A collage of images from a school assembly. A large red banner with the text "P-5 ASSEMBLIES" in black, outlined letters runs diagonally across the center. In the background, a group of students in yellow and white costumes perform on stage. In the foreground, a diverse group of students in various school uniforms are seated or standing, some looking towards the camera. A boy in a green uniform with a red sash is prominent in the lower right.

What will I be when I grow up?

What will I be in the new millenium?

In The future I Am Going To Be A Mother

I have dark brown eyes, and silky, soft, dark brown hair. I have a silk red and white skirt and a purple silk T-shirt. I have a pair of blue and gold hanging down earings. I am a bit taller then my mum. I have light brown skin and an emerald stone ring. I have twins and they are both girls. They are cute, pretty, short, wonderful and playful. They are five and a half years old. They have short, silky, soft hair, and dark brown eyes, and dark blue velvet trousers with light green silk T-shirts. I live in New York. I have a station wagon, I also have a Labrador puppy. I will have a happy family.

Nicole Kreutter

Me In The Twenty First Century

In the 21st century I will be in the greatest army. I will be very strong and brave. I will drive a big green tank with super strong armour. The huge missiles can fire 1,000 miles high. I will have millions of gold badges. I am the bravest of all soldiers. I will have every single gun in the world and the best walkie talkie. I will have hundreds of scars. I will have the longest, sharpest sword that can cut down a brick wall. In the end I save Hong Kong.

James Tortoishell

Me In The 21st Century

In the brand new 21st century I will be a brave and new captain of a famous aircraft carrier. I will have a dark black suit with shiny buttons and shiny gold badges and a captain's hat. I will carry a walky talky and some weapons. My 20-ton aircraft carrier will be called HMS Invincible. It will have 2-inch guns. My crew and my men will be brave and polite and help injured people. The black wasp helicopter and the jet will have good torpedoes on their sides. The weapons will be excellent in battle to protect innocent people!

John Bound

When I am older.

In the 21st century I am going to be a vet. I will need to be gentle with small animals and strong with big animals. I will have long hair and a long white dress. I will have a big office and loads of visitors. I will wear black high shoes. I will be beautiful.

Emily Partridge.

What will I be when I grow up?

What will I be in the new millennium?

My Future

One day in the 21st century I am going to be a sculptor and I am going to make a dolphin.

It is going to have big eyes and a smooth tail with a triangular fin. The dolphin will be in a swimming shape. I am going to wear a white apron. I will have hair down to my shoulders. My hands will be brown and messy because I will use brown squidgey clay. I will be a very good sculptor.

Millie Edwards

Me in the 21st Century

In the 21 century I will be a general of an army with 10 million soldiers, 500 tanks and 2 bases that are 2 km long. 999,999,999 sentry guns surround the base, I will have a green helmet, black on my face, green clothes, black body armour, a silver metal hand gun, a wooden rifle, a rapid gun, sniper rifle, hunting knife, machine gun, rocket launcher, grenade, walky talky, time mine, sniper and a slayer. We will be a protecting army.

Robert Hasegawa

Double Dream

One sunny morning I woke up in my room, it was shining bright outside, I could hear that my friends were playing tennis. Suddenly I remembered my dream. I was a famous tennis player and I was going to play in the Olympics. It was so exciting.

In my dream I wore white 'skorts' with a white new T-shirt. On my feet were a pair of blue and white trainers and of course some socks with them. My tennis racket had white and black colours on it, Bang!!

I woke up out of my dream and lay on the floor.

"Time for school, Lisa!" Hm!!

Lisa Stalberg

Me In The 21st Century

One day in the future I will be a soldier with a dark, green uniform, gold and silver badges and a green helmet and big, black boots with a short, spiky hair cut. I will carry a big power ray gun and I will help other people to be soldiers.

Samuel Lehto

When I grow up, I will be.....

What will I be in the new millennium?

What will I be when I grow up?

What will I be in the new millenium?

Me in the 21st Century

Now I am in my late 20s and it is the year 2012. I am in the air force and I have strong, huge muscles and strong legs. My hair is shiny brown with a flex fit hat on. In my plane I have grenades and missiles. A good job has been done and I have saved Hong Kong.

Lawrie Chapman

This is what I will be in the 21 St Century

I will be the best Karter in Hong Kong and the world in the new 21 st century. I will be even better than my dad, which I already am. I zoom past everyone like a speeding bullet. I will be the best of the world. I will zoom past corners with really great cornering. I will not crash! I will go this way and that. I will be so good my name will be Speedy. I will win every thing. I am determined to be the best so I will be the best. This is what I am going to be so now you know. Wish me luck. Speedy race is on. Bye.

Aaron Thompson

Me in the 21st Century

One day I am going to be a famous pop star. I will wear a colourful pink, purple and silver fantastic outfit, and have a fantastic voice. I will be so excited when I finish singing they will clap for me. I am going to have a big band, and three girls at the back ground dancing and I will come back to sing in Hong Kong and see my family.

Eline Heemstra

My Future

When I am an adult in the 21st Century I want to be a spectacularly famous Actor. I would like to play a clever doctor. I would dress up like this. I would have a normal white coat, gold buttons, new blue jeans, shiny shoes and holding purple medicine. People will be amazed and think that I am the best actor. I WILL BE RICH! THEY WILL LOVE ME!

Angus Yeatts

What will I be when I grow up?

Me - in the 21st Century.

When I am older I will be an artist. I will paint lots of pictures, like flowers. I will be very messy with paints, and good at art. I will wear a black top and purple trousers and a blue apron. I will be famous.

Katie smith

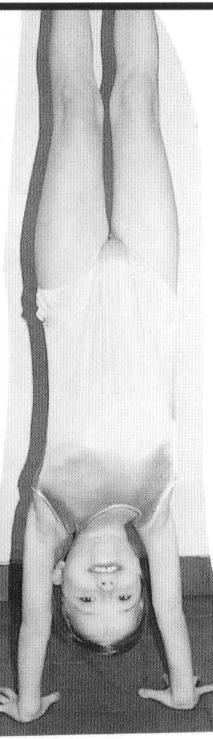

Me in the 21st Century

One morning in the 21st century I am going to be a clever person who works for the bank. I will get lots of money and be rich. I will be very busy working on one of the newest computers. I would dress like this, white tee shirt; grey trousers, black shiny shoes and I will be handsome. I will save money to travel with my friend John Bound.

Christopher Buckman

What will I be in the new millenium?

Me in the 21st Century

When I am in the 21st Century I will be a fighter pilot. When I am in the Air Force I need to wear a green uniform. If I fly a jet I will wear a green uniform and heavy suit. I will fly very high and very fast. My jet will look new, the colour will be dark and light green. I will have 40 buttons in the jet.

Colin Huang

Me in the future

I am a gymnast. I have long brown hair. I will be very thin. I will wear a blue leotard. I will be fit and elegant. I will be very happy and good at it. I will be rich and famous. I will win the Olympics.

Tilly Burns

Me - in the 21st Century.

I am going to be a postman working very hard. I am kind and clever but sometimes I am tired. I am a very busy, good, fantastic postman. I will be a tall postman riding through the streets. I wave to people and they will wave back to me. I will be wearing a brown t-shirt and black shorts. I will be carrying a bag with many newspapers and letters.

Sander Van de Ven

What will I be when I grow up?

What will I be in the new millenium?

Me - in the 21st Century.

In the 21st century. I will be in the army. I will be a smart soldier with a steal handgun and a black suit and a black PP7. I will be carrying a walkie-talkie. I will have ten tanks and four bases; one blew up, so now I have three. I also have 29 sentry guns. I will wear a light and dark green suit. I will have a very, very sharp sword. My sword will be one metre long and my steal handgun will be a quarter of a metre long. I will also have a metre long machine gun and 12 hunting knives, one rocket launcher, 4 slayers and 40 grenades.

Henry Brown

Me in the 21st Century

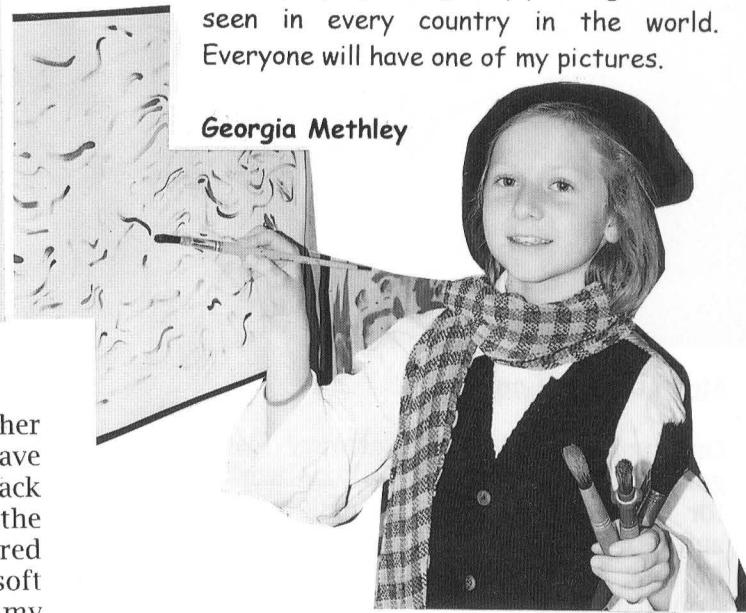

In the future I am going to be a mother with a marvelous little girl. I will have dark blue eyes. I will be wearing a black sweater set with two red lines on the wrist and neck, black pants with two red lines on the ankles. I will have soft brown hair nearly down to my shoulders. I will have blue and gold stud earrings. I will wear a little diamond ring on my finger. I will live in New York City. I will have a golden retriever puppy, who likes to play on the green grass in Central Park. Maybe someday, I will bring my family back to Asia.

Sarah Weil

Me in the 21st Century

One day in the fabulous 21st Century I will be a great artist. I will do the best paintings in the world. I will paint sculptures and paintings on paper. I will be able to paint anything. Every one will buy my paintings. My paintings will be seen in every country in the world. Everyone will have one of my pictures.

Georgia Methley

Me in the 21st Century

One brilliant day in the 21st century I'm painting a beautiful picture of flowers in a vase.

I'm wearing a white, messy apron and a black shirt and black trousers.

I will be gentle and kind by not charging too much for my paintings.

Imogen Liddell

Primary 3, Class 11 - Mrs T. James

Back Row: Mrs Tannwen James, Mads Werner, Robert Huston, Iseult McArdle, Zachary Boffey, Alexander Fordyce, Jemma Webster

Middle Row: Natasha Wilkins, Georgina Lowe, Heather Bryes, Samantha Fulton-Kennedy, Tresa Lee, Chloe Eddleston, Julia Mason

Front Row: Acacia Farmery, Lachlan O'Shea, Rachel Weil, Boris Lam, Edward Owen, Justin Au, Harrison Martell

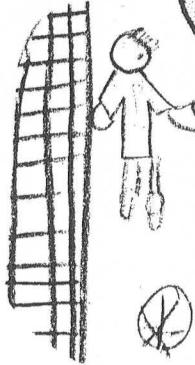

Maria Friis

Bassie is fourteen and very funny. He has green eyes, which are full of spirit. When you look closely you can see his eyes are smiling in a way. When he was twelve he used to tie us up with Guy but now he runs away with Hannah and me. I like his house because it is a farm. But what I like best about Bassie is the way he plays with me. We go riding together and we make runs for the guinea pigs together. We even have the same favourite called Blue. We both simply love animals. I love my cousin Bassie.

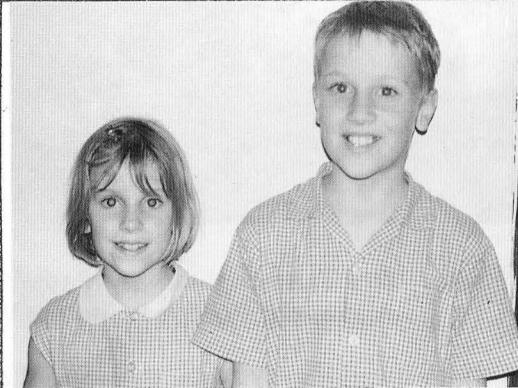

Jemma Webster

Felix is a kind and friendly person. He is very funny and kind. He is good at football and at working too. He carries me around and I have great fun with Felix. He plays games with me like racing, playstation and gameboy. Felix wears glasses and is tall. He is almost nine years old.

Boris Lam

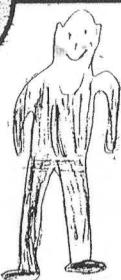

Family Portraits

My brother is annoying because he always lies. Then I get in trouble. He fights and fights with me and I get blamed! Jamie threw the cat up in the air and the cat meowed. My brother is bad! But my brother also helps me with my homework and looks after me. When I fell over I cried and cried. Jamie picked me up.

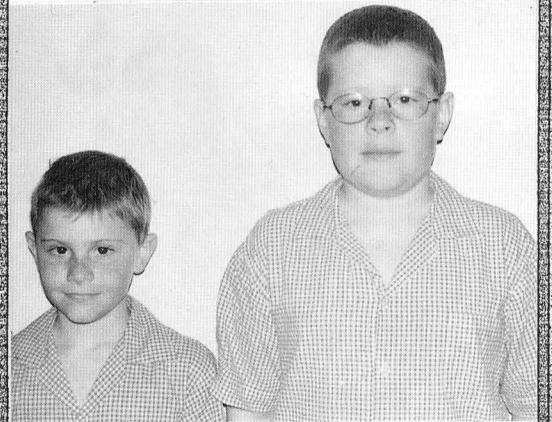

Jamie loves me and I love Jamie. Deep inside we love each other even when we are annoying.

Samantha Fulton- Kennedy

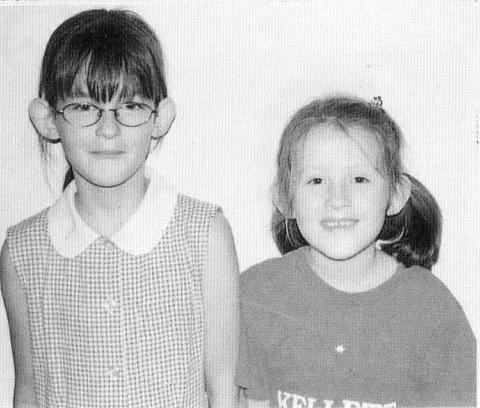

Grandpa John is a very, very very funny person. He laughs at everything. He says "Come to Grand- Dog" in a very exciting voice. Grandpa John likes to stuff me with gummy bears and all types of sweets. He would fill you with giggles in your tummy. Grandpa John has a short white beard. He is very warm and snuggly. He is also extremely jolly!

Chloe Eddleston

My brother is annoying because sometimes he sucks his thumb and when he takes it out of his mouth its all slimy and slobbery! Then he says, "Ed, lets have a thumb war!" We do and then my thumb gets slobbery too! Sometimes he is really nice to me like when he is playing Nintendo and he lets me have a go.

Edward Owen

My sister is sometimes annoying and gets me into trouble – she starts hitting and shouting at me! When I have my friends over to play she shows off to get attention. But it's good to have a sister like mine. I can't think what it would be like without her. I like playing games with her, I love to read to her and she likes reading to me.

Natasha Wilkins

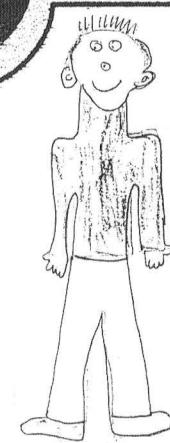

My dad is really nice. In fact he's so nice that every child could wish to have him for a Dad. If he promises me something he does it. He is exciting, jolly, delightful and friendly. He can be serious but usually he just says things that he means. He has a red face, a spiky beard, a moustache and he wears silver, wire glasses. He's great fun because he throws me in the pond and plays water tag with us.

Alexander Fordyce

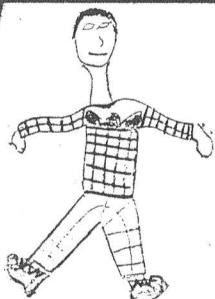

My sister is annoying! She sometimes says lies and says I called her an idiot, but I didn't! What I like about Siobhan is that she's always happy and she has fun playing with me.

Lachlan OShea

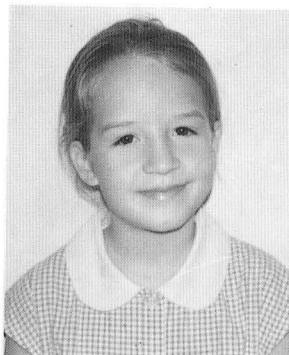

I have two brothers. One is younger than me and one is older. I like to play with my brothers. We have fun.

Maria Friis

My Grandma is very interesting because she does magic tricks. One of my favourite tricks is when she puts candy in her pocket and takes the same candy from her other pocket! (We check both her pockets before she does it!) I have no idea how she does it! I beg her to tell me how she does it but she says no. She won't tell me because she knows I would tell my brother,

Tatu Paivinen

My cousin Thomas is sometimes mean and sometimes fun to be with. But mostly he is mean and rude, especially to his brother, because he calls him names. Thomas has brown hair and eyes and is tall and thin. He is eleven years old and is clever as well. He can be very silly when he pretends to do magic tricks. He likes football and sport because he is good at them.

Georgina Lowe

My Uncle Paul is silly in some ways and in others quite smart. When we play tag we hide in the back of the car and Uncle Paul goes in the front and tags me! Paul lives in Germany with Libby, Iona and Tibs their cat.

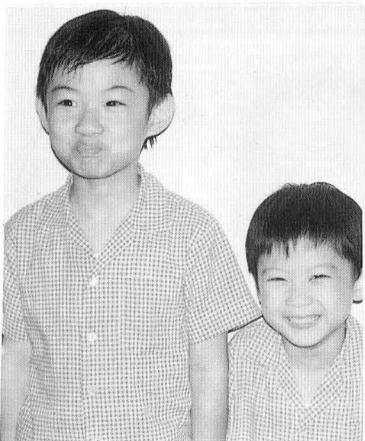

He has glasses and is bald. He is a bit fat. I have only seen him wearing shorts and T-shirt because I hardly see him except when it is hot. I like him because he is more active than most grown ups, and he's fun.

Heather Byres

My sister can be so annoying, but there are some good things about her too! Afric can be annoying because she always fights with me and I get the blame. I sometimes think that she belongs in a zoo! She is six now but in the playground she hangs on me like a baby and shouts "Esel!" Now Afric isn't always bad. She is good sometimes. She likes me helping her unwrap her birthday presents and things. I like sharing my presents with her. Sometimes we do get on quite well!

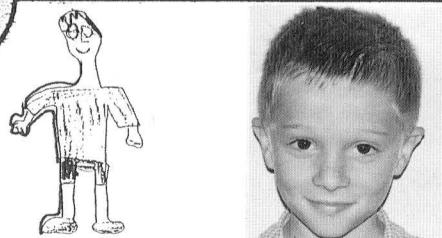

Iseult McArdle

My brother is a little annoying because he tells lies and sometimes he hits me and runs away when I haven't done anything! I run back and hit him and sometimes he chases me! Sometimes my brother is helpful and gives me pencils. Sometimes he shares things with me.

Justin Au

My Dad is very sporty and he likes to play football with me. But he is always late home so I can't play with him very often. I like him to be my football coach at the Football club on Saturday morning because he is a brilliant coach and I'm proud of him. I like sharing sport with him. I like my Dad because he is a friendly person. He has black hair; brown eyes and wears glasses. He lets us eat all the chocolate we want to eat. He is very kind and never hits us.

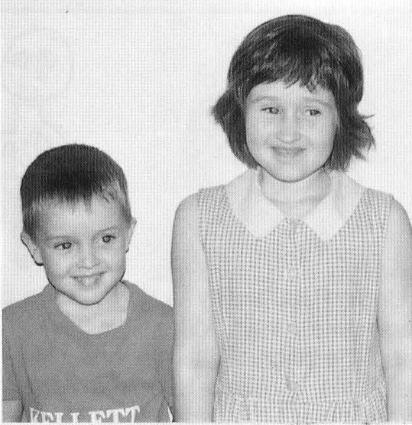

Zac Boffey

P3-11's Family Portraits

My cousin Thomas is very, very funny and I like to play with him. We jump on the trampoline together. He has brown eyes and a happy smile on his face. He also has freckles like me. My cousin is sometimes mad with me because I annoy him when we trade sweets. He is fun to play with. I go swimming with him. I enjoy Thomas. I feel lonely without him when he is at school.

Acacia Farmery

Ross is really annoying when I am playing with my friend, because he messes up the game and then goes to hide so he won't get into trouble! Sometimes he starts fights and I always get blamed. Ross is not always so bad. There are times when we play together and scare one another

Julia Mason

My Dad is a funny person. He has brown eyes, light brown hair and glasses. When he tickles me I laugh. He bumps me around on his knee. He smiles in the morning. He is a very cheerful person. He plays with me and plays tricks on me. He is fun to be with. He is an excellent runner and I like to race with him. We play puzzles together and he plays basketball with me. He gives me treats and sweets and is the best father anyone could ever have.

Harrison Martell

My Dad is very friendly. I think he is the best Dad in the world because when he gets home we play lots of games. He never does work on Saturdays. My Dad loves playing with us. We often have family games night and my Dad always plays. He has the best jokes. He has black hair and green eyes. I get to give him hugs when he gets home. I love my Dad!

Welcome to P3-12

Our Favourite P3 Moment

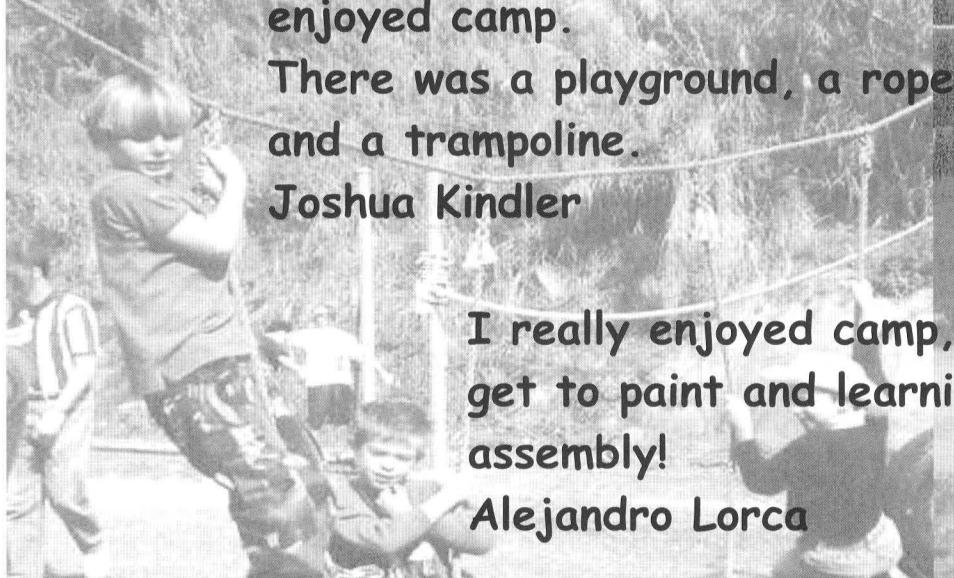

I liked camp but when I wanted to go to sleep I couldn't because someone was snoring!

Kevin Elsaputra

I have enjoyed the assembly about camp, it was fun. I also like music with Miss Allen.

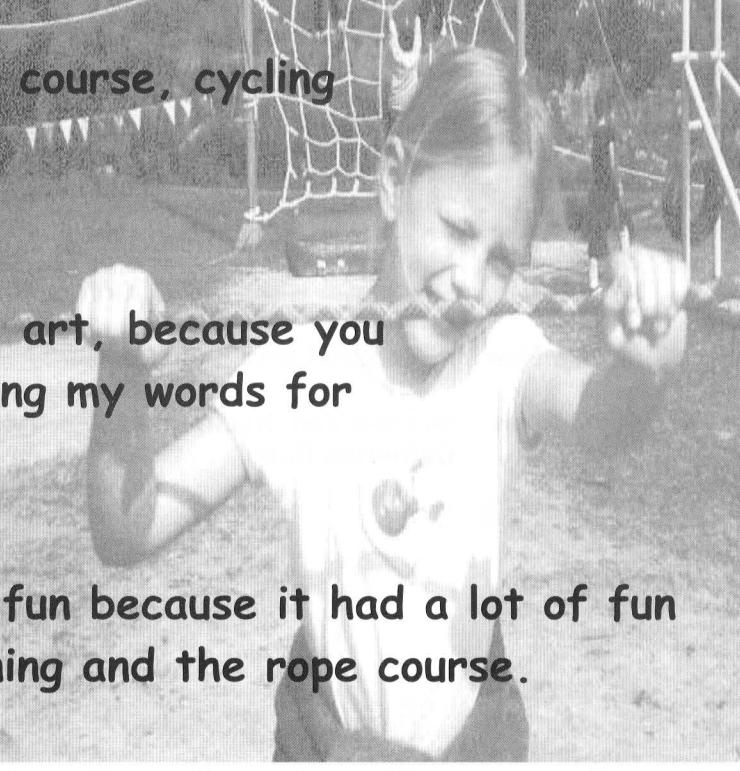

Michael Yen

In P3 I have really enjoyed camp.

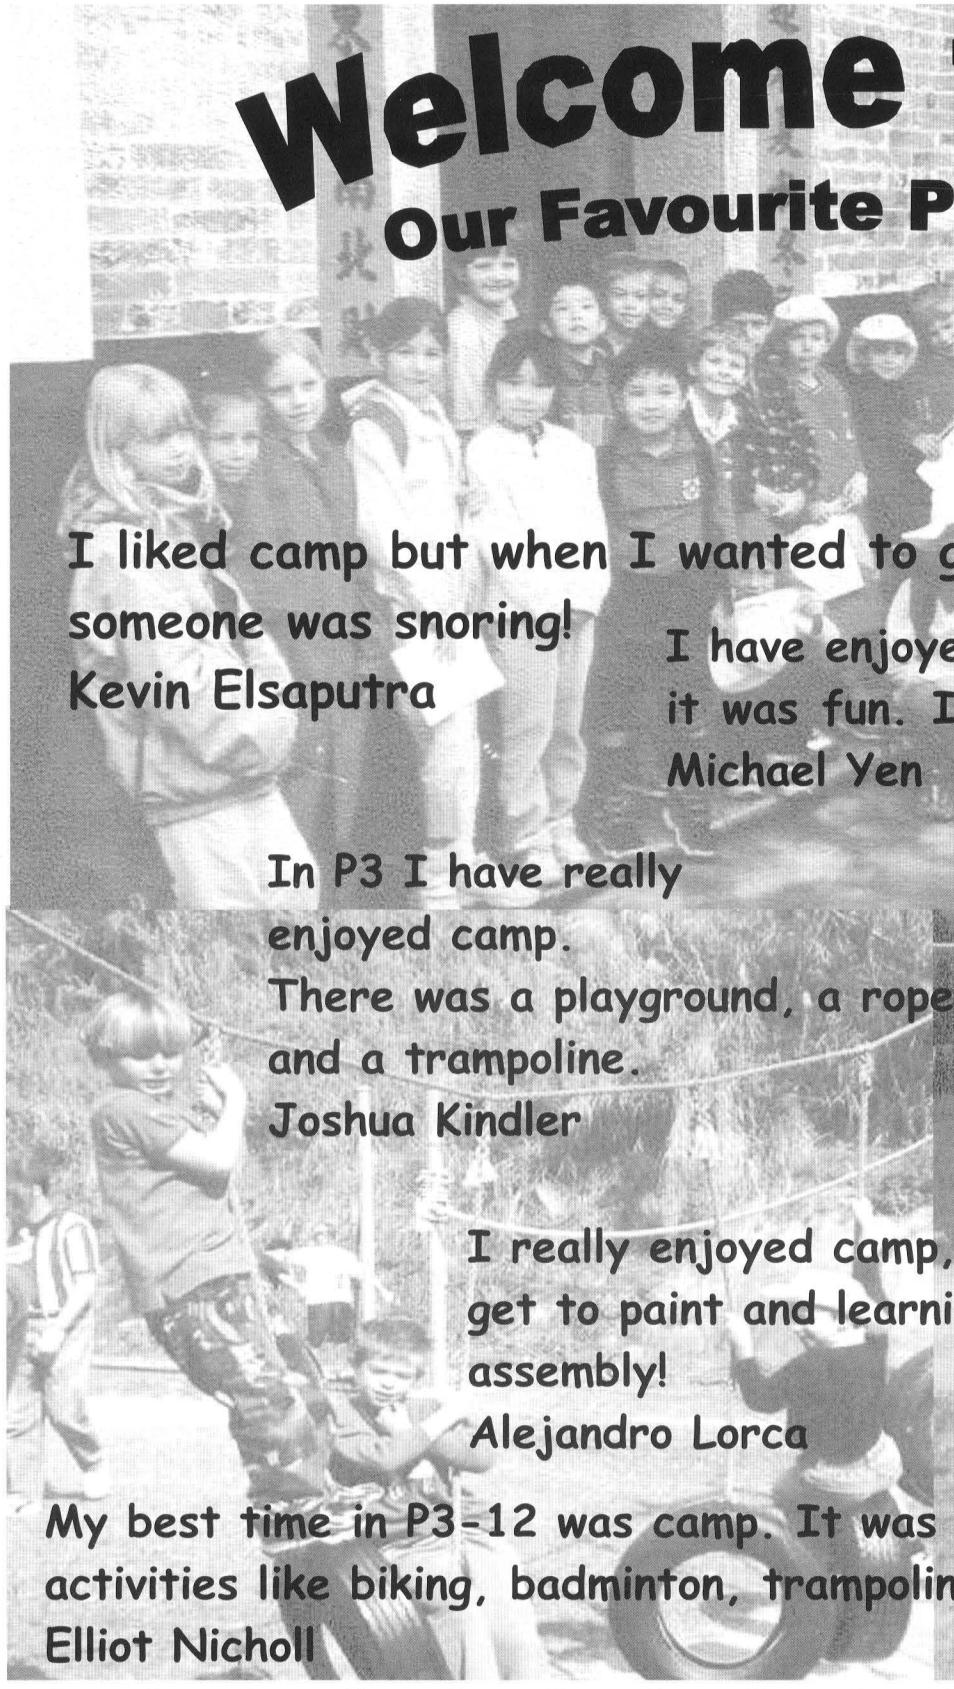

There was a playground, a rope course, cycling and a trampoline.

Joshua Kindler

I really enjoyed camp, art, because you get to paint and learning my words for assembly!

Alejandro Lorca

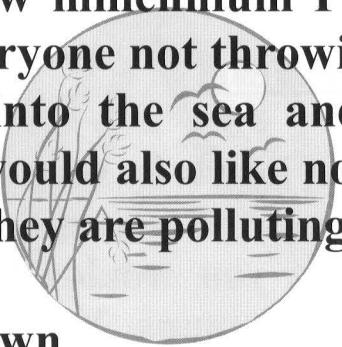

My best time in P3-12 was camp. It was fun because it had a lot of fun activities like biking, badminton, trampolining and the rope course.

Elliot Nicholl

My Hopes For The New Millennium

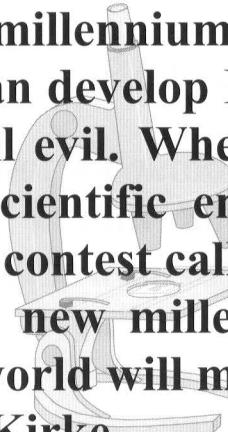

In the new millennium I would like to see everyone not throwing rubbish into the sea and onto the street. I would also like no more cars because they are polluting the Earth.

Tyler Brown

In the new millennium I hope scientists can develop Digimon so we can fight all evil. When I grow up I will be a scientific engineer then I will enter a contest called Robotica! Also in the new millennium I hope the whole world will make friends.

Alexander Kirke

In the new millennium I would like scientists to make things that don't pollute. I would like to be a tank designer. I would like to see clean water and I don't want there to be any more poaching.

James Pedersen

When I'm older I want to be in a band with my real guitar because I like music and I like guitars. I wish it was school every day because I like school a lot and I wish I was at school for ever.

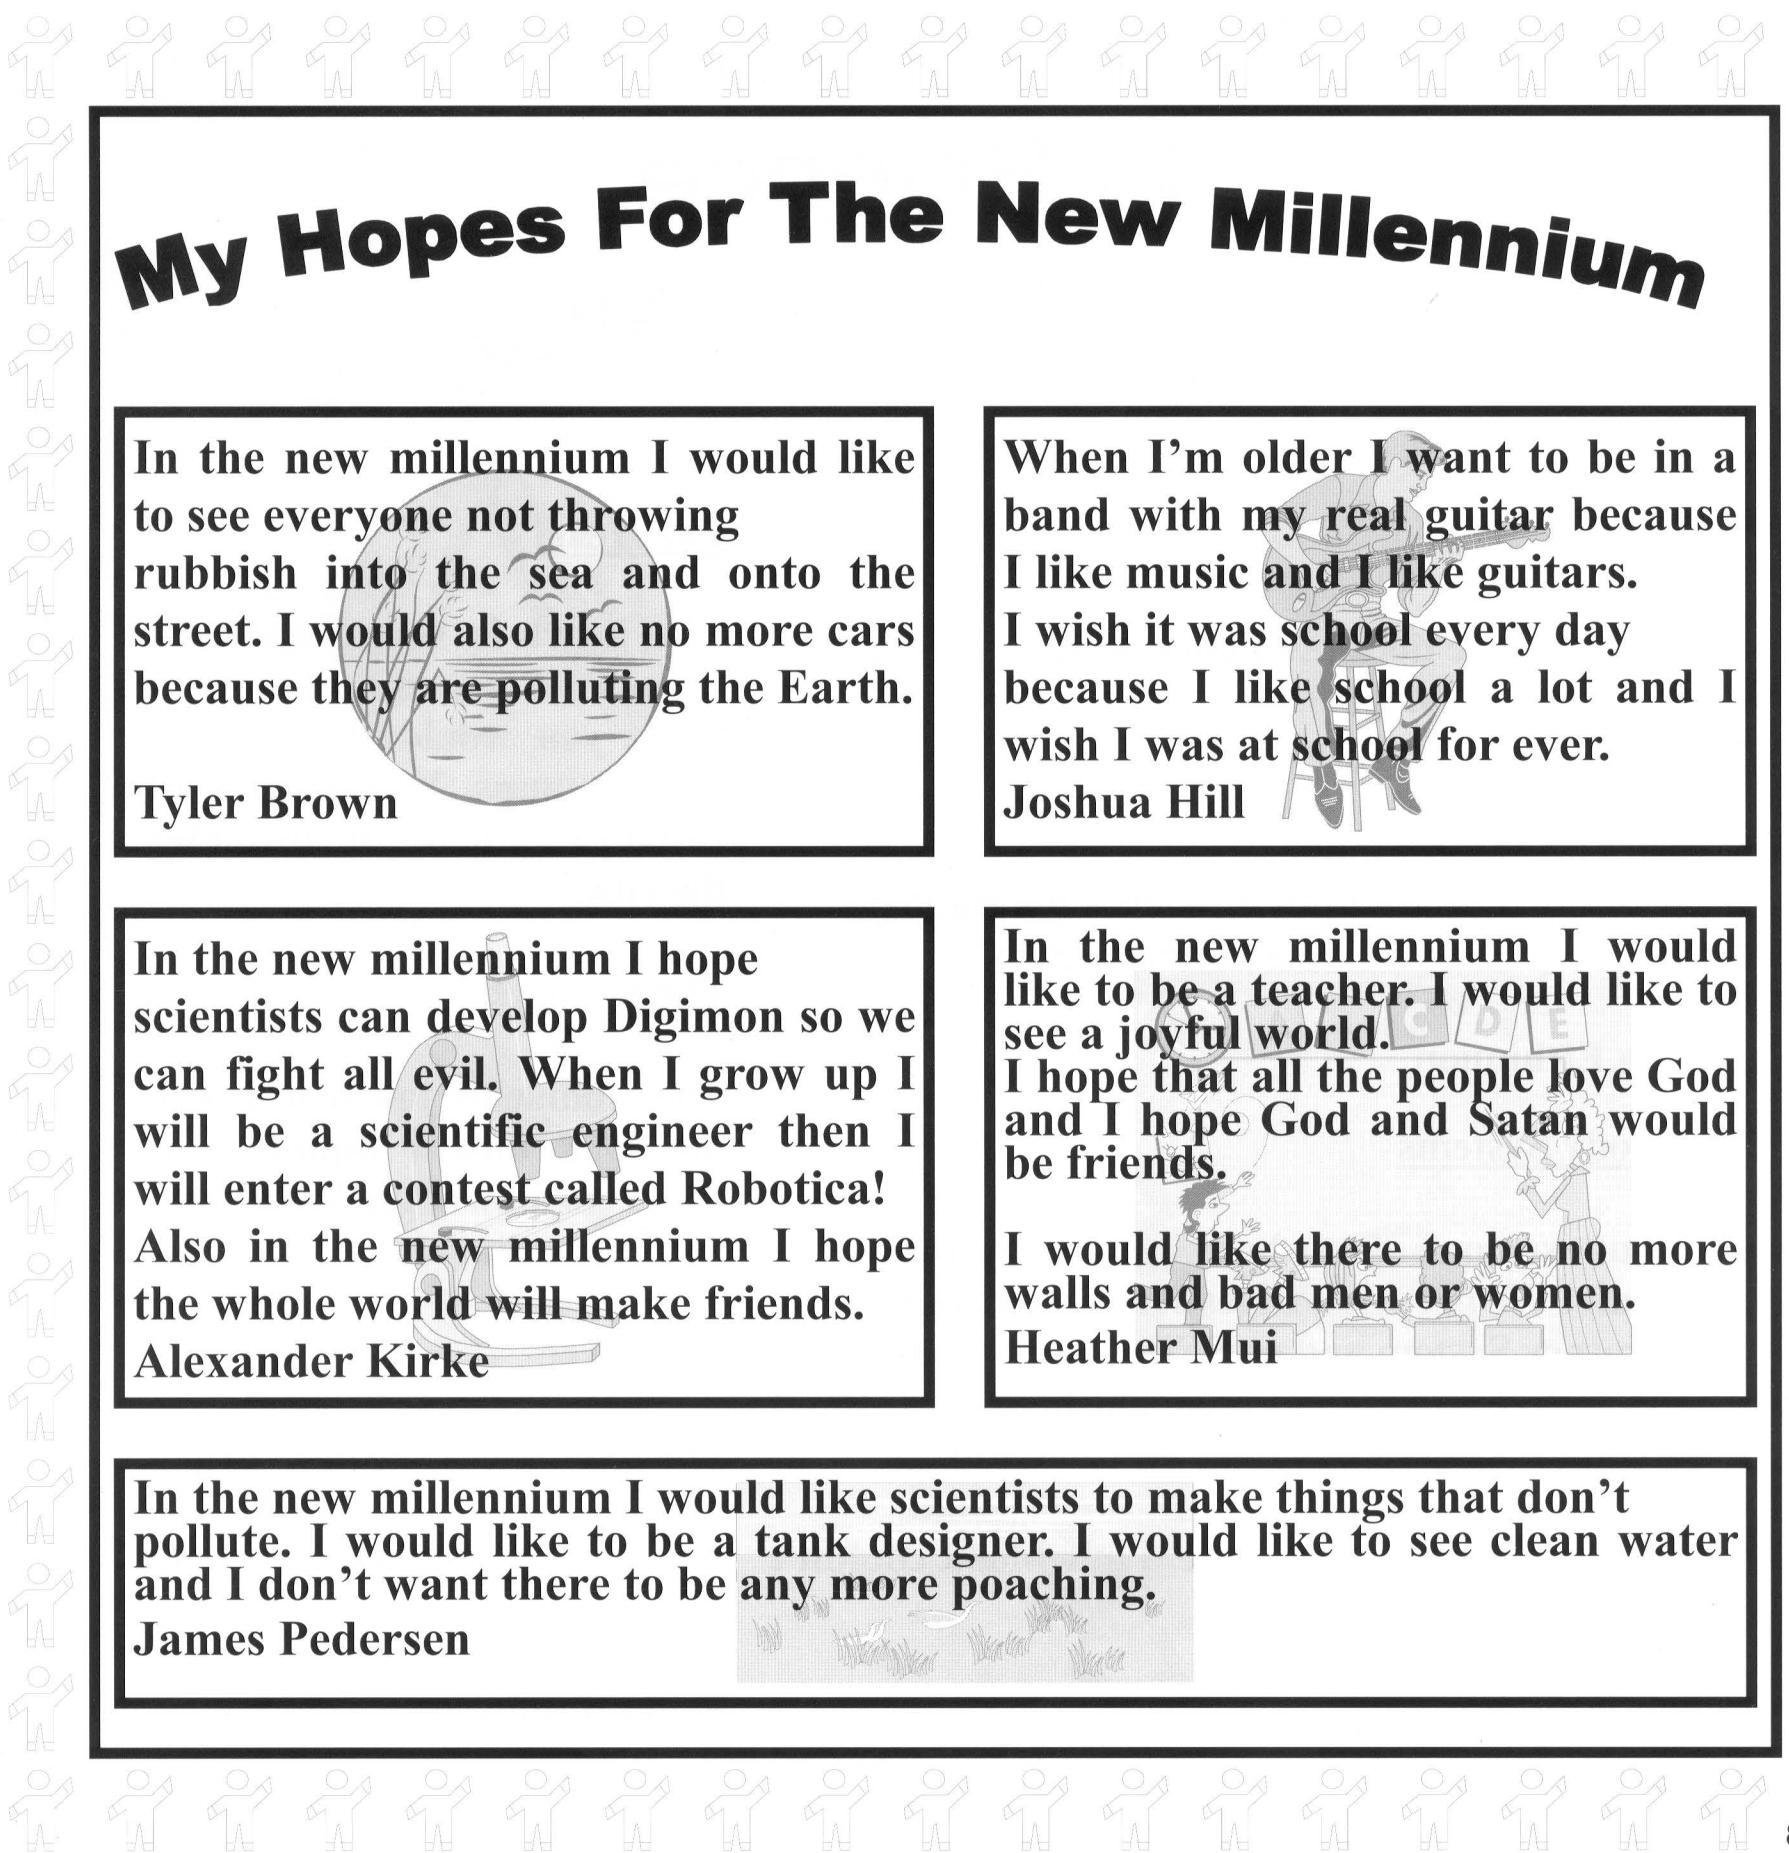

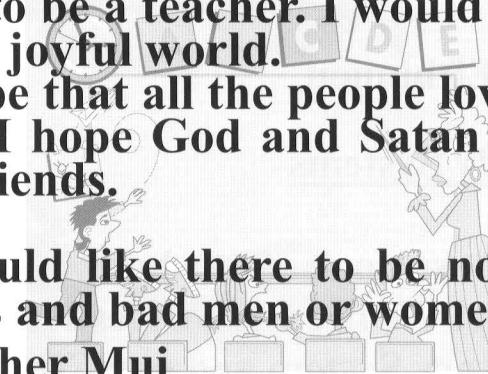

Joshua Hill

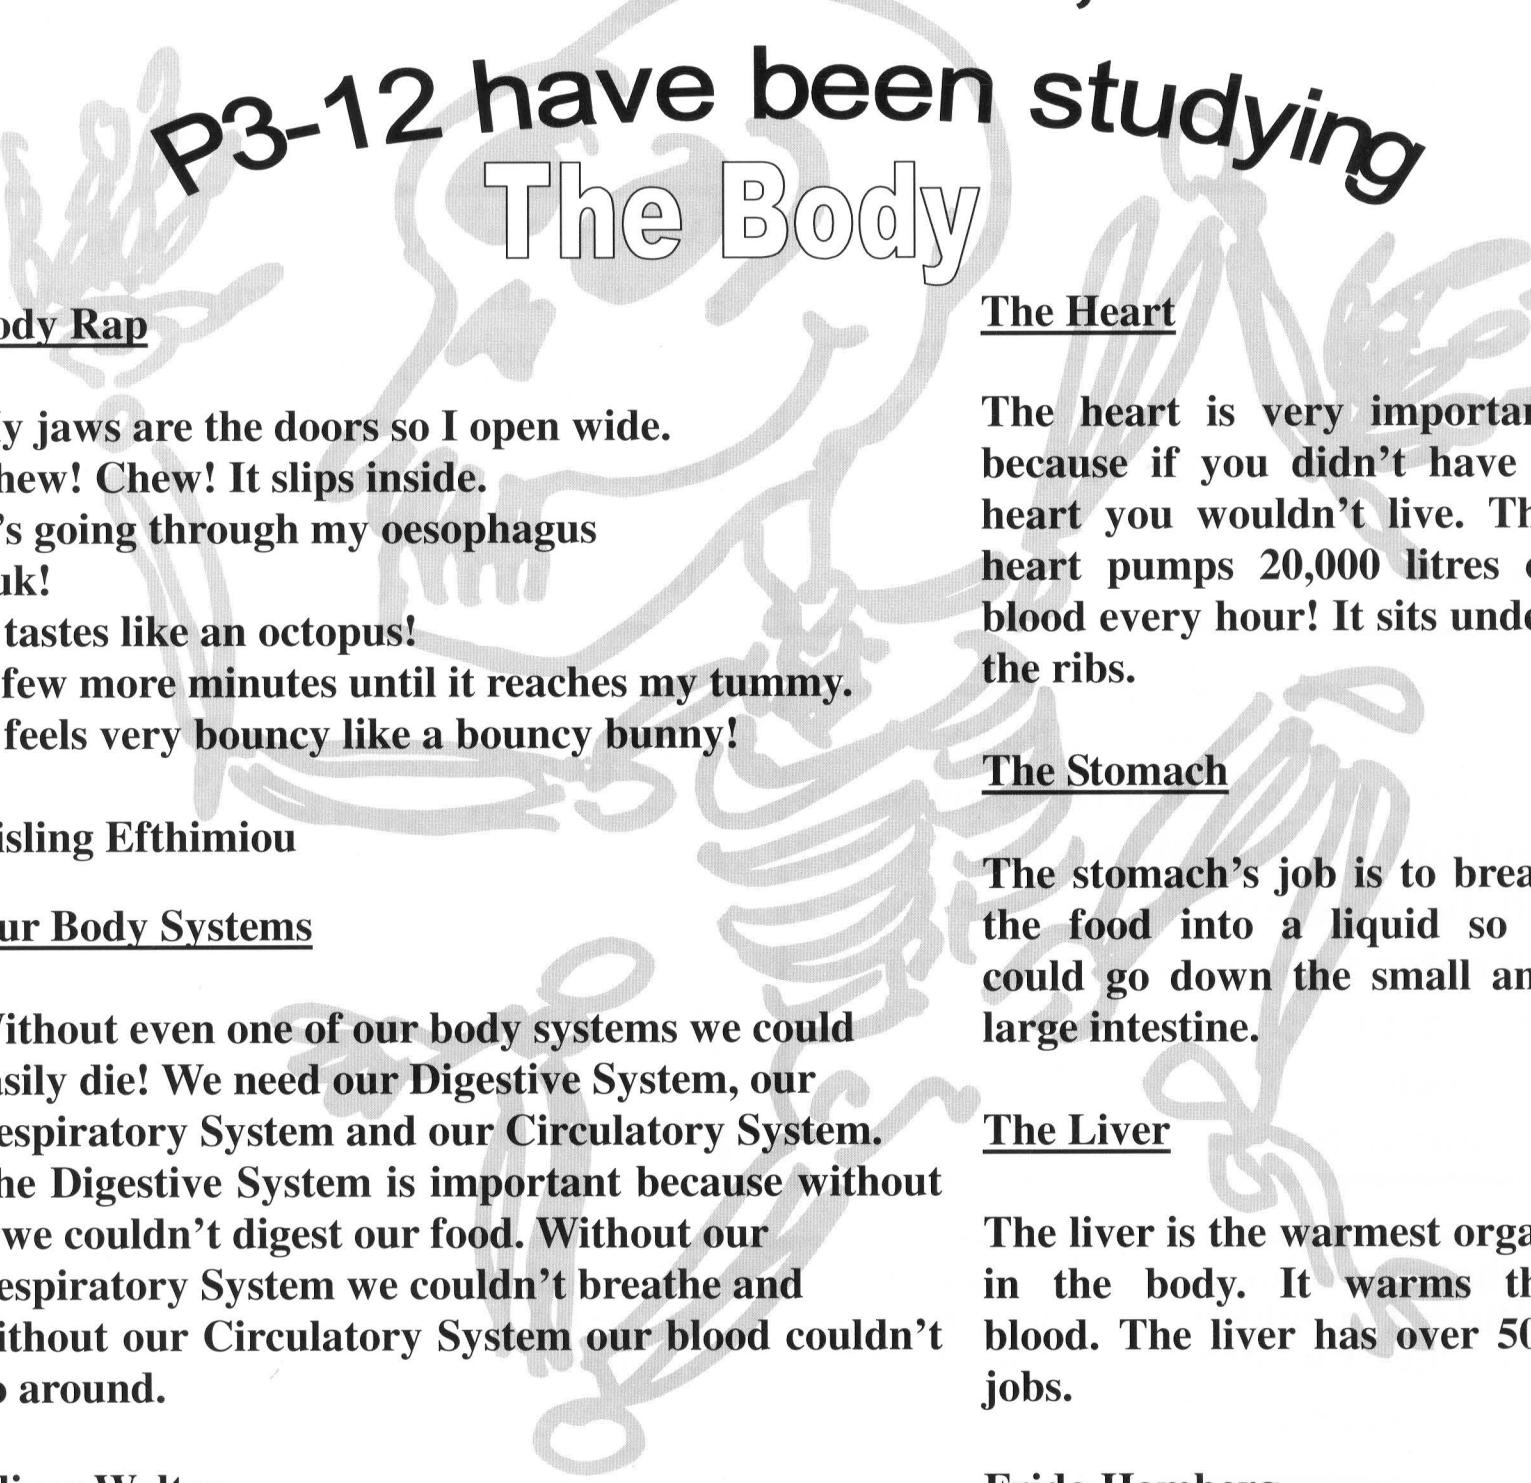

In the new millennium I would like to be a teacher. I would like to see a joyful world. I hope that all the people love God and I hope God and Satan would be friends.

I would like there to be no more walls and bad men or women.

Heather Mui

In Science, P3-12 have been studying The Body

Body Rap

My jaws are the doors so I open wide.
Chew! Chew! It slips inside.
It's going through my oesophagus
Yuk!
It tastes like an octopus!
A few more minutes until it reaches my tummy.
It feels very bouncy like a bouncy bunny!

Aisling Efthimiou

Our Body Systems

Without even one of our body systems we could easily die! We need our Digestive System, our Respiratory System and our Circulatory System. The Digestive System is important because without it we couldn't digest our food. Without our Respiratory System we couldn't breathe and without our Circulatory System our blood couldn't go around.

Oliver Walton

The Heart

The heart is very important because if you didn't have a heart you wouldn't live. The heart pumps 20,000 litres of blood every hour! It sits under the ribs.

The Stomach

The stomach's job is to break the food into a liquid so it could go down the small and large intestine.

The Liver

The liver is the warmest organ in the body. It warms the blood. The liver has over 500 jobs.

Frida Hamberg

The Body

The Liver

If a bee stings you, the liver breaks down the poisons. It has over 500 jobs and is the warmest organ in the body.

The Heart

The heart pumps 20,000 litres of blood every hour every day. If the heart gets damaged the brain could stop thinking.

The Brain

The brain is the most important piece in your body because if we didn't have a brain nothing would work and everyone would go crazy!

Our Bones

If we didn't have bones we wouldn't have a frame and would look like melted ice-cream!

The Lungs

The lungs make us breathe. They breathe in air that goes around our body. They take out oxygen to be used in our body and we breathe out carbon dioxide.

Nicolas Langridge

The Heart

The heart beats like a jumping kangaroo! In our heart there is a lot of blood. The heart pumps 20,000 litres of blood every single hour. It is a very important instrument. It keeps us alive.

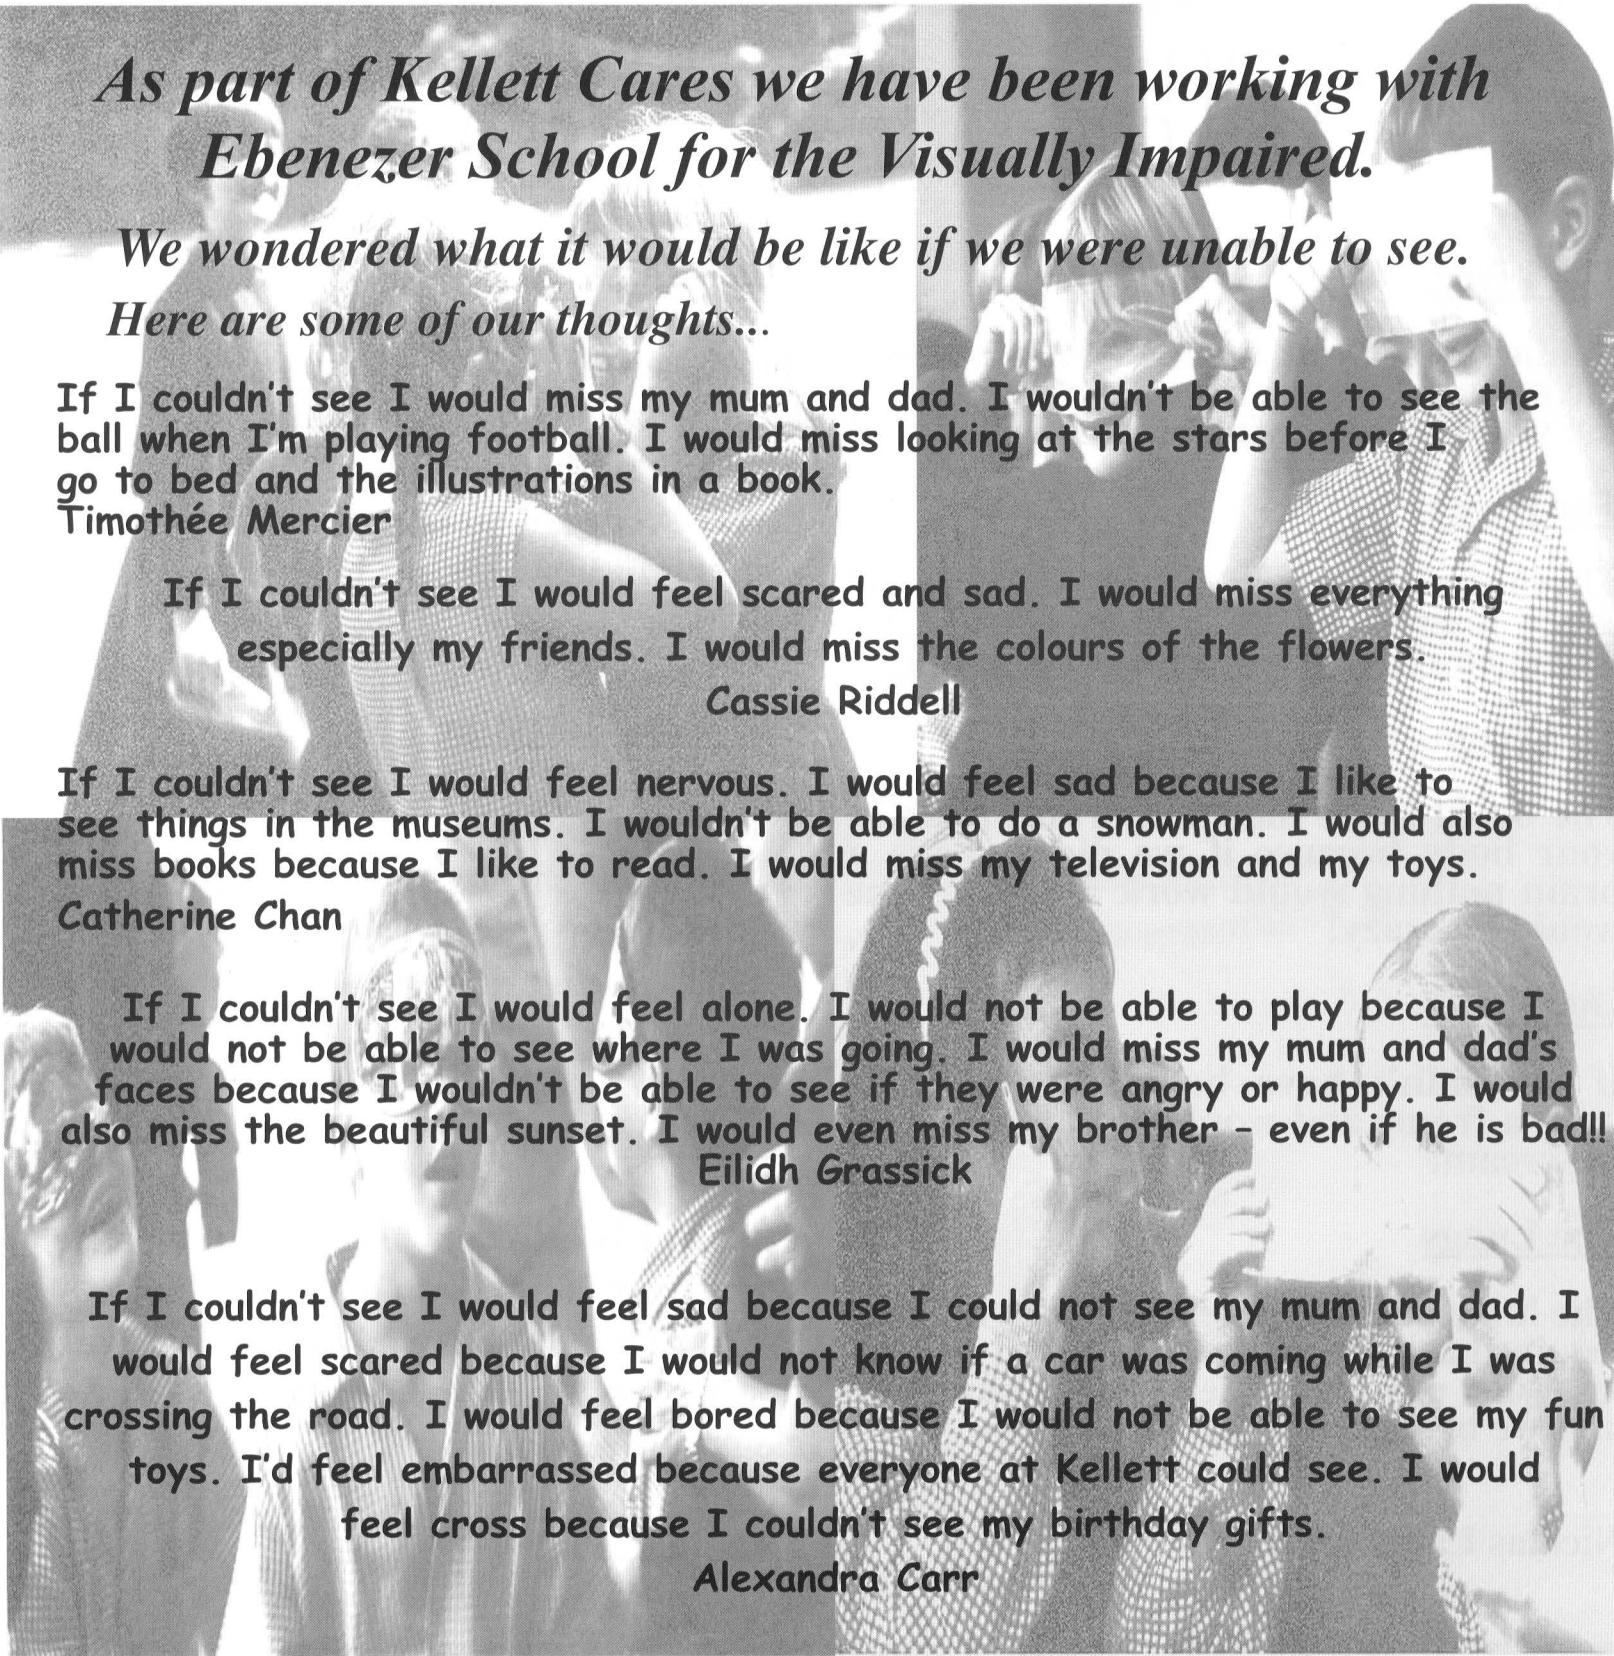

The Small Intestine

The small intestine is 4 - 5m long. Our food travels through two intestines. It is the longest tube in our body. It helps us digest food.

The Liver

The liver is also very important because it has over 500 jobs to do in our body. We are lucky to have a liver so that we don't have to go the hospital everyday to clean our blood.

Camille Laborde

As part of Kellett Cares we have been working with Ebenezer School for the Visually Impaired.

We wondered what it would be like if we were unable to see.

Here are some of our thoughts...

If I couldn't see I would miss my mum and dad. I wouldn't be able to see the ball when I'm playing football. I would miss looking at the stars before I go to bed and the illustrations in a book.

Timothée Mercier

If I couldn't see I would feel scared and sad. I would miss everything especially my friends. I would miss the colours of the flowers.

Cassie Riddell

If I couldn't see I would feel nervous. I would feel sad because I like to see things in the museums. I wouldn't be able to do a snowman. I would also miss books because I like to read. I would miss my television and my toys.

Catherine Chan

If I couldn't see I would feel alone. I would not be able to play because I would not be able to see where I was going. I would miss my mum and dad's faces because I wouldn't be able to see if they were angry or happy. I would also miss the beautiful sunset. I would even miss my brother - even if he is bad!!

Eilidh Grassick

If I couldn't see I would feel sad because I could not see my mum and dad. I would feel scared because I would not know if a car was coming while I was crossing the road. I would feel bored because I would not be able to see my fun toys. I'd feel embarrassed because everyone at Kellett could see. I would feel cross because I couldn't see my birthday gifts.

Alexandra Carr

I want to be a football player because it makes you fit and it's my favourite sport. In football you have to practise a lot so that you can be a very good player. I don't like some things about football. I don't like getting hurt and I don't like losing. I've seen Manchester United play on television and I would like to play for them.

Diary entry

When I got up this morning I was really excited because my team, Manchester United, had reached the European cup finals. I needed my breakfast so I could play football. I had to reach the football stadium by 8:00am. When I got to the stadium they were waiting for me so that we could practise our football skills. We did passing first, then shooting at goal and we finished with a little game. When it was 10:00am we were ready for kick off. We were playing against Inter Milan. When all the people were in the stadium, we came out from each side. We sang the Manchester United song and Inter Milan sung theirs. We got into our positions and we started the game. Brazil scored the first goal. Then we equalised just before half time. In the second half we scored two more goals. At full time we won the game and the European Cup. It was the most fantastic day of my life.

Adam Butterfield

Teacher

I want to be a teacher because I think it would be fun. I like school and I play it a lot at home! I think it is interesting because you can meet a lot of different children from different places. I want to help children and make it seem fun. I would study hard to get the job. I would wear a long skirt, a scarf and a white shirt. The only thing I do not like is when you have to yell and when the students ignore you.

Gillian Stoddard

Actress

I would like to be an actress when I grow up. I adore performing in front of lots of people. Being an actress involves lots of hard work, remembering lines, staying up late and having to get up early.

I would get to wear lots of different costumes and have to be very patient because I might have to hang around the set for a while.

The difficult part of my job is that jobs are hard to get. I would go to McDonald College in Australia to get my degree.

In my spare time I would run a Dance School.

Brooklyn Newton

I want to be an actor because I like movies and I would like to make them. I enjoy acting and speaking. I would have to wear a lot of different things, because I would always do different movies and wear different costumes. I need to know how to do stunts and learn my lines. The thing that I don't like is that it's hard to learn tricks and act and the most difficult thing is to learn the words. I want to make action movies because they have always been my favourite type of movies.

Diary entry

I woke up today and it was my big day. I had to make an action movie! I had to practise so hard and I was so nervous. I had very difficult lines to learn. I was also nervous about being filmed with this silly costume. In the movie I had to win because I was the good guy and the good guy always wins!! It was a long day because it was raining and we had to keep doing re-takes. Finally the director shouted, "Cut!" and we all went home exhausted but happy.

Andrea Calla

Racing Driver

I want to be a Formula One racing driver because I like high speed and you can go faster than 300 km an hour. You can win trophies and perhaps I could become a racing instructor later on, when I am too old to race.

I think racing involves knowledge and accuracy. You need to know how fast you can go on turns.

You wear a heavy-duty fireproof suit, driving gloves, driving boots, a crash helmet and a face shield.

I wouldn't like it when my car crashes.

Akshat Sawhney

I would like to be a vet so that I can help animals. I will have to go to Veterinary College and pass an exam to get there. When I am qualified I would like to work in Australia. I would not like putting animals down or doing operations. I would like to be a city vet so that I can deal with pets.

Diary entry

Today I woke up at 6:00am so that I could get to the office at 8:00am. I had a small breakfast and got dressed. I knew I had a sick dog coming in. I have never lost a patient before. Sally and I were going to have lunch together as we hadn't seen each other for weeks. We always go to the same restaurant. After lunch I went back to the office, I put my stethoscope back on at 2:00pm. I was going to look at a very sick cat. It took me two minutes to find out what was wrong. I had a lot of animals coming in today. I cut a dog's toenails, which is always hard because the dog keeps moving. Sally helped me to pack up because we were going for drinks. I packed my bag and had dinner with Sally, then I left. It was an exciting day.

Alexandra Hills

I would like to be a gymnast because I really like to do gymnastics. I will have to do forward rolls, handstands, cartwheels and backward rolls. I will wear a gymnastic costume. It will be red, white and blue.

Diary entry

Today I was in the gymnastics competition at HKCC. My Mum and Dad came to watch me and so did my sisters. I did all different types of gymnastic moves. I wore a white, blue and red leotard. At the end my gym teacher said that I was the winner. Then it was lunchtime. I had fried rice. After lunch I had a swim with my friend. When we had finished our swim we went home and had a snack. It was about 3.30pm. Then my friend asked me for tea. I went and told her about the competition. I went home at about 6.00pm. I had a bath and when I climbed into my bed I thought what a lovely day it had been, because I had won the mighty gymnastics cup.

Gina Kidd

What I Want to be when I am Older

I want to be a professional footballer because I really like football. I would have to train every day, very hard, to keep as fit as possible. I would also practise with my team mates to learn all of the moves. I cannot eat junk food. I would have to eat healthy food and not drink too much beer. I would have to talk to the newspapers and TV to tell them about my team and the games I played in.

Daniel Russell

I want to be a Fidelity man {Fidelity is a company that manages money} because I've seen the office along with a fridge full of drinks and snacks. It involves hours of time, study and computer work. I will have to pass tests to move up in rank. My goal is Senior Director. I will have to train very hard in university to get the job. The only thing I won't like is wearing glasses. I am going to wear a black suit and trousers, with black shoes and gold cufflinks. I think I will earn lots of money. I hope I will write with a Parker roller ball pen.

Diary entry

I woke up at 5:00am, got dressed and ate a quick breakfast. I set off at 6:30am to check my emails, pay my bills and type a report up. Then I had a meeting asking me to go on a business trip to Singapore, which I accepted. I had a report to type but in the middle of it the power died and it took us about two hours to fix it. I helped fix the power. Finally the power came back on but my report was gone. I had to start from scratch, which took about an hour. When I had finished I got the rest of the day off. What an exhausting day.

Ashley Naismith

What I want to be in the Future

I would like to be a detective because I can find out who did the crime and then arrest them. The job involves lots of different skills, like looking at things very carefully, also thinking carefully. I might wear a coat like a doctor with a pocket on the top of the coat. Inside the pocket I will have a magnifying glass, pencil and a piece of paper. I will slightly dislike finding out who did the crime because I have to think a lot to find out who did it and they might have lied to me.

Jae In Shon

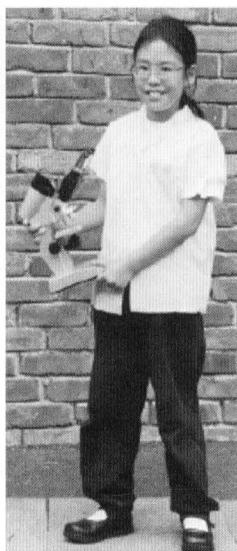

When I grow up I want to be a Formula One racing driver. I want to be sponsored by Sony or Shell. I might be able to break the world record. If I do, my car will be the fastest in the world. If my car could go faster than 400 miles per hour then I would go zooming down the track and get first place.

Diary entry

I woke up with excitement. I was going to be in the Formula One racing championships. After my breakfast of bacon, eggs and coffee, I went to a world famous racing track. I ran with excitement to my racing car. I grabbed my suit that was in the car and put it on. My crash helmet was on the seat. Now I was nervous. I drove my car out of its garage. I was racer number 1. The race started. I had a good place before racer number 3 took the lead. Three minutes later (30 kilometres away from the finish line), racer number 3 crashed. I took the lead and I won first place. Racer number 63 came in second and racer number 103 was third. When I got my medal I felt so happy that I started crying. Television guys were filming me and I had to explain about my training and my skills. Suddenly, a man told me that I had to race in the World Championships that day. Two hours later, a man picked me up to take me to the racing track. I got ready for the race. I came first. When it was tea time I had pancakes. Later, I went home and watched television. I saw myself on Channel 4. I had popcorn. For dinner I had meat and rice. When I went to bed I thought what a hard day it had been and what good luck I had been given.

Scientist

I would like to be a scientist because I like to look at things and test them. I want to be a medical scientist because the scientists go in caves and find different kinds of viruses. I would like to share information and tell others about things. I will need to work hard in science at school and university and concentrate a lot. I would wear some black trousers with a white short sleeve shirt and a grey jacket.

Emilie Hansson

When I am older I want to be a doctor of medicine, with a PhD. I want to be a doctor because I can help lots of people and even save lives. I would be a general doctor, helping everyone with what ever was wrong with him or her. Another reason I want to be a doctor is because I think I could earn lots of money. I would wear a tie, shirt, long pants and a white coat. I would also have a stethoscope. I want to be a footballer too. I will do my MBA first and then I will play football. When I am too old to play football then I will do my PhD and then be a medical doctor.

Felix Chan

I would like to be an architect because I like drawing and modelling. I will have to work hard in Art and go to University. I would like the job to involve a lot of drawing houses. I'd work in Australia.

Diary entry

I woke up this morning and had breakfast then put on my white shirt, purple skirt and purple jacket. I had the afternoon free because I was meeting my friend for lunch in Pymble (Sydney) then we were going on holiday. I got in to the office at dead on eight o'clock. I put the finishing touches to my latest house and I went down to the site. The area was called Waverton, which was five stops away from Pymble. The workmen looked at my plan and sorted out all the materials so that it would be easier to build the house. They began to dig down so they could build the basement. Gradually they built the steps up from the dark basement and built onto the middle floor. As they started to build the steps to the attic I left to go to Waverton train station. The next stop was Circular Quay, then St Leonards, Roseville, Gordon and at last, Pymble. I got off the train and found a sign saying 'Shortcut to Pymble Avenue'. I got to my friend's house. Her name is Lucy Englemen. We had a very late lunch then we set off to the airport. We were flying on Ansett Australia and the flight number was GX 5404. When we arrived at the airport we went straight to our plane. We had dinner, watched some movies and gradually fell asleep. We arrived in England at lunchtime the next day.

Louise Cribbin

I want to be a vet because I really like animals and they are really cute. The job involves liking animals and being kind to them. I would have to wear a white coat. I would like to work in Sydney, Australia. I would like to be a vet in a city. I think that I will have to look after cats, dogs, hamsters, guinea pigs, rabbits and a lot of other animals.

Diary entry

Today when I woke up I got up quickly and got changed because I have a very sick guinea pig in the surgery. I think that I will have to give him an operation. I am also flying to Bath, England tonight at 11.00pm. I am going to speak at a conference. I think tomorrow I will be helping the students learn more about being vets. I will have to say that the job involves liking animals and being kind to them. I will have to ask them what they think they will dislike about being a vet. After examining him I have decided that I might need to put the guinea pig down because he is too sick. The nurse is looking after him but he has had a lot of operations and it is not fair on him, so when I went back I called the family that owned him and said what I was going to do. Then I went home as I had to pack my bag to go to England.

What I would like to be in the future

I would like to be a football player because I can visit different places, make new friends, win money, trophies and medals. I need to train hard, work hard and study hard because I won't get a job if I don't practise. Football involves talent and strength.

I need to wear football boots, shin pads, long socks, football shorts and short sleeved football shirt. The thing I don't like about football is that you get hurt.

I would like to be sponsored by Nike.

My position will be striker.

Andrew Pickup

I would like to be a person from the SPCA because I am good at caring for dogs, cats and rabbits. It would be nice to be in the SPCA. I would have to go to college and work very hard. The job involves effort and good work. I would wear a white coat and white trousers. I would like to work in Hong Kong.

Diary entry

Today was exciting. I operated on lots of cats, dogs and rabbits while everyone was watching me. I had to wear a white coat and trousers. I had to operate on a dog and I saw its lungs and heart. That night I had to stay and operate on a cat because it had something wrong with it. I gave it a blood test first and tested its heart and lungs. I discovered that it had suffered a heart attack. I gave it some medicine and I saved the cat. When it woke up I gave it some food.

Ben Higgins

Maths Teacher

I would like to be a maths teacher when I am older. I chose to be a maths teacher when I am older because I would love to teach other children to be good at maths. I just love to fiddle around with different numbers. I also rejoice in solving problems. I want to teach at Brown University. I would have to study hard to get to that university. I would wear a long skirt, a white T-shirt and a jacket. I might not like students asking too many questions because it is very annoying. I just like to do multiplication and division.

Diary

On the first day, I would go to Brown University. I would go to see the head teacher (I will get someone to help me if I can't find them.)

Then when I am supposed to start teaching, I will first ask all the pupils their names. When I do know all their names, I will tell them what annoys me. I would also want them to behave.

I would teach them what the day's lesson is and ask them a few questions that I just talked about, just to see if they listened.

I would then give them their homework. I would tell them when they need to return their homework, make sure they understand and review the day's lessons.

After I am finished, I will mark their homework.

An Artist

When I grow up I would like to be an artist. When I am an artist I would like to sketch. I enjoy art and that's why I want to be an artist. An artist can draw in many ways like: painting, sketching and lots of other ways. There's one thing I do not like about art, that is when you keep on doing something wrong. When you are an artist you have to use your imagination. Before you start drawing something you should plan it in your head so that you know what to do. I want to become an artist in Finland. I would sketch landscapes and maybe sell some of them. In my free time I would like to teach art. I like art because you can do so many different types of drawings. I think I would enjoy being an artist because I really like art.

Diary

This morning when I got up I put on my dirty jacket and had breakfast. I was going out to finish sketching my oak tree. I decided to leave it in pencil and not to colour it in. I had a ham sandwich for lunch then I started to plan my next picture of the sunset. Just when I started I had to go in for tea. I started packing away all my stuff. Then I had dinner and I taught a bit. Before I went to bed I read a book about famous artists.

Elin Pellas

I would like to be a lawyer because my mum and dad are lawyers. I will have to write up the law! I think I will wear a black suit. The thing I won't like about this job is that I won't get to see my family much.

Diary entry

Today I have an early start. I got dressed fast, brushed my teeth and went down to have breakfast. I got ready extremely quickly! I dashed outside to catch a taxi to get to Coudert Bros. Thank goodness I was there on time! I finally found my office. I had time to install a few extra programs, so I did. When it was 12:35pm, I went to Kentucky Fried Chicken. I met my secretary along the way. After lunch I returned to my office quickly to carry on with my work. When I had finished, I ran as speedily as my legs could carry me to catch a cab back home. When I got home it was 6:29 p.m. I quickly got changed and had pepperoni pizza for supper. Finally I went to sleep. What an exhausting day!

I want to be a footballer. I have loved football since I was small because you get a lot of new friends playing football and you get to meet lots of people. It involves a lot of training and you have to have a strong body because you can get badly injured. I would like to play for my own country, which is Sweden and I want to play for Manchester United. To get this job you need to train hard. I would like to be sponsored by Adidas.

Diary entry

I woke up feeling very nervous and tired. I got to the football pitch at 9:45am as I was lucky that I did not get stuck in the traffic like I usually do. We were coached until 1:15pm and then we had lunch. We were playing against Arsenal. I put on the red t-shirt, the white shorts and the black boots and went out on to the pitch. It was hard in the first half, but we were leading by 2-1. In the second half it was even tougher. Arsenal is not an easy team I can tell you. They had won the UEFA Champions league last year, but were not going to beat us this time. Eventually it got to penalties and we won. It was a great day!

Karl Stalberg

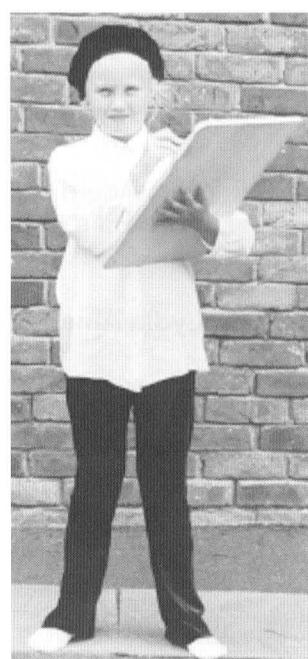

I would like to be an architect. Being an architect involves drawing and sketching. I will have to do very well in my GCSEs and A levels so that I can go to a good University, then I will be able to become an architect. Architects design houses, buildings and models. When I am an architect I will design a building that no-one has ever seen before.

Diary entry

Today I went to Australia. There was a building I needed to see. When I landed it was so hot! Somebody was supposed to meet me at the airport but she came an hour late. We went to a restaurant in the hotel for lunch. The food was O.K. The lady I am working with is called Emily. She is very nice and keeps saying my design is so much better than hers. She took me to the beach, after a few hours of visiting buildings. After we left the beach Emily went back to her own home because she was going to have guests. I had dinner in a pizza restaurant. I thought the taste was strange. I went back to my hotel afterwards and explored it. That was an exciting day.

A Banker

I would like to be...

I would like to be a banker. I want to be a banker because it involves phoning colleagues in the world and helping governors and looking at computer screens that show you what is going on around the world. I want to be a banker because I will get to go to many places. I will wear a white shirt with buttons and a black jacket and a tie and black trousers. I will get the job because in university I will work hard at maths and become very good at it.

James Roberts

When I grow up I want to be an inventor. I will have to study science and will need to invent lots of things. I want to be an inventor because I like to create things.

Diary entry:

Today was my 28th birthday. When I got to my mum and dad's house there was a surprise waiting for me. They gave me a great computer watch. Then I went to watch my friend Tom play soccer. When I got home I tried again to make a time machine but it turned out as another robot. Later I had my supper and went to bed. Soon after I got to sleep, a big bang woke me. When I got downstairs I found out that my robots had spilled some of my chemicals and let them get mixed up. It made a huge bang. I tidied up and went back to bed.

Barnaby Brien

Teacher

I would like to be a teacher because I like children and enjoy school. I also play it a lot at home and I find it interesting. I will help children to learn more and educate them further through the year. I would let them play fun games before the bell goes as a treat if they have been good. The only thing I don't like is a child disturbing others and messing about and making me mad so I have to shout at them. I can wear what I want as long as I look smart. To get the job I must study hard and not be lazy. I will have to listen to the teachers while I am in school!

Kate Chambers

What I want to be

I want to be a musician. The reason I want to be a musician is because musicians make a lot of lovely music and I like playing instruments that make different sounds. I would have to practise a lot and know how to tune the instrument. I would have to practise a lot in college to get my job. I will have to wear some primary colours, because of the strong light. The thing I don't like most is that I might get lost and mess up the whole piece.

Lorraine Chan

I want to be an artist when I grow up. I will travel the world painting landscapes. I will need an easel, paintbrush, pencils, charcoal and paint. I love to paint, it is one of my favourite subjects. It involves a lot of concentration and hard work. It will be fun.

Diary entry

My day so far has been great. I woke up at 7:30am. I had a very quick breakfast and went to work. I work just round the corner. I worked very hard to impress people with my paintings. It's hard but fun. My paintings are landscapes. I don't like painting portraits. I stopped for lunch at 12:30. Later, I closed my shop and headed home. I ran a nice hot bath and made dinner. I called a few of my friends then brushed my teeth, watched television and went to bed at 9:15pm. My day was excellent because I sold my best painting for $5000.

Callum Wilson

Dog Breeder

I would like to be a dog breeder!! It involves breeding dogs, producing puppies and selling them (but I would like to keep a few). I would like to be a dog breeder because I really love dogs and I find them cute and cuddly. I also like fur. And they're one of my favourite animals!! To get the job I would have to buy a shop or rent one, buy some adult dogs, a boy and a girl and put them together so they make puppies. I would like to create a new breed.

I guess I would wear any old clothes because it is a dirty job and I will be covered in dog hairs.

Joshua Sandor

I want to be a pet shop keeper. The reason I want to be a pet shop keeper is because I like keeping pets and selling them to get money. I love feeding the pets, especially baby ones. I hope I can get the job in Hawaii where one of my best friends lives. I think I will wear jeans and a t-shirt.

Diary entry

When I got to the shop there were two people waiting outside. I let them in and they started looking around. They were looking for a puppy. I took them to the puppy and dog section where they chose a white Collie called Sandy. Later, some people came and bought a cat called Ginger. After that, I had McDonalds for lunch. Ten minutes later a lady came and bought a hamster. During that day I sold a rabbit, a guinea pig and a wonderful talking parrot. What a wonderful day I had!

Emma Healy

Surgeon

When I grow up I would like to be a surgeon because I would like to help people who are ill and maybe disabled. My grandfather was a surgeon in the Second World War. He helped the people who were injured and had burns. The thing I don't think I will like is wearing the mask, hat and the apron. It involves looking inside people's bodies and operating on them.

Benedict Walters

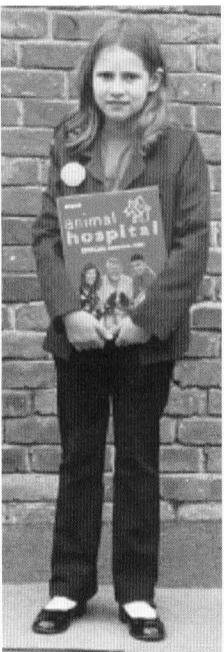

I want to be a vet when I grow up because I love animals so much. I am going to be a city vet and I will look after dogs, cats and birds.

It is going to be hard but fun. I will help all animals to live and when they are better I will release them in to the wild or I will give them back to their owner. Helping animals is what I love to do.

Diary entry

I woke up one morning and put on my clothes. I walked down stairs to eat my breakfast (I ate an apple and cereal). When I had finished I drove to the surgery to help the animals. Then someone came in. She had a dog. I asked what was wrong with the dog. She said that he had not been himself for the last few days. I took the dog inside and took a look at him. The dog was very old so he was dying but I thought that maybe if I gave him a shot it may help a bit. I told the owner to take very good care of him and to come back the following week and I would see how he was doing.

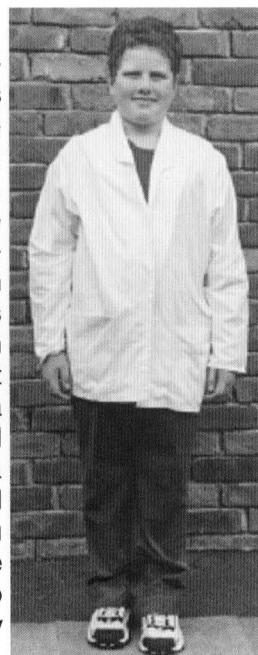

Lydia Amatt

Mathematician

I want to be a mathematician because it's quite easy. If you're really good at it you'll get a really good salary. I would probably have to get a first class degree and good marks in maths. The job involves being able to do stuff in your head that most people can't do on a piece of paper. I would probably have to wear a suit. One thing I would dislike is when you have to work on the weekends. You also would need to study maths for many years.

You'd also need to sort out budgets.

Justin Sampson

I would like to be an astronaut at NASA. To be an astronaut I think I would have to study hard, do water checks and other hard tests. Astronauts go into space, repair satellites and discover new planets. I would wear a space suit. The only thing I wouldn't like is to crash. I want to be an astronaut so I can save the human race. I can save the human race by discovering new materials, plants, weathers and conditions.

Diary entry

This morning I had breakfast (which was bacon, eggs, coffee and pancakes). As usual I went to my computer to check on Voyager 2. I went to the gym to train my class of fifteen students. Today's class was about how to repair a satellite. After that I asked them to demonstrate how to fly a spaceship. When the class was dismissed, I went to the photographer to get a new space passport. Now it was lunchtime. For lunch I had tomato soup, spaghetti and garlic bread. After lunch I decided to look on the plan for the Saturn 10, which was going to launch in 2022, then I went to the chemical lab. As I stepped in, Dr.Junovior told me they were making a weapon called Prism Laser Cannon. They also had a Prism cannon gun to go on your arm in emergencies. Wow, what a day!

Gideon Welles

Lawyer

Why: I would like to be a lawyer because, if my family gets in trouble, I can help them.

What: I would have to go to a law school and study for about eight years.

How: I would work really hard at university for eight years then I would go to law school.

Involves: Working hard and travelling.

May dislike: Travelling so much.

Wearing: Office suit.

Marie Walker-Smith

Jay Duysen

Vet

I love animals and I would like to take care of wild animals and pets. I know I have to go to university and take hard tests but I would still take the job.

You wear a white coat and perhaps glasses if you are doing an operation. It would be harder to be a vet because when you ask animals what is wrong they can't just say, "I have a sore tummy" or, "My ear hurts" because they can't speak. You would have to train for longer than a doctor.

Madeleine Brown

I want to be an engineer because you have to make things and it sounds fun.

I will have to go to college. I will design things like phones and cars. I won't like staying up late to work.

Diary entry

My day went well. I had to do a lot of tests on different products. I worked from 7am to 10pm. I went to a business dinner with Sunny and other people. I want to be a millionaire. Today I have worked very hard. I'm the boss and I have so many things to do. I had to look at the new phone designs and check that everything was good enough.

Jay Duysen

A Golfer

When I grow up I want to be....

When I grow up I would like to be a golf player, because I would like to win trophies and to earn money. I would travel the world playing golf. It would be fun and exciting to see countries like Canada. I would wear black soft spike shoes, a polo shirt, shorts and a cap. I would need a caddie to carry my golf clubs and I would need a golf buggy.

James Matters

Artist

I would like to be a cartoonist when I grow up. I would like to be one because: I think drawing is fun and a good way to spend your time. I know that probably all the boys in my class (not including me) are going to be football players - just kicking the ball..... drives me up the wall! Getting back to the point ...if someone put me in a room on my own, nothing in the room, just a pencil and a piece of paper, I would immediately rush over to the piece of paper, pick up the pencil and draw! And once I'd finished drawing on the piece of paper; I would draw on the wall..... I just get this urge. I can't stop myself! I think I would wear any old clothes, but they would have to be able to get covered in paint!! I think the job involves persistence e.g. If I needed to write a comic book and it's the last day of writing it! It also involves using loads of paper! I will get the job by practising and by going to an art school!

I may dislike the job because I don't like colouring in drawings and I don't like drawing late at night.

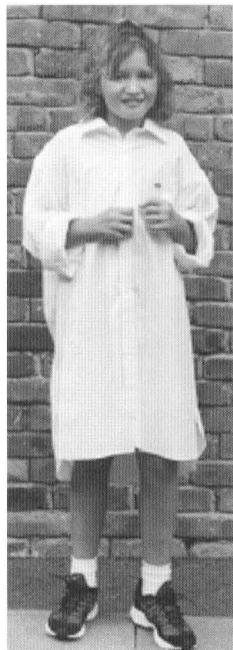

Richard Kennedy

I would like to be a vet because vets take care of lots of pets. Vets can care for the pets and give them operations to keep them healthy. Cats and dogs sometimes howl at the vets. I will have to go to college to learn how to be a vet.

Diary entry

First I had to look at a cat to see if the cat was all right. I looked at the computer to find out information about the cat. I checked which operations he had already had and checked his heart. I discovered that he had a sore leg so I put a bandage on it and told the owners to bring him back in two weeks.

Pippa Dowie

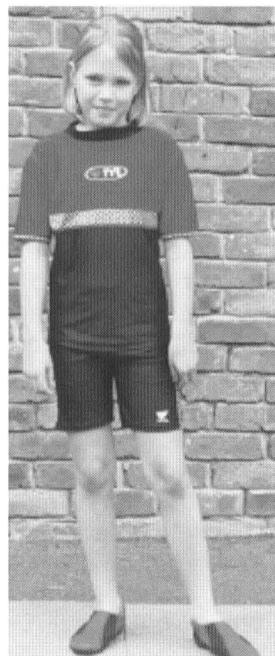

When I grow up I would like to be a dolphin trainer in Australia because I want to do some thing with animals. I like it because you do get to be with animals and it's fun too. I would be wearing a wet suit. The good points are that sometimes you get to teach them really fun things and sometimes you get to ride on their backs or swim with them.

Diary entry

When I woke up I remembered that I was going to have a dolphin show. I got all excited and went to have some breakfast. When I finished I packed my bag and put on my wet suit and water shoes, and then I was off. When I arrived I had to go and get my dolphin ready for the show. When every single person in the audience had settled down we started the show. After the show I had dinner, then I brushed my teeth and went to bed.

Olivia Lundqvist

A Naval Officer

When I am older I want to be a naval officer. I will know all the rights and wrongs of the navy and about all sorts of weapons and how they work. You go to sea for a long time but you make friends for life. You wear a cream suit and white gloves and a cap with a black peak when you are at dinner parties or getting married. When you are at sea you wear a blue suit because your white suit would get dirty. You wear a cap saying the name of your ship.

Rory Cameron

I'd like to be a footballer and play as goalie. I've trained for a long time and I like watching the teams play. I like scoring goals and saving goals. I'd wear a football strip and shorts. I don't like getting fouled by someone or smacked in the face by the ball. I would play for England or Tottenham Hotspur because they're really good teams. I would try and be with a few of my friends because they want to play at Tottenham Hotspur. I would be sponsored by Nike because they can give us good clothes, shin-pads, socks and gloves.

Diary entry

It was my big day. I was going to Brazil to play for Tottenham Hotspur in the World Cup finals. The first half didn't work out very well as one of our best players got injured so we had a substitute on. Half way through the first half, things started to get better. After a free kick, James gets the ball and sprints, dodging two defenders. Suddenly Rinaldo's son Pierre was close behind. James was in the penalty box. Pierre slides and gets him from behind. James goes crashing to the ground. "FOUL!!" the referee shouts. We all cheered, but "BOOOO" all the Brazilian fans boomed. I got to take the penalty because Adam was injured. I decided to hit the top left corner "GOAL"!!!! Then it was the last five minutes and Brazil were getting really stressed. We stopped them from scoring and won the World Cup. This was a day I would never forget.

Cameron McIvor

Me in 2010

When I grow-up I would like to be an actress. I want to be an actress because I like performing to people a lot. I want to be in movies that are funny. My job would involve having to remember lines and actions. I would wear costumes that the director would give me. The thing I wouldn't like about my job would be having to work non-stop for a long time. I will have to do an exam and pass it to get the job. In my spare time I will stay home with my family and do other activities.

Shannon O'Reilly

I want to be an artist when I grow up but I don't want to be famous. I want to be an artist because I like doing art. I would paint wherever I lived. Being an artist involves painting, sketching, sculpture and drawing. I will wear any clothes with an art apron on the top. I will paint trees and flowers. I will sell my paintings.

Diary entry

I had a breakfast of bacon and eggs. I took my paints and went outside to see what I should paint. In the end I decided to paint a frangipane tree. Later, I had a wonderful lunch with some of my friends. After I finished the picture, I went to play some tennis. I returned home and had a warm bath. It was then supper time. I ate stir-fried noodles and it was delicious. In it I had put carrots, broccoli, cauliflower and tomatoes. I nearly fell asleep in my food! My eyelids were closing but I just managed to write this. This was the best day I'd ever had.

Rachel Hodgson

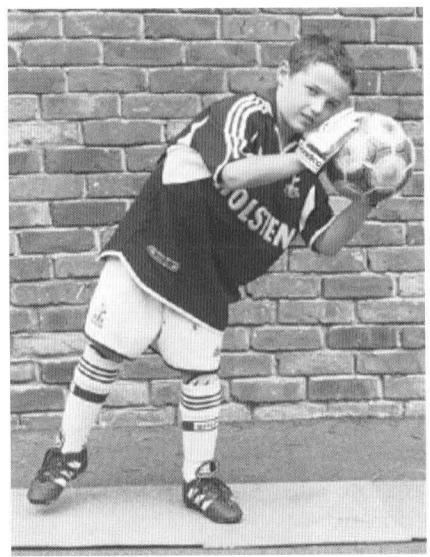

Rugby

I want to play rugby because it is one of my favourite sports. Rugby involves practice, training, concentration and speed. I want to play rugby for the New Zealand All Blacks.

You have to wear black shorts, black t-shirt, black socks with white stripes and rugby boots. I have to pass tests for passing, tackling and catching. The thing I don't like about rugby is the injuries. I want to be sponsored by Adidas.

Sam Treacy

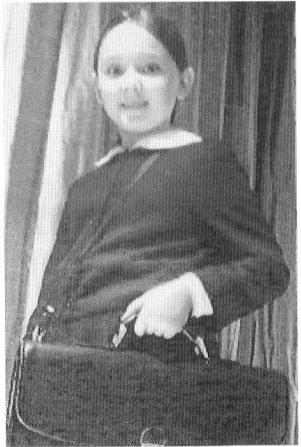

I want to be a goalie because it is fun and you get paid a lot of money. It takes a lot of hard work trying to save the ball and to kick it half way down the pitch. I will wear a long sleeved goalie top, goalie gloves, shin pads and football boots. I want to be sponsored by Sondico.

Diary entry

Today was the World Cup final. It was England versus Brazil. I was England's goalie. Kick off was at 1:00pm, but I had to be there at 10:00am because it takes a lot of practice. I hoped my mum and dad would be there to watch me. I hoped we would win because then England would have won the World Cup four times. The score was England 3 and Brazil 0. We were all really excited in the changing rooms and went out that night to celebrate.

Thomas Paterson

I woke this morning feeling glad because today is Friday. Even though I like my job as a lawyer, sometimes I get tired out. I put on my white blouse, my black skirt and buttoned up my matching jacket. I went downstairs and put some cooked oatmeal on to boil. I ate my oatmeal while I read the newspaper. After breakfast I put on my shoes, picked up my briefcase and went to work. At work one deal after another came and went. I met my brother for lunch and we talked about our jobs. Back at work I had to stay late so I didn't get home until 11:00pm and went straight to sleep without any supper.

Sonia Gregor

Being a footballer

I want to be a footballer when I get older as I like football. I love catching the ball with my hands when I am in goal and I like scoring goals too. Football is a competition where one team plays another team and it takes hard work and you've got to practise every day. You need skill and concentration. I'll do the job because I am good at football and it is my favourite sport. I would wear a soccer shirt, soccer shorts, soccer socks and cleats. I won't like getting badly hurt and injured and having to go to the hospital.

Diary

Today is the first day I am going for a trial. I don't know which team will choose me. I am so excited, because I was doing soccer lessons at Kellett School. I have practised hard.

William De La Mater

I want to be an architect because I'm an excellent drawer and I could design skyscrapers that are very interesting shapes and good quality. I would like to wear a zigzag tie, light brown suit and a watch. I would like to work in Hawaii. I would like to be the boss in my company and earn lots of money.

Diary entry

This was my big day. I woke up at 6:00am and had breakfast quickly. Then I remembered I had a business dinner with Jay. I went to my office in San Francisco. I was a millionaire and I was the boss of my company. I looked like a business tycoon. One of my assistants David had designed a building. He called it Triple Station Towers. The shape was interesting. I called the building people. I asked them if they could build the Triple Station Towers. I gave them the money and the map of the Triple Station Towers. They said the towers would be constructed in 16 years. I was amazed. But I was tired of living here. So I knew where to go. It was Hawaii.

Sunny Oh

Rugby

I would like to be a rugby player because I want to have strong leg muscles. You have to tackle and run fast. You have to practise. You have to wear shorts, t-shirt, sweat band, socks and rugby boots. When I miss the ball from a pass and when the other team get it, I get a bit annoyed because the other team could score a try and we may lose the match.

Nian.

Nian is a ferocious beast and he emerges on Lunar New Year to eat the townsfolk. One day an old man went up to a youth and asked him why he was so sad and frightened. The youth answered that it was Lunar New Year and that Nian would come and eat them. "Haven't you tried negotiating with him?" asked the old man.

"Do you not know that Nian is fire breathing and you cannot go near him!" the young man explained.

"Well I shall go and see what I can do" and the old man walked over to the land where Nian slept. When he found him the old man told Nian that he should change his ways and be good. Nian just snorted at him and threatened to eat him! The old man stood his ground and suggested that he eat the venomous snakes first. Nian agreed and ate them up. Then he went on to eat other beasts in the mountains but still he wanted to eat the old man. Reluctantly, the old man agreed to be eaten and went to step out of his clothes. When he came back he was wearing a red undergarment. Nian was terrified of the colour red and he immediately backed away from the old man. Nian was so petrified that the old man managed to capture him and he no longer ate people at Lunar New Year. To this day people paste red papers on their doors so that Nian will not hurt their family.

Dragon Dance

There was a puff of smoke and a crash of cymbals then a multicoloured face of a dragon peered out of the wreaths of smoke and stopped. The dance began with the dragon springing to life, jumping and prancing. The colours have mixed and swirled together and it's all disappearing, maybe forever. Am I happy or sad? I will miss the dragon's happy dance but wait! The cymbals are crashing and the drums are banging, here comes the dragon. The colours unmix and unswirl, dancing and prancing all over again. Jumping, weaving, twisting and turning, weaving it's way through the crowds in the streets. The teasers are teasing with all their fun, the dragon is mad and the teasers are frightened but they keep on laughing.

Door God

Day and night I stand against the door,
Watching across the dark floor,
Each night the terrors they move forward,
But I scare them away with my shimmering sword.
I guard the emperor and his wife,
But nothing can harm them not even a knife.
The spirits come the spirits go,
They try and fight but not me, no, no, no.
As the seasons pass my power dies away,
But then I am renewed on Chinese New Year's day.
Forever your protector I will be,
So look into the future and me you will see.

Aggie Burns

Chinese Dragon Dance

Chinese dragons weaving through the street,
When it sees you it will do more than just greet.
Dragons jump around all day,
Dragons always like to play.
Dragons like to have some fun,
Dragons sparkle in the sun.
Dragons always run around,
Trying to make a loud sound.
The dragon has a long, long mane,
The dragon can even make it rain.
Look up in the starry sky,
You might see a dragon fly by.
It is now night, no longer bright,
And the dragon is out of sight.

Yin and Yang

Yin and Yang are male and female,
Dark and light, hot and cold,
Everything's like Yin and Yang,
You and me, young and old.

An imbalance of Yin and Yang,
Could bring bad luck to you,
Only when Yin and Yang are even,
Will your family have good luck too.

When Yin and Yang are equal parts,
It'll put a smile upon your face,
And when they are in harmony,
The World will be a better place.

Fortune Sticks

When you go in to a Chinese temple there is an alter. It is like table in the middle of the temple. In a bamboo tube on the alter there are many numbered sticks. You shake the container until one stick falls out. You then get a piece of paper with the same number on as the stick and on the paper is your fortune. Here are some of our fortunes.

The Twelve Years of Chinese Astrology

There are twelve animals, one for each year. They go round in a cycle. The twelve animals are in this order: Rat, Ox, Tiger, Hare, Dragon, Snake, Horse, Sheep, Monkey, Rooster, Dog, Pig. They tell us a lot about people's characters who are born in that year. Here are some of our ideas.

Jamie Fulton-Kennedy

The Snake is positive,
Sneaky, quiet, cruel,
A great taste for style,
Elegant and cool.

Emily Hill

The tiger steps carefully
He is strong and brave
He's great in his business

The Dog does not tell lies,
His senses are keen,
He is very loyal,
And will not be mean.

Your Luck

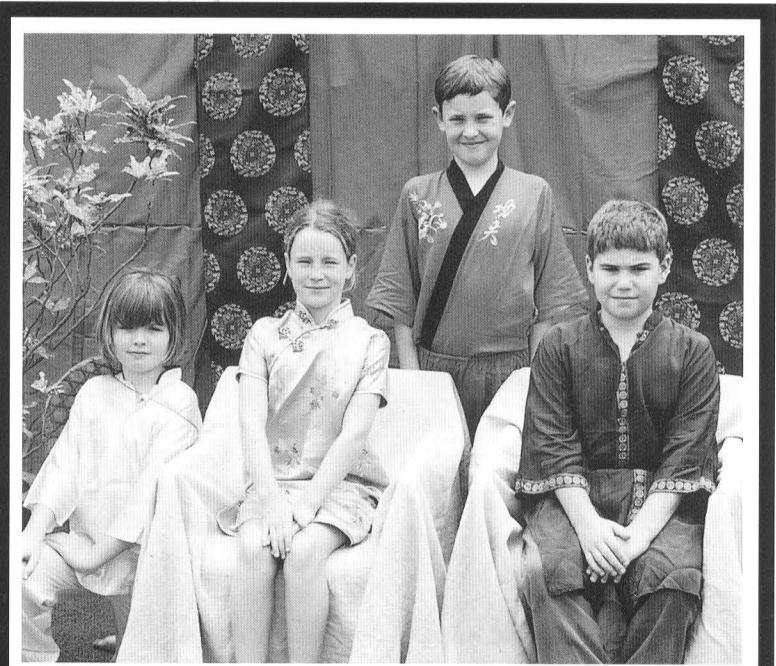

If you pick this seventy nine,
Your luck today is surely fine.

Your Fortune

If today you are mischievous,
All the luck won't come to you,
Tomorrow your fortune is rich,
If you like the colour blue.

Your next wish is a failure,
But this wish will come true

The Shrine

In the middle of the shrine there is a picture of three gods. The middle god is the god of war. He protects your home. There are hair decorations for decorations. There is a silver stud on the top to scare away the evil spirits. There are two candles to give lucky red light and joss sticks in a joss holder to sweeten the air for the gods. For offerings there are three pair of chopsticks, three teacups and three mini wine cups. Sometimes you can give the gods some food. The shrine is red.

Letter To A Friend

Dear Lauren,

Hello! Recently there has been an exciting festival in Hong Kong called the mooncake festival. The Chinese name for it is Zhong Qui Jie. Lanterns were glowing and being carried by children. There were lantern making competitions and riddles to solve. We went to the beach to celebrate the festival and ate mooncakes although I didn't really like them. It was a very noisy night!

Much friendship,

A Theatre Review

Dear Emporer,

The play of the Kitchen God was bad. The actors in the play had the story all wrong and I do not believe that it will make it to other cities in China. At least the man singing was in tune but I do not think that you would like the laughing music as I did not. The music was all mixed up and came in at the wrong time. The costumes were dusty too. I recommend to you your Majesty that you do not go and see this play.

Chinese New Year

At Chinese New Year firecrackers explode,
Once they're all gone it's time to reload.
The noise of the dragon dance blasts your ears,
Sounds like a motor bike changing gears.
The things that I like most are lycee packets,
Most of my coins are spent on jackets.
If you smear honey on the kitchen god's lip,
He will never let your secrets slip.
You should never use scissors or knife,
Or you will have bad luck in your life.
The door god tries to guard you at night,
They'll give the bad spirits a fright.
At Chinese New Year firecrackers explode,
Once they're all gone it's time to reload.

Katrina Duck

Red is

Red is for Lycee packets that twinkle in my eyes,
Red is for firecrackers that sparkle in the skies,
Red is for joss sticks that sweeten the air,
Red is for good luck that makes our life fair,
Red is for fire that burns the forests down,
Red is for ribbon that decorate my town,
Red is for Gods that are pleased by us,
Red is for temples that are full of fuss,
Red is for the Chinese flag that waves so high,
Red is for washing pegs that hang my clothes to dry,
Red is for decorations that are on the shrine,
Red is for silk that is made so fine,
This is all that I could think of and I really must fly,
So au revoir, so long, zai jian and goodbye.

Letter To A Friend

Dear Chou Pung,

You will not believe this! Last night I decided to try and experiment with another material to write on. I thought really hard and decided to try soaking bark, leaves and rags in water to make a pulp and it worked! It is brilliant! Now we will not have to write on parchment anymore. This is different; the surface is flatter and easier to write on. I think I might call this PAPER! Just think, maybe in the future people might write, print and paint on paper. No more parchment but a nice flat surface! I must write to the Emperor!

Tour of the Forbidden City

Welcome to the Forbidden City. The first thing that you will see today is the famous Meridian Gate which was built in 1420 and now opens into the Forbidden City. Next we move along to the watchtowers which stand on 9 beans and 18 pillars. These watchtowers were used as lookout posts. If you look over here you will see many people visit the Imperial Garden which is home to a great incense burner. Coming up next is the Hill of Accumulated Elegance. On every ninth lunar moon the Emperor and the Empress would climb the hill to see the scenery. Coming up on the left side is the hall of Celestial Purity. In here the Emperor would attend meetings with everybody. On our right we have the Hall of Protective Harmony where the Emperor would hold banquets and have his throne. The Gate of Divine Prowess is the north gate of the garden and leads out of the Forbidden City.

An Emperor's Will.

When an Emperor is close to death, he feels he should leave instructions on how he should be buried.

"Now then, Jade-maker, I want you to listen to what jade you will give me when I die. You will make me a jade suit that is all green except little red pieces that I want on the arms and the legs. Next I want a jade necklace that is made from red jade with a hole in the middle. Then I want a headband that is green with my name carved onto it. This will represent power. I shall have a jade ring. Now make sure that all of these conditions are met".

I love teaching Chinese to children. I have been teaching for 14 years and have been to many different countries to do my teaching. I am a qualified teacher and have a degree in Chinese writing. I will provide all the tools for the lessons such as brushes, ink, and exercise books. The lessons will be an hour and a half with the first 10 minutes of each lesson being a review of the week before's work. As your child gets more advanced I will teach them how to use the Chinese dictionary. I will show your child Chinese books and tell them all about the famous writers. The lessons will cost $50 and tool hire is $20. Please contact me.

Letter to the Emperor

Dear Emperor,

I am writing to you with concerns about the population in China and how much it is increasing. I have thought of ways to stop this as if we have too many people there will be a drain on resources and money will go out of the country.

So my idea is that we let families only have one child. This way we can control the population. People will want sons to be strong and our country will be great. I hope that you agree with these ideas.

A Typical Day in School

I arrive in school at 7am. I wear grey pants with a grey shirt and a red scarf. We have 12 children in my class. We learn Chinese writing, Maths, painting and ti chee. The classroom is small with hardly any tables or chairs. I use Chinese brushes, not pens and I use paper for writing on. We have to learn 70,000 Chinese characters in 6 years! For lunch I eat noodles or chicken or salad.

The Great Wall Guard

"I hate this job," I said as I saw the pathetic little slaves, feebly moving great boulders shaped so that they would fit together. As I got off my feet I could already see someone lazing around the wall trying not to be seen. I yanked him away from the wall and yelled
"Name?"

"Zhoung Wen" he said in a voice that sounded as if he was trying to tease me.

"Well, well, well", I said in a menacing tone, "you sound like you want a good beating you mongrel".

"So do you" Zhoung Wen he replied. I so was furious with him that apart from thrashing him and making him work three times as long, I also made him work during mealtimes.

"He'll be sorry after this," I said to myself but to my surprise he was working away quite happily. I was so angry again that I got the whip out and gave him several hard blows.

"I hope that you will not have that smile on your face next time you filthy, slimy beggar" I spat.

When night fell all was quiet except for a few odd noises. The next morning when I awoke there were rumours amongst the slave workers that Zhoung Wen had fallen off the wall. I wonder how that could have happened.....

Jamie Hayward

The Great Wall Slaves.

"Come on, make it snappy".

I am a slave on the Great Wall, it is torture and back-breaking work. The guards are horrible and they deny us food, beat us with sticks and kick us and only let us rest for a few hours. They are so gruesome. They stand there looking important and eating right down to the bone of the meat and then throw the bones at us. I've put up with one guard called Shang Fu for 15 years. I really want to run away from this place but I know I'll never get the chance. I know that I am here forever....

William Fordyce.

The Great Wall

It was a cold night, the air was crystal clear and the stars shone down. The soldiers huddled around their fires. Suddenly a man jumped up wearing shining armour. He fired arrows at the soldiers. The sound of swords clashing together filled the air. The flares were lit. The noise of battle roared, then it died down. All that could be heard were men grunting as they tossed bodies off the Great Wall. The Great Wall was still undefeated.

Jamie Fulton-Kennedy

A Soldier

I am Jien Kha, a soldier on the Great Wall of China. It's only ten more minutes until I am off duty. Whiteness everywhere, ice on the ground, mountains frozen. The fire keeps us alive, just. We're freezing, hands numb, shivering we clutch our crossbows. Food hardly enough to keep us alive. At last we have been called in. We are allowed in the watchtower. It's nicer in the watchtower. I lay down and go to sleep. I am woken up by the clangs of metal. I get my crossbow and run out. A small raiding party of Mongols. I shoot some. All of them have been shot.

Duncan Riddell

Ink Stone

In early China to make ink they used an 'ink stone' and an 'ink stick'. You put a drop of water on the ink stone and you take the ink stick and rub it in the ink stone. The more you rub it the darker the ink will become.

A Chinese paintbrush is made out of bamboo and usually horsehair.

When you hold the brush you hold it upright with two fingers in front, two behind and your thumb at the top in front.

Lea d'Auriol

The Great Wall

- The Great Wall stretches 1,674 miles.
- They used the Great Wall if the Barbarians were there or if there was a war and they lit up a fire to let everybody know.
- The guards had to be on duty the Great wall and they hardly ever got any sleep.
- The wall was designed to protect China from the raids of the Xiongnu.
- The north-west walls of China were joined to form the Great Wall.

Noel Lee

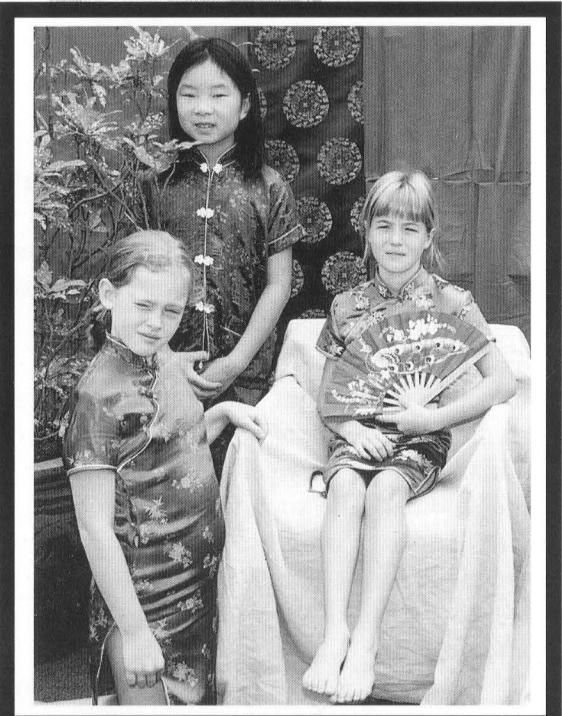

Dear Emperor,

I have an answer to all your Majesty's problems. I have discovered writing for the whole of China. It is not the same as other countries. It is not made out of letters, they are called characters. There are some easy and some hard characters. You read top to bottom, right to left. This is how you make the character for the word 'day'.

1. Write an Arabian number 1.
2. Then write an Arabian number 7.
3. After that, draw a line inside.
4. Finally below the line draw a line and the character is finished.

Your Majesty, you can invent more complicated characters so that China can have its own writing. I hope that you like my idea.

Amazing Artifact

This beautiful ancient picture of the great Emperor Le Shimin who ruled the Tang Dynasty from 627AD to 629AD. The painting was discovered by Shiste Zu and it is over 1000 years old. It was found in a Xiang Ma Tang tomb. It is painted with the finest paints and brushes China had at that time. The paints are very rare now as they were made from plants, dirt and soot. The minimum price for this work of art is one million dollars. Please contact me at the address below for more details.

The Silk Road

I was going along the Silk Road and we had only been travelling for 10 minutes when we came across Shang Fu, the local trader. "You are nothing but a peasant to me," I said and I hauled him aboard my cart in case he came in useful sometime. A few hours later we came across my best trader on the road. We traded 20 pieces of gold for 100 metres of silk and then we traded one worthless servant for 1 bag of spices. Last of all, 20 bags of rice for 2 cows. After such a busy day we rested at the inn for the night.

Diary Entry of an Acrobat

I was behind the stage at first and I was so nervous. I knew if I did something wrong that I would be sent far away and that I had to impress the Emperor. I wore a sparkly leotard and had my hair done in bunches. The moves that I performed included standing on the head of another acrobat whilst standing on ten chairs, tightrope walking and trampolining. I had to get to the middle of the tightrope before I could do my backflip. Thank goodness it went all right and I can sleep tonight.

The Silk Road

I am a poor merchant and I am on the Silk Road to trade some of my goods. 2 days ago I came across a rich merchant and he was riding on his horse. He kicked me from the path shouting at me, "You filthy beggar". We had a short argument then he carried on his way.

Now I hope to arrive in Tibet where I will meet an Indian merchant who trades spices and bread. I will ask him if he wants to trade some jade. Then I will travel to Kabul where I will trade with Muslims. Then I shall go to Turkey. Merchants there trade in much gold and silver. I look forward to that.

Good Luck

Joss sticks smell so very sweet,
Make sure you keep the shrine neat.
Candle light shines day and night,
To keep your spirits up and bright.
If you see dirt do not sweep,
Leave it in a great big heap.
Red's luckily the best of all,
Hang red ribbons round your hall.
Fire crackers spit and roar,
To scare spirits out of the door.
Kumquats and blossoms of Peach,
Bring health to one and each.
Do not cut or use a knife,
'Cos you'll have bad luck,
For the rest of your life.

Holding Chopsticks

Close your fist. Open your thumb and index finger. Use your other hand to pick up a pair of chopsticks. Put the pair of chopsticks between your thumb and index finger and hold tightly but make sure that they are level. When you put your middle finger between the pair of chopsticks your chopsticks will open and close.

Andrew Lau

Chopsticks

A very long time ago in China they started to use chopsticks. Using chopsticks is hard if you are trying to learn in a few minutes. When I first tried to use chopsticks I found it difficult and I called them jumping sticks. Now I can pick food up and put it in my mouth without dropping anything. I can even use chopsticks with my eyes closed.

A Chinese Banquet

First,
Thick sweet corn soup,
Bursting with freshness,
Temperature not too cold.
Next,
Sweet and sour pork,
Delicious batter and crunchy red peppers,
A red sauce to cover everything,
Under that the grass green peppers.
Then,
Choy Sum,
Cut up so small that you won't choke,
Green as holly, new and fresh.
Finally,
Fried rice,
Soft and easy to chew,
With meat as tender as chicken,
And egg that tastes luscious.
All together it is like heaven.

A Chinese Recipe.

Ingredients:

Noodles
Spinach
Chicken pieces
Chicken stock
Salt
Soya sauce

Method

Put chicken stock on a high heat, leave for a short while then add the noodles. Chop up any vegetables you would like and add them to the pot.

Put in the chicken pieces and a pinch of salt.

Leave this for 10 minutes then put in the soya sauce.

Now leave for half an hour before serving.

Chopsticks

Are chopsticks alive? I really don't know,
They always seem to have their own mind.
They squiggle, they squirm, they wriggle and twist,
in the end I have to put them behind.
Chopsticks never do what I want or say,
I've been trying for many a day.
They always do their own things,
But everyone could use them in the days of the Mings.
When I finally manage to pick something up,
Yet again it falls down.
It's really embarrassing especially when everyone is watching you
in town.
That leaves me with one conclusion,
Chopsticks must be alive.

Tea

A cup of tea is good to hold,
But be careful your throat you do not scold,
It's nice to drink when you are cold,
In a supermarket so many are sold,
Sweet and creamy looking white,
You feel quite thirsty when it comes in sight.
Chinese drink a lot of hot tea, but ice tea is the drink for me.

Emperor

My general has gone out fighting the nomads. He has been away for two years and then he came back with a pile of gold reaching the heavens. I gave him half so he went off happily. One year later he went to fight the Mongols. He was away for three years this time. I gave him a quarter of the treasure he brought back. He didn't look very pleased at that. I was scared now, I don't know what to do. My general might declare war on me with his enormous army. I know what I'll do, I'll invite his family to stay in my palace so that he can't attack me but before I do that I'll call my other armies so that I will have a big army and I can attack him. Three months later I had an enormous army but while I was thinking how clever I had been the general was talking to some of my soldiers persuading them to attack me. Three months later I was ready to attack but after a bloodthirsty battle I was killed and the general became the new Emperor.

Freddie Cornish

The General

I was a general fighting the nomads. I had been away two years. I defeated them one by one. I took back all the weapons, gold and silver and the emperor gave me half of the treasure that I had brought back.

It was another year before I was sent to war against the Mongols. I was away for three years. This time the pile of gold was smaller but that was no reason for the Emperor to only give me a quarter of the gold. Why didn't he give me half? Didn't he appreciate my hard work? Then he took my family into his palace and three of his other armies came. I was very suspicious so I had a spy tell me what was happening. He said that the Emperor was going to kill me. I knew that one of the generals, Ti Shung never paid his troops so I sent my captain and some of my soldiers to persuade his men to rebel and fight for me. When the Emperor acted, I was ready. I defeated him and now I am Emperor and my captain is a general.

Terracotta Army Model

How daft, I do not think that the model looks a bit like me in the least. The men who sculptured the terracotta warriors need to build so many of them that they won't spend time and detail on me. I will not be pleased with the final result because I need to stay still for hours and they still need to make notes and measurements of me!

The Emperor's Guard

I am a guard in the Tang Dynasty. I work for the Emperor. I dress for fifteen minutes before I am ready to go on duty. I have to carry a spear and a sword, they are quite light but my armour is very heavy. I must stay there for the whole day but I do get a short break in the afternoon. I catch every thief that comes this way and I am given much credit.

An Artisan

I stood looking at the block of stone that I was going to chisel into. I pick up a hammer and a chisel. I started chipping into the stone at a constant beat. Dust flying everywhere, sweat dripping down my back. I did not stop until I stood back and it was finished. It stood there, my masterpiece.

Our Trip to Beijing

The trip to Beijing is the thing that I am looking forward to. I really want to go and see: -

The glittering wall that stretches over the hills far away and never comes back to you.

The amazing shapes and styles of buildings that are different to ours.

The round mystic Temple of Heaven.

The old dirty tombs that stand in your way.

The interesting clothes and hairstyles people have.

The wonderful Forbidden City that has had so many emperors with their hidden lives that lay there.

The five star hotels.

I am going to miss my mum so I'll say 'hooray' when it's the day, and once again when I come back to her.

Chairman Mao's Speech

The building of Tianamen Square is very important as it will benefit us all. I shall hold huge parades for the people's enjoyment. It will be the biggest square in the world. Just think how much this will be good for China. The rest of the world will pay us much money and I will be able to share it with you. My portrait will hang in the square and I shall be seen from miles around.

Mandarin

I find Mandarin hard to learn because it is very different to English sounds and it is hard to write the characters. I have already learnt one to ten in mandarin and how to say hello and goodbye and also how are you and how to say the teacher's name. I also know some songs. When we go to Beijing we will all have a chance to speak Mandarin. We are all going to learn these phrases: -

Ni hau ma (How are you?)

Ni hau (Hello)

Duo shao qian (How much is it?)

Tai gui le (Too expensive)

Xie xie ni (Thank you)

Zai jian (Goodbye)

Ce suo zai na li (Where is the bathroom?)

Wo yao yi ge ju wu ba (I want a Big Mac)

Memories of Kellett:

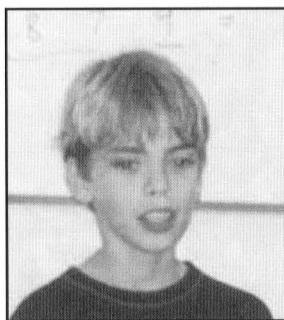

My earliest memories at Kellett are from when I had only just started. Hugo Cribbin gave me a warm welcome to the school. I enjoyed the space challenge too. I liked the foot challenge in P.5 and the Australian Dance Company in P.6.

Activities:

I like ping pong, football, basket ball, horse riding, tennis, swimming, sailing, violin, recorder, roller skating and bike riding.

Hopes for the future:

I plan to go university to become a vet. I have always dreamed of being one. The pollution in this world is killing lots of animals per day.

Memories of Kellett:

When I was in reception I remembered there was a little playhouse in the class room. I also remembered I didn't want to take home a scarecrow toy in reception.

I remembered making a cake (Peach Surprise) from the book, "The Lighthouse Keeper's Lunch" in P2.

I remembered going to camp at Pak Tam Chung in P4 and to Beijing in P5.

Likes:
I like animals, art and craft.

Dislikes:
I dislike insects, pollution, peas and homework.

Hopes for the Future:

I would like to be an artist or a designer. I would design clothes for children.

P.6 It was fun at the beach Party and Survival Camp.

Likes: I enjoy football, rugby, science and art.

Dislikes: Vegetables, tomato juice, computer studies and maths.

Activities:

My favourite sports are rugby and football. I play tennis on a Saturday and go to cubs every Tuesday. I quite enjoy playing saxophone.

Hopes for the future

I want to be a marine biologist and a saxophonist when I grow up. I want to play professional rugby for South Africa. I would like to live in Fiji when I grow up because it is nice and hot there.

Favourite saying: Can we work in partners?

Name: Alexandra Ruth Alison Roberts
DoB: 30/7/90
Kellett Years: 1996-2001

Memories of Kellett:

My fondest memory is of P.5 Art Week. I didn't go to Beijing with the rest of the class. I had a week of art with Mrs. Gadbury. I also liked the rope course at Pak Tam Chung in P.4. Another priceless memory was in the P.5 assembly, Ancient China. My favourite part was the "Period of Disunity News Show," because it was fun pretending to be a reporter. I also enjoyed the Ribbon dance, as I like to dance. I played the part of Florence Nightingale in the P.6 "Victorians" assembly.

Likes: Literacy, writing stories and poems, singing, acting, dancing, violin and flute.

Hopes for the future: When I grow up I hope to be either a famous singer, the owner of a horse sanctuary or an author.

DoB: 1/1/90
Kellett Years: 2000-2001

Memories of Kellett:

What I remember best at Kellett was my first day everyone was really nice especially Polly, Lauren and Megan. I also remember P.5 camp to Beijing. I shared a room with Lauren and we got into a huge fight and I remember I lost the combination for my lock on my suitcase so Matthew and Adam spent days trying to figure it out and then the day before we left they found it.

Likes:

I like tacos, banana bread, the colour purple, my flute and Jaguar cars.

Dislikes:

I dislike the vegetable called squash.

Hopes for the future:

When I get older I want to help with the Christina Noble Foundation and, if I'm still in Hong Kong, with Mother's Choice. When I grow up I might want to be a teacher or a professional flute player and for a hobby I want to restore Jaguar cars.

It is a very hard act to follow Gill Henderson and her most able publication team after so many years of greatness! The new committee is proud to bring you all the best of Kellett on these pages and send many, many thanks to all who have contributed to this Millennium year edition.

To the pupils and staff for creative input,
to the yearbook committee for wonderful output,
and to all those who contributed time and photographs,
thank you.
