July 1 / DECEASE OF THOMAS LE VALLEY The Angel of Death has just chosen a victim in the person of Thomas Le Valley, a young sailor of twenty years of age. He is from the ship "The Yankee" arrived here Monday with the diagnosis "appendicitis". The surgeon, Major Borden, after a thorough examination, pronounced his case grave; but, seeing that the hour was advanced, put off operation until tomorrow; in fact, all gave us the hope of excellent results, when, on Tuesday, the nurse in charge, noticed a change in the manner of the sick person. He complained in a loud voice, no longer answered when spoken to and refused to take his medicine or the food one presented him. He was thought to be delirious and we did not know to what to attribute the cause. This morning, ~~the~~ calm succeeded his delirium and only for his painful breathing one would have thought him asleep; however, death had already ^{begun} to invade his features and became more and more pronounced. Two Sisters, praying at his bedside, tried in vain to make the dying one realize that the supreme moment was near. At twenty to twelve noon he breathed his last and a few moments later, a telegram was sent to announce the sad news to his family.
