

Thomas Hancock, Pioneer, Passes Away in Calif.

Thomas R. Hancock, Boulder Pioneer who helped bring the first power to the Boulder Canyon project, was laid to rest the afternoon of April 9 at the Elks plot of Woodlawn cemetery, in Santa Monica, after ceremonies by officers of the San Fernando lodge of BPO Elks.

Hancock, a member of the Boulder City Elks lodge, had died in his sleep during the previous Saturday night, having suffered a heart ailment for some time.