

JACKHAMMER MAN KILLED

James Roberts, 37, who has been working at the dam site as a jackhammer man since September 21, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a falling rock while working in the Nevada spillway raise. Roberts died of a fractured skull while on the way to the Boulder City hospital.

He is believed to be survived by a wife and child, residents of Joliet, Montana.
