Boulderites Involved in Top Echelon Changes of Manganese Inc. Facility

BOULDER CITY — Changes in the top echelon at Manganese, Inc., on the Vegas Wash road, are of particular interest in Boulder City since all of the top officials are residents of the damsite community, it was noted in local engineering circles.

Though the community will be losing the F. A. McGonigle family, residing in the company house at 704 Aztec, it may gain to southern Nevada. Long became president after the death, some months ago, of Hewitt S. West.

During his visit, Long also announced other changes, among them the promotion of S. J. McCarroll from general superintendent of Manganese to consulting engineer for the entire Haile organization. McCarroll, a nationally known expert on manganese, was discharged from the Boulder City
