New superintendent of Boulder City Hospital is to be Mary Sim Ferguson of Washington, D. C.

Miss Ferguson succeeds Genevieve Sutton, who will retire March 1.

The new superintendent has already arrived, and will live at the Cherry Lynn Apartments.

She attended University of Chicago and Northwestern University. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree and the rank of captain in the Public Health Service.

Miss Ferguson has been with PHS eight years, the last five of which were spent in conducting field demonstrations and surveys in venereal disease control. Her last assignment was at Jackson, Miss.

Mrs. Sutton is a graduate of Huntington Memorial Hospital, Pasadena. She received her public health training at University of California and her teacher's training at University of Southern California.
