London Ontario 1992

It is ten years since I was sitting down to write an introduction to the first edition of the school magazine. Each year, each new edition has recorded a slice of the Kellett history, and when you look at the ten well-worn copies that sit on our library shelf, they provide an exciting record of the school's growth. The magazines, displaying photographs, descriptions, stories, poems and art work, tell the story of our whole school community; every pupil, parent and member of the staff contributes something of him or herself to Kellett, and viewed together they capture some of the atmosphere and ethos of the school. They also provide an opportunity to recognise some of the achievements of the school and individuals. They reflect the day-to-day life in which our children have worked, played and grown and for all of us provide a reminder of special events and activities.

Since that first Kellett production, the school has grown in size both in numbers of children and staff and in the extension of the building and facilities we have been able to provide. The curriculum has developed and been extended and the opportunities offered to the children have been increased through the promotion of science and computer studies and the addition of French and a Cantonese club.

The children featured in our first magazine ranged from 4 to 9 years old, and went on to complete primary school here and around the world. The oldest, some of whom still visit us regularly, have begun further education or various careers. All the Kellett children are growing and changing on their journey towards maturity and I'm sure all the staff and parents will feel something like the dormouse in the quotation from Lewis Carroll as they face the challenge of nurturing our children as they grow and journey to adulthood.

"I wish you wouldn't squeeze so." said the Dormouse, who was sitting next to her.

"I can't help it," said Alice very meekly: "I'm growing."

"You've no right to grow here." said the Dormouse.

"Don't talk nonsense," said Alice more boldly: "you know you're growing too."

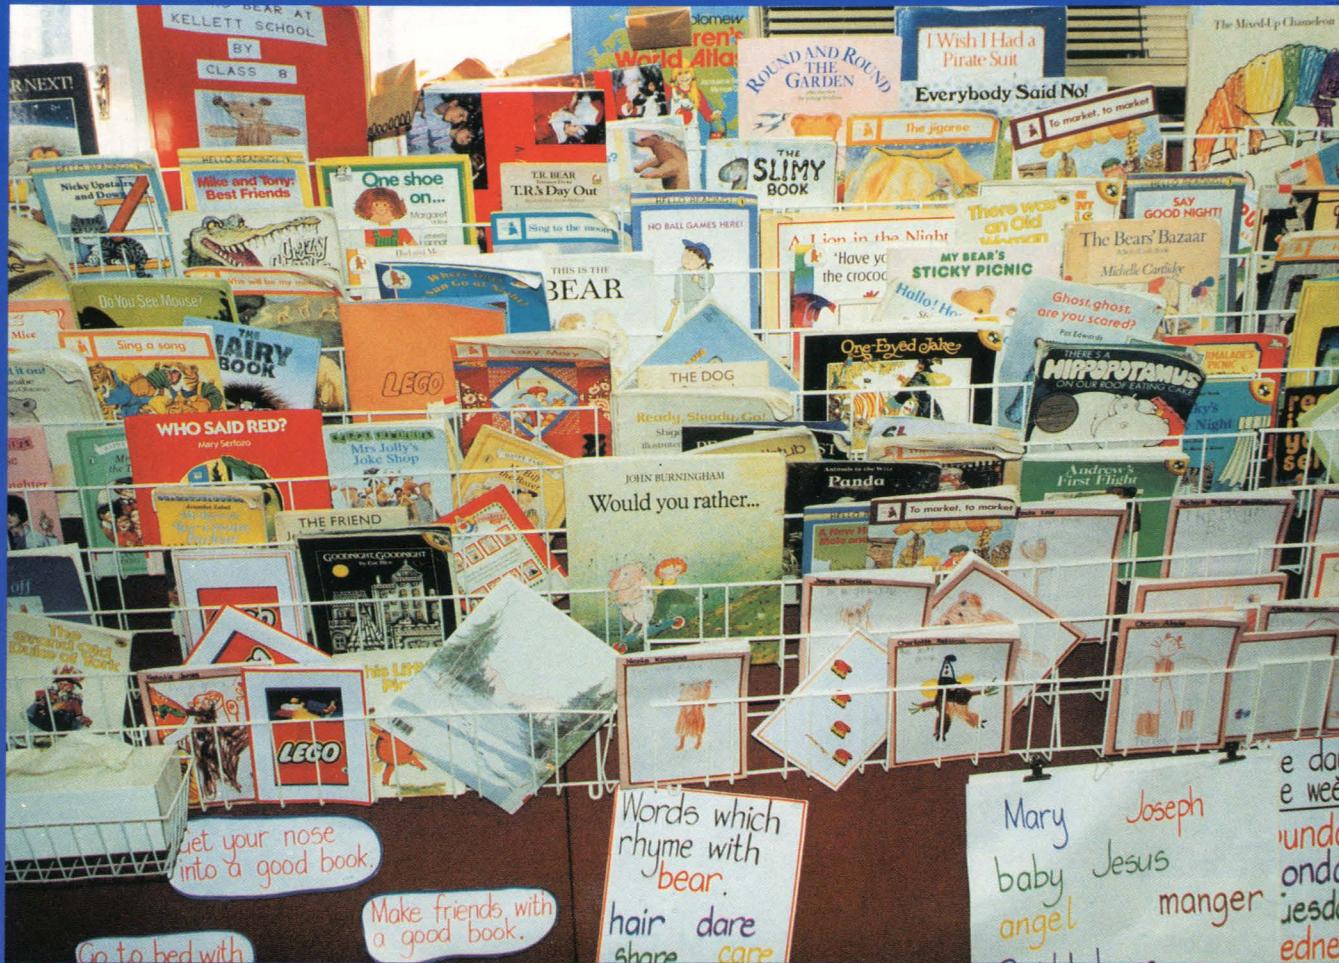

"Yes, but I grow at a reasonable pace," said the Dormouse: "not in that ridiculous fashion."

Snails smell with their little tentacles.

Thomas

Snails eat chalk to make their shells hard. The big snails have stripes on their shell and a spiral at the top.

Andrea

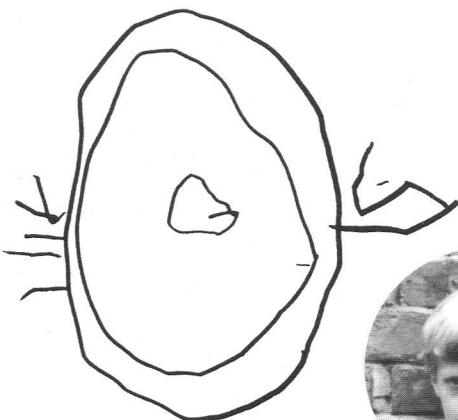

Snails go inside their shells when it's winter. They can sniff with their little tentacles.

Lowri

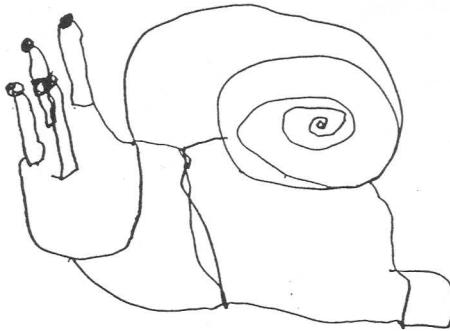

Snails have 4 tentacles, 2 big ones with eyes on and 2 little ones to feel with. Snails lay snail eggs.

Slimy snail, slimy slug, won't you see a slimy duck?

Emma

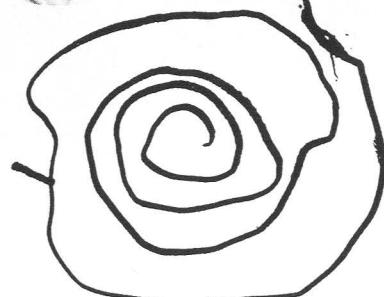

The snails are on the soil.
Jonathan Kruse

Snails shells are big and small and have spirals on them.
Gabriela

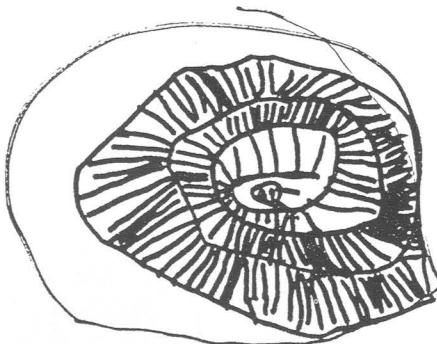

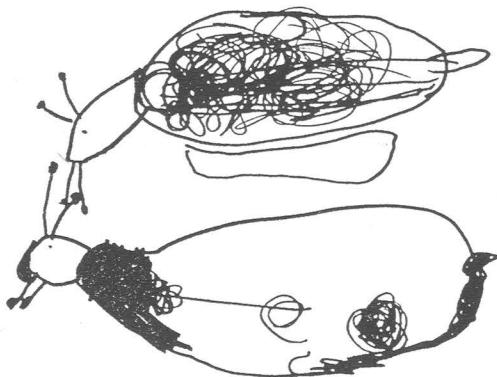

Snails eat leaves and carrots.
Thomas

Snails like to eat lettuce and chalk.
They can climb over things.
Kieran

I like the little snails best because they've got bigger spirals.
Alejandra

The snails were stretching themselves to look who was around. I like their faces because they have tentacles.
Jamie

I like the snails because they're so cute. We've got 3 snails.
Linoy

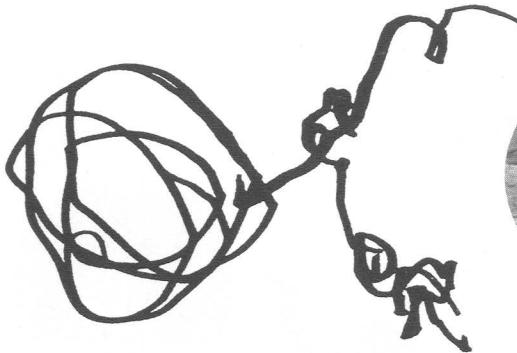

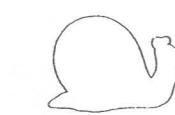

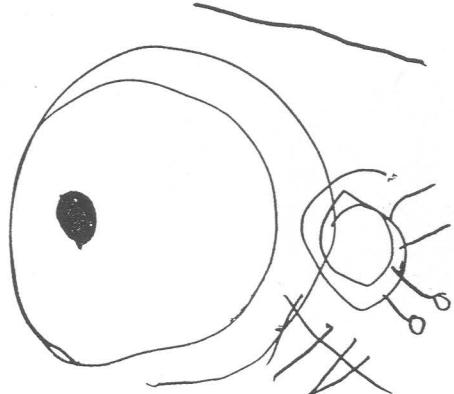

The snail moves very slowly.
Craig

Snails hide in their shells.
Hilda

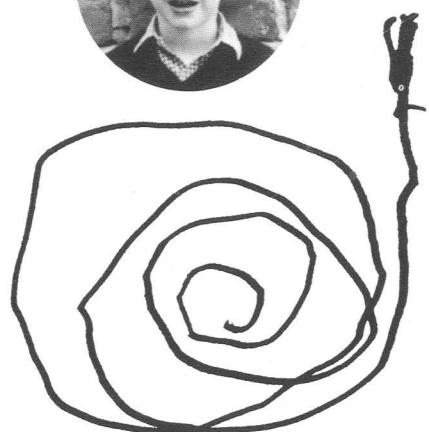

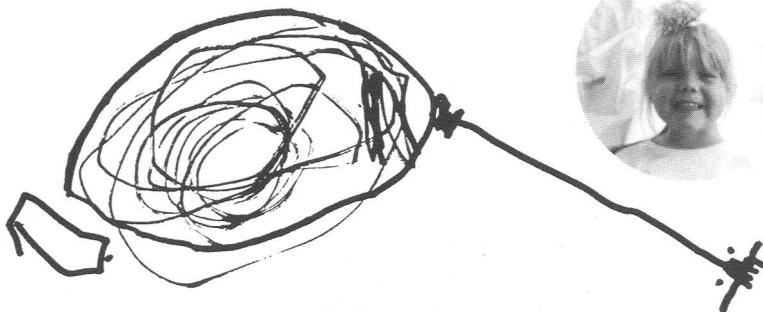

Snails have a foot.
Jamie

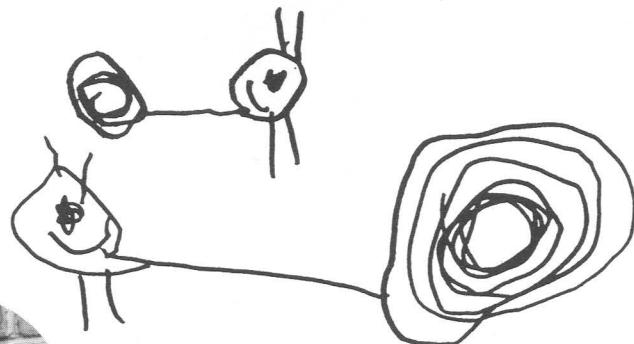

Little snails hatch from eggs. They eat with teeth on their tongues.
Camilla

Snails can climb.
Shayan

Snails eat breakfast and lunch.
Snail trail on a nail.
David

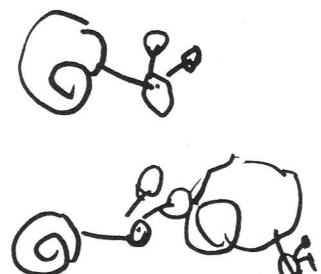

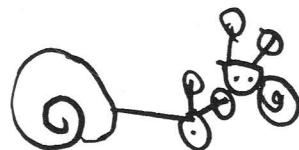

Sometimes snails live in the soil.
They stretch and look like giraffes.
They breathe through a hole.
Edward

Snails lay eggs. They move around with the back and the front of their bodies. Snails sleep because it's cold out and they don't want to catch cold.
Christina

Snails make slimy snail trails. They can do exercises with their neck and body and pull and push. Some snail shells look like ice-cream cones.
Floppy sloppy slugs and snails
Alexandra

Snails hide under stones.
I saw black poo coming from the snail.
Daphne

We found our snails in the garden.
They stretch to look for food and they stick to the glass.
Henry

Front row : Amanda Ashdown, Christopher Muir, Jennifer Lewis, Simon Beard, Nicola Sawyer, William Sweeney, Jennifer White, Blair Crichton

When I spilled my food over the table my mum got cross. She told me to go to my room. I Said no and I tried not to go but in the end I went!

William

Monkey Business!!

Our dogs Rubia and Manchita are very naughty sometimes. They get socks from the laundry basket and they chew holes in them. My mum gets REALLY CROSS and gives them a smack! They know that they are not supposed to do that but they still do it!

Jorine

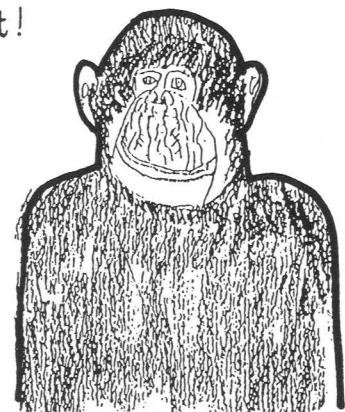

My mummy gets ANGRY when I don't clean up my room. She growls at me. Then I put some music on and I clean up my room quickly.

Elisabetta

This morning when I was having breakfast my sister was putting too much sugar on her porridge so I got up to stop her. While I was trying to stop her the naughty cat got up on to my chair and started eating my breakfast!

Tom

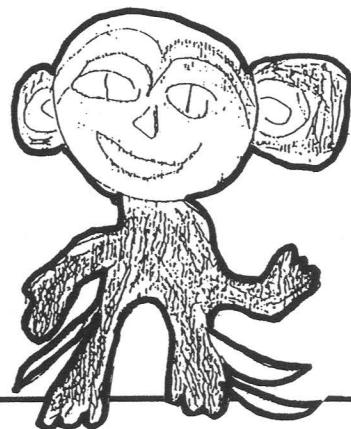

When I was a baby and my mummy was holding me I grabbed her necklace and pulled it to pieces. The bits went all over the floor. I don't remember that because I was too little but mummy told me about it.

Amanda

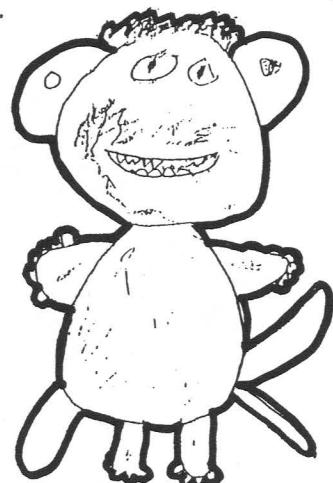

A long time ago I went to the shop down stairs with my friend Mariska who goes on my bus. I forgot that I wasn't allowed to get bubblegum and we bought two packets. Mummy was a bit cross!

Jenny

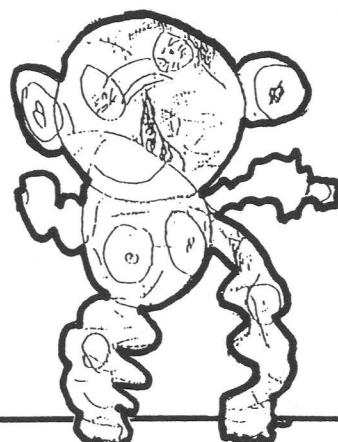

When I was at my house I hit my brother and my mummy told me off. She told me to go to my room. I was crying in my room. "Stop that crying" my mummy said.

Julia

I Went to a Church near my house without telling my mum and dad. I climbed up the church Wall and Scratched myself on some barbed wire. It was sharp. My mum and dad were VERY CROSS!

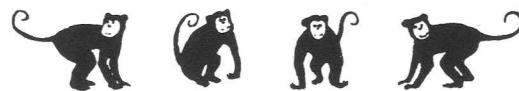

Ben

One day Megan and I crossed the road by ourselves and went to the American Club without telling my mum and dad. My mum looked over and saw us there so she came to take us home. She was VERY ANGRY! We were in trouble and got sent to our rooms!

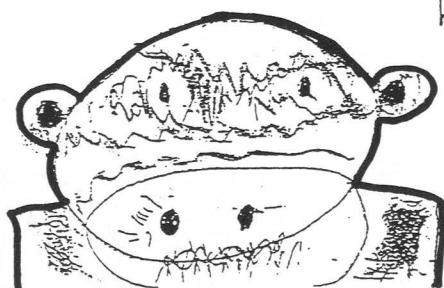

Brendon

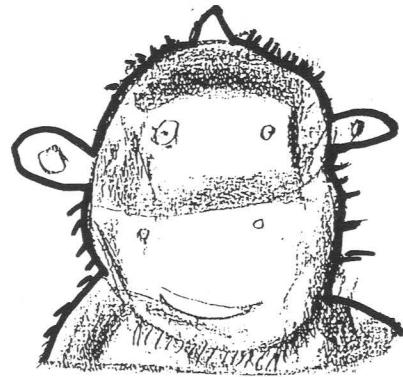

When I was five my sister Julie and I took some raisins, nuts and chocolate from the fridge and ate them in the bedroom. Mum and dad found us, later covered in chocolate. My mum laughed.

Philip

Once my amah Lorna told me not to go with my friend to the Red Hill Peninsula but I just went. When my mum found out she was a bit angry with me. I didn't go back again but one day I might go with Lorna.

Blair

My mum gets cross if I don't come up from the playground when I'm told to. Sometimes I don't turn the T.V. off when I'm told to either. Then mum growls at me and turns it off herself!

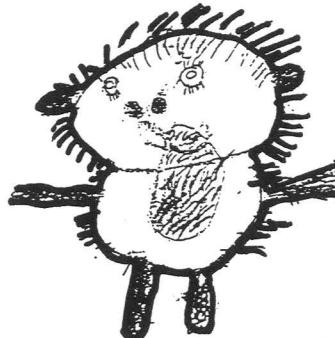

Jennifer

If I throw my toys around my room and make a big mess my mummy gets quite cross. She tells me to clean my room up.

Usually I clear up my mess and sometimes mummy helps me

Haris

When I fight with my brother and sister my mum and dad say "stop that now!"

We always stop fighting when they say that.

Sometimes Emma and Ben touch my delicate things like my very special ring. That makes me upset!

Nicola

We have a rule at our house
-no bubble gum or chewing gum because it gets on the furniture.
One day I forgot and had some.
When my mum saw me eating it she told me to spit it out so I did!

Charlotte

One day I broke a glass bottle in a shop in Causeway Bay. My mum was VERY CROSS and she told me not to move a muscle! When we got home I was GROUNDED!

Simon

In the morning when I'm getting ready for school my mum always has to tell me to hurry up. She gets cross with me because I'm playing with my toys and my dog instead of eating my breakfast.

Cristina

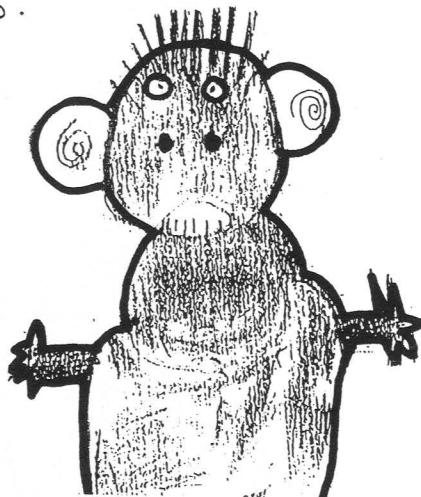

I really like watching television. Sometimes when I'm watching something good mummy calls me to come and eat my dinner. I get angry because I want to keep watching and mummy gets angry with me for not coming to the table!

Robert

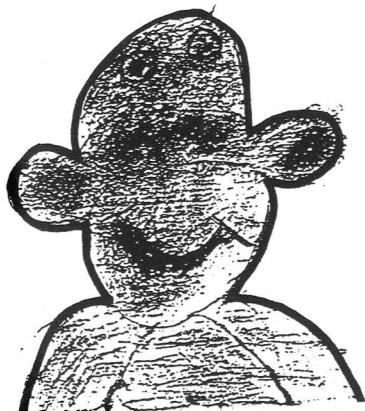

Once I stood on my Lego box and opened my dining room window when my mum and dad were out. I knew that I wasn't allowed to do that and when they came back home they were quite cross. It was a dangerous thing to do.

Chris

This morning my brother woke me up by banging his new dinosaur on the bottom of my bed! Then I put on my dressing up princess dress when my mummy told me not to. Mummy was very cross with me and cranky with me!

Joanna

Sometimes when I buy sweeties from the shop and my mum doesn't know I'm going to buy them she gets cross! She says I'm not to buy them again and she told my amah not to give me money for sweets any more.

A big brown bear lives in our classroom

When I first came to Kellett School a Bear was in a cave. I Went in the Cave it was dark in there,
Very dark indeed. I love Edward Bear. I went in the Cave first.
We did pictures to put on the wall of Edward's cave. I did twinkle twinkle little star, how I wonder what you are.
Up above the world so high,
like a diamond in the sky twinkle twinkle little star how
I wonder what you are.

Sophie

I was surprised when there was a bear in my classroom when I first came to Kellett School, but I expect I will get used to it.

William

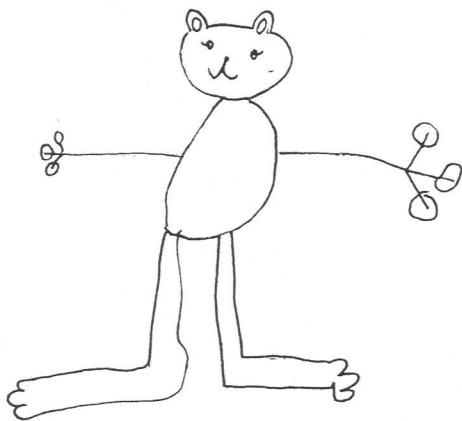

Natalie
Edward Bear sneaked out of the class room when our class was at music.
First he went to the hall. He saw a class doing P.E. he thought he could have a go at it so he snuck in the hall.
But Mrs Pujol didn't notice him. Then he saw the other children wearing PE clothes. So he went up stairs and got on one of the spare
P.E. kits and then he went to the hall. then he joined the class for the other session, and then he headed to the loo. So he looked in the girls loo and the boys loo too but he went in the girls loo.

one day our Bear peed in the loos. But which one was he to go into? Was it the red one?
or was it the blue one?
So Bear went in the red one first and then the blue one!

Charlotte

Richard Edward Bear went out to the playground. He saw the apparatus and went to play on
it. He saw a slide and he slid down the slide.
He asked if he could swing on the bars.
He asked if he could go to the sandpit if he could get to the sandpit she said yes.

Our bear went to the hall and pulled down the paintings and played with the apparatus and he played the piano. Then Bear went to music and he watched us play games and he sat next to me. Bear then went to Mrs Aduso's classroom and read a book and played with toys.

Cara

We did an assembly about a bear hunt and I was the bear. Edward sat on my mother's lap to watch.

Willem

Our Edward bear came to watch our play.

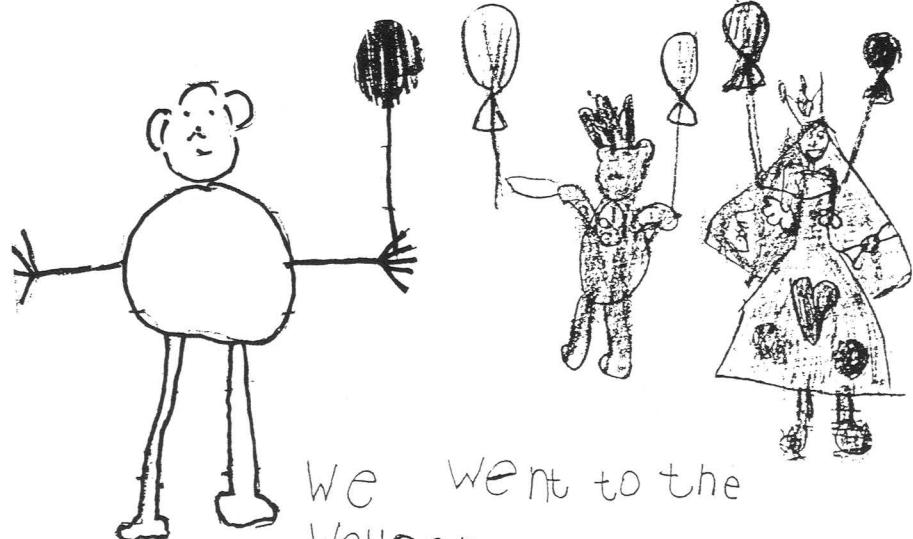

I like him watching us. I was a tree in the play. It was about a Bear Hunt.

Alison

If Edward Bear went shopping in a shop
he might buy a ball. no. What will he buy?
Let's find out! A toy mouse? no. A noisy drum? no. maybe he would like a ferrari car? what, a doll? no. I know, a JACK-he found another box there was some honey friend. Then he slept and slept. Then he woke up with a rainbow in his cave and with a bird singing to him.

Chi Ping

Happy birthday Bear

Nicola
on wednesday 30th october it was Edward Bear's 6th birthday.
The birthday was in the garden.
we had lots of things to eat and drink.
We Played games and had lots of fun. Emily's mummy made a Bear shaped cake.
We all made cards for him and gave him presents.

We went to the Wellcome supermarket to buy the party food. We bought paper plates and Smarties bread and honey for Edward's party

Edward Bear is falling asleep in his hammock and he is sleeping now. He sleeps when the Sun's here and when the dark's here. He is still asleep in the night. He has not eaten yet.

I like him sleeping in his hammock. I am in a book with Edward Bear and I will tell him when he wakes up but he is still asleep, he sleeps, sleeps, sleeps.

Janet

Mrs Pickering made a hammock for Edward and Edward was high-bear-nating and he is shoring and he had his teddy and a lion.

Amanda

On January 13th we had to wake up Edward Bear for a photograph. Then we let him go back to sleep.

Duncan

Edward Bear missed doing work about light. He missed playing with crystals and making rainbows on the ceiling.

Melvin

Our Bear sleeps in the winter. Edward Bear likes to sleep all through the winter. When Bear sleeps he sleeps in the hammock. He has a blanket and a pillow. Edward Bear is comfy in his hammock.

Emily

"Wake up Edward Bear, Spring is here!"

We tried to wake him up. We put him on a tractor.
Cut down a tree.
Combed his fur.
Shone a torch in his eyes.
Read a noisy story.
Made a volcano under his hammock.
Tickled him, but he went right on Snoring.
Ava

He washed his fur on him,
Sang a song.
Shouted WAKE UP!
Tickled him with two feathers.
Sprayed him with water.
But Bear went right on Snoring.

James Budge

We hit him with a boming knocker, made a terrible sound with a racing car, let go of balloons.
Put earings on him,
popped a balloon,
let a squeaky mouse run on him... then....
My Mum just then brought in a lovely big cake.
Bear sniffed and WOKE UP!
James Charlton

Once on Saturday our Bear called Edward smelled Mrs Tyrrell's birthday cake and James Charlton put the cake in the way and he wrote us a letter and his hand writing was awful! Every night and his spelling was awful! Every night after we have gone home he works hard reading, writing and doing maths.

Primary 2, Class 9 - Mrs L. Ashdown

Back row : Mrs Ashdown, Sabai Lwin, Bronwyn Gardiner, Tybee van Tienen, Clio Sinclair, Samantha Nieveen, Olivia Warnock

I would fly to the U.S.A to the Rocky Mountains to see the bears. I'd like to hear them roar and watch them catch fish in the river and see the baby bear cubs playing with their mum. I'd be scared if a bear came close to me so I would watch through binoculars.

Liron

I would fly to the jungle in Africa to see the gorillas. Gorillas are bigger than my daddy and when they stand up and bang on their chest and yell they look scary but they really don't eat other animals they eat berries and leaves and fruit.

Melissa

I would fly to Disneyland in America. I've been there before and it was fabulous. I went in a German fighter plane and when I pressed a button there was a sound like a machine gun. When I pulled the joystick back the plane went up. My brother went in a different plane and we pretended we were fighting.

samantha

I would like to go to the Land of Oz and skip along the yellow brick road. I would explore the red road and the blue road. At the end of the yellow brick road is the Emerald City. I would ask the Wizard to give mummy a baby girl because my brother is so annoying and boys are wild.

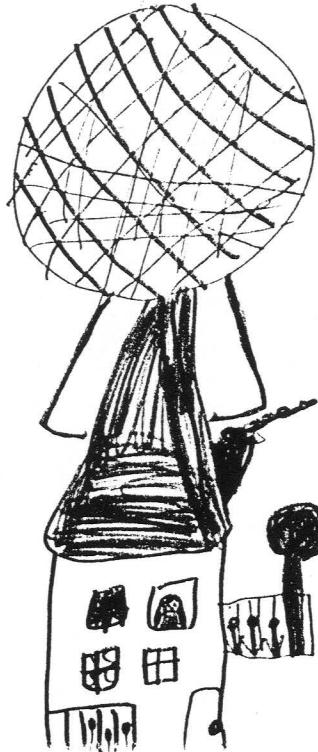

I would fly to the middle of a jungle and when I got there I would meet lots of monkeys and I'd swing all day on the trees. I'd play hanging around and catch and eat bananas. I would only stay two days because I hate bananas.

Clio

Natalie

I would like to go to the land of Dread Dragon Droom. I would help everybody to get back Arminda and if I help them I might watch them get married. Then I would go back in to the hot air balloon and I would want to go to England because it is fun to go to the fairs there and play with the dog next door to my grandma and grandpa.

I would like to go to Australia because I want to see my animals. I have a cow and her name is Susie and my sisters rabbit is called Snowy. We have a cat and her name is Lucy. I miss my animals. In Hong Kong I only have one pet because I live in a flat. If I went to Australia I would live in the country and I would be happy.

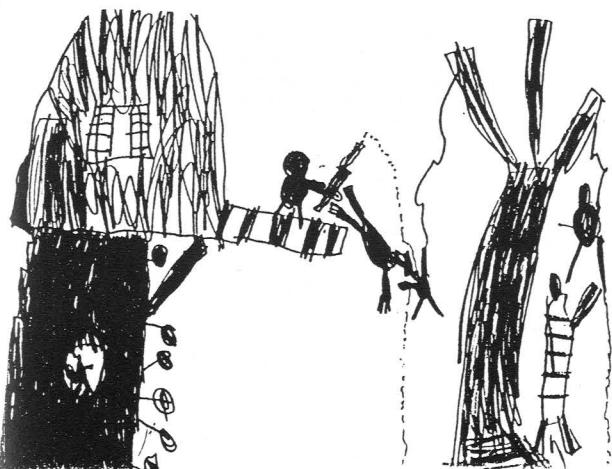

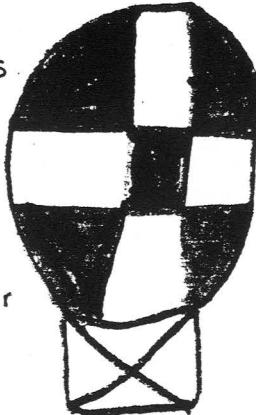

Tybee

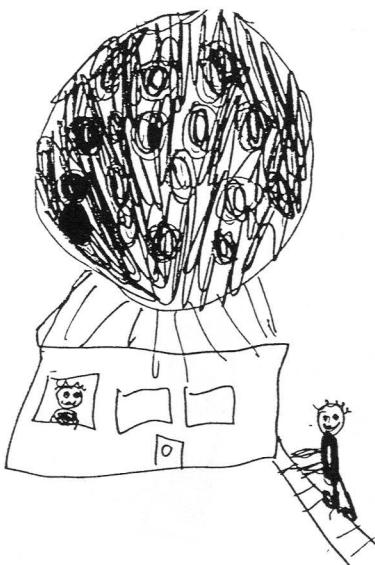

Daryl

My hot air balloon would take me to London. I would go to see the dungeons in the Tower of London. They are dark and very scary. Lots of people go there. Afterwards I'd like to fly to Disneyland and go to the train. When the train stops you get a water-pistol and a bucket of water. It's a lot of fun.

My balloon would fly to a land where the sand is bread-crumbs, the grass is mint and chewy bars grow on the trees. When you pick anything it grows back again. There's a waterfall with four different flavours - orange, chocolate, mint and strawberry. If I went there I wouldn't go to school I'd just play melting candles and read books all day.

I would go to Africa to the jungle and I would like to make a tree house in one of the trees. I would look at some of the animals down below and see where their lair was and then get one of the babies and take it back to the tree house for a pet. Nikolas

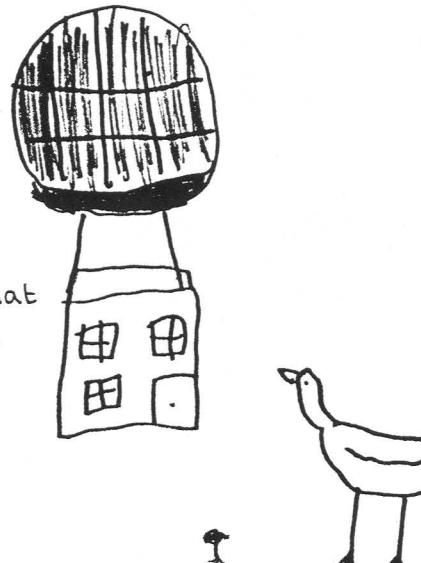

I'd like to go back in time to when the dinosaurs were still alive because I'd like to see how big they really were. I want to see Tyrannosaurus Rex but I don't want him to see me because he might eat me. I like Stegosaurus I'd like to ride on him but it would be a bit prickly. Bronwyn

Joe
I would like to go on the top of Mount Everest. It's the highest mountain in the world. Lots of people know about it. It's very snowy and cold and I would have to wear warm clothes. If I could see it from a balloon I might be a mountain climber when I grow up.

I would fly away to England to see the swans. I love swans very much. I'd like to see the little baby swans riding on the mothers back.

I would like to swim in the pond with the swans. After that I would take my balloon to Disneyland to see the Little Mermaid and go on the Merry-go-round. Sabai

I would go to Australia to my granny and grandpa's house. I like it there because they have an attic and I get a torch and look around. There are giant spiders - they bite - so I run away. Christian.

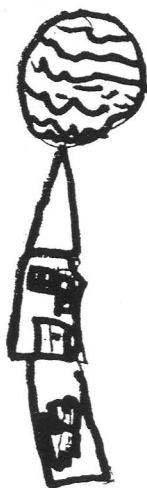

Andrew
I would go to Switzerland to roll in the snow.

Olivia W.

If I was in a really big hot air balloon I would fly to England to my granny and grandad's house. They have one dog and my cousin has one dog.

I love animals because they are so cute.

My balloon would fly to China so that I could see the giant pandas. They look like big teddy bears but they aren't bears at all. They eat bamboo and if I ate bamboo all day long I would be bored. I would like to go on the Great Wall of China and I would like to see the rice fields.

Lucy

I would fly to Australia and get the balloon to take me to an army base. I'd fire their guns and I'd do the training, running around with belts of ammunition to get strong. I'd drive armoured cars and tanks and ambulances. It would be awesome and exciting to be a soldier. I think I will be a soldier when I grow up.

Daniel

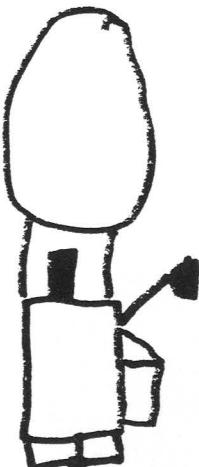

Jessica
I would like to go to my little pony land in the magic balloon. I'd like to see the unicorns and ride on them. In my little pony land they can talk and do different kinds of magic. The unicorns could take me to the ballet room to watch the ballet ponies and I would climb on Posy Rose's back.

I would fly my hot air balloon to Heaven. I think it would take a long time to get there. I would like to go there because there are no robbers or dragons or cannibals. I'd stay there and play all day with my Nintendos and Game Boys.

Oliver

Matthew

If a big balloon landed in the playground I think it would be fun to get in it and go to Disneyland because it's fantastic. You can go on great rides and buy pretend toy guns that don't shoot bullets they just make a banging sound. I'd like to go on the Wild West railroad and take the gun and pretend to shoot the cowboys.

We went on a school outing on Monday 27th of January. We took the M.T.R. from Admiralty to Tsim Sha Tsui, it was good fun. Afterwards we went on the Star Ferry, its name was Twinkling Star. We stopped and we played for 16 minutes. Afterwards we went on the open top bus, then we went on the Peak Tram to the picnic place. We sat under a tree and we had our lunch. After we had finished our lunch we played in the playground for half an hour. Then we went to do some sketching of Hong Kong from the Peak.

Fraser Taylor

The CHINA BANK is the tallest building in the whole of Asia. Lots of people come to look at it. There are lots of people in Hong Kong. There is one airport in Kowloon. Hong Kong has Ocean Park, Water World and Toys R Us.

Matthew Dean and James Gillies

Hong Kong

Yesterday we went on our outing. First we went on the M.T.R., then the Star Ferry, the open-top bus and then the Peak Tram. I liked the Peak Tram best. We saw the Peak Tower.

Matthew Brown

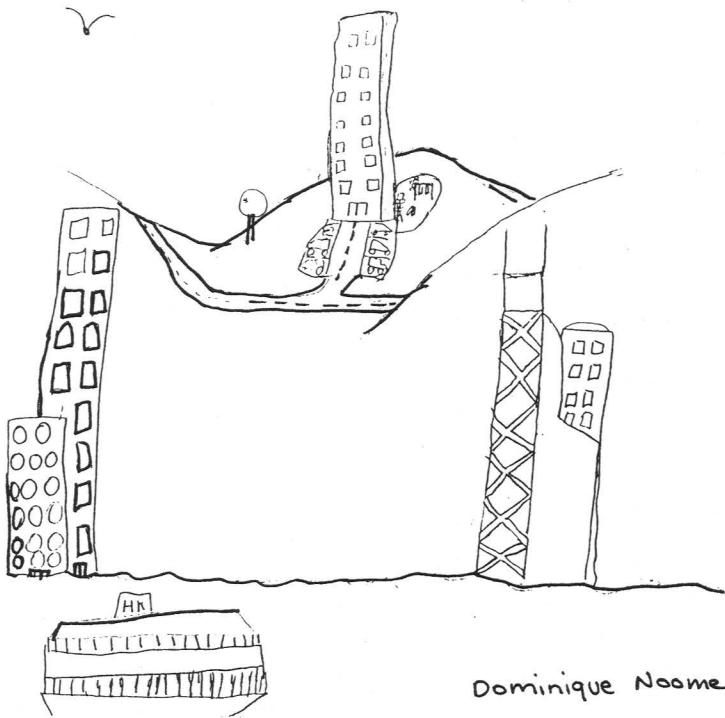

On Monday we went on an outing. First we had to get into groups of three, Alice's mother looked after my group. We went on the M.T.R. first. It costs $3.50. Then we went on the Star Ferry and the Peak Tram.

Chi Ching

Our topic is about Hong Kong. There are lots of buildings, the Hong Kong Bank, the Bank of China and the Bank of America. The Chinese gave Hong Kong to the British for 150 years. In 6 years we must give Hong Kong back to the Chinese. We like Hong Kong a lot. We have lived here all our lives. Some of the buildings in Hong Kong are very old. There are lots of Chinese people in Hong Kong. At Toys R Us you can get BIG Jepes which have two seats and two big engines.

Jonathan Guest and John Carpenter

Dominique Noome

Hong Kong has a lot of buildings. There are lots of kinds of foods too and lots of cars. Hong Kong is a wonderful island. It has lovely hotels. There are lots of buses, taxis, trams and boats. I like Kellett School best. Hong Kong is very close to the sea. There are lots of police catching robbers. Hong Kong is a small island, we like it.

Ronald Li and Stanley Wong

On Monday we went on a trip. We went to the M.T.R. at Admiralty. We had to get our ticket from the machine and then we went to the train. Then we went on the Star Ferry, its name was the Twinkling Star. We went on the Peak Tram, it was fun. I watched everything.

Richard Lousich

Hong Kong has tall buildings. The Bank of China is the tallest building in Hong Kong. Hong Kong is a small place. The sea is very dirty but many people swim in Hong Kong waters. Lots of people eat fish. We go to Kellett School and we stay at school for lunch and we eat sandwiches. We have a big playground to play in. In Kowloon there is a big toy shop which is called TOYS R US.

Amy Hough and Dominique Noome

We went on an outing.
It was exciting.
We went on the M.T.R.
It went quickly
It was super, great
It was fabulous.
We went near to the top of the Peak
We did some sketching
It was lovely view
YOU should have been there.

Surabhi Mathur

On Monday we went on an outing. First we went on the M.T.R., but before we could go on, we had to find the card machine. We went on a Star Ferry called Twinkling Star, it was very sunny. Then we went on the Peak Tram. The first stop was MacDonnell Road. We got off at the top. It was fun.

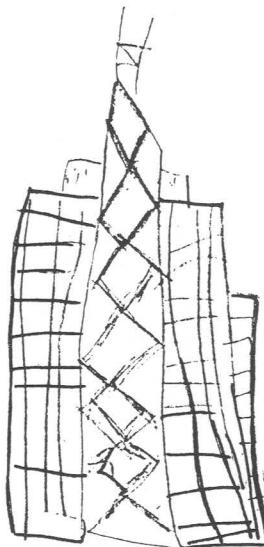

Jonathan Guest

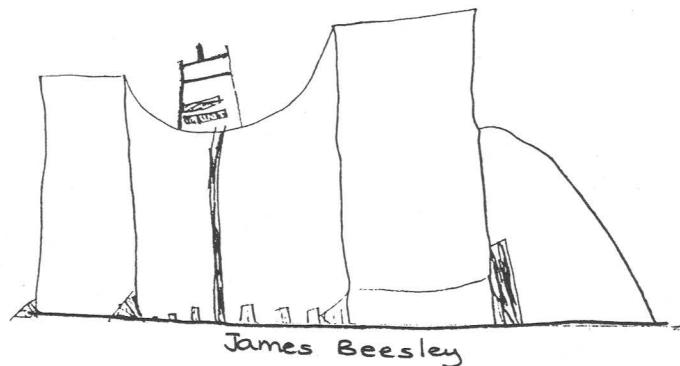

charlotte Piper

On Monday we went on a trip. We went on the M.T.R. We had to find the children's ticket machine, then we went to a machine where you put the ticket in and go through the barrier and then we got our ticket back. We went to the notice board to see the way to go, then we went on the train. We walked to the Star Ferry and got on the ferry. We went on the bus with the open roof to the Peak Tram. There were no queues so we went right through. I loved it.

Leanne Goold

Richard Lousich

James Beesley

The trip was a good one. We went on an open-top bus. It was good fun when the air blew through my hair. I looked down on the road, I was so high up that when the bus went up the hill it felt funny. It was bumpy too. The bus stopped at the Peak Tram.

James Gillies

On Monday we went to the Peak for our trip. We saw lots of buildings. I liked the China Bank. We had a great time. Mrs. Anderson said we were very good indeed.

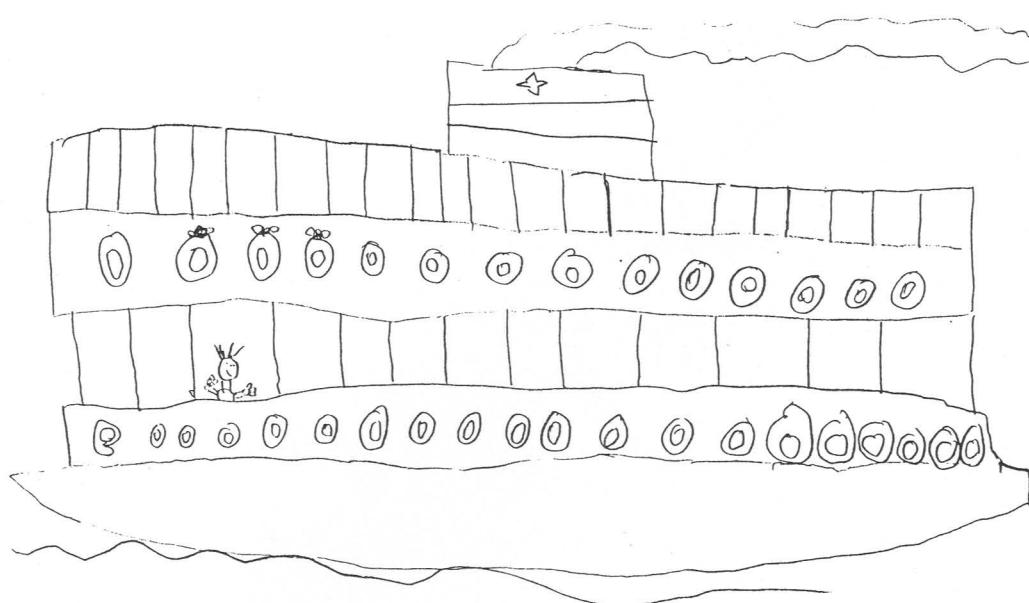

James Beesley

On Monday we went on a trip. We went on the school bus to go to the M.T.R. We had to find the right machine to go to the train. Then we walked to the Star Ferry to get on the Twinkling Star. We went on the open top bus to the Peak Tram and we went up the hill to eat our lunch. We played for a while and we went up a bit to draw pictures of Hong Kong. We went on the school bus again to go back to school.

Stanley Wong

HONG KONG is The place to be. We like it in HONG KONG because we like our school and we like our friends. The worst thing about Hong Kong is that it never snows here and it smells sometimes. The best thing is we found a best friend.

Felicity O'Neill and Sian Williams

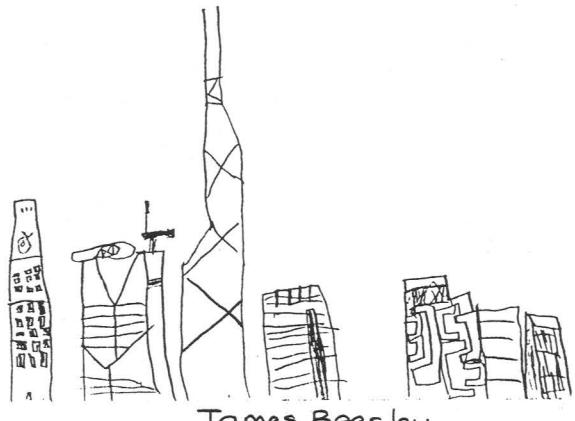

We all went on the bus to Admiralty. We had to see how much money it cost to get a ticket. It cost $3.50 for a child and $5.50 for grown-ups. Then we went down the escalator twice and got on the M.T.R. for one stop. Then we went on the Star Ferry. It cost $1. Chi Ching and I thought we saw a whale. We got off the ferry and went on the open-top bus. I sat with Mrs England. We got off and went on the Peak Tram. We walked up Mount Austin and had a picnic in the park up there. Then we got out our sketch pads and did some pictures of the view.

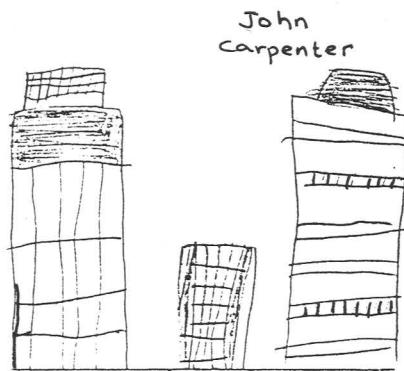

Alice Walker

We went on an outing. It was exciting. I was in Mrs. Walker's group. We went on the M.T.R., the Star Ferry, then the open-top bus to the Peak tram. We had lunch and we played in the playground. We did some sketching, then we went back to school.

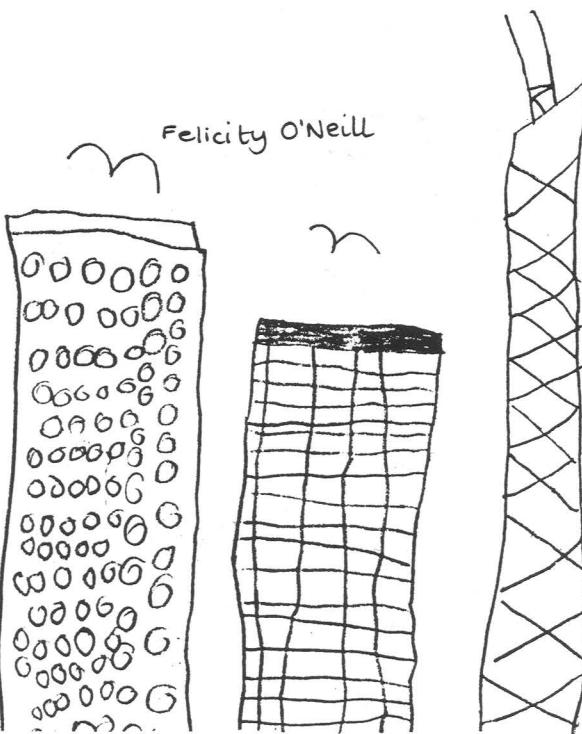

Charlotte Piper

James Beesley

Felicity O'Neill

On Monday we went out to the M.T.R., the Star Ferry and the Peak Tram. The M.T.R. was fun, we had to pay money, $3.50 for children, $5.50 for adults. We went to Tsim Sha Tsui. The Ferry was called Twinkling Star. I liked the Peak Tram best.

Amy Hough

We live in Hong Kong. There isn't much space. Hong Kong is British and the people are Cantonese. We love Hong Kong. James has lived in Hong Kong for all of his life, Matthew for one year. AND WE THINK TOYS R US IS GOOD. It will soon be the year of the monkey.

Matthew Brown and James Beesley

Yesterday we went on an outing, it was really fun. The bus took us to Admiralty Station. It was not as easy as you think to get a ticket. We had to find out how much it cost. It is $3.50. Then we went on to the M.T.R. We got out at Tsim Sha Tsui and walked to the Star Ferry. I could watch the sea for hours. I like the sea. It didn't take long before we were on the other side. Then we walked to the bus stop (it wasn't very far). We waited until the bus came, it was an open-top bus, it took us to the Peak Tram. I liked it the most because it was so steep. We had lunch in the park, then we drew some pictures of Hong Kong. The bus took us back to school again.

Kangaroo! Kangaroo! Jumping around
Carrying your baby with you in your pouch.
Kangaroo! Kangaroo! jumping around
Eating grass.
You hop so high
You hop higher than me.
I wish I can jump as high as you.

Johan Cammareri

The Otter
Long tail and Strong back legs
For swimming fast,
Sharp claws
For catching food,
Huge whiskers
To feel in the dark,
Clever Otter
To break a shell
On his chest
With a stone.

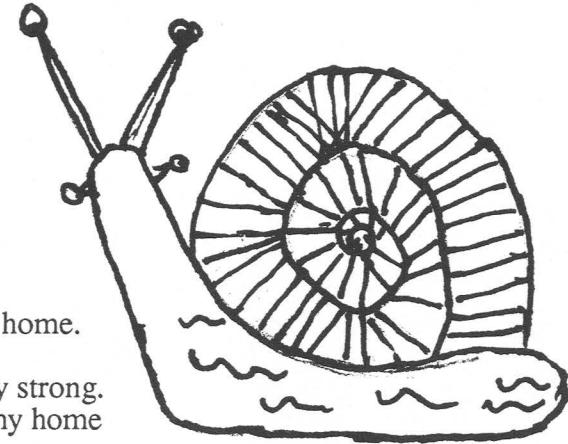

Anna O'Brien

Dogs
Dogs are fast runners
Dogs might chase you,
Then you have to run very fast.

Jonathan Riis

The Snail
If I was a snail
I would crawl.
If I was a snail
I would not have to go home.
If I was a snail
I would have to be very strong.
I would have to carry my home
Everywhere I go.

Georgina Atkinson

My Dog
My dog is called Lady.
My dog is twelve.
My dog is a beagle.
My dog is cute and clever.
My dog is good at chasing cats.

Nicholas Knott

Pig
A pig is fat
And chubby.
He is cute.
He is made of bones, muscles and fat.
And he is covered all over with mud.

Eleonora Mandolfo

I like you Did
the crocodile. It's long and slim know it loves to swim? It also likes to chew on meat like birds' wings and peoples' feet.

Teddy Conmy

Vulture

Vulture are you scared
When you see people?
Vulture are you scared
When you fly high in the sky?
Vulture are you lonely
When you feed on dead animals?

I am scared of people
Because they don't like me.
I'm not scared when I am high
Because I'm used to it.
I'm sometimes lonely
Because I have nothing to do
Except for flying and eating.

Tom Millar

Horses

Horses are nice and strong
They work all day long.
Horses of course are very good
For riding on.
I like horses because they can go fast.
They are beautiful and powerful.
But I still would not like to be a horse.

Merel Hamer

Dingos' Disco

Dingos are cool.
They have a dingos' disco
And sing all night.
You can hear them howling in the distance.
And this is what they sing:
We are hungry.
We want a big feast.
A very big big feast
With lots of meat.
That's what we eat.
Why is mum not back
With some meat for us to eat?
But when the sun goes up
They go to sleep
For part of the day.

Rain

It has been raining for forty days
And forty nights.
We are running out of food
And fresh water.
We think that
We will starve to death.

Nick Armstrong

The
Rain rain rain Came Down down down
And created a huge huge flood.
The flood got higher
And higher
And higher
Until it covered
The tippy top of the highest mountain.

Charlie Brooks

The Flood

Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! we laughed
When they were building a boat on land.
And there was no stream.
Then the rain came.
And it was raining
And raining
And raining.
We were getting worried.
I think that Noah was right.
Why didn't we listen to him?

Amanda Nordin

On a rainy day
It is fun when you go outside
And splash in the puddles.
Sometimes it's boring.
The rain
Is like little pieces of water.
Sometimes people go swimming
When it's raining.

Natalie Scarritt

Rain drip, drop.
Rain is coming down.
The rain is coming faster
And faster.
Soon there will be a flood.
The people climb trees
And climb up on their roofs
And climb on top of mountains.
But when the flood comes
They will all drown.

Jennifer Ellis

The rain has been falling for 40 days
And 40 nights.
It's been raining hard.
The whole earth is flooded
There isn't a lot of food left.
When are we going to put
Our feet on the ground again?

Mark Jackson

The Storm

The great doors were SLAM shut.
The great great storm had started.
The storm flooded the town
And then all the world.
After that the only people
Were Noah and his family.

Lucy Smith

Noah's Ark

The rain started, pit pat.
It got louder, pitter patter.
Harder it came.
Noah shouted: Get the animals in.
SLAM! Everyone was in.
The flood was getting higher.
THUNDER!
Then Noah went downstairs to feed the animals.
It was very dark.
For forty days and forty nights the rain came down.
Suddenly it stopped.
They waited a little bit.
Then at last Noah opened the doors.
The light was blinding.
The animals charged out.

Jack Rutherford

The rain was coming.
But Noah knew he was safe in the ark.
After a while he was getting tired
From all the work with the animals.
When the storms came
He thought they were sinking.
But they weren't.
Then the water went down.
And they all went out of the ark
Happy and safe.

Suzanne Vrijhof

It had been raining for forty days
And the food was running out.
The animals were hungry.
The waves were getting bigger
Each day.
The clouds were grey.
And suddenly the rain stopped
And everything dried up
And everybody on the Ark was happy.

Anna Hartley

Pitter, patter, pitter, patter
Goes the rain.
Louder and louder
And louder still.
Suddenly it stops.
The flood goes down.
They stop.
The ark is still.
They go outside.
The light is blinding.
They make a fire
To thank God.

Benji Clere-Renaud

Rain Rain

The rain started to fall
And all the great doors were closed.
In the Ark it was dark
And miserable.
Every hour the water rose.
For 40 days
And 40 nights it went on raining.
Oh, how the animals longed
To be free.
Then one day the rain stopped
And Noah sent a raven.
The raven came back.
A week later Noah tried again
He sent a dove.
In the evening the dove came back.
When they saw
That the dove was holding
An olive leaf in its beak
They knew that soon
They would be able to leave the Ark.

HOOKED ON BOOKS

BOOKS, STORIES, FAVOURITE AUTHORS

Open the cover, take a look, and choose yourself a favourite book...

The books that I read are so different in almost everything that I can't really tell which my favourite book is, but I'll tell you some of my favourites the Professor Branestawm series and Pugwash stories, and other long chapter books. Sometimes I feel I want to create a new story no one has ever thought about, and sometimes I want to tell everyone about people that are alive now or famous people who lived long ago.

SarahJon Kerins

I really love to read books about giants in the BFG and George's Marvellous Medicine, and in books that have dinosaurs in them. I really love to write stories about little things like in Return of the Antelope.

Kristian Winther

I like reading stories because they are fun to read. My favourite story is Fat Puss. It's so funny because he gets to roll down hills and the other cats don't because they all get bruised. I like to write stories that come from my own imagination because it's fun to write them.

Cecily McMahon

My very best exciting stories are scary. I like to write stories about treasure, skulls and beaches, and about Tyrannosaurus Rex, Robocop and Treasure Island.

Cameron May

My very best story is Matilda by Roald Dahl, because it is an adventure book. I also like books which have information in them. Matilda is a very unlucky girl because her parents are so mean to her. She thinks of a plan to try to make them like her, but they like her brother better. Mr. Wormwood and Mrs. Wormwood and their son leave to go to Spain and Miss Honey asks the Wormwoods if Matilda can live with her. This is a great, fun book. I loved it. I like to write adventurous, exciting, long stories.

Kirsty Buchan

My favourite stories are detectives and nature stories. I like to read magic stories. I liked The Several Tricks of Edgar Dolphin by N. Benchley. Edgar was a very young dolphin. He was very clever. One day some people caught him. The people put him in a tank with water. One day the people with the hose came near and he threw the ball, and Edgar grabbed the hose. He filled his tank with more water, so he could jump out back to the sea. I enjoyed this story and I like to write the same kind of stories. I also like to write sciences and reptiles stories.

Peter Walker-Smith

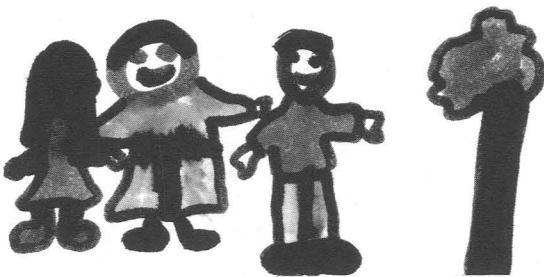

I love reading Roald Dahl's stories. I especially love stories about the Minpins, and his stories about made up people because he puts in funny bits and makes it interesting. I like writing about pets. Sometimes I make the pets talk and make them do things like real people do and sometimes I just write about normal pets.

Sarah Mitchell

My very best stories that I like to read are exciting adventure stories. I feel all excited and my heart begins to go BOM, BOM. I go all excited. I breathe in and I breathe out. I'm really excited now. My heart goes faster. BOM, BOM, BOM, BOM. That's why I like adventure stories best. I like to write adventure stories too. They are my favourite stories.

The Three Little People

When Philippa and John went to the beach one day, they were walking quite far till they came to a halt. They heard a squeak. It was like a mouse squeaking. Then they looked down to the sand. They saw these people, no bigger than a milk bottle. Their names were Roger, Mary and Tom. They said they were caught in a storm. "Last night we were caught in a storm. Our flags got ripped and we've also got a hole in the front of our boat because a gigantic, most awesomely good wave came." They didn't realise they were in England. They said they came from an island called Atlantic Island. It was an island far, far off.

Thomas Andrews

There were once three small people. They lived on an island called Knowledge. Do you know why it was called Knowledge? Well...everyone is knowledgeable on that particular island.

Welcome to the story of Three Little Children. They were clever but they were mean and nasty children. They didn't have a Mum or Dad so they didn't have anyone to tell them that they were being so nasty and horrible until...they travelled all over the world and they met humans. They rather liked the humans but the humans didn't like them. They especially didn't like their behavior and they made them go off the island.

Michael Brooks Reid

Some of the stories we have read have given us ideas for our own stories. We hope you will enjoy reading these too. Can you guess which books have inspired our stories?

The people from tiny island

1000 years ago there was an island called Atlantic Island. On that island there lived tiny people. They had been living there so long that their houses were breaking down. So three people sailed in a ship for a new place to live. These people are called Game, Book and Sail. When they were in the middle of Atlantic Ocean there was a storm. The waves were so strong they almost hit the ship but they didn't, so they went below the ship into a safe room so they wouldn't get washed off the ship. The next morning they saw land. It was England. They were almost there. They arrived in the evening. When they got off two children came by. The children saw the little people and picked them up. They took them back to their house... The children wanted to keep this a secret.

Duncan Ma

When Philippa and Tom went to the beach they saw a small ship wrecked on the beach. Philippa and Tom saw three little people on the beach. The little people whispered to them and Philippa and Tom brought them home and put them in the doll's house. The people pretended to be dolls in the house. After that they went to the beach to see the wreck and they went to swim. The three little people swam and the big people swam too.

James Cotterill

The Mystery

Tom the T.V. boy, Missy the Mystery girl and Clara the crying girl are trying to solve a mystery but they are going on School camp and then they find out that the camp is where they found the cave!

Christopher White

One afternoon in England the children went into the garden. They saw little people... The children Katy and Ben played with the little people. The little people went into the garden and they saw a man. They went into the house. Katy and Ben went into the nursery and they played. The next day the little people said to Katy and Ben "We want to go to the river." Katy and Ben took Louise, Lily, Joe and Sarah to the river to play.

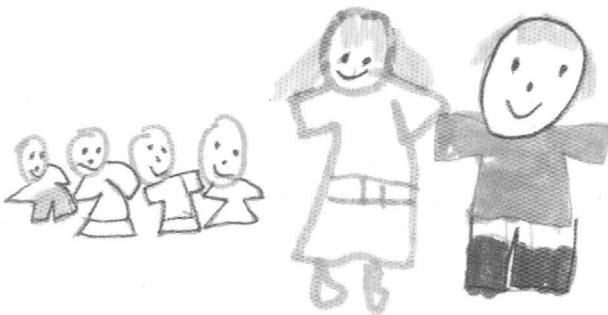

Louise Goodman

Small, tiny little robots

Once upon a time three robots were playing when a great asteroid came at them. It was going faster and faster. Then it hit them. The whole planet exploded! They put up their umbrella but the rocks kept on hitting them. Then they fell and fell and they hit the ground. Two people picked them up, then they introduced themselves. "My name is Battery." "My name is Not." "My name is Included." Well, nice to meet you. My name is Joe." "And my name is Anthony."

Joseph Divis

One hundred years ago some scientists did some research on the moon. They sent back a space capsule. The capsule out functioned and crashed onto the earth. Then the next day, after some people came along and stepped on the ooze they shrunk to miniature size. Every meal they had, they got sick. They realised it was the food which made them sick. So after their last meal a sailor said "I propose to leave."... The little ones went in a small boat. They were moving to Loch Ness. In the middle of the night there was a big storm. Big waves were crashing on their boat. A lightning bolt struck the rope... "We're going to be drowned!" said the doctor. "Hold on tight!" They hit an island. Their boat was wrecked, but they were all safe and then they saw the castle. It looked familiar. Once they saw the flag they knew they were home.

Anthony Chavez

Sarah, Peter, Bert and Ann were tiny people from Lilliput and they lived in a small brown house on a street called Tuf Road. It was called Tuf Road because all the people who lived on that road were tough, and I mean TUF! Whenever Peter, Bert, Sarah or Ann went out all the people would be afraid of them, but they didn't like it. They decided to do something about it. They all talked and decided what to do..... They decided to move to Nice Road on the other side of Lilliput, and they did, and it was so quiet there. Oh, I forgot to tell you why it was called Nice Road. It was because ALL the people there were very, very nice.

Pip and the Minpins

Hello, my name is Pip. I come from the Minpins. I have purple hair and I am as small as a pip. I like playing Tik Tak Pippy and I like playing Noughts and Pips. Do you like playing?

Hello, I am Mariska Thynne. I have three girls and one boy in my family. I have a pet mouse too.

Do you want to play Noughts and Pips?

Yes, I do.

Yes, I won!

I don't want to play. I don't like you. Go away.

Pip ran and ran into a mouse hole..Pip tried to get back into the Minpins, then something funny happened. Pip could not get back to the Minpins...

Just then a swan came flying out of the Minpins.

Look, it's a swan. Swan, swan, it's me, Pip! I flew out of the Minpins. Can you help me? I want to go back to Don Mini. Can you carry me?

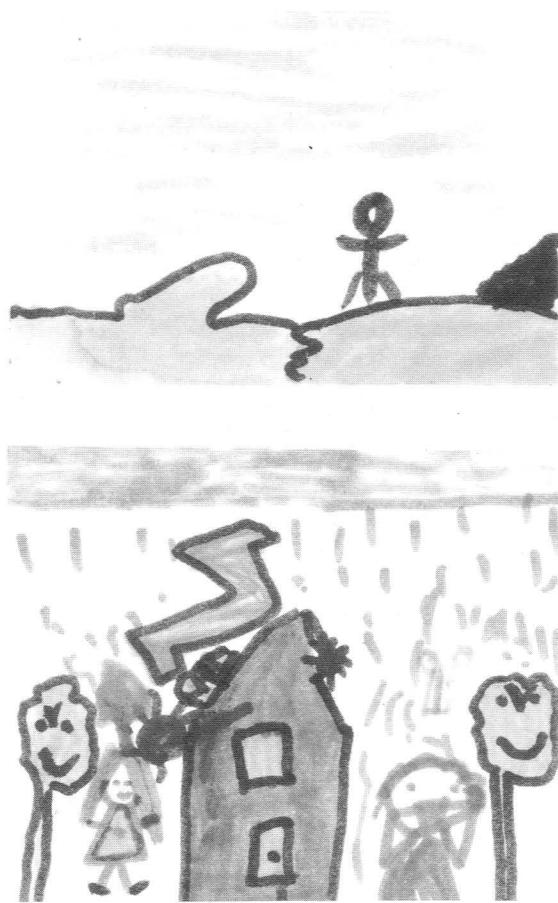

Mariska Thynne

The little people in my nursery

Once upon a time five Minpins came from the Land of Storybooks and they would like to tell you their names. They were Fuzzy, Lily, Deirdre, Clara and Squeak. A minute later they went on land and then they saw two big things coming down the beach, and they picked up the little people.... "We will take you into our house, and give you something to eat." The little people looked all around. They were surprised at what they saw. "These are giant things, not little things. We need little things." There's a doll house for you to live in. They opened the door and explored the doll house. They were very pleased at what they saw.

Tiddles and Fat Puss's Adventure to the Queen Cat

One morning when Tiddles and Fat Puss were sitting alone in the house wondering what they should do, Fat Puss said "Let's go and visit the Queen of Cats." They had quite a fun journey there because of their fat tummies and because there were a lot of hills. When they got there, Tiddles said "I'm quite worn out, Fat Puss!" and Fat Puss answered, "Me too!" They sat down and they had a good chat...they all went home to Tiddles and Fat Puss's home and had a lovely big dinner of roast chicken and catnip tea.

A dark, dark forest

In a dark, dark forest at night I saw a spooky house. I went in the house, and I went right inside. There was a vampire! I ran so fast, as fast as I could. The vampire got me. He ate me.

When I get mad

MAD!

When I am at home with my little sister,
She says "Don't do that, do it this way."
Then I get MAD!
Bubbles start to form in my tummy.
I try to keep my anger down
It builds up inside me.
I start to get really cross and red.
My anger gets higher and higher.
Suddenly it comes out.
I scream, "Why should I do it your way?"
I say it very very loud.
Then my mum comes in and says,
"You sound so rude."
So I say, "Zoe tells me what to do. I hate it."
I say this in a booming voice.
Then I run into my bedroom and plan to run away.

Ayesha Copsey

I was playing outside with Robbie. When I came back we discovered that my brother was in my room. So we decided to set a trap on him. We put wire around his bed. Then there was a tingle down my spine. I said to Robbie, "We'd better stop." Then my sister said, "What are you doing?" I didn't speak but I got into trouble anyway. I was so mad that I pulled my hair out!

Alexander Nichols

ANGRY!

CROSS!

I get mad when Joe comes into my room to ask if he can play my "Game Gear."
I say "NO"
because he stays on it forever
And he won't let me have a go.
Then he says, "Please",
I know he will tell Mummy
So I give up.
I let him have a go.

Heidi Divis

When I am on the computer
My sister comes in and starts to be a pain,
I start to get MAD!
I switch off the computer and HIT her,
Then my Mummy tells me off.
It's my sister that started it,
But Mummy doesn't believe me.
She says, "Give your sister a turn on the computer",
Then I am a pain to my sister!
Then Mummy says I can have a turn while my sister is at a party,
Then I am very happy after all.

David Fricker

FURIOUS!

When I get mad
I feel I am going to blow up.
I pull my brother's hair
I pull it hard and then try and run away.
He grabs my leg.
But then it's WAR!
He wrestles with me
and dumps me on my big pillow.
My Mum thinks I am always innocent,
So my brother gets into trouble
And he gets really MAD!

Zofie Ignatowicz

I hate it when my brothers have to sleep near me,
You see my brothers' sleep
all along the corridor.
When I'm asleep
they tell my Mum and Dad they're going to the bathroom.
Then they sneak upstairs.
Slowly lift the blankets and BITE MY TOES!
I get so angry that
I get my OWN BACK!
I sneak off to my brothers' room
And tear up their homework.
Then I feel better.
After a few days I feel BAD.

Alexandra Rutherford

MAD!

ANGRY!

FURIOUS!

When I get angry,
I get really angry
My sister bugs me so much
It bubbles up inside me
It's like dynamite!
Then suddenly it blows up
I just can't resist it.
I have to get my own back.
This is what I did once...
I had my friend over and we put traps up for my sister.
When she put her hand in the trap
I let go,
Voila, her hand was stuck!
When she got her hand out she went into her room...
The towel fell on her head and we jumped on her,
I held her feet and my friend held her hands.
She was struggling, but we won.
Then SHE was sent to her room!

Owen McCarthy

Once in the kitchen
My brother took a wooden spoon
And put it in my hand
Then HE took a wooden spoon
And smacked Imelda on the bottom
Then Imelda turned around
She thought I had done it
She smacked me on the bottom.
I said, "He did it, he did it,"
But I got told off!

Oliver Troth

CROSS!

I feel like I'm going to explode...

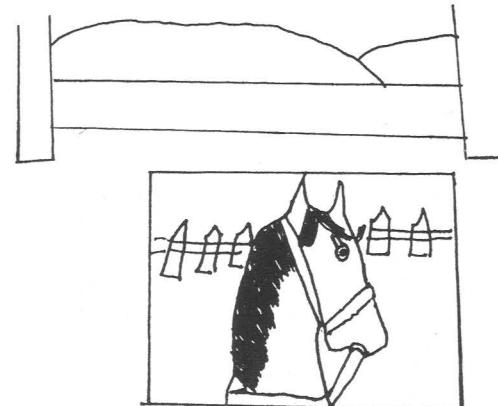

When I do my homework
My sister comes into my room
She says to me,
"Nana nana boo boo,"
I get so cross.
I feel really mad
I feel as though I'm going to explode,
I say, "Get out now before
I go and tell Mum!"
Sometimes she stays in
So I tell Mum,
And I get my own back.

Christie Jones

IT'S SO UNFAIR

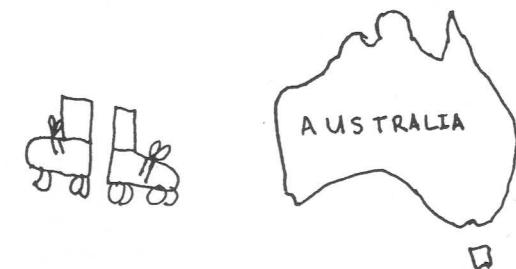

Just because my sister is older
I have to go to bed earlier,
She goes to far more places than I do
Like the movies and roller skating at night,
Mum says,
"Amy did that when she was ten years old,"
But when I am ten
I will not get to go anywhere
Because I will be in Australia.

Emma McCaughey

Once me and my sister were making a Lego airport,
It was about 7 o'clock and we only stopped for dinner.
Then we made it until it was time to go to bed.
My Mum called, "It's time to go to bed",
We said, "We've only got two more steps,"
Mum said, "O.K. but only two,"
Then we did two
But we didn't stop,
We made the runway.
Then we made the lookout tower,
Then my Mum said, "Come on,
go to bed,"
Then my sister and I ran to our room because we knew our Mum was going to SHOUT!

Alessandro Aduso

When my brother goes into my room
I get very angry,
So I push him out,
Then he gets all sad and starts crying,
Then Mummy comes in and tells me off,
She says, "Don't do that,
It hurts,"
Then I have to tidy up the mess!

Journeys

The disastrous journey

Once upon a time there was a girl called Rebecca. She was leaving to go to camp but she had to go to the bathroom first. The toilet was a Chinese one, and somehow she got her foot stuck in it. At first she thought it was funny. So she called her friend to get someone to help. The teacher came and she twisted and turned her foot but they just couldn't get her foot out. It wasn't so funny now. Then they called in a workman and he brought a big hammer. He managed to get her foot out but it was all bruised and sore. Rebecca never got to camp after all.

Natalie Langdon-Wilkins

The journey

One day when I was three I went to the foot ball stadium and my brother wanted to see all the team. His favourite player was Steve Bull. When we went in to see them, Muchey came out. I went in all by myself and I saw the men get changed. When Steve Bull went out of his changing room I went in and put on his socks and his shirt and his scarf. Then I went out and my Mum and brother looked at me but they didn't recognize me. I wanted to sign my brother's autograph book but Steve Bull recognized me. He picked me up. Then my Mum saw it was me and she said "Let's go into the bar and have a drink."

Caroline Hingley

Once upon a time there was a boy called Oliver. His boss gave him a mission to rescue a princess. So he set off to rescue her. Not far away he met a Dragon. He fought the Dragon and beheaded the Dragon. Then he set off again and came to a maze. In the middle of the maze was the princess. He entered the maze. He went L,R,L,R,L,R,L,R,L,R, and found the princess. Then he went back - R,L,R,L,R,L,R,L,R,L, and went back to his boss. Then his boss married the princess. Oliver was not too pleased.

Journey

I'm going on a journey
I'm packing my bag
I'll get my clothes and my shoes.
My toothbrush and my hairbrush.
Mum calls "We're off!"
We squeeze into the car, off we go!
I shout, "Did we lock the door?"
Dad says, "No!" so we have to turn around and go back.
When we get back Mum shouts, "I need to put the washing on and ring Nana to tell her we're off."
I say to myself, "Will we ever get on the journey?"

Anna Lewis

My friend has a time machine. One day I said to him, "Can I use it?" He said, "yes," so I jumped into it. I was excited by the thought of a journey in a Time machine. But it didn't WORK!!! I went mad when I realized that we were in the same room. I said to Ted, "Let's go outside." But when I got one foot outside I realised that we were in the jungle. I said to Ted, "It DOES work!" We walked through the jungle. We were in the war. I saw the Australian army. When they saw us they said, "Get down." I heard a machine gun go bang, bang. I heard an aeroplane overhead. It was the Light Horsemen. I felt frightened. I thought I'd better go. But I couldn't get back to the time machine. There were some enemies standing at the door of the machine. I asked the Light Horseman, "Can you help me?" He took me back and attacked the enemy. I got a hat from the soldier. I jumped back into the machine. Phew! I got home all right.

Exploring

Indiana Jones was a famous explorer. He explored many countries and cities. He wanted to find the hidden treasure of the sea. So he swam under the water till he came to a treasure island. The dumb thing about the island was that it was so small only an ant could stand on it. So Indiana Jones never got his treasure.

The bad journey

10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, BLAST OFF! We're off into space! "There's such a loud noise," said Adam. Adam was having his birthday party on a rocket. Then some of the fuel went and Adam was worried. He went and got some more fuel and then went back and joined his friends. It was time for the cake, but something happened and the cake fell to the ground. Adam was very mad. He steered the rocket back to Earth and said loudly, "We're back everybody, we're back." So Adam didn't get his party. He went back to his house and cried.

Adam Crothers

The hero

There was a hero - Hero James - in the neighbourhood, in New York, and a witch in No. 71. She was doing a spell and accidentally turned herself into a small hairy monster. She was upset about this. Time went by. The hero James decided he would search for some treasure. When he was on Main Street he saw the monster (which was really the witch) and realised she might have some treasure.

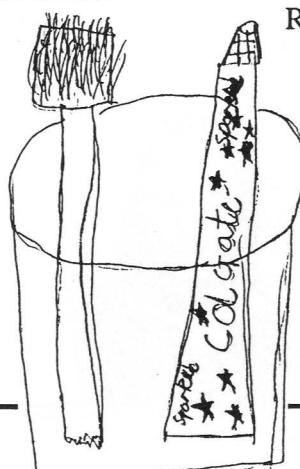

The monster travelled to her castle in South Africa to get the treasure. The hero James followed her. It was a long journey. When they were there the monster saw the hero and they started to dance. The magic wore off the witch and she turned into a nice girl. Then they both lived happily ever after.

The toilet journey

I am a tube of toothpaste and I am rotten. I have been flushed down the toilet. I'm moving fast! I can't stop. "Help! Help! What can I do?" I cry. I come to another pipe. Where does it lead to? Should I go to the left or straight on? I decide to go left. Halfway down I meet someone. "Who is this?" I wonder. Then I realize it's my friend the toothbrush. He was put down the toilet because he had snapped. I was quite pleased to see him. The pipe led us to an opening and there we saw the boy who had owned us. He picked us up and took us home.

Robbie Clatworthy

The Fantastic Journey!

Once upon a time there was a girl called Jinney. One day Jinney's mother and father took Jinney to a fair! The first thing Jinney wanted to ride on was the hot air balloon! She was riding in the hot air balloon when the rope snapped. She screamed for help. Everybody rushed to see if they could catch the rope but she was too high. Her mother and father cried all the way home. Meanwhile Jinney was sitting in the balloon basket crying (well she was only 5 and she didn't know that crying got you nowhere). She floated for a week. Then a bird pecked the balloon and down she went to the sight of a familiar land and landed on the roof of her house! She made such a big bump that her mother and father rushed out. She said, "Hi Mummy! Hi Daddy!" And she got down! Her mother and father were delighted to have her back!

Deborah Laurent

Once upon a time there was a monster who was really mean. He killed anybody who went near the castle where he lived. The only thing this monster could not do was SPELL. But he was very lonely because there was no one else around. So he decided he would go on a journey around the world to find a playmate.

The next day he set out on a boat. He travelled in the boat for three weeks. (He didn't need to eat because he was a monster.) Suddenly he saw an island so he went there. On the island he saw a treasure chest. He put it in his boat and left the island. But the boat started to sink with the weight of the chest. He was going to drown because he could not swim. Then someone grabbed him. It was another monster who had saved his life. The other monster said, "Will you be my playmate?" It was like magic that the other monster had come at just the right time.

The blue planet

We live on a blue planet and we aliens look like blue monkeys from your Earth. We have eyes on the sides of our five heads, twenty toes on each foot and fifty fingers on each hand. We have enormous hands which we use to strangle visitors to our planet. We would like to invite YOU to our lovely planet!

Jonathan Berglund

The planet Potato

Once upon a potato ago there lived the potato people and the oldest potato was big and wrinkly and he knew everything. One day when the old potato went to his crystal potato and looked into it he saw the tomatoes were getting ready to attack! He ran but he couldn't run very fast. He got to the king (in a manner of time) and told him everything. Then the king made a speech. Oh, my fellow potatoes! The tomatoes are coming! Tomatoes? YES, YOU STUPID POTATOES! Then the tomatoes came! They started throwing bits of potato at them. But what they didn't know was that potato made potatoes stronger and after that the planet was called Tom pot.

Jenny Fulton

Planet Bozo

Some people that live on planet Bozo have a force field around their brains. If you shoot at their brains then missiles will come out of their eyes. They have nine eyes and live on toxic acid. They are as big as planes, can drill under the ground and also fly at the speed of light.

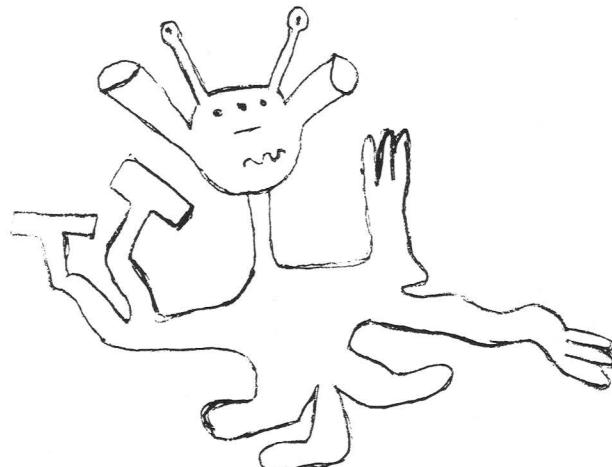

Edward Bosher

ALIEN PLANETS

The alien's planet

Once upon a time there was an alien called Garry Barry and he had ears bigger than his head and springs on his feet. He could jump higher than a plane could fly. Also he had a circular head and his body was a rectangle. His feet were really fat and he had no arms. His whole body was controlled by a computer.

Justin Bodinner

Alien planet

The alien planet is very dangerous because it is guarded all around by Mud Monsters on the land and by vultures in the sky which attack and crash ships.

The aliens look like this. They have feet on their backs and they juggle their heads on their hands and they can fly but they are very slow runners. They have a million eyes coming out of their ears, but the rest of their heads only have one eye. They also have tentacles that squirt slime. Instead of fingers there are things that blow fire and they have huge spikes all around their bodies. The aliens eat rat poison and drink liquid plutonium.

Chris Muir

There was once an alien who lived on the planet Mars. He had four heads and two legs, eight eyes and two hands. One day he went to Earth and he killed all the people he could find. The next day he called his friends to come to play with him on Earth. When his alien friends got to Earth they wanted to drink the sea.

Matthew Martin-Robinson

Two girls called Nina and Mary wanted to visit another planet because they thought it was a good idea. They thought that it would be nice to see life somewhere else. They lived near a rocket launching pad so they sneaked into it because they heard on the news that a spaceship was going to a newly discovered planet. They took the wrong door but the security people thought that Nina and Mary were the ones who were going in the rocket. They put the girls in spacesuits and sent them to the planet. When they arrived they went out of the space ship and walked around the planet.

Mary was getting tired and she said "Can we rest now?" Nina said "O.K." When they were resting they heard a noise which came closer and closer. Suddenly a monster came out from behind a rock. It drank blood and ate cars. Nina and Mary ran to the space ship and took off and never went back to the planet.

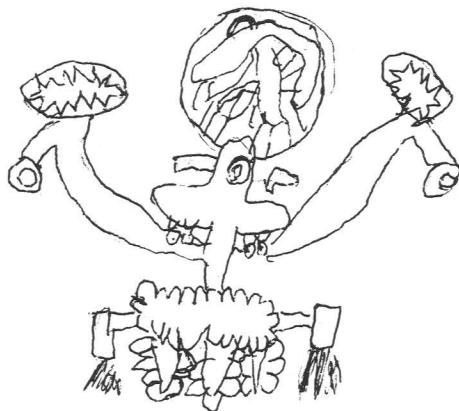

Jessica Millar

Aliens

I have a friend and she lived on the planet Gope. She often comes to see me. She has four eyes, ten feet and she is only one metre tall. One day when she was coming to visit me something happened to her planet. Some horrible monster had taken over the planet Gope.

When she got back from my place she found that her house was destroyed. She went to look for a new house and tried to land in the middle of planet Donut. Her spaceship fell down and down until there was a thump. She came out and saw a strange planet that she had never seen before. She quickly flew down to my planet and asked if I had a map of the galaxy. I did and we found out that it was planet Ohno. My friend is 567,000,000,000,000 years old now and the planet is 912,000,000,000,000 years old.

Sian Dixon

Planet Zagon

Once on Planet Zagon there was a monstrous monster. He tore down every house in the town of Sargon. He had two thousand eyes (all popping out!) and fangs two metres long. He was a disgusting sight and his name horrifies you, his name is BOZO!

Douglas Bland

Space dog

One day I went to another planet. I didn't know what it was called. I saw lots of weird people there and they looked like dogs but they didn't bark, they talked. But I saw a real dog that barked. None of the aliens liked the dog so I felt sorry for him. One of the dog people said to take him away. That dog liked me so I took him away and left him in my space ship. I had no more fuel but it was cheap there. It only cost something like 2 or 3 dollars so I bought some.

Now the dog and I went back to Earth. I left him in the bushes and the next day I asked my Mum if I could keep him. She said I could, only if I took care of him. He could eat anything with oil in it.

Frances Ho

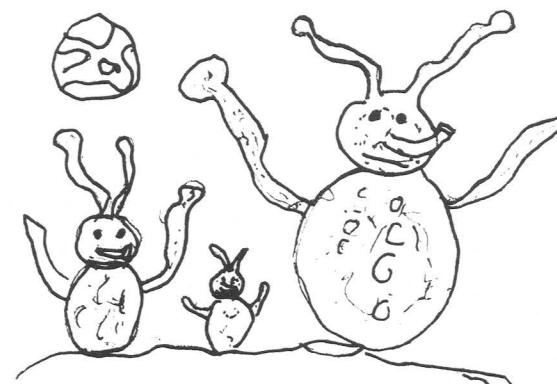

I am an alien creature from outer space with a purple nose, a yellow face, pink, green and orange hair, red ears and black eyes. I live on the planet War where we are always fighting. There are not many of us aliens left because we have all been killed by space lasers.

I once had to go on a mission to save another planet. It is called Coke and it is black and fizzy. I had a rocket with two oxygen tanks and one hundred alien chicks.

First I went to the planet Zen and they wanted to buy gas for 50 alien dollars. Next I landed on Earth's moon but there was nobody there so I went to Earth, scared a shopkeeper, looked around and found some Coke. I had run out of fuel so I took some and went back home.

Planet Dumpling

Once on planet Dumpling there lived Dumpaliens. They were always eating dumplings but suddenly one day there was a whoosh and there was a cousin of King Kong called Lan Chong. He landed right in the middle of planet Dumpling and now it's called planet Donut because he made a gigantic hole right through the planet.

Now the Dumpaliens are called Donaleans. When they looked across the universe they saw a planet with a rocket going through the middle of it and they were so disappointed that they had to change the name of their planet because the aliens on the other planet had changed their planet's name into planet Donut because the rocket went through the other planet.

The aliens looked like cookies with holes in the middle of them. They were brown with chocolate chips. They also told jokes. They were flat like cookies.

The planet is 54400000000000 years old. The planet was quite bumpy and had a rough surface. The aliens wished it was smooth. The planet had no water.

The aliens decided to name their new planet potato.

Planet Bozo

On Planet Bozo everyone is an alien even the animals and plants. They all look like bozos and their bodies do things like bozos. Animals do the same but plants grow like bozos.

The planet Bozo looks like a shark with 1,000,000,000 fins and no eyes and it is 1,190,000 times bigger than Earth and thirty times bigger than planet Zen. Bozo and Zen are friendly now.

One day there was a war between Zen and the planet Donut. Donut is now called Weeta because it was shredded by Zen. This is what happened when Zen wouldn't sell Zen chips to planet Donut.

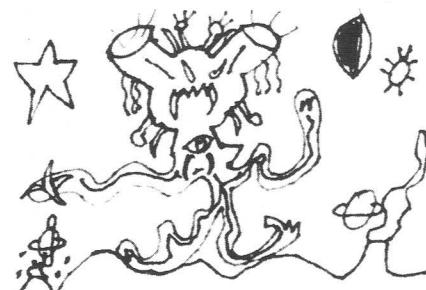

Wood Hudson

Zenery

Zenery is a planet covered in water. It is 30,000 times bigger than the Earth and the creatures who live there have ten mouths and twenty eyes.

The Zenerians invade other planets like Earth and keep the people as toys. There are no kind inhabitants on Zenery but its sister planet called Ner has good creatures.

Richard Keynes

Alien

There was once an alien who lived on the planet Mars. He had four heads and two legs, eight eyes and two hands. One day he went to Earth and he killed all the people he could find. The next day he called his friends to come to play with him on Earth. When his alien friends got to Earth they wanted to drink the sea.

My planet

I live on the red planet and it looks like a ball of fire with about one hundred volcanos. The planet is 167,000,000,000 years old. We live in a humungous volcano and we have slime bombs and other revolting things in our pockets. My name is Glope and my friend is called Goole. If you humans saw us then you would be scared to death. We are twelve metres tall and our arms are three metres long. Even our feet are two metres long. Everyone who has ever seen us has died by our swords. Our favourite food is human bones!

Ross Hellings

Alien

There was an alien from outer space and he had two hands, three heads, four legs, six eyes and was ten metres tall. His home was rock. He went around killing all the other aliens. Then one day another alien came to try to kill him. He was the same size and he fought the big alien until he was dead.

James Scott

Planet Gog

On planet Gog there lived only one alien called Gogey. He was purple and had long ears.

One day he suddenly heard a noise and a rocket landed near his home. Gogey looked out of his triangular window. "Oh, dear", he said. A second later a human walked out. The human stood right on Gogey and his home.

Georgia Webb

Alien

Once upon a time there was a planet called Rajsa and the aliens on that planet were named Ajsas.

There lived a little Ajsas and she was the only one who had seen a human being. One day a spaceship landed on the planet Rajas and all of the Ajsas stood around the spaceship. The men took a step out of the spaceship but ran back when they saw the aliens.

They never came back.

English finds planet Zeus

It was announced yesterday by President Green of the U.S.A. that twenty five year old Professor Nicholas English had just discovered a new planet in our solar system which he plans to call Zeus after the Greek god of all gods.

Zeus is only the tenth planet ever discovered in our solar system. "I found it by accident while studying other planets but when I counted them there were ten", said the professor. "I also hope to find the eleventh."

Hudson wipes out pollution

Conservation expert Wood Hudson has just discovered how to melt waste pollution and then make statues out of it. The statues do not stink because when they have hardened they seal the smell inside them.

He can clean highly polluted water using the chemicals FP7 and fluoride.

Egan stars in Ninja Four

1997 New York

Dan Watson Egan and Rich Hooper will be starring in Ninja Four: The Annihilation. In the movie Rich and Dan are assigned to a mission to arrest a band of Ninjas in Japan.

It was very hard for Rich because he had never left America before but Dan has lived in Hong Kong for many years. The hotel where they were assigned to stay was called the Mandarin Oriental in Japan.

Hooper Keynes discovers ancient castle

Explorer Richard "Hooper" Keynes has recently found a castle over an acre in area. He found it in the countryside of France when he was making a road there. It is thought to be over 300 years old.

The discovery was made under mud, bricks and wood. In two months Japanese tourists were everywhere taking pictures. The explorers were making 500 dollars a week or more. There were even tourist groups in the CASTLE.

Hellings finds live dinosaur

One month ago zoologist Ross Hellings found a live dinosaur egg in the Himalayan Mountains. The egg was covered with ice which froze it. When he took it home he placed it near his heater and put it on full blast.

After two weeks it hatched and he took it out to his field and left it there for an hour. Next he took it to his heater again and kept it there for a week.

The dinosaur is now twelve metres tall and its head is around one metre. The tail is five metres long and it is a plant eating dinosaur.

May invents new security ray

There was a jewellery shop robbery yesterday but the owners knew that they had an invisible alarm that the robbers couldn't see or break.

They needed only one day before the latest robbery because they rang up Dr Ben May one of the world's most famous scientists. Dr May said he would try to invent something for them.

He started working and only took five hours to make his design. Then he went over to the jewellery shop and used his vanishing ray gun and made the alarm.

The next night the robbers came and off went the alarm. They were caught very quickly. Dr May was given a trophy.

Skinner breaks world record for downhill skiing

Skinner won the downhill race in 25 seconds - she breaks the Olympic record but just barely, for Dixon made it in 26 seconds. She won a gold trophy and a medal.

It was the first trophy she had won in any Olympic competition. She was very happy and excited. Some other players were not so happy for Fulton took a wipeout and Webb tumbled over Ho.

Dixon breaks ice speed skating record

The ice speed record was broken in Wales today by Sian Dixon. She is only 19 years old and Dixon has already won the gold cup and medal for the five mile race.

Dixon said after the race, "Oh I never thought that I could win the five mile race. The other competitors all shook Dixon's hand and said, "Well done Sian."

Lambrecht, the famous football star, wins Belgium cup

Yesterday Kris Lambrecht aged 18 helped Anderlecht win the Belgium Football Association trophy for 2002.

Anderlecht won 12 - 3 on Sunday afternoon and striker Lambrecht scored seven. The game was very hard because Ajax had some really good players but both teams had bad defences and the goalkeepers were worse. The strikers and the left and right wingers were very, very good.

Mystery Manor

Solve the fiendishly cunning puzzles and find the treasure hidden in the old house known as 'Fifteen's Folly'.

As you open the gate of the old, Victorian House you watch a bat flap its leathery wings past your head until it disappears against a black surface. The black surface is the front of Fifteen's Folly!

You look around, the trees creak and sway gently. An enormous mansion is towering above you. A wave of terror runs up your spine. The tall house looms over you and the windows on the face of the house seem to glare at you. Cracks between the stones open their mouths like bottomless holes. You wonder if the inside is as bleak as its exterior. You pull your attention away from the house itself to the stone path leading up to the front door. You notice numbers on each of the stones...

You follow the numbers until you reach the heavy oak door.

The Hall

The door opens. You enter to find yourself in a small hall, it is very dark and the dust is thick on the red, black and white hexagonal tiles of the floor. In the middle of the room there is a tall chimney made out of heavy slate. There are black ashes in the hearth where the fire had been. Huge cobwebs block your way. You break through them. On a pink table there are bits of candle wax and tiny pieces of wick. Spiders crawl on the top, their webs catching flies in their silky threads.

Just then a huge, grey rat hobbles across the floor, over the hearth rug and under a small round table with a pink table cloth on it. It makes patterns with its feet.

The pattern looks like a code. What can it mean?

The Lounge

You open a big, old, Victorian, oak door. A candle blows out as the door slams. It is dark and you are alone. You trip over and shiver for a moment. It is only a chair.

You struggle through the dark. You feel in your pocket and find a packet of matches. You light the candle and carry it around with you. The furniture is heavy and old and the wall paper is a dusty felt red. The floor is tiled with old Victorian tiles.

The window slams with the wind. You can taste the misty air, you see a shadow and jump back. It's only your own. There are shadows everywhere on the wall, they fill the room.

You look on the table and see a book. You look at it more closely and see there is a code to crack.

The Conservatory

You enter the hot humid conservatory that is surrounded by thin silvery cobwebs. You glance at the many green plants, their fresh smell fills the air.

Suddenly you hear a crunching noise, but it is only a bug scuttling across a fat leaf. Dew drops fall on the brown soil making it damp.

In the centre of the room there is a dull, lonely, brown table and two chairs. The sun shines through the stained glass windows and their patterns sparkle on the black and white tiles.

There are three doors, one silver, one pink and one purple. There is a note with names of colours on it. What can it mean?

WHICH DOOR SHOULD YOU CHOOSE?

$$I + \underline{XI} = A$$

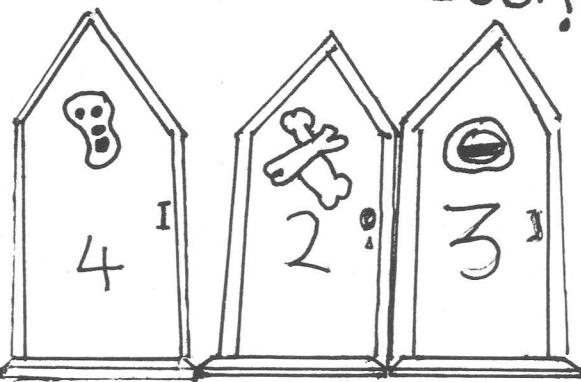

$$A \times \underline{IV} = B$$

$$B \times \underline{XXII} = C$$

$$C \div \underline{VII} = D$$

$$D \div \cdot = E$$

$$E - \underline{IV(XL)} = \text{Door?}$$

WHICH COLOUR DOOR SHOULD YOU TRY?
"INITIALLY" YOU MIGHT WORK OUT THESE CLUES.....

1. A fruit.
2. What goes up when the rain comes down.
3. They grow under the ground.
4. You put your food on this.
5. Needed until you can drive.
6. Do you eat one for breakfast?

The Playroom

You go into the old dusty room and notice that the walls are lined with shelves. The shelves are empty except for a globe with a square crack that makes it look as if it is a hundred years old.

There are two dolls on the top of the shelf, a bear and a little rabbit, both of which look extremely old and as if they might fall apart as soon as you touch them. A damp, dusty old ABC book is also on the shelf.

There on a table is an ink bottle with a quill pen in it. The feather has almost been eaten away by mites and the ink has evaporated leaving dust that blows away in your hands.

A candle is next to a rough wall, the wax is a milky blob and almost as hard as stone.

A rocking horse is in the right corner and it creaks slowly as it moves back and forth. There is a crib with no bed covers on it.

What was once a green ball can be seen on the floor, its green colour has worn off and is now green dust on the floor.

Your eye falls on a group of numbers written on the floor. You wonder what they might mean.

The Boiler Room

You open the door and you go in. The door slams! You are stuck!

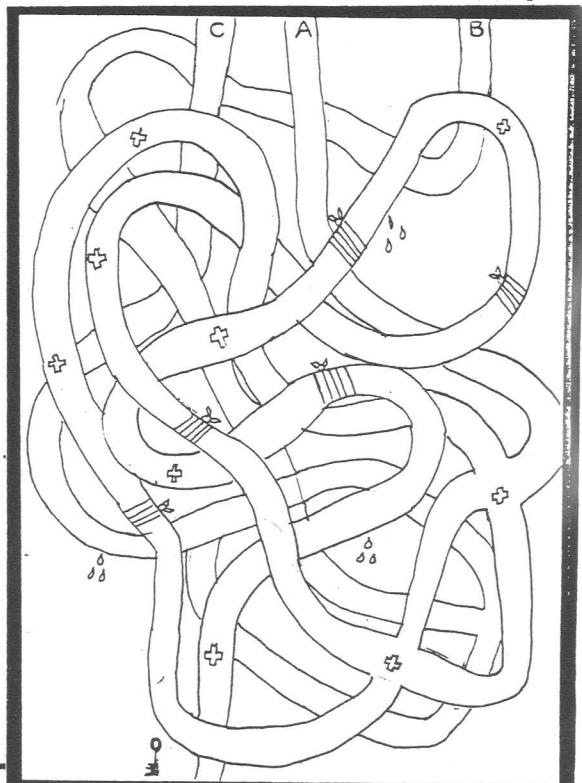

You look around. It is very hot and steamy. This must be the boiler room. There are pipes all over the walls and there are two boilers.

You hear hisses and gurgles, puffs and pops. You see screws and screw drivers abandoned on the floor. Judging by the leaks and drips not to mention the strange noises coming from the boilers this boiler room is in bad shape.

The walls are mouldy and damp, cracked and chipped and paint is even peeling off the ceiling.

You see a key attached to a metal hoop around one of the maze of pipes. Could this be your way out? Which door will it open?

The Bus Stop

At the terminal Mr and Mrs Wright get on the red bus going to Central, so do Mr and Mrs Kellett and Mr and Mrs Venables. Mr and Mrs Stoop and Mr and Mrs Smith also get on the bus at the terminus.

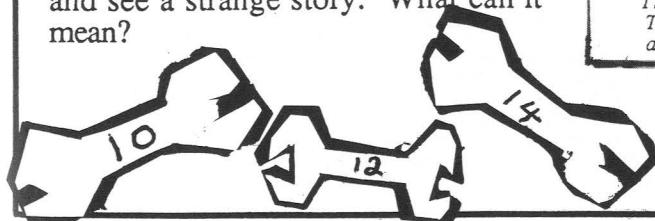

At the next stop Mr and Mrs Wright get off and so do the Kelletts and the Stoops. At the next stop Mr and Mrs Ace get on and so do Mr and Mrs Marantz. Mr and Mrs Helex run to the bus and manage to get on before it leaves. At the next stop Mr and Mrs Jackson board with Mr and Mrs Murphy but the Aces and Smiths get off. At the next stop every single person gets off. How many people are left on the bus excluding the driver?

The Cellar

As you enter the room you begin to sneeze. As the dust settles you see a razor sharp guillotine, rusty blood can be seen on the tips of the blade. Steel chains hang from the ceiling and cobwebs hang between them. A gallows hangs poised for action. Drips of dried blood can be seen on the floor.

As you step forward a rat scuttles across the floor and dashes into a rat hole. You put your eye to the hole and nearly blind yourself on a cobweb. It feels cold, freezing cold. In the hole you see a crumpled piece of paper. You smooth it out and see a strange story. What can it mean?

The Curio Room

The heavy doors of the curio room shut behind you. You look around in amazement! The room is packed. Full of interesting and different things. There are huge shelves full of books and a big brown treasure chest. In the chest there are different coins from all over the world and you see the sparkle of a jewel-like shiny fabric.

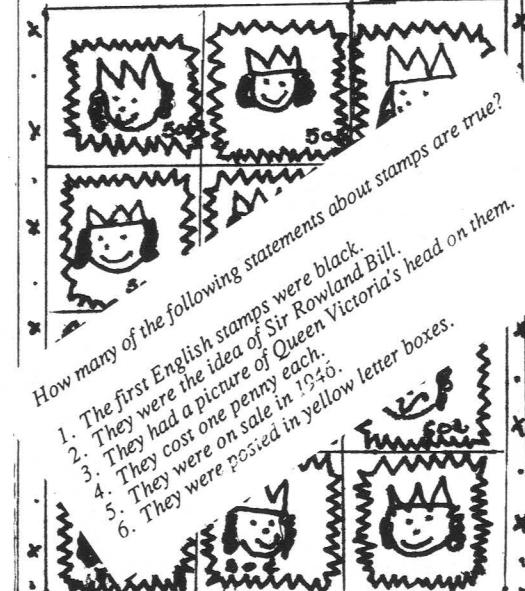

In the middle of the room there is a table piled high with ornaments like vases, tins of old coins and medals. There are two tarnished candlesticks and a lamp. There is a broken clock and some scrolls. There are piles of stamp albums on the shelves and a map of the world on the wall.

The room smells musty and there is a covering of dust over everything. The walls are covered with wood panelling. There is a huge portrait of an old lady, with golden hair and wearing a golden dress, in a golden frame.

A little light, from a grimy window shines on the portrait and on the floor which is covered with red and black floor tiles.

U.S.A.

The Library

The heavy, carved door creaks open and you find yourself in a dusty library. The room is lit by a dim lamp and the only sound you can hear is the tick of a clock.

The smell of musty books reaches your nose. You back away and the dust rises from the floor. You creep up to the book shelf. It is covered with cobwebs. You open a book and to your surprise it is a book about explorers. You read for a minute and turn around to see a hairy spider.

You run to the middle of the room where you bump into a table and chairs. Keeping your eyes fixed on the spider, you circle until you bump into a stained glass window. Under it there is a small table. On the table there is a writing book, a pot full of ink and a quill, scrolls and writing paper.

The Truffle

The truffle is an edible fungus that grows underground. It is quite common in Europe, North Africa and the Near East but is rare in the U.S.A. The most valuable kinds come from Central and Southern France and are an expensive delicacy. They are round and weigh very little, most are about the size of a hen's egg, when they are ripe.

The skin is covered with warts and darken with age. Truffle hunting using either pigs or dogs became a regular occupation among peasants.

My first is in got but not in pot,
My second is in alligator but not in lot,
My third is in roar and also in pour,
My fourth is in dig but not in pig,
My fifth starts eel, and is doubled in feel,
My sixth is in kneel but not in peal.

The Kitchen

The wind gusts into the room as you open the door and push through the cobwebs. The dust slowly settles down on the table. You see the cutlery is red and rusty. The cooking range could do with a scrub. The tap has drips coming out from the spout. Each time the tap drips it gives you a little fright.

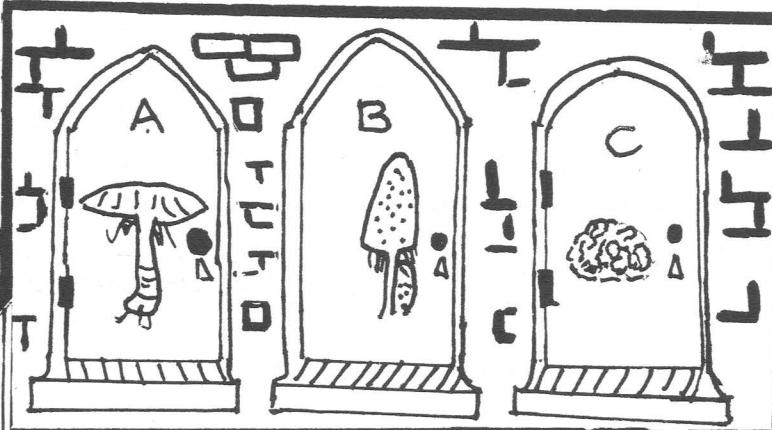

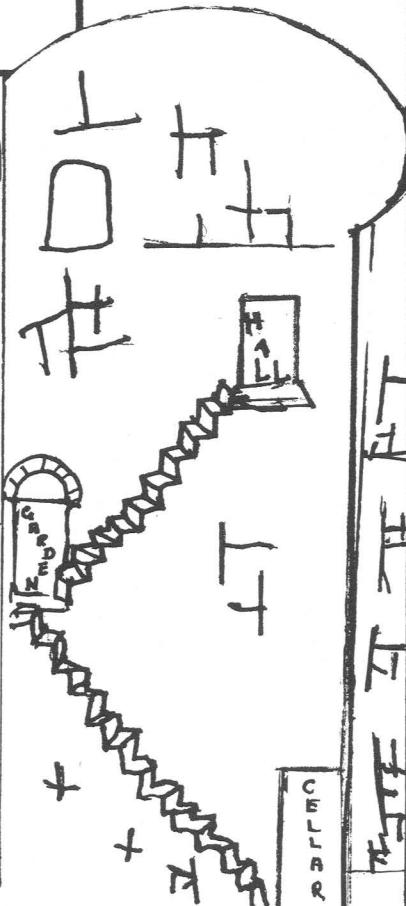

The cupboards have little holes in them and you wonder if something is going to look out of the holes at you!

You see something blowing about on the floor stirred by the wind. You pick it up from the place where it is lying. It seems to be some sort of quiz. Are you going to do the quiz?

The Tower

You have just entered the tower. The dust in the air swirls around you a bit and settles down to reveal a wooden staircase up, and two doors, one to the east and one to the west. You climb the stairs breaking through all the cobwebs.

You reach the top and find yourself in a little room and you look around. There is a book on the table called "Cobweb Court". There is some mould on the floor and you slip against an old grey chest. When you get up you bang your head on a big, brass bell. You crawl to the window to get some light and you notice a piece of paper hanging from the ledge. You read what is written on it. There is a riddle that you have to solve...

THE SOLUTION

Outside you step along the stones (1, 3, 7, 13 etc.), and crack the code, (A=C, B=D, C=E etc.), this indicates that you must open door 2, (Z=2 X=5 Y=8 etc.), and use the STAR key to get into the CONSERVATORY. Here you find that you must open the PURPLE door which leads you into the PLAYROOM where you solve the math problem. Here you choose ROUTE A, which leads into the BOILER ROOM and you choose ROUTE A, which leads into the MATS problem. Here you choose DOOR 4, this leads you out of the PLAYROOM where you open the HALL where you choose SPANNER 10, this is the right size to undo the bolt on the trap door which leads you into the CURIOSITY ROOM. Here you choose DOOR 3, which leads you into the LIBRARY. Here you find a key in the book called "SOUTH POLE" which opens the door which leads you into the KITCHEN. Here you choose DOOR C, which leads you into the GARDEN door. Despite your great excitement, that a garden door should be in the middle of a tower 20 metres from the ground, you open it and find, to your delight, that it contains priceless treasure.

Horse Riding Lesson

I climbed onto my horse, Noodles, and started to walk around the paddock. We were in front of all the others. Our teacher told us to do a rising trot around the paddock. Afterwards, we did a sitting trot. I got a cramp as I went bump, bump, bump. I like rising trot better than sitting trot. Next we had to canter. I canter very well.

Finally we did bareback. The only problem with bareback is it hurts as my horse's spine goes up my bottom!

Horse riding is my favourite hobby.

The P.E. Lesson

"Oh no! I've forgotten my P.E. kit. What am I going to say when she sees me?" I groaned.

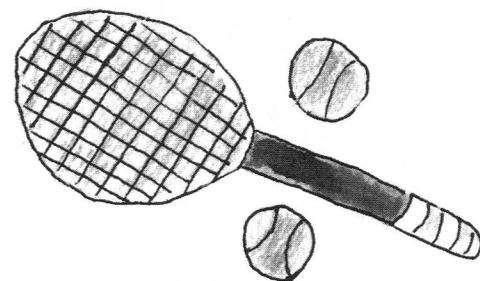

The time came to go into the hall. I saw great big flame balls in her eyes. "REMEMBER! DON'T FORGET IT NEXT TIME!"

I felt ashamed. I was sure everyone was laughing at me.

"I'll give you one more chance," said Mrs Pujol. "Phew!" I said to myself. Anyway, my team won the game. So the P.E. lesson wasn't so bad, after all!

Cass Leung

Sports

Gymnastics

We all ran into the hall feeling happy because we were going to have P.E. with Mrs Pujol. I was hoping we would be doing gymnastics.

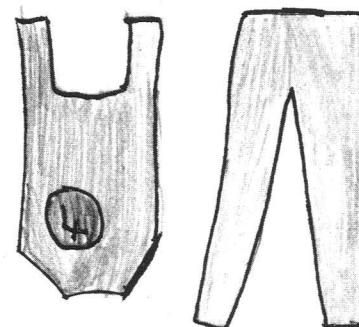

"Stop running and sit down," said Mrs Pujol. She told us that we would be working on the apparatus.

"Hurray!" everyone screamed. Mrs Pujol put us into groups. My group was working on the box first. We worked for a long time. Then we showed Mrs Pujol and the rest of the class some of the things we had been practising.

I did a somersault and my friends clapped. Victoria did a bridge. We clapped again.

At the end of the lesson, Mrs Davies came in to collect us. We said, "Goodbye," to Mrs Pujol and left the hall.

Genevieve O'Neill

The Tennis Lesson

After a forty-five minute lesson of violin, my neck was tired. Now I had to play tennis for one hour! I felt too tired to play but I had to go. My racket was difficult to balance in my hand as it seemed so heavy.

At first I missed many of the balls. Daniel was doing better than I was. Later on in the lesson I was feeling more powerful and was able to hit all the balls over the net.

My T-shirt was soaking and my hair was dripping. When the lesson was over, I wanted to play some more!

Philip Ho

Diving Championship

It was time for the competition. Everyone was feeling tense.

A shaky feeling went down my spine and my knees were knocking as we lined up to dive. It was my turn!

I walked gracefully (I hoped) to the end of the board.

"Pretend there is no-one watching you," I said to myself trying to keep calm. I stood in position and dived.

I didn't win anything, but it doesn't matter just as long as you have fun, does it?

Lauren Crothers

Kick Ball

Oh! It's not fair! The yellow team is always winning. I wish my team could win for just one time.

The blues had to kick first and the yellows had to field. I couldn't believe my eyes when we all got around on our turns. I pinched myself to see if I was dreaming but I wasn't! We had scored 83 points. That was a record.

When it was the yellows' turn to kick, half of their team got round. Their total score was 72. We had won! I think we showed those yellows - don't you?

Melanie Haddon

Soccer Match

I charged through and reached the ball. I kicked it. The ball went up in the air into the goal. 1-0! We were winning.

During the second half, I was in goal. The other team was coming up for a shot. BOOM! I jumped up and saved it.

Thomas took the kick. The ball went all the way into the other goal. 2-0! Now it was their turn to take centre-kick but I got the ball. I passed it to Thomas and he scored a brilliant goal. We had won the game. 3-0!

John Taylor

Ice Skating

Clumping along
In heavy boots,
I can't stand straight.
My feet are falling
Over each other.
I wobble onto the ice
Then....
Sway,
Swerve,
Glide, Spin, Slip,
Bump.
"Oops! Sorry!"
My ankles ache and throb.
I whiz round
Faster and faster.
I'm out of control!
I can't stop!
"Help!"

I stagger off the ice,
Pull off my boots
And feel I'm floating.

Pia Swain

The Winners

1-0 to my team! I had just scored the first try. The other team took their kick. We all ran for the ball. I tackled the player who had it and got the ball. I passed it to my team mate and he scored. 2-0 to us!

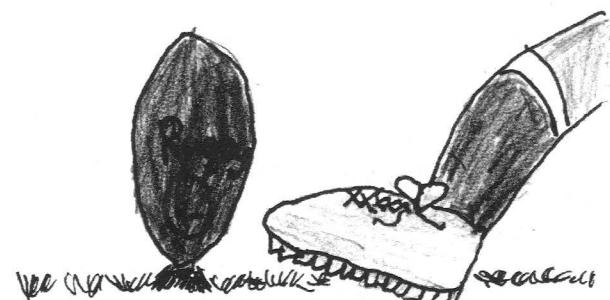

We threw the ball to the other team and they took their kick. Tim ran but he was tackled on his neck so they had a free kick.

I got the ball again and passed it to Mark. He ran forwards but was tripped and the other team got the ball.

As they passed the ball, they dropped it. I jumped onto the ball. Another try! 3-0.

Alexander Berglund

Down The Hill!

Peter and I were racing down the hill at 100 mph on our skateboards. He was in front. I was trying to catch up with him but Peter kept ahead. As I was pushing hard with my hands, the fingers on my right hand got stuck in the wheel. I jumped up and screamed.

Peter took me inside and got me an ice cube. After that my fingers went purple but I did not have to do any handwriting at school the next day!

James Blockley

On Roller Skates

I can go really fast on my roller skates. I go out on them almost every day. I hardly fall any more but once I got a big cut on my leg.

Often, I hold onto my sister's bike and she pulls me around the playground where we live. My sister can skate but not as well as I can - she's only a beginner.

My friend and I have races but she always wins because she's older.

I really enjoy roller skating.

Victoria Kinmond

My First Trophy

I had just got home when my mum came into my room holding the trophy! "Where did you get that from?" I asked.

"Your soccer instructor rang up because we hadn't collected it," said mum. "He told me that everyone who has played really well got one."

I was amazed! My team played every Sunday and practised every Saturday. We had won a few matches, drawn most and only lost one. I had been playing for six months.

The trophy is of a young girl, with her hair tied back, kicking a ball. Written on it is "Telinka Thynne Sacax Young Girls' Soccer". (They spelt my name wrongly on the trophy!)

Tilenka Thynne

Roller Skating

As I staggered up the last flight of stairs, I heard the door slam. It made me jump!

I quickly climbed up the last two steps and started to roller skate around the basketball court. Then I thought I heard something. I turned around. Although it was nothing, I didn't look where I was going....

"WAAAAAH!"

I tripped over a rock and cut my knee. There was blood all over it. I took off my skates and limped back home.

Rosie Barker

Benchball

"Come on, Victoria! Just throw the ball as high as you can!"

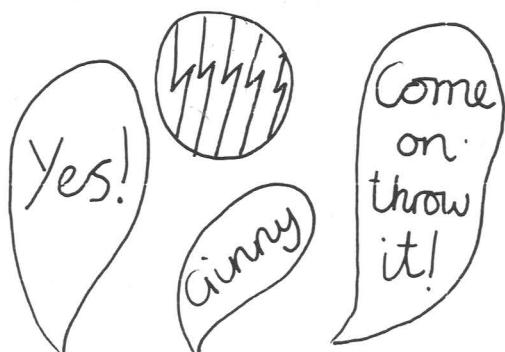

"YES!" hissed my team as Victoria's ball was caught and she jumped onto the bench. Now only Ginny and Alex were left. We were winning. I couldn't believe it. At first we only had one person on the bench and now there were...!

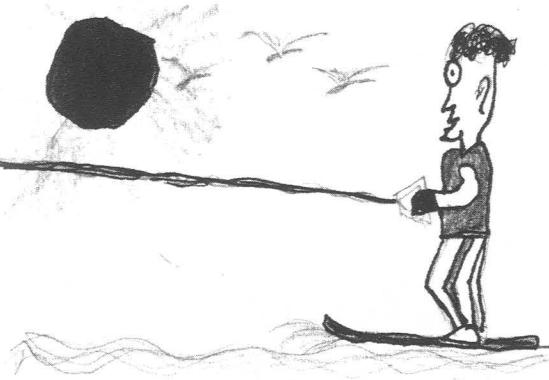

Just at that moment the ball came at me... I missed it! I fell onto the floor. Lauren picked me up just in time for me to see Alex land on the bench. Now there was only Ginny left. She was on her own! No one could help her. How would she get the ball over the heads of everyone else on the other team without any one of them catching it?

Whoosh! She threw it and...it landed right in my hands!

I felt on top of the world!

Heidi Brockman

P.E. Lesson

"You are going to play benchball." Everyone cheers.
"Cristina and James, you are team captains. Choose your teams."
A few minutes later we are ready.
"Okay? Let's start. Go!"
Soon we have two people on our bench but the other team still has only one.
"Don't make such a noise!
You can see Mrs Ayres is trying to talk on the phone. Shhh!"
We start the game again. The person on the other team catches the ball but falls off the bench.
"Don't moan. Get on with the game!"
We are still winning.
"Come on, Rupert. Catch the ball."
Now the other team have two people on the bench.
It's a tie now.
"Come on. Throw the ball."
Paul throws. Yes! Our team has won.
"Three cheers for the winners."

Cristina Wilkinson

Water Ski-ing

I strap on my water skis
And am lowered
Into the water.
The engine bursts to life.
My knees are shaking,
My elbows wobble.
Gripping the bar tightly,
I zoom through the water,
Bumping over the waves.
Here comes the turn.

Down,
Down I fall
Into the murky water.
Bubble! Bubble!

"Come back for me.
I want another go!"

Paul Oxton

Strike Out!

BANG! All the pins fell down. "Yes," I shouted. Nicola groaned.

"I can beat you," she boasted. She walked up to the alley, ran forward and threw the ball as hard as she could. It turned left and landed in the gutter.

Angrily, she walked back and took another ball. Again she ran up and threw the ball. This time it turned right, then left and eventually knocked one pin down.

"Ha, ha, ha," I laughed. The score was 73-54. I had beaten her!

Rupert Murphy

Rounders

"Oh, I don't want to be in that team," I muttered to myself.

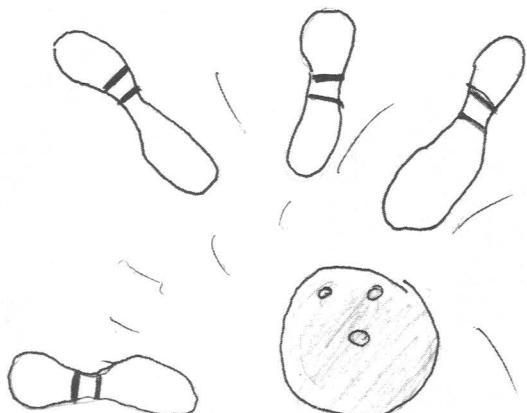

The other team batted first and then it was our turn.

When it was my turn to bat, everyone was telling me to hit it "good" because the other team was winning 2-0. Mrs Pujol threw the ball at me and I missed it! Everybody groaned.

Next it was Armi's turn. She whacked the ball and scored a rounder. It was 2-1 now, so we were catching up on them. Rosie went next. She also whacked it. The score was 2 all. We had one more player to go. It was Ginny. She hit the ball and scored another rounder. It was 3-2 to my team.

"YEAH!" we all shouted. Now I was very glad I was in that team!

Dear Mum,

Help! I'm trapped in this horrible place. The toilet stinks and there's no bath! Instead they have disgusting cold showers. I even had to wait to take one and my towel is too short. They call this a five star hotel - well ha, ha! Mum get me out of here! The food is terrible. They've got cockroaches in the fried rice and all the other dishes are leftovers. Transport! You have to take public buses! If you think that's bad well think of this. We had to walk 20 miles I think, and worse, we had to carry our bags! Oh Mum, take me home, I won't survive!

Your lovely and almost expired daughter

Camps

The sampan race

At Tai O we had a sampan race. When it started, Chris Frankland said in his low-pitched voice: "On your marks!...Get set!...GO!!!". Mr Yates went into first place. Chris spoke again, "Yes, and it's Mr Yates in first place, Mrs Nelson in second and...yes!...what a brilliant turn by Mr Yates' boat! Mrs Nelson's boat is catching up...yes...they're trying to skip past Mr Yates' boat!...yes, they're coming in on the inner lane!...yes, they made it!...What a beautiful win by Mrs Nelson's boat!"

Flip Flop

I was walking along, then suddenly I looked down, I saw that I was stuck on a cowpat up to my knees. Mr Marshall didn't notice my flip flop had got lost in the cowpat. I had no choice but to put my hand in it. So I did. I went digging with my hand, it felt gooey, slimey and watery. At last I found it and put it on. I stepped out crying to Mr Marshall.

Idan Udalevich

Lunch?

Will we never stop? It seems as though we have been walking for years. Up hills and down hills, over twisting endless paths, through overgrown undergrowth. Millions of scratches on my legs. Eventually I caught up with Mr Marshall and started moaning. "My muscles are aching, my feet are sore, my back is blistered." Then I heard it, like music in my ears. The wonderful word... "LUNCH!"

Lost in the depths of Lantau

"Mrs Coultaus, which way do we go?" Emma asked.

There was no reply.

"Mrs Coultauuuuuuus," we chorused.

Still no reply. "We're lost," I quivered.

"Let's go right and if we don't find them we'll go left," Emma suggested.

We stumbled on through the jungle, thorns slicing into our flesh. Tripping over loose bits of gravel, trudging through the long strips of jagged grass, we turned right, then turn again. A ray of sunshine shone on us. Rushing up to the sunshine, we found out we had just been in a huge circle. "What do we do now?" I whined.

We limped to the left and carried on walking. A dog sat before us, its eyes glued on Jennifer. We just kept on walking, not noticing it until it leaped towards us ripping our clothes to shreds.

"RUN!" we all screamed. We fled off towards the housing estate until we could run no longer. We scanned the view around us looking for the vicious dog, it was out of sight.

"LOOK!" Jennifer squealed, pointing to a group of children, "We've found them!" We rushed to them. Mrs Coultaus was staring at us with stern eyes, hands on hips, her bony finger pointing us to the back of the line.

Walking to the camp site

Strolling down the hills,
Rushing between the trees,
Dodging the raindrops
Crazy kids,
Jumping in puddles moaning about their wet feet!
Rain constantly pouring,
Dripping down my neck,
crossing my fingers,
wishing the rain would stop.
Suddenly.
The clouds parted glowing and warm on my upturned face.
"Just over the next hill" called Mr. Miller,
Again...
The camp site!
Ahead of us,
at last!

How to avoid LONG walks
News: You've just started a walk

1. Make sure the teacher is watching.
2. Pretend to trip on rock, howl with pain when on ground.
3. Slowly stand up sniffing.
4. Smile weakly at teachers and shakily say, "Don't worry, I'll manage...sniff...sniff."
5. Hobble onwards ouching and aaching, with pain.
6. Cross fingers and hope it will convince them to send you back to camp.

Good Luck
Liars!

Supersonic boom heard over Lantau

I was starving, completely hungry, tired and sleepy, my eyes closing every couple of minutes. Suddenly I heard a voice say, "Line up and we will go to eat". "Oh good" I said opening my eyes widely. We got to the B.B.Q. and sat in groups. The boys in my group were quite naughty. They burped almost all the time and I think that is sick.

"Rebecca's group, it is your turn to come and get something to eat", we heard Mrs McDonald calling out.

I got some hamburger, slices of tomato and sausage. We all went back and sat down. I started eating my tomato and my hamburger. They were delicious, Mr Marshall is an excellent cook. Next my sausage but, ...oh no I couldn't finish it. My tummy started hurting and I felt as if I were still hungry, but I couldn't eat anything.

I went to Mrs Nelson and told her all about it.

She said to me, "Why don't you have some Coke - it will help you burp."

I took some and went back to join my group. I heard the boys still burping, so I said to Rebecca that I wished I was one of those boys because I needed to burp. I felt so horrible, tears came into my eyes and fell onto my shirt, wetting it. I also felt like screaming so loudly that everybody would be able to hear me. I then saw Mrs Clatworthy giving out marshmallows to the groups. When she arrived at our group she asked me if I wanted any and I said, "No thanks", because I couldn't eat any. I looked around and watched everybody eating and enjoying themselves and I felt sorry for myself. I was the only one without any. "Well well" I said, "I can't help it." At last I finished drinking my Coke, I waited a little while... Then all of a sudden there was a stirring in my stomach, and then before I knew anything about it - "BUUUUUURP!" Peoples' glasses broke, the cows all ran away, Mr Marshall fell to the ground in a state of shock! I had burped! I then felt much better and happier. I was one of the happiest girls on earth. (Maybe not quite the happiest, because I didn't have any marshmallows. But at least I felt much better.)

Maureen Sagiv

Snake

Joris lifted up his bag and a baby snake jumped out and landed on my foot. It felt like a suction cap, a slimy gray suction cap. I kicked the slimy thing into the corner, picked up my torch and shone it on the snake. It was a baby cobra. I could tell by his big head. It was hung high, his thin body curling furiously because he had been thrown into the corner. A man who worked in the hostel came in armed with chopsticks and an empty bottle. He stepped on it and put it into the bottle. Everyone was glad when it was gone, but could we sleep in peace?

Daniel Andrew

Lunch on top of the world

We rounded the last corner. There was everyone waiting for us. "Why have we stopped?" I called. "For lunch," called back Mr Marshall. "YIPPEE!" almost everyone shouted.

"But we have to get to the top of this hill," Mr Marshall said in a gloomy voice. "Bother!" I said.

We all started climbing. As we got higher and higher it got colder and colder. At last we reached the summit. We saw snow and ice all over the place. We all put our jumpers on. We were freezing even then! We sat down in the snow and tucked into our frozen lunch. I took a bite, my teeth went blue, my mouth filled with ice!

I looked up at the sky. "Quick!" Mr Marshall shouted. We gobbled down our lunch, then got up and ran all the way downhill to the bus terminus and found...it was snowing there too! We jumped into the bus and whizzed there the hostel. Now what? It was bright sunlight again! What a mystery!

Naomi Cooper

Snoring

It was pitch black. I heard a noise like a pig. I thought it was World War III. I was scared stiff. "Who is snoring?" said Gemma sleepily.

I looked down. It was Mrs Coulous. I shook the bed, I knew that would waken her because she had complained about it the last night. She got up. She did not know I had wakened her on purpose. She went to have a shower. I crept after her. She was singing in the shower. Her snoring is bad but her singing is worse! After a while she came back. She sat down on the bed. The bed shook. It was like an EARTHQUAKE!

20,005 Dollars

20,005 dollars. I could do anything with $20,005! I could buy 3077 packs of baseball cards, that's 76,925 cards, or even a school spaceship or even a school (particularly Kellett). Five dollars in my pocket, 20,000 in my bag. Suddenly I flew into the air and landed on the ground with a thump. I picked myself up slowly and looked around. Nobody was about. I reached for my bag but it was gone. My bag was gone! I sighed. Five dollars, what could I do with five dollars?

James Barker

The view from the mountain top was spectacular

I could see the beautiful sunset behind the trees and horizon. The sun was now as bright as the moon, a cloud floated across. I could see rays of light shining through the cloud, just like a light house with a bright red light like a red rose that has just blossomed. I could see the whole forest in front as the breeze slowly swished the leaves. "Such a beautiful world", I said to myself. Just then a whole flock of birds flew past covering the ground with dark shades. They were sparrows.

It felt as if I could see everything, everything in the world. The colours of the sunset were fading now and the breeze grew more gentle. Now I could no longer see the sunset. As the minutes passed it got darker and darker, and bolder and bolder. I was sad, but nature has to do its work.

The Trappist Monastery

When we went to the Trappist Monastery on Thursday we had a long walk up a steep road. Jesse and I were always ahead of everybody and so we thought of a joke.

We left our bags in the middle of the road and then we hid behind a temple. Suddenly we heard voices coming from down the road, then we noticed they were not getting closer, but we could still hear them. "I'm hungry", Jesse said.

"Oh, oh," I said "They are having lunch."

We grabbed our bags quickly but as we were running down the road we saw Mr Marshall - he was so mad.

"To the back of the line for the whole day!" Mr Marshall screamed, and all because of the stupid joke.

After lunch we went to the chapel in the monastery; there was an important rule, 'BE QUIET'. But Daniel from Mr Marshall's class broke the rule. He burped and everybody started to laugh. By this time everybody was breaking the rule.

Juan Zelada

Horrible Dishes

Ooooo! Disgusting. The plates and the bowls were so gross and dirty. The plates were covered in grease and tiny bits of food. There was even some soup left in the bowl. You couldn't wash the grease off your hands. I had to put my hand right into the soup. It was so gross. I think I'm going to have a hard time on the dishes.

Felix Li

Breakfast

I think I will be sorry that I chose to cook the breakfast at camp. I really don't like getting up very early in the morning. I know the other boys won't let me get much sleep. I will be so tired but I did promise. I will have to drag myself out of bed in the cold dark morning before anybody else. I don't like cooking eggs and bacon. I don't like to tell them I've never cooked eggs before. I could image how Daniel will scream if there are cockroaches in his breakfast.

Gary Sung

Good Night

I tried to snuggle down into my sleeping bag but I couldn't. Where was my sleeping bag? I sat up and look around. There it was across the other side of the tent. I stood up. What should I do? Should I walk over them? Or should I wake them up? I was getting cold standing there deciding what to do. I decided to wake them up. I did so with great difficulty. They all opened their eyes and looked at me with disgust. I said, "Please can I have my..." "YOUR WHAT!" I started to cry. "MY SLEEPING BAG!"

Ben Deacon

Camp

I was going to camp in two days, but I didn't want to go because I was a regular spoilsport. My mum wrote the letter to say I could go, but as soon as I got to school I tore it up and threw it away. Unfortunately, Mr Miller said I could go anyway! So I had to make up another excuse. I thought long and hard (when I was supposed to be doing my maths), and just before lunch I had an idea.

"Mr Miller," I said in my sweet innocent voice, "you can't go to camp without a bag, can you?"

"No, you can't, you have to have a bag," said Mr Miller, "but if you don't, it's O.K., because you can borrow one of mine."

Now I was cross! I had to think of another excuse quickly. All of a sudden I heard the bell, that meant the end of school. The next day I was desperately trying to think of something because in a few minutes I had to leave for school...and camp. Then it came to me. I could pretend to be ill!

I called to my mum up to my room and said, "Mum, I feel really sick! I can't go to camp!"

Mum said, "Well if you really don't want to go, I'll phone the school and say you can't!"

Thoughts

Camp's going to be horrible
I bet you the showers are cold
We might even wake up at night
I'm scared of the dark
I might have lost my torch
Camp's going to be horrible

But camp could be good
Just think
About staying up late
And talking to the others
Camp could be good

Camp's going to be terrible
The ground will hamper my sleep
And if there's a leak
You know where it'll be?
Camp's going to be terrible

But camp could be terrific
Just think
About no mum to nag you
And stop you from eating too much
Camp could be terrific

Camp's going to be repulsive
I know my tent
Will fall down
And maybe
We'll die
Camp's going to be repulsive

But camp could be excellent
Just think
You know that you'll Like it if only you try
Camp could be excellent.

Camp

Camp is going to be GREAT.
Camp is going to be OKAY.
Camp is going to be BAD.
Camp is going to be AWFUL.
Camp is going to be DISGUSTING.
Oh, I don't know what camp is going to be like.

Where's my teddy?

"Rebecca, get back into bed," said Mr Miller.
"But I can't find my teddy!"
"Well you can borrow mine."
"But it's yours I lost!"
"What, you lost my teddy?"
"Yes, and Naomi took the head off!"
"Well, go to sleep without one."
"But I want my teddy!"
"Oh, read a book!"
"But I didn't bring one!"
"I'm getting fed up!" Why not just close your eyes and count sheep!"
"I can't see any sheep!"
"Oh, goodnight!"
"But, Mr Miller..."
"ZZ ZZ ZZ ZZ..."

Rebecca Branston

Sleeping in the night

Our tent was an eight man tent. But even though it was an eight man tent it was still too small for six people. I was sleeping by the zip because no one else wanted to sleep there. So I had to! In the night everyone was squashing up to me, they were pushing me out of the tent and I was frozen! I wonder how they would feel being pushed out of the tent in the middle of the night. Becky was the luckiest as she had a proper camp bed and she was the warmest. It was not fair, we had to go to bed at ten and get up at seven. Why can't we get up at nine o'clock? In the morning I found everyone had moved. Becky had rolled out of her bed and onto Sabine's bed, Sabine had rolled onto Melanie's bed, Melanie had rolled onto Carmen's bed, Carmen had rolled onto Jennifer's bed and Jennifer had rolled onto my bed and I had fallen out had rolled onto was lying on the ground frozen and embarrassed because everyone was staring at me. After that I asked if I could sleep somewhere else.

Rules

"Bryan"
"What?"
"Here is a list of things you've got to do and you've got to obey."
"Got it."
"Yes, got it."
"Let me see the list."
"Putting up the tent, that's fine.
Making the table, that's great.
Making the broom, that's fun. Doing the shopping, well that's if I really have to do it. I have to do the cooking and washing. Ha! No way. I'm not going to do it, rules are made to be broken.

Bryan Lui

What is Good?

Okay, let's get a hold on myself. Let's think of good things yea, yea...just get a hold of myself. What is good? Cooking your own food? I think that is good. But what if the Boogie Man comes! I won't live for long then! And it might be the return of the killer bug! Well you see what they do, they crawl into your hair and it's horrible to think of! I think I might stay at home and send someone else who looks like me, but does anyone look like me? Just think, there could be someone! Oh help! I think...I might have to go!

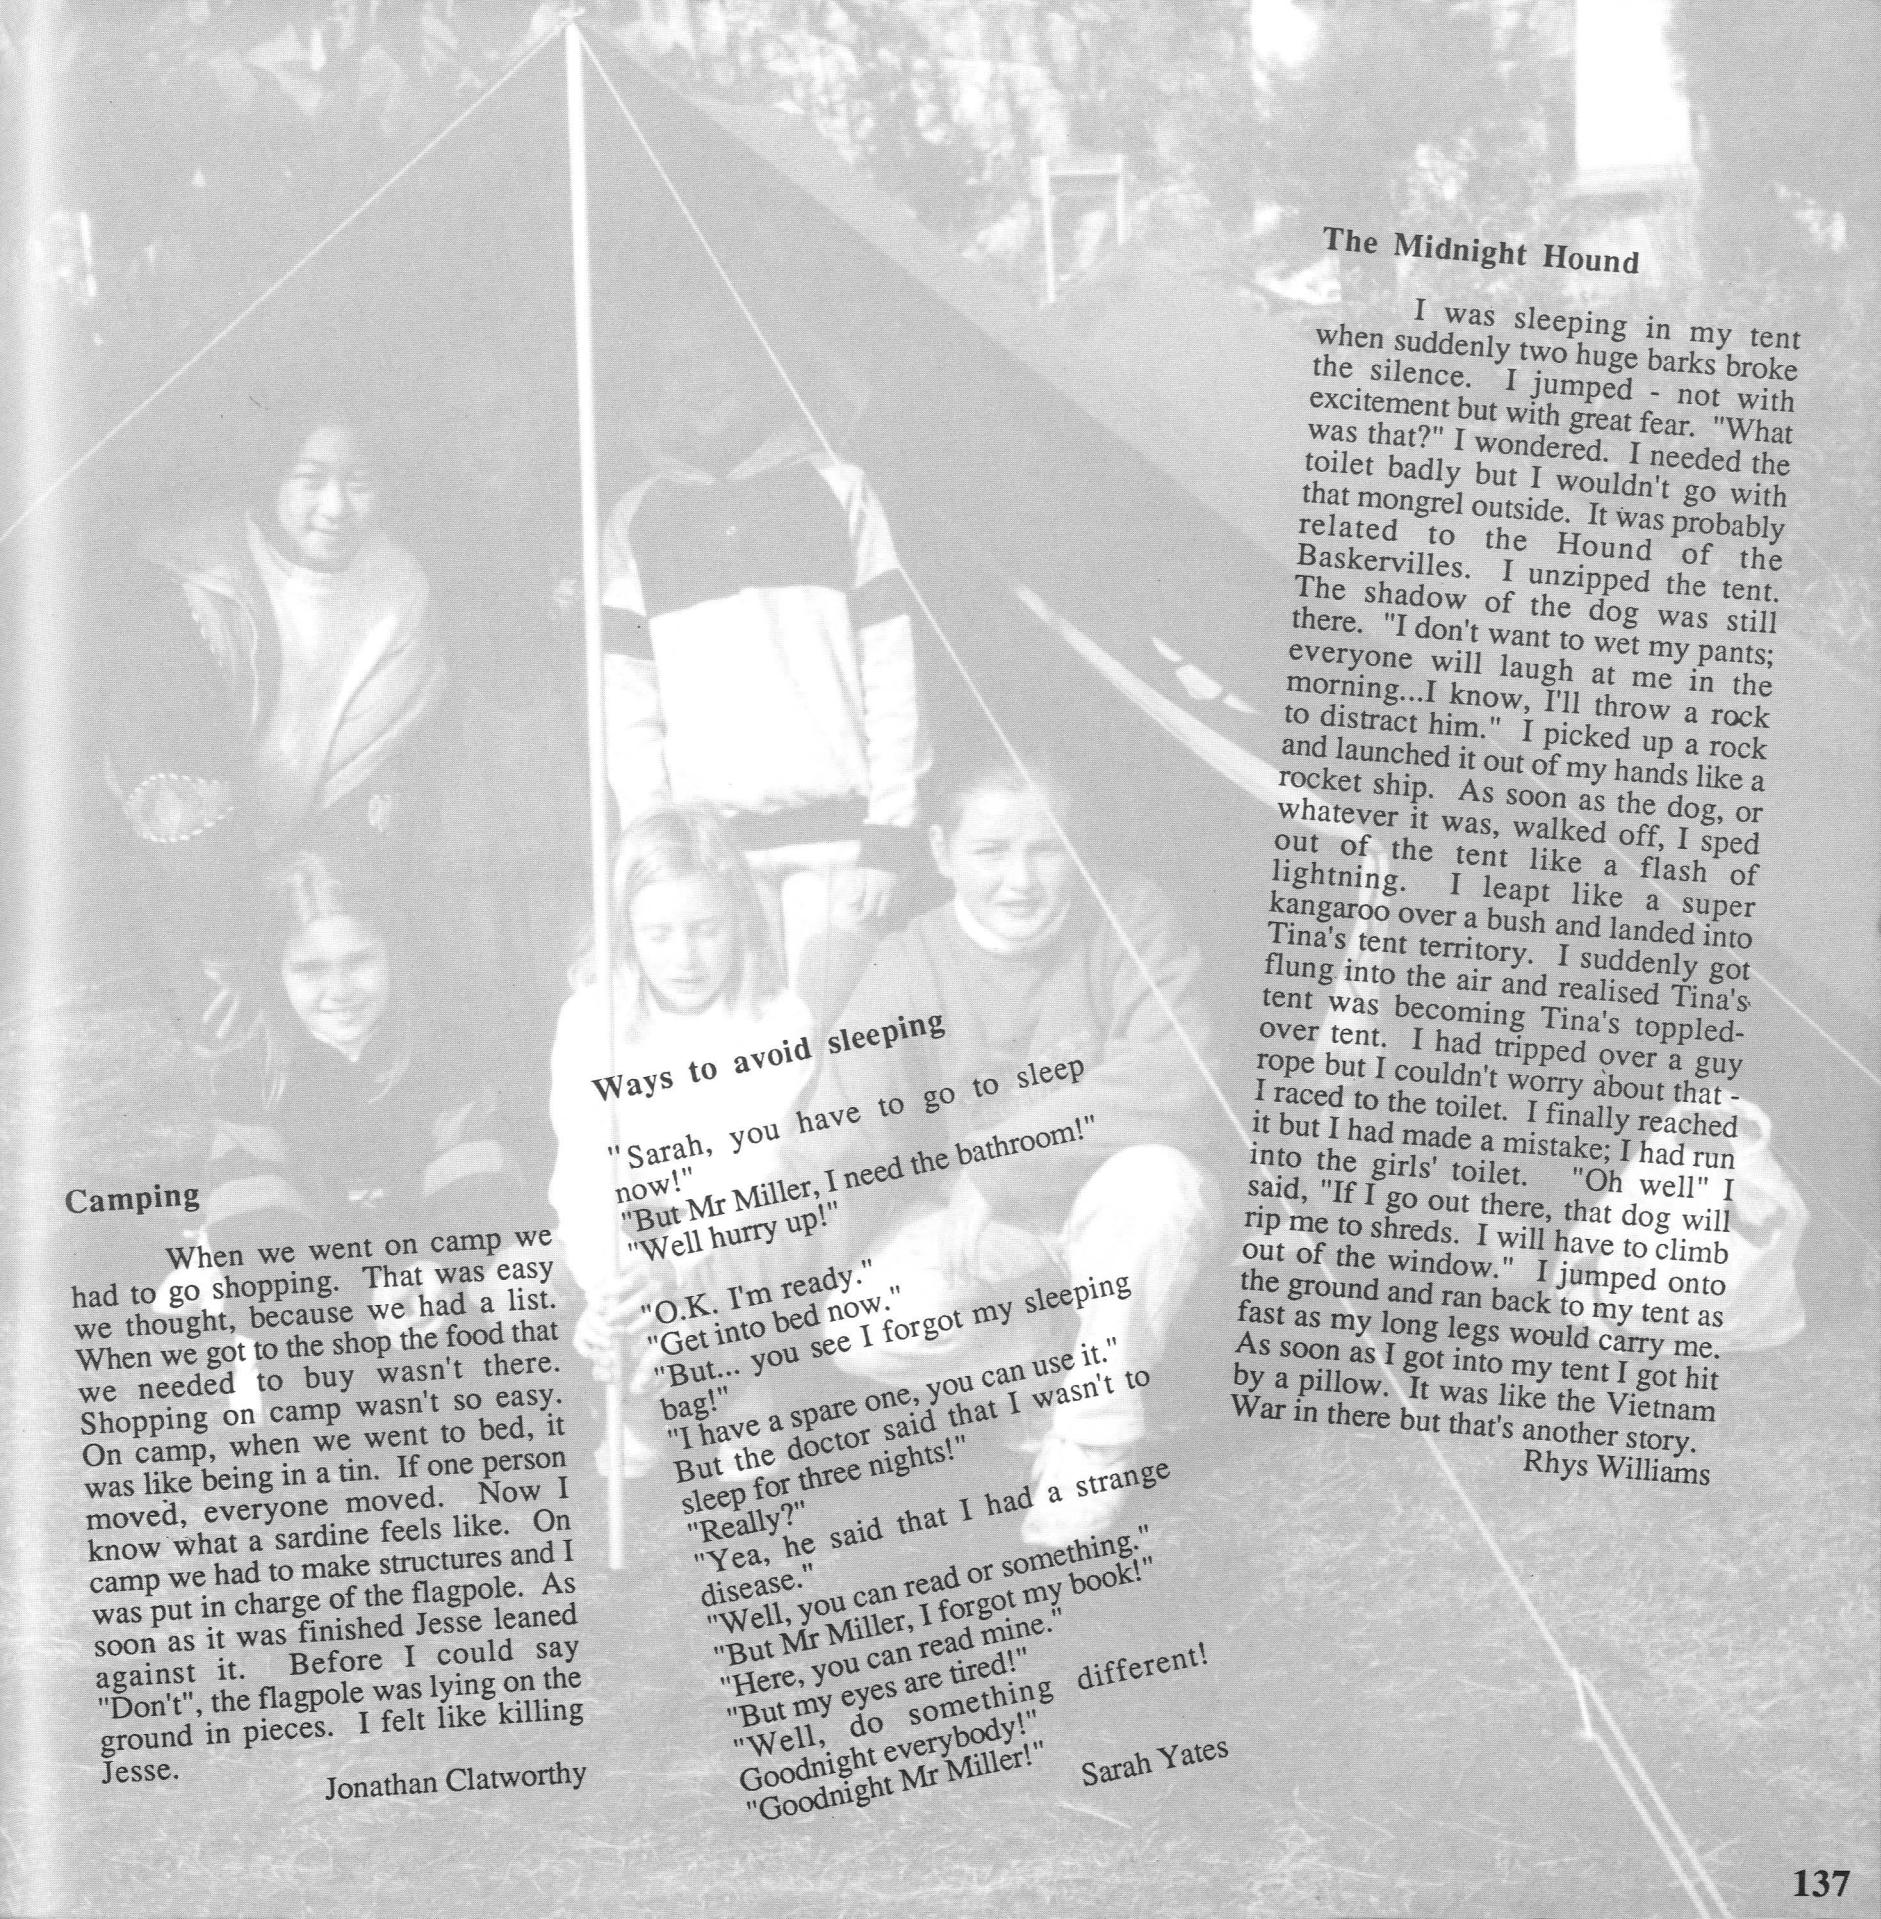

Kate McDonald

Kellett School Camp

Camp! Camp! Who wants to go on camp? Primary six of course. They're going camping in Shatin. They're camping it in tents. It will be scary in the dark forest with snakes and silky slugs and mosquitos and ants walking on your body when you're asleep. Cockroaches eating your food. Nothing will be good except for the weather and the boys. Oh one other thing that will be good is to hear the girls scream, "a cockroach!" One more thing, actually two more things that would make it better are no teachers and no long walks.

Joris Vrijhof

Camping

When we went on camp we had to go shopping. That was easy we thought, because we had a list. When we got to the shop the food that we needed to buy wasn't there. Shopping on camp wasn't so easy. On camp, when we went to bed, it was like being in a tin. If one person moved, everyone moved. Now I know what a sardine feels like. On camp we had to make structures and I was put in charge of the flagpole. As soon as it was finished Jesse leaned against it. Before I could say "Don't", the flagpole was lying on the ground in pieces. I felt like killing Jesse.

Ways to avoid sleeping

"Sarah, you have to go to sleep now!"
"But Mr Miller, I need the bathroom!"
"Well hurry up!"
"O.K. I'm ready."
"Get into bed now."
"But... you see I forgot my sleeping bag!"
"I have a spare one, you can use it."
"But the doctor said that I wasn't to sleep for three nights!"
"Really?"
"Yea, he said that I had a strange disease."
"Well, you can read or something."
"But Mr Miller, I forgot my book!"
"Here, you can read mine."
"But my eyes are tired!"
"Well, do something different!"
"Goodnight everybody!"
"Goodnight Mr Miller!"

The Midnight Hound

I was sleeping in my tent when suddenly two huge barks broke the silence. I jumped - not with excitement but with great fear. "What was that?" I wondered. I needed the toilet badly but I wouldn't go with that mongrel outside. It was probably related to the Hound of the Baskervilles. I unzipped the tent. The shadow of the dog was still there. "I don't want to wet my pants; everyone will laugh at me in the morning...I know, I'll throw a rock to distract him." I picked up a rock and launched it out of my hands like a rocket ship. As soon as the dog, or whatever it was, walked off, I sped out of the tent like a flash of lightning. I leapt like a super kangaroo over a bush and landed into Tina's tent territory. I suddenly got flung into the air and realised Tina's tent was becoming Tina's toppled-over tent. I had tripped over a guy rope but I couldn't worry about that - I raced to the toilet. I finally reached it but I had made a mistake; I had run into the girls' toilet. "Oh well" I said, "If I go out there, that dog will rip me to shreds. I will have to climb out of the window." I jumped onto the ground and ran back to my tent as fast as my long legs would carry me. As soon as I got into my tent I got hit by a pillow. It was like the Vietnam War in there but that's another story.

We were finally there. I had just taken my last breath when a loud voice said, "Listen children! Now your tents have to be put up!"

"Oh no! I told the others in my group that I couldn't help put up our tent because my back hurt. Pretty sneaky, ha! I didn't like the toothpaste that I had so I said I was allergic to it. I got to borrow someone else's! The whole day went past. Dinner came. It was burnt.

"I've just remembered," I said, "I can't eat that!" I was only joking, I didn't feel hungry.

I couldn't sleep so I told everyone that I had something under my pillow. When I looked, what did I see there but my burnt dinner!

Taran Chadha

I can't put up this tent!

"I got bitten by a dog last night and the doctor says that I should not move my arm for three days!" I try again.

"Mr Miller, there was a thunder storm last night and EVERYTHING got wet! See, the instructions are all soggy. Look, you can't even read them!" I think of something else.

"Mr Miller, you were the one who said I should go green. You showed us the advertisement that said we should conserve grass...this will spoil..." Mr Miller isn't listening...

"But I can't borrow someone else's instructions, they're ALL wet!"

Mr Miller, "Borrow mine. I kept mine nice and dry in a plastic bag."

"But don't you have to put up your own tent? You have to have somewhere to sleep as well!"

"I have already put up my tent!" said Mr Miller.

"But, Mr Miller...the wheels have come off...there's no window...where is the socket to plug in my hairdrier...where is my electric blanket...? Oh! My mum forgot to pack my bookshelf..." Does Mr Miller ever listen?

Jennifer Catley

The Tent

All that hard work just to put up a tent. Yes, just a single tent. I thought putting up a tent was going to be easy. Well, I was wrong. It took one hour, but now we had a tent that was free standing. We all stood there admiring it, when all of a sudden a gust of wind arose. The tent's guy ropes gave away. They swayed from side to side. Then as quickly as the wind came it disappeared. We all ran to the tent but it was too late. The tent was in a heap.

Camp

"Andrew," said Mr Miller, "I thought you said you knew the way and that you were a fast walker!" "I am, but I was bitten by a crab yesterday and I have a swollen foot." "Oh Andrew! We were inside all day yesterday, so you couldn't have! Go wash up the plates, it's your turn." "But Mr Miller, my hands have a new allergy and they can't go in water!" "Then go and buy some medicine in the shop!" "But Mr Miller, the money is stuck in my pocket and the trolleys at the supermarket are my unlucky colour!" "All right then, go and have a shower, and then we will all sing some songs." "But I can't have a shower...because my pet elephant has drunk all the water and there's none left, and anyway I can't sing because my mouth won't open, it's stuck!" "Then go to bed and get some sleep!" "But Mr Miller.....my alarm clock has had a terrible attack...." Andrew Wright

I Was In The Sixes In...

Christopher is in his final year at South Island School in Hong Kong where he is Head Boy. He hopes to go to a British university after "A" levels this summer to study engineering. In the years since he was a Kellett pupil he has enjoyed a wide range of interests and activities, including cycling, triathlons, sailing, scuba diving, technical involvement in stage and drama productions, both at school and in some of Hong Kong's professional venues, computing and both building and pedalling karts in the annual Pedal Kart race. He is pleased and proud to have achieved success at Bronze, Silver and recently at Gold level at the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme.

Hi there! It's my turn now. I was in Primary Six at Kellett in the "Year of '85". I would like to say hello to any of my old friends who may read this, wherever they are, and especially to Magnus Rosengren in Sweden, Patrik Svensson in Switzerland, Alessandra Phillips in America, Alexandra Dickson Leach in England and Mhari Lamont in Scotland. Best wishes to you all!

Christopher Wiltshire

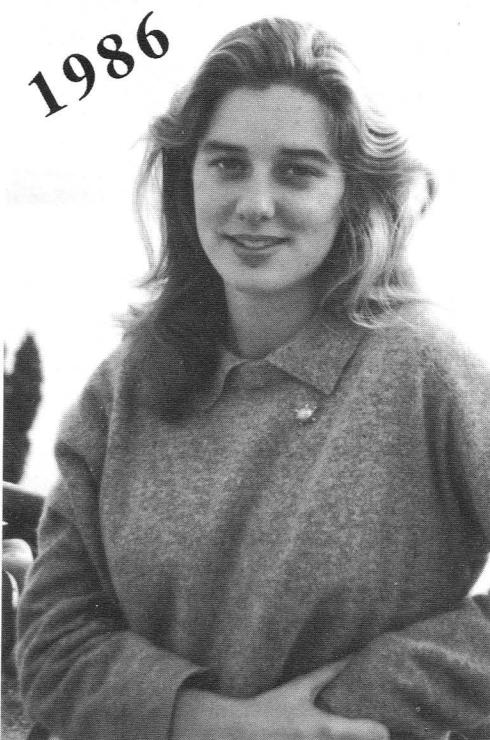

I am now in my second year at St. Andrews University, Scotland, studying English, French and Scottish History. I somehow managed to come first in English last year so I'll be ending up with a degree in English.

Looking back, perhaps the most memorable thing about Kellett for the people in my year is that it grew as we did, only becoming a full school when we reached Primary VI. Leaving Kellett was the first time we weren't the oldest year in the school.

I can still remember visiting the empty site where Kellett School now stands, and moving in from our old premises with some classrooms still unfinished. It has certainly changed since we left.

My name is Audrey Clerc-Renaud. This name may be familiar to some of you because of my young brother Benji now in Primary 3. I left Kellett 6 years ago for Island School where I am still studying.

This Lower 6th Year has allowed me to participate in the school's life in various ways: I was elected 1st Form Link which gave me the opportunity to go to camp with the 1st Formers, and I was nominated House Prefect which gave me the authority to speak as a teacher to younger students.

I have been involved in the "Islander" committee to produce our school yearbook, similar to the Kellett Magazine, and I am now helping to organize our school fair which will take place in April. There is a lot of charity involvement in Island School: I recently took part in the "Cambodia Evening" which raised money for the transport of artificial limbs to Cambodia, and my class is preparing a "Valentine Delivery Service" for the benefit of Oxfam.

I am pleased to say that after having started the flute and singing at Kellett, I am now part of the Island School orchestra and choir. The hockey I used to practise for P.E. on Kellett's playground I now play in large pitches against other schools. I was in the B'grade this year and we managed to come 2nd in our division.

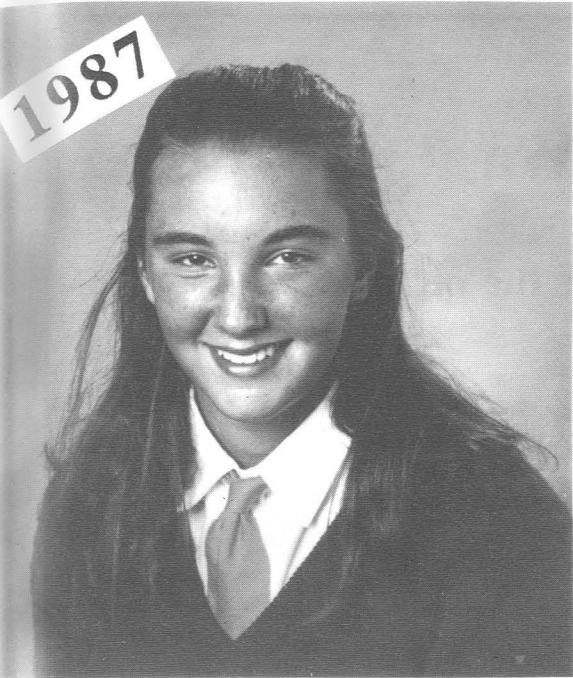

I'm always happy to have news from Kellett as it has been a memorable part of my childhood. So "Stay ace. Stay cool. You belong to Kellett School".

After finishing my primary education at Kellett School in 1984, I joined Holmewood House, a prep school in England. I completed my secondary and Six Form education at Charterhouse a year ago. I am now studying Physics at the Imperial College. Some of my former Kellett classmates also live in London and we occasionally meet to catch up on everyone's progress. I also enjoy classical piano music, playing tennis and chess.

Alexandra Dunnett went to Benenden in Kent at the age of 11 having completed 5 happy and well prepared years at Kellett. She has now completed almost 5 years at Benenden and will be sitting 9 subjects at GCSE this summer. She has decided that 5 years is long enough in one place and will go to Cranleigh, a boys Public School for her Sixth Form studies. Cranleigh has over 80 girls in the Sixth Form and she is contemplating taking Economics, Geography and Politics for A Level.

In the sporting field, Alexandra has excelled at swimming being the captain of year twice and in the school team throughout. One year she raised nearly STG500 on a sponsored swim for Multiple Sclerosis. Obviously Benenden has a full range of all sorts of activities in most of which Alexandra has participated (piano, drama, etc.) but memorable are the termly "dormie feasts" held late at night towards the end of term at which vast quantities of junk food are consumed frequently ending in food fights. Clearly social eating is a feature of life as Alexandra recently co-hosted a dinner party of sixteen with friends from school plus sundry boys whom they knew. Alexandra usually manages to meet up with some old friends from Kellett during the school days.

I am now in the 4th form at Island School and have just started my G.C.S.E's. I play football for my school and hockey for the Colt's A. My life has been influenced enormously by Kellett School and there were many things I enjoyed: Cubs, The Huan, P.E., and lessons with Mrs. Coultaus, to name a few. I wouldn't want to go back to Kellett because there's much more to do at Island School and it's much more challenging, I guess.

My name is Peter and I am now 12 years old and was in Kellett 6th grade with Mr Marshall from 1989 - 1990. I have been at H.K.I.S. for 2 years and I am enjoying it.

I play football and basketball and do cross-country running. I made the school team in the interschool championships. I also play a lot of squash and was runner-up in the Hong Kong Open Under 13 Plate Event.

At school we have everything on computer, atlas, encyclopedia, positions of books in the library and even a bible. This we don't need so much as we have a guy in our religion class who is capable of reciting the Bible!

This year our grade is going to China. I will be spending a week travelling by bike through southern China.

Peter Blockey

Tamsin Lee left Kellett in June 1989, after 2 very happy years. She then completed 2 years and 1 term at South Island School. She started boarding school at "Abbotsleigh School in Sydney, Australia, in January this year. She seems to have settled in well and is enjoying most aspects of her new school - apart from the meals - commonly known amongst the boarders as "chew and spew"!

Unable to play sports for the past six months due to a badly broken leg, the result of a skiing accident, she is looking forward to taking up basketball and badminton, 2 sports new to her. She has very fond memories of Kellett and loves hearing all the school news via her younger sister, Melissa, and Mum.

Sophie Corstin was at Kellett School from Reception to Primary Six. She now goes to Parsons Mead School in Ashtead, Surrey - it is a girls school with 500 pupils.

She has joined the Maths, Art and Young Engineers club where they are making door-bells. Her interests include dancing, speech and drama, singing and swimming.

She still misses Hong Kong - the weather in UK is not good - but is settling into life in England very well.

We would like to thank Linda Pujol, who took the photos of the Christmas Concerts, and Carol Guest and her photographers for all their hard work. Many excellent photos were also sent in by parents.

We would also like to thank Josephine Price and Peter Witton for the generous loan of their computer and for the use of their laser printer.
