HARPETH HALL SCHOOL

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

The staff would like to thank Mrs. Pennington, Mrs. Warterfield, Susan Thornton, and Howard Harris for the use of their pictures in this book.

HARPETH HALL SCHOOL
1951-1976

For the dedication of this, our twenty-fifth yearbook, we think it appropriate to turn back to our first yearbook, Milestones of 1952, and to write as they did:

> "To the Founders of this school, to the Board of Trustees, to the devoted principal, to the capable faculty, and to the many friends—to all who have made it possible for Harpeth Hall to have existence and growth, we express our sincere gratitude by dedicating to them this 1976 Milestones."

MARGARET INGRAM COBLE

1959-1975

Carefree and unbound, the world was hers—only the sky to keep her spirit from flowing over.
Every day, a challenge to know,
learn, and to love more of life
Kept her minutes filled with hope—to catch the reason why,
to make her sad friend smile.
Oftentimes alone and unsure,
to grasp required more reaching.
Yet she was always herself,
her very best self . . .
Daring to be different,
and to follow her own star.

—Walton Estes

Harpeth Hall began in the fall of 1951, the same year that Ward-Belmont closed. Under Mrs. Souby, the Headmistress, and a faculty chosen from Ward-Belmont, the new school naturally kept many of the old traditions and standards. Lady of the Hall, the four major clubs, the Student Council, and the George Washington birthday celebration are a few of our familiar institutions which have roots in Ward-Belmont.

The building known to us as Souby Hall, together with twenty-six acres of land, was bought from the Estes family and housed the faculty and all 161 students until the first classrooms were added later that year. In 1953 the Bullard Gymnasium was completed. Other additions since then include the auditorium, the Annie C. Allison Library, and the Daugh W. Smith Middle School.

Late in the fall of the year Harpeth Hall opened, it was accredited by the Southern Association. Its purpose then, as now, was to provide girls with an opportunity to prepare for college and for life. Harpeth Hall is now ending its twenty-fifth year, just as our country is entering its two hundredth year. In a short time, many changes have been wrought—new classes, more activities, and Winterim. There are more changes due. Yet the original, basic idea of preparation and of experience has not been changed; it seems only to have expanded.

Knowledge is just self-pride; and if you're proud of yourself, then everything else will look better.

Harpeth Hall is essentially a meeting of the mind.

Is there really such a thing as a typical Harpeth Hall girl?

78

Sure we're different—but we're special, and we wouldn't have it any other way!

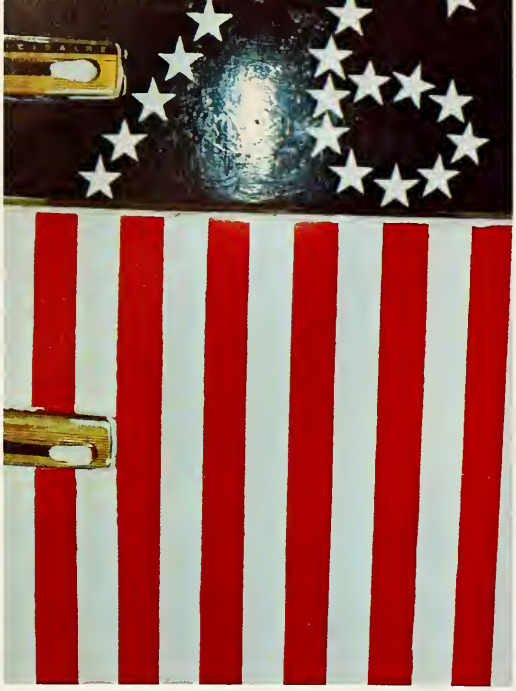

Each will live her own life, think her own thoughts, dream her own dreams . . .

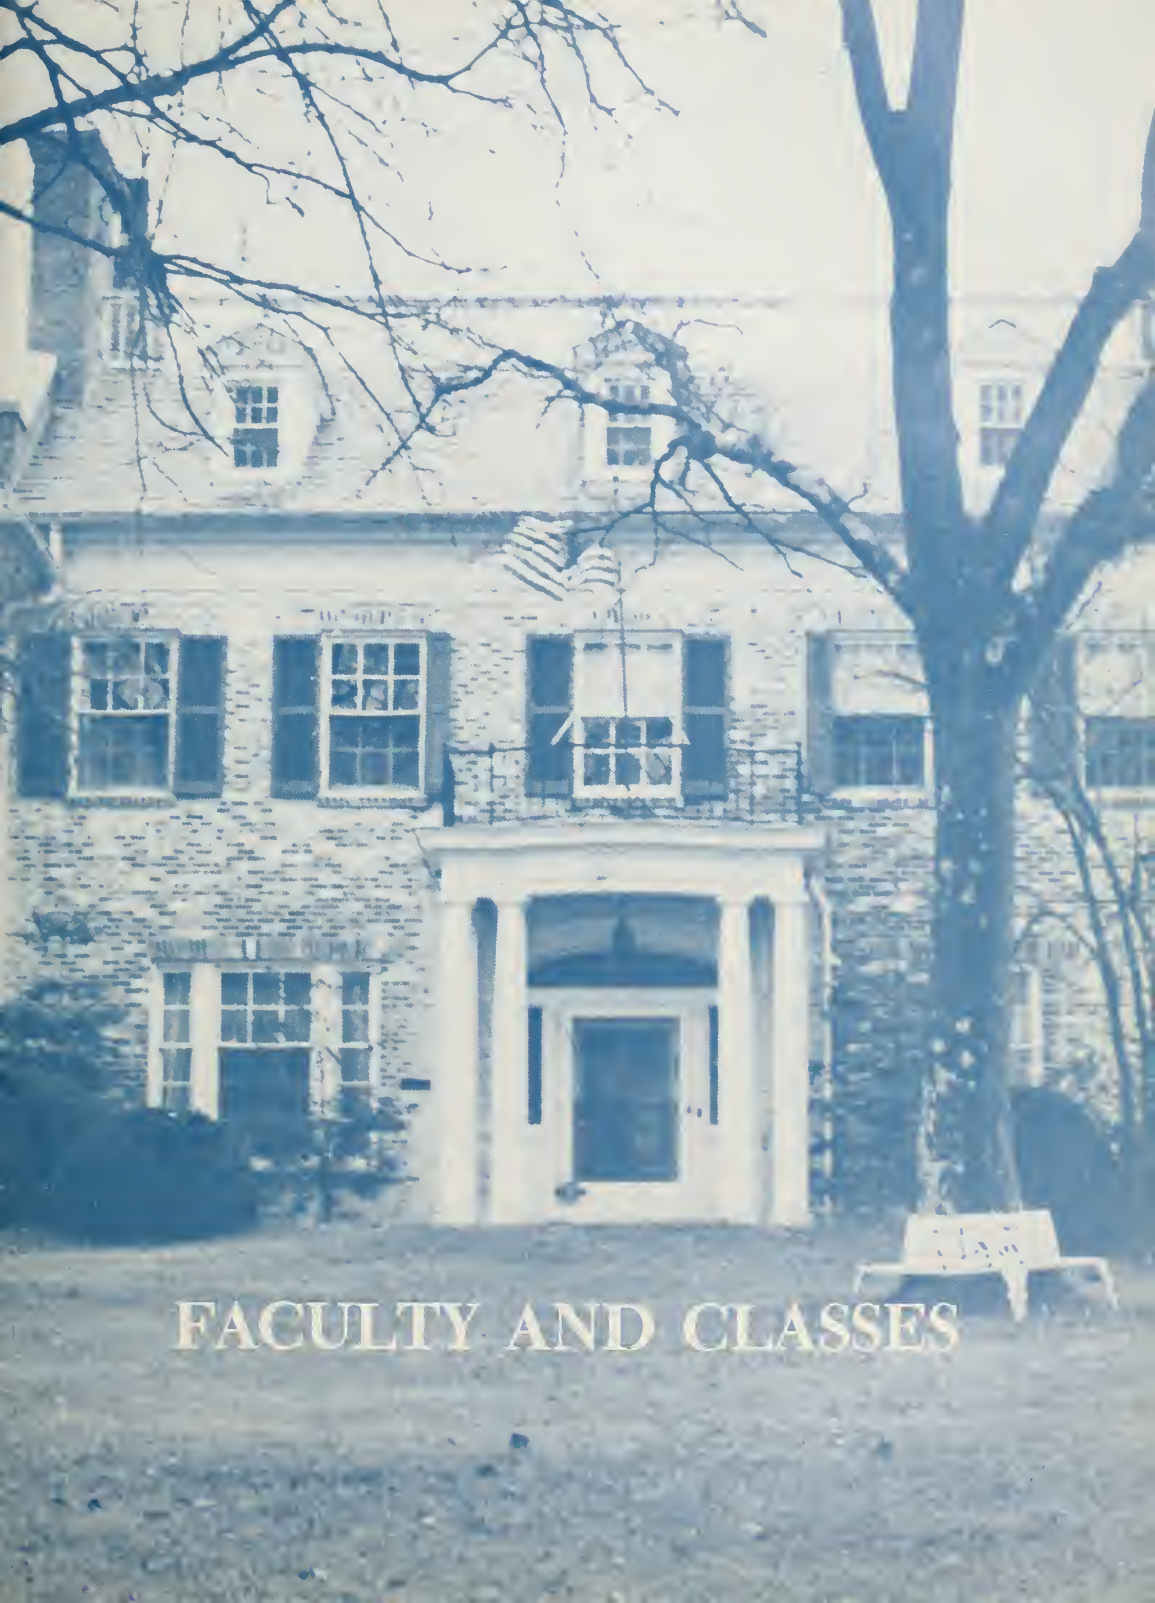

But the memories of these days will never be forgotten.

FACULTY AND CLASSES

MISS McMURRY

Who is someone we all know, see every Monday in assembly, and go to for the final "yes" or "no" to any question? Who arranges and rearranges our schedules every year and is always there for every class play, George Washington celebration, All-Club Picnic, registration, and graduation? Who always tells us to "keep off the grass," "make this a good year," and "there are only one hundred and seventy-nine more days of school!"? She's always smiling, always understanding, and always says exactly the right thing at the right time. This lady is well known to all of us: she is our own headmistress, Miss Idanelle McMurry.

MISS FESSEY

The one face familiar to everyone in the Middle School is that of its director, Miss Polly Fessey. Throughout the summer, Miss Fessey plans and works to make the coming school year a success. After school opens, she can always be seen with a friendly smile, whether in the halls or in her office, advising and encouraging students. She directs the academic program, sponsors the Middle School Council, and sees that the activities of two hundred students run smoothly. With warmth and confidence, Miss Fessey makes each year a good year for the Middle School.

MISS PENNY

Each year Miss Penelope Mountfort, better known to most as Miss Penny, begins over again with her explanations of S.A.T.'s, A.C.T.'s, and college applications. Her job as counselor can be hectic, but year after year, each graduate of Harpeth Hall finds herself enrolled in the college best suited for her, thanks to Miss Penny. Besides being counselor, Miss Penny sponsors Milestones, our yearbook. Somehow she manages every year to coordinate these two activities and to do a great job with both.

MISS HENSLEY

Although known to five classes of Middle School students as their Ancient History teacher, Miss Janet Hensley is new to the Upper School this year. Miss Hensley, now our Dean of Students, is using her talents and enthusiasm in carrying out a variety of duties. As organizer of our Winterim term, she arranges travel programs, approves independent study projects, schedules the on-campus classes, and somehow finds rooms, teachers, and equipment for all courses. She also sponsors the Student Council, serves on the Student-Faculty Committee, and handles disciplinary matters. Only a lady as capable as Miss Hensley could manage all this and manage it well.

MISS HERRING

Have you ever wondered about who is in charge of supervising the maintenance people, managing our budget, and turning in reports about the building project to the Board of Trustees? The person who carries these responsibilities is Miss Herring, and those are just a few of her many activities as Director of Finance and Development at Harpeth Hall. Her main responsibility is supervising the Fund Raising Campaign for our desperately needed new auditorium–gymnasium–fine arts building. If the construction of this complex begins in the spring of 1976 as hoped, much of the credit should go to Miss Herring for the time and energy she has put into the campaign.

MRS. NICHOLS

Through the alumnae magazine and other publications, Mrs. Polly Nichols, Director of Alumnae, has kept the graduates of Harpeth Hall well informed for the past three years. With the aid of two reporter agents and two finance agents from each graduating class, she has managed to make and keep up a record of who is married to whom and what they have been involved in since graduation. She works with Miss Herring in their well-hidden office above Souby Hall. This year has been busier than ever for Mrs. Nichols because she has involved the alumnae in the fund-raising campaign for the new building.

AFS STUDENT

"On August 21, 1975, I, Jacqueline Reiners, arrived in Nashville. On the second day of my stay, I visited Harpeth Hall. My first two impressions were that the school looks like a house and that there are dogs at school. Later I came to know that people work hard in the "house" and that dogs even take part in English class. I have finished the tenth grade in Germany, and when I go back I shall have three more years of school. I am enjoying my Senior year at Harpeth Hall, and although I won't be getting credit for my studies this year, I think the experience will be very useful. I have learned a lot about the American life and especially about myself."

This is what other students say about Jac:

"Jac is tall and she dances very well. She likes men with fire. French is her favorite language, but she is interested in Arabic. She can play the flute and the recorder. For her, Kenya, Africa, is one of the best places to be—she loves the African temperament. Cooking and riding horses are two activities which she enjoys very much. She has a good sense of humor, and it's easy to talk with her. She seems always at ease and cheerful— never gloomy."

"Jac is a very warm-hearted girl. She has spent most of her life in Germany. She enjoys Harpeth Hall and her studies very much. Jac has never been to a school with uniforms; therefore this is a completely new experience for her. She isn't used to eight hours of study, but she doesn't find Harpeth Hall a difficult school. Jac is very sociable and enjoys the company of Harpeth Hall girls."

How is it possible to re-cap an entire year of hilarity, tears, and work into one short paragraph? We, the Seniors of '76, have been through it all, and more. Our last year at Harpeth Hall has gone by in a quick blur, and it's hard to realize that we've finally made it to the "Big Time." Sure, we had too much to do and too little time to do it, but the highlights of our year as the "Big Wheels on Campus" have been worth all the effort. Who can forget our celebrated pumpkin sale in October, our "out of this world" Senior play, our desperation in trying to maintain a B+ average or pass Dr. Overholser's English course, our eating sprees during fourth period, and the exciting but terrifying feeling we had as we descended that platform at graduation, diploma in hand. The Senior year has been a great year, a fun year, but most of all, a year of terrific friendship. We'll never forget the friends we've made or the fun we've had. Believe it or not, it is hard to leave Harpeth Hall after all these years and go out into the cold, cruel world to make a name for ourselves. But with all the preparation we've had, how can we fail?

JUNIOR CLASS

For the class of '77, each year at Harpeth Hall has been better than the last. The Juniors combined their talents at the beginning of the year to stage "All Plugged In." Lots of time, ingenuity, and energy on everyone's part made the play a great success. During the winter, the Juniors spent their free time redecorating the Junior Room. As a community service project, they helped out at the new Half-Way House. Finally, near the end of the year, the Juniors ganged up against the Seniors to show their undeniable prowess on Junior-Senior Day. Mixed in with all the fun, the Class of '77 was forced to spend some time studying. Saturday mornings spent taking SAT's and ACT's, college counseling classes, and lots of moaning on report-card days marked the Juniors' awareness that college was not far off.

However, now that the year is over, the Juniors are eagerly awaiting occupation of the Senior House and their best year ever at Harpeth Hall.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

It is hard to find an adjective to describe this year's Sophomores because our class is composed of a large assortment of personalities, interests, abilities, and ideals. United, we can produce such events as the concert that we staged last spring and the Sophomore Play that entertained graduation guests; individually, we continue to progress in diverse undertakings. We stand as living proof that a successful union can be forged from more than eighty diverse personalities, and furthermore, that this union can survive the Sophomore year with only a few scrapes and bruises. Next year as Juniors, we hope to accomplish even more. Vive le '78!

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman Class of '75-'76 was the largest freshman class Harpeth Hall has ever had, in both size and spirit. At first, our size was an impediment. It was difficult for 113 girls to unify themselves successfully as a class. The only things we had in common were uniforms and being Freshmen. We clung to these factors until, under enthusiastic leadership, our spirit grew. The result of our new-found unity was The Freshman Carnival. We look back on this year as one of the most difficult yet rewarding of our school lives; we look forward to the next with anticipation.

EIGHTH GRADE

This year's eighth grade class ends their stay in the Middle School with mixed emotions. They no longer enjoy leadership as the "oldest" class, but they look forward to their first year in high school.

During the year, the class worked hard to distribute stationery to everyone at Harpeth Hall, and the reward for all their effort was the exciting Eighth Grade Combo. Afternoons spent getting ready for this event brought the class together more than ever before in their three years here. On Honor Day, the Eighth Graders finally realized that they actually did have to leave the Middle School, but of course looked forward to seeing each other next year in the Upper School.

SEVENTH GRADE

The Seventh Grade of '76 is described as a rowdy bunch,
Just because we push and shove while running down to lunch.

Even though we're active and occasionally break a rule,
It's really clearly evident we're the best in all the school!

We admit we're sometimes naughty, but most often good as gold,
And we hope the school will remember us for the qualities we hold.

We place high in academics and skills of many sorts,
And we set records for competition in intramural sports.

And when it comes to spirit, we always have a cheer,
And that is what the Seventh Grade has meant to us this year.

SIXTH GRADE

This year's sixth graders had a variety of activities and studies to keep them busy. Among our activities were basketball and battleball. We also took field trips, such as the one to the Cumberland Museum. On this field trip, we saw a film strip about the Indians of America and heard a lecture about wildlife in Tennessee. After that we went to the downtown Public Library. We took another interesting outing to the Tennessee Game Farm.

The subjects we studied this year were math, science, social studies, English, spelling, reading, music, and art.

The sixth grade Student Council representatives were Louisa Gibbs, Tami Stevenson, and Jane Mabry.

Between getting used to Interim, broken legs, talking during Math and Science classes, and the jumping jazz in P.E., the sixth grade had a great time this year.

COMMENTS:

"We asked our alumnae what they remembered most about their days at Harpeth Hall:

"Having study hall in the garage, Algebra in the kitchen, and the graduation dance on the tennis courts."

—Mrs. Brothers, '55

"The thrill of a new lab, eating lunch on the lawn, and being scared of Mrs. Souby."

—Mrs. Coble, '52

"Miss Patty and her hockey, and hard work; but all my lasting friendships were made there, and I remember every single teacher."

—Mrs. Irwin, '53

"Lunches were better than they are now. It was a lot smaller and all the classes were in Souby Hall."

—Mrs. Aldred, '51

"French being moved into the kitchen. It was a really small class, and the students were very close."

—Mrs. Groos, '53

"Mrs. Rasmussen!"

—Mrs. Greene, '54

"First year History in the basement, Math in the kitchen, English in the little bedroom. On pretty days, we had all the classes we could outside. Friendship was important; there were only thirty girls in the graduating class."

—Mrs. Rowland, '54

"Madame Fountain, the French teacher. If you yawned, she threw a tantrum. She made the best fudge brownies, and the girls would bargain for them."

—Mrs. Estes, '54

YESTERDAY

. . . AND TODAY

We asked students how they felt about Harpeth Hall:

"It's the only place where you can walk down the halls and say 'hi' to anyone!"

—Freshman

"If I could change anything at Harpeth Hall, I'd change some of those girls to boys!"

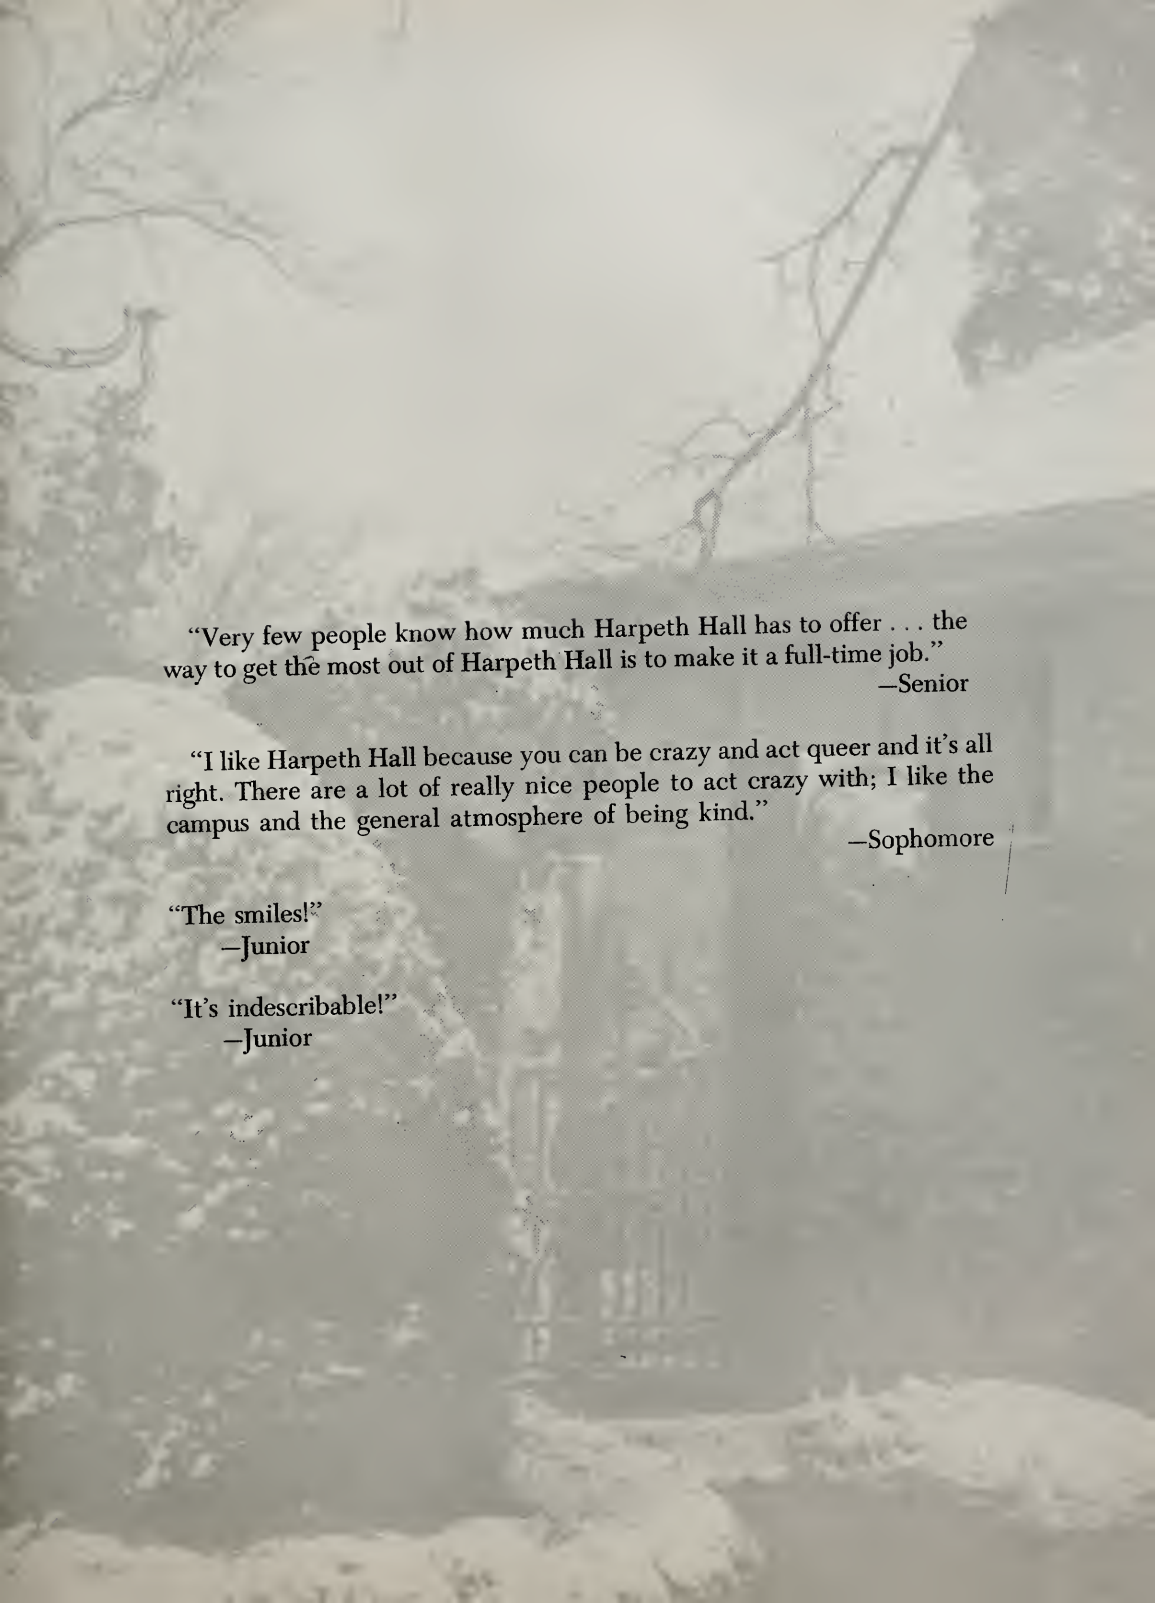

—Sophomore

"Sometimes I love it, and then sometimes I hate it!"

—Senior

"I'd change the test day schedule. Monday is not a good Math day, but no day is a good Math day."

—Freshman

"Very few people know how much Harpeth Hall has to offer . . . the way to get the most out of Harpeth Hall is to make it a full-time job."

—Senior

"I like Harpeth Hall because you can be crazy and act queer and it's all right. There are a lot of really nice people to act crazy with; I like the campus and the general atmosphere of being kind."

—Sophomore

"The smiles!"

—Junior

"It's indescribable!"

This year's Student Council had one major goal: to inspire enthusiasm by listening to the ideas of the student body and planning activities in accordance with them. At the beginning of school, the Council made its first major effort when it sponsored the second annual Harpeth Hall play. This year's production was Ayn Rand's spine-tingling*The Night of January 16th.* The actors and actress, directed by Mrs. Gray, faced a capacity audience both nights. After the overwhelming success of its first project, there was just no stopping the Student Council. They sponsored two major combos, had a paper drive and a Head and Toe Day, sang carols during Christmas, and entered into an exchange program with M.B.A. The Student Council also managed to strengthen its constitution by placing a greater emphasis on its three committees: Social, Student Activity, and Public Relations. All in all, the Student Council members felt that they were responsive to the desires of the students and made 1975-76 a more exciting year.

The Middle School Student Council meets once a week to discuss matters concerning the Middle School. The Council, sponsored by Miss Fessey, consists of a representative from each homeroom who brings complaints and suggestions. The Council tries to keep the Middle School cooperating by making rules and helping to enforce them, and they discuss new ideas that would benefit the students. The Student Council is an important force in keeping the Middle School running smoothly.

The Student-Faculty Committee, composed of six students and four teachers, serves as a link between the faculty and the student body. Students elected to this committee work hard with the teachers and Miss McMurry to better the relationship between the two parts of our school during the year. The spring Seminar is also a big project of this committee. This year the Seminar was "Women in Action." Almost everything from renting an apartment to running a political campaign was discussed in relation to the female role in society today. Since its founding, the Student-Faculty Committee has proved to be a useful part of the school community.

If you are presently sitting in your room reading a book with a blue cover and Milestones 1976 across the front, then we are least partially succeeded. Up to now it has taken most of our effort to keep Anne from throwing herself over the balcony while screaming, "Miss Penny, don't make me do everything!" It's just been lucky that we've managed to get copy, pictures, and 3-R forms all together in time for five deadlines; and we've learned a lot about putting an annual together. For instance, pictures turn out best if there is film in the camera, and certain words cannot be printed in a Harpeth Hall publication. So, as you sit there with a book full of 1975-76 in your lap, rest assured that a lot of food, gossip, suicide notes, screaming sessions, ink pens (black ball point), fingernails, and Friday afternoons have gone into its creation.

1975-1976 was a revolutionary year in many ways for the staff of Logos II and for the paper itself. Actually, it all began late last year when we changed printers. Logos II came out looking like a more professional paper; and even if it wasn't, it made the staff feel more professional! We all can't forget the many "firsts" that the '75-'76 staff initiated: the first time an issue came out the first week of school, the first time staff members attended journalism workshops, the first "anniversary" issue, the first "April Fool's" issue, and the first time Logos II came out in six issues.

Penstaff's aims are many: we strive to share our imaginations and to achieve creativity in the written expression of poetry and prose. Aware that goals are only as durable as the people who set them, we endeavor to transform dreams to realities; and then, having attained success, we immediately reach toward greater heights. We give our hearts in words and hope that in the process others will profit from the understanding which we have gained through experience.

The Harpeth Hall basketball team, coached by Miss Webster, put in many long hours of work this year. Since the team was placed in a new league in which they played large schools, the overall record of 7-15 did not reflect all of the time invested. The students appreciated the team's effort, as they showed by their increased support.

The Honeybears were not content with winning seven games during the season; to show their great determination, they took second place in the annual Tennessee Preparatory School Tournament in Jackson. In addition, Karen Duvier and Allison Floyd earned positions on the All-Tournament team there. At the District Two Tournament, Harpeth Hall was pitted against Goodlettsville. Although Harpeth Hall was defeated in the game by one point in the last few seconds, Allison Floyd made a fine showing, scoring thirty-one points. She was rewarded by being chosen as a member of the All-District team. That was the first time a Harpeth Hall student had been honored in this way.

Another highlight of the year was the installation of glass backboards in the gym. The team found that practicing on the new boards greatly improved their game.

Susan Thornton and Karen Duvier will be greatly missed when they graduate, since they contributed so much to the team. However, Harpeth Hall should be optimistic about next year's team, since so many of this year's fine players will be returning.

This year the track team at Harpeth Hall has won for the school an impressive reputation for energy, enthusiasm, and ability in a sport requiring muscles as well as brains. The largest team yet for Harpeth Hall, the fourth track team has worked hard and has excelled in its grueling schedule. Practicing every day after school and sometimes on weekends and holidays, the Middle and Upper School track team covered many miles at Harpeth Hall, MBA, Hillsboro, and Percy Warner Park. Rainy days found them "running steps" next to the auditorium in Little Harpeth. All of their hard work under Coach Kramer was reflected in their speedy performances in twelve meets. The dual meets were held along with MBA at McGavock and Overton; these began at 7:00 p.m. and often lasted for hours. After a rather chilly performance against Mt. Juliet, the team warmed up to an impressive record that any Honeybear can be proud of, the State Championship.

VARSITY TENNIS

This year the Harpeth Hall tennis team had perhaps the most successful season ever. The five top girls on the ladder had Southern rankings and all girls had a good deal of tournament experience. At the Rotary Team Tournament in Chattanooga, there were schools from four states competing; and Harpeth Hall won second place, their best finish ever. They lost by one point to rival GPS in Chattanooga. Once again, Harpeth Hall won the NIL championship; this year is the fourth straight year! The team feels that this season was a big success, despite the fact that they didn't get to push Miss Patty into the pool in Chattanooga! They would also like to thank sincerely Debbie Denton, their manager and team-mate, and Miss Patty for their support and help this year.

INTRAMURALS

And so we become complete, as Harpeth Hall helps us to attain a sound body as well as a sound mind.

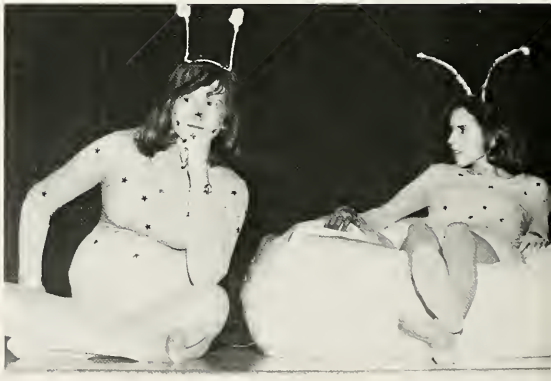

ACTIVITIES

SENIOR PLAY

This year the Senior Play started off with a bang. The audience was confused by a beeping light, and then poof! lights, action, camera! There they were: a bunch of Martians in blue and green tints, standing on stage dancing to no music. However, it hadn't been planned that way—the microphone had not been hooked up correctly, and there we were, a bunch of idiots dancing around! One special Martian, Spirit, didn't fit into the Martian "groove," so he was thrown off Mars. Landing in the Senior House at Harpeth Hall, Spirit visited each of the classes and finally found her place among the Seniors. Having made her contribution and having encouraged classmates to do the same, Spirit brought the class of '76 together, in real life as well as in the play.

JUNIOR PLAY

The Junior Play, performed in November, was a smash Broadway hit. Essentially the play consisted of take-offs on a variety of television shows. Chorus girls opened the show chorally, proclaiming the greatness of television. Skits were taken from "Sesame Street," "Hee-Haw," and "The Return of the Pink Panther." A comical presentation of "Swan Lake" and a hilarious newscast with WJRS reporters, Walter Concrete, and Lo Bobertini added finishing touches to the final performance. After this forty-five minute production, the class presented its awards to the many who had worked especially hard and to their sponsor, Mrs. Marney. They ended by honoring their fellow classmates with the song "Friends." Undoubtedly this year's play further strengthened the ties of friendship within the class of '77.

WINTER DANCE

SPRING FORMAL

WINTERIM

Since January, 1973, Harpeth Hall has had a unique career preview, travel, and individual study program. Initiated by Miss McMurry, our Winterim program has improved and expanded each year.

Winterim '76, directed by Miss Hensley, was designed to give the girls at Harpeth Hall learning, working, and traveling opportunities which would not ordinarily be available. There were many exciting courses offered, such as Auto Mechanics, Cooking, South America Studies, Guitar, Commercial Art, Creative Writing, Modern Dance, and many, many more.

There were tourers in England and France, skiers in Aspen, doctors at the Veteran's Hospital, self-defenders at Harpeth Hall, movie-makers in Beverly Hills, teachers at Ensworth, and law-makers in the legislature. Most schedules were packed with places to go, things to do, people to meet, and much to learn.

A student involved in independent study gains a special fundamental knowledge of the opportunities or disadvantages that a particular career has to offer. The student usually learns just enough to know if the career study which she has chosen is really what she wants or is not her special area.

Altogether, Winterim '76 was a smashing success. There was a lot to learn and a lot to experience in one short month, but most of us learned and experience it all!

'It was fantastic, and I really enjoyed doing it because I learned a lot about things I might enjoy doing later on. It was also a great break in the school year."

"The excellent job done by my teachers made Winterim a success for me."

"Being given the chance to live in a French family for three weeks provided me with the opportunity not only to pick up a lot of French, but also to learn to adapt to new and difficult situations and to be more open-minded."

"I learned more in one month in England than in any other month of my life; and most of all I learned that anywhere you go, people are basically the same."

"Winterim gave me a chance to share something that I enjoy doing with interested students."

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

The George Washington Celebration, produced each year by Miss Patty and put on by the Freshman Class, was of special significance this year, since this is the year of the Bicentennial Celebration. The class of '79 decided to add a new future, tableaux, to the program. These tableaux consisted of short skits depicting George Washington's childhood and his success as a general. Miss Patty worked hard to train each girl for her respective role; she had help from Miss Cathy, who taught the sailors their dance. Allison Floyd and Terry Welch were dignified and impressive in their roles as George and Martha Washington, and the combination of tradition and innovation worked well to produce a successful program.

THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16th

During the first semester of school, the Student Council sponsored a play by Ayn Rand, a murder-mystery entitled The Night of January 16th. The response for try-outs was overwhelming, and Mrs. Gray was forced to direct a partial doublecast for the two performances. A matter of interest to all and of frustration to some was the fact that there are two possible conclusions to the play: a guilty verdict or an innocent one. A jury selected by lot from the audience decided the defendant's innocence or guilt. Apparently, the jury's decision was as difficult as that of the audience, because the verdict was innocent one night and guilty the next. Although there was disagreement about the outcome, everyone concurred that the performance and the turn-out were outstanding.

H. M. S. PINAFORE

This year, our Glee Club, in conjunction with the MBA Glee Club, staged a very professional production of Gilbert and Sullivan's H. M. S. Pinafore. The production was directed by Mr. Gerald Arthur, choreographed by Mrs. Nancy Gray, and accompanied by Mrs. Ann Bishop. Mrs. Gail Wolery provided the beautiful costumes, which added the final touch to the show. H. M. S. Pinafore was performed for Harpeth Hall, MBA, St. Bernard, and various other schools and churches in the area. As this year's major musical production, H. M. S. Pinafore was a smashing success!

JUNIOR–SENIOR DAY

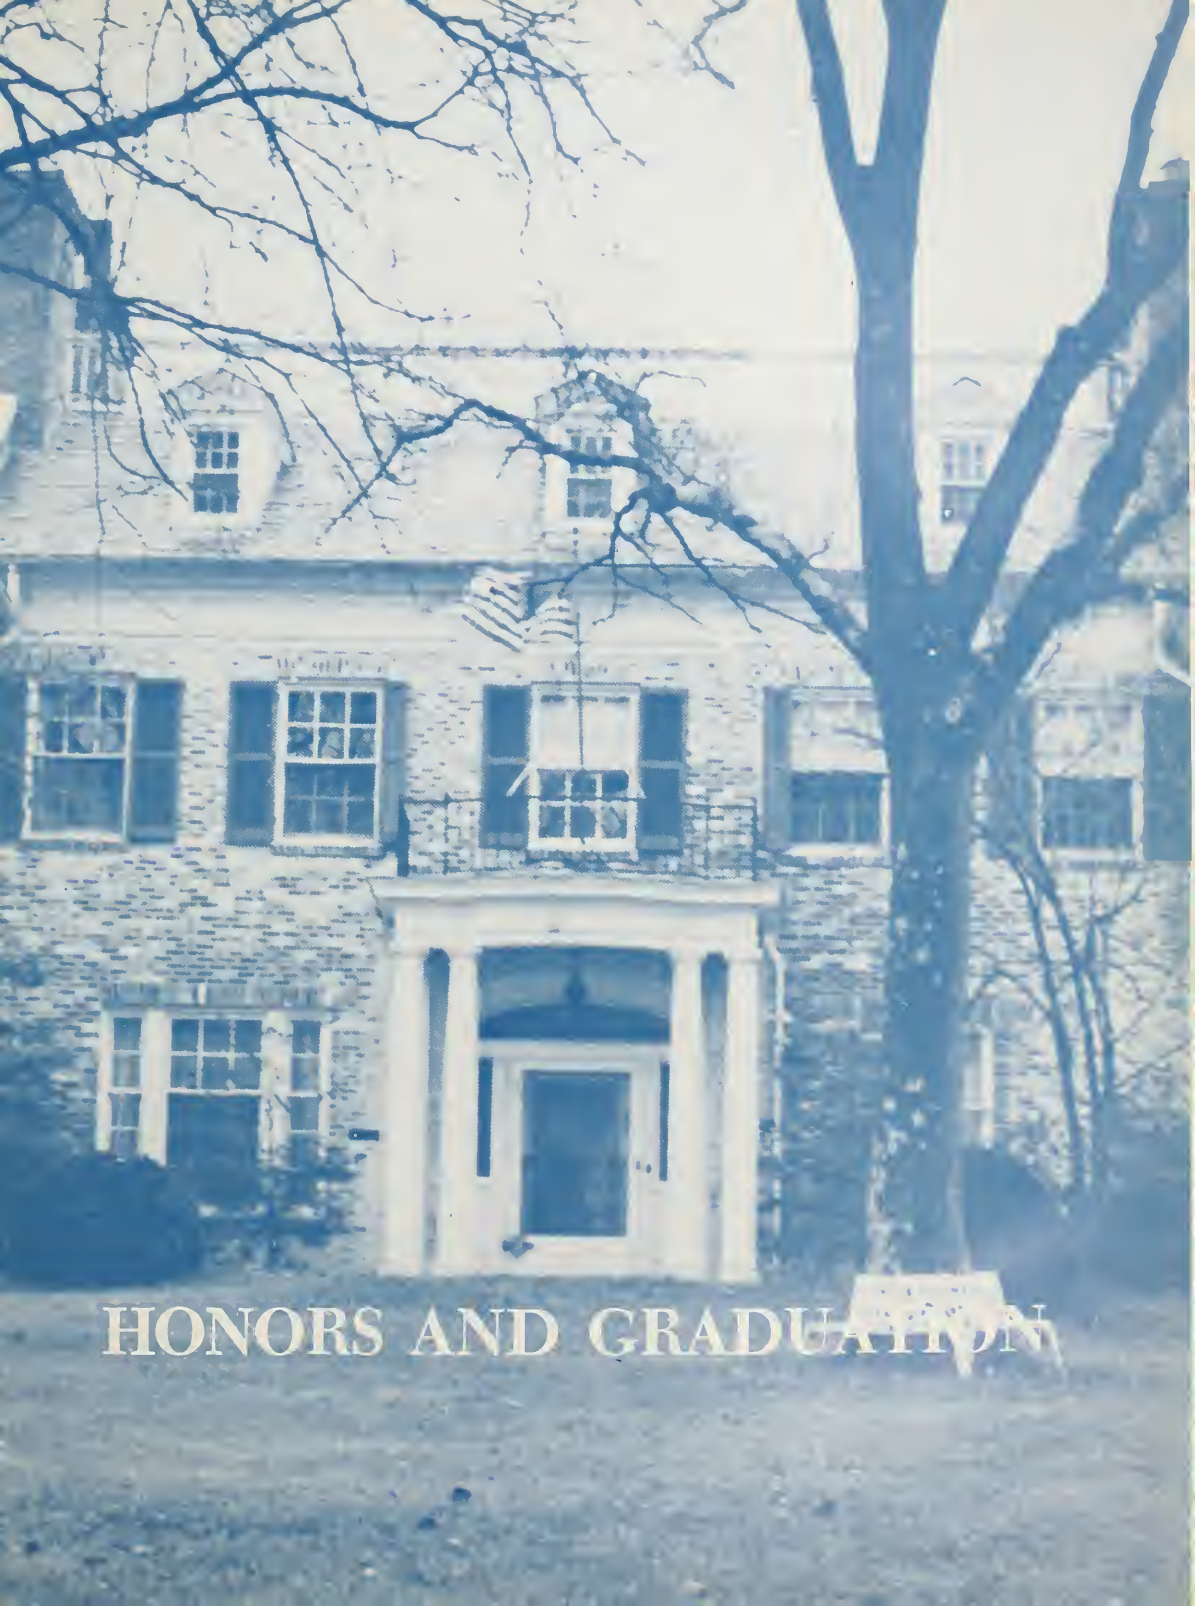

Junior-Senior Day came again in April this year just as it has for the last twenty-five years. One thing made it especially distinctive, however . . . the sun was shining. The lack of rain didn't mean that everyone stayed dry all day, though, because the usual number of squirt guns showed up, as well as cap guns and slingshots. The Seniors, dressed as little girls, remained as demure as possible while being teased and taunted by the obnoxious Junior "boys." They saved their strength until after school when they won in tennis, ping-pong, archery, and track, in addition to playing a tie softball game. Finally, after dinner, Miss McMurry awarded the Senior class, as a result of their athletic endeavors that day and throughout the year, the Junior-Senior Day trophy.

CUM LAUDE SOCIETY

In 1973 Cum Laude, a nationally recognized honor society, was chartered at Harpeth Hall. Cum Laude is the equivalent on the preparatory school level of Phi Beta Kappa. In the spring of each year, the top 10 percent of the junior class is inducted into Cum Laude, and the second 10 per cent of the senior class is inducted at this time also. Faculty members who belonged in college to Phi Beta Kappa or to a similar honor society are also members of Cum Laude. The purpose of Cum Laude is like that of the Honor Society which preceded it: the recognition of academic excellence. The student members of Cum Laude are called members-in-course; they appear in various assemblies concerning Cum Laude and assist in planning the chapel programs. To be received into the Cum Laude Society is the highest academic honor one can achieve at Harpeth Hall.

NATIONAL MERIT

Finalists: L. Adkins, J. Johnson, P. Linn.

Commendees: S. Thornton, S. Dicker.

The National Merit Scholarship Program is sponsored by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. To become a National Merit semi-finalist, one must have scored in the top one half per cent of the country on the PSAT/NMSQT tests; to become a finalist, one provides other materials for consideration, such as SAT scores and school transcripts and evaluations. Winning a National Merit Scholarship is the final honor one can receive in the program; Merit Scholars are selected on the basis of information provided by the school and the student, as well as on the basis of the test scores. This year Joyce Johnson received a National Merit scholarship. National Merit Commendees are also a part of the program; these students represent the one and one half per cent of the nation just under the semi-finalists.

ALL-CLUB PICNIC

This year's All-Club Picnic had a unique flavor because it was preceded by the ground-breaking ceremony for the new building. It was an exciting day for all with the distribution of awards, the final appearance of the "Student Council Follies," and the realization that school was over. The Triad Club won the song competition, which came as no surprise as it was the fourth consecutive year that they have walked off with the award. With the school year tucked neatly under our belts, we all felt relieved and ready for the summer; but an occasional tear was shed as the picnic came to a close, and we realized that another year had come and gone.

LADY OF THE HALL

Few students find it possible to contribute to all phases of Harpeth Hall life. Susan Thornton is one of those who seems to have achieved the impossible. In her years at Harpeth Hall, Susan participated in many varsity athletics, became involved in several dramatic productions, worked on the newspaper staff, and received grades worthy of Cum Laude membership. Despite, or perhaps because of all her activities, Susan always had the time to find new friends, to smile, to laugh, and to love. Out of admiration for her many accomplishments, her enthusiasm, and her dedication, the student body elected Susan Thornton this year's Lady of the Hall.

Serving in Susan's court were representatives from each class selected by their classmates. Allison Wills was the crownbearer chosen from the sixth grade class. The heralds were Nancy Werthan, seventh grade, and Sue Adams, eighth grade. Freshman Grace Hall, Sophomore Amy Grant, and Junior Kelly Akers served as attendants from the Upper School. The Senior Maid was Ginny Farris. The Flower Girls, both daughters of faculty members, were Amanda Lee Emerson and Annis Morison Marney.

SOPHOMORE PLAY

The Sophomore Class this year presented A Midsummer Night's Dream as their tribute to the Lady of the Hall and her attendants. Directed by Mrs. Gray, the sophomores proved not only that they can learn long, complicated Shakespearean prose, but also that they can do a superb job with those lines. The play was light, amusing, and unique; it was quite obvious that the audience enjoyed every moment of it. The enthusiasm shown by the actresses of this year's Sophomore Class in their play is sure to continue throughout the next two years, and we look forward to seeing their future achievements.

SENIOR BANQUET AND STEP-SINGING

The Senior Banquet gives the members of the Senior Class a chance to meet with the teachers and relate to them on a one-to-one basis. This year's Senior Banquet theme was "A Touch of Senior Class," and we all enjoyed the conversation, food, and laughs that we shared with the faculty. On Sunday both the Senior and Junior Classes proved their singing ability at step-singing. The Seniors sang their Senior Play song and a new song entitled "We're on Our Way," and the Juniors sang their Junior Play song. The two traditions of Senior Banquet and Step-Singing made a memorable week-end, as well as a chance to share the sentiments of the whole school year.

KATIE WRAY AWARD

Each year, the Katie Wray Award is given to the Senior who has earned the highest grade point average over four years. This year, as in past years, the award went to a student whose interests and activities cover a broad range of subjects. In addition to the Katie Wray Award, which Joyce received for her 3.147 average, she was given the Pickens Science Award at graduation. This award was especially appropriate for Joyce since she intends to major in a pre-med course in college. We all feel sure Joyce will take full advantage of her National Merit Scholarship, awarded by Rice University, since her ambition prompted the Senior Class to vote her Most Likely to Succeed. Joyce Johnson's contributions to Harpeth Hall have been too numerous to list here. Among them, she served on the Student Council as a sophomore and the Student Faculty Committee the following year. She was involved in the drama department, acting in one play and directing another. Her school spirit was evident since she was a cheerleader both for her class and for the school during her junior year. Finally, she put in many hours of hard work as the copy editor of this annual. Joyce became a member of Cum Laude in her junior year and accumulated enough citizenship points to tie for second place. We all feel confident that Joyce will be as much of an asset to Rice and the medical world as she has been to Harpeth Hall. Good luck, Joyce!

CITIZENSHIP BRACELET

One aspect of Harpeth Hall that few people take the time to think about is the citizenship point system. Although it may seem vague and unimportant to many, this system reflects a great deal about each Harpeth Hall student. Citizenship points are awarded each year on the basis of academic attitude, respect for rules and regulations, fulfillment of responsibilities as an officer, and attitude towards fellow students. Throughout her four years in the Upper School, Debbie Davis excelled in each of these areas. She became a member of Cum Laude during her Junior year, which is not surprising since she held the second highest grade point average in her senior class. At graduation she received the Presidents' Council English Award for having the highest four-year average in English. In addition, Debbie worked on the staff of Logos II, becoming Art Editor during her senior year. She also served as Junior Representative on the Student Council. Debbie's ever-present smile and friendly manner made her popular among both students and teachers. For this reason she was selected "Personality of the Month" during her senior year. Because of her enthusiasm and hard work, Debbie accumulated the greatest number of citizenship points in her past four years. At the All-Club Picnic, she was awarded the Citizenship Bracelet, a greatly-deserved honor.

MIDDLE SCHOOL HONOR DAY

Middle School Honor Day is anticipated with excitement not only because it marks the end of school for three months, but also because it is the time that the eighth graders enter high school and the seventh graders become the oldest class in the Middle School. The day is highlighted by the presentation of many awards. This year, class spirit awards went to Robin Johnson, sixth grade; Dell Smith, seventh grade; and Nancy Graves, eighth grade. The Angkor Club took both the Citizenship Cup and the Sports Trophy. The J.C.L. Award for the top student in Latin went to Donna Robinson, while Misty Sperry received the French Award. Finally, as the certificates of graduation were handed out, Donna Robinson and Nancy Graves were commended for their excellent scholastic records.

GRADUATION

It's hard to put into words the feelings of each Senior on her graduation day. This year, we, the Seniors of '76, experienced a variety of emotions. There was a sense of triumph in realizing that we had finally made it; but there was also a feeling of sadness when we thought that life would never be the same without the friends that we had made at Harpeth Hall. Graduation marks the end of an era, but it also represents a new beginning for each of us: a beginning which will lead us all in different directions. We're on our way, but the closeness we have found in the Class of '76 will stay strong throughout the years. Thank you, Harpeth Hall, for giving us this chance to love.

Exeunt Class of '76

We're on our way

Let's not forget

All the times we've had;

It's time for us now

To all say good-bye

Though it may seem sad—

We'll miss the friends that we've made,

The work and the spirit, true,

All that we've shared for these years;

It all seemed to pass too soon,

But we're on our way.

We're on our way

Maybe someday

We will meet again.

Try not to cry;

Tears make us think

Of how great it's been.

We loved as strong as we could,

And memories will always stay;

We've had fun times being one—

There's nothing much more to say,

So we're on our way.
