Last week I related some information about the Six Companies Executive Lodge (now the LADWP Lodge), as related by Ida Mae Williams, the lodge's caretaker during the 1980s. Here's more:

The major changes to the lodge occurred in the 1980s, during Ida Mae's tenure. Two small patios adjacent to the bedrooms were enclosed and the existing French doors were removed to increase the size of the bedrooms and make space for three new bathrooms, thus giving each of the six bedrooms its own private bath.

The kitchen was renovated at this time, too. The swing-down ironing board was removed, a modern sink with a garbage dis-
