track mentor. Last night a banquet was scheduled to honor Blackie, whose wage for the crossing was a bale of hay.

towing Ritchie Roberts, who won banquet on a bet with William Kryn, Bay Meadows race track mentor. Blackie's share was bale of hay.

Four Dolphins In Gate Swim

Four members of the Dolphin Swimming and Rowing Club, in training for their organization's annual Golden Gate swim Sunday, August 23, yesterday made the crossing from Fort Point to the rock at Loma point.

Dick Rittger was the speediest of the group and, aided by a favorable tide, made the trip in exactly 34 minutes. A half minute later Paul Silvester touched the finish line, followed by William Perry, who was clocked in 38 minutes, and Lloyd Rickman, timed in 39 minutes.

It was the thirty-seventh time that Rickman had swum the Golden Gate.

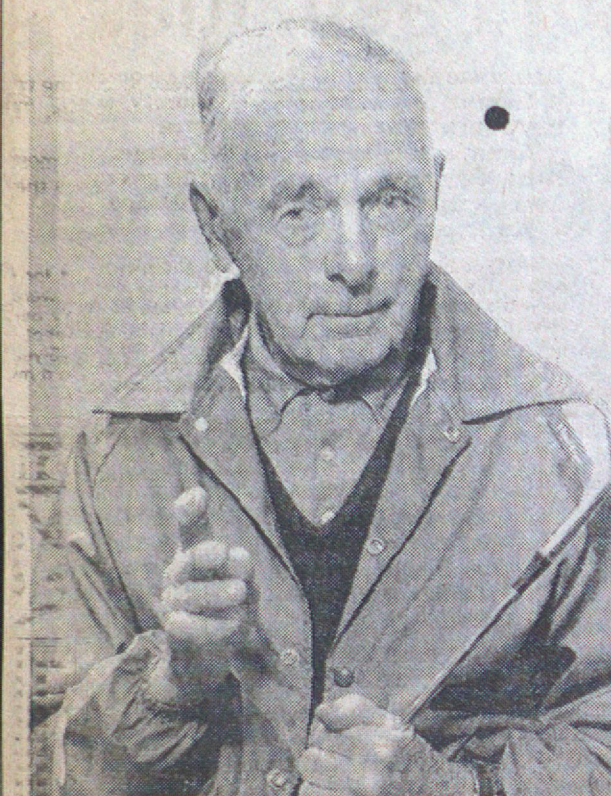

PAUL SILVESTER COMPLETES NEW SWIMMING FEAT

Silvester broke the company of the Golden Gate, Paul Silvester, Dolphin Club swimmer and prize of all his friends at that sad Bay-Point, set up a new mark for swimmers to beat at Sunday when he completed a six-mile swim from the Ghazal ferry slip to the San Francisco shore.

Silvester is the first and only man to make the crossing, but he followed young and true at the Dolphin Club pier after being in the water just five minutes less than three hours.

His swimming feat seemed to be too tough for the district attorney, although he doesn't admit it, his friends claim he broke by swimming in a bucketful of water.

ELMER HARRIS
Pacifica's golden oldie

Elmer Harris — 90-year-old living legend

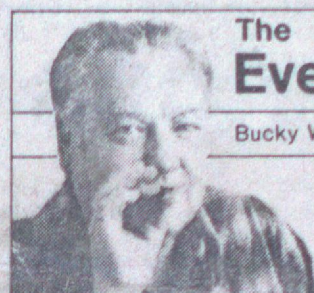

THE SPRIGHTLIEST person at Elmer Harris' lively birthday party Saturday night at Nick's, Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, was ... Elmer Harris. No matter that the legendary athletic coach of The City (1919-1946) was 90 years old. He roved through the guests in the SRO banquet room like a friendly puppy, inspected the groaning buffet table with a critical eye, quaffed champagne with his admirers and enjoyed himself immensely.

It was a unique party, given by his charming wife Peg. Had tickets been sold, they would have had to at least triple-decked the hall to accommodate Elmer's friends. Peg's most difficult assignment was to select the guests, favorites of her husband from many walks of life, far from exclusively sports. "Once word got out about the party," she said, "the phone never stopped ringing."

Elmer retired from Lowell High in 1946. The verb is inapplicable, though. He literally "adopted" Pacifica when he moved there, a mover-and-shaker volunteer who, with Peg, originated a scatter of programs for the community — bridge, dancing, chess, golf, to name a few. He's still so busy he has little time to reflect he's 90.

Saturday night, Elmer's sports friends included former Lowell colleagues Benny Neff and Ery Delman. One of his favorite proteges, 1940s Lowell track star Jim Plessas, was master of ceremonies.

We vividly remember — when we attended Lowell in the early 1930s — the one-on-one basketball games between Elmer and Neff in the old gym. They were close friends but the contests mostly consisted of elbow smashes, karate chops and kicks to the groin. At the finish, you had to wonder whether they'd call for a mop to wipe the blood off the floor.

The Evening Muse

Likely, Elmer has made it to 90 because he's always been an intense, though fair, competitor. Life itself is simply another challenge for him.

His eyesight is dimming but he still plays golf. His friends tell Peg he can't see the ball. With impish humor, he claims he educates the balls "so they know where to go." His swing is so grooved, he's able to connect.

We played golf at Sharp with Elmer when he was a mere 83. He had just had a cornea transplant. He invited us to play the back nine, suggested a small wager and we collected $2 after the 18th hole.

It was a come-on, of course. In following rounds, we had to reach for our wallet.

Elmer's ambition is to reach 100. "Then," he promises, "we'll have another party."

What's his secret of longevity? "Mainly," he says, "it's being mean enough to kill all the germs."

Rarely, if ever, have we witnessed such an outpouring of affection for a person as for Elmer on Saturday night. If you had to sum up the reason in a single sentence, it would be: "Everyone he has touched has become the better for it."

Before he became the busiest unpaid social worker in Pacifica's history, Elmer coached track and field (10 AAA championships), soccer, golf, basketball and baseball at Poly (1919-1920), Mission (1920-1927) and Lowell (1927-1946).

Perky Peg doesn't complain about Elmer's civic activities in Pacifica, saying, "I like to see him busy. He's never bored because he hasn't the time."

Yesterday, Elmer returned to Nick's to pick up plaques and scrolls presented him Saturday night to add to senior golf trophies he's won throughout the world.

His dimming eyesight is a problem — "I can't see the flag from 50 yards" — but Elmer doesn't rule out playing in senior events in far-flung places such as Florida, Mexico and Puerto Rico: "If I get the urge to play, I'll ask Peg if she'd like to take a vacation with me. It's that simple."

By Harold Gilliam

BILL MAHOOD, an Oakland policeman, climbed out of the bay last Sunday morning onto an Army tugboat which was rolling on the waves near the north tower of the Golden Gate Bridge.

He wore a bathing cap, a pair of trunks and a coat of thick yellow grease. As he hoisted his 200 pounds over the tug's rail, he grinned at his 8-year-old son, standing on the deck.

"Didn't exactly win," he said, "but I finished. That's the main thing. A man my age has got to take it easy."

Bill was 51. He had just come in 25th in a field of 30 participants in the Dolphin Club's annual Golden Gate swim. For Bill it was the 22nd swim across one of the world's roughest stretches of water.

On deck to congratulate Bill and the other swimmers was the Dolphin Club's little Jimmy Cronin, who each year fires the starting gun for the race. Jimmy is 82 years old.

"It's a great thing for young men, a swim like this," Jimmy said in his high-pitched voice. "Builds stamina and character. I made the swim the first year we had it, back in 1917. The water was cold that year, but it was a great swim."

Every year since, except for 1920 and the war years, a swarm of ambitious amphibians had jumped into the bay's icy water and paddled through the treacherous currents between the Presidio's Fort Point and Lime Rock on the Marin shore.

The most spectacular crossing of the Gate was made October 1, 1933, by a 12-year-old horse named Blackie who navigated the distance in 23 minutes, 15 seconds to decide a bet. Bill Kyne, the squire of Bay Meadows, had bet restaurateur "Shorty" Roberts $1000 that a horse couldn't swim the Gate. Roberts took him up on it, trained Blackie, and made the crossing with him by hanging onto the horse's tail.

One Way to Beat the Bridge Toll

THE FIRST-known human being to negotiate the arduous course, 21 years before Jimmy Cronin's first race, was a professional swimmer named Charlie Cavil. His time was something over an hour. The present record for the mile-and-a-quarter course (21 minutes, 47 seconds) was set by Buster Olds in 1932.

"The time doesn't mean very much in a swim like this," Don Baggiani, the Dolphin swimming commissioner, said. "A lot depends on how the currents are running. There's all kinds of rips and cross currents. We try to start the swim just when the tide's changing so there's not too strong a current, but it changes fast."

A curious example of the workings of the Gate tide occurred in a Dolphin race several years ago when two strong swimmers were far ahead of the field three-quarters of the way across. Near the north bridge tower they began to hit an adverse rip which battled them to a standstill. Meanwhile the third place swimmer was caught in an opposite current, went churning past the other two on the crest of the rip and won the race.

Cold is another problem. The water's temperature is around 54 this time of year. Although many of the swimmers coat themselves with grease, they admit it doesn't do much good. Some think it minimizes the initial shock of the plunge in the chill water, but it soon wears off. A few seconds is usually enough to get used to the cold, but after several minutes—depending on the swimmer's conditioning—the body begins to lose heat quickly and a numbing effect sets in.

The weather makes a big difference, too. During a 1928 Chronicle-sponsored swim, a fog moved in through the Gate and the flag boat lost sight of the swimmers and their pilot boats. Out of 187 starters less than 100 ever located the far shore. By the time the bewildered swimmers were finally all rounded up and fished out, they were scattered all over the bay between the Golden Gate and Alcatraz.

As an Army tug shoved off from the Fort Mason docks last Sunday morning and headed for the Gate with this year's Dolphin crop aboard, Coast Guard boats were already towing the 18 pilot boats out into the stream. The Coast Guard also had the job of directing the channel traffic so the swimmers wouldn't be plowed under by passing steamers. The sun was warm and the bay calm—ideal weather for the race.

Nearing the bridge, the tug was joined by two excursion boats loaded with spectators and by a couple of dozen smaller craft. The swimmers yelled and waved at friends on the other boats. Somebody shouted: "There's the Gelardi family!" pointing to a small fishing boat packed with several generations of Gelardis — men, women, children and babies. They waved at the four Gelardi boys, who were all making the swim.

BETWEEN Big Bill Mahood and young Lennie Gelardi of Galileo High School, the roster ran the gamut of ages, sizes and occupations. Paul Silvester, for example, who had made 23 of the annual swims, was head of Silvester Cleaners. Mike Desmond Jr., making his second swim, represented the San Francisco Police Department. His father swam with Jimmy Cronin in 1917. Among other entrants were seven students, a teacher, a warehouseman, a sheet-metal worker, an automobile dealer, two wholesale produce merchants, a lawyer and a bartender.

Just before 10 o'clock the tug pulled up offshore west of the bridge's south tower, the swimmers lined up along the rail and Jimmy Cronin yelled: "Everybody ready? Slow swimmers head for Belvedere! Swimmers ready!"

Jimmy fired the gun and the water boiled as the swimmers fought for leading positions and headed for the pilot boats, lined up about 100 yards away. Splitting the water in the lead was last year's winner, Ray Carmassi, a quiet, broad-shouldered student who had just been awarded a scholarship to College of Pacific.

"Those swimmers are plenty tough," said George Lineer, official timer and one of the Bay Area's top swimming authorities. "They have to be to lick the currents and the cold. Most of them have been training for this all summer."

Twenty minutes later the tug stood off Lime rock and officials watched Carmassi sprint into the finish and slap the rock. Jimmy Cronin tried to fire his gun, but it didn't go off until a minute later. Feeling fine, Carmassi came pumping up to the tug swimming the strenuous butterfly stroke.

Three hundred yards behind in second place was 15-year-old Lennie Gelardi. Then a rapid succession of swimmers touched the rock and clambered aboard the tug, where they got a rubdown and a cup of coffee.

BY THIS TIME a breeze was whipping up a slight chop on the bay and the tide was beginning to run out. Some of the slower swimmers were being pulled out toward the open sea. One man was caught in a strong rip and despite a powerful stroke was unable to make any progress. The current was slowly carrying him out to the ocean when he finally gave up and climbed into his pilot boat.

A few of the last swimmers were so cold they were seized with violent chills and had to be lifted onto the tug.

But most of them, though tired, were feeling great. They stood around on the deck drinking coffee, swinging their arms to get warm and exchanging experiences.

"You kicked me in the eye at the start, you stinker!" somebody complained good-naturedly.

"It was easy except for the last 100 yards, then that rip started in. It was murder."

"I was groggy at the finish. I hung onto the rock and didn't know where I was."

Most of the swimmers didn't know exactly why they had done it. "God only knows!" or "Just for the hell of it," they said.

Big Bill Mahood, the Oakland cop, was a little more specific. "It's nice to be able to say you swam the Golden Gate," he said. "Yessir, I never expect to place in these races, but it's nice to be able to say you made it."

NO RECORDS TODAY

The Dolphins expect to break no records today as they plough across the Straits for the big painted white rock at Lime Point. Jumping off on an ebb tide with a seven inch run out the slower swimmers will depend upon all the ingenuity of their pilots to bring them through the expected choppy water under the 60 minute mark. All the swimmers, however, have been training seriously this summer and are in excellent condition. As spectators, you will witness another fine Golden Gate Swim.

Bill Egan Wins Dolphin Club's Alcatraz Swim 1930

By GEORGE F. LINEER

Bill Egan failed to crack Leo Purcell's record for the swim around Alcatraz yesterday when he won the Dolphin Club race around the island. "Doughty Bill" finished the course in 1 hour 25 minutes and 34 seconds, just four minutes and fifty seconds slower than Purcell's best effort. T. E. ("Chink") Himle was second, a bit more than ten minutes behind Egan, while Bill Lenhart trailed Himle five minutes.

Ten swimmers started and the records of the officials in charge of the event show that all ten finished. A swim which just a few years ago was considered well nigh impossible was made yesterday by the entire starting field, which constitutes some kind of a record in itself.

The writer has seen many swims in the bay, but the weather yesterday took the cake as far as roughness was concerned. Choppy waves made the life of the small boats a matter of more concern than the swimmers to those in charge of the event. It was a feat to row the boats around the island, let alone swim it.

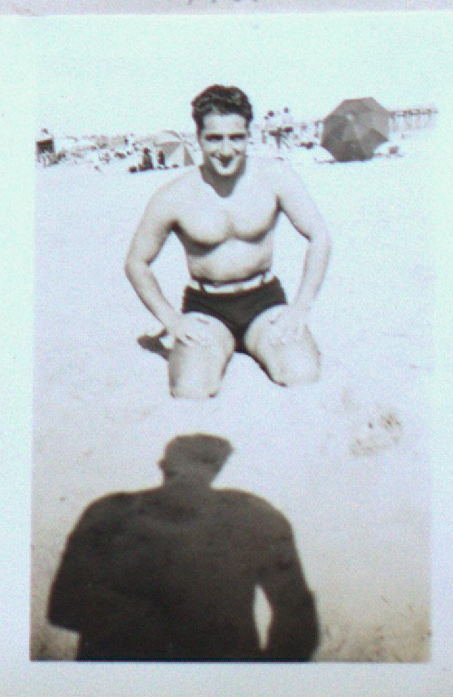

To Bill Mahood, the Oakland law enforcer, goes the leather medal. Mahood was the only swimmer to finish at the pier from which he started, touching Pier 39 two hours and forty-three minutes after starting, the last man to finish. Bill has some kind of a record in this respect, too. He has finished last in more races than any other swimmer the writer can think of.

The swimmers finished in the following order:

Place	Name	Time
1	Bill Egan	83.34
2	T. E. Himle	94.22
3	Bill Lenhart	99.25
4	Adolph Meyer	104.37
5	Syd Foster	105.37
6	Dr. H. Knoph	128.35
7	P. Silvester	131.34
8	John Adams	141.07
9	Les Wolfenden	179.53
10	William Mayhood	183.42

The swimmers finished as follows: 1930

Place	Name	Time
1	Bill Egan	83.34
2	Johnny McManus	94.22
3	"Chink" Himle	99.25
4	W. Lenhart	104.37

Buster Olds Is Winner in Dolphin Swim

By GEORGE F. LINEER

Buster Olds, a 17-year-old New Zealand lad, won the Dolphin Club's fourteenth annual Golden Gate swim yesterday morning from a field of twenty-one starters, all of whom finished. Bill Egan, who had won this event twice before, was second, while Johnny McManus came in third.

It was a perfect day for swimming the Golden Gate and the combination of Olds' superior speed and Harry Rapp's faultless piloting proved too much for Egan, who never was in a challenger's position during the entire race. Harry Rapp kept the nose of his boat headed straight for the white painted rocks of Lime Point and never varied his course, while Olds never looked up but followed his boat with serene confidence.

EVERY STARTER FINISHES IN ARDUOUS SWIM

Not only did the winner establish a new record for the Dolphin swim but the club established a record by having every starting swimmer finish, and finish in good condition.

Johnny McManus evened things up with T. E. (Chink) Himle in this swim by beating him to the finish. Himle and Melvin Tuffo staged the battle that gave the spectators a chance to cheer. It looked as though Tuffo were certain to beat Himle when the swimmers were about 100 yards from the finish. Tuffo was west of the finish line while Himle had been taken further inland. Himle, the stronger of the two, winning out by just a few feet.

FERRY BOAT FOLLOWS GATE SWIM PARTY

The leather-lunged Mike Desmond, armed with a megaphone, did his best to urge Egan or McManus to score a win for the Irish, but Buster had too many guns for everybody yesterday.

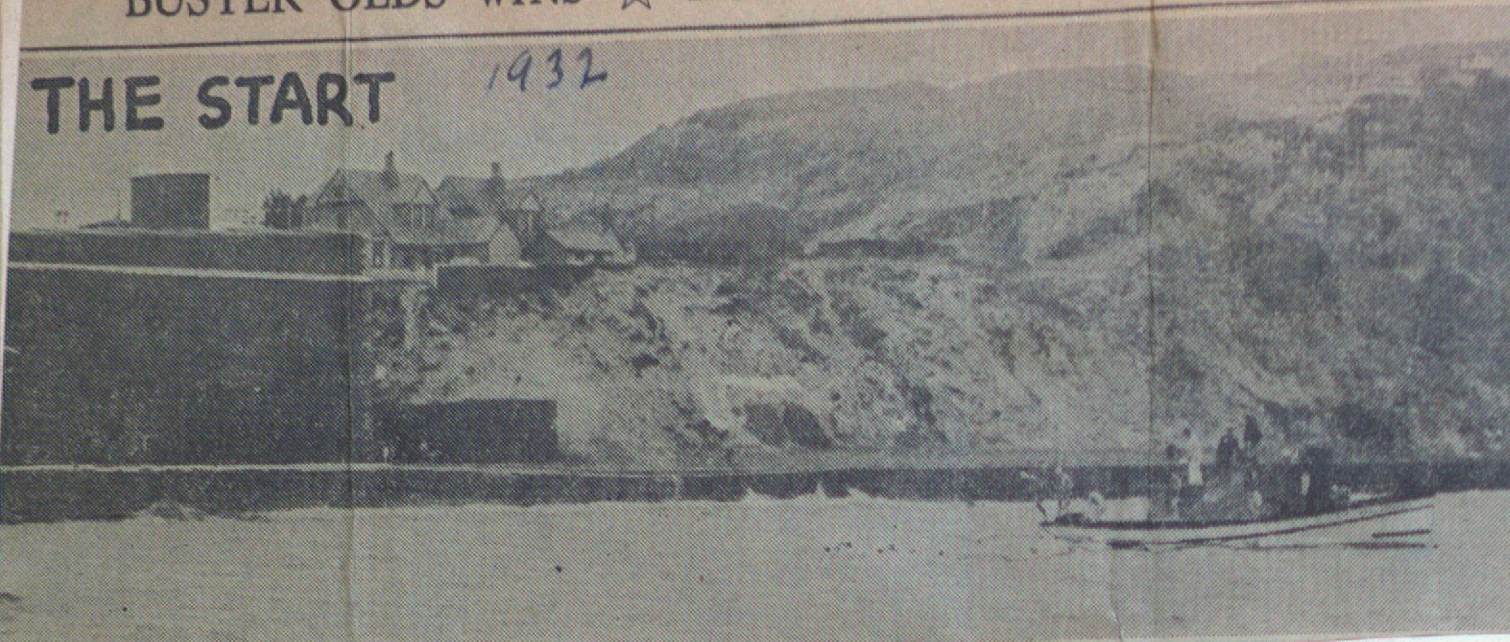

A Southern Pacific ferry boat with the decks lined with interested spectators was a surprise visitor shortly after the race started. It was a strange sight to see this ferry boat so far out in the gate, and many of those aboard the official boat thought that the boat was in trouble and drifting, until it was explained that those aboard the ferry were Ahepa convention delegates, visiting San Francisco and were just out seeing the sights.

The swimmers finished in the following order:

Place	Name	Time
1	Buster Olds	22:06
2	Bill Egan	23:17
3	Johnny McManus	26:23

Dolphin Club Mermen Stage Dip in Ocean

Dec 18 1932

By GEORGE F. LINEER

While a handful of spectators dressed like polar expeditionists looked on, members of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club staged their annual dip in the Pacific ocean after their hike to the beach from the club quarters. It was the coldest day this event has ever been staged on, but in spite of that the Dolphins turned out in record-breaking numbers.

A high-rolling tide and strong undertow kept the Coast Guardsmen in an apprehensive state during the swim. Paul Sylvester, veteran of The Chronicle's annual Golden Gate swims, ventured out beyond the breaker line and was caught in a cross current of breakers. It took Paul several minutes to make his way back to shore. He was rolled twice by huge combers before he made the land.

President Jim Albert and Chairman of the Day Bud Sterling led the swimmers to the surf, after which it was every man for himself until a football was produced and an impromptu game organized. Bill Mahood of the Oakland Police Department and Inspector Mike Desmond of the San Francisco police showed plenty of power in surf football. Desmond wanted to call a play where he was to forward pass to James "Mahatma" Cronin across the goal line but Cronin called the play off when details for safe landing were missing.

Henry Kanter was pacemaker on the bike.

After the swim the Dolphins returned to the clubhouse, where food and drink awaited them.

PAT SYLVESTER WINS FATHER TRINCHIERI'S CUP

Pat Sylvester of the Dolphin Club was the lucky boy of Italian parentage to win Father Trinchieri's beautiful silver loving cup in the annual San Francisco Chronicle's Gate Swim. Sylvester finished seventeenth.

Following is a letter from Harry B. Smith, Sports Editor of the Chronicle, thanking Father Trinchieri for the cup.

Sept. 23, 1931.

Father Oreste Trinchieri
666 Filbert Street
San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Father Trinchieri:

The Chronicle desires to extend its thanks and appreciation for your generous donation of a trophy to The Chronicle seventh annual Golden Gate swim.

There were 118 swimmers who started and 86 who finished. We owe this large turnout and the success of the swim to the 52 trophies which could not fail to arouse interest among the entrants.

Thanking you again, I am,
Very truly yours,

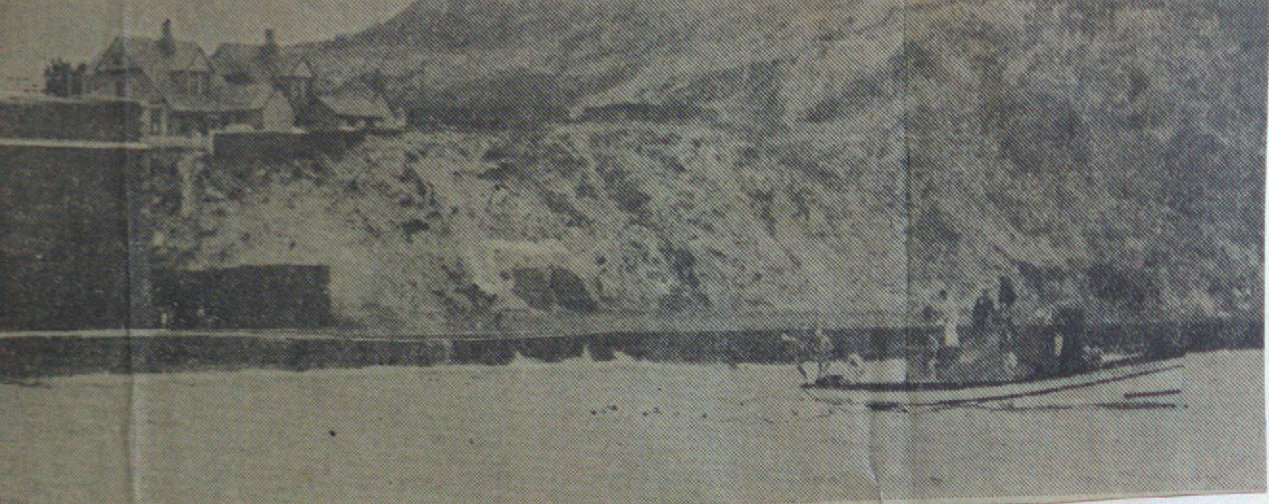

1931 HARRY B. SMITH,
Sports Editor.

Dolphin Club
Mermen Stage
Dip in Ocean
Dec 18 1932

By GEORGE F. LINEER

While a handful of spectators dressed like polar expeditionists looked on, members of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club staged their annual dip in the Pacific ocean after their hike to the beach from the club quarters. It was the coldest day this event has ever been staged on, but in spite of that the Dolphins turned out in record-breaking numbers.

A high-rolling tide and strong undertow kept the Coast Guardsmen in an apprehensive state during the swim. Paul Sylvester, veteran of The Chronicle's annual Golden Gate swims, ventured out beyond the breaker line and was caught in a cross current of breakers. It took Paul several minutes to make his way back to shore. He was rolled twice by huge combers before he made the land.

President Jim Albert and Chairman of the Day Bud Sterling led the swimmers to the surf, after which it was every man for himself until a football was produced and an impromptu game organized. Bill Mahood of the Oakland Police Department and Inspector Mike Desmond of the San Francisco police showed plenty of power in surf football. Desmond wanted to call a play where he was to forward pass to James "Mahatma" Cronin across the goal line but Cronin called the play off when details for safe landing were missing.

Henry Kanter was pacemaker on the bike.

After the swim the Dolphins returned to the clubhouse, where food and drink awaited them.

PAT SYLVESTER WINS
FATHER TRINCHIERI'S CUP

Pat Sylvester of the Dolphin Club was the lucky boy of Italian parentage to win Father Trinchieri's beautiful silver loving cup in the annual San Francisco Chronicle's Gate Swim. Sylvester finished seventeenth.

Following is a letter from Harry B. Smith, Sports Editor of the Chronicle, thanking Father Trinchieri for the cup.

Sept. 23, 1931.

Father Oreste Trinchieri
666 Filbert Street
San Francisco, Calif.

Dear Father Trinchieri:

The Chronicle desires to extend its thanks and appreciation for your generous donation of a trophy to The Chronicle seventh annual Golden Gate swim.

There were 118 swimmers who started and 86 who finished. We owe this large turnout and the success of the swim to the 52 trophies which could not fail to arouse interest among the entrants.

Thanking you again, I am,
Very truly yours,

1931 HARRY B. SMITH.
Sports Editor.

Heavy wind and strong tide almost proved the undoing yesterday of Paul Sylvester, 25, and his sister, Antoinette, 18, Dolphin Boat and Swim Club members.

Unable to make headway against a strong west wind while rowing near Pier 41, the two were forced to hail Pat Flynn, Chamber of Commerce marine look-out.

Flynn reached them in a launch just as heavy waves were about to swamp the row-boat. Throwing them a line, he towed the boat to Dolphin Club pier, where the two landed, exhausted but safe.

Sylvester gained prominence last week when he and Donald Christopher, 24, rowed from Dolphin pier to Sausalito and Tiburon.

With fog horns wailing dimly and mountain high waves crashing against the rugged rocks of the Marin shore, John McManus, fighting Irishman from County Cork, touched the white painted rocks of Lime Point the winner of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club's annual Golden Gate swim yesterday.

It was the wierdest, roughest, toughest gate race this writer has seen. The gale of wind that whistled through the Golden Gate created surface conditions that made it almost impossible to manage small boats and keep courses for even such experts as the Dolphins. Overhead banks of fog obscured the towers of the gate bridge now under construction. It was a wild and woolly day, in spite of which all 13 starters finished.

T. E. "Chink" Himle was the one who furnished the winner his toughest competition. For more than three-fourths the distance across, "Chink" swam shoulder to shoulder with his Irish club mate. First Johnny would be a bit in front. Then Himle would have the advantage. Many times during the crossing huge waves smacked down on the swimmers and threw them off "stride."

It took courage—real courage—to complete the swim yesterday—that

2 Youths Brave Heavy Tides In 4 Hour Row Across Bay

Paul Silvester, 25, and Donald Christopher, 24, Dolphin Boat and Swim Club members, solved the dull Sunday problem yesterday by rowing to a picnic on and California Point.

The four-hour pull at the oars took them first to Sausalito and thence to Tiburon.

Despite a stiff breeze and a strong tide, the young men reached the picnic safely. Silvester lives at 2309, and Christopher at 2320 Bryant street.

Silvester has participated in several swimming contests as a representative of the Dolphin Club.

Chink Himle In Santa Cruz Swim Victory 1934

By GEORGE F. LINEER

SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 9—T. E.

(Chink) Himle won one of the most desperately fought aquatic battles ever seen in California waters this afternoon at Santa Cruz when he took the mile and a quarter open water swim from Battling Joe Bruno in 35 minutes even.

It was one of those things that you read about but seldom see. Bruno set the pace for the first half of the race, never being in front by more than three feet. Himle at the turn took the lead and held a slight advantage to the finish.

The race was started by a run into the water and the swimmers had to run about 50 yards up the beach to finish. Himle was the first out of the water but Bruno had a lot of land speed left and was so close to the big Santa Cruz merman the judges could not split the watches on them. The big holiday crowd got quite a thrill out of this finish.

SIDE STROKE MERMAN FINISHES THIRD

Tex Alexander, a side stroke swimmer, pulled into port a couple of minutes behind the two leaders. The spectators marveled at the splendid physical condition of the swimmers which permitted them to dash up the stretch of sand after their grueling swim. Down to Bill Mahood, who finished last, they all ran full tilt to the conclusion of the trail.

The nine swimmers who started finished in the following order: T. E. (Chink) Himle, Joe Bruno, Tex Alexander, Paul Silvester, W. A. Perry, Dr. M. R. Knoph, John Swett, Syd Foster, Bill Mahood.

SWIM NEXT YEAR WILL BE OPEN TO ALL

The Santa Cruz Seaside Company, through its vice president, F. R. Howe, announced after the race that the open water swim next year will be open to all A. A. U. swimmers. This year it was a closed event for members of the Dolphin Club and the boys took home some mighty neat prizes for their efforts.

Tomorrow afternoon an open water swim will be held for boys who are residents of Santa Cruz. This race is scheduled to start at 2:30. Post entries will be received.

Chink Himle In Santa Cruz Swim Victory

By GEORGE F. LINEER
SANTA CRUZ, Sept. 9—T. E. (Chink) Himle won one of the most desperately fought aquatic battles ever seen in California waters this afternoon at Santa Cruz when he took the mile and a quarter open water swim from Battling Joe Bruno in 35 minutes even.

It was one of those things that you read about but seldom see. Bruno set the pace for the first half of the race, never being in front by more than three feet. Himle at the turn took the lead and held a slight advantage to the finish.

The race was started by a run into the water and the swimmers had to run about 50 yards up the beach to finish. Himle was the first out of the water but Bruno had a lot of land speed left and was so close to the big Santa Cruz merman the judges could not split the watches on them. The big holiday crowd got quite a thrill out of this finish.

SIDE STROKE MERMAN FINISHES THIRD

Tex Alexander, a side stroke swimmer, pulled into port a couple of minutes behind the two leaders. The spectators marveled at the splendid physical condition of the swimmers which permitted them to dash up the stretch of sand after their grueling swim. Down to Bill Mahood, who finished last, they all ran full tilt to the conclusion of the trail.

The nine swimmers who started finished in the following order: T. E. (Chink) Himle, Joe Bruno, Tex Alexander, Paul Silvester, W. A. Perry, Dr. M. R. Knoph, John Swett, Syd Foster, Bill Mahood.

SWIM NEXT YEAR WILL BE OPEN TO ALL

The Santa Cruz Seaside Company, through its vice president, F. R. Howe, announced after the race that the open water swim next year will be open to all A. A. U. swimmers. This year it was a closed event for members of the Dolphin Club and their boys took home some mighty neat prizes for their efforts.

Tomorrow afternoon an open water swim will be held for boys who are residents of Santa Cruz. This race is scheduled to start at 2:30. Post entries will be received.

Paul Silvester, Bryant street athlete, won the second class handball championship of the Dolphin club last week when he defeated Herb Williamson in a close three-game match, 21-17, 14-21, and 21-14.

The tourney ran for nearly four months, and Silvester participated in nine contests. He lost but one match, to Herb Williamson early in the meet. He and Williamson were tied for the lead at the close of the schedule and a playoff was necessary.

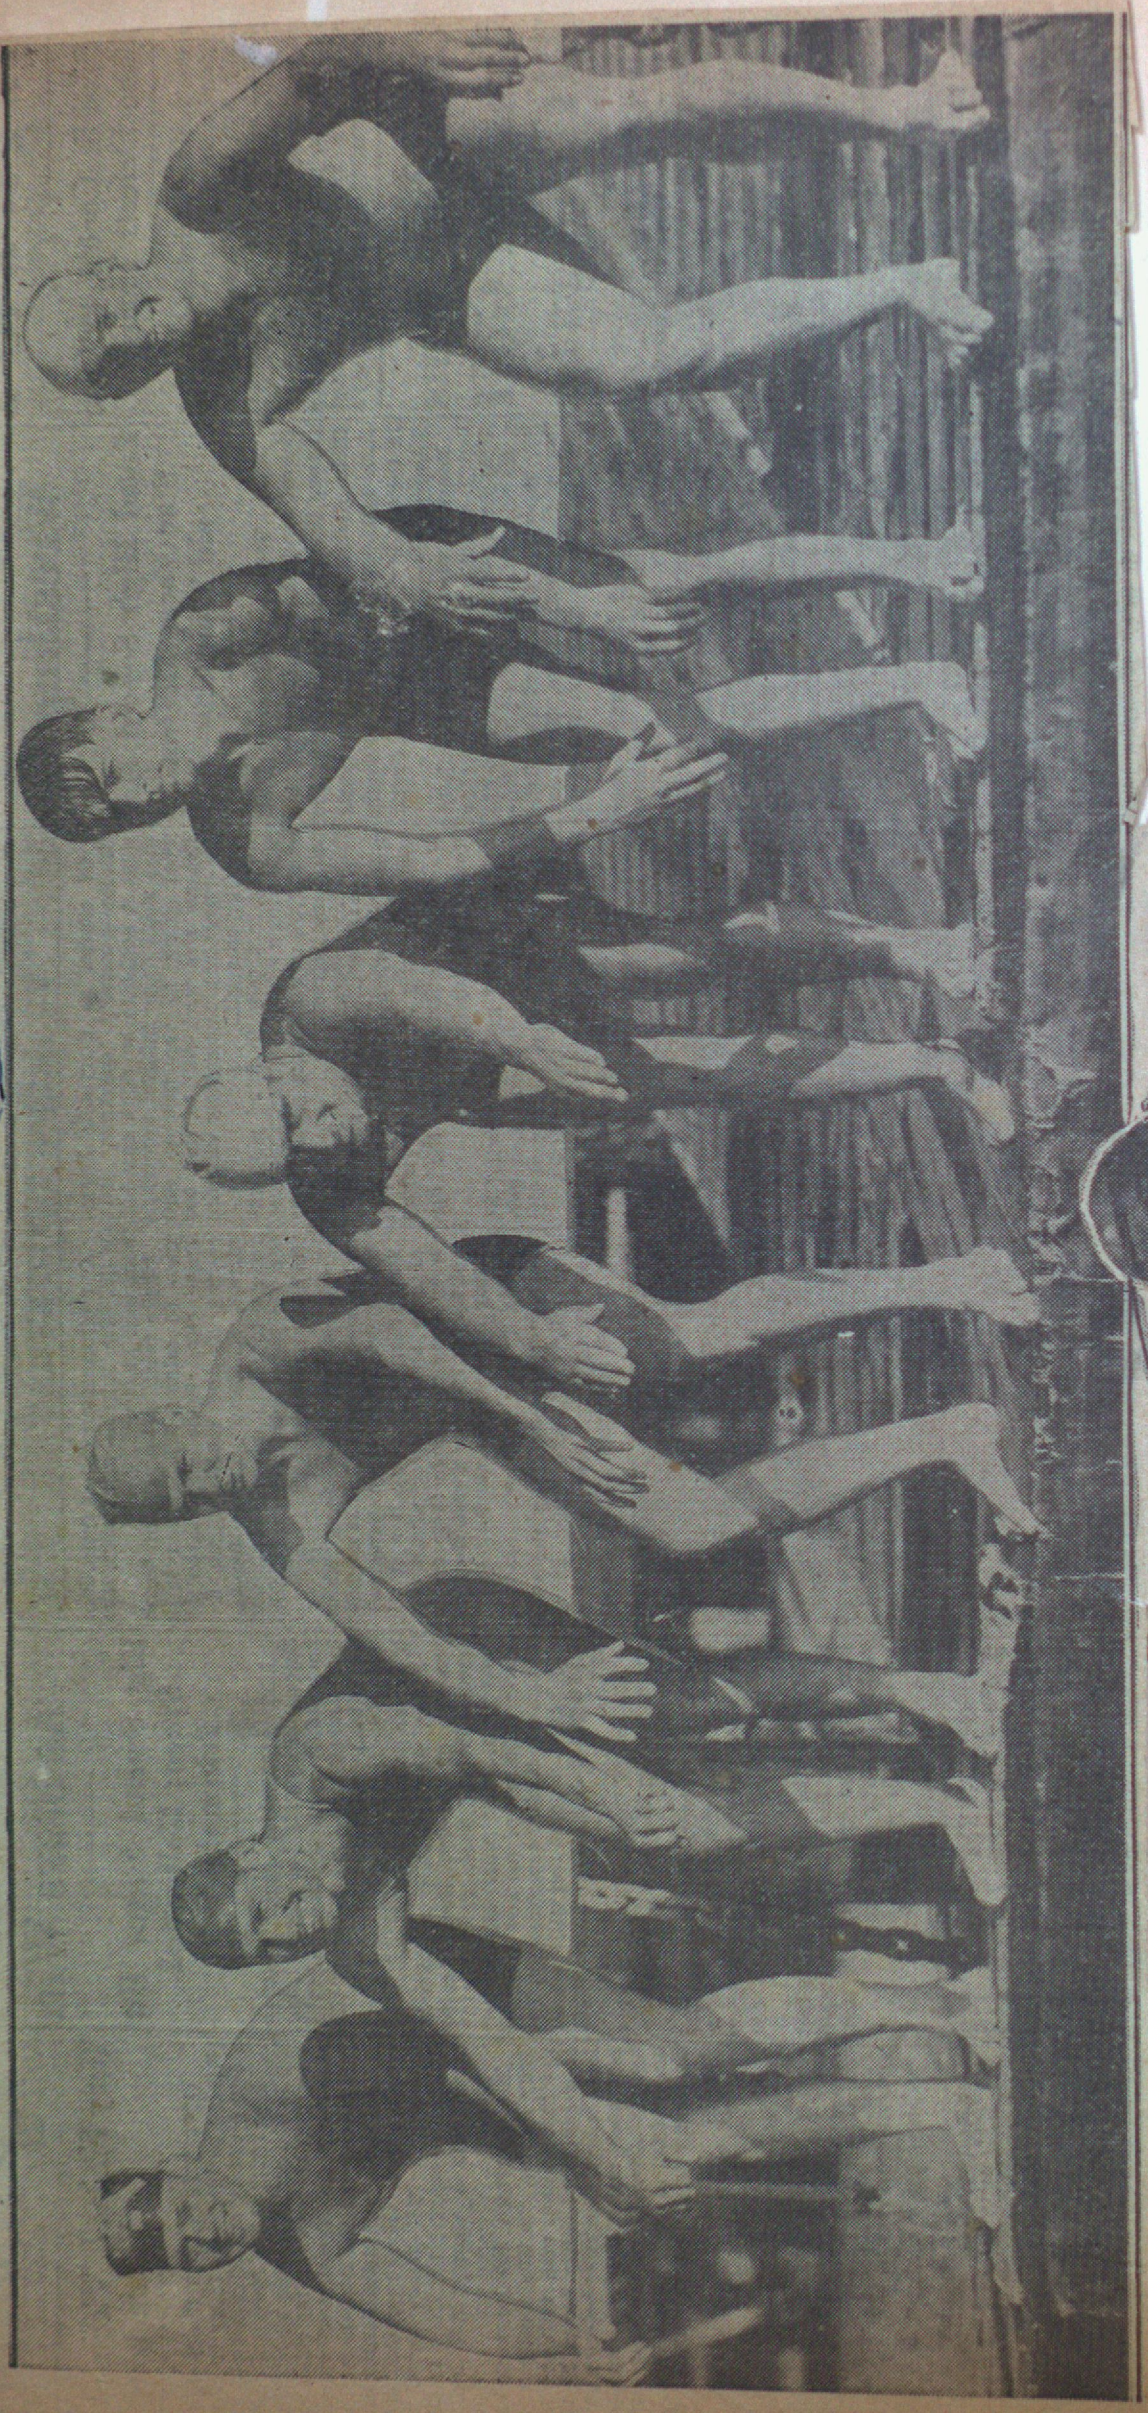

With the title went a large silver trophy, which now graces the Silvester living room.

SANTA CRUZ, June 23—Dick Keating, the Olympic Club's great rough water swimmer, won the Santa Cruz two mile ocean swim here today from a field of 43 starters, 39 of which completed the tough race.

Keating set a razing pace right from the start and Wiekko Ruuska, the Port Bragg lad who was looked upon as a serious challenger in this event, could not stay with him for more than 100 yards.

Roy Siem, the big back stroke swimmer from the University of California, but wearing Athens Club colors, surprised by taking second place from his collegiate chum, Weldon Smith.

Keating beat Siem by 150 yards while Siem in turn led Smith a like distance. The next four swimmers, headed by Warren Smith of the Athens Club, finished within four seconds. The same quartet raced from start to finish and were never separated by more than five yards at any stage of the event.

Dick Rittger, the one-legged lad from San Francisco, swam into 12th place ahead of Frank Brissette of the Olympic Club.

From John Foubie who resides at Fort Ross in Sonoma county comes a timely word. To quote—"Please let the hunter and the striped bass sports know that on the 25d and 26d of this month..."

"Then if I have any fish when I come home she has a couple of days' conversation for the neighbors. And if I don't get anything, which I generally don't, why, she's all sympathy over my poor luck and extremely solicitous when I tell her how tired I am. Going fishing is the lazy man's perfect alibi."

And, honestly enough, there's lots in what this casual acquaintance says. Maybe fishing is, after all, comparatively unimportant compared to his byproducts. But enough of this.

Some good catches have been reported at Belden and a few limits from Chippis creek.

And now just a word more. Remember these: The San Francisco Striped Bass Club's monthly outing today at Pittsburg. Members and friends bring glasses and plates for chipmunk and beer. And the San Francisco Rod and

It was Dick Keating, youthful natator from the Fairmont Terrace Plunge, who earned the title and all honors that go with winning a great race.

Ted Wiget, who rated with Keating as the favorites in the race (Buster Olds did not start), found the going too rough after paddling for more than a mile and a half and was taken from the water badly cramped.

Keating's victory was decisive and complete. He led Wiget by more than 25 yards at the half-way mark and was fully 40 yards to the good when Wiget was forced out.

One of the greatest crowds ever to adorn the beach at Santa Cruz was on hand to see the swimmers. The beach and board walk was black with spectators from the time the race started until the last man was across the line.

The Olympic Club swimmers won the team trophy.

Johnny McManus, Irish champion, beat "Chink" Himle in their personal battle by more than a minute over the two-mile course.

Of 52 starters 37 completed the course. Complete results:

District Paddlers in Golden Gate Swim

Paul Silvester Tops List of Locals In Dolphin Club Event

Four district aquatic stars are competing in the Dolphin Club's annual Golden Gate swim, which takes place Sunday, from Fort point to Lime point.

Heading the district contingent is Paul Silvester, who already crossed the Gate eleven times. John Swett, Dennis Mahoney, and Joe Bruno are the other local swimmers in the race.

The Dolphin race is the only Golden Gate swim scheduled for this year, the Chronicle having discontinued its annual event at the finish of their race last September.

Silvester finished in fourth place in that event, and his wind and timing have greatly improved since then. Paul made the distance in 24 minutes Sunday in a practice swim. The Dolphin Club record is 22 minutes, held by Johnny McManus, who is competing again this year.

Dick Rittger, one-legged swimmer, is favored to finish near the top despite his handicap.

The race starts at 10:30 a. m. Sunday and 24 swimming aces will leap into the water from the deck of the Five Brothers.

Two boats will be open to the public. These boats will leave the Dolphin Club landing at 9 a. m. and follow the swimmers across the Gate. After the race the boats will return to the clubhouse where dancing will take place until 5 p. m.

The fact that 21 out of 22 swimmers to start finished the race and that the last swimmer, William Chapman, completed the course in 41:40 is good evidence that tidal conditions were right. The winners time of 25:53 is not a record.

Outside of tidal conditions, things were not too hot. It was one of those cold bleak days, with the upper part of the Golden Gate bridge obscured in fog, that tested the courage of the overcoated spectators, let alone the swimmers and pilots. The wind from the west created small choppy waves that slap the swimmers off stride and try to run down the merman's throats.

Joe Bruno Third in Dolphin Gate Swim

Paul Silvester Finishes 7th; Slowed Down by Pilot's Wide Course

Joe Bruno astonished two boat loads of spectators Sunday when he took third place in the Dolphin club Golden Gate swim with his single overhand stroke.

The fast time of 28 minutes and 46 seconds brought the district aquatic star into the finish less than one minute after Dick Rittger, one-legged swimmer who copped first place.

Paul Silvester, Bryant street paddler, was taken on a wide course by his pilots and had all he could do to finish seventh. On a straight course he might have come in second or third, it appeared to spectators. Paul's time was 31:36.

Dennis Mahoney and Jack Swett, the two remaining entrants from the district, came in fifteenth and sixteenth. Mahoney's time was 35:59, and Swett's, 37:49.

Of the 22 starters in the race 21 finished. Stanley Kearney was bothered by cramps a few minutes after the race had begun, and had to be lifted into his pilot boat.

21 Mermen to Brave Choppy Waters Off Fort Point

By BOB STEVENS

Twenty-one swimming youths brave three-quarters of a mile of San Francisco Bay's iciest and choppiest waters this morning from Fort Point to Lime Point in the nineteenth annual Golden Gate swim sponsored by the Dolphin Club.

Johnny McManus, chunky Irish merman, who chased Dick Ritter across the finish line in second place last year, is this year's choice to win. Ritter, one-legged sensation, no longer belongs to the Dolphin Club.

No athletic competition is complete without a "dark horse," so the Dolphins come up with a genuine one. Young Paul Silverter, who practices in the exclusiveness of the a. m. while his opponents work out in the afternoon, is the long shot better's choice to upset McManus, the Sausalito bank clerk.

SILVESTRI TRAINED BY YOUNG LUNARDINI

Silverter has more than the mere distinction of "dark horse" pinned on him. His trainer is young Frank Lunardini, son of Henry Lunardini, head coach of the Dolphin swimmers. The talk of the club is not so much the welfare of favorite McManus as it is of the Silverter-Lunardini combination.

The majority of the starters in today's annual classic have traversed the grueling grind 20 times or more. The papa of them all is Lloyd Rickman, who has gone back and forth so many times he's forgotten the exact number. He ventures to say he has touched his hands on the finish line on both San Francisco and Marin county sides more than 90 times.

Dr. Tollin Knoph, the swimming dentist, and Syd Foster are a pair that have exceeded the 20 times across limit.

A boat leaves the Dolphin Clubhouse at 9:00 this morning and the actual race is scheduled to start at 9:30 off Fort Point.

It was Kanter's thirtieth trip, twenty-fifth for Desmond, eighteenth for Lawton Hughes, seventh for Paul Silvester, the gag man of the club, and Johnny McManus's fifth.

After their swim the lads went to the Cliff House and partook of a hearty meal. They called it breakfast, although it was 1 p. m.

Then followed the customary dip into the calm and warm waters of the Pacific Ocean (the temperature of the water was only 46 degrees and the waves eight feet high), in which the newly elected president, Lawton Hughes, was christened, with a dip onto the surf, being dunked by Mike Desmond Jr. who was aided and abetted by his father, that stalwart member of San Francisco's

By BOB STEVENS

Twenty-one swimming youths brave three-quarters of a mile of San Francisco Bay's iciest and choppiest waters this morning from Fort Point to Lime Point in the nineteenth annual Golden Gate swim sponsored by the Dolphin Club.

Johnny McManus, chunky Irish merman, who chased Dick Ritter across the finish line in second place last year, is this year's choice to win. Ritter, one-legged sensation, no longer belongs to the Dolphin Club.

No athletic competition is complete without a "dark horse," so the Dolphins come up with a genuine one. Young Paul Sylvester, who practices in the exclusiveness of the a. m. while his opponents work out in the afternoon, is the long shot better's choice to upset McManus, the Sausalito bank clerk.

SILVESTRI TRAINED BY YOUNG LUNARDINI

Silvestri has more than the mere distinction of "dark horse" pinned on him. His trainer is young Frank Lunardini, son of Henry Lunardini, head coach of the Dolphin swimmers. The talk of the club is not so much the welfare of favorite McManus as it is of the Silvestri-Lunardini combination.

The majority of the starters in today's annual classic have traversed the grueling grind 20 times or more. The papa of them all is Lloyd Rickman, who has gone back and forth so many times he's forgotten the exact number. He ventures to say he has touched his hands on the finish line on both San Francisco and Marin county sides more than 90 times.

Dr. Tolin Knoph, the swimming dentist, and Syd Foster are a pair that have exceeded the 20 times across limit.

A boat leaves the Dolphin Club-house at 9:00 this morning and the actual race is scheduled to start at 9:30 off Fort Point.

M'Manus, Sausalito Bank Clerk, Wins Gate Swim

Paul Sylvester Second in Big Dolphin Club Test

By BOB STEVENS

Thirty-one-year-old Johnny McManus, black haired, freckle faced San Francisco bank clerk outdistanced his swimming brethren for the second time in three years to win the nineteenth annual Dolphin Club Golden Gate swim by 20 yards over Paul Sylvester yesterday morning.

McManus, chunky Irishman, who won the race across the choppy waters from Fort Point to Lime Point in 1934 and placed second last year, was timed in 40 minutes, 28 seconds as against Sylvester's 41:48. Joe Bruno, stocky steel worker, was third, 15 feet behind Sylvester in 42:24.

In taking second to the one-legged Dick Ritter last year, McManus traversed the Gate in 27:32 seconds, indicating how rough the changing tides made the waters yesterday.

McManus, with the veteran Dolphin Club trainer, Henry Lunardini, as pilot, took a north easterly route and at one-time trailed Sylvester, the "dark horse," by several yards.

Lunardini led McManus into Lime Point almost at a right angle with the towering column of steel of the Gate bridge. The stocky Irishman, displaying an exceptional drive at the finish, touched Lime Point as onlookers applauded his second Golden Gate victory.

Sylvester, who trained for the past weeks in the morning, exclusive from the afternoon workouts of his club members, took a course out of the Gate and cut in with the changing tide but couldn't overtake the sprinting McManus.

Bruno, who finished third last year, came in third again trailing Sylvester by seven yards.

Of the 19 starters, only three called it quits en route.

Last to finish the grueling swim was the veteran 53-year-old Lloyd Rickman, service manager of a local automobile concern. Rickman, although many minutes behind the fourteenth man "in," finished the race for his thirty-ninth trip across, negotiating the distance in 80:28.

In 1935, Rickman swam the same course in 38:35 to finish eighteenth.

John Martin, winner of the S. F. Fireman trophy in The Chronicle Golden Gate Swim in 1933, turned in his sixteenth trip across the Gate finishing next to last.

After battling with the icy waters for 52 minutes and 25 seconds, Martin hopped into his pilot's boat and rowed the remaining distance to the ship standing by for the swimmers.

In his first attempt across the Gate, Joe Kaufman, insurance salesman, finished in fourth place for the biggest surprise of the race. He turned in a 46-minute 30-second effort.

Long after the football, basketball and track stars have lost their names in the headlines and have forgotten how to play their own sport the swimmers keep going on and on.

A reminder of the Dolphin Club's annual cross-bay swim, which is a tough grind in case you're interested... The lineup of starters, and finishers is a roster of active business men who swim for recreation.

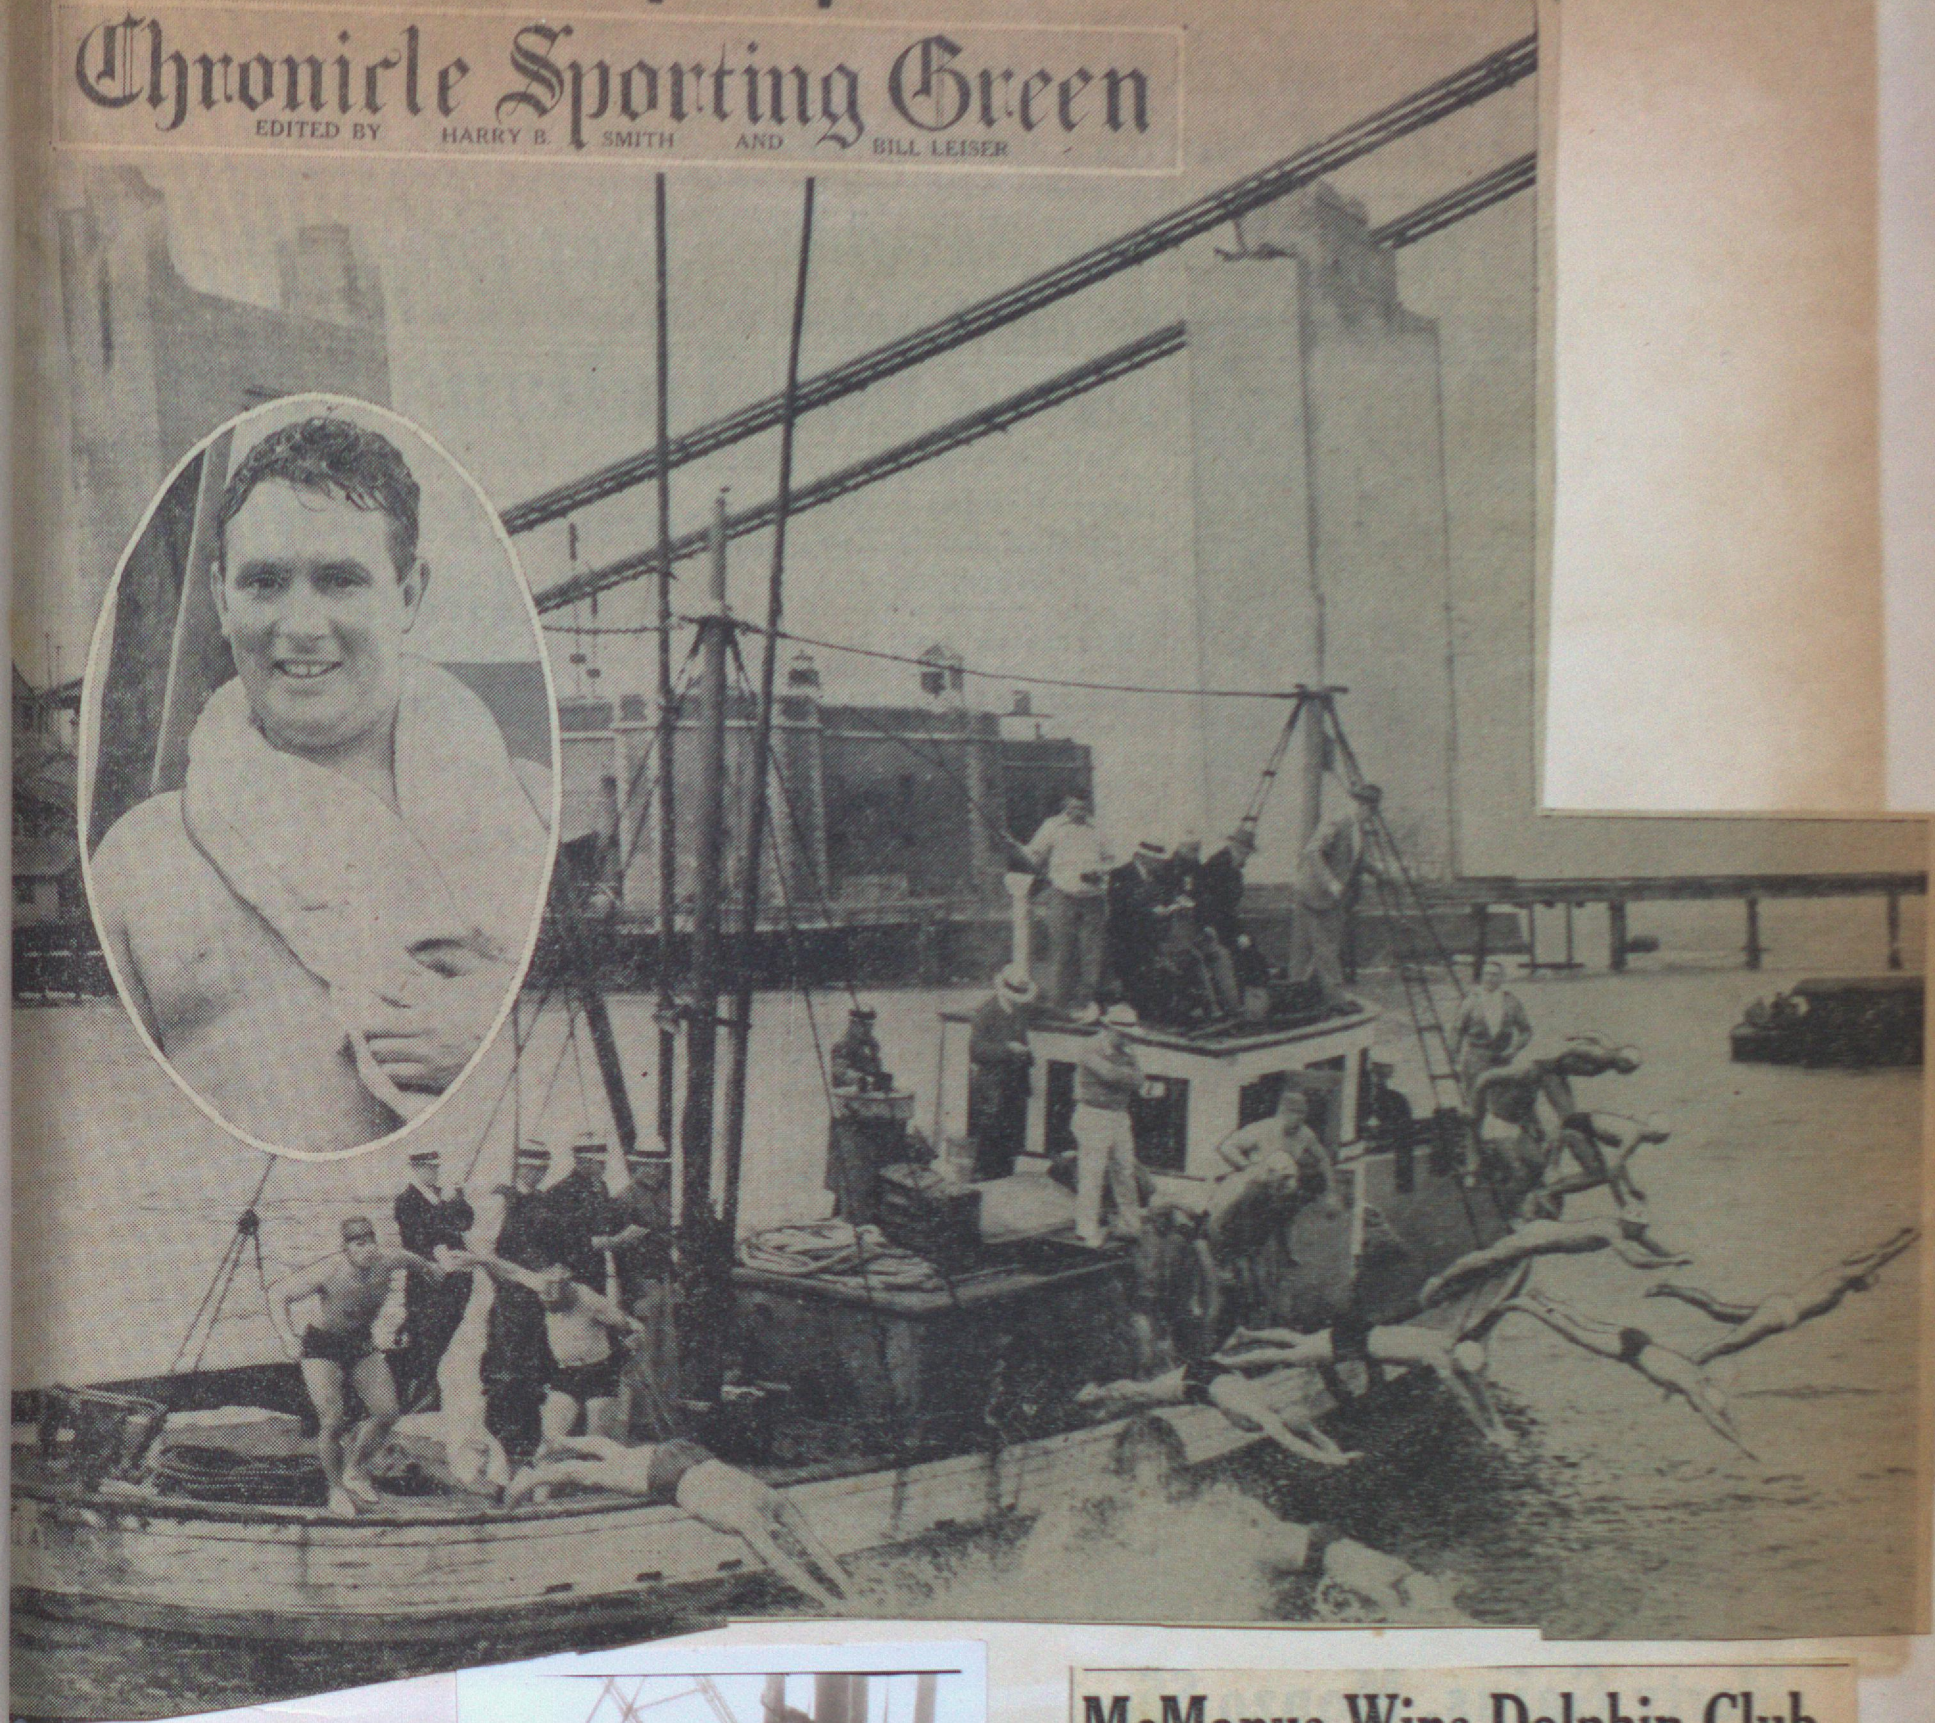

LEO YD RICKMAN, Johnny McManus who has gone across 24 times in competition, is a local automobile company service manager. JOHNNY McMANUS, favorite who finished second last year, is a bank teller. JOE BRUNO is a commission merchant. DR. ROLIN KNOPH is known as the swimming dentist. SYD FOSTER is a bean salesman, cleaning and dyeing establishment; CASS HOLMS is an of-the-worker in a paint concern. Called the "popular fireman" and a former fighter, JOHNNY MARVIN also gets across; DENNIS MAHONEY is an orderly in a local hospital. The son of a local police inspector, MIKE DESMOND JR. is one of the exceptions in the club. He's a student at U. S. F. President ED DOLLARD of the Dolphins is a chemist engineer. He's too busy arranging details of the swim to get into it himself. Another ace is HENRY LUNARDI, coach of the business men swimmers. He is a drayman by trade, but there was a time when he rode the six-day bike circuit with the great REGGIE McNAMARA. Apparently there must be a moral to this story. If the Dolphin boys had their say, it would be "Swim and keep your job."

McManus Wins Dolphin Club Gate Swim; Sylvester Second

Johnny McManus, bank employe, won his second Golden Gate swimming race in three years yesterday when he outdistanced a field by 20 yards to win the 19th annual Dolphin Club swim. Paul Sylvester was second. McManus, who was second to one-legged Dick Ritter last year, won the race in 1934. He swam the distance from Fort Point to Lime Point yesterday in 49 minutes, 28 seconds and Sylvester was timed at 41 minutes, 48 seconds. Joe Bruno, chunky steel worker, was third, stopping the watches in 42.24. The waters yesterday were choppy and slowed up the race a great deal. McManus' time last year in taking second being 27 minutes, 32 seconds. Sylvester took an early lead but McManus, with Henry Lunardini as pilot, took a northeasterly course. Lunardini, trainer for the Dolphin Club, led McManus at almost right angles to the Golden Gate Bridge, using the forces of nature as much as possible. Sylvester took a course out of the Gate and then swam back with the tide, but could not make up the distance on the faster moving winner. Nineteen started the race and three retired before the finish. Lloyd Ricman, 53, finished the race, negotiating the Gate for the 39th time. John Martin, local fireman, finished next to last, and made his 16th crossing. Joe Kaufman, an insurance salesman, finished fourth, four minutes behind Bruno for the surprise of the race.

PRACTICALLY AS ONE, four cold water swimmers of the Dolphin Club hit the briny in practice for the Golden Gate swim to be staged next Sunday, August 9.

Rough Waters

EDITOR: Miss Moore of Oakland is most likely is an honest, good sport. However, I can't say I agree with her urge to have real endurance swims in our Pacific Ocean and Bay.

The last finish I saw of a contest, swimming the Golden Gate, was worse than a brutal prize fight. Many were taken from the cold, rough water before the finish, exhausted. Others finishing were taken to hospitals in Army ambulances, not able to walk or talk.—Harvey A. Evens, 822 Alabama-st.

Bay Swimmin' Hole

EDITOR: I agree with Harvey A. Evens that endurance swims are dangerous, but I have swum the Golden Gate 15 times and am still going strong. I believe with proper training you can swim a long way. The Dolphin Club Golden Gate swims are 100 per cent successful. I also swam around Alcatraz Island. Let's hear more about long swims. In fact the Bay is my swimming hole all year 'round.—Paul Silvester, 2309 Bryant-st.

SIX-MILE SWIM IN SPEEDY TIME

A new chapter in San Francisco Bay aquatic history was written in foamy letters yesterday as Paul Silvestri successfully completed a six-mile swim from the Sausalito ferry slip to the San Francisco shore.

First man to make the difficult crossing, Silvestri finished fresh at the Dolphin Club pier in Aquatic Cove after being in the water two hours and 55 minutes.

Hosmer Wins Long Race to Exposition Treasure Isle

ter shape than any of the men.

The inevitable gamster who refuses to be taken from the water until he accomplishes what he set out to do proved to be Al Dobson, an applicant for membership in the South End Rowing Club. Dobson turned thumbs down, or was it up, at the Coast Guard lad who tried to induce him to leave the water before he finished. He was in the water 107 minutes and 10 seconds.

They finished as follows:

Horace Hosmer	(S. E.)	83:23
Bob Cohn	(S. E.)	85:29
Walter Kramer	(Ariel)	86:08
Tommy Weemoth	(Dolphin)	70:07

Tom Tronum of the Dolphin Club successfully defended his singles title in the rowing events held in the lagoon between Treasure Island and Yerba Buena island. The South End oarsmen captured the four-oared event from the Dolphins.

Helen Crenkovich defeated her teammat, Patsy Robinson, in a kayak tilting duel.

Headed by Ted Needham and Helen Crenkovich, ace divers from the Fairmont Hotel, the trained plungers from the hill top hostelry brought rounds of applause from the spectators, who lined the shore to watch the show. Clyde Diaz and Norman Hanley, Olympic Club funny men, were in rare form.

Primo Lavenals, world's champion flycaster, gave an exhibition of his skill that brought gasps of astonishment from the assemblage. Primo tossed the artificial fly 528 feet, six inches.

H. Macquarrie, a man with a pair of arms that would make a professional wrestler look like a sissy, did a bit of archery that was nothing short of sensational.

TREASURE ISLE SWIM NOV. 21

Thirty swimmers from the Dolphin, South End and Ariel Clubs will race in a "Discovery Swim" to Treasure Island Sunday, November 21, as one feature of island dedication ceremonies when San Franciscans inspect the 1939 World's Fair site. The swimmers will start from the Embarcadero, between piers 31 and 33.

SILVESTER SWIMS 9000 STROKES

Dolphin Ace Hasn't Been in Bath
Tub for 7 Years

It took Paul Silvester, ace swimmer of the Dolphin club, between 8800 and 9000 strokes to complete his recent record swim from Sausalito to San Francisco.

Silvester's natural stroke is about 53 strokes per minute and the swim took him 3 hours and 55 minutes.

In 10 years Silvester has plowed more than 2000 miles of water. He has conquered the Golden Gate 16 times. But the most surprising revelation is that Silvester has not been in a bathtub for over seven years. He takes a good shower every day however, which more than offsets his bathtub boycott.

Swim to Mark Dedication of Exposition Site

Thirty star swimmers from the Dolphin, South End, and Ariel Clubs will race in a "Discovery Swim" to Exposition Island on Sunday, Nov. 21, as one feature of island dedication ceremonies when thousands of San Franciscans will have the opportunity of landing on and inspecting the 1939 World's Fair site.

The swimmers will start from the Embarcadero between Piers 31 and 33 right after the first ferry carrying island visitors leaves the Ferry Building at 1 p. m. They will swim the distance of one and nine-tenths miles to the island at a point in front of the World's Fair Administration Building, where colorful ceremonies are to be held.

The 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will present a trophy to the winning club, and individual commemorative medals will be given to all participants.

Officials in charge will be: Starters, George Lineer and Judge Al Fritz; course judges, William Wilson, Mike Desmond, Elmer Delany; timekeepers, Charles Duhamel, Henry Jackson, Lyle Collett; finish judges, Allen Toch, Bill Burns, Dr. Bassini; swimming commissioners, Bud Sterling of Dolphin Club, Harry Corbett of South End Club and Ed Sullivan of Ariel Club.

Reynolds Again Wins State Swim

Dolphin Mermen First to Win Famed Classic Twice in Row

By GEORGE F. LINEER

Jack Reynolds won the Dolphin Club's twenty-first annual Golden Gate swim yesterday morning and by so doing became the first ever to win this classic twice in a row. The husky Dolphin mermen made a runaway race of the affair, beating his nearest rival, Tom Weymouth, by nearly six minutes.

Aside from the fact that Jack won the race, he put on a swell exhibition of swimming. A physical powerhouse, Reynolds started the race as though he were swimming 50 yards and never slackened his pace. Jack showed something new in gate swimming by breathing on alternate sides with ors. From start to finish Weymouth was clocked in 34:11 and Quist in 35:05. Jack Reynolds' winning time of 28:19 was excellent considering water conditions. Out of 29 starters, a record list, 25 finished. The honor

DOLPHINS IN OCEAN DIP

25 ATHLETES TURN OUT, SAYS GEO. F. LINEER

Aquatic enthusiasts from many walks of life participated in the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club's 41st annual hike to the beach and dip in the ocean yesterday morning. It was the biggest and most enthusiastic turnout in many years.

More than 25 took the hike from the club quarters to the waters of the Pacific, where they were joined by a dozen or so semi-softies, for the dunking ceremonies. Another score or so of real softies, who didn't hike or dip, beat the hardy athletes to the dining tables at the Cliff House, but the tough lads got all they wanted to eat, which was plenty.

A cross-section of the Dolphins who participated yesterday showed bankers, brokers, truck drivers and policemen on the list. There was Henry Kanter, Johnny McManus and Pete Campana from the banking industry; Mike Desmond and Bill Mahood from the San Francisco and Oakland police departments, respectively; Herb Derham and Duke Dupuls of the Fire Department; Gus Gelardi, a molder; Paul Silvester, from the dyeing and cleaning industry; Sid Foster, broker; Bill Perry, druggist. There was Charlie Ackerland, barber; Dr. Boris Herman; Attorney Charlie Hoffman; Mike Scafani, truck driver; Joe Murray, display man. They came in all sizes, ages, creeds or religions to take part in this traditional event. All fellow clubmen.

We almost forgot little Jimmy Cronin, the perennial treasurer of the Dolphin Club, who for the 41st time led the gang on the hike and who this year rounds out 50 years of membership in this club. Jimmy has for the past 52 years been with the Western Sugar Company and still does a day's work at his desk.

Water conditions made it impossible for the mermen to do any actual swimming. Four rows of breakers precluded the possibility of any of these watermen taking to open water beyond the breaker line, much to the relief of the lads from the Golden Gate Lifesaving station.

1,352 Ace Chasers Set Daily Record

Annual Classic Winds Up This Evening at Lincoln

By DON SELBY

Paul Silvestri of the Sharp Park Golf Club set the scoring pace as 1,352 ace chasers smashed all single day participation records to smithereens in The Examiner Hole in One Tournament at Lincoln Park yesterday.

But when the record number of gunners had triggered their best shots, there was Emmet "Bud" Soules, the telephone company deskman, still sitting atop the heap with the one and only hole in one registered in this tournament in two years.

Silvestri, a 50 year old golfing veteran who scored an ace at Sonoma last year, dropped his first five iron shot nine and seven-eighths inches from the pin to lead both the Sharp and Harding Park Clubs and climb into fifth place in the overall standings behind Soules (ace), Alan Johnson 4 1/4 inches, George Frazer (9 1/4 inches and Herb Morey Sr. (9 3/4 inches).

An army of more than 500, all playing under the banner of Frank Davidson's Westlake Lounge, was the biggest single factor in the establishment of a new participation mark.

5,748 ALREADY.

The tournament, largest of its kind in the world, now has attracted 5,748 and will equal the six-day tournament record set last year if 1,223 take to the four men's tees and one woman's tee today. All hours except 11 a. m. appear to be opportune times for the acceptance of post entries.

Andy Thom, a born to the kilt Scot who came to this country only six years ago, proved the second best shot-smith of the fifth day of firing with a shot just one foot, four inches from the cup.

In leading all of Harding Park Men's Club's 120 ace chasers, Thom, a former St. Andrews city champion who is a member of both St. Andrews Golf Club and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, got not one but two fine measurements.

GIRL TIES THIRD.

On his third five iron shot, Thom, a three handicapper, draked the ball four feet, 10 3/4 inches from the target. Two shots later he put in that 14 job.

Andy, who is 32, is a banking supervisor for Crown Zellerbach.

Three in a Row for Jack REYNOLDS WINS DOLPHIN SPLASH FROM RAY DIEHL

By GEORGE F. LINEER

Jack Reynolds, good looking steamship company employe, made it three in a row yesterday morning when he won the Dolphin Club's 22d annual Golden Gate swim. Reynolds, piloted by Clyde Meneau, touched the rock at Lime Point in 27.26, just six minutes and 10 seconds ahead of Ray Diehl, who beat Joe Bruno by more than seven minutes for second place.

Weather conditions for the race were about as tough as we have ever seen them, and the time made by the winner is a testimonial to the pilot's good course and the swimmers' condition and ability. Five minutes after the swimmers took to the water, wind, tide and differences of opinions as to which way to head had spread the swimmers over a wide area. Some looked as though they were swimming to the Farallones while others appeared to be heading for Alcatraz Island.

Johnny McManus, who finished in 12th place and who won the Dolphin swim in 1934, completed his 17th crossing of the Golden Gate under his own power.

Reynolds by winning this race, made it three in a row, equaling Buster Olds' record. Olds, who won in 1931, 32 and 33 was piloted by Harry Rapp, the cagey Gate pilot, who used to show the way for Rex Mason. Syd Foster is credited with having won three Dolphin swims but they were not three in a row. Olds' time of 21:47 for the 1932 swim still stands as the record.

There were 19 starters, 17 finished. Bill Mahood, Oakland police officer, was last man.

That Chronicle Swim DOLPHINS WILL BE IN WITH A FULL ENTRY

By GEORGE F. LINEER

Dolphin Club swimmers are really going overboard for The Chronicle's mile swim for men at Aquatic Park Sunday, October 16. From Jack Reynolds, winner of the Dolphin Golden Gate swim, to "Tiny" Cervelli, twenty-fifth and last place man, these mermen have signed up for The Chronicle race.

The eternal battle of the Irish and Italian factions at the Dolphin Club is one of the things that keeps up interest.

In The Chronicle swim the Italian team will consist of Don Bagiani, Paul Silvester, Gus Gerald, "Tiny" Cervelli, Dino Landucci, Bill Giovanonni Jr. and Joe Bruno. The Irish with Jack Reynolds, Johnny McManus, Dennis Mahoney, Andy Dunne and Mike Desmond Jr. might be considered as a bit faster team, which makes little difference to either faction. The big question always is did any one quit?

Jimmy Cronin, watch dog of the Dolphin treasury for the past 50 years, tells us that the Dolphin Club will have a separate trophy for the first of their members to finish in The Chronicle race.

These Dolphins will stage their annual boat ride and stag outing Sunday, and according to advices they will leave the boat house at 9 a. m. and return at 5 p. m. Paradise Cove will be the scene of the affair that will include racing for prizes and a chicken feed "a la Dolphin" that Bill Giovanonni Senior says is Italian style.

"It's not that Irish cooking isn't good," says Bill, "but even our stubborn Irish members concede that Italian style chicken is best." Andy Demo, San Francisco fireman from Engine 31, is chairman and chief cook for the day. Andy reports that a record turnout is expected. The Demo style of cooking has brought almost as much fame to the Dolphins as have the efforts of the swimmers and oarsmen. They work hard at anything they do, these Dolphins and not the least of their enthusiasm is displayed when they play and eat.
