

LOCAL FIGHTER LANDS IN JAIL AFTER BATTLE

LV Age 2 Feb 1933 p. 1

Virgil Kea, local colored resident and Big Six Companies employe, has found himself in several scraps with local officers and has usually managed to talk his way out of trouble, but when he was arrested late yesterday afternoon on an alleged assault and battery count, it was believed that "the lid would be clamped down" on the brawny colored lad.

Kea was arrested at 220 North Third street, when reports of a brawl reached the police station, and he claimed he was entirely without fault in the affair, stating that he had merely returned home from work and entered the house when the occupants who were "partying" jumped on him and started to beat him.
