

Air Base Soldiers Can't Live in B. C.

From information gathered by the NEWS last night, it was learned that air base personnel at the reactivated Air Corps center in Las Vegas will not be allowed to go beyond 12 miles of the field to set up living quarters.

Which means Boulder City will not be benefitted by the big news of the additional 3,000 population due to move into the county by March. During the war, the base allowed personnel to live here.

Indirect benefit will come, however, with the frequent visits by the enlisted men and officers to the dam and Lake Mead.

Henderson will come within the 12 mile limit and thus will get some of the good effects that are sure to come with the million dollar a month payroll to the base.
