

Death of R. R. Fugate, Former B. C. Resident, Told in Letter Here

Word has been received of the death of R. R. Fugate, former Boulder City resident, at Globe, Ariz.

In a letter from Mrs. Fugate, now living at Taft, Calif., she informed Mrs. Fred Rader that her husband died of a heart attack Feb. 14, when working in a mine, where he had been employed only a short time. Burial was at Globe.

The Fugates were well known here before they moved away about two years ago. He worked at Boulder Dam as a rigger for the Bureau of Reclamation, and belonged to the Masonic Lodge.
