

(Observe)

A weak yellowish mark of a circular wax seal.

Stamped words in faded red ink, in capital letters: PAID

A faded a postmark stamped in red ink formed by two concentric circles. In the circular space formed by a bigger and smaller circle, barely readable [City of Toronto?] In the center of the inner circle: [words are faded, not readable] 1835. (Partially visible (faded) to the left in the middle of the two circles): [U.C.]

In handwriting, just starting in the center of the faded stamped post mark described above:

Lewis Burwell, Esq.
D. [P?] [Surveyor?]
Brantford
[West?] Canada

(In reverse order in the same page, in handwriting)

6th [April?] Page is scratched and words are cut (looks like as result of opening the note sealed by wax)] 1835 (visible words are underlined by a horizontal line)

William Campbell
To [sell?] No. 17 £ [illegible number]
In Brantford 12 [yards?]
Answer is within (word "is" underlined by a horizontal line)

(Reverse)

Black ink marks from the handwriting described on the observe side. Same seal wax marks.