

William Harrison, Pioneer Merchant, Dies in Redding

News of the death of William Harrison, early Boulder City merchant, was received today by Harry Blalock. BCN Fri

Harrison died yesterday in Redding, Calif., where he owned a clothing store in partnership with William Goodrich, also an early resident here. 20 Dec 1946

He operated a clothing store in the old Terminal building during the construction of the dam, then moved to Redding in 1937.

He was first president of the Commercial Association, forerunner of the Chamber of Commerce.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at McDonald Funeral Chapel, Redding. 1:4
