Dr. Arthur Echerd

The 1993 Milestones editors choose to dedicate this yearbook to a teacher who in his seven years at Harpeth Hall has embodied the essence of the theme, facets. While lecturing from bell to bell, he can be found performing golf club antics or frantically searching for a visual aid from one of the many books covering his desk. If he is not in his classroom, he could be in the gymnasium, on the softball field, in the auditorium or in the gallery where he wholeheartedly supports every facet of student-body life. Whether a student is curious about Ancient Roman trivia or the most recent political structure in the former Soviet Union, he usually has the answer. On the rare occasion he does not, he agrees to search until an answer is found. He gives his students a firm grasp of history, past and present, so that they may become informed and well-spoken young women. For his support of students, sense of humor, diversified knowledge, and love of teaching, we, the editors, honor Dr. Arthur Echerd by dedicating to him the 1993 Milestones.

Ms. Frances Wynne

The Eighth grade class of 1993 chooses to recognize a member of the Middle School faculty who has shown continued support and dedication to the Harpeth Hall community. She arrived at Harpeth Hall in 1979, and began teaching the Sixth graders the fundamentals of Reading while impressing upon the Eighth graders the importance of Ancient Civilizations. This class also includes an introduction to Art History which proves valuable to girls who wish to pursue this subject in the Upper School. Not only does she teach her students about the Samarians and Babylonians, but she instills within them the qualities of mature young women which will endure long after they leave her classroom. While enrolled in her course, students are often mesmerized by her lectures and filled with respect for a teacher they will never forget. For her high standards of academic excellence, preservation of Harpeth Hall traditions, and genuine concern for her students, the 1993 Milestones is dedicated to Ms. Frances Wynne.

FACETS

With its plaid skirts, all-female student body, and image as an academically-stimulating college preparatory school, Harpeth Hall seems from the outside as constant as the building which serves as it hub, Souby Hall. Yet, within these walls is a changing atmosphere composed of a combination of the attitudes and characters of all members of this community. From those gigantic L.L. Bean backpacks to hair tied up in knots or held in place by pencils, from free periods spent basking in the sun to that all too common unfocused gaze of students who have awakened only fifteen minutes before the first bell, life at Harpeth Hall is truly a unique experience. Although the continuous cycle of living replaces older students with younger ones, some of the aspects of Harpeth Hall are maintained. Others, however, are quite ephemeral and survive only as the memories of students transformed all too quickly into alums. These are the moments that the Editors of Milestones have striven to hold onto through the words and pictures of this year's annual. Thus, this goal has become the theme of the 1993 Milestones — to capture these very facets.

Mom, Dad, Allie, William, Kim and CAT: I love you. Thanks.

Julie Barrett

"My most cherished possession I wish I could leave you is my faith in Jesus Christ, for with him and nothing else you can be happy, but without him and with all else you'll never be happy." — Patrick Henry

I pray that out of his glorious riches he may strengthen you with power through his Spirit in your inner being, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith. And I pray that you, being rooted and established in love, may have power, together with all the saints, to grasp how wide and long and high and deep is the love of Christ, and to know this love which surpasses knowledge — that you may be filled to the measure of all the fullness of God. Ephesians 3:16-19

For to me, to live is Christ and to die is gain. Philippians 1:21

Anne Bartholomew

To my family, friends, and Zach —
I love you all very much.
Thank you for all you have done for me.
I will really miss you!
With love from Lennie

Lanier Bond

Kelley Bourke

What do I want? I want to understand just enough to allow me to make decisions that are best for me. I want a true love that loves me for all I'm worth. I want respect. I want a little pity. I want the good guys on my side. I want women equal to men. I want a simplicity I can fall in love with. I want all guilt cut and left bleeding on the rocks. I want radiant health. I want a dollop of self-esteem sloshing around in my soul. I want to live and fall and breathe and ache and run and crash and swim and wound myself and be left out to feud. I want to know and avoid all buffers. I want to fight and rip flesh and emerge painfully exhilarated. I want to think before I speak. I want to extract the desk from my mental furniture and put in a few more closets and chests. I want to learn wildness from the mountains and the rain and the wolves and fear nothing (except people afraid). I want to be buried naked and dirty in a meadow so that the "flowers might finally have time for me." As for now and these simple memories, all I can say is that I feel more like I do now than I did when I first got here.

Tricia Bryan

I am a part of all I have met. — Tennyson

I left the woods for as good a reason as I went there. Perhaps it seemed to me that I had several more lives to live, and could not spare any more time for that one.

to live out a dream.
Your belief in me surpasses
everything.
Collin and David, you've made me stronger, and
I love you for it.
Try and survive without me!

Lindsey Cigarran

Emily Compton

I am going to my own hearth-stone,
Bosomed in yon green hills alone; —
A secret nook in a pleasant land,
Whose groves the frolic fairies planned; And when I am stretched beneath the pines, Where the evening star so holy shines ... Where arches green, the livelong day, Echo the blackbird's roundelay ... A spot that is sacred to thought and God.
— Ralph Waldo Emerson
"Goodbye"

I have, let's say, sixty years to live. Most of that time will be spent working. I've chosen the work I want to do ... And I can find the joy only if I do my work in the best way possible to me ... I set my own standards ... I stand at the end of no tradition. I may, perhaps, stand at the beginning of one.
— Ayn Rand, The Fountainhead

All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players;
They have their exits and their entrances ... — Shakespeare

"We visit this world for only a moment and that moment is known as life. During this time we learn about laughter, but also of tears. We find more questions than we do answers. We experience the joy of new arrivals and feel the sadness of loved ones' departures. So we must try to live every second, for oh, so quickly our moment is gone."

Gather ye rosebuds while ye may,
Old time is still a-flying:
And this same flower that smiles today,
Tomorrow will be dying.

The glorious lamp of heaveo, the suo,
The higher he's a-getting,
The sooner will his race be ruo,
Aod nearer he's to setting.

The age is best which is the first,
Wheo youth aod blood are warmer;
But being spilt, the worse, aod worst
Times, still succeed the former.

Theo be not coy, but use your time;
Aod while ye may, go marry:
For having lost but once your prime,
You may forever tarry.

"'In that time of your life — live!' That time is short and it doesn't return again. It is slipping away while I write this and while you read it, and the monosyllable of the clock is Loss, loss, loss, unless you devote your heart to its opposition."

A noiseless patient spider,
I mark'd where on a little promontory it stood isolated,
Mark'd how to explore the vacant vast surrounding,
It launch'd forth filament, filament, filament, out of itself,
Ever unreeling them, ever tirelessly speeding them.
And you O my soul where you stand,
Surrounded, detatched, in measureless oceans of space,
Ceaselessly musing, venturing, throwing, seeking the spheres to connect them,
Till the bridge you will need be form'd, till the ductile anchor hold,
Till the gossamer thread you fling catch somewhere, O my soul.

This Bridge By Shel Silverstein
This bridge will only take you halfway there
To those mysterious lands you long to see:
Through gypsy camps and swirling Arab fairs
And moonlit woods where unicorns run free.
So come and walk awhile with me and share
The twisting trails and wondrous worlds I've known.
But this bridge will only take you halfway there —
The last few steps you'll have to take alone.

Good luck, everybody! Take care. Love,

"They are more to me than life, these voices, they are more than motherliness and more than fear; they are the strongest, most comforting thing there is anywhere: they are the voices of my comrades . . I am no longer a shuddering speck of existance, alone in the darkness; — I belong to them and they to me; we all share the same fear and the same life, we are nearer than lovers, in a simpler, a harder way; I could bury my face in them, in these voices, these words that have saved me and will stand by me."

Erich Maria Remarque

"Do you not hear, I have no thought of joy!
The reeling whirl I seek, the most painful excess.
Enamored hate and quickening distress.
Cured from the craving to know all, my mind
Shall not henceforth be closed to any pain,
And what is portioned out to all mankind,
I shall deep in my self, contain
Within my spirit summit and abyss,
Pile on my breast their agony and bliss,
And thus let my own self grow into theirs, unfettered,
Till as they are, at last I, too, am shattered . . ."

Youth is not a time of life; it is a state of mind ...
It is the freshness of the deep springs of life.
Nobody grows old merely by living a number of years.
People grow old by deserting their ideals ...
Whether sixty or sixteen, every human being may Experience wonder ... the undaunted challange of events ...
The unfailing, childlike appetite for the future ...
The joy in living. For you are as young as your faith ...
As old as your doubt ... as young as your self-confidence ...
As old as your despair. As long as your heart receives Messages of beauty ... hope ... cheer ... courage ... and Power from God and from your fellow man, you are young.

MARYETH HALL

FACULTY

Ms. Leah Rhys

In her two short years at Harpeth Hall, Ms. Leah Rhys has had a tremendous impact on our school. Her fresh, innovative ideas have benefitted the Hall immeasurably: from an extra half-hour on Fridays, to an influx of new blood on the staff, to a greatly increased enthusiasm for student athletics and arts. Mrs. Rhys has proven herself as an apt leader and capable administrator as well as a personable Head and affable hostess. Kirkman House has been the scene of a number of gatherings, including a reception given by the Board to honor the faculty and staff and an orange-juice-and-donuts breakfast courtesy of the Head lady herself for her advisee group of Sophomores and Juniors. Ms. Rhys' close involvement with the school she heads has made her aware of and interested in the daily routine of Harpeth Hall and the people who make it work — namely, the teachers and students who are the heart of the Hall.

Ms. Susan Baughman

Ms. Susan Baughman not only fulfills her role as Director of the Upper School, but she also offers her services in many other areas of the Harpeth Hall community; she serves as sponsor for both the Honor Council and the Student-Faculty Committee. Ms. Baughman expresses her love for her job by the way she diligently guides each student's course of study through four years at Harpeth Hall. When explaining her job, she says, "One of the reasons I enjoy my job so much is that I work with all the constituencies of the school: the students, the teachers, and the parents. There is great satisfaction in being a part of young women's education and growth."

Ms. Lindy Sayers

In her fourth year at Harpeth Hall, Ms. Lindy Sayers continues to prove her excellence as Middle School Director. Not only does she serve as a positive and influential role model for her students, she also takes an active part in their lives. Mrs. Sayers teaches all of the Life Skills classes in the Middle School and attends all class trips. About her involvement with the students, she says, "I could not be successful in my job as Director if I didn't get involved in the students' affairs." Mrs. Sayers has also made her fourth year one of change. With the help of the faculty, she has rearranged the daily schedule in order to create room for a new Middle School dance club, chorus, and other worthwhile activities.

What Would We . . .

Ms. Hilrie Brown and her new assistant Ms. Jane Groos head Admissions at Harpeth Hall. They are responsible for organizing the Admissions Open House, touring and interviewing prospective students, and directing the Ambassador Society. They provide the perfect introduction to any potential student.

Mr. William Hayward and Ms. Anne King work to keep Harpeth Hall from running in the red. Without their financial expertise, student ticket sales would be chaos, accounting records would not be accurate, and teachers would not be paid on time. Ms. King and Mr. Hayward are indispensible to Harpeth Hall.

Do Without Them?

Ms. Diane Wild, Director of Alumnae, and Ms. Polly Nichols, Director of Development, are crucial members of the Harpeth Hall community. Ms. Wild coordinates all class reunions and keeps alumnae informed of events and changes of The Hall. Ms. Nichols is responsible for all fund raisers such as Run for the Green and the Main Event. Ms. Nichols also works to procure endowments for Harpeth Hall.

Harpeth Hall students and faculty are privileged to have a library with an outstanding collection and librarians who are not only knowledgeable but also interested in helping everyone. Ms. Nancy Rumsey and Ms. Karen Douse make the library an integral part of the school.

Ms. Emily Fuller is the Director of Special Programs at Harpeth Hall. She coordinates The Bear Patrol, Winterim, and Special Programs. Without her dedication, students would not have the many opportunities that Harpeth Hall has given them.

Ms. Liza Lentz, Guidance Counselor, practices an open-door policy with her students. Sophomore year, students take her Peer Counseling class where they discuss relationships and other issues facing teenagers today. If ever a problem arises, students know to whom they may turn.

Dr. Heath Jones serves as Harpeth Hall's Dean of Faculty. His duties consist of heading both the Curriculum Committee and the Teacher Evaluation Committee. Both the faculty and students greatly benefit from his diligence and dedication.

Mr. Phil Hooper, College Counselor, has the arduous task of dealing with frantic seniors convinced that they are not getting into college. In addition, he prepares juniors for the application process through college counseling that make the procedure seem less foreign and intimidating. He talks frequently with Seniors trying to match the right school with the right girl.

Fixin' and Feedin'

Headed by Mr. Don McMahon, Harpeth Hall's Maintenance Department handles a variety of tasks on campus. From maintaining the lawns to replacing window panes kicked out by Seniors, they provide the campus with a sense of order and security.

"May I charge this?" is a common question for Barbara and Judy. Their answer is usually a sweet "Yes." Judy with her "sup"ersonic radar for tracking down overdrawn students and Barbara with her knack for wonderful cooking form a perfect partnership. What other school has a lunch like ours?

Good Morning, Harpeth Hall, . . .

Who keeps Harpeth Hall running? Surely it is the Harpeth Hall Secretaries whom we all love so much. Whether answering phones, typing, checking attendance, sending out report cards, or taking care of us when we are sick, they are warm, kind, and always capable. The secretaries are well-appreciated by both the students and faculty for their hard work and caring. They do a sensational job keeping everything at Harpeth Hall running smoothly. What would we ever do without them?

Who Says Girls Can't Do Math?

This year the math department at Harpeth Hall offered many courses, including algebra, geometry, calculus, and discrete mathematics, a new edition to the growing Harpeth Hall math curriculum. The department also purchased two sets of graphing calculators and participated in four math contests with local schools. Mrs. Carol Oxley says the math department has "A program so every girl can reach her potential."

What's Nu?

Harpeth Hall science: a student can either say that she survived it or that she loved it in spite of the strenuous and rigorous challenges it entails. To study science is to discover the fascinating world in which we live. These teachers try to be as creative and crazy as possible in order to help their students comprehend and understand this discovery, creating Frog Queens, conquerors of the mole, and fizzicks lovers. If the students at Harpeth Hall did not have these teachers plus wonderful resources, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Botany, and Ecology would leave no imprint on their minds.

There She Blows!

The English Department was fortunate this year to welcome two new faculty members to the Upper School: Ms. Nancy Grimes, the new department chair, and Ms. Karen Roark. The entire department has employed innovative techniques to create a more refreshing atmosphere for students. Upper school students are challenged with such literature as The Odyssey, Gulliver's Travels, Moby Dick, and many Shakespearean plays, as well as with piles and piles of writing assignments. Middle School English focuses on writing autobiographies, essays, and poetry as well as reading plays, short stories, novels, and non-fiction. Teaching English possesses a challange, but the English Department makes classes spontaneous and exciting.

Parler. Hablar. Aut Non Dicere.

Being able to effectively communicate with other people is one of the most important skills one can acquire. The Foreign Language Department not only teaches students an understanding of French, Spanish, or Latin; it imparts a general appreciation of other cultures. As the world leaders of tomorrow, students can get a head start by being able to communicate with their contemporaries in other countries. All students leave Harpeth Hall with a solid background in a foreign language and a willingness to accept other cultures.

A New World Order

Are you ready to go back in time? The Harpeth Hall Social Sciences Department, chaired by Dr. Art Echerd, allows students to learn more about events and societies in both the United States and countries abroad. Juniors and Seniors are required to take European and American History while many Freshmen and Sophomores elect to take Psychology, Economics, or American Government. In the Middle School, students study an array of subjects ranging from Ancient Civilization to Colonial America. The Social Sciences Department is dedicated to its discipline and provides students with a greater understanding of the world in which they live.

Just Do It.

Where can you find tennis balls bouncing over the fences, golf balls soaring over Souby Hall, and countless injuries from poorly executed jazz splits? The Harpeth Hall Physical Education Department — we love it! The head of the Physical Education Department is Mrs. Pat Moran. She has been a dedicated teacher at Harpeth Hall for many years. Harpeth Hall's P.E. Department is unique because students may choose between dance or P.E. Ms. Matthews teaches students the fundamentals of jazz and modern dance. In P.E., students play many different sports such as tennis, basketball, and volleyball. After freshman year, students choose to continue their study of either dance or P.E. for the rest of their years at Harpeth Hall.

Free Your Mind

What do Fred Astaire, Ansel Adams, Shakespeare, Mozart, and Michelangelo have in common? They are all alive and well in the Harpeth Hall Fine Arts Department. A broad range of art forms is offered at Harpeth Hall including studio art, dance, photography, art history, and drama. The teachers of these disciplines encourage each student to develop her understanding and mastery of technique through each assignment stressing individuality. Students at Harpeth Hall have always felt the lasting effects of their experience in the fine arts, which is a direct result of the continuing dedication of the Fine Arts Department.

The Student Council, led by President Kate Sherrard, has many responsibilities throughout the year, both to the school and to the students. They organized events such as dances, Community Service Day, and other exciting festivities in which the students could participate. Fortunately, a student who was not originally elected to the Student Coucil can earn her way onto the Council by working in the Bear Necessities, cleaning up after dances, or doing other service jobs for the school. The Student Council works to do what the students want and has become more in tune with the students' needs. The Student Council did a wonderful job organizing this year's events and should be thanked for their continous hard work.

Honkey what?

Decisions, Decisions

The Middle School Student Council plays an important role in Middle School life by organizing school-wide activities. Led by President Catherine Workman, and Sponser Mrs. Mabry, the Council kept the Middle School students entertained all year with activities such as a talent show, a Halloween costume contest, and hot chocolate breaks during the long, stressful winter. With such a friendly Student Council, Catherine Workman found it enjoyable to make friends with members of other grade levels, and she hopes that Middle School students have felt comfortable and involved this year.

President Catherine Workman, Vice-President Molly Martin, and Sponsor Ms. Sally Mabry.

A Few Good Women

The Honor Council simply believes in integrity. To further this ideal, the elected students, along with Ms. Susan Baughman, discuss cases of infringement upon the Honor Code. They do not punish or condemn, but review and recommend. The job of the Honor Council can be strenuous at times because decisions of the heart and mind must be dealt with objectively. It has been proven again and again that the students on the council have been able to make these decisions and to keep the spirit of honesty alive at Harpeth Hall.

H2O Bottles: To Sip Or Not To Sip

Where on the Harpeth Hall campus do you find not only students but also teachers discussing topics ranging from water bottles to AP exams? The Student Faculty Committee meeting is just the place. Each month the committee meets to discuss topics concerning daily life at Harpeth Hall. It is composed of a select group of teachers and student representatives from each class. This year the committee is under the leadership of Senior Courtney Cooper. Any student is welcome and any topic is fair game for discussion during the meetings. The Student Faculty Committee is unique to Harpeth Hall because it allows the faculty and student body to work together for solutions to campus problems. Anytime a concern arises, students know just the place to go for the answer . . . The Student Faculty Committee.

The Key To The Community

The Key to success and happiness is helping others. No one knows this better than the Harpeth Hall Key Club, who did various activities to help the community. They began by working at the Italian Street Fair and continued through the year doing activities such as hanging shamrocks for Muscular Distrophy and helping at Traveller's Rest, Trees of Christmas, Cheekwood Easter Egg Hunt, and Steeplechase. With the help of Sponsor Ms. Louise Wills and President Mary Britton Thompson, the Key Club completed a busy and fulfilling year of community service. As one Key Clubber says, "There's nothing like knowing you helped your community."

And from across the room, their eyes met.

The PR Of Harpeth Hall

This year marked the debut of an exciting new program at Harpeth Hall. The Ambassador Society works closely with the Alumnae and Admissions office. This select group of girls gives tours, welcomes visitors, and ventures into the community to spread the word about Harpeth Hall. As representatives of the student body, these students are vital to the growth and development of the school. Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Groos, and the members of the Ambassador Society deserve to be congratulated for all of their hard work and for a job well done.

Once Upon A Time . . .

Books on the ground;
The plaid skirts all around;
Debating and eating their lunches,
The girls sit in groups of bunches.

The books lie flat and straight;
The tales they tell are quite great;
The girls themselves are the best;
They read with gusto and with zest.

Yes I Govern

President Stephanie Smartt, Vice-President Rachel Reeves, Secretary Page Curry, Treasurer Crispin Davis, and Sponsor Dr. Jim Cooper.

The chair of the Model United Nations recognizes the Harpeth Hall Youth in Government Club as the best in the Middle District. YIG is where the future leaders of the Hall and the world can be found. Each year they attend Model United Nations and Youth Legislature, and at these conferences students propose bills on an array of topics in an attempt to pass their legislation and make it a law. Stephanie Smartt and Page Curry won a case in the international Court, and the proposal of Holly Whetsell and Rachel Reeves made it all the way to the General Assembly, while Jamie Heller and Crirpin Davis were elected Vice-President and Director General of Model UN, respectively. The zealous sponsor, Dr. Jim Cooper, led the club to one of the most productive sessions ever.

Sorority Babes Taken To Court

It was a case of sorority hazing, a night of wild parties and dangerous pranks turned sour. In the midst of the mahem, Charlotte West was thrown over a balcony and then proceeded to sue the PIG sorority, who was hosting the bash. Charlotte's case was argued by Malena Salberg and Christie Fontecchio, while Eva Jane Rawlings and Rebecca Russell, counsel for PIG, tried to prove that the party was "all in good fun" and that the injury was an "accident." No, these Harpeth Hall students did not appear in the last episode of L.A. Law; they were members of Harpeth Hall's Mock Trial Team. The team won the City competition and went on to State to represent Harpeth Hall. This year's team reached great heights, and they look forward to continued success in the years to come.

Free The People

Amnesty International, an international organization that stands up for the rights of persons who are put in jail for unjust reasons and who are persecuted for their race or political beliefs, is an active club at Harpeth Hall. Sponsered by Mr. Tad Wert, this group of girls is persistant in trying to free prisoners in other countries. By writing letters to foreign governments, HH students speak out to ensure the civil rights of the prisoners, while advocating their own freedom of speech and expression. This diverse organization was led by president, Amy Lowen, who says, "Being in Amnesty International is a simple way to get involved and show you care about others around the world. Just by writing a few letters, the members of this club can help people who are suffering." As usual, Harpeth Hall students have found one more way of getting involved and making a difference in the world today.

The Microscopic Club

This year, the Science Club was led by President Shelly Holmer. She has effortlessly led the Club to the bottom of the sea at the Tennessee Aquarium and flown through space at the Huntsville Space Center. After graduation, fun loving and aspiring scientists will venture to the Ocoee River for some wet and wild fun in the sun. Sadly, the Science Club will not be back next year, as all members are graduating, and there will be a black hole where the Science Club used to be.

The French Club began the year with a bang and just kept rolling. In September, the clubs hosted a farewell dinner for the three French exchange students who attended Harpeth Hall. Later the club participated in the first annual French Immersion Day at MBA along with students from various other schools in the Nashville area. The French Club also planned and carried out other exciting activities such as dinners and service projects. This club has worked its way to being one of the most exciting and active clubs on the Harpeth Hall campus.

The Middle School French Club provides interesting and cultured activities for those girls who are studying French. There is an annual French Banquet held by sponsor Mr. Lauderdale and club members. Amid the croissants and cafe au lait, the girls exhibited their linguistic skills. A good time is had by all and a little French is learned, as well.

Little Caesars

The study of an ancient language and culture from a past time and place, the preservation of classical antiquity, the examination of plebians, patricians, and Caesars, all equal the Middle School Latin Club. This year's many members of the Middle School Latin Club were led by President Hontas McGee and Sponsor Ms. Carol Hagan. The young club had a very strong showing in both the State and Mid-State Latin Conventions, including Katie Kaminski's first-in-state award.

The Harpeth Hall chapter of the Junior Classical League has been active in serving the community and in participating at Latin conventions. On Halloween, members of JCL decked out in togas and other costumes, trick-or-treated for UNICEF. On a more academic note, the JCLers attended several Latin conventions where they, once again, brought home a number of awards. This summer they're planning to do the same thing at the National JCL convention in Miami, Ohio.

The Spanish Club does not just dream of sitting back, eating a burrito, or dancing the Lambada with Julio Iglasis; they actually do these things, and with a leader like Senora Dishman, who could be surprised? These girls are truly Spanish at heart. Feasting on fine Mexican cuisine and hosting a Halloween pinata bust are a few of the club's favorite activities. The prerequesite? Get a few sombreros and a few senors, and you are on your way.

This year the Middle School added a new language to its curriculum. Many of the Middle School students have decided to take Spanish and to join the Spanish Club. In October, they became pen-pals with students in Mexico who are between the ages of twelve and fourteen. These Spanish Clubers enjoy writing their pen-pals in Spanish and especially enjoy receiving letters. This was a wonderful first year for the Spanish Club, and they look forward to next year.

The Voice Of The Hall

Logos II, Harpeth Hall's rendition of The New York Times, is an informative newspaper that covers events on campus and tells of the many accomplishments of our brilliant students. In the paper, students are able to voice their opinions, raise issues, and discuss events. Read by students and faculty alike, Logos II personifies all who contribute to it. Co-editors-in-chief Malena Salberg and Emily Compton along with sponsor, Ms. Huff, have made changes with new additions such as an assemblies capsule and an entertainment section. Logos II is only distributed four times a year, but each issue lives up to the high expectations of both students and faculty.

Now Where's The Food?

When's the deadline? #$?!!&* Where's your copy? @$?!! We don't have any candids! $!@$$?# These are some familiar phrases muttered by disgruntled Milestones editors and staff. Both the editors and staff put in a tremendous amount of hard work to meet deadlines and produce a quality yearbook. A variety of jobs are involved from cropping pictures to dealing with uncooperative computers and photo companies. Each Friday, the girls meet in the Bear Lair to eat, work, and camp out, if need be, to ensure that these very pages get finished on time. Along with the wonderful and energetic sponsor, Mrs. Girgus, Milestones is completed without a hitch.

Deep Thoughts

"Submit an article to Hallmarks and be a part of the creative community at Harpeth Hall" is the motto of Senior Heather Hodde. She and other Hallmarks editors Caroline West and Stephanie Cook collaborate with English teachers to choose creative staff members for the 1993 edition of Harpeth Hall's literary magazine. Hallmarks is a memorable collection of student photographs, artwork, poems, and creative writing. Any student may submit works to be considered for publication. Hallmarks provides these students with a forum to express their creativity.

L to R: Ms. Derah Myers, Caroline West, Heather Hodde, and Stephanie Cook.

At weekly evening meetings, a group of creative minds comes together at students' houses to discuss their poetry and creative writing. The meeting is a time when students can express their feelings about their own poetry and also can discuss other students' creative work. Much of the poetry and stories written by the students is submitted to Hallmarks, Harpeth Hall's literary magazine. This unique group provides an open forum for enlightening and meaningful discussions.

Pre-Deep Thoughts

Whispers of the Hall is not a group of hushed voices murmuring in the hallways but actually the Middle School literary magazine. For the third year in a row a committee of twenty-four students has selected various short stories, poems, or essays and incorporated them into one magazine. Unfortunately for the eagerly awaiting public, only two issues are released a year. The first issue contains short stories, and the second contains poetry. Many Middle Schoolers agree with the one student who said, "It should be coming out more because we all enjoy reading the creative works of the Middle School students."

The Cub Chronicle

Under the supervision of Ms. Scottie Girgus, the Middle School girls have once again pulled off the arduous task of publishing a newspaper. Every Monday, the editors and nineteen staff members meet over lunch and discuss the issues that will be discussed in the paper. Whether it be performing interviews, typing stories, or drawing, each girl has a task. With the students using the school's computers and their minds, The Cub Chronicle is distributed six to seven times per year. Altogether, the paper has served its purpose by entertaining enquiring minds that want to know.

If you go to the cafeteria on a Thursday afternoon in search of a snack, you are in for a big surprise. Instead of finding a cookie or some brownies, you will find a group of energetic Middle Schoolers gracing the hallowed black and white floors with their dancing. Founded last year, the Middle School Dance Club is for younger dancers who are not yet members of the Upper School clubs. Sponsored by Ms. Leslie Matthews, this program gives Middle Schoolers who are interested in Modern and Jazz technique the chance to explore their talents in a relaxed atmosphere. Watch out Upper Schoolers! The Middle Schoolers are dancing their way to fame!

Listen To Me

Under the direction of Ms. Judith Broadbent, a small, but talented group of Harpeth Hall girls have made impressive appearances at forensics meets around the state. Colleen Coffee, Sarah Davis, Sarah Ledford, Holly Meadows, Margaret McRedmond, Laura Marie Reed, and Ann Ripley all worked hard and performed outstandingly enabling this new club to get off to a first-rate start.

Do, re, mi, fa, so have you ever heard of the Harpeth Hall chorus? It is a group of approximately fifteen members who assemble three days a week after school to sing their hearts out. Since it is hard for many people to give up their time after school, next year the chorus will practice during lunch for thirty minutes, three days a week, with one practice after school. The chorus performs annually at a Holiday Concert in December and a joint concert with MBA in the spring. Over all, the chorus has had a successful year and is looking forward to a new season.

Thoroughly Thespians

Enduring rehearsals, tech calls that last forever, baking brownies at the last minute, and avoiding the wrath of angry Fran on the rampage is something Harpeth Hall Playmakers have learned to love. This year, the officers have learned more tricks for good babysitting than for dramatics with the frquent visits from Baby Jasmine during the meetings. From the director to the illustrious potted plant stage left, each contributes her own craziness to make every event true chaos! These activities might sound bizarre, but ask any Playmaker and she'll tell you no other club has so much fun in so many creative ways.

SPORTS

She Shoots! She Scores!

The Soccer team took the field early in August by attending a soccer camp at Vanderbilt University. The team learned how to work with each other and to communicate with one another on the field. Not starting the year as well as anticipated, the team improved greatly as the season went on. The team was led by twelve seniors who provided encouragement and motivation for the younger players. The season of 1992 proved profitable for everyone involved, and Coach Wiz is already preparing for the 1993 season.

Mr. Tad Wert and the Middle School soccer team had a mud-splattered, shin-splintered season this year. Working against Nature itself at times, the team conquered many of the obstacles in its path with the help of supportive parents and an excellent coach; although the record was not perfect this time, this up-and-coming young team is going to be one to watch in the future.

Honeycubs Haul!

The Middle School Cross Country team was quickly pushed into the season this year. Two days after practice began, the team ran in its first meet. Amy Enders led the team through the season to a well-deserved fifth place in the HVAC finals. With the help of new coach, Ms. Margaret Bean, the Cross Country team will undoubtedly continue to improve, and everyone looks forward to seeing these rising stars on the varsity team in the next few years.

RLH was their motto and that is what they did. Rain or shine, the Cross Country team put on their Nikes and hit the road. Most of Harpeth Hall can't even remember a team so accustomed to victory. Known as the Dream Team, this group had high hopes for the season which came alive in the races. The importance of winning was second only to the closeness they found as a team.

Seventh Place in State Tournament

Coached by the wit and golf expertice of Ms. Nan Reed, Linden Wiesman has led the golf team to a winning season. Although Linden is a one-woman team, she has managed to place first in the district and in the region. The golf team's star player had some trouble competing this season because it takes more than one player to compete. With this setback in mind, she has still found a way to get out on the course, swinging and putting her way to victory doing what she loves. Under the special care and supervision of Ms. Reed, Linden Wiesman has helped Harpeth Hall once again to achieve a winning season with a small but forceful team.

It is not a surprise that the 1992 fourteen member Volleyball team rose to great heights as runners-up in the district and winners in the region play-offs. In their diligent efforts to prepare themselves for upcoming matches, the team members began training during the summer at volleyball camp. They practiced aggressively throughout the volleyball season which extended from mid August to mid October. With the cooperation, determination, and dedication of the players, the Varsity Volleyball team was once again able to achieve its goal of reaching the final play-offs.

Everyone would probably agree that the Freshmen have way too much energy, but believe it or not, it can actually be quite useful . . . at least as far as the Freshman Volleyball team is concerned. This vivacious group of girls had a winning attitude. Coached by Ms. Legare Vest, the team practiced everyday for an hour and a half. All of their hard work definitely paid off, and the team ended with a winning season, losing only five times. As far as their futures are concerned, Ms. Vest believes that they have plenty of varsity potential.

The 1992-93 Middle School Volleyball Team had a rewarding season in which they experienced riotous fun while also putting forth their best effort. The enthusiastic team was lead by Coach Marie Burr, Captain McLean Johnston, and Co-captains Julia Brown and Molly Martin. Kate Celauro was selected for the prestigious all-tournament HVAC team. The team finished their season with a huge win over BGA. Coach Burr describes the team as a positive one with outstanding leadership that is already anticipating next year.

This year the Harpeth Hall Middle School had fifteen enthusiastic cheerleaders. They started their season in November with the Overbrook Classic and cheered until mid-February at the HVAC tournament. This year they also cheered for some of the more important sixth grade games. An exciting part of the 1992-1993 season was that George Malone, Ms. Malone's son, was the mascot "honeycub," and "He was the greatest!" says Mrs. Sayers.

The Sixth Grade basketball team proved this year that quality, not quantity, wins the game. The small but dominant team, coached by Scott O'Nell, stormed through the post-season tournament, posting a big win over St.Paul en route to a second place finish. In the final game, the Honeycubs were barely beaten by a powerhouse Oak Hill team. The regular season was rather unsuccessful, with one win over St. Paul, but the team members understood that winning isn't everything. They see the season as both a learning experience and a lot of fun.

Shoot Shoot Shoot To Score

The Middle School basketball team, coached by Mr. Phil Hooper, successfully completed yet another season. Our Honeycubs finished second in the pre-season Overbrook Classic. The all-tournement players were Catherine Workman, Katie Tidwell, and McLean Johnston. In the HVAC tournament, the team finished second with Katie Tidwell and McLean Johnston as the all-tournament players. Over all, the team's final record was 13-8, a record they are bound to be proud of.

Shootin' Hoops

This year the JV basketball team was led to victory by experienced Junior Charlotte West and her younger teammates; three sophomores and six freshmen composed the rest of the team. Point guard, Lacey Galbraith, got the ball moving while Christine West was the team's high scorer. Coached by the adept Chemistry wiz, Ms. Vest, the JV team completed its best season in history, and big things are expected of this young and talented team next year.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders shone this year under the guidance of their ringleader, Susanne Davis, and her assistant, Katie Stevens. They cheered for Harpeth Hall's JV basketball team under the tutelage of Coach Legare Vest. Some even say they are the reason for all the victories. The cheerleaders began their practices well before September and finished out the season with the team they cheered for successfully. Altogether, it was a good year for the girls in pleats and tennis shoes.

Senior Sherrard Steals the Show

The 1992-1993 varsity basketball team, coached by Mr. Springman, had a fantastic season. Led bt the lone Senior, Kate Sherrard, the team had a profitable season. With many students, parents, and fans to support the girls, the team played their games with determination and motivation. This year the Honeybears concluded the season by strutting their stuff on the court and placing 3rd in the District Tournament. Great things are expected of this young team in the years to come!

Jump! Shake Your Bootie!

All Honeybears are known for their enthusiasm, but everyone who is anyone in Nashville knows that when they see a girl in a green and white sailor suit they're in for a dose of true Harpeth Hall spirit. Even though they are best known for their trademark "BOOTIE" battle cry, these 11 girls have distinguished themselves in more ways than one. Their season began last summer at cheerleading camp where they picked up some pointers on cheers and dances, and then chanted their fellow students into a frenzy at two of the most lively and spirited pep rallies in Harpeth Hall history. Some students were reported to have gotten so excited during the fabulous dance medley, that they were forced to recouperate in the sick room. These enthusiastic Honeybears were successful in more than just supporting the basketball teams; they helped make Harpeth Hall a more spirited and exciting place.

The Varsity swimming and diving teams seem to bear the distinction of being the "loner" teams at Harpeth Hall. Since they do not practice on campus, they often have trouble generating publicity and garnering enthusiasm from the student body. Quietly, though, the Bearacudas have become one of the school's premier teams. Coached by Trish "the fish" Petrie and led by a "school" of year-round swimmers, the swimming team lost only three district meets all season. In the post-season, they placed third in the regional meet and ninth in the state competition. The two-woman diving team competed in the state meet, where Sophomore Dana Deaton placed sixth. The swim team graduated five dedicated leaders this year but retains sixteen members, so their future looks bright. The diving team will return both of its members next year. Thus, for years to come, the Bearacudas will remain in a "league" of their own.

Take Your Best Shot

Every Thursday night during the past winter, the Vanderbilt campus was invaded by a trail of trigger happy high school students. You guessed it; this fearless group is none other than the HH Riflery team, and their continual practicing has definately paid off. The twelve team members have led Harpeth Hall to 2nd place in the state and did not stop until they had blown the Big Red out of the water. Coach Bob Van Cleave had his hands full in the beginning, but he managed to shape these cowgirls into first rate sharp shooters. Led by Seniors Tricia Bryan and Eva Rawlings, the team's season went remarkably well.

Yet another successful season has passed for the Upper School Tennis team. Coached by Ms. Pat Moran, the team proved to be one of the better teams on the Harpeth Hall campus. After hitting innumerable balls over the fence into the surrounding jungle, the team refined their skills and began their matches. The team was well prepared and this preparation showed in their determination and fierce competition.

This year the formerly sweet and innocent "honeycub" was transformed to a fierce and vicious bear on the tennis court. Coached by Ms. Nan Reed and Ms. Patty Chadwell, these Middle School Aces served, lobbed, and volleyed their way to an undefeated season, barely missing the HVAC championship. Under the leadership of several Eighth grade team members, these battling bears gave a new definition to the green and white with their strength and determination. After this victorious season, the hallowed courts of the Upper School wait eagerly anticipating the coming of these raquet-wielding honeycubs.

Minor Leaguers

The Harpeth Hall Honeycubs had an outstanding season in softball this year. Under the expert direction of math teacher/softball enthusiast Ms. Marie Burr, the hard-driving Cubs celebrated a winning streak a half-mile wide. Mr. Hooper must be drooling; the varsity softball team has much to look forward to with these up-and-coming young players soon headed for the Upper School. The Honeycubs, as they should, give us hope for our future in softball as in everything else.

At Least They Got A Fence

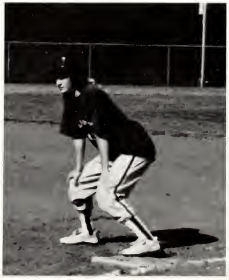

This year the softball team did not have one of the most rewarding seasons but still put forth a consistent effort. Even though the team did not have any victories, their persistence deserves recognition. Mr. Hooper and Mr. Goodwin led this young, inexperienced team through the season. The Seniors, Shay Upadhyaya and Emily Loyd, helped keep the spirit of the five Freshmen and other teammates high. The young team this year could mean victorious years ahead. If nothing else, at least the softball team has a new fence to block their opponents' homeruns!

Harpeth Hall has always been a respected force on the track, and this year was no exception. The 1993 Varsity Track team enjoyed an outstanding record, boasting first place finishes in several prominent meets. These wins did not come easily, and the runners were reportedly some of the hardest workers and fiercest competitors Harpeth Hall has ever turned out. These Honeybears could be found on the track in any condition whether it be rain, snow, sleet, or hail! Coaches Susan Russ and Kathy Boehm were always there to shout encouragements, and with the leadership of several Seniors, the team made it to the State Meet, where they were barely edged out of first place. Nonetheless, the 1993 Track team proved to themselves that through pain comes glory, and they are a shining example of this creed.

Speed Racers

The Middle School track team should be proud of this year's victorious season. They had a total of four meets and won three of them. Scott O'Neal and Margaret Bean coached the hard-working and energetic team through their season. There were fifty girls on the team, the majority of whom were seventh and eighth graders. The positive and supportive attitude of the team helped them to the fourth place in the HVAC, and in the process, they broke two records. The team will be very strong next year and the Varsity track team will be gaining several oustanding Eighth graders with lots of potential.

EVENTS

Mediate, Delegate, Alleviate

What is late summer like in Eva, Tennessee? On August 19th or 20th, eighty Harpeth Hall students and faculty members found out when they loaded onto buses and headed to Eva for the 1992-93 Leadership Conference. All elected student officers joined together to learn how to be effective leaders and work as a group to solve problems. The students acquired these leadership qualities while having tons of fun participating in various trust and group challenge games. Amid all the excitement, the students made time to develop possible solutions for several of the problem areas at Harpeth Hall. When the weekend concluded, every student left eager to begin the new year.

Swing Your Partner 'Round That Lawn

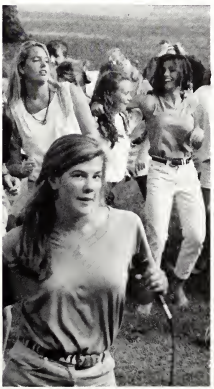

Way back yonder, in good ole August, a posse of cowgirls moseyed on down to the H.H. Dude Ranch to have a little cowgirl fun. At this year's Concert on the Lawn, senior Mary Wallace Patrick and her band, The Wild Turkeys, were on hand to provide swingin' country tunes for the BBQ hoe-down. Many-a-cowgirl donned her cowboy hat and cowboy boots as she two-stepped the night away. Freshman Bev Statland said, "I felt as if I were on the set of Hee-Haw!" It was a hootin', hollerin', foot stompin', durn good time.

Frosh Learn The Art Of Clustering

On September 11, eighty-six Freshmen, both new and old to Harpeth Hall, ventured to Camp Hillmont for the annual Freshmen Retreat. While waiting for the bus for an hour and a half, the girls got to know each other a little bit better by playing ice-breaker games. After arriving at Hillmont, they participated in activities in order to learn to work better as a group. That night they watched a movie and danced with all of the new friends they had made. The next day the girls held their class elections and named Sukey Tully as President and Cristin Carter as Vice-President. According to Cristin Carter, on this short and meaningful trip the Freshmen had a great time and got to know everyone.

A League Of Their Own

One of Harpeth Hall's most unique traditions is its Senior Recognition Day, held in late September. Each year the Seniors wear white dresses and participate in a special recognition assembly, at which several Seniors give speeches about various facets of their special, final year. This year the three speakers delivered their addresses in very different styles, very much like the different styles of the whole Senior class. Melissa Hampton gave a formal speech about academic excellence while Kate Sherrard spoke about Senior leadership. Shay Upadhyaya topped off the assembly with a humorous speech in which she noted that "We are the only class to have the privilege of graduating with the gang of Beverly Hills 90210." In the past, Senior Recognition Day has been a stictly formal occassion, but perhaps the Class of 1993 has begun a new trend.

Making The World A Better Place

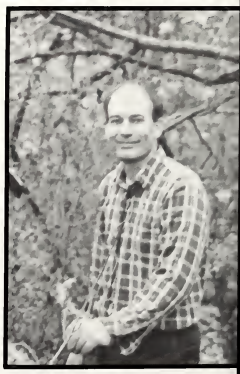

"Manual labor at its best."

On November 6, all the Harpeth Hall students and faculty spread across the city of Nashville. Both students and faculty worked together in small groups for the purpose of lending a helping hand in various forms of community service. Whether it was the Mental Health Hospital, Second Harvest, or Rock Castle, everyone had a fulfilling experience. At the end of the day, all reconvened in the auditorium and shared touching and sometimes humorous stories about their memorable experiences. Community Day proved not only to be helpful to the community, but also to the students who were involved in this special day.

Make New Friends But Keep The Old

One week-end in October, twenty-four sixth-graders piled on a bus and embarked on their journey to Land between the Lakes for the annual, sixth-grade trip. During their overnight adventure, they participated in enough activities to fill a week; these included visiting a farm constructed in the mid-19th century, learning about the birds of prey at the Woodland Nature Center, making bead necklaces, and watching the popular movie Hook, which inspired these creative sixth-graders to create their own Peter Pan adventure in the woods. They also went on a night hike, where they learned the talent of orienteering (in case you don't know, orienteering is the act of finding one's way through the woods with merely a compass). Luckily, no one was lost, and the girls returned a more united class.

Bright and early on a Wednesday morning late in September, fifty-three sleepy-eyed seventh graders began their adventure to Wesley Woods, a small campsite outside of Knoxville. Joining the girls were Ms. Lindy Sayers, Ms. Merrie Clark, Ms. Marie Burr, Ms. Betsy Malone, and Ms. Scottie Girgus to keep things under control. On this excursion through the wild and woolly woods, the seventh graders communed with Mother Earth by repelling, hiking, rock climbing, and participating in the high and low ropes courses. Also the class officers for the year were elected. They came back tired and wornout, but they had an "awesome" time becoming a close-knit group.

On October 12, Columbus Day hit the Middle School. The Seventh graders put on a series of exhibits that demonstrated what Columbus' time was like. Some of the exhibits included a wax museum that portrayed sculptures of Columbus and his ships, an art show, a food exhibit, and a market. Everyone dressed up in dresses and jewelry that would have been worn during Columbus' time. It was an enjoyable occasion for all of the Middle Schoolers. Lauren Tweel commented, "It was an enlightening and electrifying experience. I've always loved exploring the past, especially the founding of America, my beloved country."

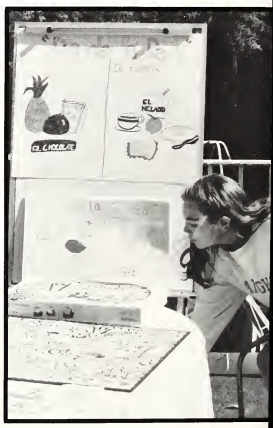

The Return Of The Day Tripperz

On the cold evening of November 7, it seemed as if there was no action in the sleepy city of Nashville. But if a stranger had happened to wander into Morrison Gym, he or she would think that this was the most exciting place on Earth. With music provided by the ever-popular Day Tripperz, students danced themselves into a frenzy. Some zealous attendees even ventured onto the stage where they entertained the crowd with their singing and dancing. At one point, some were even seen leaping into the air, landing in the waiting arms of the crowd. Judging by the enthusiastic students and the happenin' tunes, a "jammin'" time was had by all.

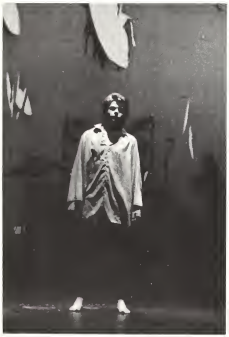

We've Got Magic

Pippin, the fall musical performed on November 23, 24, and 25, was a chance for the audience to "journey to a spot exciting, mystic, and exotic." Senior Sacha Engel appeared as the Leading Player to give us the real truth about the life of Charlemagne's oldest son, Pippin. MBA Senior Greg Holyfield gave an outstanding performance as Pippin, and Junior Dionne Gardner played Catherine, the beautiful young widow who teaches Pippin that being "trapped" is not necessarily a bad thing. Senior Mary Wallace Patrick gave the audience the villainess she does so well. All in all, the play was wonderfully performed, directed, and enjoyed by everyone.

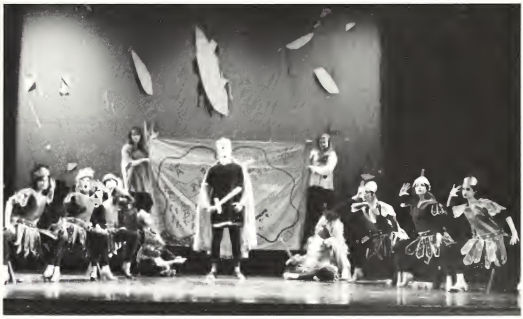

To Do Just For You

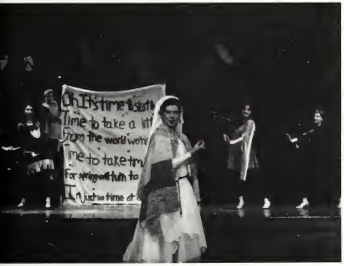

"Get it girl!"

"Boys in tights."

The Renaissance Revived

"Hey, look! You can wear those old bridesmaid's dresse again!"

In November forty seniors along with a few faculty members including Ms. Derah Meyers went back in time to a fifteenth century Renaissance Banquet. The decorations, costumes, food, and entertainment were authentically magnificent. The tables were decorated with candles, flowers, fruit, and magnolias. All who attended were dressed in Renaissance attire with hats, scarves, and long dresses. Ms. Meyers looked like a "Princess of the Renaissance" with a tall cap decorated in lace and a pearl embroidered dress. The Renaissance feast included hams, turkeys, yams, and marrow pie. Everyone drank from her jeweled-studded goblet while being entertained by dancers, musicians, and a female juggler. All of the guests immensely enjoyed every aspect of this step back in time.

Tea Time

All over the country and close to home,
The grandmothers came to visit — Shalom.
The sixth graders sang songs grandmothers knew;
They commented on how their granddaughters grew.
The tea was held in the month of November,
The food all the attendees would definitely remember.
They snacked on traditional tea and cakes,
Fare that everyone's grandmother makes.
Three hundred people gathered in the group,
And grandmothers and children were one happy troop.

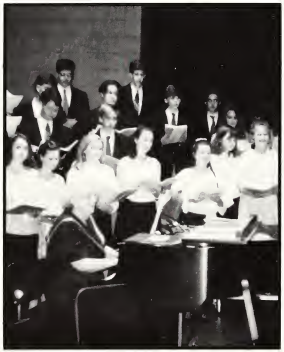

Strings and Solos

"A new twist on an old custom" is the phrase which best describes this year's choral concerts. With the formation of a Harpeth Hall-MBA joint orchestra and several instrumental ensembles, Harpeth Hall's singers joined with student instrumentalists for the first time ever. Upper School Music Director David Cassel and Middle School Choral Director Lynn Rothrock brought these musicians of instrument and voice together for two concerts: a Holiday Concert in December and a joint concert with MBA's choruses in the spring. Though poorly attended by students, these performances were judged by attendees to be a big step toward a flourishing music program in years to come.

Black Instead Of Plaid

"Two Turtle Doves . . . "

Pat Patrick had the house rockin' on December 18, when students from far and near gathered in velvet, pearls, and little Santa hats to dance away the stress of recently taken exams. The turn-out was phenomenal, and the decorations put everyone in a festive mood. Seniors Kate Sherrard and Mary Wallace Patrick did a stunning job as they sang their hearts out to entertain the crowd. Stockings with runs, aching feet, and wrinkled dresses couldn't stop anyone from taking the night by storm.

"I love you, man!"

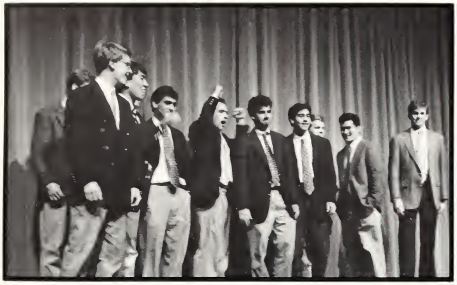

"Santa's little helpers."

What's For Assembly?

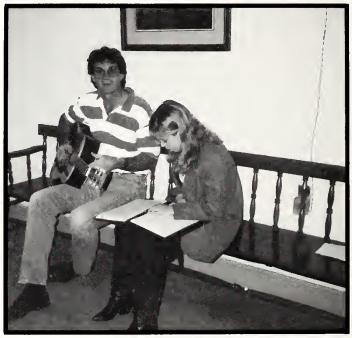

Underwater Basketweaving At Its Best

During the first week of January, the Middle School enjoyed an interesting break from regular classes. Ms. Mabry planned an exciting variety of courses. Ms. Frances Wynne had her annual cake decorating while Ms. Louise Wills taught her traditional cooking classes. Other fun activities included ice skating, bowling, and Nashville On Wheels, a community service class. Ms. Lindy Sayers and Ms. Leah Rhys jointly attempted to prepare the eighth graders for their introduction to high school. The sixth graders took a new class introducing them to Latin, French, and, Spanish to facilitate their choosing a language for the seventh grade. The Middle School definitely had a fun and valuable Interim experience.

Days Of Our Lives

What other school in Nashville has its own Winter Olympics and a computer teacher that breaks bricks? This year girls participating in On-Campus Winterim upped their bowling scores, studied women in film, and explored the power of going Beyond Hate. Should any of the girls begin to choke on their hot chocolate, there is no need to call 911, because the sophomores have learned to recognize the sure signs of oxygen depletion. With their newly acquired CPR training, "Are you choking?" became a familiar question during January. On-Campus Winterim provides the freshmen and sophomores with a chance to relax for three weeks and to release their creativity. Horizons are broadened by new perspectives gained during this unique opportunity.

The Real

What comes to mind with the mention of Harpeth Hall Winterim? Could it be day camp, playschool, a long winter break? Well think again. Winterim, though it is off-campus for Juniors and Seniors, is not as some call it, "a three-week vacation." You can do almost anything you want with almost no limitations: scuba diving in Jamaica, doing a thorough study and comparison of the small town versus metropolitan city life, or studying the cultures abroad of England or Greece. Most people do work hard and learn a great deal. The countless trips abroad and internships are incredible opportunities for the students of Harpeth Hall. Many girls get a chance to do volunteer work or explore fields that they find interesting. Winterim adds a sparkle to Harpeth Hall by applying what we learn in the classroom to the real world.

The Bunny Hop

This year a cast of thousands (literally!) put on the Middle School play, The Velveteen Rabbit. This timeless classic was truly entertaining from the smallest top in the toy cabinet to the mean ol' Nanna herself, played by Haley Green. The Velveteen Rabbit was performed superbly by Kate Rose while Melissa Bachelor did a fantastic job as the child. Juniors Julie Asbury and Sarah Phillips designed and constructed the set as part of their Winterim, thus creating a bright, colorful, aesthetically pleasing atmosphere for the play. The Velveteen Rabbitt was a wonderful trip back to Victorian England, with many surprises along the way.

Dolphins And More

"Strike a pose."

If the Eighth graders can say anything about their trip to Jekyll Island, it's that they became connoisseurs of bus-ride movies. Just as Murphy's Law predicts, the Eighth graders hopped on a traveling bus that soon had to stop traveling. While the bus was being repaired, the girls sang, played games, and watched movies. Once at the camp, the toils of pranks and unidentifiable, unedible food awaited them. These mishaps did not stop these Eighth graders from having the time of their lives, as they taught everyone a lesson: even the most trying situation shouldn't stop one from having a good time.

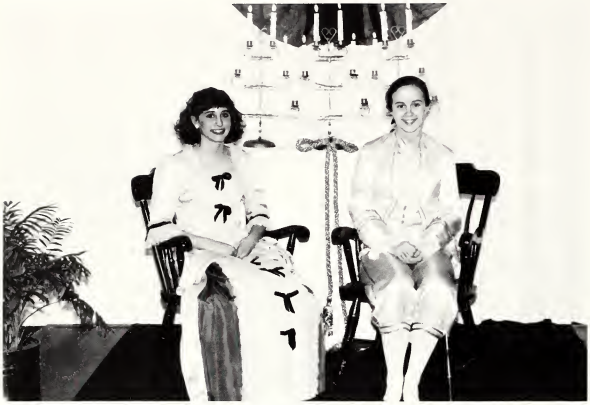

"Two flew over the cuckoo's nest."

We Love You George . . .

Left to Right: Amy Enders and Catherine Workman.

The 1993 George Washington Celebration was superbly performed by the Seveth grade class. Some Seventh graders mastered the minuet and others perfected marching drills while more danced to the hornpipe. The celebration, directed by Ms. Merrie Clark, was dedicated to Miss Patty, who began the tradition some forty years ago. Catherine Workman performed outstandingly as George, while Amy Enders was a charming Martha. The Seventh graders celebrated their triumphs later in the day with a lemon cake in honor of the birthday of George Washington.

Crimes of

Open your mouth, and say AHHHH!

the Heart

Crimes of the Heart takes us to the thriving metropolis of Hazelhurst, Mississippi, where one Lenny McGrath awaits news from her sister, Meg, a struggling night-club singer known to most in Hazelhurst as "cheap Christmas trash," and Babe, who has just been arrested for the attempted murder of her husband, State Senator Butrell. Their cousin, Chick, horrified by all of this, has much to say about the "black sheep" of her family and the effects they have on her status in the Hazelhurst society. The story takes off from here, and each character comes to certain realizations about herself and her role in the family, except of course for Chick. The Harpeth Hall Playmakers put on an exquisite performance with the help of Director Janette Klocko and Lighting Technician Katherine Baker. Actors and techies alike should be commended on a job well done.

"Could someone give me a hand here?"

Young Love

Lights! Camera! Action! "An Evening with the Stars," Prom 1993, was held on April 3. Presentation was quite an experience; Seniors stepped out of a limo with their dates, preceded to take their walk of fame down the red carpet, and finally received their well deserved oscars to conclude their moment of stardom. Harpeth Hall students were transformed into celebrities for a night; in fact Marylin Monroe and Elvis even stopped in to pay their respects to the Class of '93. Some students danced the glitzy night away to the music of "Thumper and the Plaid Rabbits," while others waited in the excruciatingly long line to get their pictures taken. Prom in Hollywood was truly one of the most incredible proms The Hall has ever seen!

Upperclasswomen Attack Young Boys

On April 17, students flocked to Harpeth Hall's Morrison gym to listen to "Wild Turkey," featuring Senior Mary Wallace Patrick. The laws of nature were defied this year when thirteen and fourteen-year-old boys were sighted with their dates! Being the only dance at Harpeth Hall that includes both Middle and Upper Schools, comments such as, "Is it bad that I just fell in love with a seventh-grader?" and, "Were we really that short?" were made by some older girls. By the end of the dance, all that mattered was that the band outdid themselves, the dance floor was packed, and another Main Event weekend passed without a hitch.

What's with this leaning thing?

Dads And Daughters Cuttin' A Rug

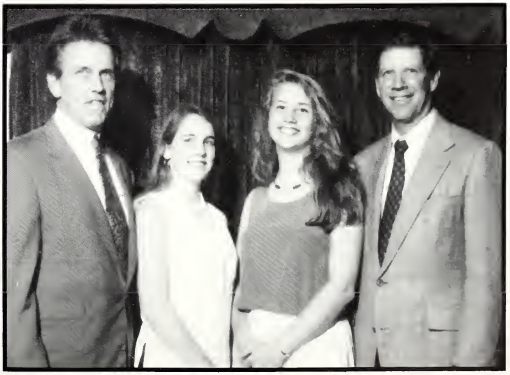

At 6:00 p.m. on April 14, the General Jackson Showboat sailed away from its Opryland dock with over four hundred Harpeth Hall students and their dads. This annual event provided a wonderful evening for all in attendance. Where else can one find dads and daughters boogying down to the music of the all-doctor band, "Sound Therapy"? During the night, the audience was treated to an array of songs, one being a solo by Mary Wallace Patrick. As the General Jackson docked at the end of the evening, everyone reluctantly left a most successful and enjoyable daddy-daughter-dinner-dance.

Two Thumbs Up For Our Teachers

This spring the entire student body gathered to show their support for the Harpeth Hall faculty. Mr. Norris Nielsen, Board of Trust Treasurer, led this assembly, and students Mary Britton Thompson, Shelley Holmer, and Holly Meadows shared their appreciation of their teachers. Ms. Louise Wills, Ms. Leslie Matthews, Ms. Marion Ross, Ms. Frances Wynne, and Mr. Bill Lauderdale were distinguished for their dedication as Harpeth Hall Faculty Members for more than fifteen years. However, all of our teachers should be honored for acting as our advisors, our mentors, and our friends.

This Means War

May is the time of year that most Seniors, according to their teachers, "check out mentally," so in an attempt to keep the Seniors with the rest of the school, the Administration held its annual Senior Week on May 3-7. Monday was class colors day, where each Senior came to school decked out in variations of salmon and navy. On Tuesday, college colors day, the Class of '93 showed up in the apparel of their recent college choices, with only a few wearing black for "undecided." The Seniors hosted a cook-out on Wednesday, where each upperclasswomen tried her luck at getting a fully cooked burger or hot dog. And on Thursday, the week came to a climactic end with Junior-Senior Day, at which the little girl Juniors and little boy Seniors fought an all-day battle armed with waterguns, shaving cream, and shoe polish. Clothes, cars, and even underclasswomen were not safe from the wrath of the Juniors and Seniors. Though most agree that Junior-Senior Day got a little out of hand, Senior Week may have succeeded in helping the Seniors "check in" for at least a little while.

Human

Leotards. Makeup. Flowers. These are all images that come to mind when thinking of the 1993 Dance Concert held on April 30, May 1, and May 2. The dance pieces, which were all spectacular, were performed by the Tap, Jazz, Modern, Ballet clubs. The pieces focused on various themes such as light, peace, and human reaction. The finale was a country fair which was an upbeat and light-hearted ending to an amazing concert. The dedication of the dancers, Ms. Matthews, and Ms. Hamilton was once again made obvious by a fantastic concert!

Coaches Tell All

It was an affair to remember, a time to recognize Middle School atheletes for their great accomplishments throughout the past year. Coaches spoke about their season and gave out various awards to shining stars and silent supporters. Parents, students, and coaches enjoyed an evening of emotions, recognition, and triumph. The Middle School Sports Banquet is an event for coaches as well as atheletes, especially those who are graduating from the Middle School and wish to have something by which to remember their years of athletic participation as Honeycubs.

Teamwork

Athletes, speeches, coaches, awards, more peeches, Harpeth Hall jackets, parents, and ven more speeches. All of these things made up he core of the Upper School Athletic Banquet eld in the Marnie Sheridan Gallery on Thurs- ay, May 27. At the culmination of an outstand- ng athletic year, parents and coaches gathered o honor Harpeth Hall's esteemed athletes. This vent was a highly emotional one for most, but specially for Seniors as they accepted their wards and reminisced about their past years at he Hall. The banquet is a very special occasion nticipated and appreciated by all athletes, even f it does take a little time — say three and a half ours.

One Final Nap On Souby Lawn

Students don their kilts and saddle oxfords for the last time.

On May 28, the Annual Awards Day was held on Souby Lawn. On this day, much-deserved awards were given, the four intramural clubs competed for the coveted club trophy, and the Student Council provided popcicles for everyone. It also was a time for some relaxation before the stress of exams began. Kate Sherrard was announced as the 1993 Lady of the Hall, and Dr. Art Echerd received the Milestone dedication. At the program's conclusion, the leadership of the school was passed to the Class of 1994 with the induction of next year's Student Council officers. It was a special time for teachers, students, and parents to be together before the year ended.

Mother-Daughter Bonding Time

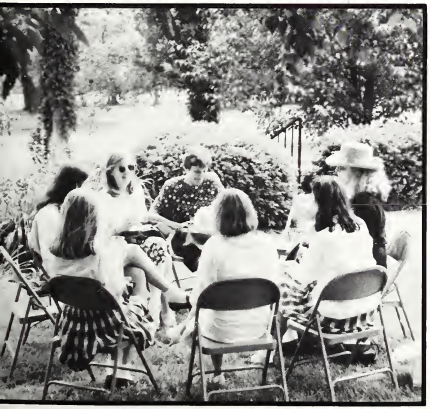

After Awards Day, the Class of 1993 proceeded to the Lee Horton Garden to meet their moms for a catered luncheon. Although the heat was blazing, they managed to find a bit of shade to reminisce about past times and well as to look to the future. Seniors were treated with gifts of engraved silver bowls from the Parents Association. The afternoon was enjoyable despite the realization that all members of the class would soon be journeying their separate paths.

Prophecies and Pummeling

On Friday, June 4, the Class of 1993 gathered at the home of the Nielsens along with their teachers for SATCO, socialization, and good laughs. Prophecies for the future of each class member were read before the class and faculty' each of the 68 Seniors had her chance to blush. The class officers gave out the long-awaited Senior Book which consisted of pages submitted by each Senior. The Senior Banquet was a nice ending to a week of cramming and stressing over exams and one last gathering of the Class of 1993.

On the morning of June 7, the Middle School students, teachers, and parents gathered to honor the graduating Eighth Graders. An invocation was given by the rising Eighth Grade President Tracey Wilkinson and remarks were given by Reagan Baydoun and Lola Blackwell. The SEventh Grade chorus sang one song and then Ms. Sayers gave out several awards. The Eighth Graders received their certificates from Ms. Rhys and were welcomed into the Upper School.

The Journey

Is Ended

Marked by controversy from the beginning, the graduation ceremony for the Class of 1993 challenged students, parents, and faculty — upon the request of speaker Shay Upadhyaya — to evaluate some of the very traditions in which they were participating. While listeners' opinions about Harpeth Hall and its tradition varied, no one could deny that the day was beautiful and that the ceremony shall be remembered and cherished. With poise and confidence, each Senior crossed the stage, shook Ms. Rhys's hand, received her diploma, and stepped off the stage an alumna. At the evening's conclusion, the young women sang "Letting Go" for a final time and then rejoiced in their accomplishment.

Katie Wray Award

Emily Beth Compton

Harpeth Hall's highest academic award, the Katie Wray Award in honor of a member of the class of 1955, goes to a woman who has distinguished herself by finishing her career at Harpeth Hall with the highest grade point average of anyone in her class. Teachrs describe this year's recipient as brilliant, extraordinary, and remarkable. Not only is she graduating with an A average, but she has served as co-editor of the school newspaper, chorus member, cross country runner, active member of her church youth group and choir, community volunteer, mock-trial participant, and tap dancer. She has performed in school plays, has twice won a playwriting contest, and has had two of her plays produced. The University of Richmond, where she has been named an Oldham Scholar, is indeed fortunate to claim as a member of its freshman class this recipient of copious awards, a National Merit Finalist, and a Scholarship winner, Ms. Emily Compton.

Let It Shine girls score high in meets

Focus Sports Staff

The Let It Shine level 8 and level 9 girls gymnastics teams' recently competed in two meets with several members earning high honors.

First the squad, coached by Tim Richards and Lisa Brandon, participated in the Carolinas International Invitational meet in Charlotte, N.C., late last month.

The annual meet, put on by Weyandt's Gymnastics of Charlotte, boasted competitors from three foreign countries, Japan, Germany and Canada, and numerous states such as Alabama, Florida, Connecticut, North Carolina, New York, Illinois, Louisiana, Virginia, West Virginia and Tennessee.

In the level 8 competition, 11 members helped Let It Shine post a strong fourth place team finish.

Laura Sims of Franklin placed fifth in the all-around children's (9-11) division including a second place on the beam and bars.

In the senior division, Franklin's Sarah Neff earned a second place all-around finish including a first place on vault.

Also in the senior (15-over) division, Nashville's Missy Deaton finished fourth all-around helped by a third place on the floor exercise and fourth on vault.

The level 9 team didn't win a team trophy in Charlotte, but several gymnasts turned in excellent performances.

Lauren Santi of Goodlettsville took third all-around in the children's division which included a second on vault and bars and third on the floor exercise.

In the senior division, Kim Cox of Franklin, placed second on vault.

Then on March 9, the gymnasts traveled to Knoxville, Tenn., for the Dogwood Invitational, as both the level 8 and level 9 teams earned second place team trophies.

The Let It Shine level 8 optional gymnastics team with awards accumulated at the Carolinas International Invitational meet in Charlotte, N.C. Left-to-right — Sarah Neff, Gretchen Johnson, Missy Deaton, Laura Sims, Tina St. Charles, Christie Osborn, Tara Hodge.

Hosted by the Knoxville Gymnastics Training Center, many gymnasts contributed to the impressive runnerup finishes.

Sims' second place on beam and bars and third on the floor exercise, captured third place all-around in the children's division.

Also in the children's class, Gretchen Johnson of Arrington, Tenn., placed sixth all-around and Christie Osborn of Brentwood earned fourth place in both the beam and vault events.

In the senior division, Neff won second place in the all-around which including winning the bars. Deaton also was again strong, capturing fourth all-around including a second on the floor exercise.

Brentwood's Tara Hodge and Missy Nettle and Tina St. Charles of Nashville also contributed to the level 8 team's runnerup finish in both meets.

For the level 9 squad in Knoxville, Santi took second in the children's all-around including winning the floor exercise with a tremendous 9.45 score.

Cox placed third all-around in the senior category, helped by a second place on the floor exercise and third on the beam.

Smyrna's Angel Wood had a third place finish on vault.

Other level 9 competitors included Amy Cohea of Springfield and Allison Mikovits of Franklin.

Congratulations, Lindsey -

"You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees & the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors & aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy."

All good things take time;
to be a friend takes more.

May the hinges of friendship never rust
nor the wings of love never lose a feather;
May the clouds in your life form only
a background for a lovely sunset;
May the most you wish for be the least you get;
May you never feel want nor ever want feeling;
May God hold you in the palm of his hand,

THE "POTATO KID"
William Figueroa, 12 years old, a.k.a. the "potato kid," waited by a potato vendor's cart outside the NBC studios in New York prior to his appearance of the "Late Night with David Letterman" show. Figueroa and his family were basking in his new-found celebrity, gained in June 1992, after he spelled "potato" correctly during a spelling bee and Vice President Dan Quayle did not.
