

Civil Defense<sup>x</sup> Head Named

BOULDER CITY — By a unanimous vote of City Council members Tuesday William "Big Bill" McCullough was named the new director of civil defense for the city.

McCullough, a retired power plant mechanic for the Bureau of Reclamation, presently heads the Mayor's Beautification Committee. He served for a number of years with the city's recreation department and was instrumental in helping establish the local baseball fields.